Great Reduction in Charges.

THIS is the oldest Female College in the Southwest. Favorably located, easy of access, and remarkable for its healthfulness. Thoroughly furnished in all of its departments, and supplied with a large corps of competent teachers. Fall session begins Tuesday, October 1, 1878. Apply for catalogues or special information to the president,
A. H. JONES, Jackson, Tenn.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA.—Session begins on the 26th of October, and continues nine months. The institution is organized on the elective system, giving the student free choice of studies, with full courses in the Schools of the Academic Department, and in the Schools of Law, Medicine, Engineering and Agriculture. For catalogue apply to the Secretary of the Faculty, P. O. University of Virginia.
JAMES P. HARRISON, M. D.,
Chairman of the Faculty.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

RELIGIOUS BOOK DEPOSITORY!
AT
27 Camp Street, New Orleans.

RELIGIOUS LITERATURE AND SUNDAY School Supplies for all denominations, at publishers' prices, with usual discounts to Ministers, Congregations and Sunday Schools. Orders addressed to
D. L. MITCHEL, Business Agent,
LOCK BOX 1468, will receive prompt attention.

AGENTS WANTED.

NOW READY. AGENTS WANTED.
THE GRAND ACHIEVEMENTS OF H. M. STANLEY.
A full history of his explorations in Africa, and marvelous journey down the Congo, "Through the Dark Continent." The public are awaiting this book. It is of marvelous interest, richly illustrated, low priced, and will sell without a parallel. For full description and terms address N. D. THOMPSON & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE. MADE by Agents selling our Chromo Crayons, Picture and Chromo Cards. $25 samples, worth $5, sent postpaid for 85 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Estab'd 1837.

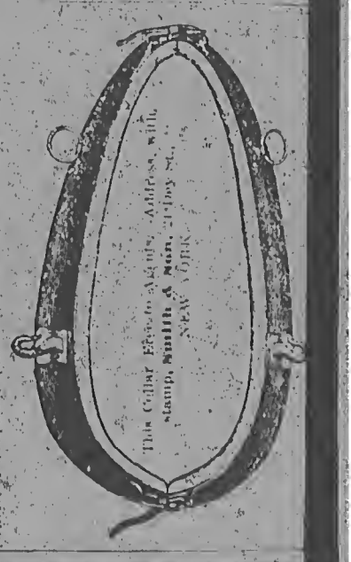
A AGENTS wanted to sell THE CURSE OF RUM, including Life and Work of Murphy, Reynolds, with History of the movement 30 dollar prospectus. Fully illustrated. Price reduced. Sent free by mail on receipt of 75 cts. GUARANTEE PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER
AGENTS Wanted. $5 to $125 a Month. An Encyclopedia Law and Forms. For Business Men, Mechanics, Farmers, Property Owners, Teachers, everybody, every business. Saves many times cost. Selling fast. Send for circular and terms. W. ZIEGLER & CO., 320 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

FOR LADIES ONLY.

LADY AGENTS WANTED to sell Mme. Grenold's SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSET. Universally approved, and is gradually superseding all others. Application only to MME. GRENOLD, 21 East Sixteenth street, New York.

MISCELLANEOUS.



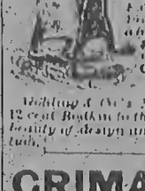
This Collar Elevator Adjusts, Adapts, and Stamps, Saves Time & Money.
Patent Applied for. Will not Injure the Collar. Perfect fit guaranteed.
Address, with Stamp, Wilson & Son, Troy, N. Y.
NEW YORK

AGENTS WANTED
$20 FOR $10
AMERICAN WATCHES
305 N. 7TH ST.
ST. LOUIS MO.
Send for price list. L. DRESSER, Agt.

MAKE $100
Acting as Our Salesman.

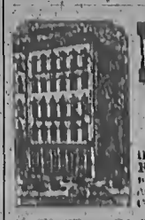
We are desirous of engaging energetic AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business. If not employed and when you receive our circulars read them carefully. Address, with stamp for particulars,
G. W. FOSTER & CO.,
273 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET
Chicago, Illinois.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
55 ..... ST. CHARLES STREET .....
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN OF ALL KINDS.
Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every description for the Angler, wholesale and retail. Imported in order. J. R. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1590.



PEARL PRES
Printing Rapidly
Does more and better work, with less labor, than any other press. Perfect in all that constitutes a first-class printing press. Prints cards, labels, circulars, envelopes, billheads, etc., at the rate of 2,000 per hour. Prints cards, labels, circulars, envelopes, billheads, etc., at the rate of 2,000 per hour. Prints cards, labels, circulars, envelopes, billheads, etc., at the rate of 2,000 per hour.
PRICES REDUCED
LOW PRICES
Printing Outfits, Complete, $30 to $125.
GOLDING & CO., Manufacturers, 40 Fort Hill Square, Boston.
Golding & Co.'s Machinery and Type are used in the 12 cent Boston Globe Press, for neatness, quality of design and thorough mechanical finish.

GRIMAULT & CO.
GUARANA
Will cure almost instantly ... NERVOUS HEADACHE ... SICK or NERVOUS HEADACHE ... Price, per box of 12 pkgs. ... Sent free by mail on receipt of the ... GUARANA CO., 30 North William ...



Marder, Luse & Co.
TYPE FOUNDERS
CHICAGO
Have the largest and most complete Foundry in the West ... of superior quality ... On application ... Complete outfits ...

VALLEY FEMALE COLLEGE
WINCHESTER, VA.

SIXTH ANNUAL SESSION begins on the 2d Wednesday in September, 1878. For particulars send for a catalogue or write to B. ARMISTEAD, President.

Alabama Conference Female College
TUSKEGEE, ALABAMA.

THE next session of this institution will open on the Twenty-Third of September, 1878. For full information send for catalogue.
JOHN MASSEY, President.
Tuskegee, Ala.

SCIENTIFIC.

—A new variety or preparation of cotton is now sold, which, being absolutely free from impurity, makes a better absorbent than the usual commercial cotton.

ELECTRIC LIGHT PHOTOGRAPHY. An architectural photograph of a large building has been taken in Dundee by means of the light from a Gramme dynamo-electric machine of a power equal to eight hundred candles. The view was taken by fifteen minutes' exposure in a crowded thoroughfare, during a drenching rain, and within an hour of midnight. The photograph could not have been taken so well by daylight, for the falling rain would have obscured it.

—The number of new species of plants which continue to be discovered in Florida is remarkable, and it shows how little the peninsula has been explored. The yellow water lily, discovered by Audubon, so long ago, was thought to be a myth till recently rediscovered by Mrs. Mary Treat. The lady botanists are particularly fortunate in botanical discoveries. Now it is Miss Mary C. Reynolds, who has discovered there a new Baptisia, which has been named and described as B. calycosa, in a recent number of the Botanical Gazette, by Mr. M. M. Cauley.

—Prof. W. H. Niles, in a paper read at a late meeting of the Boston Society of Natural History, gave the results of three summers' observations among the glaciers of the Alps, especially with reference to the amount of erosion performed by glaciers. He estimates the relative agency of glaciers and subglacial streams in the erosion of valleys as follows, viz.: that the subglacial streams are of primary importance in working in advance of the ice in deepening and enlarging grooved valleys, and that the glaciers abrade, modify, and in a measure remove the prominent portions left by the streams and give them the well-known glaciated surfaces.

—A writer in Science observes that all grass animals eat a great quantity of earth. Earth seems comfortable to their insides, and it is certain that they enjoy it. He used, while a horse, he says, while being regularly fed on hay and corn, and not turned out to grass, placed for a little dirt. Finding out this, I sometimes let him go to a hedge-bank, slackened the rein, and watched him scoop out with his tongue earth enough to fill a pint pot. This, I think, is the reason why a horse so often stirs up the mud in a pond with his hoof before drinking. Many horses will paw the water even when drinking a clear stream, giving their riders the fear that they want to lie down in it."

—A writer in the American Naturalist calls attention to one mode of the distribution of fresh-water mussels. Mr. Dawlish contended that the young of fresh-water mussels, by being attached to pond weeds, may be transferred by birds from one lake to another. Mr. E. E. Call has observed this, and states that it is a commonly observed fact that Limnæ and Planorbes do attach themselves to aquatic plants and are carried about by birds. He quotes the same observed by Mr. Arthur E. Guy, of Danversport, Mass., who has in his collection the foot of a waterfowl to which is attached a bivalve shell, the bird having been caught and firmly held by the mollusk. A newspaper lately contained the statement that a bird was found held sooner by a bivalve on the foot, thus some such method as this may be able to account for certain facts in the dispersion of fresh-water shells.

—Lieut. Lyle, of the United States Army, has made some interesting observations on the food of the rabbit. After detailing in the American Naturalist his experience in feeding young birds, and testing their decided preference for beetles and other insects, showing that they ate seeds only when there was a lack of insects, and that for every cherry or grape they ate they destroyed thousands of injurious insects, he says: In the Springfield Armory grounds twenty-three pairs of robins were known to be nesting in one month. It was estimated that, as one young robin was found to be capable of eating 72 large beetles in one day, it is not unreasonable to assume that each bird would destroy at least 100 insects per day, taking them as they come, small and large. Hence the forty-six birds known to feed on these grounds and vicinity would require 4,600 insects each day, or in thirty days they would dispatch 138,000 insects.

—In the Proceedings of the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences, just issued, some remarks are reported, made at the meeting of the second of April, on the red maple. In the flowering of this species all the flowers on all trees appear perfect on expanding, so far as seen by the observer; but there is a brief rest then, and on the starting of the new phase of growth the styles elongate on some trees, the stamens going no further with their development. On other trees the pistil grows no more, but the filaments elongate and the anthers finally become pollen-forms. The trees were practically dioecious. The female trees were scentless, but the males were odorous and attracted sand-wasps; but, as they did not visit female trees, fertilization is effected by the wind. Ten trees were examined—trees from ten to fifteen years old. 37 did not flower. It were females and 60 males, showing about one-third more males than females. A red maple tree of either sex seemed to retain its special sexual character through life, in this respect differing from the silver maple (Acer dasycarpum), in which, though rarely, a branch will issue from a female bearing male flowers. But when this is the case said male branch has never been known to resume its female characteristics. It is suggested that, as odor is said to be given to plants that are entomophilous, and the maple is an anemophilous one, the sweetness in this case may be the hereditary remains of past usefulness.

BUSINESS CARDS.

G. O. GORDIN.

GORDIN & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS
AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.
Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed.... $4 00
Home-Made Shoes, screwed...$2 to $3 50
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Boys from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

COAL.....COAL.....COAL.
B. D. WOOD & BROS.,
Corner Camp and Common Streets,
Opposite the City Hotel,
Wholesale and Retail dealers in all kinds of COAL. Pittsburg Coal delivered by boat-load or less on the coast, and shipped in casks or in bulk, at lowest market rates. City trade supplied.

W. W. CARRE.
HORACE U. BEACH, Manager.
LUMBER YARD,
3 and 5 BELORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Cabins and Dressed Lumber a specialty.

AUSTIN BARN, Bay Pond, Jefferson, La. AUSTIN BARN, A. P. Talbot's Landing, Iberville, La.

AUSTIN BARN.
(J. M. Talmage in charge.)
Dealer in Country Produce,
151 DECATUR STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Specialties—Hides, Wool, Poultry, Eggs, and all the products of the Farm, Garden and Orchard. Consignments solicited.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,
DEALERS IN
PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND
CANNEL COAL,
FOR FAMILY USE. Office No. 21 Carondelet street. Landing—On Levee, foot of esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to filling orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.
CHAS. O'LANENBECKER, M. D.,
Successor to H. Stumpf,
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.
Dealer in fine Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. H. BISSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL.
Gas, Ash and Blue Wood.
NO. 102 CALIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

JOHN FRANK & CO.,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS,
Tools, Oils, Etc.,
And manufacturers of Boot Calfskin & Shoe Uppers,
No. 112 Poydras St., New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans,
P. O. Lock Box 87.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 28 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Morgan, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

ESTABLISHED 1849.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soap.
Office—110 CRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.
All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HEATH PIPPEY & LABA,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Mantles, Chromos, Engravings, etc.
Frames made to order a specialty.
No. 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

ESTABLISHED IN 1825.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Foucher Sts.

T. W. ROTHICK,
UNDERTAKER,
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming and Disinfecting. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.
We are selling the WATCHES of the above factory at the very lowest prices.
Silver Watches at $5 and upward.
Gold Watches at $15 and upward.
All fully guaranteed.
A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
Corner Camp and Royal Sts.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,
COLORED SATINS,
EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,
ETC. ETC. ETC.
WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.
D. H. HOLMES,
153 CANAL AND 13 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE TREMONT HOUSE.
The Palace Hotel of Chicago.
AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLANS.
AMERICAN PLAN.
Rooms with board.....$4 to $5 per day.
Table at Hotel unsurpassed.
EUROPEAN PLAN.
Rooms, without board.....$1 to $3 per day.
Restaurant the finest in the West.
JEWETT WILCOX, Manager.
JAS. COUCH, Proprietor.

JOHN BOIS,
DEALER IN
FURNITURE, PICTURES,
LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.
152 Camp Street 154
Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.
No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

GOODWYN'S ETHEREA YEAST POWDER, a preparation of this salt, is both agreeable with the taste and the stomach, and an assistant to digestion, and no wonder, for it is an article of the very highest order of merit. Send for circular and prices.
P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer,
No. 12 Perdido street, New Orleans, La.

30 Mixed Cards, Snowflake, Damask, etc., all alike, with name, 10c. J. Meeker & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. CHAS. E. KELLS & DR. H. VIET,
DENTISTS,
12.....DAUPHINE STREET.....12
One door from Canal, New Orleans.
Dentistry in all its branches. Irregularities of the teeth corrected. Artificial Palates with the latest improvements. Teeth extracted without pain under the influence of Nitrous Oxide Gas. Established in 1850.

C. L. BILLGER,
ARCHITECT
31.....CARONDELET ST.....31
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
230 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET,
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
New Orleans, La.

MEDICAL.

THE WONDER DOCTOR'S HEADQUARTERS ARE AT
No. 106 BOURBON St.,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

ALL his medical preparations are put up from native growing herbs gathered fresh throughout the year as they are wanted.
He treats all diseases and complaints, whether of the young or old, male or female, and gives a wonderful satisfaction generally in two weeks' treatment.
Especial attention is called to

The Wonder Doctor's Indian Acclimating Bitters.

This Bitters is manufactured only from one of the herbs that grows plentifully in the malarial districts of the South. I never use two or three different kinds of herbs at one time. This Bitters will give a wonderful satisfaction to all humans suffering of general complaints, and it will be found to be the only safe remedy against YELLOW FEVER. Remember that the Indians never suffered that dreadful disease. My Bitters will cure all sorts of all rheumatic complaints, such as Swamp Fever, Bone Fever, Chills and Fever, Typhus, etc.
Nothing can be found in a drug store to give relief, or a cure in case of Dyspepsia, Yellow Jaundice, Liver complaints, Cake or Spleen, Heart and Kidney Complaints, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach, Nervous Debility, Loss of Appetite, Cramps or Colic in the Bowels, the use of my INDIAN ACCLIMATING BITTERS will give entire satisfaction. It is especially a wonderful satisfaction-giving remedy for Female Complaints, such as Falling of the Womb, general weakness and periodical disorders.
This Bitters should be used in every family as a general protector against complaints and diseases. It purifies the air before it penetrates the lungs, and gives a digestion.
Try only one bottle of my INDIAN ACCLIMATING BITTERS, and you will be satisfied to buy in a little supply for family use.

Jenkin's ANNIHILATOR
The Great Southern Remedy for RHEUMATISM
GOUT and NEURALGIA
IS PURELY VEGETABLE, and can be taken without fear of any injurious result by the delicate as well as the robust in constitution. It purifies the blood, stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and eradicates every vestige of the above diseases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. Pamphlets, containing testimonials and valuable advice, sent free to any address.
N. JENKINS & CO., Proprietors,
New Orleans, La.
FINLAY & THOMPSON, Wholesale Druggists, General Agents, New Orleans, La.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.
A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by a true process of re-vitalization.
REMARKABLE CURES have been made in Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Headache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and the large class of ailments which come from nervous depression.
LOSS OF VITALITY, lessness of condition, the corresponding effects of climate, and especially IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES, to the slow reaction which attends convalescence, and which dooms so many to premature invalidism.
STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. JUDGE KITTERA, U. S. ARTHUR, Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Ex-Gov. BOTTEMAN of West Virginia, and others who have used the New Treatment.
FREE! A Treatise (200 pages) on COMPOUND OXYGEN, with many testimonials to most remarkable cures, sent free. Address
DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1109 Girard St., Philada.

PILES.
DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 506 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. J. H. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKellops and Eames, leading dentists of St. Louis; James Lupe; M. A. Wolff; Frank Shapleigh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. H. Henderson Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Shockle, Agt. N. W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Beatley, Agt. Ill. C. R. R.; Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; C. Bilton, Wiggins Ferry Co.; Capt. Jerry Wood, steamer Minneapolis, and others.

ANGELL'S
HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,
CANAL STREET, near Chartres, South Side,
New Orleans, La.
Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

MISCELLANEOUS.

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Ale Pumps, Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns, 148 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

Martha Washington College,
ABINGDON, VIRGINIA.
WARREN HUPP, LL. D., President. Rev. E. E. HOSS, M. A., Secretary.
Full faculty. Thorough course in Ancient and Modern Languages, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Mathematics and Natural Sciences. Instrumental and Vocal Music, and other branches. Healthful, pleasant. Contains one of the largest and finest in the country. Fare good. Terms liberal. Board, tuition, fuel, washing and lights for forty weeks, $160. The same with Music, $200.

NOTICE.
WANTED BY F. F. POWELL, a graduate of the Southwood University, and for six years Professor in Whitworth College, a position as TEACHER. For reference apply to Rev. H. F. Johnson, president of said college, Brookhaven, Miss. Address F. F. POWELL,
Rocky Springs, Mississippi.

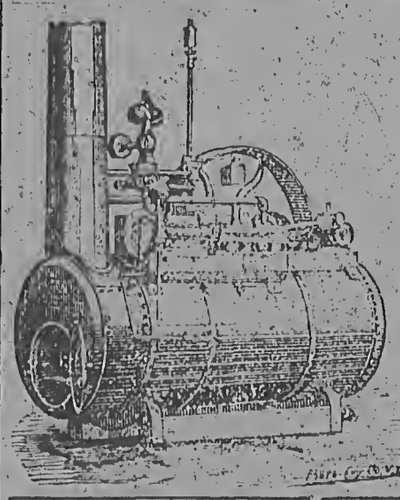
SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,
63 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Does business on Grange principles and at Grange rates.

MISCELLANEOUS.

H. W. JOHNS' PATENT.
ASBESTOS
MATERIALS.
LIQUID PAINTS.
THE finest and most durable paints in the world for structural purposes. Send for samples for references.
ASBESTOS ROOFING,
With white fire-proof coating, for steep or flat roofs. The only perfect substitute for tin.
Boiler Coverings, Steam Packing, Sheathing, Felt, Roof Paint, Fire-Proof Paints, Coatings, Cements, etc.
All these materials are prepared ready for use, and can be easily applied by any one. We guarantee the quality of our goods to be second to none in the world. From 15 to 25 per cent of ordinary outlays can be saved by their use.
Samples, illustrated pamphlets, price lists, etc., sent free. Liberal inducements to dealers and large consumers. Send for samples and reduced price list.

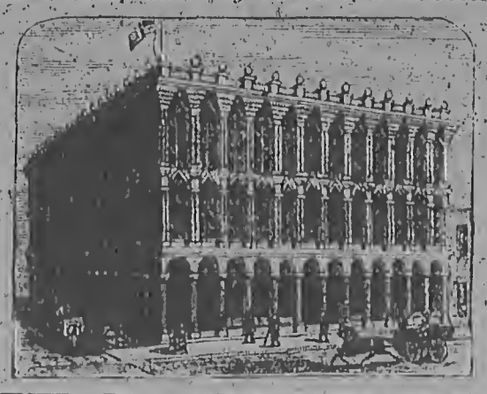
From the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion.
JACKSON, Mississippi.
Mr. C. H. Manship, of Jackson, one of the best painters in the State, and a gentleman of great intelligence and worth, says in reference to these Paints:
"I have tested them fully, and am prepared to say that the Asbestos Paints of all colors and shades, are not only the cheapest, but the best I have ever used in my experience as painter for the past fifty years, and the certificates in my possession to the superiority of the Asbestos Paints are positive on the subject. C. H. MANSHIP."

CALEB A. PARKER & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS FOR ALABAMA, GEORGIA, TENNESSEE, LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND TEXAS.
NO. 10 UNION ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

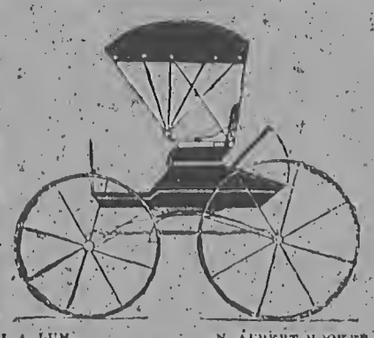


PAYNE'S
PORTABLE
STEAM ENGINES.
5 TO 15 HORSE POWER.
Strong, Simple and Durable.
BEST PLANTATION ENGINE MADE.
SEND FOR SPECIAL PRICE LIST, ETC.
B. J. WEST,
SOLE AGENT,
115 and 117 Magazine Street,
NEW ORLEANS.
Plantation Implements, Hardware, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses, Pumps, etc.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY,
FURNITURE EMPORIUM,
Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.



FEATHERS. SPRING HAIR AND MOSS MATTRESSES.
FINE PARLOR SUITS,
IN SILK, SATIN, COTOLINE REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.
FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN SARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.
Fine Dining-Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.



J. A. LUM. N. ABBOTT HOOKER.
J. A. LUM & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,
102 Gravier and 13 Union Street.
A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

THE GREAT
PROVIDENCE LINE!
BETWEEN NEW YORK AND BOSTON
And all points East,
VIA PROVIDENCE DIRECT.
The entirely New Mammoth STEAMER
MASSACHUSETTS,
The Palace Steamer of the World, and the World-Renowned STEAMER
RHODE ISLAND,
Queen of the Sound.
Daily, from Pier 29, North River, foot of Warren street, at 5 P. M. No intermediate landings between New York and Providence. Arrive at Providence at 6 A. M.

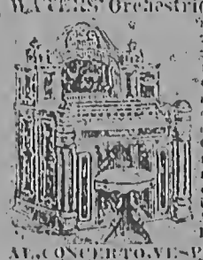
GEO. PURVES'
Sash, Blind and Door
STEAM FACTORY,
AND
LUMBER YARD
Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.
THE price and quality of board and tuition compares favorably with other Colleges, while the peculiar constitution of the college and the influence of its surroundings render it, in my judgment the very best and safest place for boys and young men, at a certain stage of culture, which exists in the Methodist Church South.—Rev. E. M. Green, A. M., of Tullahoma."
Address J. H. BRUNNER, D. D.,
Hiwassee College, Tenn.

Greensboro Female College,
ALABAMA.
Special Announcement. $166.66 Board and Tuition. $20.00 Instrumental Music, per annum (scholastic).
Greatly reduced rates. Six schools—Mental and Moral Science, Natural Science, English Literature, Ancient Languages, Music and Modern Languages, Art proper, Painting, drawing, painting in Calisthenics and Kindergarten. Art extra.
THOS. WARD WHITE, President.
Session opens October 1.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 17,000 students since 1867. 75 eminent professors. 118 lessons for $15. M. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

WATERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGAN



AT CONCERT, VESPER, CENTENNIAL CHURCHES, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORGANS, in Unique French Cases are unrivaled in respect FIRST CLASS.
WATERS' PIANOS, Grand, Upright, and Square, ARE THE BEST MADE; the Tone, Touch, Workmanship & Durability Unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS.
PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Installments received. A Liberal Discount to Teachers, Ministers, Churches, Schools, etc. AGENTS WANTED. Special inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues and Price Lists mailed. Second-hand Instruments at Great Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 481 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK, Box, 3,567.

H. C. PORTER & CO.,
Commission Merchants,
NOS. 83 AND 85 MAGAZINE STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
Flour, Meal, Meals, Grain, Hay, Eggs, Feathers, Butter, Cheese, Fruits, etc.
Northern, Western and Southern Produce (Grain, Hay, Hides, Wool), etc.
Orders for Coffee, Sugar, Molasses, Rice and Tropical Fruits filled at lowest rates.

TO HAVE GOOD HEALTH THE LIVER MUST BE KEPT IN ORDER.

For Pamphlets address DR. SANFORD, New York.

BLYMYER M'F'G CO
BELLS
Church, School, Fire Alarm, Chime and Tower Bells, Chimes and Peals, Improved Mountings, Hangings, etc.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O.

WIRE RAILING
AND Ornamental Wire Works.
DITTER & CO., No. 23 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc. Sieves, Venders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.
CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—100 rolls White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
BURLAPS, Table and Enamel OIL CLOTHS.
A. BROUSSEAU.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

STRONGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.
INCREASING POPULARITY.
Number of Ties tested in 1876-7.....1,500
Number of Ties tested in 1877-78.....8,500
COST OF
Iron Ties, including freight.....50 cts. per tie.
Centennial, including freight.....37½ cts. per tie.
Car-wagoners wanted to collect orders for a commission.
Ludlow-Saylar Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Manufacturers of Wire and Wire Goods.

WATER WHEELS.
THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE
TURBINE WATER WHEEL,
PORTABLE AND STATIONARY
STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS.
SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS,
MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING.
SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS
Of Improved Designs, A Specialty
Address, POOLE & HUNT,
Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD

Meneely & Kimberly,
BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.,
Manufacture a superior quality of Bells.
Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS.
Illustrated catalogue sent free.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best modern fittings for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, etc. Fully Warranted.
Illustrated Catalogue and Price List sent free.
Vanduzen & Tift, 222 E. 3rd St., Cincinnati.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BREECH-LOADERS.
WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our fall stock of these goods (unexpectedly delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection. In Breech Loading Shot Guns alone our assortment in store comprises upward of 90 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded lower than ever before, owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while all our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourself what they can wish to buy now or not. POLSON BROS.,
9 Decatur (Old Levee) St., opp. Postoffice.
Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

NEW CHINA MATTINGS.
ELKIN & CO.,
165.....CANAL STREET.....165
ARE RECEIVING
NEW CANTON MATTING,
In WHITE, CHECK and FANCY PATTERNS, in variations of 4 Yards and at very LOW PRICES. We have a large stock of CARPETS—Brussels, Three-Ply and Ingrain. Also Oil Cloths in all widths. New Patterns of WINDOW SHADES.

Regular U. S. Mail Packet.
Leaves EVERY TUESDAY at 5 P. M.

For Washington, Opelousas, Port Barre, Sunspot, Churchville, and all landings on the Coast, Atchafalaya River and Bayou Courtableau—The new and light-draft Steamer
FANCHON,
H. H. BROAD, Master. THEO. JONES, Clerk, will leave as above. For freight or passage apply on board, or to BRUHN & EPPLER, 3 Gravier St.
R. W. ADAMS, 21 Commercial Place.
J. E. CARLIN, 67 Tchoupitoulas St.
GEO. D. HITE, Agent, 61 Tchoupitoulas St.
P. S.—Connects at Sunspot, with Steamer Minnie for Bayou Destrehan.

W. C. TOOMER,
GENERAL
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
OFFICE—48 Carondelet St., Cor. Union,
NEW ORLEANS.
LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made to this mark or account of any friend.
Sole Agent in this city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Stockton Cypress Mills. Lumber for plantation use filled to order.

THE NICHOLLS
TEMPERANCE LUNCH-HOUSE
56 AND 58 CAMP STREET
PURE MILK,
FROZEN BUTTERMILK,
ICE CREAM
CREAM CHEESE,
FRUITS IN THEIR SEASON,
Straight Vienna Bakery Bread received every day.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store,
J. A. LACROIX,
CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.
LADIES', GENT'S, MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S
BOOTS AND SHOES
OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.
Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.
MY MOTTO: Quick Sales and Small Profits.
Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,
183 MAGAZINE ST., near Delta, New Orleans.
Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL,
PETERSBURG, VA.
THOROUGH preparation for University of Virginia and other colleges. Healthy neighborhood. Terms moderate. Location beautiful. Pupils uniformly successful. For catalogue address
W. GORDON MCCABE, Principal.

Millersburg Female College,
MILLERSBURG, KY.
WE appeal to Southern people desiring to send their daughters to the Female College having the largest number of teachers, the most thorough course, the most healthful location, the finest home-like comforts, and the most reasonable prices to write for catalogue to
GEORGE T. GOULD, D. D.,
Millersburg, Ky.

COMMERCIAL.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, SAT., SEPT. 1, 1878.

COTTON.

The following report of the cotton market is taken from the New Orleans Democrat:

The unfavorable advices from Liverpool and New York had a tendency to depress the feeling of our market, and the transactions were confined to 225 bales, at easier prices.

The following is the official closing of the Cotton Exchange:—

	To-Day.	Saturday.
Low ordinary
Ordinary
Good ordinary	10⅝	10⅝
Low middling	10⅞	10⅞
Middling	11	11
Good middling	11⅛	11⅛
Middling fair

Market quiet. Sales, 225 bales.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard, Sept. 1, 1878
Gross receipts since Saturday	718

There were no exports to-day.

Net receipts since Saturday
Receipts from other ports
Net receipts last Sunday and Monday	971
Net receipts same time last year	1,246
Net receipts since Friday	2,094
Net receipts same time last week	4,609
Net receipts since one time last year	5,707
Net receipts since September 1	703
Net receipts same time last year	1,376

COTTON ON SHIPBOARD.

The amount of cotton on shipboard, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows:

Liverpool	113
Havre	84
Bremen
Mexico
Spain
Mediterranean
Coastwise	1
Total	198

This, taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 4,305 bales.

The receipts at all ports, consolidated, as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, show totals from noon on Saturday to noon to-day of 5,708 bales, against 1,094 on last Sunday and Monday, 1,246 last year, and 4,609 the year before.

MOVEMENT AT PORTS.

The movement at ports for three days, up to twelve M. to-day, is given below:

	Received since Friday.	Same time last week.	Same time last year.
New Orleans	802	408	207
Galveston	2,881	885	1,124
Mobile	581	750	135
Savannah	3,041	1,105	271
Charleston	1,530	292	51
Wilmington	76	15	4
Norfolk	43	110	69
Baltimore	1	8
New York
Boston			10
Philadelphia
Other ports	42
Total	9,980	2,964	1,651
Receipts at ports since September 1			5,708
Receipts same time last year			1,031
Receipts same time year before			3,857

EXPORTS.

The consolidated report for three days gives exports to

	G. B.	France.	Cont.	China.	Stocks.
This week	249		153		49,614
Last week	1,514				42,712
This week last year	4,525		101		91,302

INDIANS AND THE ECLIPSE.—The Philadelphia Inquirer furnishes the following extract from a letter received by ex-Mayor Fox from a relative resident at Fort Sill, Indian Territory:

On Monday last we were permitted to see the eclipse of the sun in a beautiful bright sky. Not a cloud was visible. We had made ample preparation, laying in a stock of smoked glass several days in advance. It was the grandest sight I ever beheld, but it frightened the Indians badly. Some of them threw themselves upon their knees and invoked the divine blessing; others flung themselves flat on the ground, face downward; others cried and yelled in frantic excitement and terror. Finally one old fellow stepped from the door of his lodge, pistol in hand, and, fixing his eyes on the darkened sun, mumbled a few unintelligible words, and, raising his arm, took direct aim at the luminary, fired off his pistol, and, after throwing his arms about his head in a series of extraordinary gesticulations, retreated to his own quarters. As chance would have it, that very instant was the conclusion of totality. The Indians beheld the glorious orb of day once more peep forth, and it was unanimously voted that the timely discharge of that pistol was the only thing that drove away the shadow, and saved them from the great public inconvenience that would have certainly resulted from the entire extinction of the sun.

A JUDICIAL VIEW OF DANCING.—Says a Dover (Del.) dispatch, referring to a recent case:

Members of the Methodist Episcopal Church hereabouts are much exercised over some remarks, which were used by Chancellor Saulsbury, while sitting in the Court of Chancery. The case under consideration was one in which a Mr. J. B. Quigg, a stockholder in the Rehoboth Beach Camp Meeting Association, sought for a writ of injunction to restrain the proprietor of the Bright House, at that place, from permitting dancing, card-playing and other amusements to take place in the house, on the ground that the same was contrary to morality, as taught by the Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and therefore a violation of the charter of the place. In the course of argument the chancellor gave emphatic expression to the opinion that dancing was in violation of the morality of the Methodist Episcopal Church. When counsel ventured to dissent from this idea the chancellor reiterated it, adding that there was no doubt in his mind that the practice was prohibited by the Discipline of the Methodist Church, and the argument on this point would be useless. On this ground alone he was prepared to issue the desired injunction, but as the question of jurisdiction was raised the final decision was reserved.

Great, ever fruitful, profitable for reproof, for encouragement, for building up in manful purposes and work, are the words of those that in their day were men. Carlyle.

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

ARTICLES.	FROM	TO
Cotton scrapers	$4 00	4 50
Cotton sweeps	4 00	— —
Cultivators, Diam, and shovel-tooth	6 25	7 00
Cultivators, riding and walking	20 00	40 00
Shovels and spades	5 00	12 00
Axes	7 00	11 50
Shovel plows	4 50	5 50
Half do., with cutters	6 00	8 00
Double-shovel plow	4 00	5 25
Straub's corn mills	— —	— —
Corn mills, Coleman's	125 00	425 00
B. J. West's corn mill	200 00	— —
Tunnard's corn and pea planter	— —	— —
Cotton planter	15 00	— —
Wagons, Carts, Etc.:
Wagon, two-horse	55 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	85 00	100 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim. skein	60 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	85 00	90 00
Cane wagon	190 00	210 00
Ox wagon	75 00	115 00
Ox cart, complete	— —	— —
Cane cart	110 00	115 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	120 00
Plantation cart	45 00	60 00
Bagasse cart	65 00	75 00
Iron, ₩ lb.:
Hoop	3½	5
Sheet	3½	5
Horse Shoe	3½	4½

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Bricks, ₩ 1,000:
Lake	9 00	11 00
Country	— —	8 00
English fire	36 00	37 00
Lime, ₩ bbl.:
Western	— —	— —
Cement	2 00	2 25
Plaster Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₩ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	35 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	18 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	25 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	16 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	18 00
Shingles, ₩ 1,000	2 50	3 50
Nails, best brands	3 20	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₩ box of 50 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	3 50
French, 10 by 12	3 75	4 00
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20	4 00	4 25
French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 24	4 25	4 75
White Lead, best, ₩ lb	10½	12½
Paris Green, ₩ lb	30	40
Pal. Dryer, ₩ lb	10	13
Whiting, ₩ lb	1½	3
Putty, in bladders, ₩ lb	3	5
Linseed Oil, ₩ gal	70	80

NASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.

Window Sash, 12 lights: Size of lights.	Sash, per pair. Unglazed.	Glazed.	Blinds, per pair.
8x10	45	$1 50	$1 50
10x12	55	1 70	2 00
10x16	80	2 75	2 70
Sash Doors:	Single.		Double.
3 feet x 7 feet	$3 60		$3 70
3 feet x 8 feet	4 00		— —
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches	— —		3 80
Panel Doors:
8x8 and 1¾ inch thick	— —		$2 20
2x7 and 1¾ inch thick	— —		2 25
3x7 and 1¾ inch thick	— —		2 30
4x7—6 inch and 1¾ inch thick	— —		4 10

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₩ lb.:
Western	18	20
New York, good to creamy	25	27
Coffee, ₩ lb.:
Rio, fair	16	16¼
Rio, good	17	17½
Rio, prime	17½	18
Java, choice O. G	24	30
Candles, ₩ lb.:
Star, best brands	12	13
Corn Meal, ₩ bbl.:
Best K. D	2 65	2 75
Cheese, ₩ lb.:
Factory	9½	10
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	15½
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in bbls	— —	23 00
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	— —	1 90
Sardines, quarter boxes	13	13½
Flour, ₩ bbl.:
Superfine	3 25	3 50
XX	4 00	4 50
XXX	— —	— —
Choice XXX	5 50	5 75
Choice family	5 75	6 25
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₩ lb	3	4
Dried peaches, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Raisins, ₩ quarter box	50	55
Raisins, ₩ half box	— —	1 00
Raisins, ₩ whole box	1 80	1 85
Bananas, ₩ bunch	1 00	2 00
Crackers, ₩ lb.:
Soda	5	6
Butter	6	7
Sugar	8	9
Gingernuts	9	12½
Oil:
Coal, in cases, best	40	48
Coal, in barrels, best	30	35
Linseine, in cases	— —	40
Linseine, in barrels	— —	35
Lard, in barrels, best	70	80
Molasses, in barrels:
Common	22	26
Fair	25	28
Prime to choice	31	42
Golden and Raquet strups	— —	— —
Half bbls, 5c. and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₩ lb.:
No. 2	4½	5
Ordinary	5	6½
Fair	6¾	7
Prime to choice	7½	7⅞
Soap, in boxes, ₩ lb:
XXX Palm	6½	— —
Keller's magnolia	4½	— —
Keller's olive	5	— —
Sierels, ₩ lb	3	3½
Salt, in sacks:
Fine	1 00	1 05
Coarse	85	90
Sugar:
Good fair	7½	8
Prime	— —	8½
Choice	— —	— —
Yellow clarified	9	9⅛
White clarified	9⅛	9⅜
Crushed	— —	— —
Powdered	— —	— —
Spices, ₩ lb.:
Allspice	15½	— —
Pepper	14½	15
Cloves	45	— —
Cinnamon	— —	— —
Tea, ₩ lb.:
Black Oolong	27½	1 10
Green Imperial	80	90
Tobacco, manufactured, ₩ lb.:
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	— —	— —
Chewing, prime	— —	— —
Chewing, choice	65	70
Smoking	— —	— —

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₩ bushel:
Yellow	— —	— —
White	— —	— —
Mixed	— —	— —
Oats, ₩ bushel
St. Louis	— —	— —
Texas	— —	— —
Galena	— —	42
Bran, choice, ₩ 100 lbs	— —	85
Hay, ₩ ton:
Prime	11 00	12 00
Ordinary	— —	— —
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	45	65
Clay	55	1 00
		3

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₩ lb.:
Breakfast	7	8½
Shoulders	— —	6½
Sides, clear rib	— —	7½
Sides, clear	— —	7½
Hams, sugar cured	11½	11½
Mess Pork, ₩ bbl	13 50	14 75
Dry Salted Meats
Shoulders	5½	5¾
Lard, ₩ lb.:
Choice, in kegs and pails	9½	9¾
Choice, in tierces and bayrels	9	9⅛

ENCLENTS.

Potatoes, ₩ bbl	1 50	1 75
Onions, ₩ bbl	1 50	1 75
Apples, ₩ bbl	— —	— —
Cabbages, ₩ 100	— —	— —

WOOL.

Burry	9	10
Louisiana, fleat	20	21
Lake, unwashed	18	20

BALING STUFFS.

Bagging:
Jute	11½	11¾
Jute	— —	— —
Ties, Arrow best, per bundle, 10 lb and buckles	— —	2 50
Twine, hemp	13½	14

POULTRY AND EGGS.

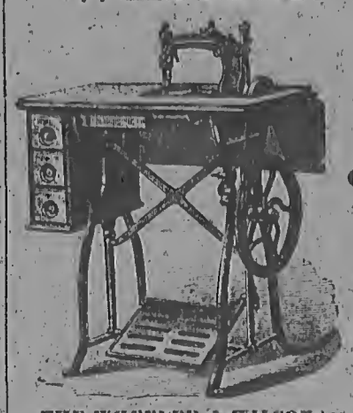
Poultry, Country:
Chickens	3 50	3 75
Young	2 00	2 50
Ducks	2 50	3 00
Geese	3 00	4 00
Turkeys	8 00	9 00
Eggs, Western
Western	8	12
Louisiana	25	28

SEWING MACHINES.

WHEELER AND WILSON

NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!



GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to				$60.
...	90	...	...	50.
...	85	...	...	45.
...	80	...	...	40.
...	75	...	...	35.
...	70	...	...	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,300,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self-setting needle.
It never cuts the thread or goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no noisy cog wheels.
It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It allows the work to run back from the operator.

☞ Send for our New Cash Price List.

☞ CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

M. A. PECK, Gen. Agent for La., Ala. and Miss.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM—103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. 8p

CELEBRATED.

Two articles have made the name of Steele & Price celebrated, their Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, and Special Flavoring Extracts. These preparations are, without question, the finest of their kinds in the world, and they will eventually be used as a luxury from one end of our country to the other.

Religious Notices.

NOTICE.—All persons attending Mamre camp meeting on Randolph circuit, Prattville district, Alabama Conference, which will be held September 13-20, can procure round-trip tickets on the Selma, Rome and Dalton road at six cents per mile, Oct off at Cox's station, in sight of the camp ground. All ministers will be cared for, and are invited to attend.

J. B. ANDERSON, P. C.

THE camp meeting at George's Bethel will embrace the second Sabbath in October—beginning October 11. Preachers will be met at Chunchula, on the Mobile and Ohio railroad, and conveyed to the camp ground. There will be arrangements made for the conveyance of other visitors from the railroad at moderate rates. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan. All preachers are invited; and ample accommodations will be provided for them.

C. M. RIPPEY, P. C.

THERE will be a camp meeting at China Grove, Pike county, Miss., beginning on the third of October, next, known as the China Grove and Pearl River camp meetings. We have plenty of good water and camping ground, which we offer to the public free of charge, and cordially invite everybody to come, and prepare for their own accommodation, as it will be strictly self-sustaining. There will be a lot for horses, and a boarding tent, for those who prefer paying the money, on very reasonable terms. Ministers of the gospel are earnestly requested to attend—for whom, with their families, accommodations will be made.

P. HOWARD.
15 I. W. COOPER.

THE annual camp meeting at Asbury camp ground will embrace the fourth Sabbath in October, commencing on Thursday night before. The above-named camp ground is located in the bounds of the Sepulga circuit, Prattville district, Alabama Conference. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan—that is all are expected to provide their own lodging and lunch. Ministers and their families will be provided for. (15) ROBERT SMILIE, P. C.

THE Marvin chapel camp meeting will embrace the fifth Sunday in September, commencing on Friday night before. The camp ground is located nine miles from Brewton, M. and M. railroad, where ministers of the gospel will be met with conveyance to the camp ground. The meeting will be on the self-sustaining plan.

22 JOS. C. JOHNSON, P. C.

THE Clanton camp meeting will commence on Thursday night before the fourth Sunday in September. The camp ground is situated one mile southwest of Clanton station, South and North Alabama railroad. Ministers are especially invited to attend.

JOHN D. SIMPSON, P. C.

THE camp meeting at the Holland camp ground, Jasper county, Miss., will commence on Friday before the first Sunday in October next. It is fifteen miles south of Hickory station, Vicksburg and Meridian railroad, and ten miles west of Enterprise, Mobile and Ohio railroad. We invite all the preachers who can come to do so. We will take care of you.

15 D. P. BRADSHAW, Pastor.

THE annual camp meeting at Mount Zion, Barnesville circuit, Homer district, Louisiana Conference, will commence on the nineteenth of September, 1878, embracing the fourth Sabbath, and will close on the following Wednesday morning. Ministerial brethren are invited to come and help us.

15 JOHN A. MILLER, Pastor.

THE camp meeting at Siloam camp ground, Rochester circuit, Louisiana Conference, will begin on the evening of Wednesday, October 9, 1878, and conclude with the services of the following Sunday night. All are invited to attend, preachers especially. (15) F. T. RAWSON.

THE camp meeting at the Nelson camp ground, on Cypress Bayou, Caddo circuit, Louisiana Conference, will commence on Friday before the fifth Sabbath in September, 1878. Ministers are cordially invited.

15 J. M. JOHNSTON, P. C.

THE New Hope camp meeting, near DeKalb, Kemper county, DeKalb circuit, Mississippi Conference, begins on Friday night before the second Sabbath in October. Ministers are invited. (15) T. Y. ARMSTRONG, P. C.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Liberty, at Liberty chapel	Sept. 7, 8
Ofpkin, at Wesley chapel	14, 15
Kosciusko, at Kosciusko	20
Detroit, at Center Grove	21, 22
Winona and Carrollton, at Carrollton	27
Walden, at Garlington	28, 29
Winona circuit, at Columbiana	Oct. 5, 6
Black Hawk, at Acona	12, 13
Attala	19, 20
West station, at Embry	26, 27
Richland	Nov. 2, 3
Reelfoot lake	9, 10
Greenwood	16, 17

22 L. A. JONES, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

SHREVEPORT DIST.—THIRD ROUND.

Marshall	Sept. 14, 15
Pleasant Hill, at Hearin	21, 22
Logansport	28, 29
Mansfield	Oct. 5, 6
South Bossier, at Red Lamb	12, 13
Mooringsport, at Mooringsport	19, 20
Springville	26, 27
Natchitoches	Nov. 2, 3
Natchitoches circuit	9, 10
Atascosa	16, 17
Caddo	23, 24
Desoto	30, Dec. 1
Shreveport	31, Dec. 1

The camp meeting at Beulah will commence on the twentieth of September. Ministers are invited by Bro. Cassity, P. C.

15 ROBERT RANDLE, P. E.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

BROOKHAVEN DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pleasant Valley and Zion Ct., at Zion	Sept. 21, 22
Georgetown circuit, at Bethesda	28, 29
Bethel circuit, at Franklin chapel	Oct. 5, 6
Brandywine circuit, at Rehoboth	12, 13
Beauregard circuit, at Buhalia	19, 20
Scotland circuit, at Caseyville	26, 27
Meadville circuit, at Nebo	Nov. 2, 3
Summit circuit, at Johnson Station	9, 10
Boguechitto circuit, at Boguechitto	16, 17
Brookhaven circuit, at Wesson	23, 24
Crystal Springs	30, Dec. 1
Hazlehurst	Dec. 8, 9

Reports for the year will be due at these Conferences from pastors, local preachers, trustees and stewards. Subscriptions received and forwarded to the Advocate by the preacher in charge or the presiding elder.

5 W. E. M. LINFIELD, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Ridge and Forest Hill	Sept. 14, 15
Oak Hill	21, 22
Raymond	28, 29
Madison circuit	Oct. 5, 6
Sharon circuit	12, 13
Camden circuit	19, 20
Brownsville circuit	26, 27
Jackson circuit	Nov. 2, 3
Yazoo circuit	9, 10
Tranquil circuit	16, 17
Silver Creek circuit	23, 24
Yazoo City station	30, Dec. 1
Canton station	Dec. 7, 8
Jackson station	14, 15

29 E. M. FEATHERSTON, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Port Gibson	Sept. 14, 15
Fayette, at Lebanon	21, 22
Kingston	28, 29
Natchez	Oct. 5, 6
Rocky Springs, at Center Grove	12, 13
Clayton, at Reeves' chapel	19, 20
Warren, at Beechland	26, 27
Hover, at Fletcher's chapel	Nov. 2, 3
Mount Olivet, at Mount Olivet	9, 10
Rolling Fork	16, 17
Clover Hill and Lombard	23, 24
Vicksburg	30, Dec. 1

29 W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meridian	Aug. 31, Sept. 1
Shubuta, at Gallman	Sept. 14, 15
Enterprise	21, 22
Wayne, at Union (camp meeting)	28, 29
Paulding, at Ho land (camp meeting)	Oct. 5, 6
DeKalb, at New Hope (camp meeting)	12-14
Philadelphia, at Hester's	19, 20
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	26, 27
Lauderdale mission, at Spidog Hill	Nov. 2, 3
Marion, at Marion	9, 10
McGowan, at Soule chapel	16, 17
Ellisville mission, at Hebron	23, 24
Ente prise circuit, at Chunky	30, Dec. 1
Spring Hill	Dec. 7, 8

29 JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BUENA SALUD.

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia & all Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Coca leaf (erythroxylon coca), and is recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of this leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peru and Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT,

OR

QUICHUA COCA CO.,

No. 72 William St., New York.

8p

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO. 20 CAMP AND 116 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15 00 will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	6 Meat Dishes.
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes.

Stone China DINNER SETS
Stone China TEA SETS
Decorated CHAMBER SETS
Real French China DINNER SETS
Gold Band China TEA SETS
Table TUMBLERS
Table GOBLETS

WRITE FOR PRICES

8p W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

$30 Mixed Cards, Snowflake, Damask, etc., no 2 alike, with name, 10 cts. J. MINNICH & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINE!

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime

The fact that the only Sewing Machine which unscrupulous men have attempted to imitate is the Singer is sufficient evidence of its superiority over all others. There is no longer any excuse for buying any of the cheap Machines hawked about the country, with no claim for patronage but its cheapness.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT DEPOT

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.25 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.20. Best at $1.50 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice $1. Extra choice $1.25.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Japan, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground	25c. per lb.
CHOICE RIO,	30c. "
CHOICE CORDOVA,	40c. "
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA	60c. "

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station on Mobile or Jackson Railroad Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send 25c. extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

SOLID GOLD RINGS.

Our New Illustrated Catalogue, showing prices and prices of a large variety of solid Plain Gold Rings; also, Amethyst, Garnet, Cameo, Onyx, and Imitation Diamond Gold Set Rings, with full directions for ordering, will be sent free, by mail, to any address. We warrant every ring to be as represented. We give particular attention to the manufacture of Engagement and Wedding Rings. Rings can be sent safely by mail.

C. P. BARNES & BRO., Goldsmiths, 224 Main St., b't 6th and 7th, Louisville, Ky.

EVERY RING WARRANTED.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder — Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of all Toilet; Toothine, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Finah, Lewis & Co., John I. Adams & Co., Harrison & Chambers and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE

TRADE MARK

BLANCHARD

FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 64 page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent postpaid to any address.

☞ Circulars sent free.

THE BLANCHARD

BLOOD AND NERVE FOOD

Or Tonic Extract of Wheat.

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, MENTAL PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SCIATICA, CATARRH, NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM AND LOSS OF VITAL ENERGY. The only reliable Brain-Invigorator.

$1 PER BOTTLE, sent by express, or your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free.

SAM'L E. MOORE, Agt., Cor. Canal and Royal Sts., New Orleans.

MAGIC INK PAPER!!

INSTANTLY PRODUCES FIVE GALLONS OF INK

Will make FIVE GALLONS of the best Writing Fluid, and can be carried in the pocket. One or more dried pieces in hands or mailed free. Despatched for Fifteen Thousand Travelers, etc., "Parisian Novelties" has examined our articles, and "find them as represented, and worth money." ALL OUT OF EMPLOYMENT, male or female, can, by energy and perseverance, make money canvassing for us. Circulars free. Sample package, postage paid, Twenty Cents. NOW.

A. T. HILLYER, Sole Manufacturer, 116 Nassau St., N. Y.

WASHBURN'S PHOTOGRAPHIC ART GALLERY,

COR. CANAL ST. AND EXCHANGE PLACE.

☞ The handsomest place of the kind in the South.

A PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in a manner unequaled by any other establishment in this country.

Copying and enlarging of all Pictures a specialty. Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY.

WANTED.

GOOD, LIVE BUSINESS MEN to sell the Excelsior Improved Letter Copying Book. No press, brush or water used. Copies instantly. Agent's outfit, $2.50. Agents make from $10 to $15 per day. Address EXCELSIOR MANUFACTURING CO., 37 La Salle street, Chicago, Ill. (Incorporated February 18, 1877. Capital, $100,000. Exclusive territory given.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERYBODY ANSWERS YES!

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY, is the only reliable and only Simply mixed in the white grain of wheat, powerfully poisonous, to vermin, and really Nature's remedy for the complete and thorough extermination of rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will at once relieve you from those noxious and destructive pests. Price, only 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States and Canada.

M. T. CREAMER & CO.'S Manufacturing Chemists, 81 Tchoupitoulas st.

Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S Magazine street.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples free. Address STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1878. NO. 37.

A WATER LILY.

O star on the breast of the river,
O marvel of bloom and grace,
Did you fall straight down from heaven
Out of the sweetest place?
You are white as the thoughts of an angel;
Your heart is steeped in the sun;
Did you grow in the golden city,
My pure and radiant one?

Nay, nay, I fell not out of heaven;
None gave me my sahtly white;
It slowly grew from the blackness
Down in the dreary night.
From the ooze of the silent river
I won my glory and grace,
While souls fall not, O my poet;
They rise to the sweetest place.

Sunday Afternoon.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 9.—To-day's mortuary report is the largest of any day since the fever appeared, undertakers reporting 112 interments, of which 34 were colored people. Among the number are Maj. J. C. Tirrall; Thos. Reed, a telegraph operator from Philadelphia; Rev. D. R. Rosenbery, of Bartlett circuit, Methodist Episcopal Church; N. Gibson; Sister Constance, superior of the Sisters of St. Mary Episcopal; Paul Cuno and S. P. Golug, of Little Rock, who had been nursing the sick.

The condition of our city grows more desperate every hour. Of the new cases it is useless to keep count. Whole families are stricken down with it in a few hours, and the call for nurses is greater than can be supplied. Yesterday there were about 60 deaths and 300 new cases, and to-day, up to noon, 70 deaths are reported, and the death-rate to-day will probably exceed that of any previous day. Among the deaths reported this morning are that of Dr. J. C. Slater, pastor First Methodist church; Sister Catherine, of St. Mary's Episcopal Church; M. Cosgrove, William A. Rudd, Jacob Loeb, E. Nelson, and Harry W. Ferguson, who died at Camp Joe Williams.

JACKSON, MISS., Sept. 9.—The fever has broken out at several new points in this State—Bolton, Lake and Lawrence stations, on the Vicksburg and Meridian railroad; Gallman station, on the New Orleans road; and Dry Grove, in Hinds county. No abatement at Vicksburg, Holly Springs, Port Gibson or Greenville. At Grenada only three new cases remain to be attacked. At Vicksburg W. G. Paxton, grand commander Knights Templar, is among the new cases.

GRENADA, Sept. 9.—The fever has broken out at Senatobia. Over 30 cases up to date, and the alarm among the citizens is reported very great. They are preparing to abandon the city.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 10.—The fever continues to increase at Vicksburg. Nearly three thousand are prostrated. Among the recent deaths is Dr. Gotthelf, Jewish rabbi. Mr. Featherston is very low.

The excitement in the eastern part of the State, in consequence of fever at Lake and Lawrence stations, on the Vicksburg and Meridian railroad, resulted in the stoppage of trains on that road east of Jackson, by quarantine regulations. Travel is almost impossible. The Legislature cannot assemble, and the afflicted communities must continue to rely upon the people at home and abroad for support.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The Herald, commenting on the Maine election, says: This is the first time Republican ascendency in Maine has been broken or shaken since the party sprang into existence. Such a startling change must affect other States, especially Massachusetts, where Butler men will be greatly encouraged. There remains no longer the slightest chance of a Republican majority in either branch of Congress.

VICKSBURG, Sept. 10.—Weather clear and warm. Thermometer, 89°. Indications are that the fever is decreasing in new cases, but the mortality is fearful. Deaths yesterday, 9; to-day, 11.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 10.—At an early hour this morning rain commenced falling, and has kept up incessantly to noon. Fifty-nine deaths have been reported up to noon, making 75 since yesterday noon.

MOBILE, Sept. 10.—There was a fatal case of yellow fever here last evening. The Board of Health reports it an imported case.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 11, midnight.—The weather has been cool to-day, which was unfavorable to the sick. The official report of the Board of Health shows 104 deaths, of which 19 were colored, and 69 new cases, of which 12 were colored. The medical reports of the Howard Association report 212 new cases.

To guard against any mishap to the county undertaker and expedite the burial of the pauper dead, President Langstoff, of the Howard Association, to-day ordered 1,000 coffins, which will be brought to the city and used as occasion demands.

The death of Rev. E. C. Slater, a zealous Methodist minister, is much regretted. Night and day he attended the sick, asking no questions as to their faith. He did the same good service through the epidemic of 1873, but this one struck him down.

Among the deaths published we note: Rev. D. R. Rosenbery, Methodist; Dr. Nelson; Thomas Hood, pioneer telegrapher from Philadelphia; Mrs. Brooks, wife of W. S. Brooks, of the Appeal, whose mother is recovering.

PORTLAND, ME., Sept. 11.—The House stands now: 65 Republicans, 2 Democrats supporting Republicans, 21 Democrats, and 58 Greenbackers. Five are not reported, of which two are known to be Greenbackers.

This makes it 87 Republicans to 81 opposition. It is a question if some of the hard-money Democrats may not affiliate with the Republicans. A charge of fraud in the Fourth Ward of Portland leaves a chance to change four votes to the Republicans, a majority on joint ballot, and permit them to elect their State officials, provided the two Republican Democrats are not driven over by the struggle.

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—The State Convention of the Independent Greenback party of Massachusetts met to-day. Nearly one thousand delegates were present—among them one lady, Mrs. Josephine R. Stone, of Boston. B. F. Butler was nominated for Governor on a rising vote.

TRENTON, Sept. 11.—The National Local Preachers' Convention of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which was to have assembled in Covington, Ky., will meet in this city next month. The change is in consequence of the fever in the South.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 11.—Gov. Williams issued a proclamation recommending next Friday as a day of fasting and prayer in behalf of the plague-stricken South.

MOBILE, Sept. 11.—Collections thus far, $7,600. Ninety nurses and physicians have been sent through the Can't-Get-Away Club to infected districts.

CAIRO, Sept. 12.—Thomas Nally, editor of the Bulletin, died to-day of what physicians pronounced, at the last moment, to be yellow fever. Isaac Mulkey, an employee of the Bulletin, is very low with the same complaint.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Sept. 12.—Prof. Samuel L. Caldwell, of the Newton Theological Seminary, was elected president of Vassar College. He succeeds the late Dr. Raymond.

JACKSON, Sept. 13.—Gov. Stone has issued the following proclamation:

Whereas, The hand of affliction has been laid heavily upon our people, and a fearful epidemic is prevailing in many portions of the State, carrying death, desolation and despair upon hundreds of families; And, whereas, No relief has been found in human skill, and believing in the efficacy of prayer to almighty God, who has promised to help his people in time of need:

Now, therefore, I, J. M. Stone, Governor of the State of Mississippi, do recommend that on Friday, the thirtieth day of September, all Christian people throughout the State repair to their respective places of worship, and offer up their united petition in prayer to God that he will withdraw from our people this terrible affliction, and that he in his infinite goodness and mercy will restore them to health, and bring peace to their mourning households.

J. M. STONE,
Governor of Mississippi.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13.—A heavy frost occurred here and in the vicinity last night. The temperature is now favorable for a heavier one to-night.

MEMPHIS, TENN., September 15—Ninety deaths reported to-day. It is believed many have occurred in the suburbs which are not reported, for the reason that the undertakers will not go beyond the city limits, and, though they sell coffins for their interment, do not report them. At Elmwood to-day many coffins were brought in express wagons and other vehicles from the suburbs.

Among to-day's dead are Maj. William Wills, superintendent of the Southern Express Company, who was a leading member of the Citizens' Relief Committee, and an active worker among the sick and destitute; John G. Lonsdale, Jr., treasurer of the Citizens' Relief Committee; Ed. Foster, of the Howard Association; R. W. Blew, publisher of the Western Methodist, and his wife and child—another child is dying. Dr. McGregor, of Tipton county, Tenn., died this morning; Dr. Armstrong, John Erskine and D. D. Saunders, of this city, are in a critical condition.

OFFICE BOARD OF HEALTH, Baton Rouge, Sept. 16.—Official statement of the cases of yellow fever reported in Baton Rouge for the forty-eight hours ending this morning at nine o'clock is as follows: September 15—Deaths, 2; new cases, 71. September 16—Deaths; none; new cases, 31. Total number of deaths, 29; total number of cases, 511.

J. W. DUPREE, M. D.,
Health Officer.

VICKSBURG, Sept. 16.—Weather clear and warm; thermometer, 92°. Twenty-three deaths to-day, eighteen white and five colored. Among the prominent are Mrs. S. A. Cully, wife of D. H. Cully, merchant, who died last week, and Col. W. D. Edington. Eighty-five new cases are reported to-day, principally colored.

CANTON, MISS., Sept. 16.—The total number of cases to date is 404; deaths, 56. New cases in the last twenty-four hours, 20; deaths, 1. Dr. Galloway, one of our physicians who has been sick with the fever, is up and on duty.

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, MISS., Sept. 16.—Fever spreading at Dry Grove. Deaths to date, 7; cases, 15. Two deaths from the Dry Grove fever within one mile of our town on Saturday night last. Great excitement here.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 16. Mortality to-day has been greater than was anticipated, 111 deaths being reported, 36 of which were colored. Yesterday there were 98 deaths, instead of 90, as reported in the dispatches.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 17.—A dispatch from Salem, Oregon, announces the election of J. H. Slater as United States senator.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 18.—There is a perceptible increase in activity about the Howard headquarters this morning, and apparently no decrease in the number of new cases, although the report of deaths is lower, only 38 being reported up to noon, making 91 for the past twenty-four hours.

VICKSBURG, Sept. 18.—Weather slightly cloudy and warm. Thermometer, 92°. Twelve deaths are reported for the past twenty-four hours, and the new cases number about fifty. Dr. Onary is on duty again, having finally recovered from a severe attack of yellow fever.

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 18.—The official statement of cases of yellow fever reported in Baton Rouge, for the twenty-four hours ending this morning at nine o'clock, is as follows:

Number of deaths, 3; number of new cases, 25; total number of deaths to date, 31; total number of cases to date, 601.

CANTON, MISS., Sept. 18.—Total number of cases, 435; deaths, 75; new cases in the last twenty-four hours, 10; deaths, 11. Dr. A. H. Cage is dead. Our people are very gloomy.

GRENADA, Sept. 18.—One death to-day and three new cases. Weather warm and right for the spread of the disease.

FOREIGN.

VIENNA, Sept. 10.—The thirty-sixth Austrian division on Sunday captured Klijuc, on the River Sanna, after a stubborn engagement. They lost 200 killed and wounded. Gen. Szapary announces that the insurgents in the engagement he had with them on Thursday lost 600 men.

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—The assassin, Nobeling, died to-day. The immediate cause was paralysis of the lungs.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—The Egyptian obelisk was brought into an upright position and lowered on the pedestal this afternoon on the Thames embankment.

CALCUTTA, Sept. 16.—The floods destroyed upward of one thousand houses in the Jullinder district of the Punjaub.

GENERAL CONFERENCE OF THE METHODIST CHURCH OF CANADA.—This General Conference (the second quadrennial session held under the new form of organization) opened in the Dorchester Street church, Montreal, on Wednesday, September 4, at nine A. M. The venerable Edgerton Ryerson, D. D., LL. D., president of the last General Conference, conducted the opening exercises, assisted by Rev. Drs. Green and Pickard. The Conference numbers 230 delegates, being composed of one minister and one lay delegate for every eight itinerant ministers in the church. Nearly all the delegates were present at the calling of the roll by the last Conference secretary, Rev. D. D. Currie. The Conference represents six Annual Conferences, 1,055 itinerant ministers, and over 122,000 lay members, and a church property of about $6,000,000. An affecting and deeply interesting address, abounding in statistical information, showing the growth of the church during the last four years, was made by the retiring president.

Rev. George Douglass, D. D., was elected president by a very large vote; Rev. Dr. S. D. Rice, vice-president; Rev. A. Sutherland, secretary, with D. Allison, LL. D. (superintendent of Education in Nova Scotia,) and Judge Jones, assistant secretaries. Among those introduced was Rev. S. Coley, fraternal delegate from the British Wesleyan Conference, who had reached New York the previous week, and who had spent the Sabbath in Toronto, the guest of Dr. S. Rose, book steward.

Some weeks ago we said, says the Western Christian Advocate, that Dr. Winchell affirms his full belief in the unity of the human race; and, if we remember correctly, we then expressed surprise at the conflicting statements concerning his views which were being disseminated by the press. In answer to recent queries, we may state that, while Dr. Winchell believes in the unity of the race, he does not hold that the negro is descended from the biblical Adam, whom he thinks a much too modern a man to be the common parent of mankind. Rather he holds that the biblical Adam and the negro alike descended, by different lines, from an ancestor who lived in prehistoric times and was the "first man." We are willing to give Dr. Winchell all the time that a fair and scholarly interpretation of the Scriptures will warrant; and this, we apprehend, will be all the time that science so Christianized as to take providence and miracle into account will demand. But the theory that the biblical Adam is not "the first man" does not in our opinion lessen, but only increases, the difficulties which beset the Christian thinker. But we are still at a loss to account for the conflicting statements of the professor's views which have been put forth by the press. We are not asking for an exposition of his opinions.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, says the Pacific Methodist, has delivered six lectures in this city and two sermons. Great crowds have attended both sermons and lectures, and the profits of the tour must be enormous. We suppose that Mr. Beecher and the gentlemen who have employed him will take away from our State not less than $30,000—nearly if not quite as much as the fifty preachers of the Pacific Conference will get for their year of faithful and successful labor.

Restoration of the Jews.

Rev. Joseph Parker Camp, in the New York Christian Advocate, finds in the present posture of affairs fresh indications that the Jews are soon to return to Palestine. He says:

Again, the land of Palestine is situated so nearly in the center of the inhabitable globe that it may be called the center. Sitting at the conjunction of Europe, Asia and Africa, with America no farther away to the west than China on the east, it is in the exact spot upon which one would look to find the metropolis of the earth. Thus did God, in his choice of position, vindicate the wisdom of his impeachers. The little strip of soil that skirts the Mediterranean has long been laughed at by the skeptic as a sure proof that Israel is not of God's planting. If he had been the chooser, how much better had been the choice? But the centuries have revealed the foreknowledge of God, and have unfolded the plans of the Most High. When he selected the dwelling of Israel, he was also fixing the seat of empire. When the Jew does return to the glorious city, only time will be needed for his wealth to make it "the city." The trade of the world will enter there. A glance at the map will show Palestine to be right at the confluence of the trade of three continents, and the fourth must be added if she will have any at all. The Jew is the trader.

Had not such a government as that of Turkey held the Holy Land, the Jew would have returned to it long ago. Now that England has grasped it, there is no obstacle in his way. The Eastern question is the Jewish question. The Euphrates is being dried up, that the way of the King of the East may be prepared. The Jew is to be the King of the East, and even now the Euphrates may be dry. It certainly is nearly so.

This question is forcing itself upon the world, and strange things are transpiring that prove it: The downfall of the Turkish empire nearly if not quite accomplished; the astounding and not yet appreciated success of Disraeli at Berlin; the realization of that success in the occupation of Cyprus and the virtual ownership of Asia Minor, bringing England to Cyprus, and within twenty hours' sail to the coast off Jerusalem; Disraeli, himself a Jew by blood, instinct, tradition, and everything but creed, the ruler of the only nation on earth able and willing to protect her distant possessions—all these may be only straws, but they persistently bend one way. His name—Benjamin of Israeli—is a circumstance full of significance. Joseph, the prime minister of Egypt, was an instrument in the hands of God, whereby the salvation of Israel was wrought. Daniel, prime minister of Babylon, was an instrument in the hands of God, whereby the salvation of Israel was wrought a second time. Is it impossible that Benjamin Disraeli, prime minister of England, is an instrument in the hands of God, whereby the salvation of Israel may be wrought a third time? He is prime minister of the most powerful nation of his day, as they were of theirs, and God has not raised him up for nothing. He professes to adhere to the Christian faith, but his life and habits betray the Jew. Rothschild is his friend—if he has a friend.

"The Asian Mystery" has long worshiped with his face toward Jerusalem, and he boasts of having made England more Asiatic than European; and he has. For years his actions, his words, his writings and his thoughts have been pointing to the East; and in the light of latter days we see that he has worshiped the rising, not the setting, sun, and that all his past life glitters and gleams with a significance so great it should have challenged attention years ago. He has achieved success that no man else has done; and that he, a poor, friendless boy, should do this, especially in his circumstances, is too wonderful to mean nothing. For a poverty-stricken Commoner to walk through the nobility, and put himself at their head, to hold repeatedly the highest positions of trust, honor and emolument in a purse-proud, blood-proud, name-proud, rank-proud aristocracy, pour contempt on them, sneer at them, and rule them, is, indeed, a riddle, the solving of which must clear up more than one mystery.

Then, again, the press of Europe is falling into Jewish hands. Before any nation can go to war the Jew must find the money. He is holding influential and important positions all over the Continent. He was at Berlin, and the plenipotentiaries promised that his Eastern brethren should be protected from future injury; and they will be when they return to their own land. The Jewish Messenger already suggests that Roumania's 250,000 Jews repair to Palestine as the first step in the solution of the Eastern question. Morocco is persecuting its Jews so terribly that they must flee or be exterminated. Could they not flee to their own land, now that Providence has opened it to them?

To my mind the result is plain. I have endeavored, as much as possible, to ignore the Scriptures in this writing, but they and the Jew are so bound together it is impossible to entirely separate them. I have not appealed to a single text to strengthen my position, but have endeavored to show that, from the nature of existing things, the return of the Jew to Palestine is not only possible or probable, but inevitable. Based on these and the word of God (it is not a hazardous prediction), I predict that the exile, whom we have seen flying from his burning temple and city out into the night, will return and rebuild his temple and his city in the light of day.

Vanderbilt University.

Dr. Summers, in the Nashville Christian Advocate, gives the following account of the opening:

The fourth session of the Vanderbilt University opened on Sunday, September 1. At eleven o'clock Bishop Doggett delivered a magnificent discourse on Acts xxvi, 29. His portrait of the Apostle Paul was admirable, and the lessons derived from it will not soon be erased from the minds of his hearers, especially the biblical students. In the afternoon the dean of the Biblical Department discoursed on Paul's caution to Timothy, in regard to the "oppositions of science, falsely so called." True science comprehends all things in the word and works of God, between which there are no oppositions, but a perfect harmony, which is the platform on which the Vanderbilt stands.

A good number of students was present, notwithstanding the panic occasioned by yellow fever. It is fortunate for the University that it is located in Nashville, where yellow fever never comes. We never knew Nashville in better health than at present.

The faculty of the University are all in their places, in good health and spirits, ready for the work of the session. They are busily engaged in organizing classes. They urge as prompt attendance as possible.

The secretary of the Board of Trust, Dr. Young, informs us that there will be a large attendance in the Biblical Department. He wants another Wesley Hall in which to place them.

The Law Department opens this week. Its students are coming in. It has a noble faculty—Col. Thomas H. Malone dean,) and Messrs. W. B. Reese secretary,) and Ed. Baxter.

The Medical Department opens October 1. It has a full and very able faculty, of which Thomas W. Menees, M. D., is the dean.

Making Peace.

The following is published in the St. Louis Times of September 7:

ST. LOUIS, September 4, 1878.

As the result of a meeting called by a mutual friend for the purpose of a personal interview and general conversation touching matters connected with the church proceedings against Logan D. Dameron by St. John's Methodist Episcopal Church South, in the year 1871, Mr. Dameron, after mutual explanations, admits that he received a misapprehension which led him into error; and he now withdraws all statements and publications reflecting upon the Christian character and integrity of the gentlemen composing the church courts of St. John's church and committees growing out of the same, and hereby recommends that all agitation in this connection should terminate herewith.

LOGAN D. DAMERON.

We, the members of the church courts and committee, cheerfully accept the above withdrawal by Mr. Dameron of the statements and publications made by him from time to time, as above stated, and hereby recommend that all agitation in this connection should terminate herewith.

J. W. LEWIS.
R. M. SCRUGGS.
A. A. WALLACE.
SAM. CUPPLES.
CHAS. R. LEWIS.
THOMAS RHODES.
S. T. NEWMAN.
THOMAS C. READY.
W. H. CHICK.
GEO. H. MCCONNELL.
A. R. MOORE.
J. H. WYETH.
R. P. HANENKAMP.

As the present pastor of St. John's church, I concur in the above.

J. G. WILSON.

About Holly Springs.

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., September 11, 1878.

MR. EDITOR: Our beautiful little city of flowers—Holly Springs—is now in the shadow of death.

The yellow fever began to do its dreadful work among our citizens a little more than a week ago, and already fifty or more of them have passed into eternity. Two of my stewards have fallen—Bros. Fort and Oliver. The former was one of our leading Methodists. We had no truer man to lose.

After visiting the suffering for several days I brought my wife, who was almost prostrate from nervous excitement, to this place, from which I expect to return as soon as practicable to offer what consolation I can to the heart-broken and dying.

The people have all left who could conveniently get away. I suppose two hundred whites and three or four hundred colored remain, about one hundred and twenty-five of whom are sick. Very few are recovering. Pray for us.

Yours in Christ,

J. W. LOWRANCE.

Texts Illustrated.

MR. EDITOR: In the sixth chapter of Matthew and the twenty-sixth verse we have the following question: "Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?" This seems to be a question asked not with the intention of eliciting an answer, but, as Mr. Quackenbos would teach, simply to intensify the thoughts contained therein. Anyhow, I will never need to have a commentary again on that short sentence to understand its practical application to men. Some two months ago our little town, of about eight hundred souls, was thrown into a state of excitement on account of the near approach of the fever. Quarantine against all infected ports. The regulations have been strictly enforced, and the inhabitants were in at least a semi-quiet, hopeful condition. Many, however, had made arrangements for a case of emergency, and secured homes in the country. On Thursday evening, September 5, the whole town was thrown into a state of confusion and disorder at the report of two cases of yellow fever within our limits, and into still greater consternation at the report of the third case on Friday morning. Men were to be seen running in every direction seeking places of refuge for their families. All the carriages, buggies, wagons and carts that could be had were put into immediate use. Comfortable houses and elegant parlors were exchanged for the cabin, hastily repaired, and made tolerable under the circumstances. As for diet—well, that had very little consideration. The life was a great deal more than meat just then. As for clothes—well, only just what could be gotten along with the body was a good deal more than raiment, too, at that time.

By twelve M. on Friday another text was very forcibly suggested: "How doth the city sit solitary, that was full of people!" Very few families remained. I can count parts of only six Methodist families who remained, and only twelve members of my church, most of whom remained as nurses, having had the disease. I had fully determined to remain, but the advice of the brethren was that under the circumstances my duty was perhaps greater in the country. And now I was in a great strait; since to remain in town would quarantine me entirely from the country. So, with a promise from those remaining that if needed I should be informed, I also moved to the more healthy country atmosphere. And now, Mr. Editor, I find myself filled with another text: "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" With a mind thus divided as to duty, I go seeking the scattered flock. Up to the present eight cases have been reported of all kinds of sickness, and this evening one death is reported, though not authentically. Many doubt even now that there has been a single case of yellow fever. Be it what it may, there are a very few within the town to take it, and a good supply of nurses. Pray for us.

Fraternally,

T. B. HOLLOMAN.

WOODVILLE, MISS., Sept. 14, 1878.

From Port Gibson.

We are truly thankful that the lives of our ministers in Port Gibson have been spared. May the pestilence there and everywhere be soon arrested. The following note from Rev. John A. B. Jones, president of the Port Gibson Collegiate Academy, will be read with interest:

PORT GIBSON, MISS., Sept. 10, 1878.

REV. L. PARKER, D. D.—Dear Brother: Port Gibson is sorely scourged. Since the first death, August 8, to the present there have been about 450 cases and 70 deaths. It is estimated that over 1,000 persons fled to the country at the first alarm of yellow fever. Fortunate flight, for the living could not have buried the dead.

Many of our most valuable citizens have died. The end is not yet.

Bro. Monnger, wife and two children (Eddy and Ethel), Rev. Mr. Planck, pastor of the Presbyterian church, my father and mother, have all had the fever, and are considered safe.

Please give notice through the ADVOCATE that the next session of Port Gibson Collegiate Academy will begin October 23. Yours truly,

JOHN A. B. JONES.

Alas! how little can human beings read each other. The heart knoweth its own bitterness; and a stranger intermeddleth not. Yet, after all, why "Alas?" Is it not better that it should be so than our inmost soul should be legible to all?—F. W. Robertson.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1878.

RETURNING.

Lord, where thy many mansions be
Have thou a little room for me,
Whose restless feet these many days
By unforbidden paths have trod,
And wandering in uncertain ways,
Have missed the way that leads to God?
Lord, is there any room for me,
Who, sorrowing, would return to thee?

Far have I strayed, still tossed about
On fears that would not be cast out
For all the subtle theories
That men have framed wherein to find
For troubled hearts a doubtful ease.
And freedom for a willful mind
Thy words once hidden in my breast,
Forever robbed the night of rest.

I heard its still, small voice above
All other voices—not in love,
As in the old sweet days of peace,
But in a tone of sad complaint
Why art thou swift to seek release
From easy yoke and safe restraint?
Why hast thou taken for thy guide
False lights that lure thee from my side?

Lord, if I heard, and in despite
Of warning close the fair, false light—
If, heedless, I thy Spirit grieved,
And slighted as an idle tale
Love such as no man hath conceived—
What late repentance can avail?
How shall I dare to lift my face
Once more within thy holy place?

I know not, verily and yet
With doubts perplexed and fears beset
And the sad heart unsatisfied,
Lord, I remember what sweet rest
I did discover at thy side;
With yearnings not to be expressed
I long to walk once more with thee
Lord, hast thou any room for me?

Sunday Afternoon.

Regeneration.

ITS NECESSITY.

"That which is born of the flesh is flesh."—John iii, 6. "They that are in the flesh cannot please God."—Romans viii, 8. "Because the carnal mind is enmity against God."—Romans viii, 7. "The natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness unto him; neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned."—First Corinthians ii, 14. "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God."—John iii, 5. "As there is an absolute necessity that a child should be born into the world, that he may see its light, contemplate its glories, and enjoy its good, so there is an absolute necessity that the soul should be brought out of its state of darkness and sin through the power of the grace of Christ, that it may be able to see or discern the glories and excellencies of the kingdom of Christ here, and be prepared for the enjoyment of the kingdom of glory hereafter."—Dr. A. Clarke.

ITS NATURE.

"Regeneration is the same as 'conversion,' 'a new birth,' 'a new creation,' 'the new creature,' 'faith which worketh by love,' 'putting off the old man with his deeds,' and 'putting on the new man.'"—Dr. George Smith. "It is a change from darkness to light, so that we have a knowledge of ourselves, of God, of Christ, of religious experience, of our own accountability, of a future state and final judgment, which, being demonstrated by God's Spirit to the soul, shall influence our future conduct and form our future character."—Richard Watson. "By regeneration the tone, temper and tendency of the mind are changed, the current of the feelings is made to run in a different channel, and a capacity to do the will of God is imparted."—Dr. Summers. The change effected in the regeneration of a soul is not a material but a spiritual change. It is no rearrangement of the material particles composing the heart. The change is not physical in any respect; but it is a transfer of the affections from earthly to divine things. "A change of heart" is simply loving the things formerly hated, and hating the things formerly loved. Love of the world and enmity against God are characteristic of the unregenerate; while the regenerate "love not the world, neither the things that are in the world." First John ii, 15.

The agent in regeneration is the Holy Ghost. It is a spiritual change, and cannot be effected by water. Water is a cleansing element, and aptly signifies the purifying of the Holy Ghost; but water can cleanse from material defilement only, and the Holy Ghost only can cleanse from spiritual defilement. Baptism saves figuratively only. First Peter iii, 21. We are really saved "by the washing of regeneration, even the renewing of the Holy Ghost."—Titus iii, 5. In baptism water is used in connection with a renunciation of the world, the flesh and the devil, a confession of faith in God, and a consecration to his service, and is thus a formal cleansing from the pollutions of idols and the corruptions of the world; but this cleansing is formal only. Baptism with water introduces into the fellowship of the church—into the invisible kingdom of God—and is an apt symbol of the new birth, which introduces into the "general assembly and church of the first-born which are written in heaven."—Hebrews xii, 23—into the invisible kingdom of God. The sole agent in the regeneration of a soul is the Holy Ghost.

The instrument by which the regeneration of a soul is effected is the word of God. "Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth forever."—First Peter i, 23. "Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth."—James i, 18. Water is a material substance used in producing a material cleansing, or may be used ceremonially to symbolize a spiritual cleansing, but can never be used as an instrument of effecting a spiritual change. Baptism is a rite quite significant, and very useful when properly administered and received, but far inferior to the word of God; and hence the great apostle was sent "not to baptize, but to preach the gospel."—First Corinthians i, 17. And how powerful the effects of preaching the gospel, as God makes it the instrument by which he effects the conversion of souls! "The apostles simply proclaim the truth of God relative to the passion, death, resurrection and ascension of Christ, and God accompanies their testimony with the demonstration of the Spirit! What was the consequence? Thousands acknowledge the truth, embrace Christianity, and openly profess it at the imminent risk of their lives. The change is not a change of merely one religious sentiment or mode of worship for another, but a change of tempers, passions, prospects and moral conduct."—Dr. A. Clark.

The phenomena of the new birth appear in its effects. The outward manifestations or animal demonstrations which accompany the change at the time it is wrought are mere accidents of the work, are diversified in different individuals, and no importance at all should be attached to them. The manner of the Spirit's operation in producing this change is shown by a figure in which the wind is the symbol: "The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh and whither it goeth; so is every one that is born of the Spirit."—John iii, 8. The wind may come as the howling tornado, uprooting forests in its course, or as the gentle zephyr, that barely disturbs the gossamer; but in either event we know it blows. "So is every one that is born of the Spirit." To some the Spirit, in his regenerating influence, comes in such a manner that the soul is in a rapture which finds expression in audible outbursts of praise and extravagant gesticulations; to others he comes like "a still small voice," and lets in the mellow light of heaven with such gentle sweetness that the subject of the gracious change is blank with joyous astonishment. Yet in either case the subject knows that a gracious work is done. The effects of the work are the true and essential phenomena, and are identical and undiversified in all. This change produces in the hearts of all the subjects of the gracious work the same acute sense of the extreme demerit of sin; the same conviction of the absolute and perfect justice of God and the righteousness of his law; the same "mystic joys of penitence;" the same "wonder why such love to me;" the same tear-anointing affection which springs from a sense of much forgiven. The passage from death to life is productive in all of that love of the brethren which makes the fellowship of the saints so peculiarly grateful. In all there is a hearty espousal of the soul to God, and a ready assumption of the obligations growing out of their relation to God. All joyfully exclaim: "Thy vows are upon me!" The fruits of the Spirit—"love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance" (Galatians v, 22, 23)—are produced in the hearts of all the subjects of the gracious change. All are in new relations; instead of aliens to God, sons; instead of friends of the world, transformed by the renewing of the mind, strangers and pilgrims in the earth, and thrust out by the world as evil. All have new aspirations, new hopes, new affections, new tastes, new maxims, new associations, new employments; in short, are "new creatures," who live not unto themselves, but unto him who died for them. To all there is a restoration of intercourse with God. The closet, the family altar and the sanctuary are delightful places. They love God and they love his service. They love Christians, and delight in their company and conversation. A new world is open to their discernment, and they are interested about all that concerns it. They love the souls of men, they love the word of God, and whatever helps them to a better understanding of the same. They love the church, and are not indifferent to her welfare or her woe. They have "put on the Lord Jesus, and make not provision for the flesh to obey it in the lusts thereof." They hate sin, and are pained at any proximity thereof; but they love the sinner. They have a keen perception of the danger to which the sinner is exposed, and the misery of the sinner's present condition, and are anxious that his eyes be speedily opened, and he converted to God. Joy is a prominent ingredient in the experience of the regenerate. "They glory in tribulation" (Romans v, 3,) and "take joyfully the spoiling of their goods."—Hebrews x, 34. They pray for their enemies, and do good unto the unthankful and evil. They visit and help the sick, and especially the poor. They are charitable and philanthropic, and to the utmost of their ability manifest the same in a palpable form. Such are the true and essential phenomena of the new birth. Where these marks concur in the character of an individual there is a child of God. Those who possess these marks are in the image of God. They are his children—they are very dear to him; yea, he loves them with a tender, parental affection. They are beloved also of the rest of God's children, and doubtless cause joy among the angels. Heaven, with all its glories, is their final home if they continue in this happy state through life. A bright prospect is before them.

Reader, are you a child of God? If not, O hasten to enjoy this happiness. God wills that he may be gracious unto you.—Isaiah xxx, 18. "All things are now ready." "Now is the day of salvation." M.

The Missionary Cause.

One of the most glorious and noble works the Creator has assigned to man is that of converting the heathen over to Christianity. It is a work which should call forth sympathy and aid from every Christian man and woman.

Think of the many souls struggling in darkness and obscurity, with the blessed truths of religion only partly revealed to them. Thousands of men and women who have never even heard the name of their Lord are still worshiping images and bowing down before false gods, because they have no hand to guide them to the Christian's path. Now shall we who have ministers and teachers of the gospel preaching to us daily, and offering up prayers in our behalf, allow the good work which has been commenced to fail? Every good work we do for the missionary cause is glory added to his name.

Some think the heathen should be left as they are, supposing them happy because ignorant. But, friends, were you happy before you found God? Can any one declare that there is any happiness where there is nothing but senseless idols to worship? It is a wrong you are doing to many nations by saying there is no good in the heathen mission. God has given to us intellect and knowledge, intending that we should use them for the glorification of his name. This we can do by sending good and learned men and women to the many heathen countries which are suffering from barbarism, and cruelty from petty tyrants.

There are many nations calling to us for help and deliverance from the bondage of sin. We must not rest in our own security. Because we have found the true way, and have been pardoned for our sins, is no reason why we should fold our hands and say: "My share of God's work is completed. I have added my name to the list of repentant sinners, and secured my soul's salvation." No; we must help onward the march of Christianity, and spread the word of God in every land and in all nations where God is unknown and where Christian love does not reign. In the wilds of North and South America; the red man's home, where the savage war-whoop is echoed from mountain to mountain, and from glen to glen, till the very atmosphere is rent with barbarous cries—there still we send men to preach the word of God. Where the savage war-song is now sung around the camp-fires, there will in time, if the good work continues, be songs of praise wafted on the breeze, and shouts of glory to God, our Creator, shall ascend to heaven, and the angels shall take up the song and echo around the throne of mercy: Glory! glory! glory!

Arise, ye Christians, and work for the good cause—the enlightenment of darkened nations. You have secured your own soul's safety; secure the safety of many more by enlisting in the missionary cause.

Much has already been done toward spreading the gospel in foreign countries; but it is a great work, and requires much Christian energy to carry it on, for there are many thousands who know nothing of Christianity. There are in China alone about 400,000,000 inhabitants, with no more than 500 missionaries. Is not this a sad state of affairs? And China is not wholly a heathen country. The inhabitants claim once to have known God, although they have lost that knowledge long ago, and worship him no more. They have striven from time immemorial to reach again the orbit from which they are lost, but all their efforts have involved them in deeper darkness and more hopeless degradation. Their idolatrous customs and foolish superstitions attest this fact. But China shall yet be reclaimed and restored to Christianity.

In many countries the efforts of our missionary workers are meeting with success. This should encourage those who are toiling for them at home, and awaken in others a lively interest for the continuance and success of this grand work.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

I Speak That Others May Fear.

MR. EDITOR: I have often thought of the danger of resisting the influences of God's Spirit. I have often tried to impress this upon the minds of the reckless. But I never realized the full force of the apostle's words, "Grieve not the Holy Spirit," until recently, when I was called upon to hasten to a certain house in town where a man was thought to be in a dying condition. When I reached the place and stood in the threshold of the house of death, oh! what an object met my eyes! I cannot describe it. Language is weak, and thought is broken. The victim of death was lying there, pale and emaciated. He turned his wan face toward me, and fixed his wild, glaring eyes upon me. And what a sad story did they tell! They told more than I can repeat.

They told the story of a wrecked life. They told the story of a deep-hidden fire which was consuming the soul.

I approached nearer and looked more earnestly into his face. I shall never forget the solemn, awful words which fell upon my ear. They were pronounced slowly and in tremulous accents: "I am dying! Oh, that I could meet God in peace! Too late, too late! He hath stretched forth his hand, but I did not regard him. The Spirit knocked, but I would not open my heart."

So this poor, frail bark was launched into eternity without God and without hope. So does every one who does not yield to God's Spirit. My dear, unconverted friend, do not trifle with infinite goodness; dare not "rush against the thick bosses of God's buckler."

J. T. GRAHAM.

From the Work.

AMITE CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: A few items from this part of the work may be of interest to some of your readers. The Amite circuit, in Amite county, Miss., is composed of six churches, including Liberty, the county seat. At the last Conference there were reported 540 members from this work. I have not been able to find more than half that number. We propose a careful revision of the church registers on the circuit, and will consequently probably report less than 500 members next Conference. There is no parsonage on the circuit, though one is greatly needed. The church-houses all need some repairs, except Adams'. Finances are low, but crops are fine, and there is promise of improvement in this department in the fall.

Our congregations are large and attentive to the word of life.

We have five Sunday schools in operation, all using our own literature. The school at Adams' church deserves special mention. It is one of the largest and best I know of anywhere. Bros. William King and J. E. Carruth are the faithful and efficient superintendents of this school.

The spiritual state of the church is not satisfactory, though I trust it is improving some. The outlook in some places is encouraging. A few have been added to the church this year. We trust that by faithful attention an era of prosperity may be secured to this part of the work.

H. P. LEWIS, P. C.

HOLMESVILLE, Miss., September, 1878.

Christ hath died, "the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God." Christ hath died. Tell it to that despairing sinner—that man who is just about to seek escape from the upbraiding of an angry conscience by the terrible alternative of self-murder. Go to him. Be quick! Tell him he need not die, for Christ has died—hath died to bear his sins away.

Do you know how a church bazar works? The principle is a very ingenious one. Some ladies borrow money from their husbands, buy materials, and make up fancy articles, which they give to the bazar. Then they change places; borrow more money from their husbands, and buy the articles back again.

There is a natural and necessary progression from the extreme of anarchy to that of tyranny; arbitrary power is easily established on the ruins of liberty abused to licentiousness.—Washington

How bitter it is to look into happiness through another man's eyes.—Shakespeare.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as 'mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

MRS. MARTHA LOUISA FOUST, wife of the Rev. John E. Foust, of the Alabama Conference, and daughter of Mr. Thomas H. and Mrs. M. A. Dixon, was born in Noxubee county, Miss., on the seventeenth of November, 1846, and died at the home of her mother, near Brooksville, Miss., on the second of September, 1878. Sister Foust was happily converted at the Noxubee camp ground, and joined the Methodist Church when she was about eight years old. She received a careful religious training at the hands of her parents. God had given her a sound mind, which was well stored with useful knowledge. She was educated by Rev. R. H. Rivers, D. D., at Summerfield, Ala., and was for some time his assistant in the school there. In the relation of daughter she was most dutiful, making glad the hearts of her parents. As a sister she was idolized, and as a friend she was loved by a large circle, among whom she was known by the familiar name of "Reina." On the sixth of July, 1871, she was united in the bonds of holy wedlock to the Rev. John E. Foust, of the Alabama Conference, and entered at once upon the duties of a pastor's wife. She was fitted, both by nature and education, for the discharge of all the duties pertaining to this delicate and responsible position. The churches at St. Paul's, Mobile, and at Marion, Ala., were blessed by her ministrations. To the sick she was an angel of mercy, to the sorrowing a ray of gladness. To an amiable disposition were added all the charms of a fervent, sincere piety. All those Christian graces that so adorn the Christian life were fully developed in her. Her character was fashioned after the divine model—it was the "image of him by whom we are begotten again to a lively hope." Her conversation was always seasoned with grace, and left an influence for good upon all who came in contact with her. An intimate acquaintance only increased the charm of her life and character. She was one of the few who could be known and studied with increasing interest through a term of years. Her dress was such as became a woman professing godliness.

At the Conference for 1877 Bro. Foust was sent to Auburn, Ala. Here his wife, then in a rapid decline, made many friends. Her patience, meekness and resignation in affliction presented, as active life could not do, the power of faith to sustain in every emergency of life. Under the hail of God the wheat is threshed out and the chaff winnowed away. The suffering Christian is frequently called upon "to fill up that which is behind of the afflictions of Christ for the sake of the church." "His sufferings abound in us, while our consolation is made to abound by Christ." In July of this year Bro. Foust brought his wife to the home of her childhood, near Brooksville, Miss., hoping that a change of air and place would stay the ravages of disease. But the fatal dart had been fixed and the bow of the insatiate archer was unstrung. Sister Foust was young; she loved her family and friends. A noble husband possessed her heart and courted her stay. A winsome little girl of twenty months, just beginning to form bud-words the only surviving child of three clung to a mother's heart and held it back. Who would like to die at such a time as this? Early on Monday morning, the second of September, it was evident that her end was near. She knew it herself. Her mind was perfectly clear. With a calmness that was beautiful she gave minute directions as to her burial, and she distributed some gifts to members of her family. Then the parting came. Mother, brother, sister, child and husband! How tender it was! How sublime! What words of love! What confidence in God! The scene may be imagined, but cannot be described. The lamp of life burned dimly until half after two o'clock P. M., and then went out. In the last effort she extended her hand to her husband and mother, and moved her lips as if speaking. Bro. Foust asked: "What is it, wife?" The answer, like an echo from the distance, was the simple but expressive word: "Farewell!" But a few moments more and she had rounded life's last promontory and cast anchor in full view of the city of God. "Thanks be unto God, that giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." We laid her body to rest in the same grave-yard where rest her father and one child, and many of her family and friends. Her life was a blessing, and her death a sorrow mingled with joy and hope.

R. G. PORTER.

BRO. DAVID HUDSON was born in Elbert county, Ga., February 9, 1791, and died in Dale county, Ala., July 29, 1878, aged eighty-four years, six months and nine days. In his twenty-third year he married Miss Martha Oliver, whose consistent and religious life was the means of bringing him to the Savior. He moved to Alabama in 1835, and settled on the Alabama river, where he resided only one year, after which he settled in the county of Pike, in said State. He connected himself with the Methodist Episcopal Church years before, but, failing to receive the pardon of his sins, he was happily converted to God (in Pike county) at the family altar, while his pastor was leading in prayer. Soon afterward he was appointed class-leader, in which office he labored faithfully and acceptably. While living in this county his sainted wife was taken from him, but was soon after happily married to his second wife, Mrs. Nancy Cobb, who was also a faithful Christian lady, and continued such a helpmate to him during his life, and was with him faithfully administering to him, until the day of his death. He has been a resident of this county since 1852, where he has served the church in the capacity of class-leader and steward. No cult of the church was ever unheeded by him. Instant and earliest was he in looking after the wants of his pastors and the interests of his church; and this he continued until old age bid him retire to the ranks of the [illegible]. But the time spent in this relati[illegible] surely not misspent, for his consta[illegible] during his whole life was the church's [illegible]. He made it a rule of his life to [illegible] preacher liberally on his first round [illegible] year.

No one knew Bro. Hudson who is [illegible] to say: Surely a good man h[illegible] He did not fear death. Often in his l[illegible] in conversation with his pastor [illegible] subject of death, he expressed a wi[illegible] to die, and that he was only living t[illegible] his last hours he said to Bro. Wy[illegible] time has come and I am ready." [illegible] taken sick on Sunday evening, and [illegible] time was in great pain. While in th[illegible] tion he prayed the Lord to give h[illegible] and permit him, if it was his will, [illegible] out his time; and his prayer was a[illegible] for in a few moments he fell asleep [illegible] continued for four days, when [illegible] toms of pain. On the morning of [illegible] day he woke up in the arms of Jes[illegible] to be freed from all pain, and to re[illegible] bliss and glory forever.

The sympathy of the entire chu[illegible] friends is hereby tendered to the [illegible] widow, and our prayer is that [illegible] days may be like his, when it [illegible] ber that she must [illegible] the Methodist Episcopal Church South, [illegible] sixteen years old, and only [illegible] and her most intimate friends [illegible] consistent was the Christian life she [illegible] the time of her conversion [illegible] death.

The disease of which she died [illegible] tracted through nearly three years, [illegible] attended by acute physical suffering. [illegible] sufferings she bore with wonderful [illegible] fortitude and resignation. No word [illegible] moaning or complaint was ever known [illegible] from her lips.

She had a delightful home, and [illegible] rounded with all those blessings that [illegible] to make her earthly life happy. [illegible] band, children and friends were dear [illegible] her. Nothing they could give her [illegible] happiness or add to her comfort was [illegible] done. She knew that she must soon [illegible] leave this pleasant home and the [illegible] friends. With characteristic sweetness even under those trying circumstances she thought not of herself, but of the ones she was to leave behind her, and to foresee their coming wants, and provide for their future welfare. She gave minute directions as to the management of the household after she should be gone. These directions were given with the composure of one setting out upon a journey, and expecting to return to the home that is being left. So anxious was she for the comfort of her family that she requested to be buried during the evening or late in the evening, that the last rites of her grave might be performed the last rites of her grave might not be exposed to the intense heat of the midday sun.

Two days before her death she said to the writer: "I am not afraid to die. It is a pain to part with my friends, and I dread the pangs of death; but when I am on the other side all will be well." And at last the last scene came, with husband, children and friends, convulsed with grief, gathered around her bed, she composed, and the last moment, without one sigh or groan, passed calmly and peacefully away.

It was a privilege to stand by the bed of this noble Christian woman, during the sting of death had, in her case, been taken away. She had gained the victory through faith in the Lord Jesus.

MRS. ELIZABETH AGEE, [illegible] of Samuel Curtis, and wife of [illegible] ber, and after his death of Joseph A[illegible] in Marengo county, Ala. [illegible]

She was during more [illegible] her life a consistent and devoted [illegible] the Methodist Church. In the [illegible] days of this country she had an [illegible] of this world's goods, and made [illegible] of them in responding to the [illegible] charity in her power, and in [illegible] of the gospel, and all the [illegible] of benevolence.

With much ease and dignity she [illegible] a generous hospitality to a large [illegible] relations and friends, among whom [illegible] lighted to have numbered the [illegible] the gospel. They were always [illegible] a hearty welcome, and under her [illegible] tortable resting-place was found.

She had learned the holy art of [illegible] with moderation—the blessings of [illegible] and was never unduly exalted by [illegible] nor greatly dejected by adversity. [illegible] rich she was not a slave to the [illegible] world for all her comforts, and it [illegible] the power of adversity by its most [illegible] tacks to sweep them all away. [illegible] to be a tranquil, happy Christian in [illegible] of wealth and friends, and [illegible] comforts. Called to see her noble [illegible] cruel fortunes of war, ill-health and [illegible] but her religion remained the same. [illegible] was as tranquil and happy as ever. [illegible] never known to repine or murmur [illegible] thing that was permitted by Providence.

And when the last hours of life [illegible] had no fear. She was ready. [illegible] suffering was great and protracted, [illegible] she was happy. The faith by which [illegible] lived was found to be quite sufficient [illegible] emergency.

Just before she died, having had [illegible] sense of the divine presence, she said [illegible] children: "I already feel as if I [illegible] other world." Rising superior to [illegible] and above the common dread of [illegible] struggle, she rejoiced exceedingly [illegible] hear prospect of being at home [illegible] Savior in heaven.

Such a life and such a death only [illegible] the treacherous arts of wicked men [illegible] assaults on the Christian faith. Her [illegible] life, in all its domestic, social, civil [illegible] religious relations, was a living [illegible] known and read of all, and a [illegible] vincing proof of the truth and power [illegible] religion of Christ.

BRO. P.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1878.

SAVE THE BOY.

BY REV. G. F. COLE.

Close he sat upon my knee,
Looked from sweet eyes into mine,
Questioned me so wondrously
Of the mysteries divine;
Close he fan thy clasped my neck,
Pressed my cheek with kisses sweet;
O my heart! we little reck
Where may rove the precious feet.

Close his laugh with merry ring
Filled our house with music rare,
Ah! his lovin' hands would bring
Wreaths of blossoms for my hair;
O the merry, happy sprite,
Constant, ceaseless source of joy!
But to-night, O God, to-night,
Where, O where's my wandering boy?

Where the glitter and the glare
Of the room where death is dealt,
Save me! I know him; but he's there.
He's the one so reverent knelt
At my knee, and softly spoke
Words of the one of God;
Close he heard [illegible] smitten, broke
Crushed, I bend beneath the rod.

Oh! [illegible] that spoiled my boy,
[illegible] and down to death,
Robbed me of my richest joy,
Made me sigh at every breath
Where, fathers, hear my plea!
[illegible] pierce the sky
For all [illegible] earnestly:
[illegible] or boys, or die!

The Greatest Living Animal.

Of the monsters of the prehistoric [illegible] whose huge bones are occasionally [illegible] to the wonder of these [illegible] times, the whale is clearly the biggest living representative of animal has several species, known as the Cachalot (pronounced [illegible] or Sperm-aceti); the right [illegible], called also the Mysticete, or [illegible] or common whale, or Greenland whale—these last five names [illegible] applied to one species. The [illegible] whale is another [illegible], and the Rorqual still another.

There is a general misunderstanding respecting the nature of the whale. It is commonly regarded as a fish. But the whale is not a fish, but a mammiferous animal like man, the elephant and the lion—that is, the whale brings forth and suckles [illegible] precisely as do the elephant, the lion and the human race.

Fishes spawn or lay eggs from which their young are hatched. Fish are cold-blooded, while the whale is warm-blooded. Fish have only two [illegible] or cavities in the heart, and a single circulation; the whales have four, and a double circulation of blood, like man.

Fish have no ears properly so called, [illegible] are visible, though sometimes [illegible] to hear sounds; whales have [illegible] and hear distinctly, even under [illegible].

[illegible] fish soon die out of water; whales would soon die in it if [illegible] submerged; and he as truly [illegible] as an elephant, or a lion, or [illegible].

[illegible] whales cannot remain longer [illegible] five or ten minutes under water, and some larger species can stay [illegible] as long as an hour, or perhaps [illegible] hour and a half. But this is owing to a peculiar arrangement by which they can take down with them a large quantity of air mixed with their blood, and this air is actually [illegible] entrenched under the water at great depths, so that, after all, the [illegible] is but a short time suspended, being carried on under the [illegible].

From all this it will be seen that the whale is a mammal, and not a fish, and we should speak of whale-hunting rather than whale fishing.

But we must consider the peculiarities of some of the peculiar species. We begin with the Rorqual, perhaps the longest whale known. It is sometimes stranded on the seashore, being washed up in storms of unusual violence, and while perhaps disabled by sickness or wounds, its length is more than one hundred feet, but its circumference is not as great as that of some others.

The weight of one has been found to be equal to 270 tons—that is, 540,000 pounds.

And yet these immense creatures have muscular strength enough to throw themselves perpendicularly out of the water into the air, falling down on their sides, and striking the water with a report like that of a large cannon.

It is supposed they do this when pursued by the sword-fish and the saw-fish, which are the natural enemies of the whale.

The common whale is not often more than 70 feet in length, but is larger in circumference than the Rorqual, so that its weight is about the same.

The head of the whale is an extremely interesting part of the animal. It is about one-third of its whole bulk in the Cachalot or Sperm-aceti, which is about 50 or 60 feet in length. A tall man can take a walk inside of the mouth.

At the sides of the mouth there hang rows of whalebone slats [illegible] the size of laths, each having a kind of fringe on its edge, and all lying quite closely together. These act as a sieve through which the water is forced, while the food in it remains in the mouth. The jawbones of this huge creature are frequently used as archways over gates and doors in gardens, are large enough to allow horses and carriages to pass beneath, and are also sometimes used as supports for swings. Throughout the whole of this huge creature we see the same perfection of workmanship as found in the more delicate and graceful forms of the gazelle and fawn. On every hand there is a most wonderful adaptation to the wants of this greatest creation of earth.

Take, for instance, the skin of the whale. As the animal is often found in polar seas, where it is exposed to intense cold, it, of course, needs some protection against this cold. But what protection can it have? Feathers would not answer, and fur would not avail. But the wisdom and power of their Creator are never at fault in any of his works, for his resources are infinite. And so we see it here. To protect this great animal, having such a large surface exposed to the cold, a most remarkable provision is made in the thickness of its skin. This is sometimes two and three feet thick.

But this is not all. This wonderful skin is filled with numerous cavities or sacks, and these sacks are filled with oil, so that this leviathan of creation is wrapped around by a warm covering of fatty matter—an oil blanket—and so constructed that it serves other important purposes besides keeping the whale warm.

But for this remarkable provision the whale could not come to the surface to breathe, as it often must, but would soon be drowned in the ocean's lowest depths.—Home Journal.

Westminster Abbey at Night.

CANON FARRAR.

Dr. Leyburn, in a letter to the New York Observer, thus describes the service:

Saturday afternoon newspaper notices, for the Sunday pulpits announced Canon Farrar to preach the concluding one for the season of the Sunday night special sermons in Westminster Abbey. Having appreciated highly his "Life of Christ," I was gratified with the prospect of hearing him. So, by about seven o'clock on Sunday evening, the appointed hour, I reached the Abbey. A large crowd waited at the front gate and another at the side gate. "The gates are not opened yet," said I to some one near. "O," said he, "every place is crammed, and they have shut the gates to keep any more from trying to get in." This was a real disappointment, for there are few men in the English Church whom I was so desirous to hear. However, after much traveling in many lands, I had found that as to getting into desirable places, no matter what the obstacles or what is told you, "all things are possible to him that willeth." But nobody who had authority was visible. I tried several policemen, but they were helpless. At length I got hold of one some distance off, told him who I was and how I was situated, and, becoming interested in the enterprise, he advised me to try some serving-man's house in an obscure place back of the Abbey. I did so, addressing a youth who came to the door. This being overheard, brought out the mother and sister, and they, falling into the spirit of the undertaking, brought the father also into the field. He finally got hold of a ticket, and told me of a back way to reach a gate with somebody at it. When I approached the gate and handed the man the ticket, surprised at this out-of-the-way route, he accosted me with: "Why, where did you come from?" Nevertheless the gate was opened, and through the gloomy arches and amid the mausoleums of the dead, and through the Poet's Corner, where now the poets' lyres are mute, I made my way toward the light and music, squeezed through the throng, got a good stand in sight of the pulpit, and greatly enjoyed the spectacle, the public, the assemblage, and, I may also add, the sermon. I had been in Westminster Abbey once before at night, but under not very favorable circumstances. But on the present occasion the platform on which I was commanded quite a view of the portion of the Abbey appropriated for these services. As far as I could see there was a sea of heads. The clustered candelabra here and there only served to throw around a sort of spectral light; the monuments of the illustrious dead, thick over the walls, gleamed through the gloom; the rich, full tide of music echoed through the long-drawn aisles and lofty arches, and Canon Farrar's well-chosen and eloquent words pictured the Abbey in its past history, and its moral and religious influences, its present work amid the needy multitudes in the surrounding districts. But, illuminating the discourse, was not only scholarly taste and elegant diction, but the illustrious dead, among them the rival statesmen, Pitt and Fox, who were summoned from their long sleep beneath these stones to teach lessons of wisdom to the living. I am sorry the discourse is not to be published. The eminent Canon rather promised me an extract, but I have not received it. At any rate, though not what is known as a gospel sermon, it was one of much interest, and the entire occasion was to me one which will not soon be forgotten. I cannot but add that these Sunday night services for the people are of comparatively recent growth, and one of the many indications of the widespread influence of Spurgeon's methods and teachings in this great metropolis. He has set an example which the Establishment in some particulars would be glad to follow.

The Planet Vulcan.

DISCOVERED BY PROF. WATSON.

Professor Watson, of Ann Arbor, Mich., in a letter to the superintendent of the Naval Observatory at Washington, describes his observation of the solar eclipse and of his discovery of the planet Vulcan. He writes:

A few minutes before the total phase I swept over regions east and west of the sun, from eight to fifteen degrees distant, but I did not see any star. Immediately after the totality I began sweeps, east and west, extending about eight degrees from the sun. The first sweeps were toward the east. On the fifth sweep I found between the sun and Theta Cancri, and farther south, a star of the 1p magnitude, as estimated at the instant, which immediately attracted my attention on account of its general appearance. I had committed to memory the relative positions of the stars in the neighborhood of the sun, and I had placed the chart of them conveniently before me for ready reference whenever required. There was a fainter star west and north of Cancer, as shown on the chart, and I could not be sure of the place without an actual measurement. The object which I had in the field shone with an intensely ruddy light, and it certainly had a disk larger than the spurious disk of a star. Having made the record, I placed my eye again at the telescope and saw that there had been no disturbance of its position. I noticed further that the object in the field did not present any elongation such as might be expected if it were a comet in that position. The sweeps were then continued, and I finally brought into the field what I supposed to be Gamma Cancri, although it appeared very much brighter than Delta Cancri, which I had seen near the sun at the commencement of the search during the totality. I proceeded to record its position on the circles. Before this was completed the total phase had ended, and I ran across to where Prof. Newcomb was observing, in hopes of being able to direct his larger telescope, with graduated circles, upon the object first seen before the sunlight would interfere. But he was reading his circles for an object which he had in the field, and his telescope could not be disturbed.

Thereupon I returned to my own telescope, but the sunlight had already become so bright that further observations were impossible, and hence I could not assure myself that a gust of wind had not disturbed the instrument before I had marked the last pointing. The places of the sun were again recorded and verified at suitable intervals, so that the position of the star (which I believe to be an intra-Mercurial planet) can be determined relatively to the sun. In the brief time allotted it was not practicable to change the eye-piece and observe the star in question under a higher power. Its light was quite red, and so far as my recollection of its appearance in the telescope will enable me to determine, I am of the opinion that it was situated beyond the sun.

In regard to the star B, which I consider to be the planet sought, there is no uncertainty whatever beyond the unavoidable errors of the record as made. I consider the place given to be trustworthy.

Anointing Beforehand.

When Mary broke the alabaster vase and anointed her Lord, he said: "She is come before-hand to anoint my body to the burying." A great many people would have kept the vase sealed up till he was dead, and would then have brought it out and broken it, to anoint the cold body, as it lay all gashed and wounded, wrapped in burial garments. But Mary did not wait till he was dead. She brought out her ointment when he could enjoy its sweet perfume, and when his sore and weary feet could feel the refreshment it gave.

A lily hand covered his wife's bosom with flowers, and built a magnificent, costly monument over her grave, and spoke in glowing words of her noble sacrifices. But it was whispered that he had not been very kind to her when living. A slaughter showed great sorrow at her mother's funeral, and never could say enough in her praise; but it was known that she had thrust many a thorn into her pillow while she was living.

Do not keep all the alabaster-boxes of your love and tenderness sealed up until your friends are dead. Fill their lives with sweetness. Speak approving, cheering words while their ears can hear them, and while their hearts can be thrilled by them. The things you mean to say when they are gone, say before they go. The flowers you mean to send for their coffins, send to brighten their homes before they die.

If my friends have alabaster-boxes laid away full of perfumes of sympathy and affection, which they intend to break over my dead body, I would rather they would bring them out in my weary hours, and open them, that I may be refreshed and cheered by them while I need them. I would rather have a bare coffin without a flower, and a funeral without a eulogy, than a life without the sweetness of love and sympathy. Let us anoint our friends beforehand for their burial. Post mortem kindnesses do not cheer the burdened spirit. Flowers on the coffin cast no fragrance backward over the weary days.—Christian Neighbor.

TOMATOES FOR SUPPER.—For a family of half dozen persons take six eggs, boil four of them hard, dissolve the yolk with vinegar sufficient, and about three teaspoons of mustard, and mash as smooth as possible; then add the two remaining eggs raw, yolk and white stir well; then add oil to make altogether sauce sufficient to cover the tomatoes well; and plenty of salt and cayenne pepper, and beat thoroughly until it froths. Skin and cut the tomatoes a full fourth of an inch thick, and pour the sauce over, and you have a dish fit for a president.

Though a little troublesome to prepare, yet if once eaten by people who are blessed with palates to enjoy good things, they will be pronounced to be far superior to any other mode of preparation. We use them constantly in this way for these meals. For dinner they are the best stewed, but they should always be strained before sending to table.—Correspondent of Germantown Telegraph.

"If we be dead with Christ we shall also live with him." He who is born of God, and in whom God's seed remains, died that he might be born. He was born because he had died. "I am crucified with Christ; nevertheless I live. Yet not I, but Christ liveth in me."

Polished steel will not shine in the dark; no more can human reason, however refined and cultivated, shine efficaciously but as it reflects the light of divine light from heaven.—John Foster.

If you hold the stirrup no wonder that satan gets into the saddle.—Secker.

Religious Intelligence.

—The English Wesleyan Conference received the large number of 130 ministers on trial.

—There is a call for a young man willing to prepare to undertake a mission to India in behalf of the Church of New Jerusalem.

—The three principal churches in Scotland—the Free, United Presbyterian and Established Churches—raised during the year ending in May last, by voluntary contributions, the gross amount of $6,642,515.

—The fifty-ninth session of the Primitive Methodist Conference of England comprised 180 delegates, two-thirds of them laymen. The membership is 182,782. There are 1,128 ministers, 15,516 local preachers and 11,410 leaders.

—The Rev. Dr. Ingram, of Free Church, Shetland, now in his one hundred and third year, is the oldest minister in Scotland, and probably in the world. His memory has much failed, but his physical health is good. He has never tasted intoxicating drink.

—At the recent meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of China the Rev. Dr. Happer, of Canton, spoke of the difficulty missionaries meet in establishing themselves in the villages. Unless there is a public house in a village a missionary cannot get a residence, except with the consent of the gentry of the place.

—The Cumberland Presbyterians have just published their statistical report for 1878, from which it appears that this growing church has 112 presbyteries, 1,315 ministers, 253 licentiates and 187 candidates, 2,317 congregations and 106,253 communicants. The total of contributions for the year was $280,782, and the value of the church property is $1,711,347. The total number of additions during the year was 9,778.

—The members of the Church of England are taking early measures for extending its ecclesiastical organization into the newly annexed Transvaal, South Africa. At a public meeting recently held in behalf of the Pretoria diocesan fund, it was pointed out that the new diocese embraces a territory about equal in size to France, and a subscription was opened for the building of new churches and schools within its bounds. Dr. Bousfield, the bishop, was consecrated last February.

—The Church Missionary Gleaner publishes a fac-simile of King Mtesa's second letter to Lieut. Smith, of the Nyanza Mission. The letter was written by the boy Muffa, in a very plain, readable hand. It is simply a request to "my dear friend, Wite Men," to come to Uganda. The boy Muffa, who was left with Mtesa by Stanley, was brought up in Bishop Steere's mission school at Zanzibar. The Rev. C. T. Wilson writes in interesting letter from Mtesa's capital dated July 25, which is published in the Church Missionary Intelligencer. He says:

"The king is a strange, whimsical creature, one of his whims being that we must do everything in public; so, whenever he sends for us, or we go to him, it must be when he is holding his court, or 'baraza,' as it is called. This has both its advantages and disadvantages, the latter being that there is often a good deal of noise, as presents of oxen, sheep, goats, plantains, bananas, etc., are brought here, for everything of this sort must be first seen and approved of by the king. His hunters also bring here the spoils of the chase, in the shape of skins, and a band of drummers and horn-blowers is always in attendance. This is rather distracting at times, though it does not go on incessantly. The advantages are that, as there are many present, and as the king always translates what I say into Kiganda, for the benefit of those who do not understand Kiswahili, more hear the truth than would otherwise, and the seed is scattered wider—one cannot but hope to fall into some good ground; and certainly nothing can exceed the attention and apparent interest with which they listen to what I say.

"On the second Sunday we were here I went up to the palace, hoping to be able to hold a service such as I had done the previous Sunday; but the king had a regular 'baraza,' and it was only toward the end that I was able to say a few words. But last Sunday I was more successful, and Smith, who was with me for the first time on Sunday, having been ill on the previous ones, was greatly surprised and pleased. I read a chapter from the Old Testament and one from the New, and then gave them an address on John iii., 16, to which the king listened most attentively; and concluded with some prayers from the prayer-book.

"I cannot help hoping that there is a good work going on in the king's heart. Certainly he is very different from what he was when Speke was there. Mtesa himself said to me, one day, after I had been talking to him: 'When Speke was here I was a heathen; but now I know better.' He certainly has a great respect for the name of God, and shows great care for all matters connected with religion. He shows his respect for Sundays now by hoisting his flag, which he does not do on ordinary days; but in all other matters things go on much the same as on other days.

"Smith has begun teaching the king the alphabet, as he is very anxious to learn English. But, though he is quick and intelligent, yet, as everything is done in public, he does not get on very fast. A few days ago Smith went up, and found him trying to teach a number of small boys the letters he had himself already learned; so Smith took them in hand. The king is anxious that his people should learn to read and write, speak English, and any other accomplishments that we can teach them; but he wants to learn everything himself first, and to be the medium of instruction to his chiefs and people."

The king is not only desirous to learn to read and write, but he has asked for instruction in geography, botany and mineralogy.—Independent.

Our Young People.

BABY'S BED.

Dainty and white is the little spread,
Cool and smooth is the tiny bed,
Curtained with hettings so airy and light,
Not e'en the wind himself from sight:
And there the baby shall sleep, sleep, sleep,
While mother and angels their watch shall keep Mother and angels shall watch together
As through the sultry summer weather.

Fleeciest blankets shall make the spread,
A pillow best feathers the little head
Where baby our darling, shall sweetly repose,
Warm'd by the fire of her expanding rose tints;
When the wintry winds shall howl and blow,
And all the world be white with snow
And mother and angels still watch together,
As through the frosty winter weather.

Christian Union.

From Our Little Friends.

ROSE BANK, Lexington, Miss.

MY DEAR MR. EDITOR: Having frequently perused in your most excellent CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE the letters composed by little children, I desire to become a member of that band—that is, if you find merit enough in my letter to have it published. And now let me tell you something about myself, so as to get acquainted with each other. You know people never talk much until they do become acquainted. I am a little girl twelve years old, raised by my kind and dear parents, who are good Christians, and they tried to make me a Christian child. I am now away from them, going to school; and, oh! I get so home-sick sometimes; but I am willing to make the sacrifice of being away from them, so as to be educated. Our teacher makes us read a chapter in the New Testament every morning before commencing study. I am trying to be good now during childhood, and hope to grow up a noble Christian woman. I say to all little boys and girls who read this letter that they must too. Please, dear Mr. Editor, publish this letter, written by

Your youthful friend,

JOSEPHINE CLARK.

MISS ROSA, Miss., Mar. [illegible], 1878.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: My pa does not take your paper, though I sometimes see a copy of our neighbor's Mr. Taylor, who takes it, and I like it very much, especially the little folks column. I live eight miles out in the country. We have a nice Sabbath school, which I attend regularly every Sabbath, except the fourth, when I go to church. I love to go to church and Sabbath school very much. Mr. P. H. H. Horton is our superintendent, and we all like him very much. "Absalom was slain, hanging in an oak tree, by ten young men who bore Joab's armor." "Job lived in the land of Uz." "Joshua was buried in Timnath-Serah." Now I will ask your little Bible-readers some questions: Where were the disciples first called Christians? Who commanded the sun to stand still? What did Noah send out of the ark to see if the waters were abated?

I am your little friend and Bible-reader,

VICTORIA C. ALLEN.

MISS ROSA, Miss., Mar. [illegible], 1878.

MR. EDITOR: I will let you know that I am raising a missionary hen, and I expect to send you some money before long. What do you think is the best to do with it, as mamma says you ought to know where it is most needed? Can any of the little readers of the ADVOCATE say the riddle that is found in the Bible, and tell who made the riddle? Who was it that had no strength when his hair was cut off? Our preacher is Rev. C. W. Calhoun, and we all think he tries to do good, and will succeed. We take the ADVOCATE. Mamma says that she cannot remember the time in her life when she did not look out for the ADVOCATE, and could not do without it now. Your little friend,

JOSEPHINE MCGREGOR.

How Birds Fly.

You will find, if you carefully examine a bird's wing, that all the bones and muscles are placed along the front edge, which is thus made very stiff and strong. The quill feathers are fastened in such a way that they point backward, so that the hind edge of the wing is not stiff like the front edge, but is flexible and bends at the least touch. As the air is not a solid, but a gas, it has a tendency to slide out from under the wing when this is driven downward, and of course it will do this at the point where it can escape most easily. Since the front edge of the wing is still and strong, it retains its hollow shape, and prevents the air from sliding out in this direction, but the pressure of the air is enough to bend up the thin, flexible ends of the feathers at the hinder border of the wing, so the air makes its escape there, and slides backward and upward. The weight of the bird is all the time pulling it down toward the earth; so, at the time that the air slides out upward and backward past the bent edge of the wing, the wing itself, and with it the bird, slides forward and downward, all from the confined air. It is really its weight which causes it to do this, so that the statement that a bird flies by its own weight is strictly true.

This is true also of insects and bats. They all have wings with stiff front edges and flexible hind edges, which bend and allow the air to pass out, so that flying is nothing but sliding down a hill made of air. A bird rises by flapping its wings, and it flies by falling back toward the earth and, sliding forward at the same time. At the end of each stroke of its wings it has raised itself enough to make up for the distance it has fallen since the last stroke, and accordingly it stays at the same height and moves forward in a seemingly straight line. But if you watch the flight of those birds which flap their wings slowly, such as the woodpeckers, you can see them rise and fall, and will have no trouble in seeing that their path is not really a straight line, but is made up of curves; although most birds flap their wings so rapidly that they have no time to fall through a space great enough to be seen. Birds also make use of the wind to aid them in flight, and by holding their wings inclined like a kite, so that the wind shall slide out under them, they can sail great distances without flapping their wings at all. They are supported, as a paper kite is, by the wind, which is continually pushing against their wings and sliding out backward, thus lifting or holding up the bird, and at the same time driving it forward.

The birds are not compelled to face the wind while they are sailing, but by changing the position of the wings a little they can go in whatever direction they wish, much as a boy changes his direction in skating by leaning a little to one side or the other. Some birds are very skillful at this kind of sailing, and can even remain stationary in the air for some minutes when there is a strong wind; and they can do this without flapping their wings at all. It is a difficult thing to do, and no birds except the most skillful ones can manage it. Some hawks can do it, and gulls and terns may often be seen practicing it when a gale of wind is blowing, and they seem to take great delight in their power of flight.—St. Nicholas.

Joan of Arc.

In the tax roll for the district in the east of France, in which lie the two parishes of Greux and Domremy, it was the custom for nearly four hundred years to leave blanks in the receipt column for these two places, and to write against them the following words: "Conceded by unanimity of the Maiden."

The allusion is to Joan of Arc, born at Domremy in the year 1412, and who, though a poor peasant girl, impelled by her strong convictions that she was raised up to chase away the English, then occupying the largest and fairest part of France, and to restore the country to the French king, by her personal bravery actually effected this object, inspiring the downcast Frenchmen with courage, and the invading Englishmen with terror. It was at her request that the exemption was effected.

In the year 1429, when she was in the full tide of her brief but bright career of conquest, the king requested that she would name what favor he should bestow on her as a public reward for her conduct. She merely asked that her native village should be perpetually exempted from the burdens of taxation. The grant was made. The document recites that it was done "in favor and at the request of our well-beloved Jean the Maiden, considering the high, remarkable and useful service which she has rendered, and is still rendering, day by day, in the recovery of our dominions." This exemption continued to be respected down to the days of the first French revolution, when it was abolished.

So great were the services of the Maiden that no true patriot could complain of the concession. It availed for thousands who were entirely unconnected with her, save as inhabitants of the place where she had spent her childhood.

This interesting historical fact may serve to illustrate another, which pertains not to the history of a nation, but to that of the world; and to privileges not of a lifetime, but of endless duration and infinite importance.

In the great book of account, which is to be brought forth and examined at the last day, there is written against the names of such persons as are sincere believers in the Lord Jesus Christ, the Savior of sinners, in the place of the summary of their sins, words like these: "Canceled by the blood of the Lamb."

We may well be thankful that we are permitted to give evidence of our title to the blessings of salvation, not, like the natives of Domremy, by records which may be forgotten or denied, but by our personal faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and by our conduct showing that we do belong to the family of God in Christ Jesus. If we are truly his, then we may rejoice, for in the last great day of account against every such name there will be found written the everlasting ordinance applicable to our sins.—Christian Witness.

LIKE A CHRISTIAN.—I heard of two little children, a boy and a girl, who used to play a great deal together. They both became converted. One day the boy came to his mother and said: "Mother, I know that Emma is a Christian."

"What makes you think so, my child?"

"Because, mother, she plays like a Christian."

"Plays like a Christian?" said the mother, the expression sounding a little odd.

"Yes," replied the child; "if you take everything she's got, she don't get angry. Before she was selfish, and if she didn't have everything her own way she would say: 'I won't play with you; you are an ugly little boy.'"

As in nature, as in art, so in grace it is rough treatment that gives souls, as well as stones, their lustre. The more the diamond is cut the brighter it sparkles; and in what seems hard dealing, there God has no end in view but to perfect his people.—Dr. Guthrie.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

A Stronger Than He.

The devil's palace is the unregenerate soul. So long as his supremacy is unchallenged there is peace. "His goods are in peace." He is described by the Savior as "a strong man armed." He holds his subjects in complete vassalage. He is in the hearts of the children of disobedience as a despot enthroned. As the god of this world, he blinds the eyes of them that believe not. The dominion of satan in the moral world is as universal as the prevalence of sin. The power of darkness broods over the earth. Evil has an intelligent head, and it is thoroughly organized. Human consciousness may confirm the fact, but it does not reveal it. We are indebted to divine revelation for these fearful disclosures. But they are as clearly revealed as are the provisions of redemption. The strength of satanic influence is something wonderful, and the sagacity and art displayed in his wiles are more than human.

The state of the sinful soul is indeed desperate when we reflect that, besides the bent of the depraved nature, there is ever present a malignant personal agent hidden from the consciousness of the victim. The case would be bad enough if there were no devil, but, with this diabolical ministry in the corrupt nature, deliverance, if it come at all, must be achieved by one who is indeed "mighty to save." Satan is strong—a strong man armed—but Christ is a stronger than he. Think of the human soul under awakening and conviction as the arena of a combat such as this language only hints at: "But when a stronger than he shall come upon him, and overcome him, he taketh from him all his armor wherein he trusted, and divideth his spoils." Unconverted souls are so many strongholds of satan. Until the light of the gospel shines into them, and the Spirit's awakening beams penetrate the darkened nature, his goods are in peace. This kind of peace he seeks to promote and perpetuate. There will be no war if the devil can prevent it. All he asks is to be let alone. He is more than content to let the conscience slumber, and to allow the deceived soul to remain absorbed in pleasure and in all selfish gratifications. There is this state of repose in sin. All the moral powers seem to be dormant. There is no sense of guilt or danger. It is the enemy's policy to deepen this slumber, and to shut out all awakening influences. Gospel agencies have to deal with this vigilant and subtle opposition. The arrows of truth must go through these outworks of the devil, and elude his watchful interposition. In attempting to stir up the sinner's conscience the evil one is aroused in his lair.

The condition once realized—the deep corruption of the heart, the guilt indescribable, the absolute dominion of sin—and the helplessness of the soul is felt. It is in this emergency and in the crisis of the soul's history that Christ comes in to save. One aspect of conversion is deliverance from the power and dominion of satan. While we may not distinguish this from deliverance from sin because both are blended in a cotemporaneous experience, and because as allies they are ranged in the same ranks, yet there is always a two-fold victory. Sin is overcome, and satan is overwhelmed and cast out. The devil may still hover around, and shoot his fiery arrows from without, but he is dislodged from the citadel of the heart. He dwelleth in the children of disobedience, but he has no abiding-place in the renewed and sanctified nature. In conversion there is always this to be predicated: "The unclean spirit is gone out of a man." The Holy Spirit has come in, and Christ liveth in him. In this momentous transaction we are conscious of our own weakness, of a terrible and sometimes prolonged conflict, and of the issue as a joyous victory through the power of Christ. It is because there is a stronger than satan, a mighty One to help, that the sinner is delivered from the yoke of bondage.

Once out, the devil will scheme and plan to return. This resolve springs up on the heels of defeat: "I will return unto my house whence I came out." He will come back with reinforcements, and take a more sure and lasting possession if he can. His success depends upon the attitude of the soul, the improvement of the grace given, the faithfulness to Christ. He that is stronger can cast the devil out, and also keep him out. But if the soul-house has been neglected, empty of love, and swept and garnished by worldly affections, and everything in a condition to invite him, who then shall keep the devil from his own? Mighty to save from sin, Christ is also mighty to keep from sin. In both cases he comes to our aid only as we are willing to welcome him as our deliverer. As in conversion the devil is disarmed, conquered and expelled, so in backsliding and apostasy he is readmitted, and generally in greater force than at first. Ever walking through dry places and seeking rest, he is watching for the empty house and the open door. He will never rest while Christ holds possession of a human heart, and he will never get in while the heart clings to Christ.

In the face of the appalling malignancy and power of satan in the world and in the individual soul, our only hope is in the greater power and in the love of Christ. There is a stronger than he—one who can disarm and overcome the enemy of all good. There are souls in the midst of the great spiritual battle. They are well-nigh broken and dispirited. Their refuge is in Christ, the mighty Savior. He only can deliver them "out of the paw of the lion and out of the paw of the bear." The Christian may be assaulted, worried, tempted, but Christ is the strong deliverer. As long as the devil finds no admittance to the heart—as long as he is kept on the outside—he may roar in vain.

The conduct of two or three of our Southern Methodist preachers in Mississippi, in retiring from their fever-stricken charges, has been severely commented on in some of the secular papers by their correspondents. We believe, as a rule, ministers should remain, and such has been the case in most instances. At Vicksburg Rev. Mr. Galloway labored faithfully until stricken down. He is now, though prostrate, in a fair way to recover. We believe that Dr. C. K. Marshall is also in Vicksburg, and laboring among the sufferers there as of yore. At Port Gibson the pastor of our church, Rev. Mr. Mounger, remained with his flock, and at last accounts was recovering from an attack of the fever. The venerable J. G. Jones, on the superannuated list of the Mississippi Conference, residing in Port Gibson, also remained, and both he and his aged wife have but lately recovered from the fever. His son, Rev. John A. B. Jones, president of the Port Gibson Collegiate Institute, also remained with his people, and has been ministering to the sick, destitute and dying.

In New Orleans the American and German pastors have continued, from the beginning of the epidemic, in the performance of their ministerial duties, and in answering all calls to attend the sick and to bury the dead. The pastor of our church in the Fifth District (Algiers), Rev. J. M. Heard, is laboring night and day, and earnestly co-operating with the Young Men's Christian Association in their work of mercy in that section. The Southern Methodist German preachers in this city, four in number, are all here, and all unacclimated. One of them, Rev. J. G. Krauter, in charge of the Dryades Street church, is at this writing critically ill of the fever. Of the four American pastors unacclimated in our New Orleans work, one, Rev. John Herron, has had the fever, and to recruit his strength has gone to the mountains. At Baton Rouge, as we noticed last week, our pastor, Rev. J. T. Sawyer, is laboring beyond his strength in ministering to the yellow fever sufferers. Only at two places, Canton and Holly Springs, have we heard that our preachers have fled from the epidemic. In Memphis the heroic Dr. Slater, a Southern Methodist pastor, has lately fallen. Whether our other pastors and ministers in Memphis remained we have had no information. In this, as in other epidemic years, the record of our preachers has been generally good, and, when tried, they have not been found wanting. In the bounds of the New Orleans district many valuable ministers have fallen by yellow fever within our recollection, and among them we recall the names of Steele, Brown, Hinds and Foster. Our pastors here, so far as we can remember, have always met this scourge calmly and bravely.

We write thus not in a spirit of boasting, but that, if two or three instances of defection have occurred, it may be seen that they are rare and exceptional. It is true that Dr. McCarty and Rev. Mr. Hartzell, of the Northern Methodist work in New Orleans, are away. We understand that they had important engagements made in the North before the fever broke out. Perhaps they ought to have returned. But it must be considered that the membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Louisiana is not much affected by the fever. The colored people, especially in New Orleans, are seldom attacked. Of the ministers of other churches in New Orleans, we have heard of but one who left on account of the fever—Dr. Hugh Miller Thompson, pastor of Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church. In none of these cases do we pretend to say that there has been a lack of ministerial fidelity. We do not know all the circumstances.

A yellow fever epidemic tries the courage even more than the battlefield, and some who, at a safe distance from the peril, are first and loudest to condemn, would perhaps be also among the first to run. A Methodist preacher with life not insured, without property or means, and a dependent family, may well have his moments of debate when the dread reality of the pestilence confronts him. We think, even under such circumstances, he ought to face the peril, and that it were better for him to die than to flinch. But, nevertheless, we are slow to judge such cases. We know but too well what it is to go through the ordeal.

As the course of the Catholic priests is almost daily commented on, and in some instances held up as a rebuke to the Protestants, it is not out of place to remember that the Catholic priest has no dependent family, and that he believes that his ministrations of baptism, absolution and extreme unction are essential to the future well-being of the sick and dying. Believing that these things are essential to salvation, it is consistent in them, and their imperative duty, to be present to administer them. We admire and commend the courage and devotion of the Catholic priesthood in encountering danger and death in administering the rites of their church, but certainly, when all things are considered, we do not see that they have any advantage over the Protestant minister, who is equally faithful under greater trials, and actuated by superior motives. It is not, however, our purpose to institute comparisons, but to insist, as a matter of justice, that none be condemned unheard, and that, where nearly all are true and faithful, an occasional exception shall not be magnified into a sweeping charge of general ministerial desertion.

How Doth God Know?

How does any one know? The most obvious answer is: "By the senses." Secondarily, by memory. Secondary knowledge does not imply inferiority in point of value, but very often the reverse. Man also knows by communicating and repeating habits and manners, as well as facts and principles. These may be transmitted until they become hereditary. Ethnologists and naturalists teach us that nearly all of those peculiar traits belonging to different tribes and races of men, and those distinctive qualities of different species of the same genus among animals, are mainly due to communication and repetition. Thus some men know more naturally or by inheritance than others by acquirement. Fourthly, man knows by putting facts together, and drawing conclusions or inferences. Animals know a good deal in this way, and this kind of knowledge, in both men and animals, may be called manufactured—that is, they have wrought it out of the material furnished them.

But man knows by appointment or calculation. Here animals are left behind. No animal knows by appointment that the President of the United States will be inaugurated March 4, 1881. No animal knows by calculation that there will be a total eclipse of the moon, invisible in the United States, February 27, 1879. Herein man's knowledge seems to be peculiar to man.

Man also knows by faith, which seems to be peculiar to him. As stoutly as some war against this kind of knowledge, it is inconceivable how man could know anything without it. He might appeal to the senses; but if he knows anything from them he must credit them. If he appeal to memory, he must trust it; and much more must he exercise faith when he comes to the communicated knowledge. When he urges that he does believe in faith in testimony, he is demanding of others faith in his, which at once convicts him of either willful or unwitting error. "By faith we know" is as true now as when St. Paul wrote it; and it is impossible for man without faith to know. But does God know by any of these methods or means? Surely not. There is no cause to his knowledge—no means or method by which he arrives at it. To me all the divines, both Arminian and Calvinistic, seem to have gotten into trouble just here. They have endeavored to settle the vexed questions of foreknowledge, predestination and their cognates upon the assumption that the divine knowledge is caused. Calvinists urge also that it is causative, which Arminians deny. Dr. Clark advances the singular doctrine that divine knowledge is dependent on the divine will—that God can will to know or not to know. Now human will we know to be dependent upon knowledge, since man cannot choose a thing before he knows of it. Nor is the Calvinistic theory, that the divine knowledge necessitates divine volition, any less free of difficulty; for he, knowing two opposite things, would be obliged to choose both, which is absurd. The trouble arises to each from the failure to recognize the divine knowledge as one of the independent perfections of his nature. He neither knows because he wills, nor wills because he knows, in the sense in which we use those terms. The two, though perfect in him, are independent each of the other. The divine knowledge exists just as the divine love or justice or omnipotence, without any cause or means of existence but himself.

Some argue that God knows, because he made all things. Now the two parts of this proposition are true, but they do not make an argument; for knowledge must precede any act that manifests design; so that he must have known before he made all things. So also many urge his active government of the universe and his final judgment of all things as reasons why he knows. The same way of showing the fallacy of these arguments can be used with greater force. Continual contact with and practice in affairs would, of course, prevent a forgetful being from losing knowledge; but God cannot forget. Therefore he does not know, because he governs.

"Why?" says one, "does not the Bible say God sees and hears, and so on?" But when we take the senses, what standard of perfection is to be found? I see clearly the words that I write, but a fly perhaps can see myriads of little atoms of dust upon the paper, which to me seems perfectly clean. So of hearing. Chateaubriand narrates that a party of Indians told him of the approach of another party six hours before the two parties met; and they knew this by the sound of their footsteps nearly twenty miles distant! So the scent of the bloodhound will lead him on the track of a man twenty-four hours after he has passed. What, then, is the standard of perfect knowledge by the senses? Besides, some orders of being have not so many as five senses; some probably have more, or at least some that we lack. For example, what is that sense which enables wild geese to travel so far, night and day, with unerring certainty? How do pigeons and ducks know where to find the mast, having been absent a year? They must have a peculiar sense.

Again, a drop of water is a world to myriads of microscopic insects. These insects have, no doubt, much acuter senses than we; it is not improbable but that they have music, which to their ears is as ravishingly sweet as the finest strains of Handel to us. We cannot, therefore, find a standard of sense by which Deity could know. It might also be shown that he could not know by calculation or appointment. The expression, "God knows," is axiomatic. There is no reason or cause behind it. Nothing can strengthen or weaken it—nothing can obstruct or defeat it. I might state it paradoxically: He would know even though there were nothing to be known. By this I mean that all facts outside of his own being do nothing to affect his knowledge. The facts of the universe, stupendous as they seem to us, are but the scraps of the divine knowledge—"but parts of his ways"—while his infinite perfections offer to him the only field equal to his intelligence.

How does man know? I repeat this question to give another answer, hitherto omitted. By consciousness. This faculty is inexplicable. Much has been written in the endeavor to explain it; and the best which I have fallen upon is: "The perfect agreement of all the faculties, in healthy action, producing the sense of the me." This definition seems nearer to the definition of the divine knowledge than any other, if we substitute attributes for faculties. But consciousness is limited to the subjective me, while Deity cannot have either objective or subjective knowledge like man, for the simple reason that his knowledge is one of his infinite perfections. Pope and Spinoza carried the idea of God being the soul of the universe into the extreme by endeavoring to explain the divine consciousness by comparing it with the human, thus incorporating, and of course limiting, the Deity. His infinite consciousness, focalized in so small a point as the universe, however inconceivably vast to us, would excite more wonder and inquiry as to how he could know so little, rather than how he could know so much.

T. A. S. A.

In the death of Edward J. Gay, Jr., New Orleans has lost one of its most esteemed and valuable citizens, and the commercial community one of its most enterprising and upright members. Mr. Gay was a gentleman of great amiability and kindliness of disposition, winning the love and esteem of all by his affable and cheerful deportment, and by his generosity and nobility of character. He died of yellow fever, on Wednesday, September 18, aged twenty-eight years. He was young, possessed of ample fortune, and in the midst of a prosperous business career. At the time of his attack he was in excellent health, and one of the finest specimens of manly beauty and strength. In four days the earthly house was shattered, and the tabernacle fell beneath the blow of the pestilence. During the last twenty-four hours of his life we were with him frequently. He conversed with us calmly about his condition—his hopes of recovery, his reasons for clinging to life, that he was young and had much to live for, that he had some things to regret, but that he clung to Christ as his hope, believed most heartily and reverently in the religion which had been taught him by his parents, and that he was praying. May the merciful heavenly Father be the strength and support of father, mother, brothers and sisters in the death of one whom they all loved most tenderly.

A private note from Rev. Dr. McCarty, pastor of Ames Methodist Episcopal Church of this city, written from Elizabeth, N. J., informs us that the doctor is absent for the purpose of raising money to pay off a debt on his church, and that he is traveling and raising funds for the relief of the yellow fever sufferers. It seems that he had made his arrangements to visit the North before the fever here became epidemic, and that the embarrassed condition of the church was such as to require immediate relief. He deeply regrets being away at this time, but thinks it would not be wise now to return. We have no word of censure for our Northern Methodist brethren. They must be persuaded in their own minds. In this, as in other cases to which we allude elsewhere, there is something to be said on both sides. We hold Dr. McCarty in the highest esteem, and have no doubt of his conscientious devotion to duty.

Rev. E. C. Slater, D. D., has fallen at his post in Memphis. Dr. Slater passed through the epidemic at Memphis in 1873, laboring hard, and constantly exposed to the fever, but he did not take the disease. This year we find him again heroically meeting the scourge, but this time to fall. Gifted and most rarely endowed as a preacher, he had in him the stuff of which true heroes are made. Surely his memory will ever be "as ointment poured forth." His death is little less than a calamity to our people in Memphis, and he is a great loss to the whole church. God's will be done. May his mantle fall upon a thousand, and may his example tone up the ministry of the day. Never does the true spirit of Christian devotion and sacrifice shine out more brightly than when the pastor meets the emergencies of such a visitation as now rests upon many of our Southern cities.

Rev. A. E. Clay, writing from Pattersonville, La., September 14, says:

"We have the yellow fever in Morgan City, and there are about a dozen cases around us at Pattersonville. There have been three deaths this week, and the third in one family is dying now. A man died last night, about five miles above here, of black vomit, and I hear that no one would dig his grave or bury him. I suppose it would go hard with me if I should have it, as I am not long here; but I am in God's hands. I buried one case about four days ago; so I may have it. If this is my last farewell, God will bring us all home at last."

Owing to the quarantine of t mails our paper reaches not one-h of our subscribers, and owing to t embarrassment of the publisher t present number is more than a we behind the regular day of publi tion. We find it very unsatisfacto work to edit under these circu stances, but are doing the best can. Should the publisher be co pelled to suspend the publication the ADVOCATE, we believe that rangements will be made to contin after the embargo is raised. Me while we bespeak the patience a co-operation of our agents and su scribers.

Rev. Dr. Watkins advises us telegram, September 12, that R
C. B. Galloway, pastor of the Sou ern Methodist Church at Vicksbu is in a fair way to recover. It h been reported that Bro. Gallow was dead, and Dr. Watkins' dispa was in answer to one of inquiry fr us. As Dr. Watkins is at Jacks and in constant communication w
Vicksburg, his information is re able. After some days of painful s pense, we are deeply thankful the glad tidings. May our d brother be speedily and fully stored to health. He has stood his post as a faithful and true min ter of Christ, as have our brethren many other places. God shield a bless them.

R. W. Blew, publisher of t
Western Methodist, is among t lamented dead of Memphis. H family have also been stricken, a several members of it have di
Bro. Blew was a Christian gent man, industrious and enterprising business, and a very pleasing a popular writer. His letters to t children, over the signature of "U cle Bob," will long be remember by the young people who have re them. We feel that a great sorro has come upon us and our Metho ist press in the loss of this a journalist and good man. Sur our ranks in Memphis have be sorely broken in the deaths of t such choice men as Slater and Ble

Among the best schools in t
South is the Collegiate Institute
Baton Rouge, La., of which t veteran educator and well-kno
Christian gentleman, Prof. W. H.
Magruder, is principal and propr
tor. It is a family boarding sch for boys, under parental discipli and in which the students have comforts and refinements of a w ordered home. There are few if a teachers of our acquaintance w excel Prof. Magruder in understan ing and rightly developing the ch acter of his pupils. With him ed cation has a larger meaning than t mere acquirement of knowledge; means the formation of a noble ch acter, and the discipline of the fac ties. Parents can wisely and sa commit their sons to his care. By card in another column it will seen that his school opens on t first Wednesday in October.

Rev. John Mathews, pastor of t
Carondelet Street church, Metho
Episcopal Church South, of t city, was taken with yellow fe on Sunday night, September shortly after preaching. At t time of this writing Thursday, S tember 19 he is clear of fever a doing well. The crisis of his atta is about passed, and there is n every prospect of his early convale cence. Dr. W. H. Austin is his tending physician, and he has the advantages that medical s and careful nursing can secure.

Rev. C. J. Wiemers, pastor of Southern Methodist German Chur
in Carrollton, Seventh District
New Orleans, died of yellow fever
Wednesday, September 18. Bro
Wiemers was a young man, devo to his work, and an excellent preac for his years. Since the breaking of the fever he has been busy in charge, doing what he could for afflicted. The Master called h and he was ready for the summon

Rev. J. L. Skipper, writing fr
Georgiana, Ala., Septe
"It was our painful duty yester at four P. M., to perform the last rites at the funeral of Sister Smi wife of Rev. R. Smille, of the A bama Conference. Her last wo were: 'Glory! glory!'" Bro. Sk per also informs us that Rev. Ja Arant, died, in holy triumph, S tember 3.

It will be seen from the latest r ports that the yellow fever is slow declining in New Orleans, and a at nearly all other points exc
Memphis. We have undoubted seen the worst, but it will be yet s eral weary weeks before there will much sense of relief from the lab anxiety and suspense which ha been upon us so long.

The Western Virginia Conferen
Bishop McTyeire presiding, w held at Catlettsburg, Ky., Septemb
4-9.

The Yellow Fever Report.

DAILY RECORD FOR 1878.

	New Cases.	Total.	Deaths.	Total
July 21	—	—	1	8
July 22	—	19	2	10
July 23	2	21	1	11
July 24	2	24	2	13
July 25	13	37	5	18
July 26	18	55	3	21
July 27	5	51	7	28
July 28	29	80	5	33
July 29	21	101	1	34
July 30	41	135	5	39
July 31	24	159	7	46
August 1	36	195	7	53
August 2	56	251	7	61
August 3	2	253	11	71
August 4	28	281	12	83
August 5	35	316	5	88
August 6	37	353	7	95
August 7	31	387	11	106
August 8	41	428	12	118
August 9	68	496	8	126
August 10	22	518	11	137
August 11	41	559	12	149
August 12	43	602	21	170
August 13	30	632	23	193
August 14	159	791	17	210
August 15	111	902	29	239
August 16	73	975	27	266
August 17	115	1,090	47	313
August 18	129	1,219	42	355
August 19	116	1,335	41	393
August 20	167	1,502	10	403
August 21	48	1,550	88	491
August 22	123	1,673	40	531
August 23	151	1,824	42	573
August 24	163	2,029	33	606
August 25	125	2,154	44	650
August 26	191	2,345	49	702
August 27	231	2,576	59	761
August 28	132	2,708	49	808
August 29	149	2,857	59	867
August 30	254	3,111	18	885
September 1	262	3,373	58	1,003
September 2	279	3,652	58	1,061
September 3	327	3,979	58	1,119
September 4	212	4,191	72	1,191
September 5	291	4,482	56	1,247
September 6	238	4,720	61	1,308
September 7	232	4,952	57	1,365
September 8	228	5,180	81	1,446
September 9	141	5,321	57	1,503
September 10	230	5,551	60	1,563
September 11	253	5,804	91	1,654
September 12	276	6,080	55	1,709
September 13	228	6,308	53	1,762
September 14	308	6,616	59	1,821
September 15	118	6,734	73	1,894
September 16	198	6,932	74	2,018
September 17	198	6,701	74	2,114

Advice to the Editor.

Pastor, in the Southern Christian Advocate, in a word of advice to the editor, says:

"In the first place, dismiss at once from your mind the idea that editing a weekly religious paper is a difficult task. Nothing is easier. I am acquainted with a large number of persons who quite agree with me. We know not how to do it, and we think it a great deal easier than preaching or school-teaching—easier, even, than raising the tunes in church regularly on Sundays. Don't disturb yourself by false and exaggerated notions of the difficulty of the work. Don't magnify your mole-hill into a mountain. All you have to do is to put in the paper all that you ought, and in the waste-basket all that you ought not to put in the paper. All you have to do is to please everybody, and offend nobody. Adapt your paper to every body of taste and notion and whim. Do just what everybody asks you to do. Make nobody angry; and nobody. In other words, let everybody edit your paper, and you will soon see how nicely you will get along. You will have an easy time as long as the paper lives.

"But I must particularize. You must be careful how you handle objectors. There is danger in them. There is dynamite in them. They'll blow you if you don't mind. Make all necessary changes. Correct syntax, correct them; but at your peril, as you value your peace of mind and the sweets of your position, don't touch the grave productions. No matter though you may never have heard of the remarkable deceased, let him have the benefit of post mortem charity. Let his biographer tell how many wives he had, and the precise number of his children, the town where he lived, and how long each; the disease that took him off, and the exact hour of his departure. These and other facts are highly important and intensely interesting. People will read them over and over again, imprint them indelibly upon their memories, and enshrine them in their hearts. They will shed tears over the unknown dead, and paste them carefully in their scrap-books.

"You must be sure to publish serial stories. Let each number be not less than a column and a half long; let the numbers run on ad infinitum. If the subjects are well chosen, and the incident pulsating, minute and descriptive, the interest of your readers will grow with every new number. Take, for instance, the presidential office, or the copious history of some obscure church, and if you have the most partial list of names, the better. Make serial stories a feature of your paper, and unbounded success awaits you.

Zion's Herald, Boston, says: It has been painful in the extreme to find every morning in the daily prints, followed by the lightning, the same sad intelligence from the South. The doomed cities first struck by the direful plague have been helplessly watched by an increasing force. No language can describe the scenes of woe that have occurred. Tens of thousands have left their homes for the North, but many more have not had all the means for escape or retirement. There has been, doubtless, with all the efforts that have been put forth by the government, by Christian associations and charitable societies, an immense amount of suffering from the lack of proper medical care, nursing, and food. Very large sums of money have been contributed, and are still coming in, but it will all be needed. Business has been broken up in the infected districts; families have been deprived of their dependence; scores of orphans are left without their natural protectors. Charity will have ample opportunity for its appropriate work. This interchange of kindly Christian offices will have a wholesome influence. It will bind the extremes of our country together, and awaken, we doubt not, a national as well as sectional sympathy. The South, at such an hour, will not say to the North: "We have no need of thee." And the North will not think for a moment of saying: "I am not my brother's keeper."

Dr. Redford, in giving the reasons moving him to issue his new paper—the Southern Methodist—says:

"Kentucky was the first of the Western States in which Methodism was planted. Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, and even Mississippi, are under God indebted to the Methodism of Kentucky for the introduction of this form of Christianity upon their soil. Neither, however, in the city of Louisville, the commercial metropolis of the State, and the home of Bishop Kavanaugh, where Methodism exerts a potent influence for good, and commands the respect of all who desire the success of a common Christianity, nor yet in any other city either in the bounds of the Kentucky or the Louisville Conference, has there been a paper published in the interest of the church.

"In the city of Louisville, with a membership of two thousand three hundred and eleven, less than one hundred copies of all the church papers are taken. In two of the most popular and influential of the city churches only twelve copies of the Christian Advocate are taken, in one of them eight copies, and four in the other, while in several of the most important towns in the State it is not known beyond one or two families.

"All our cities and towns need to be thoroughly canvassed. Louisville is not the only place where the church papers are neglected."

UP AGAIN.—The following note from Rev. Dr. Watkins brings most gratifying intelligence:

JACKSON, MISS., Sept. 10, 1878—Afternoon.

Have just received a card from Dr. Marshall: "Sister Galloway is up, and Bro. Galloway is eating squabs and steaks. New cases not so numerous, but hunger and want everywhere." Up to this hour we have escaped. Is it not wonderful?

Your brother,

W. H. WATKINS.

A letter from Rev. T. B. Holloman, pastor of our church at Woodville, Miss., informs us that up to the seventeenth there had been fourteen or fifteen cases of yellow fever there. There had been but one fatal case, and the fever is of a mild type. Bro. Holloman is at his post, and in the discharge of his pastoral duties. We pray that he and his flock may be spared.

Books and Periodicals.

—We have received from the Southern Methodist Publishing House, Nashville, Tenn., a miscellaneous essay on Entire Sanctification, by the Rev. L. Pierce, D. D. Last week we gave the book editor's notice of the essay. The treatment of the subject is rather miscellaneous, and deals most pungently and faithfully with the people called Methodists. If we have rightly gathered the meaning of the venerable author, he regards sanctification as entirely separate from justification, and a work that is to be realized after justification by special acts of consecration and faith. As in experience, he defines it as soul-rest, perfect repose, "the peace of God undisturbable." Among other excellent things, Dr. Pierce very wisely says: "It is far from us either to say or to think that every one that ever compasses the substantial benefits of entire sanctification must hold our technical views and definitions of it; but this we do say: Every one that ever realizes its actual residence in his experience will, if he ever narrates his preliminary exercises, his deliverance and subsequent experience, he will take you through all the grounds I would specify if I were to preach a sermon on the individual experience of a sanctified believer. Indeed I can readily conceive of sanctification duly effected in a soul that, technically considered, would deny sanctification—would deny it, doctrinally considered, and at the same time enjoy it as a grace, but never only when sought upon its own plane, and keep it more than its poetry, is: 'Nearer, my God, to thee.'" Not much is said in this essay concerning the experience of sanctification and the manner of its attainment, "because the church is in no fix either to relish it or appreciate it." A subsequent publication, however, is promised on these points, should the author "learn that there is a tidal wave of entire sanctification beginning to flow, and even a few talking passages in this insured life-boat to go into this quiet harbor of soul repose." We have read the essay with great interest, and we heartily wish that every Methodist would obtain a copy, and give it a careful perusal. It is a pamphlet of 72 octavo pages. Price, twenty-five cents retail, postage paid.

THE INTERMEDIATE WORLD. By L. T. Townsend, D. D., professor in Boston University. Boston: Lee & Shepard, publishers. New York: Charles T. Dillingham, 1878.

The subject is the state of the soul between death and the resurrection—the disembodied, the intermediate state. It is a place, a world of consciousness, a dual world, composed of Paradise Hades and Gehenna Hades; a world of fixedness, not a world of judicial rewards and punishments, the transit from this world to that not fearful to the good. The author believes that Christ went into Gehenna Hades and preached to the spirits in prison, but for other ends than their salvation. He also thinks that children remain children in the intermediate state. In the main we assent to the most of Dr. Townsend's views. The work will repay perusal, and may solve some questions which perplex thinking and devout people. Price, $1.25.

A YEAR WORTH LIVING. A story of no place and of a people one cannot afford not to know. By William M. Baker. Boston: Lee & Shepard, publishers. New York: Charles T. Dillingham, 1878.

Mr. Baker is well known as the author of the New Timothy, and other works of remarkable freshness and interest. In this volume we have a year's history of a young minister who settles in a Southern city. From the description we judge that Galveston is the place, and the people described our friends of the Island City, as they were in ante-bellum times. It comes in the way of the story to tell of a yellow fever epidemic, and how the young minister did not run away, but bravely stuck to his post, had the fever, lived, and, of course, got married. Price, $1.50.

ADVENTURES OF A CONSUL ABROAD. By Samuel Sampleton, Esq., late United States consul at Verdesemuno. Boston: Lee & Shepard. New York: Charles T. Dillingham, 1878.

A very graphic and very amusing history of how a New England teacher obtained a consular appointment to some port in the Mediterranean, and of the experiences in that part of the world, and finally how a change of Congressmen brought about a change of consuls. It is a good tract on the subject of civil service reform and the improvement of our consular system, and withal a very pleasant and entertaining book. Price, $1.50.

THE FALL OF DAMASCUS. An historical novel. By Rev. Wm. M. Russell, B. D. Boston: Lee & Shepard. New York: Charles T. Dillingham, 1878.

The story is connected with the conquest of Damascus by the Mohammedans. It abounds in descriptions of society, scenery and battle, and is written with spirit. The author may have failed in his attempt to portray the character of the people and of the times, but, so far as we can judge, his historical material is accurate, and skillfully adapted to the purposes of his story. Price, $1.50.

BLETTON. A story of to-day. By M. J. Savage. Boston: Lee & Shepard. New York: Charles T. Dillingham.

It is a story of revolt from orthodoxy on the part of a young minister, his expulsion by the council, and troubles that grew out of the same in connection with the woman he loved. Of course the young minister is settled at last in a broad and liberal church, marries the girl he loved, and all goes well. The story is artfully told, and its tendency is rather to unsettle belief and bewilder the truth. Price, $1.50.

PEGANIA PEOPLE—THEIR LOVES AND LIVES. By Harriet Beecher Stowe. New York: Fords, Howard & Hulbert.

This is said to be one of the best of Mrs. Stowe's stories. It is about a minister and his family, and of a New England community. The work makes a stout volume of 375 pages, and is brought out in good style by the publishers. Price, $1.50.

THE VOYAGE AND ADVENTURES OF [illegible]

This book is written in simple and familiar style, and designed especially for the information and entertainment of young people. It is a delightful work, and one that will interest all readers. Price, [illegible].

REMINISCENCES. By the author of That [illegible]

We can find little in this volume worth reading. Others may be more fortunate. Price, [illegible].

All the above-mentioned books have been received from the publishers through Kirkpatrick's stand, book depot, New Orleans.

The New York Preacher's Meeting, says the New York Christian Intelligencer, resumed its session on Monday, last. Among other items of business was the adoption of the following, reported by Drs. Crawford, Fowler and Tiffany by unanimous vote:

The New York Preachers' Meeting, assembled after its summer vacation of several weeks, take this earliest opportunity to record expressions of our profound sympathy for the communities in our Southern cities, so sorely smitten by pestilence; and we sincerely and earnestly pray our heavenly Father to remove from them this dire calamity. We are glad to know that many of our churches have already made collections for the relief of the sufferers, and we recommend that all others do so speedily. We are happy to state that Nelson & Phillips will forward to responsible parties in the South any money intrusted to them for this purpose.

And the accusing spirit, flying up to heaven's chancery with the oath, blushed as he gave it in; and the recording angel dropped a tear upon the word as he wrote it down and blotted it out forever.—Beauties of Sterne.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS FOR 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	BISHOP.	TIME.
W. Virginia	Catlettsburg	Pierce	Sept. 4
Denver	W. Los Animas	Wightman	Sept. 4
Western	Wyandotte	Doggett	Sept. 5
Missouri	Macon	Doggett	Sept. 11
Illinois	Pana	Kavanaugh	Sept. 11
Kentucky	Shelbyville	Pierce	Sept. 18
Montana	Helena	Wightman	Sept. 18
S. W. Missouri	Clinton	Doggett	Sept. 25
Louisville	Cadiz	Pierce	Oct. 2
Columbia	Roseburg	Wightman	Oct. 2
Tennessee	Clarksville	Kavanaugh	Oct. 9
St. Louis	Charleston	Doggett	Oct. 9
Indiana Miss.	Muscogee, I. N.	McTyeire	Oct. 16
West Texas	San Marcos	Keener	Oct. 16
Pacific	San Francisco	Wightman	Oct. 16
Holston	Knoxville	Kavanaugh	Oct. 23
Arkansas	Russellville	McTyeire	Oct. 23
N. W. Texas	Belton	Keener	Oct. 30
Los Angeles	S. Bernardino	Wightman	Oct. 30
White River	Searcy	McTyeire	Nov. 6
Virginia	Petersburg	Pierce	Nov. 13
Florida	Gainesville	Kavanaugh	Nov. 13
Memphis	Paris	Paine	Nov. 13
German Miss.	Industry	Keener	Nov. 13
North Texas	Terrell	Keener	Nov. 20
N. Carolina	Charlotte	Pierce	Nov. 27
N. Alabama	Athens	Kavanaugh	Nov. 27
N. Mississippi	Macon	Paine	Nov. 27
N. Georgia	Marietta	McTyeire	Nov. 27
Little Rock	Hot Springs	Doggett	Nov. 27
Texas	Chappell Hill	Keener	Dec. 4
S. Carolina	Newberry	Pierce	Dec. 11
Alabama	Mobile	Kavanaugh	Dec. 11
S. Georgia	Thomasville	McTyeire	Dec. 11
Louisiana	New Orleans	Doggett	Dec. 11
East Texas	Tyler	Keener	Dec. 11
Mississippi	Meridian	Paine	Dec. 18
Baltimore	Salem	Wightman	Mar. 5

Bishop McTyeire has charge of the China missions.

Bishop Keener has charge of the missions to Mexico and Brazil.

Publisher's Department.

THE QUICKEST TIME EAST.—The Great Jackson Route is now making the quickest time to New York ever known, leaving New Orleans daily at 4:45 P. M. and arriving at New York at 8:35 A. M. Allowing for the difference in time between the two cities, the run is made in the unprecedented time of fifty-nine and three-quarter hours. This quick time is made only by the Great Jackson Route, and is the result of its enterprise in rebuilding its track with steel rails and new ties at heavy expense, and the thorough system of ballasting that has been undertaken. This fast train will be of great advantage to the people, of this city, which it is hoped they will show their appreciation of by their patronage. Only one change of cars, which is made at Columbus, Ohio, where breakfast is taken in the splendid dining hall at that place at 8 A. M.

This route also makes the quickest time to Boston, arriving at 2:15 P. M. Actual running time, sixty-seven and one half hours. This makes it the most desirable route for all New England points. The time to all intermediate points is correspondingly less, thus making this the quickest and best route to all the Northern and Eastern cities.

Excursion tickets to Waukesha, Oconomowoc and all the Northwestern summer resorts, to Niagara Falls, Put-in-Bay, etc., are on sale at the lowest rates, with the quickest time made by any line, and only one change of cars.

VANDALIA LINE.—The attention of our readers and the traveling public is called to the merits of the above line. For parties going East by way of St. Louis there is no better road. Comfortable, commodious and elegant palace cars, gliding noiselessly, swiftly and safely along over a track so smooth that one is almost unconscious of motion unless he chance to look out of the window, offer for the time a home unequaled in splendor and luxurious ease by anything the most fastidious traveler of the past generation ever dreamed of. The popularity of this old and reliable road is constantly and speedily on the increase. The efforts of the well-known and highly respected general manager, Col. Simpson, are fully appreciated by the traveling public.

TUTT'S PILLS.—To all who are suffering from any of the different diseases mentioned in the advertisement of Dr. Tutt, in to-day's issue, we would suggest to them to give these popular pills a trial. They are manufactured by a Southern gentleman, who was for a number of years demonstrator of anatomy in the Medical College of Georgia, and stood high in his profession as a competent physician. The sales of these pills are increasing very fast, and wherever used to date very popular. Families should see that they are kept in the house now since the yellow fever is so prevalent, as they are considered a preventive.

DURING the summer months many of the wealthy families who live at the Grand Hotel, New York, for the winter, go away to watering places and their country seats. At this time a part of this great hotel with its many rich rooms and palace like suites are thrown open to the summer visitors to New York at a very reasonable rate of charges, of all New York hotels the Grand, on Broadway and Thirty-First street, is the very best for the transient visitor.

THE COLLINS-GOLD METAL WATCH [illegible]

ROGERS' CITRATE OF MAGNESIA. [illegible]

WE REFER parties needing steam engines, boilers, mills, gins, presses, etc., to the advertisement of H. Boley, Copland & Bro., No. 17 Longworth street, New Orleans, La., who are the largest dealers and dealers of Western established reputation.

CRAWFORD HOUSE, CINCINNATI. [illegible]

MR. E. E. F. ROSS, one of the staff [illegible]

BRAIN WORKERS.

Clergymen, lawyers, physicians, editors and others of brain workers will find Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a great restorative. Two bottles will sometimes relieve the most distressing nervousness, sleeplessness, dyspepsia, or "nervous prostration." Favorite Prescription is a powerful, yet safe nervine, and all the Northwestern summer resorts, to Niagara Falls, Put-in-Bay, etc., are on sale at the lowest rates, with the quickest time made by any line, and only one change of cars.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

THE WILHOFT'S ANTI PERIODIC OR FEVER AND AGUE PILL. [illegible] has established itself as the real infallible Chill cure. It is universally acknowledged by the only reliable and harmless Chill medicine now in use. It will never be confirmed by the hundreds of certificates of the very best people from all parts of the country. It cures malarious diseases of every type, from the soaking acres of the lakes and valleys to the raging fevers of the torrid zone. Try it. It has never been known to fail. Wilhoft, Fiseau & Co., proprietors, New Orleans. For sale by all druggists.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, chap, blister, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 602 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

THE NEW ENGLAND CABINET ORGAN.

CONTAIN all modern improvements, and are furnished in a variety of styles and musical combinations, adapted to Church and Home use. Every instrument fully warranted. Illustrated catalogues sent free upon application to the NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO., 1299 Washington St., Boston, Mass. PHILIP WERLEIN, Sole Agent, New Orleans, La. eow

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the recognized Standard Family Medicine in the United States. Scarcely a family can be found from Maine to Mexico that does not use them.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits.

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that result from MALARIAL POISON and a DERANGED LIVER, such as Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Typhoid Fevers, Chills, Colic, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhœa, Nervousness, Dizziness, Palpitation of the Heart, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney Diseases, Chronic Constipation, Piles, etc.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a

Dull pain in Shoulders, Coated Tongue, Costive Bowels, Weight in the Stomach after Eating, Sour Eructations, Aversion to Exertion of Body or Mind.

BE ADVISED, AND AT ONCE

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS,

The first dose produces an effect which often astonishes the sufferer, and in a short time follows an Appetite, Good Digestion,

SOLID FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE.

A sufferer says they are the

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

DR. TUTT: I have used your Pills for Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never had anything to take hold as they have. The way of medicine. They are the best Pill in Existence, and I do all I can to recommend others with their good merits. J. W. TIBBITTS, Dresden, Minn.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

Country Orders for Millinery

AND FANCY GOODS.

Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by stating the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HARDON,
Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans,
Second door above Custom-house.

REMOVAL!

ELKIN & CO.

HAVE REMOVED THEIR

Carpet and Oil-Cloth Warehouse

TO

100 ..... CANAL STREET 100

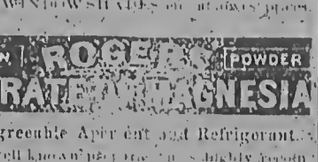
Between Camp and St. Charles Streets.

A full line of CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, MATTINGS, WINDOW SHADES and all goods pertaining to the trade.



An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

This well known preparation is highly recommended for Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Sickness of the Stomach, Heartburn, Biliousness, Sallowness, Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Malarial Fevers. It revitalizes the entire system. It is a powder, and the quickest and most reliable remedy known. It is a specific for Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Sea Sickness, Nausea, Vomiting, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Hysteria, Hypochondria, Mental Depression, Loss of Memory, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impure Blood, Pimples on the Face, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworm, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Itch, Scurf, Dandruff, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Venereal Affections, Syphilitic Complaints, Mercurial Diseases, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Female Complaints, Leucorrhœa, Prostration, Paralysis, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Gravel, Stone in the Bladder, Catarrh, Asthma, Consumption, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Pain in the Chest, Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fevers, Typhoid Fever, Typhus Fever, Scarlet Fever, Yellow Fever, Spotted Fever, Brain Fever, Inflammation of the Brain, Meningitis, Inflammation of the Bowels, Peritonitis, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Inflammation of the Bladder, Ulceration of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Bladder, Inflammatory Rheumatism, Puerperal Fever, Milk Fever, Metritis, Ovaritis, Hysteritis, Uterine Hemorrhage, Prolapsus Uteri, Leucorrhœa, Amenorrhœa, Dysmenorrhœa, Menorrhagia, Metrorrhagia, Irritation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Womb, Ulceration of the Womb, Falling of the Womb, Scirrhus of the Womb, Cancer of the Womb, Hæmorrhoids, Piles, Fistula, Pruritus Vulvæ, Ulceration of the Mouth, Ulceration of the Throat, Ulceration of the Rectum, Diseases of the Urinary Organs, Diseases of the Sexual Organs, Diseases of the Digestive Organs, Diseases of the Nervous System, Diseases of the Blood, Diseases of the Heart, Diseases of the Lungs, Diseases of the Throat, Diseases of the Skin, Diseases of the Liver, Diseases of the Kidneys, Diseases of the Bladder, Diseases of the Womb, Diseases of the Rectum, Diseases of the Bowels, Diseases of the Stomach, Diseases of the Head, Diseases of the Eyes, Diseases of the Ears, Diseases of the Nose, Diseases of the Face, Diseases of the Hair, Diseases of the Beard, Diseases of the Nails, Diseases of the Hands, Diseases of the Feet, Diseases of the Arms, Diseases of the Legs, Diseases of the Back, Diseases of the Chest, Diseases of the Abdomen, Diseases of the Pelvis, Diseases of the Joints, Diseases of the Muscles, Diseases of the Tendons, Diseases of the Ligaments, Diseases of the Bones, Diseases of the Cartilages, Diseases of the Nerves, Diseases of the Blood Vessels, Diseases of the Lymphatics, Diseases of the Glands, Diseases of the Skin, Diseases of the Hair, Diseases of the Beard, Diseases of the Nails, Diseases of the Hands, Diseases of the Feet, Diseases of the Arms, Diseases of the Legs, Diseases of the Back, Diseases of the Chest, Diseases of the Abdomen, Diseases of the Pelvis, Diseases of the Joints, Diseases of the Muscles, Diseases of the Tendons, Diseases of the Ligaments, Diseases of the Bones, Diseases of the Cartilages, Diseases of the Nerves, Diseases of the Blood Vessels, Diseases of the Lymphatics, Diseases of the Glands.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

For sale by all New Orleans druggists.

THE STANDARD
CHROMATIC TUNING OR PITCH-PIPE.

Gives the correct pitch of any tone, Natural, Sharp or Flat, Adjusted for the desired pitch instantly. Never gets out of order. FINELY NICKEL PLATED. Not a reed. Instrument of Physician and Singer should be without one. RETAILED AT $1.50. Sent to any address upon receipt of price.

DANIEL F. READ & CO.,
867 BROADWAY, N. Y.
Inventors and Manufacturers.
Sold by all Music Dealers.

Centenary Female College,

SUMMERFIELD, ALA.

OPENS OCTOBER 1, 1878. Full corps of Instructors. Reduced rates. Cheapest first-class school in the South. Excellent means and facilities for health. Instruction thorough. Discipline salutary. No better school can be found for safety or cheapness. For particulars address

A. H. McVOY, Pres. d-ed.

$66 A WEEK. In your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Me.

STAMPING PATTERNS: Stamped Solution, 25c. Designs for 25c. The first number just out. AUTERNATIONAL Co., Cortland St., N. Y.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 17,000 students since 1867. 75 eminent professors. 115 lessons for $15. E. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

Twenty-Ninth Annual Statement

OF THE

CRESCENT MUTUAL

INSURANCE CO.

NEW ORLEANS, May 24, 1878.

ASSETS April 1, 1878 ..... $256,611 37
GROSS PROFITS for year ending April 30, 1878 ..... 39,453 61

The Board of Trustees this day resolved that, after paying the annual dividend of TEN PER CENT. on the capital stock of the company, a dividend of TWENTY PER CENT. in cash be paid on MONDAY, June 10, to those parties entitled to receive the same.

TRUSTEES.

Thos. A. Adams,	John E. King,
Samuel H. Newman,	First Consideration,
Samuel H. Kennedy,	Joseph W. Frame,
John Phelps,	George Martin,
Adam Thompson,	Alfred Mogbon,
Henry Abraham,	L. H. Juge,
Victor Meyer,	Edward Nalle,
Joseph Bowling,	Geo. W. Scott,
Edward J. Gay,	Paul E. Mortimer,
Simon Hernsheim,	John V. Moore,
Simon Forschheimer,	W. R. Lowe,
Joseph H. Wolfe,	Henry M. Preston,
R. B. Post,	J. C. Fifty,
Edward Pilsbury,	Reuben H. Rich,
	John M. Parker.

DITSON & CO.'S

MUSICAL RECORD!

A NEW

MUSICAL WEEKLY PAPER!

The first number to appear September 7.

It will be under the able editorial management of MR. WM. H. CLARKE, and will be a true musical Newspaper, its frequent appearance enabling it to give the latest news from all parts of the country and of the world, with reports of Conventions, Music Schools, Festivals, &c., and with bright, clear, interesting articles on all subjects pertaining to musical progress.

Ditson & Co.'s Musical Record will be an impartial paper. The firm publish for all composers, and have no motive to favor one at the expense of another. All music teachers should subscribe at once, as it is, in a special sense, their paper, and to send on all interesting items of information in their respective districts.

Subscription price, $2 per year, in advance. No free list. Premiums for list of subscribers. More than three hundred pages of Music per year given. Will exchange with papers having special musical departments.

Specimen copies sent free on application. Subscribe now and get two extra numbers.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.
C. H. DITSON & CO.,
843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

J. S. RIVERS,

STATIONER,

Steam Power Printer,

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER.

LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

71 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

PIANOS.

PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the most satisfactory manner at

Mr. Burchardt's Manufactory,

633 ..... MAGAZINE STREET 633

Between Jackson and Josephine sts. 6p

COLDS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that at all Vicksburg of the TUTTLE & CO. LIVE Lapplace's Indian Tonic Pectoral Balm is the universally celebrated remedy for all these diseases. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 24 Bienville street. Mobile depot: Tuttle & Co., 9 Water st. Memphis depot: Richardson & Co., 300 N. Main st. 6p

Has book needs no Endorsement. Dr. PALMER.

AGENTS WANTED FROM THE PULPIT AND PRESS TO MARCH NEW BOOK, DAWN

By the Author of Night Scenes of the Bible. Terms and full description sent free. Address HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

BOOKS. ESTABLISHED 20 YEARS

J. W. McINTYRE, ... St. Louis, Mo.

WHEELER & PERSON (successors to Darcy & Wheeler and Person & Hess), NOS. 13 & 15 CAMP ST., opposite the City Hall.

CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. Wholesale department upstairs. 6p

Farm, Garden and Household.

THOUGHTS FOR THE MONTH.

This and the next month constitute the proper period for planting what are usually termed "fall crops," and we desire to impress again upon the reader the exceeding great importance of having the land devoted to those crops very rich. Fertility is a protection against cold; it gives a vitality to plants which severe cold cannot destroy; it will make them grow in cold weather, when plants on poor land do well even to hold their own; and, when spring opens, gives them a start a long way in advance of the latter. Coarse, bulky manures, such as stable, cow-lot, and leaf and muck composts may be safely and advantageously applied to these crops. There is little danger of losing their valuable constituents by leaching, and the long winter, with its abounding moisture, affords ample opportunities for them to rot, to be diffused through the soil, and become available to plants. The more concentrated and soluble commercial fertilizers may also be applied, but it is better to divide them, using only a part in the autumn, and the other portion as a top dressing in spring. Danger from drouth not being probable, the manures should be placed near the surface; the rains will take care of them and distribute them sufficiently for the convenience of plants.

WINTER GRAZING LOTS.

The value of these can hardly be over-estimated. Waiving entirely the saving of corn and forage, whose place they may take in considerable quantity, they pay most handsomely in promoting the health of stock. No one who has seen the eager avidity with which animals feed upon green food in the spring can doubt that their health imperatively demands it—it cannot be simply a matter of the palate.

These lots pay also in allowing milk and golden butter, and thus indirectly promote the health of the household, as well as that of the stork. Every housekeeper is entitled to a good supply of these articles, and he cannot be called a noble farmer who does not recognize this fact, and, what is more, supply them bountifully. In addition, these lots, if placed in easy view of the dwelling, break the dreary monotony of the winter's landscape, and relieve the sense of universal death. Is that not worth something?

The mistake usually made is in not having the lots numerous and large enough. The consequence is that they are grazed too closely, the plants become weakened, and furnish but a moiety of what they would have done under proper treatment. Not less than one acre to each animal should be the rule. The lots should be subdivided, that a part may be grazed for awhile, and the animals then transferred to another part.

The best plant for such lots is barley. Having enriched and thoroughly prepared the land, sow four bushels of seed per acre. Sow half the seed in one direction, and the other half across the first; this will insure a more regular distribution. Then plow in, and drag or harrow and roll. Do not begin to graze until the plants have become strong and well set. The next best plant is rye—more hardy than barley, and less affected by cold, but less relished by stock. If possible, sow seed raised in your own locality. Western seed will fail to give satisfactory results. To secure still greater variety of food, the California or bur clover, or crimson clover may be sown. These are lasting annual plants, and furnish good grazing in the very early spring.

For selling purposes either of the above plants may be used; but perhaps the best of all for that purpose is lucerne. A good deal has been published by us recently on its cultivation, and we will not repeat here. Remember, a deep loam, rather sandy and excessively rich, suits it best.

OATS.

Having disposed of the grazing lots, the oat crop next demands attention. Georgia farmers so thoroughly recognize the great value of this crop that it is useless to urge its claims upon them. They have learned, to rely upon it as the cheapest and best food for work-stock. The red rust-proof has pretty well superseded all other varieties, and, when sown in the fall on good land, constitutes one of the surest crops grown—certainly not more liable to be cut off by winter freezing than the corn crop is by summer drouths. While good crops are often made by simply harrowing in the seed in the cotton-fields during the present month, the prevailing opinion is in favor of plowing them in—picking over the cotton, then running a furrow as close as possible on each side of the cotton, sowing seed, and covering by plowing out in the middles. In the northern parts of the cotton belt this should be done by the first of October in the lower cotton belt by the fifteenth or twentieth. Some winters they may be sown still later; but, as that cannot be known in advance, it is best to be on the safe side and sow early. If they should come forward too early, graze moderately before frost; but our experience is that the less they are grazed in the winter the better. Sow not less than two bushels per acre, on very rich land. Sow four to five bushels, and we begin to hear of one hundred and forty bushels or upward per acre being made under such conditions. In these cases, however, the measurements have not been made in a manner to satisfy everyone. Oats may also be sown on corn and stubble land. It is not uncommon to grow two or three successive oat crops on the same land, sowing the seed, and turning them under with the weeds and stubble. Cotton seed and phosphate—twenty-five bushels of the former to one hundred pounds of the latter—is excellent manure for the crop, plowed in with the oats. The cotton seed must be killed when used at these early sowings, else they will come up and contribute little to the growth of the oats.

CLOVER AND GRASS.

September has proved with us the best month for sowing clover and grass on uplands. On bottom lands they will do as well if sown in early spring. For grass, make the land rich with nitrogenous manures especially; for clover, with phosphatic and mineral manures. Never skimp seed—overdo rather than underdo the matter. Failure often begins just here.

TURNIPS.

Where turnips have been drilled, thin out to a stand as soon as possible, and give good cultivation—first with a deep-running plow, subsequently with sweep, keeping the drill clean with the hoe. The turnip has a very short season in which to develop, and it needs all the help it can get.

PREPARING LAND FOR WHEAT.

If a clover or grass sod, or stubble land is to be sown in wheat, it is best to turn them over during this month, and pretty early in it. After turning over, several shallow plowings, harrowings and draggings should be given, taking care not to disturb or bring to the surface the vegetable matter that was plowed in. A fine surface tilth is very essential to wheat, and one plowing will not give it in sod or stubble land. On cotton land the previous workings of the cotton will suffice, if supplemented with a good plowing and harrowing at the time of sowing the wheat.—Southern Cultivator.

FINE PETUNIAS.

The petunia is one of the very best plants we have, making charming beds of flowers in the summer, and filling a very honorable place in the winter garden. It seems hard to realize that the poor people who lived more than fifty years ago never saw a petunia, and that when about that time a poor white variety was discovered in South America the world could be pleased with it; and it was much more than pleased when, in 1830, a purple petunia was found in Brazil. About eighteen years since we were somewhat astonished by the announcement that a double white petunia had been produced. It was then only semi-double, but now we have the double of all colors, and as large as can be desired.

Sow the seed in the spring, in a cold-frame, if possible; if not, in boxes or beds in the garden, and by the middle of May or first of June plants will be ready to put out in the flowering beds, and will bloom abundantly until frost. Set the plants about eighteen inches apart. They come pretty true from seed, though not reliable in this respect, being inclined to spot. The petunia as at present cultivated embraces three classes. The grandiflora varieties make quite a strong and succulent growth, and the stems and leaves are sticky to the touch. These bear a few very large, magnificent flowers, often from three to four inches across. They give but a very few seeds. In this class we have a fringed petunia, new and unique. The double petunias gives no seed, and those that produce double flowers are obtained by fertilizing single flowers with the pollen of the double. The third class is the small-flowered varieties. The plants are of a slender, wiry growth but cover a good deal of ground. They bear an immense number of flowers, from early summer until frost, and seed freely in the open ground. A well-filled circular bed, six feet in diameter, will display continually, without a day's intermission, thousands of flowers.

The striped petunias are most singularly marked, the markings sometimes almost forming perfect letters which with a little imagination you can believe to be your initials, or those of some other person whom you think quite as much of.—Hearth and Home.

SHEEP FOR MEN of SMALL MEANS.

Perhaps there is no department of husbandry that offers as many inducements to men of small means as the raising of sheep, whether the object be to produce wool or mutton. A flock of young ewes, if profitably cared for, will ordinarily double every year. If the stock is poor at the start, it may be brought up to a high degree of excellence in three or four years by the use of choice bucks. It costs less to procure a sufficiently large number of sheep to require the services of a man to take care of them than is required to raise a sufficient number of any other animals to demand one man's attention, if we except swine. Nothing can be derived from cattle and horses until they are three or four years old, but sheep begin to pay when they have reached the second summer from their birth.

To raise horses, mules or cattle one must have considerable capital, or he must wait several years before he has a sufficient number of animals to give him any support. If one can obtain fifty sheep, however, he may, in three or four years, have a flock that will produce a good income. To start a grain farm requires a still larger capital. Lands must be bought, fences built, buildings erected, plows, harrows, seeders and reapers purchased, and seed obtained. At least one first-class team must also be bought. To procure all these things requires more capital than most young men possess. To compete with others in raising corn and small grains it is now necessary to own somewhat costly tools and machinery, and to have good lands on which to raise the crops.

Sheep may be raised on very poor land—that is, on land that is not adapted to raising corn and grain. There are tens of thousands of acres of land in this and adjoining States that is well adapted to raising sheep, which now is too hilly or rocky to plow to good advantage. There are large tracts of this land on which one could pasture sheep for years without being molested. Most speculators would like to have sheep kept on land of this sort, as it would be improved by their presence. They would prevent the growth of weeds and bushes, and would return to the soil more than an equivalent for what they devour.—The Farm Journal.

MAKING WINE FROM GRAPES.—The grapes should be picked when perfectly ripe, on a dry day, all the unripe, decayed and imperfect berries being discarded. Crush them in a small press (not too severely,) if one is at hand; or it can be done by the hand in a large tub. Let the mass remain in this state for forty-eight hours; then strain off carefully; put in a thoroughly cleansed keg or barrel, so that the vessel is full, leaving off the bung in order that fermentation may have vent and throw out the impurities; fill up with reserved juice to keep the vessels always full. At the end of two or three weeks, when the first fermentation is over, rack off, drawing the liquor carefully off by keeping it constantly running and removing it into a scalded-out tub; then scald out the vessel again and return the liquor, leaving the bung rather loose in its place, for the second fermentation. When that is over bung up tightly, and let remain for at least six months, or altogether, using as it may be wanted. It is better if racked off at the end of six months or longer, and put into from two to five gallon demijohns, though the usual bottles will answer very well. Unless you want excellent vinegar, be sure to add sugar or rock candy.—Germantown Telegraph.

ABOUT DUCKLINGS.—The best feed for ducklings is scalded meal, salted to suit a person's taste, in which is mixed about one half boiled egg, chopped fine; or tender fresh meat, boiled and hashed. They eat but little at first, but want it often. After a week old the egg may be omitted, and, with fresh meat occasionally, will do. Notwithstanding they are water fowls, before they are feathered, getting wet and chilled is more certain to kill them than it is a chicken. At first they should have water in very shallow dishes, and never deep enough to swim in, till two or four weeks old. After they begin to feather, one third to one half fine bran and middlings may be added to their feed; and when old enough to eat it, cracked corn for the last feed at night. They are fond of tadpoles and earth worms, which will not hurt them, though it is said the former will kill goslings. Where ducklings have access to water of any depth, their worst enemies are invisible, in the shape of mud turtles, which catch them by the foot while swimming, and drag them under to rise no more, leaving their disappearance a mystery to the unsuspecting owner.—American Poultry Journal.

There are only two people who have a right to put you aside—your doctor and your sexton. No one else. It is ignominious to see men sitting down in indolence simply because they are growing old.

And the bars hurt none the less because they are of gold.—Vera.

QUEEN OF THE OVEN.

A biscuit made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is certainly the queen of the oven. So light, white and delicious. After breakfasting on biscuits made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, what man would contemplate suicide or grumble because his wife asked him for money?

NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY

No other Medicine required, it is used alone.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will cure any case of Chills and Fever, Intermittent or Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Bilious Fever, Typho-Malarial Fever, Bilious Remittent Fever, Congestive Chills, Fever, Ague, Bilious Fever, Dengue, Break-Bone Fever, Malarial Fever, Swamp Fever, Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Chills, Fever, Ague, and all diseases originating from Malaria, Miasma, Marsh Poison, Impure Air, Bad Water, Unwholesome Food, Poisonous Exhalations, Noxious Effluvia, Foul Gases, Decaying Vegetation, Decomposition, Putrefaction, Rottenness, Corruption, Pestilence, Contagion, Infection, Epidemics, Endemics, Sporadics, Pandemics, Epizootics, Zymotics, Septics, Antiseptics, Disinfectants, Deodorizers, Germicides, Parasiticides, Vermicides, Insecticides, Microbicides, Microbes, Bacteria, Bacilli, Bacillus Malariæ, Spirilla, Spirillum Rubrum, Spirillum Undula, Spirillum Serpens, Vibrios, Micrococcus, Leptothrix Buccalis, Oscillatoria Rubescens, Protococcus Nivalis, Palmella Cruenta, Uredo Segetum, Uredo Rubigo Vera, Puccinia Graminis, Aecidium Berberidis, Torula Cerevisiæ, Mycoderma Aceti, Mycoderma Vini, Penicillium Glaucum, Mucor Mucedo, Mucor Stolonifer, Mucor Racemosus, Mucor Circinelloides, Mucor Rhizopodiformis, Mucor Ramosus, Mucor Piriformis, Mucor Fusiformis, Mucor Botrytis, Mucor Corymbifer, Mucor Erectus, Mucor Fragilis, Mucor Dichotomus, Mucor Glomeratus, Mucor Umbellatus, Mucor Fusigerus, Mucor Fusiger, Mucor Fusisporus, Mucor Fusisporus Major, Mucor Fusisporus Minor, Mucor Fusisporus Maximus, Mucor Fusisporus Minimus, Mucor Fusisporus Medius, Mucor Fusisporus Parvus, Mucor Fusisporus Magnus, Mucor Fusisporus Grandis, Mucor Fusisporus Ingens, Mucor Fusisporus Immanis, Mucor Fusisporus Monstrosus, Mucor Fusisporus Gigas, Mucor Fusisporus Colossus, Mucor Fusisporus Titan, Mucor Fusisporus Giganteus, Mucor Fusisporus Maximus, Mucor Fusisporus Minimus, Mucor Fusisporus Medius, Mucor Fusisporus Parvus, Mucor Fusisporus Magnus, Mucor Fusisporus Grandis, Mucor Fusisporus Ingens, Mucor Fusisporus Immanis, Mucor Fusisporus Monstrosus, Mucor Fusisporus Gigas, Mucor Fusisporus Colossus, Mucor Fusisporus Titan, Mucor Fusisporus Giganteus.

THE WHOLE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY

Address DR. J. H. McLEAN, 814 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

A NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

Dr. J. H. McLean's

COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.

Before Tak. After Tak.

Address DR. J. H. McLEAN, 814 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

ABSORBS THE POISON.

In the new way that CATARRH is cured by

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Celebrated Catarrh Snuff

Before Tak. After Tak.

Address DR. J. H. McLEAN, 814 Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

JOS. B. WOLFE & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS,

59 Carondelet St., New Orleans,

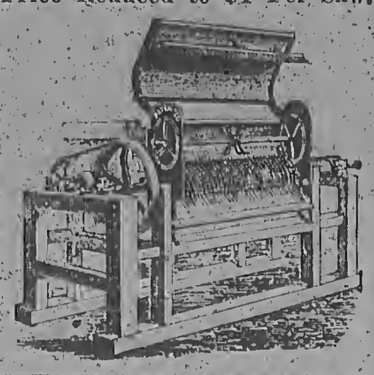
GENERAL AGENTS FOR

DANIEL PRATT'S IMPROVED

"Revolving Head" Cotton Gin.

PATENTED JULY 15, 1873.

Price Reduced to $4 Per Saw.



THIS GIN has been in use for the past five seasons, and several recent improvements have been added. It obviates all friction at the ends of the cotton box, prevents the roll from breaking, and gives a Larger Yield of Lint from the same Amount of Seed than any other Gin in use. The Revolving Head lightens the draft and causes the Gin to run faster, with less driving power, thus doing a great deal more work with the same time, while economizing steam or animal power than any other Gin. The seed being ginned very close, the length of the staple is increased, producing cotton on this account of a greater market value. This improved value, given by length of staple, with extra production of lint, added to increased amount of work done, more than covers the cost of the Gin in every 100 bales ginned. Testimonials sent by mail on application.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.

Mills, Engines and Machinery,

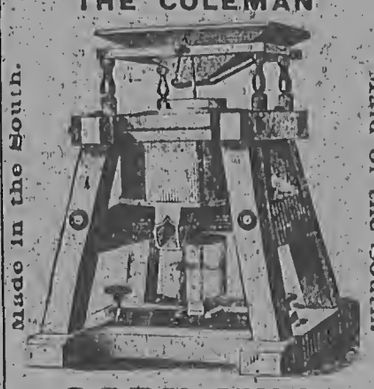
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WE SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines, Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses and Machinery delivered at railroad depots or river landings.

Portable Engine prices greatly reduced.

THE COLEMAN

Made in the South. Made of the South.



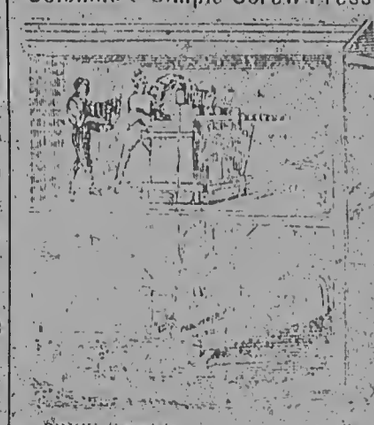
CORN MILL.

VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York State to Texas, over thirty-three different competitors, during the past twenty-eight years.

Awarded the only Gold Medal ever awarded to any Corn Mill in the United States. Simple, strong, durable and cheap, with solid French Burr Stones. Made by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., New Orleans, La.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press



PRICE, Complete $165 00

Wrought Iron Screw 7 inches in diameter. Packing box 9 feet deep. Simple, strong, durable, and guaranteed to pack a 500 lbs. bale. Send for circular. Manufactured by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., New Orleans, La.

We make also the Friction-Power Press. (Six inches patent.)

NEW ORLEANS

FLOURING MILLS.

Webster & Dillingham,

NOS. 83 AND 84 PETERS ST. AND 22 AND 24 COMMERCE ST., NEW ORLEANS,

MANUFACTURERS OF

THE HIGHEST GRADE OF FLOUR

by the NEW PROCESS, specially adapted for City Trade and Export.

GRAHAM FLOUR constantly on hand, fresh-ground daily.

Flour delivered to all parts of the city.

CHOICE BRAN, suitable for Feed, constantly on hand at lowest market rate.

Highest market price paid for WHEAT.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,

IMPORTERS AND SELLERS

OF

CARRIAGE, WAGON

AND

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

And Manufacturers of

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,

All at Reasonable Prices.

68 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.,

Between Common and Gravier,

NEW ORLEANS.

ICE! ICE! ICE!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

FAMILIES SUPPLIED AT LIBERAL RATES.

ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

WILLIAM MYERS,

NINTH STREET, between Magazine and Constance sts., opposite the Market.

GOLD! Any worker can make $12 a day at home. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

EDUCATIONAL.

WHITWORTH

FEMALE COLLEGE,

BROOKHAVEN, MISS.

Will Reopen September 25, 1878.

Pupils last term	203
Boarders	131
Music class	151
Graduating class	25

Board and tuition in English for collegiate year (see catalogue)	$180 00
Scholarship for ten years, board and tuition in English	1,000 00
Scholarship for four years, board and full college course	600 00
Same, and Instrumental Music	760 00
Same, Instrumental Music and Drawing or Painting	860 00

The object of the scholarships is to assist in erecting the new college building.

The unprecedented success of the college is its best recommendation.

Bishop McTyeire writes in the Nashville Christian Advocate: "Several days spent in the delightful college family at Brookhaven left me in no doubt as to how this success has been achieved. The location is good, and the management better. . . . Long will I remember the morning hymns at chapel prayers. . . . Another fact noteworthy was the plainness of dressing—neat, tasteful, but plain."

The health record is as good as that of any school in Kentucky, Virginia or Tennessee.

The corner-stone of the new college building will be laid in August.

Patronize this school, and you will assist in further developing an institution which has been rapidly growing for eleven years. Send for a catalogue.

H. F. JOHNSON, D.D., President.

Wesleyan Female College,

MACON, GEORGIA.

THE FORTY-FIRST ANNUAL SESSION BEGINS SEPTEMBER 18, 1878.

UNSURPASSED advantages in Literature, Science, Ancient and Modern Languages, Music and Painting. A liberal post-graduate course has been provided. It includes lectures by eminent scholars and scientists, beginning with an extensive course of lectures during the Fall term by Dr. Lipscomb, of Vanderbilt University. Address

REV. W. F. BASS, D.D., President.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,

AT BATON ROUGE, LA.

THE next session of this school will begin on the first Wednesday in October 1878.

This is a family Boarding School for boys. The healthfulness of the location is unsurpassed. Instruction thorough, and that is necessary to prepare the student for any grade in college or any pursuit in life. Discipline parental. The constant personal care of the principal is given to the health, morals and manners of the pupils.

For circulars, with necessary information, apply to W. H. N. MAGRUDER, Baton Rouge, La.

Athens Female College,

ATHENS, ALA.

THE forty-fourth session of this institution will open on the first Wednesday of SEPTEMBER. Thorough courses in English, Ancient and Modern Languages, Mathematics, Natural Science, Philosophy, Music, Painting and Ornamental Arts. No extra charges for Modern Languages.

TERMS—Board and tuition, five months, $90. Send for catalogue.

C. LOZIER SMITH, A.M., President.

GRENADA FEMALE COLLEGE,

GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI.

THE ensuing session will begin September 2, 1878. The president will be assisted by eight colleagues and teachers. The college edifice is the most costly and beautiful educational structure in the State, well equipped with furniture, library, philosophical apparatus, etc. The grounds extensive and tastefully ornamented with shrubbery, dense shade from all points, healthfulness unsurpassed, and the superior educational advantages for the cost, safety and happiness of young lady boarders, are a few of the inducements that commend this institution to public patronage. For catalogue address REV. J. K. ARMSTRONG, A.M., President.

East Mississippi Female College,

MERIDIAN, MISS.

REV. J. W. ATKINSON, A.M., President.

"IT is conducted on sound basis, and is sure to succeed if the future be the success it has deserved in the past."—Rev. D. D. McAnally, D.D., Editor of Memphis Christian Advocate.

"Few schools are better located than this, and few are under better management."—Rev. Louis Parker, D.D., Editor of New Orleans Christian Advocate.

"In all Mississippi needs just such a school as the president is building up."—Bishop H. N. McTyeire.

Correspond for a few of special terms, club rates, etc.

CENTENARY COLLEGE

WILL resume its exercises on the first Monday in October, with a competent corps of professors. All branches of preparatory and collegiate schools, and first-class college courses fully taught. Tuition in preparatory school, $15, and in college classes, $20 per session of forty weeks. Boarding in Steward's hall, $10 per month, and in private families at correspondingly low rates. For particular and catalogue address

C. C. ANDREWS, President, Jackson, La.

AUGUSTA FEMALE SEMINARY,

STAUNTON, VA.

THE largest and best school building for young ladies in Virginia, with ample corps of twenty-five teachers.

Opens the first Wednesday in SEPTEMBER, 1878, and closes on the first Wednesday in June, 1879.

For catalogues containing full particulars, address MISS MARY J. BALDWIN, Principal, Staunton, Va.

Kenmore University High School

NEAR AMHERST C. H., VA.

H. A. STRODE (Math. Med. Univ. Va.), Principal and Instructor in Mathematics. H. C. BROCK (Bethel C. Va.), recently Asst. Ins. Latin C. Va.), Associate Instructor. This school is strictly preparatory to the University of Virginia. For testimonials as to its general character see catalogues sent on application.

TERMS FOR HALF SESSION—Board and tuition, $125. Seventh session begins SEPTEMBER 12, 1878.

Memphis Conference Female Institute,

JACKSON, TENNESSEE.

Great Reduction in Charges.

THIS is the oldest Female College in the South-west. Favorably located, easy of access, and remarkable for its healthfulness. Thoroughly furnished in all its departments, and supplied with a large corps of competent teachers. Fall session begins Tuesday, October 1, 1878. Apply for catalogue or special information to the president.

A. R. JONES, Jackson, Tenn.

Millersburg Female College,

MILLERSBURG, KY.

WE would advise all Southern people desiring to send their daughters to the Female College having the largest number of teachers, the most thorough course, the most healthful location, the most homelike comforts, and the most reasonable prices, to write for catalogue to

GEORGE T. GOULD, D.D., Millersburg, Ky.

BOOKS, STATIONERY, ETC.

RELIGIOUS

BOOK DEPOSITORY

AT

27 Camp Street, New Orleans.

RELIGIOUS LITERATURE AND SUNDAY-school supplies for all denominations, sold at publishers' prices, with usual discounts to Ministers, Congregations and Sunday Schools.

Orders addressed to

D. L. MITCHEL, Business Agent, LOCK BOX 1408, Will receive prompt attention.

AGENTS WANTED.

NOW READY. AGENTS WANTED

THE GRAND ACHIEVEMENTS OF H. M. STANLEY

A full history of his explorations in Africa, and marvelous journey down the Congo, "Through the Dark Continent." The public are awaiting this book. It is of matchless interest, richly illustrated, low priced, and will sell like a parallel. For full description and terms address N. D. THOMPSON & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE MADE by Agents selling our Chromos, Crayons, Picture and Chromo Cards. 125 samples, worth $5, sent postpaid for 85 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Estab'd 1845.

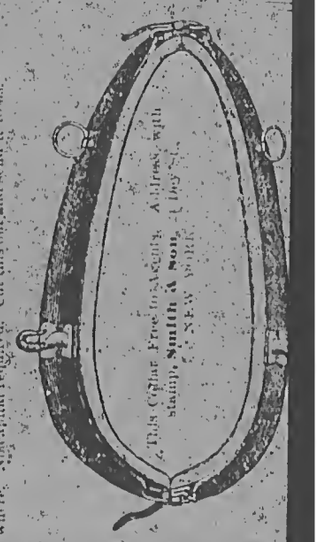
AGENTS wanted to sell THE CURSE OF RUM, including Life and Work of Murphy and Reynolds, with History of the movement to Date. 320 pages. Fully illustrated. Price, $2.50. GUARANTEE PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER. AGENTS Wanted. $50 to $125 a Month. An Encyclopedia of Law and Forms. For Business Men, Bankers, Farmers, Property Owners, Teachers, everybody, every business. Sells where introduced. Selling fast. Send for circular and terms. W. ZIEGLER & CO., 629 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

FOR LADIES ONLY

LADY AGENTS WANTED to sell Mme. Grinwald's SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSET. Universally approved, and is gradually superseding all others. Application only to MME. GRINWOLD, 21 East Sixteenth street, New York.

MISCELLANEOUS.



AGENTS WANTED

$20 FOR $1

AMERICAN WATCH

305 N. 7TH ST. ST. LOUIS MO.

Send for price list. E. DRESSER, Agt.

MAKE $100

Acting as Our Salesman.

We are desirous of engaging the services of AGENTS, either in salary or commission, as they may elect. Those who wish to act in regard to business (if not employed at present) when you receive this, can learn particulars by addressing, with stamp, for circulars.

G. W. FOSTER & CO.

275 AND 283 E. MADISON STREET, Chicago, Illinois.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,

55 ..... ST. CHARLES STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN OF ALL KINDS.

Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every article for the Angler, wholesale or retail. Guns imported to order. J. R. Lynch's Muzzle Loading Guns always on hand. Also a lot of improved artificial baits. Address Post Box 1809.

PEARL PRE

Printer

GOLDING & CO.'S Machine

12 cent Rollers to their $100 Press

GOLDING & CO., 30 Pearl St., Boston.

GRIMAULT & CO

GUARANA

Will cure or relieve almost any disease. Sick or Nervous Headache cured in 20 minutes. Cure Piles, per box, $1. Sent by mail on receipt of price. GUARANA CO., 30 North William St., N. Y.

Marder, Luse & TYPE FOUNDE CHICA

Dealers in Printers' Outfits. Foundry and Warerooms complete.

VALLEY FEMALE COLLEG

WINCHESTER, VA.

SIXTH ANNUAL SESSION begins on the first Wednesday in September, 1878. For particulars send for a catalogue or write to R. ARNOLD, President.

Alabama Conference Female Colle

TUSKEGEE, ALABAMA.

THE next session of this Institution will open on the Twenty-Third of September, 1878. For full information send for catalogue to JOHN MASSEY, President, Tuskegee, Ala.

SCIENTIFIC.

—The telephone is now used to help deaf people to hear by attaching a string to the parchment diaphragm of a simple telephone, and having the deaf person put the string between his teeth.

—The French have grown so clever at imitating pearls that a jeweler in the Paris Exhibition shows a necklace which purports to be a mixture of true pearls and false, and challenges his customers to single out the real ones. Nobody has yet succeeded.

—Mr. Coret has invented what he calls a self-acting thermo-signal, which by ringing a bell makes known to all within hearing when an axle or any other part of an engine is over-heated. It is a small brass cylinder, containing a system of flexible metal disks, and a dilatable liquid, which is to be fixed to the part liable to over-heating. While all goes well the instrument makes no sign; but as the temperature rises the liquid dilates, forces out a small metal pin at the end of the cylinder, which, as the wheel revolves, strikes a bell, and thereby warns the attendants. Thus the necessity for constantly watching an indicator is avoided.

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION.—In the Lancet Dr. Benjamin Howard has given a very full account of his direct method of inducing respiration in cases of drowning and chloroform accidents, also the reasons for the rules suggested, together with some illustrative cases. It is impossible to give even an epitome of this valuable paper, but we give the rules in short:

Rule 1.—To eject fluids, etc., from stomach and lungs, strip off upper clothing, and make a hard bolster of it, place the patient upon his face, the bolster being under the stomach. The operator presses upon the back sharply with the palms of his hands, so as to squeeze the stomach upon the bolster.

Rule 2.—To perform artificial respiration, turn the patient upon his back, place the bolster under the back, arms turned upward, with the hands tied together above the head; operator kneel astride the patient's hips, place the thumbs in the epigastrium, and the palms of the hands upon the lower ribs, then push with force upward so as to compress the ribs with some force; give time for the elastic ribs to expand, then repeat the compression, and so on till respiration is set up.

Why does the old memory ever come back—the memory banished, dead, buried all those years? We see ourselves in the mirror of the past, and the mirror is freshly burnished.—Mrs. Forrester.

The most delicate and satisfying of all happiness consists in promoting the happiness of others.—La Bruyere.

HELP!

FOR THE WEAK, NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED!

Afflicted can get restored to perfect health and bodily energy, at less expense of medicine and time,

BY USING

PULVERMACHER'S

ELECTRIC BELTS

AND BANDS,

Application to be made at Co. No. 1, corner Canal and Carondelet streets, New Orleans.

READER, ARE YOU AFFLICTED?

Would you recover the vantage ground of health, and energy (experienced during early years)? Do any of the following symptoms need your attention? Are you suffering from any of these diseases? Do you find in any of its many and multiplied forms, that you are gradually sinking into confirmed disease? Do you feel debilitated, nerved, unfit, and powerless? Are you dissatisfied with the results of medical treatment? Are you blessed in the possession of health? Do you look in the mirror for tokens of pleasure and find in its reflection the evidences of melancholy? Are your kidneys, or bladder, in any way deranged? Do you suffer from Dyspepsia, Nervousness, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Piles, Diabetes, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Sexual Debility, Nervous Prostration, Hypochondria, Hysteria, Epilepsy, Fits, Mental Depression, Loss of Memory, Softening of the Brain, Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Premature Old Age, Blindness, Weakness of the Limbs, Spinal Affections, Kidney and Urinary Complaints, Sexual Emissions, Sexual Impotency, Involuntary Discharges, Premature Decay, Wasting of the Organs, Impoverished Blood, Shaking of the Limbs, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Sight, Premature Wrinkles, Unnatural Paleness, Eruptions on the Face, Pimples, Blotches, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Dizziness, Sleeplessness, Cold Hands and Feet, Wakefulness, Bad Dreams, Mercurial Diseases, Nervous Irritability, Fickleness of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, Self-Consciousness, Lack of Confidence, Dullness, Headache, Pain in the Top of the Head, Hot Hands, Blushing, Bashfulness, Nervousness in the Presence of Others, Trembling of the Heart, Indigestion, Constipation, Wind on the Stomach, Bad Breath, Offensive Perspiration, Auto-Infection, Poisoning of the Blood, Singing in the Ears, Hissing Sounds, Diseases of the Throat, Ulceration of the Throat, Affections of the Throat, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Affections of the Nose, Ulceration of the Nose, Nasal Voice, Defective Hearing, Bronchitis, Coughs, Consumption, Asthma, Indigestion, Want of Appetite, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Giddiness, Nervous Headache, Female Weakness, Incipient Insanity, Leucorrhœa, Sterility, Dysmenorrhœa, Premature Decline, Barrenness, Loss of Sexual Power, Hysteria, Pain in the Side, Chest, Limbs, and Joints, Backache, Kidney Diseases, Nervous Debility, Mercurial Rheumatism, Contraction of the Muscles, Gout, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Female Complaints, Lumbago, Dragging-down Sensations, Pains in the Small of the Back, Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, Involuntary Discharges, Premature Old Age, Exhausted Vitality, Nervous Prostration, Sexual Debility, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Hypochondria, Hysteria, Fits, Epilepsy, Pimples on the Face, Blotches, Disordered Blood, Unnatural Paleness, Premature Decay, Wasting of the Organs, Bad Memory, Sudden Flushes of Heat, Dizziness, Unnatural Appetite, Confusion of Ideas, Lack of Confidence, Self-Distrust, Cowardice, Nervousness, Timidity, Trembling, Dyspepsia, Blushing, Bashfulness, Sleeplessness, Nervous Headache, Pain in the Back, Heart, Head, Nervous Irritability, Wakefulness, Bad Dreams, Restlessness, Dullness, Lassitude, Coldness of the Extremities, Sour Stomach, Wind on the Stomach, Sick Headache, Faintness, Weak Nerves, Bad Breath, Coated Tongue, Poor Appetite, Cold Hands and Feet, Indigestion, Constipation, Costiveness, Blood Diseases, Female Weakness, Impoverished Blood, Hot Hands, Disordered Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Bladder, Nervous Prostration, Universal Debility, Physical Weakness, Mental Depression, Softening of the Brain, Decay, Consumption, Epilepsy, Fits, Spasms, St. Vitus' Dance, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Diseases of the Blood, Lungs, Throat, Nose, Skin, Head, Nerves, Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Bladder, Sexual Organs, Urinary Organs

COMMERCIAL.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Wednesday, Sept. 18, 1878.

COTTON.

The following report of the cotton market is taken from the Democrat:

There was a fair inquiry to-day at slightly easier prices, and the sales aggregated 1,225 bales.

The following is the official closing of the Cotton Exchange:

	To-Day.	Yesterday.
Low ordinary
Ordinary
Good ordinary
Low middling		10
Middling		10
Good middling	11	11
Middling fair

Sales to-day, 1,225 bales. Market easy.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard, Sept. 1, 1878			1,000
Gross receipts since yesterday	1,425
Gross receipts previously	7,913	—	9,338
Total supply			11,462
Exported to-day
Exported previously	17	—	4,718
			4,718
Total stock this day			6,744
Total stock this day last year			20,125

There were no exports to-day.

Net receipts since yesterday			1,425
Receipts from other ports
Net receipts last Tuesday			811
Net receipts same time last year			113
Net receipts since Friday
Net receipts same time last week			1,078
Net receipts same time last year			1,6
Net receipts since September 1			1,302
Net receipts same time last year

COTTON ON SHIPBOARD.

The amount of cotton on shipboard, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows:

Liverpool	41
Havre	1,215
Bremen
Mexico
Spain
Mediterranean
Coastwise	74
Total	1,330

This, taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 7,326 bales.

The receipts at all ports, consolidated, as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, show totals from noon yesterday to noon to-day of 10,425 bales, against 7,311 on last Tuesday, 4,109 last year, and 10,282 the year before.

MOVEMENT AT PORTS

The movement at ports for four days, up to twelve M. to-day, is given below:

	Received since Friday.	Same time last week.	Same time last year.
New Orleans	3,871	2,566	1,450
Galveston	2,884	6,744	1,857
Mobile	1,885	1,315	1,087
Savannah	11,97	6,953	3,170
Charleston	6,815	3,97	2,1
Wilmington	1,123	535	164
Norfolk	4,108	905	1,9
Baltimore
New York	90	18	50
Boston		140
Philadelphia	155	50	232
Other ports
Total	36,256	24,581	11,651
Receipts at ports since September 1			108,801
Receipts same time last year			76,47
Receipts same time year before			70,532

EXPORTS.

The consolidated report for four days gives exports to

	G. B.	France.	Cont.	Chan.	Stocks.
This week	1,502				6,744
Last week	1,82				67,966
This week last year	1,253				106,...

British Conference Notes.

The report of the Home Mission and Contingent Fund stated that the fund aided in sustaining the ministry in more than 250 circuits in Great Britain, and sent $3,000 a year to Ireland. More than 100 Home Mission ministers and nine district missions were maintained in a greater or less degree by it, and 15 ministers were employed among the soldiers and sailors. A discussion took place on the question of dividing this fund, but the Conference decided not to change its title. Regulations were adopted for the employment of district missionaries, and of ministers to the soldiers and sailors. The former, among other things, are instructed to pay earnest attention to places where Romanizing practices, infidelity and immorality prevail, and in which there is no vigorous evangelizing agency. The Metropolitan Lay Mission employed 13 missionaries, who had visited 17,081 families, paid 30,625 visits to the destitute and sick, and held 300 open-air services, attended by 114,300 persons, besides Bible classes and mothers' meetings, etc. In the Liverpool Mission 311 open-air services and 1,000 cottage meetings had been held, 24,000 visits had been paid, and 206 members were meeting in religious classes. A connectional recognition was given to the lay agents, in a document which, declaring that it was desirable to employ them on a larger scale and in a more systematic way than before, prescribed certain rules under which their employment should be organized and regulated.

Dr. J. O. A. Clark presented the case of the Wesley Memorial Church, Savannah, whereupon a resolution was adopted: "That the Conference heartily commend this undertaking to the kindly consideration of our people." The president, addressing Dr. Clark, said: "We are very glad to have had among us a representative of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. That church has done wonders for the people of the Southern States, and has preserved Methodist doctrines and traditions with singular fidelity." A committee was appointed to consider during the year the best way of assisting ministers needing temporary rest.

Among the novel features in connection with the Conference was the Conference temperance meeting, which was held August 8. Papers were read on "The Co-Operation of Abstainers and Non-Abstainers," "Bands of Hope" and "Sunday Closing." An evening meeting was presided over by Dr. Pope, and was addressed by Mr. R. Lomas, the Rev. E. E. Jenkins, the Rev. Mr. John Dyson, Bishop Bowman, who spoke a good word for the Maine law, and the Rev. Charles Garrett, who rejoiced that the temperance principle had now been incorporated with the Methodist Church, never more to be separated.—Methodist.

Whosoever hath Christ cannot be poor; whosoever wants him cannot be rich.—Rutherford.

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

ARTICLES.	FROM	TO
Cotton scrapers	$4 00	$4 00
Cotton sweeps	4 00	— —
Cultivators, Diam. and shovel-tooth	6 25	7 00
Cultivators, ridge and walking	20 00	40 00
Shovels and spades	5 00	12 00
Axes	7 00	11 50
Shovel plows	4 50	5 50
Half do., with cutters	6 00	8 00
Double-shovel plow	4 60	5 25
Straub's corn mills	— —	— —
Corn mills, Cutman's	120 00	425 00
B. J. West's corn mill	200 00	— —
Tabinard's corn and pea planter	— —	— —
Cotton planter	15 00	— —
Wagons, Carts, Etc.
Wagon, two-horse	55 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	85 00	100 00
Wagon, two-horse, thim. axeln	60 00	70 00
Wagon, four-horse	81 00	91 00
Cane wagon	120 00	210 00
Ox wagon	75 00	115 00
Ox cart, complete	— —	— —
Cane cart	110 00	115 00
Tongue cart, complete	— —	120 00
Plantation cart	45 00	60 00
Bagasse cart	65 00	76 00
Iron, ₩ lb.:
Hoop	3¾	5
Sheet	3¾	5
Horse Shoe	3¾	4¼

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Bricks, ₩ 1,000:
Lake	9 00	11 00
Country	— —	8 00
English fire	30 00	37 00
Lime, ₩ bbl.:
Western	— —	— —
Cement	2 00	2 25
Plaster Paris	2 25	2 50
Lumber, ₩ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	35 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	18 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	25 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00	16 00
Weatherboards, rough	— —	14 00
Scantling	14 00	18 00
Shingles, ₩ 1,000	2 50	3 50
Nails, best brands	3 20	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₩ box of 50 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	3 50
French, 10 by 12	3 75	4 00
French, 10 by 14 to 12 by 20	4 00	4 25
French, 14 by 18 to 18 by 20	4 25	4 75
White Lead, Dist., ₩ lb	10¾	12¾
Paris Green, ₩ lb	39	40
Pat. Dryer, ₩ lb	10	13
Whiting, ₩ lb	1¾	3
Putty, in bladders, ₩ lb	3	5
Linseed Oil, ₩ gal	70	80

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.

Size of lights.	Sash, per pair. Unglazed.	Glazed.	Blinds, per pair.
Window Sash, 12 lights:
8x10	35	$1 50	$1 50
10x12	55	1 70	2 00
10x16	80	2 75	2 50
Sash Doors:		Single.	Double.
3 feet x 7 feet		$3 00	$4 70
3 feet x 8 feet		4 00	— —
3 feet x 7 feet 6 inches		— —	3 80
Panel Doors:
2x8 and 1¾ inch thick		— —	$2 20
2x7 and 1¾ inch thick		— —	2 20
3x7 and 1¾ inch thick		— —	2 80
4x7—6 inch and 1¾ inch thick		— —	4 00

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₩ lb.:
Western	18	21
New York, good to creamy	25	27
Coffee, ₩ lb.:
Rio, fair	16	16¼
Rio, good	17	17¾
Rio, prime	17¾	18
Java, choice O. G	28	30
Candles, ₩ lb.:
Star, best brands	12	18
Corn Meal ₩ bbl:
Best, ₩ D	2 65	2 75
Cheese, ₩ lb.:
Factory	9¾	10
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	15¾
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in bbls	— —	23 00
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	— —	1 90
Sardines, quarter boxes	13	13¾
Flour, ₩ bbl.:
Superfine	3 25	3 50
XX	4 00	4 50
XXX	— —	— —
Choice XXX	5 00	5 75
Choice family	5 75	6 25
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₩ lb	3	4
Dried peaches, ₩ lb	— —	— —
Raisins, ₩ quarter box	50	55
Raisins, ₩ half box	— —	1 00
Raisins, ₩ whole box	1 80	1 85
Bananas, ₩ bunch	1 00	2 00
Crackers, ₩ lb.:
Soda	5	6
Butter	6	7
Sugar	7	9
Gingernuts	9	12½
Oil:
Coal, in cases, best	40	48
Coal, in barrels, best	30	35
Insurance, in cases	— —	40
Insurance, in barrels	— —	35
Lard, in barrels, best	70	80
Molasses, in barrels:
Common	32	35
Fair	35	38
Prime to choice	38	42
Golden and Roque's syrups	— —	— —
Half bbls. 5c. and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₩ lb.:
No. 2	4¾	5
Ordinary	6¾	6¾
Fair	6¾	7
Prime to choice	7¾	8
Soap, in boxes, ₩ lb.:
XXX Palm	6½	— —
Keller's magnolia	4½	— —
Keller's olive	5	— —
Starch, ₩ lb	3	3½
Salt, in sacks:
Fine	1 00	1 05
Coarse	85	90
Sugar:
Good fair	7¾	8
Prime	8	8½
Choice	8½	9
Yellow clarified	9	9¼
White clarified	9¾	9¾
Crushed	— —	— —
Powdered	— —	— —
Spices, ₩ lb.:
Allspice	10½	— —
Pepper	13½	14
Cloves	45	50
Cinnamon	— —	— —
Tea, ₩ lb:
Black Oolong	75	1 10
Green imperial	80	90
Tobacco, manufactured, ₩ lb.
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	— —	— —
Chewing, prime	— —	— —
Chewing, choice	65	70
Smoking	— —	— —

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₩ bushel:
Yellow	— —	— —
White	— —	56
Mixed	— —	50
Oats, ₩ bushel:
St. Louis	— —	— —
Texas	— —	— —
Galena	— —	42
Bran, choice, ₩ 100 lbs	— —	65
Hay, ₩ ton:
Prime	11 00	12 00
Ordinary	— —	— —
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	— —	— —
Mixed	40	65
Clay	75	1 50

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₩ lb.:
Breakfast	— —	8½
Shoulders	— —	6½
Sides, clear rib	— —	7½
Sides, clear	— —	7¾
Hams, sugar-cured	10	11½
Mess Pork, ₩ bbl	11 50	11 75
Dry Salted Meats:
Shoulders	5¾	6¾
Lard, ₩ lb.:
Choice, in kegs and pails	9	9¾
Choice, in tierces and barrels	9	9¾

ESCULENTS.

Potatoes, ₩ bbl	1 70	1 75
Onions, ₩ bbl	1 50	1 75
Apples, ₩ bbl	— —	— —
Cabbages, ₩ bu	— —	— —

WOOL.

Burry	9	19
Common clear	20	21
Last clear	23	23½

BALING STUFFS.

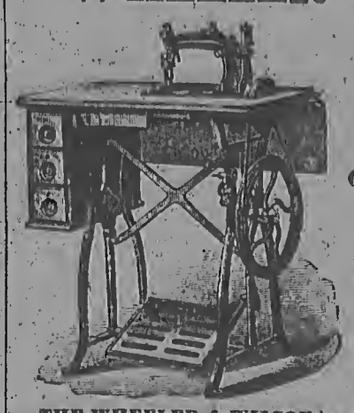
Bagging:
Cabin	— —	— —
Jute	11½	11¾
Ties, Arrow knot, per bundle, 8 lbs and buckles	— —	2 50
Twine, hemp	13½	14

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Poultry, per dozen
Old chickens	3 00	3 75
Young	2 00	2 50
Ducks	2 00	3 00
Geese	3 00	4 00
Turkeys	8 00	9 00
Eggs, per dozen
Western	8	12
Louisiana	25	29

SEWING MACHINES.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to	$60.
" 90 " " "	50.
" 85 " " "	45.
" 80 " " "	40.
" 75 " " "	35.
" 70 " " "	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self setting needle.
It never cuts the thread or goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no noisy cog wheels.
It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It allows the work to run back from the operator.

☞ Send for our New Cash Price List.
☞ CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.
M. A. PECK, Gen. Agent for La., Ala. and Miss.
OFFICE AND SALESROOM—103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. 8p

WE DO NOT WONDER.

We do not wonder that housewives who have been accustomed to use Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts should turn in disgust from the trash often sold under the name of Flavoring Extracts, which stuff smells and tastes like turpentine. Dr. Price's Flavoring Extracts have the taste and odor of the fresh fruits.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Farmers, Families and others can purchase my remedy, equal to Dr TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, for the cure of Cholera, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Croup, Colic and Sea-Sickness, taken internally (it is perfectly harmless; see oath accompanying each bottle), and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Pains in Limbs, Back and Chest. The VENETIAN LINIMENT was introduced in 1817, and no one who has used it but continues to do so, many stating if it was ten dollars a bottle they would not be without. Thousands of certificates can be seen at the depot, speaking of its wonderful curative properties. Sold by the druggists at 50 cents. Depot, 42 Murray street, New York. 8p

Religious Notices.

THE Wilkie Springs camp meeting, Perote circuit, Eufaula district, Alabama Conference, will commence on Friday night before the fourth Sunday in September, 1878. All are invited to attend.

12 JAMES L. MATHISON, P. C.

NOTICE.—All persons attending Mamre camp-meeting, on Randolph circuit, Prattville district, Alabama Conference, which will be held September 13-20, can procure round-trip tickets on the Selma, Rome and Dalton road at six cents per mile. Get off at Cox's station, in sight of the camp ground. All ministers will be cared for, and are invited to attend.

5 J. H. ANDERSON, P. C.

THE camp meeting at George's Bethel will embrace the second Sabbath in October—beginning October 11. Preachers will be met at Chunchula, on the Mobile and Ohio railroad, and conveyed to the camp ground. There will be arrangements made for the conveyance of other visitors from the railroad at moderate rates. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan. All preachers are invited, and ample accommodations will be provided for them.

19 G. M. ROPER, P. C.

THERE will be a camp meeting at China Grove, Perry county, Miss., beginning on the third of October next, known as the China Grove and Pearl River camp meeting. We have plenty of good water and camping ground, which we offer to the people free of charge, and cordially invite everybody to come, and prepare for their own accommodation; as it will be strictly self-sustaining. There will be a lot for horses, and a boarding tent for those who prefer paying the money, on very reasonable terms. Ministers of the gospel are earnestly requested to attend—for whom, with their families, accommodations will be made.

P. HOWARD,
15 I. W. COOPER.

THE annual camp meeting at Asbury camp ground will embrace the fourth Sabbath in October, commencing on Thursday night before. The above-named camp ground is located in the bounds of the Sepulga circuit, Prattville district, Alabama Conference. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan—that is, all are expected to provide their own bedding and lunch. Ministers and their families will be provided for. (15) ROBERT SMILEY, P. C.

THE Marvin chapel camp meeting will embrace the 4th Sunday in September, commencing on Friday night before. The camp ground is located nine miles from Brewton, M. and M. railroad, where ministers of the gospel will be met with conveyance to the camp ground. The meeting will be on the self-sustaining plan.

22 JOS. C. JOHNSON, P. C.

THE Clanton camp meeting will commence on Thursday night before the fourth Sunday in September. The camp ground is situated one mile southwest of Clanton station, South and North Alabama railroad. Ministers are especially invited to attend.

JOHN H. SIMPSON, P. C.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Jackson and Pinkston, at Jackson	Sept. 14, 15
Wilkinson at Midway	21, 22
Amite, at ———	28, 29
Buffalo, at Mount Carmel	Oct. 5, 6
East Fellciana, at Pine Grove	12, 13
East Baton Rouge, at Bethel	19, 20
Pickaw, at Pine Grove	26, 27
Winona	Nov. 2, 3
Woodville district and Conference	8, 10.
Clinton	16, 17
Magnolia, at Magnolia	23, 24
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	30, Dec. 1
St. Helena, at Greensburg	Dec. 7, 8

The District Conference in Woodville is postponed until November 9 and 10.

12 JAMES A. GODBEY, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Ridge and Forest Hill	Sept. 14, 15
Oak Hill	21, 22
Raymond	28, 29
Madison circuit	Oct. 5, 6
Shared circuit	12, 13
Camden circuit	19, 20
Brownsville circuit	26, 27
Jackson circuit	Nov. 2, 3
Yazoo circuit	9, 10
Tranquil circuit	16, 17
Silver Creek circuit	23, 24
Yazoo City station	30, Dec. 1
Canton station	Dec. 7, 8
Jackson station	14, 15

29 F. M. FEATHERSTON, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Port Gibson	Sept. 14, 15
Fayette, at Fairview	21, 22
Kingston	28, 29
Natchez	Oct. 5, 6
Rocky Springs, at Center Grove	12, 13
Cayuga, at Reeves' chapel	19, 20
Warren, at Beech Hall	26, 27
Dover, at Fletcher's chapel	Nov. 2, 3
Mount Olivet, at Mount Olivet	9, 10
Rolling Fork	16, 17
Clover Hill and Chestnut	23, 24
Vicksburg	30, Dec. 1

22 W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pleasant Valley and Zion Ct., at Zion	Sept. 21, 22
Georgetown circuit, at Bethesda	28, 29
Bethel circuit, at Franklin chapel	Oct. 5, 6
Brandywine circuit, at Rehoboth	12, 13
Beauregard circuit, at Hahalu	19, 20
Scotland circuit, at Caseyville	26, 27
Meadville circuit, at Nebo	Nov. 2, 3
Summit circuit, at Johnson Station	9, 10
Boguechitto circuit, at Boguechitto	16, 17
Brookhaven circuit, at Wesson	23, 24
Crystal Springs	30, Dec. 1
Hazlehurst	Dec. 8, 8

Reports for the year will be due at these Conferences from pastors, local preachers, trustees and stewards. Subscriptions received and forwarded to the ADVOCATE by the preacher in charge or the presiding elder.

5 W. E. M. LINFIELD, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meridian	Aug. 31, Sept. 1
Shubuta, at Quitman	Sept. 14, 15
Enterprise	21, 22
Wayne, at Union (camp meeting)	28, 29
Paulding, at Holland (camp meeting)	Oct. 5, 6
DeKalb, at New Hope (camp meeting)	12-14
Philadelphia, at Hester's	19, 20
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	26, 27
Lauderdale mission, at Spring Hill	Nov. 2, 3
Marion, at Marion	9, 10
McGowan, at Soule chapel	16, 17
Ellisville mission, at Hebron	23, 24
Enterprise circuit, at Chunky	30, Dec. 1
Spring Hill	Dec. 7, 8

22 JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Liberty, at Liberty chapel	Sept. 14, 15
Zilpha, at Wesley chapel	21, 22
Kosciusko, at Kosciusko	28, 29
Durant, at Center Grove	29, 30
Winona and Carrollton, at Carrollton	Oct. 5, 6
Walden, at Gerington	28, 29
Winona circuit, at Columbiana	Oct. 5, 6
Black Hawk, at Avoca	12, 13
Attala	19, 20
West station, at Emory	26, 27
Richmond	Nov. 2, 3
Hollowtailene	9, 10
Greenwood	16, 17

☞ K. A. JONES, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BUENA SALUD.

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia & all Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Coca leaf of Cuzco, Peruvian Coca, and is recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of this leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peru and Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

QUICHUA COCA CO.,

No. 72 William St., New York.

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO. 29 CAMP AND 118 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$16.00 will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerra (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	1 Meat Dish,
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes.

Stone China DINNER SETS, Stone China TEA SETS, Decorated CHAMBER SETS, Real French China DINNER SETS, Gold Band China TEA SETS, Table TUMBLERS, Table GOBLETS.

WRITE FOR PRICES.

8p W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTURERS' WAREHOUSE,

No. 91 John Street, New York,

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

THE MARVELOUS PEN! NO INK Required. Writes with Warren Pen of any color and holder, 10 cents. Agents wanted. J. L. GILLOTT, 116 Nassau street, New York. cow.

30 Mixed Cards, snow flake, Damask, etc., no 2 alike, with name, 10 cts. J. MINKLER & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWI MACHIN

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machi

The Singer Will Last a Lifet

The fact that the only Sewing Machine unscrupulous men have attempted to imi the Singer is sufficient evidence of its supe over all others. There is no longer any exc buying any of the cheap Machines hawked the country, with no claim for patronage b cheapness.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR.

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT T DEPO

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.25 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.25. Best at $1.50 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice $1.25.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground 25c. per lb.
CHOICE RIO, 30c.
CHOICE CORDOVA, 30c.
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA 40c.

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station Mobile or Jackson Railroad Rate of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remi should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

SILVER PLATED WARE WALTHAM WATCH

Gold Pens! POCKET KNIV

C. P. BARNES & BRO., Jewelers, 224 Main St., bet. Sixth and Seventh, Louisville, Ky.

C. P. BARNES & BRO., Gold Pen Makers, Main St., bet. Sixth and Seventh, Louisville, Ky.

$1.50 RAZOR FORKS AND SPOO

C. P. BARNES & BRO. 224 Main St. Louisville, Ky.

C. P. BARNES & BRO. 224 Main St. Louisville, Ky.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavorin Extrac

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these po are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce ter results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes and the Toothone, an exquisite Liquid Dentifrice

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST CEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinn

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Flash, Lewis & Co., John I. Adams & Co., Hartwell & hers, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK

BLANCHARD

FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 42 page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent postpaid, to any address.

THE BLANCHAR BLOOD AND NERVE FO

Or Tonic Extract of Whe

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, MI PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP PEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SCRO CATARRH, NEURALGIA, RHEU TISM AND LOSS OF VITAL EN The only reliable Remedy Invigo $1. PER BOTTLE, sent by Express your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free.

SAM'L E. MOORE, Agt., Cor. Canal and Royal Sts., New Orlea

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

ORIN NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES the only real imitation Gold Watches ever made latest improvements at the about 1/3 cost of beautiful Watch. Send direction and $2 for Watch Plating from $1 to $6. Jewelry of the same. Full METAL WATCH FACTORY, 305 Broadway N.Y.

WASHBURN'S

PHOTOGRAPHIC ART

GALLERY,

COR. CANAL ST. AND EXCHANGE PLACE.

☞ The handsomest place of the kind in the South.

A PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in a manner unequaled by any other establishment in this country.

Copying and enlarging of old Pictures a specialty. Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY.

25 Fancy Cards, with name, 10c. Plain or Gold; Agent's outfit, 10c. 50 Styles. HUB & Co., Hudson, N. Y.

18 ELEGANT New Style Chromo Cards, with name, 10c., postpaid. Geo. I. Reed & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples, worth $5, free. Address STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Are You Troubled With Rats and

EVERYBODY ANSWERS—YES!

Mitchell's Poisoned Wh

A NEW DISCOVERY! is the only reliable ely. Simply wheat in the whole grai dered powerfully poisonous to vermin really Nature's remedy for the complete ough extermination of rats, mice and ecto mals.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will s relieves you from tedious nowhere and dea peals. Price only 75 cents. Sold by all dru Principal depot for the United States at M. T. CREAMER & CO. Manufacturing Chem 91 Tchoupitoulas st.

Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON Magazine street.

OSCAR A. FOLSE, COMMISSION CHANT, and dealer in Western Produ bella consignments of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, toes, etc. 95 DECATUR ST. (Box 265) N leans, La.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1878. NO. 38.

BUSINESS CARDS.

S. G. GORDIN.
GORDIN & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS
AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.
Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed.... $4 00
Home-Made Shoes, screwed...$3 to $3 50
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in the city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

COAL ..... COAL ..... COAL
B. D. WOOD & BRO.
Corner Camp and Common Streets,
Opposite the City Hotel,
Wholesale and Retail dealers in all kinds of COAL, promptly delivered by hand-hod or boat on the most favorable terms. Coal shipped in casks or in bulk, at lowest market rates. Only trade supplied.

W. W. CARRE.
HORACE U. BEACH, Manager.
LUMBER YARD,
BIENVILLE ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Rough and Dressed Lumber of every description.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,
DEALERS IN
PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND
CANNEL COAL,
FOR FAMILY USE. Office No. 24 Carondelet, next Landing Old Levee, and at splendid wharf on the U.S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to plantation orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.
CHAS. D. LANGENBECKER, M. D.,
Successor to H. Stumpf,
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.
Dealer in the Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. H. HUSSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL,
Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,
No. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

JOHN FRANK & CO.,
IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS,
TOOLS, OILS, ETC.,
And manufacturers of Boot Quiller & Shoe Uppers,
No. 152 Poydras St., New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Lock Box 275.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Western Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CHASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Morgan, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

ESTABLISHED 1846.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soap.
Office 110 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.
Fine Toilet Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HEATH PIPPEY & LARA,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Brass Mouldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.
Frames made to order a specialty.
No. 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

ESTABLISHED IN 1825.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Poucher Sts.
T. W. HOTRICH,
UNDERTAKER,
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.
We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the very lowest prices.
Silver Watches at $10 and upward.
Gold Watches at $35 and upward.
All fully guaranteed.
A. B. CRISWOLD & CO.,
Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,
COLORED SATINS,
EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,
ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.
WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.
D. H. HOLMES,
135 CANAL AND 10 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
85 ST. CHARLES STREET 85
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN
OF ALL KINDS.
Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Anchor, wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. J. H. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of Improved artificial baits. Address Pantaline Rod Factory.

PIANOS.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the best and most satisfactory manner, at
Mr. Burchardi's Manufactory,
MAGAZINE STREET 038
Between Jackson and Josephine Sts. Up.

WHEELER & PIERSON (successors to Dibrey & Wheeler and Pierson & Howe), NOS. 18 & 20 CAMP ST., opposite the City Hotel.
CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS
FOR MEN AND BOYS.
We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. Wholesale department up stairs. 4p

EDUCATIONAL.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,
AT BATON ROUGE, LA.
THE next session of this school will begin on the first Wednesday in October, 1878.
This is a family boarding school for boys. The healthfulness of the location is unsurpassed. Instruction thorough in all that is necessary to prepare the student for any grade in college or any pursuit in life. Discipline paternal. The constant personal care of the principal is given to the health, morals and manners of the pupils.
For circulars, with necessary information, apply to W. H. N. MAHAFFEY, Baton Rouge, La.

GRENADA FEMALE COLLEGE,
GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI.
THE ensuing session will begin September 2, 1878. The president will be assisted by eight officers and teachers. The college edifice is one of the most costly and beautiful edifices and structures in the State, well equipped with furniture, library, philosophical apparatus, etc. The grounds extensive, and tastefully ornamented with shrubbery, trees, etc. Remote from all points; healthfulness unsurpassed, and the superior general economy of the room, safety and happiness of young ladies ordered, are a few of the advantages offering commend this institution to the patronage. For catalogue address REV. J. R. ARMSTRONG, A. M., President.

East Mississippi Female College,
MERIDIAN, MISS.
REV. J. W. JACKSON, A. M., President.
"I HAVE confidence in its moral basis, and I assure all having in view the future thoroughness in the departments of the [illegible]. D. D. McTyeire, D. D., Editor Nashville Christian Advocate.
"Few schools are better situated to offer as much for a low rate of tuition. Rev. J. [illegible], D. D., Editor New Orleans Christian Advocate.
"Southern Methodists need not go north for a school, as the president is now lining up. [illegible] A. M., Nashville Christian Advocate.
Correspondence in view of Spring term, circulars, etc.

CENTENARY COLLEGE
WILL resume its exercises on the first Monday in October, with a competent corps of professors. All branches of preparatory and ornamental schools and the Course of Study successfully taught. Position in regulatory schools, and high college Course. A Normal session of three weeks. Hilary Sept. 3. Steward, $11.25 per month, in private families at corresponding low rates. For particulars, $100 catalogue address
J. H. ANDREWS, President,
Jackson, La.

AUGUSTA FEMALE SEMINARY,
STAUNTON, VA.
THE forty-first session of this institution for young ladies in Staunton, with an able corps of twenty-five teachers, [illegible]. Opens Thursday, September 5th, 1878, and closes on the first Wednesday in June, 1879.
For catalogues, containing full particulars, address MARY J. BALDWIN, Principal and Proprietor, Staunton, Va.

Kenmore University High School
NEAR AMHERST C. H., VA.
THE Rev. [illegible], A. M., Princeton, N. J., Principal in Mathematics. H. [illegible], A. M., U. Va., Latin. [illegible], U. Va., Associate Instructor. Terms moderate, especially to the University of Virginia. For testimonials, terms, general circulars, etc., address as above.
TERMS FOR BOARD, TUITION, ROOM AND FUEL, $125. Seventh session began SEPTEMBER 12, 1878.

Memphis Conference Female Institute,
JACKSON, TENNESSEE.
Great Reduction in Charges.
THIS is the oldest Female College in the South-west. Favorably located, easy of access, and remarkable for its healthfulness. Thoroughly furnished throughout with modern improvements, and supplied with a large corps of competent teachers. Fall session begins [illegible] 9. Send for catalogue. Apply for catalogues or special information to the President,
Rev. J. JONES, Jackson, Tenn.

Millersburg Female College,
MILLERSBURG, KY.
WE appeal with confidence to all Southern people desiring for themselves and their daughters, to the Female College having the largest number of teachers, the most thorough course, the most beautiful location, the most home-like comforts, and the most reasonable prices to be found in the South.
GEORGE THOMAS D. D.,
Millersburg, Ky.

Alabama Conference Female College,
TUSKEGEE, ALABAMA.
THE next session of this institution will open on the [illegible] of September, 1878. For full information send for catalogue.
JOHN MASSEY, President.
Tuskegee, Ala.

Martha Washington College,
ABINGDON, VIRGINIA.
WARREN PRICE, LL. D., President. Rev. J. J. HISS, M. A., Secretary.
Full faculty. Thorough courses in Ancient and Modern Languages, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Mathematics and Natural Sciences. Instrumental and Vocal Music, and other branches. Building elegant. Campus one of the largest and finest in the country. Fare good. Prices liberal. Board, tuition, use of washing and fuel for forty weeks, $100. The session in Music $50.

RIWASSEE COLLEGE.
THE price and position of board and tuition compares favorably with other colleges, while the [illegible] of the college and the healthfulness of its surroundings render it in my judgment the very best and safest place for boys and young men, of a certain stage of culture, which exists in the Methodist Church South.
Rev. E. W. Hoss, A. M., of Nashville.
Address J. H. BRUNNER, D. D.,
Riwassee College, Tenn.

Centenary Female College,
SUMMERFIELD, ALA.
OPENS OCTOBER 3, 1878. Full corps of [illegible] teachers. Reduced rates to ministers' daughters of the South. Location remarkable for health. Instruction thorough. Discipline salutary. No better school can be found for really ambitious girls. For particulars address
A. H. McVOY, President.

GOODWYN'S EUREKA YEAST POWDER, as produced by this city, is both a positive [illegible] with the taste and the delight of all epicures of home cooking, and no wonder, for it is an article of the very highest order of merit. Send for circular and prices.
P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer,
No. 122 Tchoupitoulas St., New Orleans, La.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS
Are endorsed by the HIGHEST HONORS at ALL WORLD'S EXPOSITIONS FOR TWELVE YEARS, viz.: PARIS, 1867; VIENNA, 1873; SANTIAGO, 1875; PHILADELPHIA, 1876; two first Medals of Paris, 1878; and BRASS AWARDED to no other Organs. Only American Organs ever awarded highest honors at any such. Sold for cash or installments. Illustrated Catalogues and Circulars with new styles and prices, sent free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., BOSTON, NEW YORK or CHICAGO.

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS.
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Chimney Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns.
116 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

THE BETTER LAND.

"Sow on and [illegible]

Can heaven be better—we sometimes say,
In the crimson joys of the summer day?
Can heaven be better than these fair hours,
These shady bowers, and fragrant flowers,
And these broad fields where the glad larks sing
Their joyous praise to the mighty King?

Oh, no! in vain are the people's hopes,
For the corn is golden along the slopes;
There are miles by moss and fern made green,
And glades with flecks of light between
And leafy glens; and emerald trees—
No there surely sights in heaven than these!

The sun shines royally day by day,
The fleecy clouds are in his array
Smiles flash forth from the silver sea,
And the waves are making melody,
And from rocks and river-banks, and [illegible]
Songs of rapture all day long.

All things thrill me in the balmy air
As glad in the hours that God made for
The birds and insects are busy and gay
For they keep perpetual holiday.
All summer sounds have a ring of mirth
Can heaven be better than this bright earth?

Yes, earth is fair, and we thank our God!
For these cool, cool springs from the [illegible]
For the [illegible] and the [illegible]
For the holy day, and the [illegible]
But we thank Him more for a day to come
When we leave the earth for the heaven's home.

For if we listen, we hear deep sighs
Sobbing and breaking on [illegible]
Even in the [illegible] the shadows fall,
And [illegible] keeps many a heart in thrall
We know the burdens of sin and pain,
And are glad that we shall not [illegible]

[illegible]
And [illegible] on the shining strand
Nothing comes to us fragrant flowers,
No summer, shortened by fleeting hours;
A [illegible]
[illegible] a smiling shall [illegible]

London Christian World.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 21.—A dispatch from Milan, Tenn., reports a stampede on account of two deaths from fever. Dr. Boyd, wife and servant are down.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 21.—The board of health officially reports thirty-seven deaths from yellow fever for the twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock to-night. Of these thirteen were colored. While this is the official report, its correctness is doubted, as the names of one or two well-known citizens, who died last evening and who were buried to-day, do not appear among those interred.

CHATTANOOGA, Sept. 21.—One death and eight cases.

HICKMAN, Sept. 21.—Four deaths; three cases.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Dr. N. A. Lindsey arrived from Memphis Sunday. He has the fever.

CANTON, Sept. 21.—Total number of cases to date, 585; deaths, 95. New cases in the last twenty-four hours, 21; deaths 3.

FULTON, Sept. 21.—Three sisters, named Woodridge, got fever; it is supposed caught it from a passenger car from Memphis, left near their residence.

GRENADA, Sept. 21.—No deaths and but one new case in the past twenty-four hours. The fever is fully as malignant as it was one month ago; there is but very little material for it to feed upon.

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., Sept. 21.—Cannot yet report of new cases or deaths to-night. Col. Holland and other officials are too busy with the sick to make up a statement. Affairs are fearful here; fully five hundred down with fever.

FRANKLIN, La., Sept. 21.—The yellow fever has made its appearance at Riedner, formerly the plantation of Judge W. T. Palfrey, ten miles below here, and one mile above Weightman's Mound place; 5 cases and 2 deaths reported. Centreville and Franklin continue healthy; many families are leaving for the country.

HORN ISLAND, Sept. 21.—Three deaths last night, and no abatement of new cases. Whole families are down with the fever. The great firmness displayed by our population, which enables our sick to obtain prompt attention, has saved many lives. Between fifty and sixty deaths of yellow fever have occurred to date. The situation has been growing worse from day to day for the past week. Unless cold weather comes soon, we have much trouble ahead. One hundred and twenty-five new cases reported in the last three days.

CHARLESTON, Sept. 21.—Governor Hampton issued a proclamation to-day setting apart Friday, October 11, as a day of fasting, humiliation and prayer, in view of the great calamity which has befallen the people of the South.

Governor Hampton has addressed a letter to Gov. Rice of Massachusetts, in reply to the letter of the latter refusing to surrender Hiram H. Kimpton, whom Gov. Hampton demanded as a fugitive from justice. He says: "I regret that the chief executive of the great State of Massachusetts should have committed so flagrant a violation of the supreme law of the land. A violation irreparable in its nature, as the State suffering the [illegible] has no possible redress. Had you confined yourself to giving a simple refusal to surrender the fugitive, I should make no further comments upon your letter, as the disregard by the executive authority of one State concerns the whole people of the United States; but inasmuch as you have seen fit to base your action on the ground that in your judgment the object in procuring indictment against Patterson, Parker and Kimpton does not appear to be for the purpose of trying Kimpton for the crime charged against him, but for a different purpose. It is my duty as Governor of South Carolina to add that your statement is entirely unwarranted, and to repel the unworthy imputation, as I do, with indignant scorn."

VICKSBURG, Sept. 25.—Weather warm and clear; thermometer 91°. Twelve deaths reported to-day, seven whites, five colored; the whites were all children under eight years of age. The fever continues increasing throughout Warren county; new cases are heard of daily. At Bovina eighteen cases are reported; doctors, nurses and medicines have been sent there to-night.

The fever at Lake, Miss., is very malignant. More doctors and nurses will be sent there to-morrow from Vicksburg. At Lawrence, Miss., on the Mobile and Ohio Railroad, the fever is very bad. Doctors, nurses and medicines will also be sent there to-morrow. President Rockwood, of the Howard Association, is still alive to-night, but no hopes are entertained of his recovery. The steamer Kate Dickson, that left here Wednesday with doctors, nurses and supplies for Greenville, is reported aground fifty miles above here. The steamer Carrie Halgon has been sent to her relief.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 26.—From noon yesterday to noon to-day 43 deaths.

GRENADA, Sept. 26.—One death, but no new cases.

WATER VALLEY, Sept. 26.—Two new cases to-day. One death last night—a colored woman. The condition of three of the sick is regarded as critical.

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 26.—Cases of yellow fever, for twenty-four hours ending this morning at 9 o'clock: Number of deaths, none; number of new cases, 21; total number of deaths to date 46; total number of cases to date, 806.

VICKSBURG, Sept. 26.—Weather slightly cloudy all day. Thermometer 95°. Strong breeze to-night from the north, and much cooler. Deaths to-day 12, among them Alfred Reid, of Washington City; Stuart Roach, of Yazoo City, who came here three weeks ago and offered his services to the Howard Association. Wm. H. Rockwood, President of the Howard Association, died at 5 A. M. The deathbed scene was very touching. Many friends called to say farewell. Many houses throughout the city are draped in mourning. The funeral procession was very large, composed of all classes, regardless of color or religion.

FOREIGN.

ECUADOR, Sept. 21.—The volcano at Cotopaxi is again in eruption.

The cocoa crop is an entire failure.

ROME, Sept. 25.—The Pope on receiving a number of Piedmontese pilgrims, expressed his pleasure that the season for pilgrimages had returned, and that the first to arrive were the citizens of Italy, a country destined to preserve within its bosom the See Vicarage of Christ.

He said his efforts are making to root out faith, but the people of Italy would not allow it to be taken from them. He was confident that the Catholics of Italy would continue their allegiance to the church, the more because of the difficulties of the Pontiff's position are becoming more serious. Devoted sons of the church ought to devise some just and legitimate means for the amelioration of this situation.

From the Raleigh Christian Advocate we learn that Rev. Washington D. Macham of the North Carolina Conference died September 17.

On account of the epidemic the Camp Meeting at China Grove, Pike County, Miss., has been postponed from the 3d to the 31st of October, by order of the Association.

G. W. LEWIS,
September 21st, 1878. Secretary.

Wm. M. Rockwood, President of the Howard Association at Vicksburg, died September 26. He had been untiring in the performance of his arduous duties from the beginning of the epidemic, and only gave up when the fever prostrated him. He had endeared himself to all classes, and he will be long remembered as one of those heroic spirits whose examples have illuminated the dark and terrible scenes through which our country is now passing.

A correspondent of the Rural New Yorker writes: "I wish to warn dyspeptics against trying Dio Lewis' prescription to go without a supper—for a cure. I tried it for a short time, but long enough to prove to me that if I had to change my course at once I shouldn't be here now to tell the story. For the first few nights I dreamed the most horrible dreams that ever visited the tortured brain of one in the last stages of starvation. The last night of my trial I was awakened out of convulsions so strong that it was a long time before I could realize that I was ready to go back to my old custom of eating a light and early supper, which the following day I did, and have felt better ever since."

A man who owes more than he can pay is naturally more ose.

Forbidden Diversions.

Mr. Editor: Touching worldly and sinful amusements, the discipline of the Methodist E. Church, South, holds the following prohibition: "The taking such diversions as cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus." In defining forbidden diversions, Mr. John Wesley, in his sermon, "The More Excellent Way," enumerates, "horse-races," "theatre," "balls," "masquerades," "dancings," and "playing at cards," etc. Therefore the above general rule forbids and condemns horse-racing, theatre going, balls, masquerades, dancings and card-playing.

Concerning "popular diversions," the "Manual of the Discipline" holds the following: "Diversions that are innocent in themselves, may become harmful in their degree or associations; others are so essentially vicious, or inevitably prone to abuse, that, not temperance, but total abstinence, is the only safe rule concerning them."

In the "Pastoral Address of the Bishops, called for and indorsed by the General Conference, May 25, 1870," "a formal expression of the sense of the Church" is given upon "worldly and fashionable amusements." In this authoritative "expression" we read the following: "To the thoughtful, religious mind, the tendency of society in the direction of unrestrained indulgence in all forms of sensuous gratification is alarming." "But the law of gratification which rules the world, and offers the present and immediate, is, and ever must be, opposed to the unbending law of duty which conscience and God impose." "A religion of mere culture, of amiabilities and esthetic tastes, of sentiment, opinion and ceremony, may readily allow participation in 'diversions which cannot be used in the name of the Lord Jesus'—in dancing and reveling, in theatrical, and operatic, and circus exhibitions, in the gambling operations of the turf—not to mention the recently revived excitements of the cock-pit." Among other species of worldly amusement mentioned in this "formal expression" and forbidden by the General Conference, the above embraces dancing, reveling, theatrical, operatic and circus exhibitions, gambling on horse-racing and cock fighting.

All the above specifications, by Mr. Wesley and the "Pastoral Address," under the rule upon "diversions" are "actionable offences," and can be treated, in the administration of discipline, under the head of improprieties and imprudences." Manual of Discipline.

ARGUS DOWLING.

Clayton, Ala., Sept. 20, 1878.

Woman's Missionary Societies.

EUFAULA, ALA., Sept. 19, 1878.

Dear Doctor: I desire to call the attention of the Auxiliary Societies of the "Woman's Missionary Society," which have been formed in the bounds of the Alabama Conference, to the importance of organizing a "Conference Society" at the next session of our Conference, at Mobile. As is well known, the Conference Societies are important parts of this new organization in our churches; yet, if formed only by the plan as found in the constitution of the parent society, they cannot be fully organized until a year from next December. That constitution says the Conference Societies shall be composed of delegates elected at the annual meetings of Auxiliaries in April of each year. Now, why may not these Auxiliaries elect delegates now, and form Conference Societies at approaching sessions of the Conferences? It is simply impossible for the officers of the parent society to do all the work required of them in the absence of this connecting link between it and the Auxiliaries. These societies are being formed in every Conference, and all their correspondence must be directly with the Secretary and Treasurer of the society located at Nashville.

I have been looking for notice in THE ADVOCATE from Dr. Wilson on this subject, and hope yet to see one in time for perfecting the machinery of this noble Institute for the coming winter. The women, everywhere seem to take hold of this work with enthusiasm. There are now five societies in operation in the Eufaula District, and others will be formed. Please call attention to the subject.

Yours truly,
HENRY D. MOORE.

From Memphis.

The following letter from Rev. W. P. Barton of the North Mississippi Conference, gives a glimpse of the fearful scenes in that stricken city:

MEMPHIS, Sept. 17th, 1878.

Dear Doctor.—Out of this carnival of death, I send you the sad intelligence of Rev. D. R. S. Rosebrough's death, also, of Rev. Dr. Slater's, which occurred 9th inst., nearly at the same hour. Thus, quickly the Memphis Conference has lost two of her most valuable preachers, Rosebrough after an illness of 5 days, Dr. Slater of 36 hours. My attendance on Bro. Rosebrough prevented my seeing Dr. Slater. Our paper is suspended and I intended sending this sooner, but hearing of the illness of Brother R. W. Blew and family, I hastened to them to do all in my power for them; and here I have been four horrible days and nights that seem an age in the retrospect. I am walled in by this fearful pestilence, shut out of the real world into a realm of awful phantoms where hearses and wagons of coffins and hurrying doctors, and busy nurses, and sick people and dying groans, and solitary mourners or no mourners is life's business, and the end of all is at hand—in the five minutes I have been writing this, six coffins have passed.

Out of this scene of woe I carried our dear friend and brother R. W. Blew, alone with the hearse driver, to Old Fellows' Rest, in Elmwood Cemetery, on Sunday, 15th inst., and selected and marked a spot for his grave, placed his coffin under a Magnolia to wait its time of the grave diggers; and hastened back to the house of sorrow. At sun set, same evening, I sent little Robert's remains to rest by his father's; before dark same day I put Sister Blew in her coffin, and put Miss Willie's coffin on the gallery, before midnight she died. At dawn Monday, 16th, Miss Lilla expired. I got another coffin and with the hearses (a sad one train, if anything in a fast trot can be solemn,) myself the solitary mourner. I placed the three coffins under the beautiful Magnolia to await the grave diggers, and hastened back to the little orphans, the remnant of a very happy family a few days ago. The little ones were very sick; to-day are better though still in a critical condition. Poor little orphans! They are mine now. God has strangely given them to me and I feel a tender attachment to them. Bro. Blew, wife and three eldest children died in 26 hours—five in one family in less than a day. I kept each death so quiet in the house that neither knew an other's death. Is there surprise in Paradise? How consoling. Tears of joy have been shed by the friends at the touching scene of beauty, at the sudden reunion of so pure, so good, so lovely a family on the other shore, where sickness and sorrow, pain and death are felt and feared no more. No abatement of disease here. Yours in Christ,

W. P. BARTON.

Christianity in India.

Authentic proof is furnished that the gospel is making headway in India. A recent Madras paper says: "The report for the past year of the American Arcot Mission shows that Tinnevelly is not the only part of Southern India where considerable numbers of the lower castes are inclined to give up heathenism for Christianity. During the last year (we read) between 800 and 900 families, numbering about 4,000 souls, and residing in 40 different villages in North and South Arcot, have renounced their idols and formally accepted Christianity. The movement, although principally among the pariah caste, is by no means confined to them. Pastor John states that of the eighteen villages he has received; two are composed of caste people, one including the mongar and eleven families. These have broken the sacred thread from their bodies, taken off the bangles from their arms, and eaten with me." "In one village in Seattle Arcot seven families representing three different castes, together with eight families of pariahs, from a new congregation. Although there have been some accessions from caste people, the great majority, it is plain, have come from the intercaste pariahs, who are as a class the most ignorant and degraded of all sections of the population. The higher clinging aspects of Christianity, accordingly, which lay claims upon their conscience and their conduct, they are not in position to appreciate, but the beneficent side of it as bestowing not only future and as bestowing present temporal benefit, they can understand and yield themselves to. It is a common modern objection to Christianity that it sacrifices this present life to the future, and is more careful to secure salvation hereafter than to promote man's comfort and happiness here. This case can hardly be advanced in this way, as the very opposite is the fact, and more likely be brought forward. That these poverty stricken, degraded, and despised people are seeking something better, there can be no doubt, or that indirectly no social advantage is more prominent."

A Michigan woman had a cow under the hay to keep her out of sight of the tax collector, and a newspaper calls it a case of cow-hiding by a female.

A man may be a teetotaller, and yet partake of the spirit of the times.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. GIN.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. O. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

To Him that Overcometh.

All things are promised to him. Over and over again does the spirit utter the significant declaration, "to him that overcometh." To be overcome is to forfeit all things and to be lost forever. The Christian must be a sturdy soldier. He is in the midst of a hard battle. The warfare is waged by many and strong enemies. With him it is victory or death. It is to lose all or to gain all; to be an outcast or to wear a crown, to triumph over all opposers, or to be hurled from the high places of hope down into the depths of despair. It is his necessary training for the heavenly glory that he should have conflict and buffetings, and that every foot of ground should be contested. It is a wise ordination that believers must enter into the Kingdom through much tribulation. The robes are washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb, and yet perhaps they never would have been, if it were not also appointed to them to overcome through the blood of the Lamb.

Of what worth or stamina is the man who has had no obstacles to encounter in his youth, and whose brain and muscle have not had the hard discipline of effort? Even as a temporal school it is well for men that, weak, inexperienced and almost helpless, they are thrust out into the world to conquer a peace with nature, and to subdue all things unto themselves. The prizes are to him that overcometh. If we would have health, or live at all, we must overcome the dangers that beset our path. If we would prosper in business, we must vanquish obstacles that cross our path at almost every step. The men who have succeeded in commerce, literature, statesmanship and in all worthy callings, are the men who have overcome. They have fought hard battles, at great odds, and under heavy discouragements, and the goal has been reached not until they have vanquished a host of opposing foes.

It is so in the Christian life. God helps. If He did not there could be no hope, but with this help assured, and with the promise full before him, there remains this need of personal endeavor. There are various aspects and phases in the difficulties and opposition which must be encountered. The world is to be overcome. The love of it in ourselves, the enmity of it as ranged against all righteousness, its allurements as addressed to the lusts of the flesh, the lusts of the eye and the pride of life. The economy of temptation is a fact which belongs to our condition here. It could not well be otherwise; but it is permitted, and we must accept the gage of battle. The Captain of our salvation was subjected to it, "tempted in all points like as we are," and his followers must be placed in the same circumstances of trial. We are in the conflict and the way out of it is, not to retreat, but to go forward and gain the victory.

We emphasize personal endeavor. The word of exhortation is: "Save yourselves from this untoward generation;" "work out your own salvation with fear and trembling." Whilst God works in us, ours is not a state of quiescence or of passivity, but of the most earnest effort. Those troubles which arise from evil habits, the unruly tongue, the bad temper, the dominion of pride, the tyranny of the flesh will not go away of themselves. There must be a fierce encounter, self-crucifixion, watchfulness and wrestling prayer. God will do for us exceedingly abundantly, above all that we are able to ask or think, but the struggle with the soul will be to be willing to be made whole, and to submit to that absolute denial of self, without which the victory of faith is impossible. In every stage of the religious life there is need of this energetic and forceful effort. The beginner must strive to enter in at the straight gate, and in the maturest experience there is a pressing towards the mark. There remains something to be overcome as long as we are in a world of trial. So far, our pardon is assured; we have the witness in ourselves that the blood of Christ cleanses from all sin. Much has been overcome and yet we cannot relax our watchfulness, nor put off the armor for an instant.

Outwardly in the path of duty and usefulness the Christian has something to achieve. Do we commonly set before us something definite to do? or do we not too often content ourselves with the mere idea of living and of doing incidentally what may conveniently fall in our way? He who is set upon doing something real and tangible for Christ will find hinderances enough. They will be partly in himself, partly in his friends, and largely in the evil that he seeks to overcome. To bring about some definite good, to save souls, to help in the cause of Christ in a neighborhood or a community, are objects never to be achieved without downright pluck and hard work.

The Christian life that does not realize this active, aggressive character, and this constant battling for progress and usefulness is a dead and inane thing; it is, indeed, no life at all. It is the mere semblance without the vitality which belongs to every real Christian experience. The final award will be to him that overcometh. Not to him who drifted with the current, but to him who stemmed it. Not to him who lazily and languidly protested, but to him who took up arms against sin and fought to the end, and overcame.

The patent medicine men have done a thriving business here during the last two months. It is wonderful to note how many specifics there are for yellow fever, and how many infallible preventives. There are the liver pad, liver regulator, life tonic, various mineral waters, and many brands of bitters, and a hundred sorts of pills and cordials, all tried and known to never fail. Dr. Kibbee was sure that the water cure was the king; and he came with his fever cats, and died on one of them. With so many assured preventives and remedies, nobody ought to take yellow fever, and when taken no one ought to die of it. But thousands have fallen and many of the victims, if not all, have tried one nostrum or another. Money has been made, and lives have been lost by this easy credulity of people who are ready to catch at every kind of advertised quackery. So far as our observation goes those people have fared the best, and had the lightest cases, who let all nostrums alone. On the whole a good many people pass through a fever season without taking it, but but we doubt whether any have escaped by the use of these advertised preventives. We have heard of several cases where the patient's stomach was so disordered by these various patent and other preventives, that when the fever came upon them nothing could arrest it. It is better to give the regular doctor and nurse a chance by dismissing the idea that there is any preventive. There is but one ground of exemption, and that is having had the disease—a good well marked case of old fashioned yellow fever.

With only a half sheet to go on this week, we are compelled to drop a large part of our usual reading matter. The garment must be cut according to the cloth. The present number though dated September 19, is really issued September 28.

Bishop Keener was in the city this week, and left on Friday morning. He proposes entering Texas by way of Baltimore and New York. By the time he gets around, and passes through St. Louis, he thinks the Texas authorities may let him into their closely quarantined State, so that he will be able to meet the West Texas Conference at San Marcos October 16. The Bishop is in good health, had the fever thirty years ago, and has had his baggage carefully disinfected. The brethren need not be afraid of him.

Dr. Mimsey's sermons are now ready for the press and will be brought out sometime during the fall or winter.

We have but recently heard of the death of the venerable John H. Gay, of St. Louis. He had passed his four score years, and was ready and waiting for the change. He was a loyal Methodist, devoted to the church, and a ripe christian. Possessed of excellent business capacity, he had been eminently successful in secular pursuits, and leaves a name untarnished. He was buried on the 12th of September, seven days before his grandson, Edward J. Gay, Jr., was consigned to the tomb. Writing under the double sorrow, his son, Bro. Edward L. Gay, says: "On the 12th we buried our venerable and beloved father, having had the consolation of standing by his bedside and ministering in our poor way to his last hours. He passed away in the peaceful security consistent with his life, and when we realize that we have indeed lost his counsel, his influence, his living and blessed example, it seems hard to bear, for we had been habituated to look upon him as our rock of defence, his roof as our rallying point, a safe retreat where our sentiments, for love and good were renewed."

The fever in New Orleans is evidently abating. On Wednesday, the 25th Sept., there were thirty-six deaths for the twenty-four hours ending at 12 M. For the twenty-four hours ending at 12 M. Thursday, Sept. 26, there were forty-four deaths. The rise and decline of yellow fever epidemics in New Orleans have been tolerably uniform. It is probable that the present epidemic will come to an end by the 20th of October, and without much regard to frost, or the kind of weather we may have. The epidemic poison seems to expend itself in three months. In places where it has taken a late start its course will be shortened by lack of material, or by frost. In New Orleans it has generally ceased before frost, as in 1867, when there was no frost until the first morning of the New Year, 1868. At this time the weather is warm, but dry, and not as unfavorable as the wet weather which prevailed a week ago.

Rev. John Mathews, who was taken sick Sunday night, Sept. 15, had something of a backset on the 22, but he is now, Friday, Sept. 27, doing finely, and to all appearances in a sure way to rapid recovery.

Rev. J. M. Beard, pastor of M. E. Church, South, in Algiers Seventh District of New Orleans, was taken with the yellow fever on Wednesday, the 25th of September. At this writing, Friday 27, he is doing well; is being carefully nursed, and is attended by Dr. Riley. Bro. Beard has been abundant in labors during the epidemic. We hope that he may have a speedy convalescence.

From the Work.

ROBINSON SPRINGS CIRCUIT, ALABAMA CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: The Lord has been with us in our work and we have had good times. We have just closed a meeting at Cain's Chapel; it was like the early days of Methodism, every one shouting the praise of God. The church was much revived, eight accessions. We closed a short time before a meeting at Robinson Springs, where we had a gracious time, twenty-seven conversions, eighteen received into the church. There is a revival feeling showing itself all through the work. May God help us to gather the harvest.

We are praying for you; may God soon send relief to the sufferers.

Your Brother in Christ,
D. H. CARMICHAEL.

Robinson Springs, Sept. 20, 1878.

Mr. Editor: The camp meeting at Sims' Chapel, St. Stephen's Circuit, Alabama Conference, began on the 12th and closed on the 17th of September. The preaching was done by W. H. Wild, G. M. Roper, Joseph Hester, T. C. Bowling, J. P. Roberts and W. H. Morris. The Spirit of God was manifest at every service, indorsing His word by convicting sinners and converting penitents. Forty-six persons professed to have found peace with God through faith in our Lord Jesus Christ. Sixteen persons joined the Church. After the meeting was dismissed and the most of the people and all the preachers save one had dispersed a few of the tenters lingered on the ground, and they and the near neighbors came together and held another service, at which there were six more conversions and additions to the church, making in all fifty-two conversions and twenty-two additions.

W. H. MORRIS, P. C.

St. Stephens, Ala., Sept. 19, 1878.

SEA SHORE DISTRICT CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: The Sea Shore District Conference convened at Enon, Perry County, Miss., August 21. Rev. Thomas Price presiding. L. W. Cooper was elected Secretary. Attendance small owing, in part, to excitement caused by the yellow fever reports. Number of Sunday Schools has increased. The missionary spirit is alive. Spiritual condition much improved. Another camp ground established. Two new parsonages. Bro. Raynor and his kind charge took good care of the conference.

The religious services were protracted and eleven were added to the Church.

The following persons were elected delegates to the Missionary Annual Conference.

E. F. Griffin, J. P. Carter, D. Merchant, R. Buffington.

Alternates: I. M. Applewhite, Jasper Russ.

The next District Conference will be held in Pearlington.

INMAN W. COOPER, Secretary.

MT. CARMEL CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI ANNUAL CONFERENCE.—Mr. Editor: We have had four protracted meetings within the bounds of our circuit with very satisfactory results. There has been sixty-one accessions to the church during the year. The revival work on this circuit has been deep and permanent, and we believe will result in more lasting fruit. The great drawback to christianity in our country is its worldly minded professors. Once shorn of this incubus, our Zion would prosper as the rose. We need spiritual life not numerical power.

Yours in Christ,
G. W. BROWN, Pastor.

September 18, 1878.

Up and Pen in Hand.

Most thankful we are to the Father of all mercies for our brother's recovery. The following note from Bro. Galloway assures us that he is alive and surely getting well:

Dear Dr. Parker: Though reported by the press telegrams as having died from the plague in our city, I still live. Dear friends thought me dying several times but God has raised me up. I trust for more consecrated service and enlarged usefulness. I am convalescing very rapidly. Will be able to report for duty in a few days. Dr. Marshall has been constantly at work, doing much that devolved on me during my long illness. The fever is abating here, largely for want of material. Many of our best and most influential citizens have been stricken down. Such scenes of sorrow have rarely been witnessed. I will write you at length soon.

CHAS. B. GALLOWAY.

Vicksburg, Sept. 19, 1878.

Acknowledgments.

The donation of a "cheerful giver," is hereby acknowledged. The act is as considerate and as kindly done as it has been rare in our experience. From a friend and kinsman in Atchison, Kansas, J. W. Parker, we also received $100, which has been devoted to the benevolent purpose for which it was given.

Periodicals.

—Lippincott's Magazine for October has "Warwick and Coventry, illustrated; The Paris Exposition of 1878, two general exhibits illustrated; Unwritten Literature of the Caucasian Mountaineers; of Barbara Hicks; Communists and Capitalists, a sketch from life; Letters from Mauritius; An Adventure in Cyprus, and other articles.

—Scribner's Monthly for October, has its usual amount of fresh and entertaining matter, and is profusely illustrated. Of the more important articles are: Stuart School of New York, illustrated; Neophonography; Artemus Ward at Cleveland, illustrated; A trip with Lincoln, Chase and Stanton, Illustrated; A Company of Actors, illustrated; Recallings from a Public Life; Leo Marinus, the Sea King, illustrated; Socialism.

—Golden Hours, for October, abounds in beautiful illustrations and in attractive articles for the instruction and entertainment of the young people.

—International Exhibitions: Paris, Philadelphia, Vienna, New York: A. S. Barnes & Co., 1878. This is an octavo of 15 pages, in which we have an account of the Paris International Exhibition of 1878, by Charles Gindrez, architect; and of the Vienna and Centennial, by Prof. James M. Hart.

—Blackwood's Edinburg Magazine for September, American Edition, The Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York, has the following table of contents: The Liberal Party and the Church of Scotland; John Caldyate—Part 6; French Home Life—Second Series, No. 3—The Idea of Home; Gordon Baldwin—Conclusion; Cyprus, from the journal notes of Lady Franklin; Song of the Night; A Fetish City; Translations from Heine, by Theodore Martin; Lord Harlington's Resolutions, and the Position of the Opposition; Review of the Session.

—Wide Awake, for October, is as fresh and beautiful as ever. Our young folks at home are in ecstacies over its charming stories and delightful pictures.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

NANCY WATKINS, wife of James W. Swazey, was born January 7, 1827; was married April 21, 1845. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South when she was twenty-three years old. Died June 6, 1878, at her residence in Catahoula parish, Louisiana.

Honored, beloved and mourned by many kind and cherished friends, sister Swazey has passed away. She was one in whom the heart of her husband trusted; whose tender solicitude made the welfare of her children a crowning joy, and whose sympathetic nature and loving ministrations endeared her to relatives and friends, for her, death possessed no terrors. Lighted by love divine and led by grace, the taper of her faith burned brightly, and in its hallowed light she saw the coming change—the longing soul's welcome release from the shackles of mortality. Just a short time before she died she told her weeping children that she was dying, and that she was going to heaven, and with smiling lips she bade farewell to life, and entered with unshrinking steps the portals of that dread estate from whence to this sad earth there is no return. Her name will ever revive past fringes of pleasant scenes and happy hours.

W. N. [illegible].

FRANCIS RACHEL CHRISTIAN, departed this life to Pineville, La., on Monday, July 1, 1878, in the eighteenth year of her age. A darling daughter, a loving, tender sister, has been taken from the home, which, though she never connected herself with the church, was a girl of deep religious impressions. She loved the Church and Sunday School, and was regular and earnest in her attendance; she loved the songs of the Church, and in her last illness sang: "Beyond the Sweet." What shall the Harvest be? and so it did, often as she lay suffering in Sabbath School. She seemed to be aware of her approaching death. This was evidenced by her conversation, prayer and her songs, and one of her last requests to her brother was a motto in which the words, "sweet Rest in Heaven," was beautifully worked and framed by her hands. Rachel had a happy cheerful disposition, always looking on the bright side of every thing.

NELLE GAINES.

CLARISA GRACE CHRISTIAN was born in Bienville parish, La., February 19, 1857, and died near Pineville, July 20, 1878. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church South last fall and remained true to her vows until called to the Church above. She was devoted to her Sunday School and by gentle traits and genial spirit won the affection of all who knew her. The writer was her schoolmate and loved her dearly. I visited her during her illness. She bore her sufferings as well as could be expected of a child.

Grace was a true Christian, agreeable in all her manners, and was loved by all her associates. Though earth is poorer heaven is richer. Adieu, till we shall meet in heaven.

MISSOURI GAINES.

JENNIE HOMAN, died in Algiers, La., September 8th, 1878, aged four years and one month, youngest daughter of Louise and R. W. Homan. She has departed this life to return no more, and now sleeps in the arms of Jesus, as he said: "Suffer little children to come unto Me, and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

J. B.

LENNIE FRIDGE, son of A. B. and Lizzie Fridge, died near New Black Water Church, East Baton Rouge, on the twelfth of August, 1878. He was only three years and six months old. His time in this life was short, but we trust that his death may be sanctified to the good of those that are still waiting on the shore.

J. D. PRINCE.

MARVIN, son of DANIEL and MARTHA MORGAN, died on East Baton Rouge parish on the fourteenth day of August, 1878, aged nine months and thirteen days. May God sustain the dear parents, and may they have that faith which will lead them to say, "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, I bless be the name of the Lord."

DENNY T. DYER.

MRS. SARAH LECTITIA CURRY, daughter of Alfred and Lavica Lamar, was born in Spencer County, Indiana, Sept. 9, 1812, and died in Baton Rouge, La., August 18, 1878. She was married to Dr. B. M. Curry, November 1, 1832. In early girlhood she became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. She was very fond of church and Sabbath-school, and always lived a consistent Christian life. While in Grandview, Indiana, she was a most zealous and devoted Sunday-school teacher. On removing with her husband and children to Baton Rouge, her certificate of membership, her husband's and that of one son, were promptly deposited in the Methodist Church on March 10, 1878. Since that time, Sister Curry was as constant in her attendance at Divine service as her health would permit, and at home, as in society, was attentive to her religious duties, at all times maintaining a pure, Christian character. Taken sick during Tuesday night, almost from the first her mind wandered, and she lay unconscious to the last. She suffered a great deal of pain until just before her death, when it seemed to leave her; then, a most beautiful smile, noticed by all around her, lit up her countenance. Thus did this child of God die; with the light of the opening glory upon her she passed through the gate into the city.

J. T. S.

God often sees self when we see self sacrificed.—A Legacy.

Beside one deed of guilt how blessed is guiltless woe!—Byron.

MARRIED.

POTTER—HOWARD.—September 8, Rev. H. M. Moss, Mr. J. Kelley Potter, of Ala., to Miss Katie Howard, of Thomp[illegible] Ala.

BEGGS—SMITH.—September 18, 1878, by H. M. Moss, Mr. W. E. Beggs to Miss Bettie all of Butler, Ala.

BECK—KEEN.—September 4 at the re[illegible] of the bride's mother in New Orleans, by James A. Ivy, Mr. George Beck, Jr., to Harriet S. Keen.

REDDING—BOSS.—September 18, 18[illegible] Pleasant Hill, Ala., Rev. J. M. Cre[illegible] Lalan S. Redding to Miss Augusta Boss.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	BISHOP.
W. Virginia	[illegible]	Pierce
Denver	W. L. [illegible]	[illegible]
Western	Wyandotte	[illegible]
Missouri	Macon	Doggett
Illinois	Paris	Doggett
Kentucky	Shelby[illegible]	[illegible]
Memphis	Helena	Pierce
S. W. Missouri	Marion	[illegible]
Louisville	Cadiz	Kavanaugh
Columbia	Roseburg	Kavanaugh
Tennessee	Clarksville	Pierce
St. Louis	Charleston	Doggett
Indiana Miss.	Mus[illegible]	Doggett
West Texas	San Marcos	Pierce
Pacific	San Francisco	[illegible]
Holston	Knoxville	Kavanaugh
Arkansas	Russellville	Kavanaugh
N. W. Texas	Burton	Pierce
Los Angeles	Sacramento	[illegible]
White River	Searcy	McTyeire
Virginia	Petersburg	Pierce
Florida	Gainesville	Kavanaugh
Memphis	Paris	McTyeire
Germany Miss.	Industry	Keener
North Texas	Terrell	Keener
N. Carolina	Charlotte	Keener
N. Alabama	Athens	Kavanaugh
N. Mississippi	Macon	McTyeire
N. Georgia	Marietta	McTyeire
Little Rock	Hot Springs	Keener
Texas	Chapmanville	Keener
S. Carolina	Newberry	Kavanaugh
Alabama	Mobile	Kavanaugh
S. Georgia	Thomasville	Kavanaugh
Louisiana	New Orleans	Keener
East Texas	Tyler	Keener
Mississippi	Meridian	McTyeire
Baltimore	Salem	[illegible]

Publisher's Department.

FOUR PAGES.—We are compelled until the condition of our patrons to enable us to make the size of the paper [illegible] this will not be necessary in two or three weeks, and we propose to go up hereafter. Not more than a fifth, we suppose, are sent to the dead here, on account of [illegible] and a large number of those absent, from places [illegible] mitted, so that the loss to our patrons will be [illegible].

MADAME GRISWOLD'S [illegible] advertised in our columns [illegible] ing public for many years [illegible] pred by no one who has ever given the subject of [illegible] thought and labor and [illegible] dorsed by the public [illegible] that no woman in the [illegible] do without one and in fact [illegible] credited in this, the [illegible] them and fully investigate [illegible] virtues are now ready [illegible] sets are presented, and [illegible] for duty, authorized agents [illegible] or applications for [illegible] dressed to Madame [illegible] street, New York.

MASON & HAMLIN [illegible] Churches and private [illegible] purchasing organs should [illegible] vantages set forth in [illegible] organs before deciding. [illegible] Mason & Hamlin have [illegible] CASE, and will answer [illegible] gard to their organs.

PATENT COW MILKER. [illegible] friends in the country will [illegible] the advertisement on page [illegible] The cow milker is extensively [illegible] West and North, and gives [illegible] tion. Should it [illegible] the labor of milking [illegible] cheap.

ESSENCE OF MEATS.—We call the attention of our readers to Essences of Meats advertised in the London Manufacturing [illegible] York. The use of strong [illegible] ness is fast becoming [illegible] dest medicine chests [illegible] prepared foods are [illegible] desired. To assist [illegible] and resisting disease [illegible] ment to win life [illegible] in a simple form, and to [illegible] ly of meat nourishment [illegible] water has to be taken [illegible] which, with the proper [illegible] make the soup palatable [illegible] distress from stomach [illegible] by disease. The London [illegible] Essences entirely [illegible] taken direct from [illegible] cases are especially [illegible] nourishing, [illegible] to have been very [illegible] views of Cow [illegible] endorsed by the [illegible] American physicians, [illegible] hospitals, and [illegible] United States.

BRAIN WORKERS.

Clergymen, lawyers, physicians and all [illegible] the use of DR. PIERCE'S [illegible] fully refreshing. The [illegible] and applied in the [illegible] the sense of smell, [illegible] thing tending to vitiate [illegible]

BUSINESS NOTICES.

DR. WILLIOTT'S ANTI-PER[illegible] OR FEVER AND AGUE [illegible] has established itself as the [illegible] cure. It is universally acknowledged [illegible] liable and harmless. Cold [illegible] Its efficacy is confirmed by the [illegible] cases of the very best people [illegible] country. It cures more [illegible] cases of the lakes and [illegible] type, from the shaking [illegible] keys to the rag[illegible] lovers of the genial [illegible] it. It has never been known [illegible] EINLAY & CO., proprietors, New Orleans. [illegible] sale by all druggists.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMP[illegible] ION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only [illegible] tion that does not ruin the skin. Mother[illegible] or leave black spots in the pores. Mother[illegible] apply it to infants who become chafed [illegible] surely of unmeaning pedlers, [illegible] tions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by [illegible] gists, and at depot, 637 North Sixth street, [illegible] Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

QUEEN OF THE OVEN.

A biscuit made with Dr. P[illegible] Cream Baking Powder is certainly the [illegible] the oven. So light, white and enjoyable [illegible] breakfasting on biscuits made with Dr. [illegible] Cream Baking Powder, what more would [illegible] plate suicide, or grumble because life with [illegible] him for money?

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY O[illegible] sic. Largest in the world. Unsurpassed [illegible] 1867, 75 eminent professors. 115 lessons per [illegible] TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY

An Antidote for Malarious Miasmata, Swamp Poisons, Impure Water, Chills, Agues, Bad Blood, Dumb Chills or Cold Sensations, Fever—Internal or External, Inflammation, Sore Eyes, Inflammation, Rheumatism, it will Always Relieve and Cure.

Taking quinine for the feverishness of the body Tickles the Ears.

No other Medicine required, it is used alone.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will prevent any feverish poisonous Intermittent or Remittent that may exist in the system.

When you have a tea-spoonful it is taking medicine to every part of the body.

When you have chills the stomach fills with bile and other poisonous elements. In the effects and cause of chills and fever.

THE WHOLE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY

This new discovery, Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will cure any and all cases of Chills and Fever, Dumb Chills, or any Fever. Try it and be convinced. It is put up in Bottle, price [illegible] per bottle. For Circulars or Testimonials address the Proprietor, Dr. J. H. McLean, St. Louis, Mo., or inquire of your druggist for it. Sold by druggists all over the world at $1.00 per package.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,
[illegible] St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

A NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

In all THROAT and LUNG diseases,

Dr. J. H. McLean's

COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.

Take no more medicine down in the Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

This is a way of bringing the medicine in direct contact with the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, Lungs. Dr. J. H. McLean's Lung-healing Globules. They are a combination of oils, containing no drugs. As pills are to be dissolved in the stomach, they cannot reach the seat of disease. Globules, which penetrate to the Lungs, all cell in the Throat, the Bronchial Tubes, the Lungs, and the Chest, and are carried by the circulation to

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the recognized Standard Family Medicine of the UNITED STATES. Scarcely a family can be found, from MAINE to MEXICO that does not use them.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits.

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that result from MALARIAL POISON and a DERANGED LIVER such as Dyspepsia, Bilious and Typhoid Fevers, Colds, Colic, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhea, Nervousness, Dizziness, Depression of the Heart, Nursing Rheumatism, Kidney Diseases, Chronic Constipation, Piles, etc.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a

Dull pain in the Shoulder, Coated Tongue, Costive Bowels, Weight in the Stomach, Loathing, Sour Eructations, Aversion to Exertion of Body or Mind.

BE ADVISED, AND AT ONCE

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

The first dose produces an effect which often astonishes the sufferer, and in a short time Bilious an Appetite, Good Digestion.

SOLID FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE.

A Boston says they are the

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

DR. TUTT: I have used your Pills for Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never had anything to do me so much good in the way of, causing the bowels and liver to perform healthy functions. They are the best Pill in Existence, and I do all I can to recommend them to my friends with their good merits. J. W. ROBERTS, Dacota, Minn.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York. 49ly

DRY IN ROGERS' POWDER

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA

An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

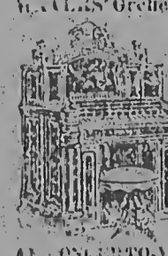
This well known preparation is highly recommended for Liver Pain, Headache, Sickness of the Stomach, Heartburn, and all complaints arising from Acidity, Bilious and Malarial Fevers. It purifies the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite medicine for children and is exactly mild and sweet tast. Looks it cooling and refreshing. Put up in 6 ounce bottles. Prepared by

A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists, N. Y.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

For sale by all New Orleans druggists. 8p

H. A. ELLIS' Orchestrion chimes OCCA



is the most beautiful in style and perfect in tune ever made. It has the celebrated Concerto stop, called the Human Voice, and two and a half Octaves of bells opened on a perfect harmonic with harmonics, & their effect magical & electrifying. WATERS' CLARIONA, ORGAN, SUPERB CONTINENTAL PIANOS, and COTTAGE ORGANS, a Unique French Case, are represented by the and Upright ARE THE BEST MADE. The Tone, Touch, Workmanship & Durability Unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for Cash, Monthly Installments received. A Liberal Discount to Teachers, Ministers, Schools, etc. AGENTS WANTED. Special Inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments at Great Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers & Dealers, 40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK, Box, 3567.

WATERS' PIANOS,

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our fall Stock of these goods (expectedly delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection. The Breech-Loading Stock forms about our assortment in store comprises upward of 90 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded lower than ever before, owing to present low rate of Gold and sterling exchange, while all our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves, whether you wish to buy now or not. FOLSOM BROS.,

8 Decatur (Old Levee) St., opp. Postoffice. Guns, Rifles and Ammunition at wholesale and retail. 8

W. C. TOOMER,

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE—48 Carondelet St., Cor. Union,

NEW ORLEANS

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made in this market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in this city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Steckton Cypress Mills. Lumber for Plantation use filled to order

THE NICHOLLS

TEMPERANCE LUNCH-HOUSE

56 AND 58 CAMP STREET

PURE MILKS,

FROZEN BUTTERMILK,

ICE CREAM,

CREAM CHEESE,

FRUITS IN THEIR SEASON.

Straight's Creamery Butter received weekly.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS

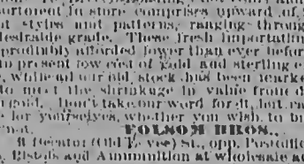
LADIES', GENT'S, MISSES AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of best class goods at prices which defy competition. Call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere. MY MOTTO: "Quick Sales and Small Profits." Jackson Railroaders pass in front of the store. 8

R. B. MITCHELL,



Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

188 MAGAZINE ST., near Felicity, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to. 8

ICE! ICE! ICE!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

FAMILIES SUPPLIED AT LIBERAL RATES.

ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

WILLIAM MYERS,

NINTH STREET, between Magazine and Constance Sts., opposite the Market.

GOLD! Any worker can make $12 a day at home. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. CHAS. E. HELLS & DR. H. VIET,

DENTISTS,

12.....DAUPHINE STREET.....12

One door from Canal, New Orleans.

Dentistry in all its branches. Irregularities of the teeth corrected. Artificial Palates with the latest improvements. Teeth extracted without pain under the influence of Nitrous Oxide Gas. Established in 1859.

C. L. HILLGER,

ARCHITECT

31.....CARONDELET ST.....31

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

DR. C. O. LUNGENBECKER,

RESIDENCE,

Corner First and Chippewa Streets,

NEW ORLEANS.

Office Consultations—Between 7 and 10 A. M., and 1 and 6 P. M. now

MEDICAL.

The Most Refreshing Toilet Article.

CASSEBEER'S

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

(EAU DE QUININE)

WILL preserve, cultivate, beautify, arrest the fall of, and confer a silken softness to the Hair, and will not soil the most delicate Fabric. Price, ¢.

Cassebeer's Ammonia Lozenges.

For mitigating coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, dry thread, etc., and invaluable expectoration. Price, 25 cents, sent by mail.

Both excellent preparations are for sale by all druggists, and by the proprietor, H. A. CASSEBEER, Apothecary, 53 Fourth avenue and 85 Sixth avenue, New York.

Jenkin's ANNIHILATOR

The Great Southern Remedy for

RHEUMATISM GOUT and NEURALGIA

IS PURELY VEGETABLE, and can be taken without fear of any injurious result by the delicate as well as the robust in constitution. It purifies the Blood, stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and eradicates every vestige of the above diseases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. Pamphlets, containing testimonials and valuable advice, sent free to any address.

N. JENKINS & CO., Proprietors,

New Orleans, La.

FINLAY & THOMPSON, Wholesale Druggists, General Agents, New Orleans, La

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases, by a true process of re-vitalization, REMARKABLE CURES in Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, and the large class of ailments with Indigestion or nervous depression.

LOSS OF VITALITY for Chronic Forms of constitutional disease, exposure to miasm, the enervating effects of climate, and especially to the depressing influences of the sexual function which attends consumption, and which dooms 80 cases in 100 to permanent invalidism.

STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. JUDGE KELLEY, T. S. ARTHUR, Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Envoy BOREMAN of West Virginia, and others who have used the New Treatment.

FREE! A Treatise (200 pages) on COMPOUND OXYGEN, with many testimonials to many remarkable cures, sent free. Address Drs. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard Sts., Philada.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 908 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses 10 days' trial; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. J. H. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKellops and Eaton, leading dentists, of St. Louis; James Lupe; M. A. Wolff; Frank Shapleigh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. B. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Sheckle, Agt. N. W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Bentley, Agt. Ill. C. R. R.; Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; L. Billon, Wiggler Ferry Co; Capt. Jerry Wood, steamer Minneapolis, and others.

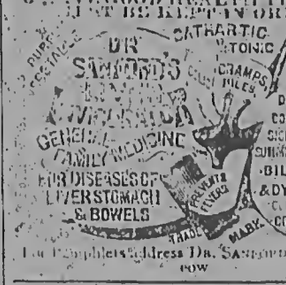
ANGELL'S

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,

CANAL STREET, near Chartres, South Side, New Orleans, La.

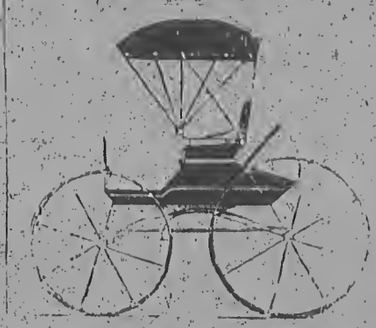
Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

GOOD HEALTH THE LIVER MUST BE KEPT IN ORDER.



La Pamphlets address DR. SANFORD, New York. now

MISCELLANEOUS.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERTSON.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

102 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS

CARRIAGE, WAGON

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

AND

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,

All at Reasonable Prices.

68 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.,

Between Common and Gravier,

NEW ORLEANS.

CEO. PURVES'

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

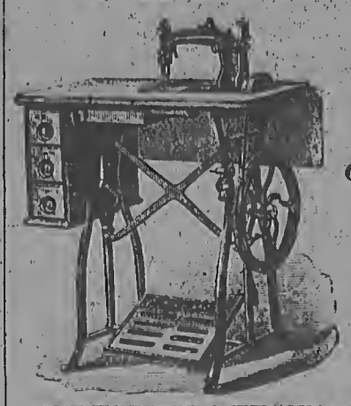
LUMBER YARD

Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SEWING MACHINES.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to		$60.
...	90 ...	50.
...	85 ...	45.
...	80 ...	40.
...	75 ...	35.
...	70 ...	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,500 000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self setting needle. It has no noisy cog wheels.
It never cuts the thread or goods. It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It is a new machine, with straight needle. It allows the work to run back from the operator.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.

Send for our New Cash Price List.

CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

M. A. PECK, Gen. Agent for La., Ala. and Miss

OFFICE AND SALESROOM—103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. 8p

WE DO NOT WONDER.

We do not wonder that housewives who have been accustomed to use Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts should turn in disgust from the trash often sold under the name of Flavoring Extracts, which stall smells and tastes like turpentine. Dr. Price's Flavoring Extracts have the taste and odor of the fresh fruits.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Farmers, Families and others can purchase no remedy equal to Dr. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, for the cure of Cholera, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Croup, Colic and Sore Throat, (taken internally it is perfectly harmless). Sold (with accompanying each bottle) and externally, for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Pains in Limbs, Back and Chest. The VENETIAN LINIMENT was introduced in 1847, and no one who has used it but continues to do so, many stating, if it was ten dollars a bottle they would not be without it. Thousands of certificates can be seen at the depot, speaking of its wonderful curative properties. Sold by the druggist at 10 cents. Depot, 12 Murray street New York. 8p

Religious Notices.

THE Wilkie Springs camp meeting, Perote circuit, Efaula district Alabama Conference, will commence on Friday night before the fourth Sunday in September, 1875. All are invited to attend.

12. JAMES L. MATHISON, P. C.

NOTICE.—All persons attending Manire camp meeting, on Randolph circuit, Prattville district, Alabama Conference, which will be held September 13-20, can procure round-trip tickets on the Selma, Rome and Dalton road at six cents per mile. Get off at Cox's station; the sight of the camp ground. All ministers will be cared for, and are invited to attend.

5 J. B. ANDERSON, P. C.

THE camp meeting at George's Bethel will embrace the second Sabbath in October—beginning October 11. Preachers will be met at Chunchula, on the Mobile and Ohio railroad, and conveyed to the camp ground. There will be arrangements made for the conveyance of other visitors from the railroad at moderate rates. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan. All preachers are invited, and reciprocal accommodations will be provided for them.

29 G. M. ROPER, P. C.

THERE will be a camp meeting at China Grove, Pike county, Miss., beginning on the third of October next, known as the China Grove and Pearl River camp meeting. We have plenty of good water and camping ground, which we offer to the public free of charge and cordially invite everybody to come and prepare for them own accommodation as it will be strictly self-sustaining. There will be a lot for horses, and a boarding tent, for those who prefer paying the money, on very reasonable terms. Ministers of the gospel are earnestly requested to attend—for whom, with their families, accommodations will be made.

P. HOWARD,
I. W. CARTER.

THE Simmons camp meeting at Asbury camp ground will embrace the fourth Sabbath in October, commencing on Thursday night before. The above-named camp ground is located in the bounds of the Pequiga circuit, Prattville district, Alabama Conference. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan—that is, all are expected to provide their own lodging and board. Ministers and their families will be provided for.

ROBERT SMILIE, P. C.

THE Marvin chapel camp meeting will embrace the fifth Sunday in September, commencing on Friday night before. The camp ground is located nine miles from Brewton, M. and M. railroad, where ministers of the gospel will be met with conveyance to the camp ground. The meeting will be on the self-sustaining plan.

JAS. C. JOHNSON, P. C.

THE Clanton camp meeting will commence on Thursday night before the fourth Sunday in September. The camp ground is situated one mile southwest of Clanton station, South and North Alabama railroad. Ministers are especially invited to attend.

JOHN D. SIMPSON, P. C.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Jackson and Plains, at Jackson	Sept. 18-19
Wilkinson and Midway	25-26
Amite, at Salem	30, Oct. 3
Bellvue, at Mount Carmel	Oct. 6, 7
East Feliciana, at Pine Grove	13, 14
East Baton Rouge, at Bethel	16, 17
Tickfaw, at Pine Grove	20, 21
Wilmot	Nov. 1, 2
Woodville (District and Quarterly Conference)	8-10
Clinton	26, 27
Magnolia, at Magnolia	29, 31
Bayou Sara, at City on Sara	31, Dec. 1
St. Helena, at Greensboro	Dec. 4, 5

The District Conference in Woodville to be postponed until November's Quarter.

12 JAMES A. HOUSEPIAN, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Ridge and Forest Hill	Sept. 11, 12
Oak Mill	18, 19
Raymond	25, 26
Madison Circuit	Oct. 2, 3
Sharon circuit	9, 10
Camden circuit	16, 17
Brownsville circuit	23, 24
Jackson circuit	Nov. 2, 3
Yazoo circuit	6, 7
Triumph circuit	13, 14
Silver Creek circuit	20, 21
Yazoo City station	27, 28
Carrollton station	Dec. 4, 5
Jackson station	11, 12

E. M. PEARCE, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Port Gibson	Sept. 11, 12
Fayette and Rodney	21, 22
Kings	28, 29
Natchez	Oct. 5, 6
Rocky Springs, at Center Grove	12, 13
Vicksburg, at Grace Church	19, 20
Warren, at Cochrane's	26, 27
Davis's at Fayette's charge	Nov. 2, 3
Mound Chapel, at Mound Chapel	9, 10
Rolling Fork	16, 17
Clover Hill and Leonard	23, 24
Vicksburg	30, Dec. 1

W. L. C. HUNNICUTT, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pleasant Valley and Zion Ct., at Zion	Sept. 21, 22
Georgetown circuit, at Bethesda	25, 26
Bethel circuit, at Franklin chapel	Oct. 2, 3
Brandywine circuit, at Rehoboth	12, 13
Beauregard circuit, at Ilahala	19, 20
Scotland circuit, at Caseyville	26, 27
Meadville circuit, at Nebo	Nov. 2, 3
Summit circuit, at Johnson Station	9, 10
Boguechitto circuit, at Boguechitto	16, 17
Brookhaven circuit, at Wesson	23, 24
Crystal Springs	30, Dec. 1
Hazlehurst	Dec. 8, 9

Reports for the year will be due at these Conferences from pastors, local preachers, trustees and stewards. Subscriptions received and forwarded to the ADVOCATE by the preacher in charge or the presiding elder.

5 W. E. M. LINFIELD, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meridian	Aug. 31, Sept. 1
Shubuta, at Quitman	Sept. 11, 12
Enterprise	21, 22
Wayne, at Union (camp meeting)	28, 29
Paulding, at Hartland (camp meeting)	Oct. 5, 6
DeKalb, at New Hope (camp meeting)	12, 11
Philadelphia, at Hester's	19, 20
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	26, 27
Lauderdale mission, at Spring Hill	Nov. 2, 3
Marion, at Marion	9, 10
McGowan, at Collie chapel	16, 17
Electville mission, at Hebron	23, 24
Enon price circuit, at Chunky	30, Dec. 1
Spring Hill	Dec. 7, 8

22 JOHN ARELLS, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WINONA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Liberty, at Liberty chapel	Sept. 7
Zilpha, at Wesley chapel	11, 12
Kosciusko, at Kosciusko	20
Durant, at Center Grove	21, 22
Winona and Carrollton, at Carrollton	25, 27
Vaiden, at Gerlington	28, 29
Winona circuit, at Columbiana	Oct. 5, 6
Black Hawk, at Acona	12, 13
Attala	19, 20
West station, at Emory	26, 27
Richland	Nov. 2, 3
Hohenlinden	9, 10
Greenwood	16, 17

24 R. A. JONES, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BUENA SALUD.

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia and Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Cuca leaf (Erythroxylon coca), and is recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of this leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peru and Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

QUICHUA COCA CO.,

No. 72 William St., New York.

8p

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

NO. 29 CAMP AND 16 COMMON STS.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15 will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces, to wit:

12 Dinner Plates	1 Soup Tureen
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	4 Meat Dishes,
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes.

Stone China DINNER SETS

Stone China TEA SETS

Decorated CHAMBER SETS

Real French China DINNER SETS

Gold Band China TEA SETS

Table TUMBLERS

Table BOWLS, etc.

WRITE FOR PRICES

8p W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS

MANUFACTORY: Graham Works,

No. 91 John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS

OSCAR A. FOLSE, COMMISSION MERCHANT, and dealer in Western Produce, Sole Agent for consignments of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Potatoes, etc. 95 BEAUPRE ST. (Office 28s.) New Orleans, La. 8p

30 Mixed Cards, Snowflake, Damask, etc., no 2 alike, with name, 10 cts. J. MINKLER & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Great Reduction in the Prices

OF THE

WORLD-RENOWNED SINGER FAMILY SEWING MACHINES

BEWARE OF

Worthless Imitation Machines

The Singer Will Last a Lifetime

The fact that the only Sewing Machines unscrupulous men have attempted to imitate the Singer is sufficient evidence of its superiority over all others. There is no longer any excuse for buying any of the cheap Machines hawked about the country, with no claim for patronage but cheapness.

SEND FOR CIRCULAR

ADDRESS

THE SINGER MANUFACTURING CO.,

No. 85 Canal Street, New Orleans, La.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT DEPOT

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at 1 per lb.

ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—40c., 45c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.5 per lb.

IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.25. Best at $1.5 per lb.

MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice $1.25.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe Flowery Pekoe, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground	25 per lb.
CHOICE RIO,	1c. "
CHOICE CORDOVA	30c. "
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA	40c. "

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station, Mobile or Jackson Railroad Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

London M'f'g Co.'s Essence of Meat

ESSENCE OF BEEF, MUTTON, CHICKEN.

For Invalids, Children and persons of delicate Health

Particularly adapted for YELLOW FEVER convalescents.

BEST THING KNOWN for CHILDREN'S COMPLAINTS. IN CASES OF SEA SICKNESS—Affords immediate relief. FOR INVALIDS—Natural, Pleasant, Refreshing, Nourishment. FOR DISPEPTICS—Readily Assimilated. AFTER CHILD-BIRTH—Most Strengthening. FOR TRAVELERS—Very Convenient. Retains the Nutrition in Concentrated Form.

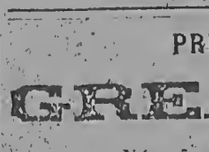
One flavor and one pound to the ounce.

Where even the weakest Stomach will digest Beef or Soup, this will not. Taken cold from the can needing no preparation whatever. Entirely takes the place of Beef Tea.

Prepared only by the LONDON MANUFACTURING CO.

77 & 79 VARICK STREET, NEW YORK.

For Sale by I. L. LYONS, New Orleans, La.

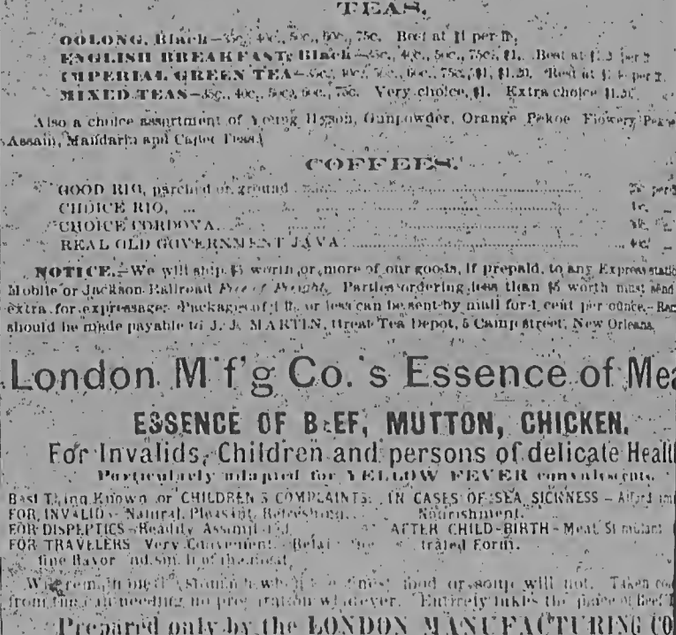


The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Man'f'g

Every one who owns a cow should have one, or be under obligation to some neighbor who has. Send for Illustrated Pamphlet containing full description, also, Certificates from parties in different parts of the country, who have used them for years, and can testify to their superiority over all other methods of milking cows. Address and make all orders payable to

GEO. E. KING, Pres't.

Office, 57 Broadway, New York.



SOLID GOLD RINGS.

Our New Illustrated Circular, containing sizes and prices of Rings, Studs, Sleeve Buttons, Lockets, Charms, Crosses, Ear Drops, Pins, Bracelets, Lockets, Sleeve Buttons, Amethyst, Garnet, Opal, Coral, Pearl and Diamond Gold Set Rings, with Hair Jewelry, sent free by mail to any address. We are the largest manufacturers of Rings in the country, and can guarantee to give satisfaction in every case. Rings can be sent safely by mail.

BALLOU & BRO., Goldsmiths, 224 Main and 223 Fourth Sts., Louisville, Ky.

EVERY RING WARRANTED.

MAGIC INK PAPER!!

INSTANTLY PRODUCES FIVE COLORS OF INK

Will make HALF a GALLON of the best Writing Fluid; and can be used a dozen times before it becomes too thick. Unequaled for Permanent, Draughtsman's, Engravers, Manifolding or Stencil Ink. Unequaled for Pen and Pencil.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1878. NO. 39.

"HOW MUCH OWEST THOU MY LORD"

How much?—alas, if I could tell,
I feel that I have hope to dwell in;
But still the numbers swell and swell,
The more my debt is infinite.

I owe first for my very breath,
My life from His own life distilled;
For all His boundless promise saith,
As well as for His word fulfilled.

O every day that gilds my path,
O every hope that glads my way,
Still on its gracious author hath
My Lord—and I have nought to pay.

Even the sure way that He sends
Ready'm his love and the som fair
With it, so dis gus and wholesome ends—
Whose harvest wills me otherwhere.

O less grace—too often met
With doubt and coldness, who to me
Am hopeless to discharge my debt,
Have mercy, "is my only plea.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 28.—The Ohio Methodist Episcopal Conference adopted the report of the committee dismissing Rev. F. A. Spencer from the ministry, for immoral conduct, and Rev. J. K. Davis for unministerial conduct. Notice for an appeal in the Spencer case was filed.

MOBILE, Sept. 25.—Quarantine restrictions of Montgomery on passengers and freight from Mobile do not apply to the mails from Mobile or the passengers and freight coming to Mobile.

RICHMOND, IND., Sept. 26.—Thirty thousand people attended divine service at the Indiana yearly meeting of the Orthodox Society of Friends in this city to-day. Several prominent English ministers were present.

VICKSBURG, Sept. 27.—The weather is clear and warm; thermometer 86. The fever continues increasing at points on the river above here, and at Bovina and other places in the country. Delhi, La., reports nine new cases to-day, and thirteen cases now under treatment. One hundred and thirty cases in all, and twenty-three deaths; majority of cases confined to blacks.

The Howard Association of Vicksburg are making every exertion to aid the sick in the surrounding country. They sent out the steamer Kate Dickson last night with supplies, nurses and doctors for points on the river above.

There were nine deaths here to-day. We hear of new cases occasionally but it is mostly among refugees who have returned from the country.

Five cases of yellow fever are reported at Jackson, Miss., and one death last night and one to-day.

GREENVILLE, Sept. 27.—There have been two hundred and forty-three deaths to date. The fever is abating. Five new cases to-day, and six deaths since yesterday.

CHATTANOOGA, Sept. 28.—Three deaths for twenty-four hours ending 6 p. m.—Four new cases.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 27.—Twenty-eight deaths from yellow fever have occurred during the past twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock to-night.

GRENADA, Miss., Sept. 29.—The Howards left here this evening for Memphis; no deaths and no new cases in the past twenty-four hours.

WATER VALLEY, Miss., Sept. 27.—Three deaths and five new cases. One operator down.

CANTON, Miss., Sept. 30.—Total number of cases to date, six hundred and fifty-six; deaths, one hundred; new cases in the last twenty-four hours, thirty-three; deaths, three. No abatement in the fever. There are some two hundred and fifty more persons here liable to the disease.

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 30.—For the forty-eight hours ending this morning at nine o'clock, the number of deaths were five, number of new cases 1.3; total number of deaths to date, 51; total number of cases to date, 131.

HOLLY SPRINGS, Sept. 30.—Weather clear. Eleven deaths and twenty-three new cases.

Alabama Conference Female College.

TUSKEGEE, ALA., Sept. 25, 1878.

EDITOR ADVOCATE: The Fall Session of the Alabama Conference Female College opened on Monday, 23d inst., under favorable auspices. The President and teachers are at their posts and hard at work. The fall patronage is better than ever before; while the number of boarders is now equal to the maximum number of last term, with a prospect of new arrivals for many weeks.

President Massey deserves success, is succeeding and will succeed more and more, as he becomes more widely known.

Tuskegee is noted for its healthfulness; the college building is one of the best in the State; the Faculty, in my judgment, unsurpassed in the South. The Alabama Conference ought to send at least one hundred girls to this, her own Institution. She can and must. Let all the preachers work to this end and it will soon be done.

I would like to say much more but will not trespass on your columns.

Yours, &c.,

E. L. LOVELESS.

No Sabbaths.

Bishop Wightman writing from Denver, Colorado, August 30, contributes an interesting letter to Mr. Coleman of the Southern Christian Advocate. It comes in his way to give our city a word of admonition. He says:

To what size one of these Western cities that is, indeed, a railroad and river centre in this New West, may grow in the next half century, may well baffle conjecture. And what with the natural growth of population and the inflow of foreigners; the universal cultivation of the magnificent prairies, with soil inexhaustible; the indefinite multiplication of the means of material and mental gratification; the gradual, possible wearing away in the popular mind of the old restraints of moral and religious ideas of obligation; with no Sabbaths for the masses beyond the gala-days of recreation and sports of drinking, dancing and the like; the mind may well pause when thoughts of this sort pass before its glance. Even now, what are the facts? Just as Sunday or two before the yellow fever made its appearance in New Orleans, six thousand people went to Lake Pontchartrain, on pleasure excursions. Saturday pleasure excursions are advertised for the papers and placarded on the fences of the streets, in how many American cities? Where there is no Sunday for the worship of God, there can be little or no sense of religious obligation. When the belief of religious obligation is swept from the popular mind by sensuous gratification, pantheism, disbelief, then moral obligation sinks to its speedy fall. How easy then for labor to look on capital with jaundiced, evil and watchful eye. How easy for Communism to gather up its sturdy, unwashed hosts. Then they fly to the black flag, and cry the war-shout of the old French Revolution—no God but pleasure; no hell but in the imaginations of priests; and heaven beyond the sparkle of the wine-cup, the revelry of Cremieux Can Can; and the dashing existence of beauty, men and the money of the rich! Eat, drink, enjoy.

NEED OF SINAITIC THUNDER.

God deliver the country from a fate as this! One thing is undeniable—the not very remote Future calls upon all of us who love our country, and desire with the deepest longings of patriotism to see the undecaying perpetuity of free institutions, and the firm bulwark of moral principles protecting those institutions, to cherish and spread and intensify the power and influence of a spiritual, heart-renovating Christianity. The preaching of the times must not be of the dulcet sound of flutes on the waters, administering delectation to the ear; the pulpit not the place for speculation and cavil, on points which Divine testimony has settled once and forever, but "the secret place of thunder."

W. M. WIGHTMAN.

Denver, Colorado, August 30, 1878.

"What is the national air of this country?" asked a foreigner in Washington. "That is the national hair," replied a native, pointing to the capitol, "but the animals are all out in the jungle just now, chasing voters."

The Vatican.

This word, says a contemporary, is often used, but there are many who do not understand its import. The term refers to a collection of buildings on one of the seven hills of Rome, which covers a space of 1200 feet in length and 1000 feet in breadth. It is built on the spot once occupied by the garden of cruel Nero. It owes its origin to the Bishop of Rome, who, in the early part of the sixth century, erected a humble residence on its site. About the year 1151, Pope Eugenius rebuilt it on a magnificent scale. Innocent II, a few years afterwards, gave it up as a lodging to Peter II, King of Aragon. In 1309, Clement V, at the instigation of the King of France, removed the Papal see from Rome to Avignon, when the Vatican remained in a condition of obscurity and neglect for more than seventy years. But soon after the return of the Pontifical Court to Rome—an event which had been so earnestly prayed for by poor Petrarch, and which finally took place in 1377—the Vatican was put into a state of repair, again enlarged, and it was thenceforth considered as a regular palace and residence of the Popes, who, one after another, added fresh buildings to it, and gradually enriched it with antiquities, statues, pictures, and books, until it became the richest depository in the world. The library of the Vatican was commenced two years ago. It contains 40,000 manuscripts, among which are some by Pliny, St. Thomas, St. Charles Borromeo, and many Hebrew, Syrian, Arabian, and Armenian Bibles. The whole of the immense buildings composing the Vatican are filled with statues found beneath the ruins of ancient Rome, with paintings by the masters, and with curious medals and antiquities of almost every description. It is said that there have been exhumed more than 40,000 statues from the ruined temples and palaces of Rome.

"Yim can't do that again," as the pig said when the boy cut off his tail.

True as Gospel.

The Holston Methodist in an article on juvenile illiteracy says:

In the majority of houses there are almost no books. You will find the remnants of a few old arithmetics, geographies and grammars. You will find the Holy Bible, the best of all books, it is true; but there is no library proper. The floor is perhaps covered with brussels, the windows hung with tapestry, and the rooms furnished with walnut and cherry, if not mahogany, furniture; but where are the books? Where are the Quarterly Reviews? where are the monthly magazines? (unless it may be some fashion book, filled with fashion plates and silly novelettes). Where are the literary, scientific and educational weeklies? Where are the religious journals, replete with the current religious thought of the age? Echo answers, where?

A boy who reads even a county newspaper through every week, cannot fail to profit by it. He cannot be an ignoramus. He will be brought into rapport with the thinkers of the age, and into symmetry with the march of events. He will fill himself with a great variety of information, that will be of advantage to him. He will acquire the language in which men are now speaking and the thoughts that men are now thinking. If a county paper would do so much, what might we expect from the better class of journals and from the higher literature?

Shame on parents, that they invest in fine horses, in carriages, and costly apparel, in additional farms; but will not invest in a well-chosen library, and in well selected periodicals, that their children may grow up in an atmosphere of intelligence! Their children enter college, and indeed, enter the world, lean and gaunt, in an intellectual point of view, just for want of such facilities.

If a man cannot afford a library, probably he can take a magazine; if he cannot take a magazine, surely he can take a weekly paper. His children will soon learn to read it; they will look for its weekly visits with impatience; and when it arrives they will contend with each other for the privilege of the first perusal; they will literally devour its contents. See that it is a paper of high moral tone, that it is either positively Christian, or, at least, not antagonistic to Christianity.

You cannot engage in conversation with a family half an hour, without detecting whether they are newspaper readers. Intelligence is like ointment in the right hand: it betrays itself. Boys and girls that have been raised with newspapers and magazines always have the advantage of their classmates at school. They easily rank them as readers, writers and speakers. They have a fullness, richness, and purity of diction, which others less favored cannot possess.

We are glad to learn from his communication in the Nashville Christian Advocate of September 28, that our venerable Bishop Paine is still preserved in tolerable health, and that he expects to be able to attend the Conferences assigned him. He says:

Shortly after returning home from the General Conference I undertook to attend a series of District Conferences, but after holding two, found it impossible to do more. Increasing debility and affliction, combined with the excessive heat of the weather, forced me to yield to the advice of physicians and friends. I reluctantly disappointed three Presiding Elders, and have been confined at home until now. Within the last week my strength and general health have somewhat improved. I hope, "God willing," to be able to attend the three Annual Conferences which, by arrangement of my considerate and unselfish colleagues, are those most convenient to me.

It was a Massachusetts tramp who, when caught stealing watermelons, said that he was in favor of greenbacks.

"The Lord Will Provide."

It was hard times in the cottage where Widow Smith lived with her three children. The mother worked hard; but things seemed very scarce and the children had such hungry appetites, and wore their clothes out so fast.

One day the old minister called, and in his friendly way got to talking of their children.

"I had two sons," said he.

"Just Jacob's number," was the widow's answer.

"Yes, ma'am, and I had Jacob's God to provide for him."

The words stayed in the widow's mind long after the minister had left. She renewed her love to God and once let the famine come to Jacob's household, but not till he had first provided corn in Egypt, and sent Joseph with that he might be ready to distribute it. She thought of God's dealings with her and her little flock, and her heart was comforted, because she knew that the Lord would provide.

[illegible]

[illegible]

A young man was seen lately at Aberleen with two hoods upon his shoulders. It was not a curiosity, as one belonged to his Highland lassie.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

SALLIE, daughter of H. H. and Rebecca Adams, the subject of this brief memorial, died near Chapel Hill, Alabama, of diptheria after a few days' illness, August —, 1878, aged nine years, three months and twenty-one days. Possessing those principles which characterize maturer age, she was indeed a promising child. Always reasoning willing obedience to her parents, affectionate and kind to her brothers and sister, and quiet and gentle in her manners toward all, she became the centre of attraction, the favorite of all who knew her. Death has claimed all that was mortal of a rare and beautiful flower; but angel wings have borne to Him who has said: "Suffer little children to come unto me," its purer, nobler, immortal part. Farewell, dear friend! No more will thy cheerful smile and sweet voice greet those who mourn thy loss. No more will thy happy face make glad the home circle. But we submit to the will of Him who "taketh away."

J. A. M.

DIED, at his residence in New Orleans, on the 11th of July, 1878, Mr. John C. Stevenson, aged 73 years, 1 month and 12 days. He was a native of Snow Hill, Md., where, in early life, he embraced religion and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. For forty-five years he has been a resident of New Orleans, and for many years past a faithful, devoted and consistent member of the Louisiana Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church South, where his loss will be felt, for he was a punctual, prompt attendant on all the meetings, and ever ready, in any way he could, to aid and promote their interest. He was a good man, an exemplary citizen, an affectionate husband, an indulgent father, and has left a wife and a number of children and grand-children to lament his death. May they imitate his virtues, and follow in his pious footsteps, so that all may be gathered at last, where the good of earth congregate! Amen!

J. A. BV.

LITTLE JOSIE MELTON, infant daughter of R. B. and Fannie Melton, was born near Belmont, Alabama, October 24, 1877, died August 18, 1878. Brief was her existence, but, brief as it was, love had lavished a wreath about her, whose tendrils it was hard to unloose.

C. A. H.

THE TWO DEAR CHILDREN OF Brother Haney and Sister Victoria Bradford, Azada, aged twenty-three months and three days, died in Parish of East Baton Rouge, on thirty-first day of July; and Victoria Elizabeth on the 1st day of August, aged eight months and eighteen days; both of their bodies rest in the same grave, while their spirits have gone on to join the little brother and sisters that have preceded them to the glorious.

BURTIS T. DAVIS.

MR. JAMES W. ERNEST was born in Hancock County, Ga., August 31, 1796, and departed this life in St. Tammany parish, La., December 7, 1877, in hope of a blissful immortality at God's right hand.

From Georgia he removed with his parents to Butler county, Alabama; thence he went to Escambia county, Florida, where he was happily united in matrimony in 1828 to Miss Mary L. T. Gaines, who still survives him.

Brother Ernest was an intelligent, honorable citizen, holding offices of public trust representing his county in the Legislature, besides being a veteran of the war of 1812. Yet, like too many valuable citizens, though always moral, it was long before he admitted the just claims of the gospel of Christ, and sought with zeal the salvation of his soul.

The reading of a little book, "The Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation," sent him by the Rev. H. B. Singleton, fully settled his doubts upon the great subject of the Atonement, and thenceforward he commenced to seek the Lord; light broke in upon his mind; he joined the Church of God, and made a distinct profession of religion at the age of seventy-five years.

His sufferings were protracted and severe. His strong and well-built frame, receiving many a paralytic shock before it would yield to the sweeper death; but at last, peacefully and calmly as a little child, he breathed his spirit into the loving bosom of his God.

GEO. T. VICKERS.

BROTHER PETER C. BYRNE, died suddenly at his residence in Baldwin county, Ala., August 25, 1878, aged sixty-nine years. Brother Byrne became a member of the Methodist Church when a boy, and under her benign influences he developed into a man of undoubting honesty and christian integrity. His fellow citizens by their suffrages placed him in the most responsible offices of his county, which he filled to their satisfaction, and with honor to himself. He was a man of generous hospitality; ministers of the gospel were ever welcome guests, and found in him a sincere friend and counselor. His christian life was uniform in purpose to do the will of God, and of constant development and growth in the christian graces.

Although his death was unexpected, yet no doubt lingers in the minds of his friends and family as to his happiness and salvation.

A whole life given to God is a better and more satisfactory evidence of preparation with God than any words of assurance in the weakness and struggles of the dying hour.

S. H. C.

BUSINESS CARDS.

G. H. GORDIN.

GORDIN & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS
AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
NO. 74 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.
Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed $4 00
Home-Made Shoes, screwed $3 to $3 50
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

W. W. CARRE,
HORACE C. BEACH, Manager,
LUMBER YARD,
810 DELORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Cabins and Dressed Lumber a specialty.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,
DEALERS IN
PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND
CANNEL COAL,
FOR FAMILY USE, Office No. 21 Carondelet street. Landing On Levee, foot of Esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to plantation orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY,
CHAS. O. LANGENBECKER, M. D.,
Successor to H. Stumpf,
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.
Dealer in fine Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. H. HUSSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL,
Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,
NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

JOHN FRANK & CO.,
IMPORTERS OF AND DEALERS IN
LEATHER AND SHOE FINDINGS,
TOOLS, ONE SETC,
And manufacturers of Boot, Gaiter & Shoe Uppers,
No. 142 Poydras St., New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Lock Box 87.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. B. CRASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
No. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Moreau, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order for Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes, manufactured to order.

ESTABLISHED 1819.
F. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, Germin, Magnolia and Castile Soap.
Office—110 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.
All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Moldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.
☞ Frames made to order—a specialty.
No. 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

ESTABLISHED IN 1825.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Faucher Sts.

T. W. ROTHICK,
UNDERTAKER,
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.
We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the very lowest prices.
Silver Watches at $10 and upward.
Gold Watches at $35 and upward.
All fully guaranteed.
A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,
COLORED SATINS,
EVENING SILKS, VEILETS,
ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.

WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.

D. H. HOLMES,
135 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent.
48 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Does business on Orange principles and at Orange rates.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
55 ..... ST. CHARLES STREET 55
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN,
OF ALL KINDS.
Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, Wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. J. H. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle Loading Guns always on hand. All goods of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1591.

PIANOS.
PIANOS TUNED AND REGULATED in the best and most satisfactory manner, at
Mr. Burkhardt's Manufactory,
639 ..... MAGAZINE STREET 639
Between Jackson and Louisiana Sts.

WHEELER & PIDSON (Successors to Darcy & Wheeler and Pierson & Howe)
NOS. 13 & 15 CAMP ST., opposite the Custom House, CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS
FOR MEN AND BOYS.
We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at the lowest and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. Wholesale department up stairs.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 47 CHARTRES STREET.
CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—800 rolls White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
RUGS—Table and Enamel OIL CLOTHS.
A. BROUSSEAU.

EDUCATIONAL.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,
AT BATON ROUGE, LA.

THE next session of this school will begin on the first Wednesday in October [illegible]. Unsurpassed healthfulness of the locality. Unexcelled thoroughness of instruction. The best methods employed. The comfort of pupils carefully looked after. Every facility necessary to prepare the student for any grade in college or any pursuit in life. Constant personal attention of the principal is given to the health, manners and morals of the pupils.

For circulars with necessary information, apply to
W. H. N. MAURY, DEB.,
Baton Rouge, La.

GRENADA FEMALE COLLEGE,
GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI.

THE [illegible] session will begin September 2, 1878. The present year will be [illegible] in every department, and a beautiful educational monument to the State. Well equipped with complete library, philosophical apparatus, [illegible] cabinet of natural history, [illegible] and chemistry, [illegible] and [illegible] Location unsurpassed, as [illegible] for the [illegible] of [illegible] and young ladies. [illegible] Catalogue address
J. K. ARMSTRONG, A. M.,
President.

East Mississippi Female College,
MERIDIAN, MISS.
REV. J. W. MASSEY, A. M., President.

IT [illegible] has deserved [illegible] D. D. [illegible] and her [illegible] college. [illegible] Thomas [illegible] A. M. [illegible] Corresp[illegible] to the President, [illegible] A. M.

CENTENARY COLLEGE

WILL [illegible] its session in [illegible] on the first Monday in October, with a [illegible] corps of professors. A liberal [illegible] and unsectarian school, and the [illegible] college among Gilly lungus. Location [illegible] and in college [illegible] pass up [illegible] two weeks. Boarding [illegible] per month. Tuition [illegible] per month. In preparatory [illegible] reasonable. For [illegible] address
C. G. ANDREWS, President.
Jackson, La.

AUGUSTA FEMALE SEMINARY,
STAUNTON, VA.

THE [illegible] session [illegible] for young [illegible] opens [illegible] Wednesday, SEPTEMBER [illegible]. The [illegible] Seminary [illegible] the Valley [illegible] Virginia, [illegible] the first Wednesday in [illegible]. [illegible] Catalogues address
MISS MARY J. BALDWIN,
Principal.

Kenmore University High School,
NEAR ARLINGTON, VA.

H. A. STRONG, A. M., [illegible] Va. [illegible] Principal. [illegible] A. B. [illegible] Assistant. [illegible] Assistant. [illegible] Assistant

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.
Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.
AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODEREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Our Calamities and their Lesson.

Something comes along every year to mar our prosperity. For years we were under the plundering rule of military despotism, and carpet-bag politicians. Then we had also, especially in 1867 and 1874, disease and a wide spread overflow of the Mississippi and some of its tributaries. Other years the worm and other casualities have cut the cotton crop short. Last year a September storm and a November freeze nearly ruined the sugar crop, diminishing the market value about ten millions of dollars. Besides these rather local misfortunes we have been suffering under the general financial depression which has pervaded the whole country. And this year, when there was a fair prospect for the revival of business, when the cotton, sugar, corn and rice crops are all exceptionally good, we have the yellow fever visitation.

The loss entailed upon New Orleans by the fever in the curtailment of business, and in the depreciation of real estate and other values, has been estimated as high as fifty millions of dollars. This may be an exaggerated estimate. The Southwest has exhibited wonderfully recuperative powers under the devastations of war and the subsequent troubles, and this same elasticity in rebounding from the effects of the epidemic will probably be witnessed. The fall trade, however, is already lost, and a considerable amount of the cotton that usually comes here has already been diverted to other points. The spread of disease in the cotton and sugar growing sections is likely to interfere to some extent with the gathering of these important products. Not until sometime in November are we likely to have unrestricted intercourse with the sections which are most tributary to our commercial welfare. But for the restrictions of the quarantines the fever would have interfered but little with trade, and there would be a bustling and cheerful liveliness on our streets and wharves instead of the almost absolute stagnation and desertion that are to be witnessed. This is, however, a consequential damage, and one that will always attend the visits of an infectious disease to our port.

We are led to notice the fact that one thing or another has for several years blighted the hopes of our people. The prize has uniformly escaped them just as they felt that it was within their grasp. Each season the buoyant hope has been disappointed, and the bright anticipation has been met with disaster. It is not in the disposition or temper of our people to give way to unmanly depression or despair. It is right to meet misfortune with resolution, and with persistent purpose, to resolve upon regaining what has been lost. But at the same time it is well to reflect upon the somewhat singular and striking facts of the case. Some of our troubles are already past, others may be provided against by wise and liberal enterprise, and the effects of others may be guarded against by a provident course in the conduct of business.

But the moral lesson of our disasters should not be lost. For, after all, we are in the hands of an infinite power, and our lives, fortunes and happiness depend upon His favor. If we do not honor God with our substance is it strange that He should take it from us? If we regard not His law, and are indifferent to His glory, can we be surprised that He breaks in upon our plans of gain, and brings our enterprises to naught? When the agriculturists, the financiers, the politicel economists, the merchants and the scientists have wrought their best at the problem, the truest solution may be in another province altogether. The difficulty in bringing the question to such a judgment lies largely in the conviction that we are not sinners above all that dwell in the land. Still they were sinners upon whom the tower fell, although other sinners as guilty as they were not crushed. We are not to concern ourselves with the manner in which God shall deal with others, but to recognize His hand in our own calamities, and to apply the lesson to ourselves. Individuals here and there will receive the dispensation as the correction of a Father, and be made better by the afflictions sent upon them. But as a people will we learn righteousness while the judgments of the Lord are in the earth?

Our calamities have been in the order of Providence, the hand of God has been in them all, and whilst they may have been ordained in mercy, and have other and important ends, they ought to remind us, as a people, of our sins. In our prayers for better times, and for deliverance from the fearful scenes through which we are passing, are we confronted with the remembrance of the Sabbath breaking, the profanity, the gambling lottery, and the prevalence of dishonesty, and vices innumerable? The danger is that we shall fail altogether to see any connection between our sins as a people and the series of misfortunes which have come upon us. If we were altogether righteous there would still be occassion of humiliation and searchings of heart. But as it is the call is certainly to repentence, to search and try our ways. God means good, but the good, if attained, will be reached through the influence which affliction shall exert upon the moral and religious character of the people.

A Word of Warning.

In times of trouble many resort to stimulants to keep up their hopes and to counteract the depressing influences of misfortune. We rarely see a drunken man on the streets, and yet we have reason to believe that multitudes who have not been accustomed to the use of ardent spirits are indulging freely. There are better antidotes to sorrow than this, even if there was no danger in it, but there is danger. Before the victim is aware of it he will have added drunkenness to his other troubles. He will be ruined, soul and body, before he is aware of his peril.

There are those who, in the face of the peril that surrounds them, resort to alcoholic stimulants to keep up their courage, to overcome the disagreeable consciousness of ever impending sickness, and with the hope that an attack may be warded off. The habitual drunkard stands but little chance of recovery, whilst those who stimulate less excessively are in greater danger of a fatal result than those who are total abstainers. But where the immediate result is not unfavorable, the appetite for spirituous liquors may remain as a life-long heritage of woe.

Convalescents cannot be too careful in the use of stimulants. In many cases, they are used too freely and too long. Lives are sometimes saved, we believe, by their judicious and timely prescription, but moderation in convalescence is called for, and also their early and absolute discontinuance. We greatly fear that the present epidemic will be followed by a crop of drunkards, and that its subsidence will be marked by a sad increase of intemperance. Physicians, nurses and all who have the care of the sick cannot be too careful in regard to the allowance of stimulants. To those who have recovered, but who still feel the debilitating effects of disease, we would address a word of warning. It were better a thousand times to have died now, than to contract a pernicious habit that leads to a drunkard's grave.

Rev. John Mathews and Rev. J. M. Beard, are both convalescing as rapidly as could be expected. They will soon be about.

The deaths from yellow fever in New Orleans for the twenty-four hours ending at 12 m. Tuesday, October 1, were 41. New cases for the same period, 231. Total number of cases to that date, 9616. Total number of deaths to that date, 2899. The fever here is on a very gradual decline week by week. It has recently spread throughout the suburbs, whilst there is a marked decrease in the central part of the city.

Acknowledgments.

From the Sunday School of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, in Albany, Oregon, we have received, through Sister T. B. White, $3 50, for the relief of the yellow fever sufferers in New Orleans. Rev. John Hannon, also for the same object, sends us $7 00, contributed by a Sunday School in Virginia. The little people have been the greatest sufferers from the present epidemic. Two-thirds of the deaths in New Orleans have been children under ten years of age. It is every way appropriate that the children abroad should remember the little sufferers. We will see that these contributions go to relieve some sick and needy little ones. May God bless the givers.

Rev. Wm. M. Shackly sends us $5 00, contributed by the Matagorda Circuit, Texas, for the yellow fever sufferers.

Rev. A. E. Clay, pastor of our church at Pattersonville, La., writing September 22, sends us the obituary of his father-in-law, Ernest T. Cropper, who died on the 18th, of yellow fever. Brother Cropper was a valuable member and steward in the church. At the time of writing there were fifty cases in and around Pattersonville, and there had been ten deaths. Brother Clay is doing what he can for the sick and dying. Neither his wife nor himself has had the fever. May God be their shield in this hour of peril and sorrow.

Delhi, Louisiana.

The following extract from a letter from Sister Y. B. Alexander, written near Water Proof, Sept. 21 brings us sad tidings concerning Delhi. It will be seen from the extract that Rev. P. H. Moss, pastor of our churches at Monroe and Delhi, is reported as among those who have died of the fever. We fear the report is true, but we shall wait with some hope that it is a mistake. Bro. Moss was transferred from the Alabama to the Louisiana Conference two years ago, the coming December. Sister Alexander says:

Yesterday brought us tidings from Delhi, which has crushed us to the earth. It is only a small town but it is full of brave, heroic, happy hearts "who love to live." How we have wept over the list of those that have fallen, and feel that we are indeed bereft! Aunt Merit, Miss Mattie Nethery, dear Mrs. Williams, those who were unfailing in their kindness to us when we were there, are gone! Little Lizzie and Lilly Bishop, and Bennie Fontain, that associated so sweetly with our children are gone! Dr. Lilly, the noble, the kind-hearted, the skillful physician who attended so faithfully upon us, for long weeks without any reward, is gone! But saddest, oh! saddest of all, Brother Moss, the pride and idol of the church the golden hope and darling of so many fond hearts, is gone! Eyes are closed, heart still, hands still, all is over! there is no mistaking it, he has gone from us never, never to return! Ah! well may the church weep and lament, and drape her altars in mourning.

Rev. J. H. Bohmfolk, pastor of German M. E. Church, South, Soraparn street, was taken with the fever on Sunday, September 29. He is very ill, but his case is not regarded as critical at this writing. October 1.

The present number of the Advocate is issued October 2, notwithstanding the date it bears. Correspondents must have patience, and boil things down. Especially let the obituaries be short.

Sympathy.

We are greatly strengthened and encouraged by such a communication as the following from the presiding Elder of the Mobile District. We are glad to hear that the work of saving souls is going forward vigorously.

CITRONELLE, ALA., Sept. 18, 1878.

DEAR DOCTOR: I send you my fourth round Quarterly Conference for publication. I fear you are greatly troubled financially as well as by the pestilence. I have been doing all I could for you and will continue to do so, but I see the mails are stopped on the New Orleans & Mobile R. R. as they are also on the Mobile & Ohio R. R. I hope some arrangements will soon be made to obviate these difficulties.

There is great sympathy manifested everywhere for your stricken city, and for other suffering districts. Much prayer is being made for you daily. We are having some excellent camp meetings and gracious revivals, but the quarantine and panic, will, I fear, materially affect our finances. Yours,

S. H. COX.

"Now then, madam, please look steadily at this place on the wall," said a photographer to an old lady, when he had put her in position and the plate in the camera. The old lady looked hard at the spot indicated, and then got up and walked across the floor and minutely inspected it, and then, turning to the photographer, gently remarked: "I don't see anything there."

Kentucky Conference.

MR EDITOR: Inclosed is a list of appointments of the Kentucky Conference in session at Shelbyville, Ky., September 18 25, Bishop Geo. F. Pierce, presiding.

I was present during the last two days of the Conference session, and was much pleased with my visit, although at times there was too much sharpness in the debates. I reached Shelbyville in time to hear a capital address by our new Missionary Secretary, the Rev. Dr. A. W. Wilson. He is thoroughly in earnest and is well in the harness. He is going to push matters as they ought to be pushed. The General Conference could not have elected a man more capable than Dr. Wilson.

I heard Bishop Pierce deliver the severest lecture to the whole Conference that I ever heard a Bishop utter. After all the reports had been read, the Bishop rose and expressed his deep mortification at the facts stated in the reports, and concluded by saying they were "a disgrace to the whole concern—preachers and laity."

Bishop Pierce was unable to preach during the Conference. He is in very feeble health but hopes to regain his strength at an early date by taking good care of himself. His father, he told me, was "well, bright and happy."

On the afternoon of the closing day, a memorial service was conducted by the Rev. Richard Deering, at one time pastor and presiding Elder in New Orleans. The services were in memory of the Rev. Jeremiah Strother, a superannuated member of the Conference, who died during the conference year just closed. Several addresses were delivered, the best being probably that by the Rev. Dr. Thomas N. Ralston, so well known throughout our church. The Conference closed at 9.30 o'clock, Wednesday night, 25th inst.

Shelbyville is a very beautiful little city of about 4000 inhabitants. In shape it is a parallelogram, having three streets nearly a mile long, with numerous short cross streets. It is a city of schools and churches. The Southern Methodists, Baptists, Southern Presbyterians, Northern Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Campbellites and Roman Catholics have handsome houses of worship. The colored M. E. Church has a substantial brick building, while the Zion Methodists and colored Baptists have buildings of their own. The Northern Methodists have a small frame building near Science Hill. There are four flourishing schools in Shelbyville. Many of the private residences are costly and in appearance very attractive.

The Publishing House affairs were often the subject of conversation and discussion. The secular papers are at last ventilating matters of the Book Committee, as published in the Nashville American, you have no doubt seen. It is severe on the late agent, but is quite guarded in its language. Dr. Bedford in his Courier-Journal articles is disposed to find fault with the Committee generally. I hope the church will respond to the efforts of the Book Committee and hasten to subscribe for the bonds that are now being offered. The interest is low but the security is good. The church knows the worst now and knows the truth. With all the facts before us, let us rally to the support of the Publishing House, subscribe for its bonds and support it by our own patronage.

TOM. L. MELLOW.

Henry County, Ky., Sept. 27, 1878.

An Agreeable Style of Writing.

We believe there was once a passage between the poet Charles Sprague and one of his banker friends very similar to the one recorded between Dryden and Lord Dorset.

Dryden found himself one day, after a dinner party, in company with the Duke of Buckingham, Lord Rochester, and Lord Dorset. The conversation turned upon the English language, on the harmony of numbers and the elegance of style, which merits each of the three lords believed himself to possess in the highest degree. After a good deal of disputing, it was determined to refer the matter to Dryden. The proof was to consist in each writing an article on the first subject that presented itself, and the pieces of paper having been placed under the candlestick, Dryden was to draw them out, and determine which was the best. The three lords set to work, and while Rochester and Buckingham were exerting their brains to invent some sparkling epigram or happy turn of thought, Dorset was observed to write a few lines carelessly and without the least hesitation.

Dryden, having examined the papers, gave his judgement: "Gentlemen," said he to the Duke of Buckingham and Lord Rochester, "your style is excellent, and has pleased me extremely; but I am perfectly delighted with that of Lord Dorset. I leave you to judge: Listen." Dryden read: "On the first day of next May I will pay to John Dryden, or order the sum of five hundred pounds sterling, value received, April 15, 1686. (Signed) Dorset." Lord Rochester and the Duke of Buckingham confessed that they could not write like that, and that Lord Dorset's style was the best they had ever heard of.—Companion.

Books and Periodicals.

A COMMENTARY, CRITICAL, EXPERIMENTAL AND PRACTICAL ON THE OLD AND NEW TESTAMENTS, by the Rev. Robert Jamieson, D. D., St. Paul's, Glasgow: Rev. A. R. Fausset, A. M., St. Cuthbert's, York; and the Rev. David Brown, D. D., Professor of Theology, Aberdeen. Vol. VI.—Acts, Romans. By the Rev. David Brown, D. D. 1. Corinthians.—Revelation. By the Rev. A. R. Fausset, A. M., Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co.

For some reason this sixth and last volume has but lately reached us. We noticed the other volumes as they appeared two or three years ago. Since that time we have used this Commentary in our regular reading of the Scriptures, having at the present writing nearly completed the reading of the fifth volume. We can only reiterate the favorable views we have heretofore expressed. It is on the whole, the most satisfactory Commentary with which we are acquainted. We are not of course in sympathy with its calvinistic and chiliastic teachings, but these are not very prominent and are generally held in a moderate and tolerant spirit. The golden mean has been hit in regard to the extent of the notes; and the critical, experimental and practical are mixed in about the right proportions. The latest and best results of critical exegesis, appear in the comments. We can most heartily commend the work as a most valuable addition to the libraries of preachers, and of all who are interested in the study of the Bible. The work can be ordered direct from the publishers, or from G. T. Lathrop, 112 Camp Street, New Orleans.

—The Princeton Review, September, 1878, has the following table of contents: The Problem of the Human Will; Art as an Interpreter of History; Taxation and the Liquor Traffic; Science and a Future State; J. S. Mill and the Destruction of Theism; The Aim of Poetry; The Foundations of Chance; Faith; The Political Outlook in France; The Cost of a Landed Gentry; The Anglo-Catholic Movement. This old and able Presbyterian review is published bi-monthly, at $2 a year.

—Sunday Afternoon for October has its usual amount of choice matter. Among the articles we note especially: A Working Man's Story; The English Reformation; Mrs. Barnard's Church; Tramps and Agents; Prayer for the Dead.

—Appleton's Journal for October has: The Multitudinous Seas; A Motley University; Housekeeping, English and American; Among the Azores; Consolation for the Nervous; To Certain Biographers, and other articles.

—St. Nicholas for October is splendidly illustrated. Amongst the numerous entertaining articles we note: The Violin Village; A Tale of Many Tails; How to Keep a Journal; Mrs. Primkin's Surprise; Parlor Magic; The London Flower-Girl.

—The Sanitarian for October is, as usual, filled with instructive articles.

Van Dyck And The Bishop.

There is a tale that Van Dyck, just before his departure, was sent for by a bishop whose name being Anthony, has been wrongly supposed to be the Bishop of Trieste, a firm friend of the artist, to paint his portrait. With the insolence of his rank, the prelate, regarding the artist as he did one of his lackeys, when he came in did not rise to receive him, nor make any acknowledgment of his presence. Van Dyck had seen in the ante-room his easel and implements, which he had sent before, and vexed at his reception, without waiting for an invitation, seated himself and gazed steadily at the bishop without saying a word. As that worthy in this silent strife found he was matched by the artist, after some minutes he said, abruptly: "Have not you come to paint my portrait?" "I am at your Eminence's disposal," replied Van Dyck. The bishop waited; the painter sat immovable. "Why," cried the prelate, "don't you get your tools? do you expect me to seek for them?" "As you did not order your servant to bring them to me, I thought it possible that you intended to do me that service," answered Van Dyck, coolly. Reddening with rage, the bishop rose, and in a wrathful tone, cried: "Anthony, you are but a little esp, but you have great venom." Van Dyck moved toward the door, and when on the threshold, at a safe distance from the burly priest, bowed mockingly, as he retorted, "Anthony, you are large enough, but, like the cinnamon-tree, the skin is the best part of you.—Harper's Magazine.

BISHOP MCCOSKRY.—At the meeting of the Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church, held September 3, in New York, Rev. Samuel Allen McCoskry, D. D., Bishop of the diocese of Michigan, was deposed from the ministry, and from all the offices of the church. The cause given in the resolutions adopted was the abandonment of his diocese while grave charges of immorality were pending against him. There were twenty-seven bishops present at the meeting, and the vote in favor of deposition was unanimous. Bishop McCoskry is seventy-six years of age, and had officiated as a bishop for many years. He is now absent in Europe.

A lady joking about her nose, said "I had nothing to do in shaping it. It was a birthday present."

Never put off till to-morrow what can be finished to-day.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS FOR 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	BISHOP.	TIME.
W. Virginia	Catlettsburg	Pierce	Sept.
Denver	W. Las Animas	Wightman	Sept.
Western	Wyandotte	Doggett	Sept.
Missouri	Macon	Doggett	Sept.
Illinois	Pana	Doggett	Sept. 11
Kentucky	Shelbyville	Pierce	Sept. 11
Montana	Helena	Wightman	Sept. 18
S. W. Missouri	Clinton	Wightman	Sept. 18
Louisville	Cadiz	Doggett	Sept. 25
Columbia	Rosburg	Pierce	Oct. 2
Tennessee	Clarksville	Wightman	Oct. 2
St. Louis	Charleston	Kavanaugh	Oct. 9
Indian Miss.	Muscogee, C N	McTyeire	Oct. 9
West Texas	San Marcos	Doggett	Oct. 9
Pacific	San Francisco	Wightman	Oct. 9
Holston	Knoxville	Kavanaugh	Oct. 9
Arkansas	Russellville	McTyeire	Oct. 9
N. W. Texas	Belton	Keener	Oct. 9
Los Angeles	S. Bernardino	Wightman	Oct. 9
White River	Searcy	McTyeire	Oct. 9
Virginia	Petersburg	Pierce	Oct. 9
Eureka	Hallsville	Kavanaugh	Oct. 9
Memphis	Paris	Paine	Oct. 9
German Miss.	Industry	Keener	Oct. 9
North Texas	Terrell	Keener	Oct. 9
N. Carolina	Charlotte	Pierce	Oct. 9
N. Alabama	Athens	Kavanaugh	Oct. 9
N. Mississippi	Macon	Paine	Oct. 9
N. Georgia	Marietta	McTyeire	Oct. 9
Little Rock	Hot Springs	Doggett	Oct. 9
Texas	Chapel Hill	Keener	Oct. 9
S. Carolina	Newberry	Pierce	Oct. 9
Alabama	Mobile	Kavanaugh	Oct. 9
S. Georgia	Thomasville	McTyeire	Oct. 9
Louisiana	New Orleans	Doggett	Oct. 9
East Texas	Tyler	Keener	Oct. 9
Mississippi	Meridian	Pierce	Oct. 9
Baltimore	Salem	A. Coleman	Mar.

Publisher's Department.

MR. E. E. F. ROSS, one of the staff of this paper, is now traveling through the West and East on business connected with the ADVOCATE. Any attention shown him will be appreciated.

DR. LEE'S LITHONTRIPTIC for the cure of Stone and Gravel is advertised in to-day's paper. It is spoken of in the doctor's circular:

"It dissolves Stone and Gravel in the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder. It cures Gout, Gall Stones, Diabetes, Irritation of the Prostate Gland, and in its incipient stage Bright's Disease.

This Specific which has been used in the private practice of Doctors Lee, Father and Sons) in the cities of New York and Boston for the past forty years with unparalleled success, is now for the first time offered to the public as a cure for the above ill-named diseases.

By permission, reference is made to hundreds of letters extending over many years from well known prominent persons, as well as to a few of the many whose names are attached and who are familiar with his specialty, or are now examining evidence from the use of the medicine.

THE STANDARD CHROMATIC PIANO FORTE, Patented December 26, 1876, by Daniel M. Read and William A. Pond, of New York. The object of this invention is to improve this new musical instrument, the piano-pipe. It is a good instrument and a great practical utility, [illegible] choir singing, you any song, tune or [illegible] correctly, any one can play it. [illegible] any other instrument with [illegible] kinds of musical instruments [illegible] in unison with the Piano [illegible] ing the concert room. [illegible] piano with the [illegible] this pipe can be put [illegible] sing the most difficult tunes [illegible] practice can at [illegible] pass of his voice. It will [illegible] teacher, to produce any [illegible]

THE POCKET SCALE which is advertised by George [illegible] very useful by those who [illegible] occasion to weigh [illegible] suit, especially, people [illegible] it is often times very inconvenient [illegible] scale in use, and the larger [illegible] rather too expensive for every [illegible] The price of this is only [illegible]

RHEUMATISM AND GOUT.—The advertisement of Washburne [illegible] agents in the United States [illegible] Salicylic Medicine, which [illegible] many sufferers from rheumatism [illegible] It is claimed for this medicine [illegible] sure cure for the above diseases [illegible] used for a long time in Germany [illegible] Those interested should [illegible] Messrs. Washburne & Co. [illegible]

READVILLA SEMINARY,
BATON ROUGE, LA.
MISS A. W. READ, Principal.
For further information address P. O. Box 79.
REFERENCES.
Clergymen, lawyers, physicians, orators and all persons who [illegible] the use of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder find it the most [illegible] fully refreshing. The taste [illegible] and applied by the fine [illegible] the effect of smell, proves [illegible] both, by adding to vigorous [illegible]

BUSINESS NOTICES.

DR. WILHOFF'S ANTI-PERIODIC FEVER AND AGUE TONIC [illegible] has established itself as the [illegible] cure. It is universally acknowledged [illegible] liable and harmless Chill [illegible] Dr. Wilhoff is confirmed by [illegible] cures of the very best people [illegible] country. It cures moderate [illegible] type, from the shaking ague [illegible] boy to the raging fever of [illegible] D. It has never been known [illegible] FINLAY & CO., proprietors [illegible] sale by all druggists.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is perfection to [illegible] ladies, who use it daily, to [illegible] tion that does not resemble the [illegible] or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers apply it to infants who become chafed [illegible] surely of immediate relief. Recommended [illegible] Drs. Peters, Simmons and Hyde [illegible] sold by druggists, and at depot, 607 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

QUEEN OF THE OVEN.
A biscuit made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is certainly the queen of the oven. So light, white and delicious! Hot breakfasting on biscuits made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, what huge delight could equal it! Or griddle cakes, or griddle breakfast! Ask your wife about it, and if she refuses to bake with it, buy her a can for money's worth.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 17 [illegible] 1867. 75 eminent professors. 145 [illegible] for [illegible] TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

18 ELEGANT New Style Chromo Cards with name, 10c., post-paid. Clio, [illegible] Co., Nassau, N. Y.

Sustain and comfort yourself in the Lord; and be strong in his power. If you are under the Lord's cross, for you are in the beaten and common way to heaven.—Rutherford.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

NEW DISCOVERY

After Taking.

...other Medicine required, it is used alone.

...DELTA VALLY

...new discovery, Dr. J. ... Substitute for Quinine, will ... countenance, ringing ... or any Fever. Try it and ... a Bottle, price $1.00, ... yourselves, sent by ... $1.00 per package.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN, ST. LOUIS, MO.

NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

...Blood and LUNG diseases.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

...H AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.

After Taking.

Take no more medicine down ... Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

...way of deliver... medicine in direct ... with the Throat ... Dr. J. H. McLean's ... Globules. They ... medicine, no distur... As ... dissolves in your mouth, ... medicine in the blood, ... the Ear, which must be ... all will be the Lungs and ... and the Throat. The doctor ... Thousands upon thousands ... by Dr. J. H. McLEAN'S ... Globules. Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, Hacking Cough, Sore Throat or Lungs ... and Magic influence. Trial ... the world, 50 cts. per box. ... expected for them.

DR. J. H. McLEAN, ST. LOUIS, MO.

ABSORBS THE POISON.

...that CATARRH is cured by

Dr. J. H. McLean's

...ebrated Catarrh Snuff

...new and wonderful ... cures by absorbing ... poison in the sores ... the Nose, Throat, or ... Bronchial Tubes. McLean's ... Catarrh Powder will come ... parts, in contact ... the disease, in the ... Skin, and it will never ... Sores in the Nose. Phy... Specifics on the Face or ... Scrofulous Sores, or ... H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff ... cure it. We will also ... Dr. J. H. McLean's ... Liver Pills. Trial boxes ... Address DR. J. H. McLEAN, ... St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

...HELP!

...R THE WEAK, ...NERVOUS AND ...DEBILITATED!

...LVER MACHINE CO.'S

...ECTRIC BELTS

AND BANDS.

READER, ARE YOU AFFLICTED?

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

JOS. B. WOLFE & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS,

59 Carondelet St., New Orleans.

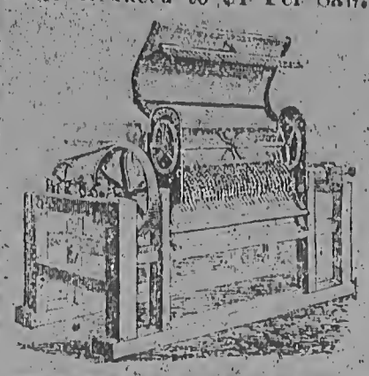
GENERAL AGENTS FOR

DANIEL PRATT'S IMPROVED

"Revolving Head" Cotton Gin.

PATENTED JULY 15, 1873.

Price Reduced to $4 Per Saw.



THIS GIN has been in use for the past five seasons, and several recent improvements have been added. It obviates all friction at the ends of the cotton box, prevents the roll from breaking, and gives a Larger Yield of Lint from the same Amount of Seed than any other Gin in use. The Revolving Head lightens the draft and causes the Gin to run faster with less driving power, thus doing a great deal more work with the same time, while economizing steam or animal power than any other Gin. The seed being ginned very close, the length of the staple is increased, producing cotton on this account of a greater market value. This improved value, given by length of staple, with extra production of lint, added to increased amount of work done, more than covers the cost of the Gin in every 100 bales ginned. Testimonials sent by mail on application.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.

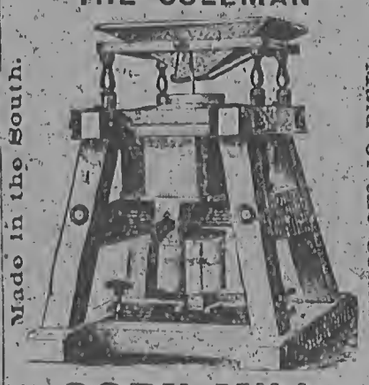
Mills, Engines and Machinery,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WE SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines, Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses and Machinery delivered at railroad depots or river landings.

Portable Engine prices greatly reduced.

THE COLEMAN



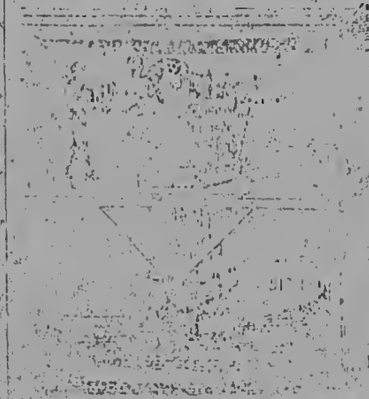
Made in the South. Made of the South.

CORN MILL.

VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York State to Texas, over thirty three different competitors, during the past twenty-eight years. Awarded the only Gold Medal ever awarded to any Corn Mill in the United States. Simple, strong, durable and cheap, with solid French Burr Stone. Made by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., New Orleans, La.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press



PRICE, Complete $16 00

Wrought Iron Screw 4 inches in diameter. Packing box 2 feet deep. Simple, strong, durable, and guaranteed to pack a 500 lbs. bale. Send for circular. Manufactured by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., New Orleans, La.

We make also the Friction Power Press (Simmons' patent).

STRONGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.

INCREASING IN POPULARITY.

Number ... and Fifty-six ... 1,500

Number ... assisted in 1877 ... 3,500

COST OF

Iron Ties, including freight ... 35cts. per bale.

Centennial, including ... 25 cts. per bale.

Canvassers Wanted to solicit orders for a responsible ...

Ludlow Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Manufacturers of Iron and Wire Goods.

NO MORE

RHEUMATISM OR GOUT.

We are authorized to sell the genuine

SALICYLATE OF SODA

Manufactured by

European Salicylic Medicine Co.

OF PARIS AND LEIPZIG.

RELIEF IMMEDIATELY. CURES PERMANENTLY.

Now in general use by all celebrated Doctors of Europe and America, and thoroughly introduced throughout the United States, miraculous cures having been made in nearly every city and State.

Price, $1.00 a box; 6 Boxes for 5.00.

Orders filled by mail, or ask your Druggist for it.

WASHBURNE & CO.

Sole Agents.

27 Cliff street, New York.

ANGELL'S

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,

CANAL STREET, near Charters, South Side, New Orleans, La.

Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Twenty-Ninth Annual Statement

OF THE

CRESCENT MUTUAL

INSURANCE CO.

NEW ORLEANS, May 23, 1878.

ASSETS, April 30, 1878 ..... $90,611 37

GROSS PROFITS for year ending April 30, 1878 ..... 95,050 61

The Board of Trustees this day resolved that, after paying the annual dividend of TEN PER CENT. on the capital stock of the company, a dividend of TWENTY PER CENT. in cash be paid on MONDAY, June 10, to those parties entitled to receive the same.

TRUSTEES.

Thos. A. Adams,	John E. King,
Samuel B. Newman,	Fred. Camerden,
Samuel H. Kennedy,	Joseph W. Stone,
John Phelps,	George Martin,
Adam Thompson,	Alfred Moulton,
Henry Abraham,	L. O. Jurey,
Victor Meyer,	Edward Nalle,
Joseph Bowling,	Geo. W. Sentell,
Edward J. Hay,	Paul E. Mortimer,
Simon Bernheim,	John V. Moore,
Simon Forschelmer,	W. B. Conger,
Joseph H. Wolfe,	Henry M. Preston,
R. B. Post,	A. A. Irby,
Edward Pilsbury,	Reuben U. Bush,
John M. Parker.

REMOVAL!

ELKIN & CO.

HAVE REMOVED THEIR

Carpet and Oil-Cloth Warehouse

TO

100 ..... CANAL STREET 100

Between Camp and St. Charles Streets.

A full line of CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, MATTINGS, WINDOW SHADES, etc., always on hand.

GEO. PURVES'

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD

Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Country Orders for Millinery

AND FANCY GOODS.

Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly, giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HARDON,

Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,

27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans,

Second door above Custom House.

For Singing Schools and Choirs.

L. O. EMERSON'S "ONWARD" a new book for Singing Schools, fully equal to any ever issued, is ready for use. 160 pages of instructions, lessons of Glees, and 10 pieces of Sacred Music.

75 cents; $7 50 per dozen.

EMERSON'S Church Offering, a new book for Choirs, contains a large and admirable collection of Anthems, which fit perfectly to the Episcopal Service, but are of the best quality for any service. Also a large number of Glee Chants.

$1 50, or $12 per dozen.

EMERSON'S Sacred Quartettes, a new book for Quartette Choirs. Has a most musical collection of new pieces, by the most popular additors, and proves to be about one to use for every Sabbath in the year.

Boards $2 ... Cloth, $2 25.

COOK'S Festival Chorus Book, ($1 25) has a fine selection of choruses.

W. O. PERKINS' REQUIEM is a new and excellent collection of hymns and tunes for Funerals occasions. Price 75 cents.

Send for Catalogues of anthems, the descriptions of many other excellent books and books for Singing Classes.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO.,

843 Broadway, N. Y.

THE STANDARD

CHROMATIC TUNING

OR PITCH-PIPE.

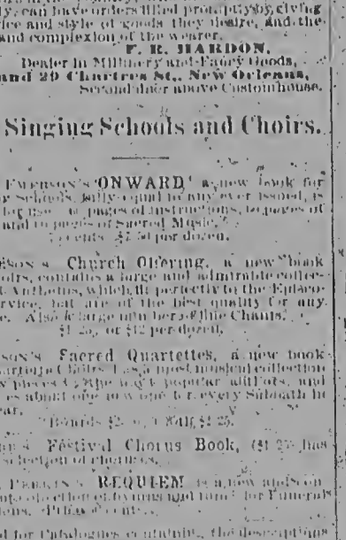
Gives the ... of any tone. Nickel, Steel or Flat. Adopted by the Govt. for the Army. Indorsed by ... Novello, Ewer & Co., and leading Musicians. FINELY NICKEL PLATED. No. 1, Leader in C or A, and Flat or Sharp, $1 50; Double-tone, without case, $2. RETAILED AT $1.50. Sent to any address upon receipt of price.

DANIEL H. READ & CO.,

617 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Inventors and Manufacturers.

Sold by all Music Dealers.

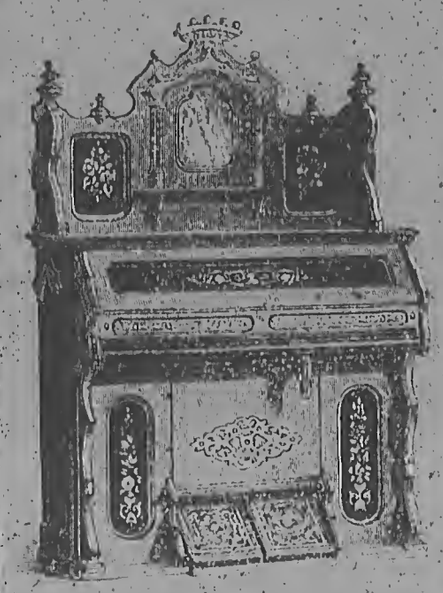


COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS Laplace's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the safe remedy, combining efficiency of action with a most palatable savor. Cures Catarrh. Price, $1. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 21 and 23 Physician Fields street, Mobile depot—Pollions & Co., 20 Water St. St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 709 N. Main St. 6p

MISCELLANEOUS.

PHILIP WERLEIN.



This Cut Represents

MASON & HAMLIN'S

$190 ORGAN,

REDUCED TO $135,

on easiest payments—$13 50 cash, and $3 50 in 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18, 21, 24 and 27 months. Freight from Boston to be added.

$90 Organ Reduced to $72.

$7 20 QUARTERLY.

Very highly improved Pianos of J. P. Hale & Co., with stool and cover—$400 style reduced to $250, on easiest payments Known—$50 cash, and $10 a month until paid.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 CANAL STREET,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

CHICKERING & SONS' PIANOS,

MATHUSHEK PIANOS,

HALE'S PIANOS,

HARDMAN'S PIANOS.

ORGANS.

MASON & HAMLIN'S,

ESTEY & CO.'S,

NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO.'S.

☞ Liberal discount for cash.

Persons at a distance may order with the assurance of receiving just as good instruments as though present to select for themselves. If not found satisfactory they may be returned at my expense.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal street, New Orleans.

H. W. JOHNS' PATENT.

ASBESTOS

MATERIALS.

LIQUID PAINTS.

THE finest and most durable paints in the world for structural purposes. Send for samples and references.

ASBESTOS ROOFING,

Which forms a fireproof coating, for steep or flat roofs. The only reliable substitute for the Roller Coverings, Steam Packing, Sheathing, Felts, Roof Paint, Fire-Proof Paints, Coatings, Cements, etc.

All these materials are prepared ready for use, and can be easily applied by any one. We guarantee the quality of our goods to be second to none in the world. From 15 to 25 per cent. of customary outlays can be saved by their use.

Samples, illustrated pamphlets, price lists, etc., sent free. Liberal inducements to dealers and large consumers. Send for samples and reduced price list.

From the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion.

Mr. C. H. Manship, of Jackson, one of the best painters in the State and a gentleman of great intelligence and worth, says in reference to these Paints:

"I have tested them fully, and am prepared to say that the Paints which are of all colors and shades, are not only the cheapest, but the best I have used in my experience as a painter for the last fifty years, and the certificates in my possession to the superiority of these paints above all doubt on the subject. C. H. MANSHIP.

CALEB A. PARKER & CO.,

GENERAL AGENTS FOR ALABAMA, GEORGIA, TENNESSEE, LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND TEXAS.

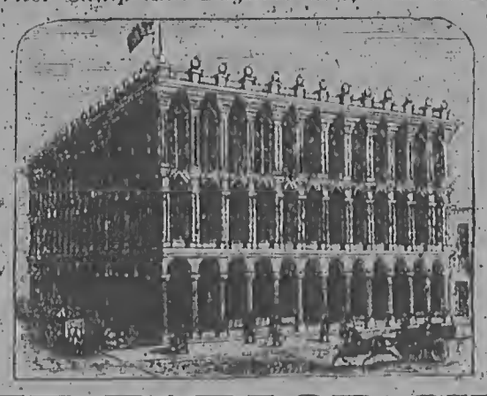
NO. 10 UNION ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY,

FURNITURE EMPORIUM,

Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.

FEATHERS. SPRING, HAIR AND MOSS MATTRESSES.



FINE PARLOR SUITS,

IN SILK, SATIN, FOTOLINE, REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.

FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.

Fine Dining Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.

MILK OF MAGNESIA

IS THE best preparation known for all disturbed conditions of the stomach. It immediately and certainly cures DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN, SOUR STOMACH and HEADACHES caused by acidity of the stomach. The pleasant taste and milk like smoothness of this preparation renders it very valuable for infants, requiring no persuasion to induce them to take it. It positively prevents food souring on the stomach, and will act as a laxative when used as directed. It is also peculiarly adapted to females. The smoothness of this preparation and its perfect solubility are made fully apparent in the following illustrations. They represent a fractional part of a single drop magnified 250 diameters. The first the celebrated Magic Wafer taken with water. The second the Milk of Magnesia now offered. The difference between them is most striking, for whereas the undissolved bi-sulphates and particles in the drop of exploded Magic Wafer are exhibited with terrible distinctness, the Milk of Magnesia has all the appearance of a cloudy vapor, entirely free from the objectionable particles which positively destroy.

Be sure to get MILK OF MAGNESIA. Ask your druggist for it, and take no other. It is entirely different from all other preparations of Magnesia. Buy no imitations or others not already acquainted with this preparation can obtain explanatory circular by addressing

C. H. PHILLIPS, Manuf'g Chemist, P. O. Box 417, NEW YORK.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of all Toilet Toothone, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati.

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Flash, Lewis & Co., John L. Adams & Co., Hartwell & Chambers, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE

TRADE MARK

BLANCHARD FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

THE BLANCHARD

BLOOD AND NERVE FOOD, or "Toilet Extract of Wheat,"

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, MENTAL PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, CATARRH, NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM, AND LOSS OF VITAL ENERGY. The only reliable Health Invigorator. $1 PER BOTTLE, sent by Express. Ask your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free. (6p)

SAM'L E. MOORE, Agt., Cor. Canal and Royal Sts., New Orleans.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED--LADY AGENTS FOR

MADAME GRISWOLD'S

PATENT SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSETS

21 E. 16th St. New York.

BRANCH OFFICE:

No. 11 WINTER ST., BOSTON, MASS.

Any of the above goods sent by mail, postage prepaid, on receipt of the price. Send for descriptive circular.

CAUTION:

Beware of purchasing book or Stamp and Trade Marks.

PEARL PRESS

Prints Equally Well from Fully Inked Cuts, Electrotypes, Stereotypes, Rubber Stamps, Etc., Etc.

*Prints Cards, Envelopes, Circulars, Billheads, Letterheads, Labels, Tags, Etc., Etc.,

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the Standard Family Medicine of the United States. Sold by druggists. Beware of counterfeits and base imitations that deceive the public and destroy the sick.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that arise from MALARIAL POISON and a DERANGED LIVER, such as Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Fevers, Chills and Fever, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Constipation, Piles, Loss of Appetite, Nervousness, Dizziness, Depression of Spirits, Blood Disorders, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Dysentery, Kidney Troubles, Scrofula, Consumption, Erysipelas, Humors, Costiveness, Colic, etc.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a

Coated Tongue, Offensive Breath, Sick Stomach, Loss of Appetite, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Nausea, Dizziness, Costiveness, Pain in the Head, Dull Sensation of Body, Fullness after Meals, Irritability of Temper, Low Spirits, Indigestion, Flatulence, Sour Eructations, Sinking at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.

BE AROUSED AND AT ONCE

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

They produce an effect which often astonishes the sufferer, and in a short time follow with Appetite, Good Digestion.

SOUND FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE.

Such are the results they are the

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

They are the best pill in Existence, and I have had many years experience in the use of pills. They represent to be. They are the best pill in Existence, and I have had many years experience in the use of pills. They represent to be. They are the best pill in Existence, and I have had many years experience in the use of pills. They represent to be.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

DR. J. ROGERS' SON'S CITRATE OF MAGNESIA

An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

This well known preparation is highly recommended by Dr. Rogers, Professor of the Stomach Department, and all complaints arising from Acidity, Biliousness and Malaria. It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a delicious beverage for children, and the most delicate ladies find it cooling and refreshing. For sale by druggists. Prepared by

A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists, N. Y.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

For sale by all New Orleans druggists. sp

[illegible] Cryptic Pills

[illegible] Concentrated Compound Cubebs, Cures the most Obstinate Cases [illegible] Manual Voice, [illegible] Organs with Scrofula, [illegible] Ointment [illegible] Cures the most Obstinate Cases [illegible] Manual Voice, [illegible] Organs with Scrofula, [illegible] Ointment [illegible] Cures the most Obstinate Cases [illegible] Manual Voice, [illegible] Organs with Scrofula, [illegible] Ointment

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1878 NO. 40.

MIDNIGHT THOUGHTS.

M... September 10, 1878.

What means you beacon's lurid glare,
That shoots through the empty street?
The stillness through the city fair,
The solemn silence which we meet?

The mighty king of life is still,
The fold of slumberers hushed in glo m,
While fever-fire, vale and hill,
Prevails the silence of the tomb.

The pestilence or rolls swiftly by,
Laden, alas, with human freight,
Stretching forth its unseen hills rude they l...
The victims of relentless fate.

What sable fire among us stalks,
And through our ranks in the gloomy darkness walks,
And in the sun of noonday wastes
...s the dark shade of death.

Its noble wings are hovering o'er,
And falling on it the chilling breath
That in every life's closing hour,
...

And all nature smiles serene,
The elements from your confines keep,
While from their dazzling sp...
...

Thy mighty hand is still,
The folds of slumberers hushed in glo m,
While fever-fire, vale and hill,
Prevails the silence of the tomb.

The pestilence or rolls swiftly by,
Laden, alas, with human freight,
Stretching forth its unseen hills rude they l...
The victims of relentless fate.

What sable fire among us stalks,
And through our ranks in the gloomy darkness walks,
And in the sun of noonday wastes
...s the dark shade of death.

Its noble wings are hovering o'er,
And falling on it the chilling breath
That in every life's closing hour,
...

And all nature smiles serene,
The elements from your confines keep,
While from their dazzling sp...
...

Thy mighty hand is still,
The folds of slumberers hushed in glo m,
While fever-fire, vale and hill,
Prevails the silence of the tomb.

The pestilence or rolls swiftly by,
Laden, alas, with human freight,
Stretching forth its unseen hills rude they l...
The victims of relentless fate.

What sable fire among us stalks,
And through our ranks in the gloomy darkness walks,
And in the sun of noonday wastes
...s the dark shade of death.

Its noble wings are hovering o'er,
And falling on it the chilling breath
That in every life's closing hour,
...

And all nature smiles serene,
The elements from your confines keep,
While from their dazzling sp...
...

Thy mighty hand is still,
The folds of slumberers hushed in glo m,
While fever-fire, vale and hill,
Prevails the silence of the tomb.

The pestilence or rolls swiftly by,
Laden, alas, with human freight,
Stretching forth its unseen hills rude they l...
The victims of relentless fate.

What sable fire among us stalks,
And through our ranks in the gloomy darkness walks,
And in the sun of noonday wastes
...s the dark shade of death.

Its noble wings are hovering o'er,
And falling on it the chilling breath
That in every life's closing hour,
...

And all nature smiles serene,
The elements from your confines keep,
While from their dazzling sp...
...

Thy mighty hand is still,
The folds of slumberers hushed in glo m,
While fever-fire, vale and hill,
Prevails the silence of the tomb.

The pestilence or rolls swiftly by,
Laden, alas, with human freight,
Stretching forth its unseen hills rude they l...
The victims of relentless fate.

What sable fire among us stalks,
And through our ranks in the gloomy darkness walks,
And in the sun of noonday wastes
...s the dark shade of death.

Its noble wings are hovering o'er,
And falling on it the chilling breath
That in every life's closing hour,
...

And all nature smiles serene,
The elements from your confines keep,
While from their dazzling sp...
...

Thy mighty hand is still,
The folds of slumberers hushed in glo m,
While fever-fire, vale and hill,
Prevails the silence of the tomb.

The pestilence or rolls swiftly by,
Laden, alas, with human freight,
Stretching forth its unseen hills rude they l...
The victims of relentless fate.

What sable fire among us stalks,
And through our ranks in the gloomy darkness walks,
And in the sun of noonday wastes
...s the dark shade of death.

Its noble wings are hovering o'er,
And falling on it the chilling breath
That in every life's closing hour,
...

And all nature smiles serene,
The elements from your confines keep,
While from their dazzling sp...
...

O Lord, we humbly pray,
Be Thy awful majesty,
...
Now is now Thy mercy see.

...in Thy strength to st...
...e tender mercies of Thy love,
...e o'er all our hearts to spea...
...longing after things above.

...may all these sorrows here
...t our illness be sanctified,
...ay (e)n Thy holy fear
...ver by Thy help aided.

THOS. O. SUMMERS.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

...louis, Sept. 30.—Gov. Shepherd and President Mitchell, a...mber of the National Relief Committee of Washington, have arrived ...pperintend the shipment of supp... to the fever sufferers at towns ...g the Mississippi river below ..., cut from off from the outside ... by the stoppage of boats or ...

...steamer War Eagle was char... for the expedition, but contri...ons came in so generally that ...ther and larger boat will have to ...obtained. Thirty thousand dol...have already been donated for ...purpose, which it is expected ...purchase upwards of four hun...tons of food and supplies. ...he purchases will be made by ...n. Beckwith, United States com...sary, and the medical stores by ...ited States Surgeon Wieman. It ...xpected everything will be ready ...last Wednesday.

...NVER, Oct. 1.—Returns thus far ...eived indicate the election of the ...ire Republican ticket, by a major... over the combined Democratic ...d Greenback vote.

...ALVESTON, Oct. 2.—The News ...ial from Palestine says: the en... business portion of this city was ...troyed by fire this morning. Loss ...mated at $145,000. Insurance ...y slight.

...CKSBURG, Oct. 3.—Weather clear ...d warm; thermometer 92. Reports ...the country show continued in...ase of yellow fever. The disease ...ms to be spreading throughout ...ds and other counties. There ...eighteen or twenty cases at Delta, ... It has also appeared at Mer... Miss. Eight deaths here to day, ...white and two colored.

...RIDIAN, Miss., Oct. 3.—Two ...d defined cases of yellow fever ...e occurred here.

...TON ROUGE, Oct. 3.—Official ...low fever report for the twenty-...hours, ending at 9 o'clock this ...ning—deaths 10, new cases 52.

...CHMOND, Oct. 3.—Dean Stanley ...arrived here. He is the guest of ... Archer Anderson.

FOREIGN.

...SBON, Sept 30.—Five batteries, ...illery leave Portsmouth on Octo... for India. The second bat... of the 14th regiment, at Burrah, ...l embark at Queenstown for In... on Saturday next.

...dispatch from Sadaia says: All ...parati...n safe advancing with the ...most speed; several regiments ...ve already been mobilized, but the ...mmissariat Department requires ...nsiderable time for its completion, ...e army is enthusiastic and the ...ject of the native troops is a hair-...e.

...NDON, Oct. 2.—A circular signed ... all the Scotch banks has been ...ued, announcing that the City of ...sgow Bank will not open its doors ...day, and will cease to issue notes ... order to lessen the inconvenience to ...e public. Other Scotch banks will ...pt its notes as usual and redeem ... the note circulation of the bank, which it is stated will be three and one quarter million dollars. The failure has caused great excitement throughout Scotland and in the London Stock Exchange, where a heavy fall in Scotch railroad securities occurred in consequence of the pressure of Scotch holders to sell. The failure is generally attributed to its resources being locked up in bills, securities and deposits of various kinds that were not readily convertible.

Proclamation by the Governor.

STATE OF LOUISIANA,
Executive Department.

Whereas, It is not only right and proper, but the bounden duty of a people, visited by calamity and affliction, to recognize their dependence upon Almighty God, and to exhibit their faith in His power and mercy: and

Whereas, The prayers which have daily and hourly ascended to His holy Throne from the households of this stricken land should find simultaneous and public utterance:

Now, therefore, I, FRANCIS T. NICHOLLS, Governor of the State of Louisiana, do hereby recommend WEDNESDAY, THE NINTH DAY OF OCTOBER, Anno Domini 1878, as a day of FASTING, HUMILIATION AND PRAYER, and that every person within the borders of Louisiana should, on that day, repair to some place of public worship, and, there humbly invoke our Heavenly Father to stay His chastening hand and deliver us from the scourge which, baffling human skill and all that devotion, courage and charity can bring to its assistance, still spreads desolation throughout our own and sister States.

And I do further recommend that at such public service God's blessings be invoked upon those who have thus generously manifested their devotion, courage and humanity in these dark hours of our supreme distress.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State of Louisiana to be affixed, at the city of New Orleans, this first day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-eight, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and third year. FRANCIS T. NICHOLLS.

By the Governor:
OSCAR ARROYO,
Assistant Secretary of State.

Relief Work.

It is a very difficult matter to arrive at an estimate of the number of people being cared for daily by the charitable associations.

In the communication of September 25 to the Secretary of War, the Howards say:

"We have to-day on our hands thus fed and tented 20,000 persons in this city alone."

The Young Men's Christian Association, under date of September 30, say:

"Upon examining our sick list, we estimate that there are 1500 families, comprising 7500 persons, that daily require rations, in addition to nursing, medical attendance, etc. This list is constantly increasing at the rate of about 100 per day."

St. George Society, under same date: "1650 families, aggregating 8250 persons, relieved by this society, exclusive of an average of 144 homeless men, fed twice daily, at the soup house; 450 individuals relieved by money, etc."

There is, besides the relief extended by the Peabodys, by the German, French, Italian and Spanish associations, about 38 or 40 in all.

"It appears probable that not less than 50,000 people in this city have been relieved in some manner, with money, food, medicines, medical attendance, etc., during the epidemic.

The figures given by the three societies specially designated above, aggregate 32,500 persons who have received attention. If the relief extended in points outside of the city be taken into consideration, some conception of the magnitude of the work going on may be formed.—New Orleans Picayune October 1.

How to Treat the Fever.

...Letter to the Citizens of the City of New Orleans, by a Practical Physician of the Last Epidemic.

NEW ORLEANS, October 1, 1878.

DEAR FRIEND—I have seen a great deal of fever in the city, and had it myself, so I thought it might be well to say a word in case any one should be taken down in your house.

Immediately that severe headache, backache, flushed face, red eyes, sometimes one, sometimes all appear, let the patient lie down.

Lie down and be covered up moderately. Keep arms under cover. Give sufficient oil to purge; need not be a severe purge; just enough to clean the bowels. Have the service made with a bed-pan, so as to avoid, above all things, the sitting up, which naturally brings exposure of the skin. Exposure of the skin and sitting up are both very bad. Do not change any sheets, or quilts, or mattresses, or shirts for three days. Keep on the socks or stockings. Give after the oil a mustard foot-bath, hot as can be conveniently borne, and restore the socks. Keep the patient lying down while you give the foot-bath, under the clothes—patient recumbent, bending the knees. Mind, no sitting up for any purpose whatever. All the work is to be done under the clothes.

Of course send for a doctor. When desired by the patient, cool wet cloths can be applied to the forehead. The great object for the first forty-eight hours is to procure and keep up a gentle perspiration. Nursing is ninety-five per cent. of the treatment. Do not let the patient see any signs of fear. Let cheerfulness be around, in action, in countenance, in voice. The patient will be restless, fretful and often angry at being kept under the clothes and at other things, but the nurse must keep a cool, imperturbable temper, watchful to cover a protruded arm or leg. Keep the forehead cool as long as it is agreeable to the patient, etc.

A good nurse is better than forty doctors. Keep drafts away, but not fresh air. The nurse may cool the lips with a teaspoonful of cool water, also with any cool tea—tansy, orange leaf. It will be the doctor's business to prescribe for the kidneys, watch the secretion or suppression of the urine, apply the useful mustard plaster to the stomach if it is threatened, and keep a professional eye upon the weak points of the general system. Do not let visitors pester the patient—talking to him or keeping up a murmur of talk in the next room, or sitting around his bed dressed up as if for a funeral. Speak to the patient when necessary, and answer his questions in a cheerful voice and manner. Do not let him sit up. The nurse or some substitute must never leave the room the first forty-eight hours, and must be governed by circumstances; only no fuss, no signs of fear, no faces a mile long and certainly no running away from it.

Not one out of twenty cases die if proper measures are immediately taken. Thousands of people here are brought through the fever by their families' nursing only.

It is a nursing fever strictly, when firmly taken hold of as one would a bully—boldly, if one would not have it sting. It is easily and successfully treated if taken in time, and seven-eighths of our best physicians have converted themselves into chief directors of nurses; only occasionally administering medicines.

Synopsis—Immediately LIE DOWN AND STAY SO. Open the bowels, the skin and, if need be, the stomach, in case a hearty meal has been taken. Keep from drafts; give fresh air, cool head applications, cool water, teas and temper, cheerfulness; no change of personal or bed clothing. Let the nurse's work be done under the coverings; give mustard foot-bath or baths, patient lying down. Use a bed-pan; no sitting up for six days, or until the doctor permits. Keep patient moderately covered. Keep friends from the bedroom or near it. Let him sleep if he wants to. In forty-eight hours the fever will break. Do not be afraid of its heel while on. If the body continues dry and hot sponge under the clothes with vinegar water and give a foot bath again. If feet get cold apply warm bricks, stones of bottles to them.

Fever once broken, see that it never comes again from sitting up, skin chilling from drafts or air exposure, over feeding, stimulating, talking to company or trying to walk around. All these things bring on a secondary attack, invariably worse, than the first. Fever broken, it is now a simple question of good sense on the part of the patient and nurse if both try, and friends do not interfere the doctor can guarantee a cure. Certainly, if experience is despised and contrary courses are pursued, contrary results will follow and failure will wait on fear and folly.

Fever broken, the valley is one of slow building up. If it is a one-day fever, it will require nine additional days to recuperate. A two-day fever requires eighteen more days. A three day fever demands twenty-seven days to reinstate the normal conditions.

After the breaking of the fever, the motto of the nurse in feeding should be, "Go slow," and when the nurse is no longer needed, say the tenth day, the patient and friends should adopt it for their's, if they would prevent all risk of having their work to do over again under very inauspicious circumstances.

Finally, have faith. Put your trust in God. If we fear Him we need fear nothing else. Good-by. Q.—New Orleans Picayune Democrat.

The growth of the nails is more rapid in children than in adults, and slowest in the aged; it goes on faster in summer than in winter, so that the same nail which is renewed in 132 days in winter requires only 116 in summer. The increase of the nails of the right hand is more rapid than those of the left; moreover it differs for the different fingers, and in order corresponds with the length of the finger, consequently it is the fastest in the middle finger, nearly equal in the two on either side of this, slower in the little finger and slowest in the thumb. The growth of all the nails on the left hand requires eighty days more than those of the right.—N. Y. Graphic.

There is joy among the angels over one sinner that repenteth more than over ninety and nine just persons that need no repentance. And apparently there is joy among evil men over one good man who falls more than over forty and nine but from whom no good was expected. But why should people and newspapers interested in the public good give more time to the one or two men who bring scandal into the Church than to the ten times nine hundred and ninety-nine who are faithful to their vows.—Christian at Work.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

At a meeting of the Board of Stewards of Carondelet Street M. E. Church, South, held September 16, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, It becomes our sad duty to record, after a brief illness, the death of our friend and christian brother, J. H. Keith; and

Whereas, Our Sunday-school, Church and the christian community sustain a loss in the death of one who, from the fullness of his heart and the brilliancy of his talent, was ever cheerfully willing and active in the support of any object that called for the relief of the needy; therefore be it

Resolved, That while God has taken from our midst, in the vigor of life, our friend, we bow with submission to His decree, who doth all things well;

Resolved, That to his bereaved family we tender our heartfelt sympathies, and commend them to the mercies of an all wise and all powerful God, who is able and willing to heal their every sorrow;

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished THE NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication, and that a copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

MRS. B. C. PATILLO, wife of Sam'l V. Patillo, was born in King George county, Virginia, May 28, 1825, and died in Greenville, Alabama, September 5, 1878.

My acquaintance with this good woman began in January, 1866. She was then living near Prattville, Autauga county, Alabama. It was her pastor during the four succeeding years, and had ample opportunity to know and admire her worth. She was an earnest christian.

I found her "a good Samaritan"—intense zeal for missions; true sympathy for the unfortunate; long night watches by the beds of the sick, testified how this woman answered the question, "Who is my neighbor?" I found her an all-hearted lover of her church.

This attachment was not with her a mere sentiment, airy and unsubstantial. It did not exhaust itself in words, but sought with diligence for means of practical expression. As her pastor I can recall scenes growing out of that feature of her life that glow with much of the beauty of that dear old picture in the gospel where Jesus turned his benignant eyes upon a timid worshiper and said: "She hath done what she could."

I found her the center of a pleasant home-life. A kind husband, loving children, comfortable surroundings were her's; yes, many of the sweet charities of home and prosperous human life.

In 1865 I removed to a distant field of labor, and for years knew nothing of her history. Last January, in assuming my present charge, I found myself once more her pastor. The sad history of the intervening years was soon told. Her husband had not escaped the general train of misfortunes that followed the civil war. Seven years since, hoping to arrest his failing fortunes, he removed to this place. It was a change, but not a change of fortune. The sky was still "dark with troubles"

"Unmerciful disaster followed fast and followed faster."

And when there came, at length, the mightiest disaster of all; when a fell paralysis seized the husband, and the last bulwark that shut the darkness out tottered to its fall, is it to be wondered at that the lurking gloom filled not only the sad home, but the very soul of the stricken wife? Of delicate frame and failing health, is it to be wondered at, that this "stranger in a strange land" lost amid this blackness the light of her burdened mind.

God, in his goodness, removed at length the cloud. The light of reason came back, and with it the light of a more blessed sun, the "sun of righteousness," to be eclipsed no more. The lips that cried in bitterness, "All Thy waves and Thy billows are gone over me," were once more able to exclaim, "my soul doth magnify the Lord, my spirit doth rejoice in God my Saviour."

But the bodily health was gone. Upon the decaying frame these years had done their work, and last Thursday morning the silver cord was loosed, and the spirit fled.

She is dead. The life given to God at twelve years of age, is now God's entirely.

A. J. S.—Baptist.

MRS. SARAH F. GERMANY, wife of H. H. Germany, died on Bayou Pontras, Point Coupee Parish, La., July 13, 1878, in the twenty-eighth year of her age.

The death of Sister Germany was very sudden. She retired at night comparatively well, and before the next day's sun had risen she passed into eternity. She left an infant daughter who survived her fourteen days, then joined its mother, where "parting shall be no more." Sister Germany was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, and had been for some years. In all the relations of life she was controlled by christian principles. She was a woman of the attainments, whose influence was felt in any circle, and her loss will be great in the neighborhood in which she lived. The church has lost in sister Germany an efficient member, and her pastor a friend. But what has been our loss has been her eternal gain.

T. K. F.

BUSINESS CARDS

G. G. GORDIN.
GORDIN & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS
AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.
Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed.....$4 00
Home-Made Shoes, sewed.....$2 to $3 50
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

W. W. CARRE,
HORACE U. BEACH, Manager.
LUMBER YARD,
340 DELORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Cabins and Dressed Lumber a specialty.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,
DEALERS IN
PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND
CANNEL COAL,
FOR FAMILY USE. Office No. 21 Carondelet street. Landing—On Levee, foot of Esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to plantation orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.
CHAS. O. LANGENBECKER, M. D.,
Successor to H. Stumpf,
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.
Dealer in fine Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. H. RUSSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL,
Oak, Ash and Pine Wood.
NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Lock Box 87.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CHASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 28 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Moreau, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

ESTABLISHED 1819.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soaps.
Office 110 IBERVILLE ST., New Orleans, La.
All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Moldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.
☞ Frames made to order—a specialty.
No. 90 Camp Street, New Orleans.

ESTABLISHED IN 1825.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Poucher Sts.
T. W. BOTHICK,
UNDERTAKER,
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Hearse for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.
We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the very lowest prices.
Silver Watches at $10 and upward.
Gold Watches at $45 and upward.
All fully guaranteed.
A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,
COLORED SATINS,
EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,
ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.
WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.
D. H. HOLMES,
155 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,
48 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Does business on Orange principles and at Orange rates.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
53 ..... ST. CHARLES STREET 53
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN
OF ALL KINDS.
Reels, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. J. H. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1508.

PIANOS.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the best and most satisfactory manner, at
Mr. Burckhardt's Manufactory,
632 ..... MAGAZINE STREET 632
Between Jackson and Josephine Sts.

WHEELER & PIERSON (successors to Darcy & Wheeler and Pierson & Howe), NOS. 13 & 15 CAMP ST., opposite the City Hotel,
CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS
FOR MEN AND BOYS.
We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. Wholesale department up stairs.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.
CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—Solid & White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
BURLAPS, Table and Stair Oil Cloths.
A. BROUSSEAU.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 17,000 students since 1867. 75 editors' professors. 116 teachers for $15. E. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

EDUCATIONAL.

READVILLA SEMINARY,
BATON ROUGE, LA.
MRS. M. W. READ, Principal. [illegible] October 3d.
For further information apply to the Principal, P. O. Box 70.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,
AT BATON ROUGE, LA.
THE next session of this school will begin on the first Wednesday in October, 1878.
This is a family Boarding School for boys. The healthfulness of the location is unsurpassed. Instruction thorough in all that is necessary to prepare the student for any grade in college or any professional life. Discipline parental. The constant personal care of the principals given to the health, morals and manners of the pupils.
For circulars, with necessary information, apply to W. H. N. MAGRUDER,
Baton Rouge, La.

GRENADA FEMALE COLLEGE,
GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI.
THE ensuing session will begin September 2, 1878. The president will be assisted by eight teachers and teachers. The college edifice is the most costly and beautiful educational structure in the State, well supplied with furniture, library, pianos, apparatus, etc. The grounds extensive and tastefully ornamented with shrubbery, accessible from all points; healthfulness unsurpassed, and the superior internal economy for the comfort, safety and happiness of young lady boarders are a few of the advantages that commend this institution to public patronage. For catalogue address REV. J. R. ARMSTRONG, A. M., President.

AUGUSTA FEMALE SEMINARY,
STAUNTON, VA.
THE largest and best institution for young ladies in Virginia, with an able corps of twenty-five teachers.
Opens the first Wednesday in SEPTEMBER, 1878, and closes on the first Wednesday in June, 1879.
For catalogues containing full particulars, address MISS MARY J. BALDWIN,
Principal, Staunton, Va.

Alabama Conference Female College,
TUSKEGEE, ALABAMA.
THE next session of this institution will open on the [illegible] 1878, for full information send for catalogue.
JOHN MASSEY, President,
Tuskegee, Ala.

Martha Washington College,
ABINGDON, VIRGINIA.
WARREN DU PRE, LL. D., President. Rev. E. E. HOSS, M. A., Secretary.
Full faculty. Thorough course in Ancient and Modern Languages, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Mathematics and Natural Science. Instrumental and Vocal Music, and other branches. Building elegant. Conveniences of the largest and finest in the country. Fare good. Terms: Board, tuition, fuel, washing and lights for forty weeks, $150. The same with Music, $200.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.
THE price and quality of board and tuition compares favorably with other colleges, while the peculiar constitution of the college and the influence of its surroundings render it an inducement the very best kind safest place for boys and young men, at a certain stage of culture which exists in the Methodist Church, South.—Rev. E. M. Green, A. M., Athens.
Address J. H. BRUNNER, D. D.,
Hiwassee College, Tenn.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. CHAS. E. KEELS & DR. M. VIET,
DENTISTS,
12 ..... DAUPHINE STREET 12
One door from Canal, New Orleans.
Dentistry in all its branches. Irregularities of the teeth corrected. Artificial Palates with the latest improvements. Teeth extracted painlessly under the influence of Nitrous Oxide Gas. Established in 1866.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
220 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and [illegible]
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. and [illegible] P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET,
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
New Orleans, La.

C. E. HILGER,
ARCHITECT
31 ..... CARONDELET ST. 31
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS
Received the HIGHEST HONORS at ALL WORLD'S EXPOSITIONS FOR TWELVE YEARS, viz: at Phila., 1876; Vienna, 1873; Paris, 1878; Philadelphia, 1876; Paris, 1867; Moscow, St. Petersburg, 1872, and GRAND SWEEPING PRIZE, Paris, 1878. Only American organs ever awarded highest honors at any such World's Fair, or Institute. ILLUSTRATED CATALOGUES, circulars with new styles and prices, sent free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., BOSTON, NEW YORK, or CHICAGO.

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS.
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Hydrant Stocks, Lift and Force Pumps, All Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns.
118 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Country orders solicited.

WASHBURN'S
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART
GALLERY,
CORNANDO, SPANISH BAND PLAY
☞ The handsomest Gallery of Cards in the South.
A PERFECT LIKENESS taken and finished in the manner required, by the finest or substantial method.
Copying and Enlarging of Pictures a specialty.
Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY.

JOHN BOIS,
DEALER IN
FURNITURE, PICTURES,
[illegible]
151 ..... Camp Street 151
Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.
No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to and carefully executed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. A. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GOUFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Mutual Dependence.

We might suppose that a large city with its banks full of money, its stores stocked with goods, and its warehouses filled with provisions could sustain a blockade of a few months with small inconvenience and with little suffering. The fact is, however, that a few weeks of suspended intercourse and trade discloses an amount of destitution that is truly appalling. The laboring and sallaried classes are either thrown out of employment, or their wages are discontinued, and the multitudes who live by their daily earnings are at once in want. The members of a community can help each other in ordinary times when misfortune comes upon individuals here and there, but when the blow falls upon all at once, relief, if there be any, must come from a distance.

The resources for self-support in our cities and villages have been pretty well measured in many instances during the last two months, and those resources have proved to be wonderfully limited. Even in the agricultural sections, where the necessaries of life are supposed to be abundant, there would seem to be no means of sustaining an unwonted strain, of even a few days. Medicines, food, money are exhausted at once and there is the cry for outside aid. This may be partly owing to the panic engendered by the overwrought and excited imagination, and by the departure in haste of those who have the capital and the supplies.

The railroad strikes, something more than a year ago, exhibited very nearly the same condition of dependence. With no epidemic scourge prevailing, let a town be isolated for a brief period and a frightful destitution is developed.

It may be regarded as the outcome of our modern civilization, and as the result of those facilities of intercommunication which now tie the world together. There is a division of labor and also of products. The South must have Western flour and bacon, and the West must have our sugar, rice and cotton. Factories must have their operatives, there must be large classes of artizans, machinists and skilled workmen in connection with a thousand branches of industry. And so it has come to pass that every single community or neighborhood, and especially every town of any considerable size is dependent upon almost every other section. The clothing, provisions, medicines, implements are drawn from many and distant parts of the country and of the world. And these supplies are paid for in products of industry, mechanical or agricultural. Even a temporary isolation leads to immediate inconvenience, and shortly to absolute want.

Our national dependence is scarcely less than that of our local. With no markets in Europe and in other parts of the world for our manufactures, breadstuffs and cotton, there would be an immediate stoppage of nearly all business, and thousands of people would be without means of earning their daily bread. Capital would be idle, there would be a general financial crash, and from the plowman in the field to the merchant prince, all would at once feel the shock. England with all her wealth and almost unlimited resources, would be hopelessly ruined if cut off from the great markets of her colonies and foreign countries. Civilization in its highest development, with its telegraphs, railroads, steamships, its system of financial exchange and commerce, and with its rapid advance in machinery, manufactures and invention is a system of mutual dependence, by which all sections and countries are bound together.

It may be that there are certain evils necessarily connected with it. But for our railroads the present pestilence would never have spread as it has done, and if there were no communication with other countries there would be no epidemic here. But, on the other hand, we have the conditions most favorable for the spread of the gospel, and for the development of that universal brotherhood which is at length to make the world one in Christ. The help extended to the famine stricken in India could not have been given otherwise than through the channels of Christian government and civilization; and this help, we are told, has given a remarkable impetus to the reception of the gospel by the Hindoos. In every instance where the occasion to help the suffering has offered, there has been a gain of mutual good will and of friendship between the helpers and the helped. The moral effects of the aid extended by this country to Ireland thirty years ago are still fresh and fragrant. As the world advances in intelligence and in enterprise, communities and countries become more and more dependent upon one another. In one point of view it would seem to be both humiliating and calamitous, but in another it secures moral advantages which are of inestimable value.

It may pay, in the end, to assist the afflicted even in a business point of view, and it may be no more than an act of commercial justice, but as prompted by benevolence, all parties are benefitted. It is more blessed to give than to receive, but as the wheel of Providence revolves, those who are the receivers now, may be privileged to become the givers another day. The open handed liberality of other sections of our country in relieving our present distress, recalls the existence of something better and nobler than petty animosities and partizan vindictiveness. In the presence of so much genuine sympathy and such large material aid, there is the assurance of substantial peace and good will. Our quarrels and differences, so far as they have affected the true men of the North and South, have been rather on the surface, while beneath, the stream of humanity has been flowing with warmth and vigor. What is really superficial, temporary, and sometimes ignoble has given place to what is noblest and most permanent in the religious and moral manhood of the people. Our mutual dependence, especially as exhibited in times of trouble, is, after all, the strongest bond of union and friendship.

The Citizens' Duty.

It is not within our province as a religious and independent journal to indicate the party to be supported. We do however regard it the duty of every intelligent citizen to cast his vote. Religious men have a grave responsibility to meet in their endeavors to shape the political affairs of the country. Especially is this the case in the South where the multitude of the lately enfranchised can neither read nor write, and where a large voting element is utterly without the qualifications which voters should possess. The ballot of an ignorant and illiterate negro, who has neither property nor intelligence, counts as much as that of the heaviest tax payer and of the best informed man in the nation.

Then again the lowest and most corrupt classes, led and organized by professional politicians and unprincipled office-seekers and intent, not on the public welfare, but on the spoils, will certainly have their own way unless the better sort of people interest themselves in the affairs of the country. We regard universal and unqualified suffrage as a great evil and one that threatens the very existence of our institutions. If good morals and intelligence could preponderate in the character of the people there would be no danger, but as it is, and as it is likely to be, there is great peril. The only safeguard is in the active interest which good people and solid men take in the elections. Not to vote is a sin of omission. Even in the primaries and conventions where the candidates are nominated there are important spheres of influence that ought not to be neglected.

The fall elections are very important. Representatives in Congress are to be chosen, and the character of the new House will determine the fate of many vital questions. In Louisiana, and in some other States, a new legislature is to be called out fresh from the people. Will the moral and religious people of our State send men to our halls of legislation who will continue to tolerate that creation of legislative infamy, the Louisiana Lottery Company, and will they assist in electing men who are inimical to any restrictions upon the sale of intoxicating liquors, and the dissecration of the Sabbath? Considering how little our moral and religious men concern themselves in political affairs, it is not wonderful that our officeholders and law makers are so generally indifferent to those measures which most affect the common welfare. We must elect better men or continue to see the dearest interests of society sacrificed. Those who neglect to perform their duty as citizens in endeavoring to have good men nominated and elected certainly have no reason to complain when the State is misgoverned by weak, incapable and unprincipled men.

Every man who has the welfare of the country at heart should inform himself on public and political questions, and in reference to the character and views of those who are candidates for office. And he should cast his vote with as much devotion to conscience and duty as in the worship of his God. His duty as a citizen is not met by merely praying for the country and for them that are in authority. He must also work and vote. Faith herein is shown by work.

The public mind, just now, is absorbed in the great affliction that pervades this and other localities, but the day of election cannot be postponed, and men will be nominated and elected. The matter should not be left in the hands of base and irresponsible men. A bad government and a corrupt legislature would be a calamity only less than that which now temporarily rests upon us. Let our religious men and our intelligent citizens be alert, and let them do their duty.

Letter From Nashville.

Dr. Sargent writes to me from Montreal, September 21, 1878, an interesting letter, from which I extract a paragraph or two for the ADVOCATE. He says:

"To-morrow will be the fifty-sixth anniversary of my devotion to the ministry, and I am to preach at 11 A. M., in Great St. James Street Methodist Church, and I intend to allude to this fact."

This is a kind of Methodist Cathedral—a very large edifice. I believe the ministers who on that date were expected to wear the gown and bands, I presume the Doctor wore them on the occasion, as I have received a capital photograph representing him so arrayed. He looks very attractive and imposing in that "gear"—as Bishop Hooper would call it. I do not censure others for wearing it, though I have always declined to don it myself.

The Doctor says that he and the Rev. Mr. Coley, fraternal messenger from the British to the Canada Conference, became very intimate. He says:

"He is the theological head of Headingly College for training young ministers. He reminds me more of our great king of Wesleyan Methodism, Dr. Bunting, than any man I have met with—his air, his tones, his pronunciation, and in fact, everything about him, is Buntingian."

The Doctor wishes me to become acquainted with Mr. Coley, and we wish it were our privilege to know him. He says:

"L. Waddy, Q. C. and M. P., was introduced to me; he is the most important layman in Great Britain. He possesses the original parchment by which Mr. Wesley conferred on Dr. Coke, the Superintendency of the Societies of North America, and the authority to organize the M. E. Church in 1781. He is a Methodist of the third generation, and a local preacher. I knew Richard, his grandfather, Sam. Donsland, D. D., his father, President of Conference, intimately, and now I am acquainted with him and his son who is with him—four generations of the Waddys. This alone compensates me for coming to Canada; and did much to lift me out of the 'pit' into which the terrible influenza had plunged me for a fortnight. To-day I had a fair chance on the Ecumenical and Centennial; after meeting the Committees and helping them to frame their report. For the action I must refer you to the Daily Witness, which I hope will give all."

The Witness of September 23, simply says:

"Principal Nolles, from the Ecumenical Council Committee, reported in favor of holding such a Council, and that a Committee of seven be instructed to enter into correspondence with other Conferences in reference thereto. Adopted.

"Rev. Dr. Sargent, delegate from the Methodist Episcopal Church, North, said the scheme of an Ecumenical Council originated with Dr. Summers, one of the leading men of that church, and who had pronounced the Canadian brethren to be 'a noble band, of Methodists.' In 1876, (1878?) the Southern Conference had authorized a Committee to correspond and arrange for such a Council."

I do not know when I said that about the Canada Methodists—but I say now they are a noble "stock of religion," as Milton said of the Waldenses, though he used the adjective "ancient." I hope this Ecumenical Conference business will prove a success.

The Canada brethren did not repeal the test law of class meetings; but from the discussions had, it is clear that it is only a question of time—some things settle themselves.

Drs. Kelley and Sargent well represented our connection at the Canada General Conference, and they were delighted with the Canada brethren.

While my son was in the jaws of death in Memphis, I could pay but little attention to passing events. The terrible scourge absorbed nearly all our thoughts. College duties have called him home. His life was preserved as by a miracle. All his colaborers fell—he alone escaped; many of those who fell never rose again. Thousands of prayers were offered for his deliverance—they were answered. Praise the Lord. How earnestly do we pray that the scourge may soon cease in Memphis, New Orleans, and all other places where it has been experienced.

Next week's Nashville Christian Advocate will contain some of my son's "meditations" in the midst of the fearful scenes where he passed a month in jeopardy every hour.

THOS. O. SUMMERS.

Nashville, Sept. 25, 1878.

By Way of Consolation.

I know how difficult it is to administer comfort.

The real difficulty lies, not in want of tenderness, nor in an over-plus of indiscriminate kindness; but in this, the hand that bandages the wound must needs touch the sore; there is balm in Gilead, but to be effective it must be applied. Read for your comfort the ninety-first Psalm. In this Psalm there is the most tender conception of Infinite tenderness the human mind has ever reached.

The only way we can realize God as a comforting God, is by transferring to Him the best human goodness, exalted into divinity. Gather from amid the reminiscenses of your life the sunniest earth-angel that ever spent, in infancy, or youth, or manhood, the costly ointment of her saintly life upon you. Estimate her worth and influence. How utterly impossible the task! Yet we often think we have fathomed the heart of God!

Our sou's difficulty lies in the direction of realization. Only let the soul grasp, in some moment of severe loneliness, the affectionateness of God and the world becomes a Tabor, and life a transfiguration. There is nothing on earth beautiful enough, or sweet enough, or tender enough, or lasting enough, to shadow to the soul the outlines of its heavenly Father.

God is the aggregate of all goodness and beauty, tenderness and strength. The elements that David finds and sings of in this Psalm, are indispensible in all those who would benefit and bless mankind.

You have been staggered, stricken, smitten! One by one, objects upon which you hung your hopes, or centered your love, or from whom you gathered inspiration for your daily toil and task, have gone—the young, the good, the useful. Death, you said, has made unjust discrimination. Why not have drawn up his chariot at the pillows of the bed-ridden and poverty-stricken? Hunger-pinched hands would gladly have flung open the garret and hospital doors, and thousands, whose whole lives have been one great groan, would have welcomed death as God's friendliest angel. But no!

"Say not, my dear, O friend, and look at him,
The angel with the unchangeable wreath,
Passing descended, and with voice divine,
Whispered a word that only sounded death."

Now you are overwhelmed with sorrow. You cannot see anything to live for. The horizon of life, which a few days ago seemed to stretch away into an infinity of delight, is now contracted, and life, wedded to loneliness is severest torture. But there are far worse things than death! Life means danger, death means safety to the good. Don't look on the sepulcher side of death, look at it from the resurrection side. If you look into the grave at all, let it be to find angels. Remember, that death is always either for the good of the one taken, or some one left behind. We are more eager to kiss the feet of Christ in the cemetery than in the unbroken family circle. Don't multiply the world by one small mound of death and call it a swinging golgotha. It is not. The grave is the door-step to the Infinite. Thank God for death. Christ took that word into His two bleeding hands and crushed out all its horror, years ago. It is now a synonyme for heaven. In an old Wesleyan Chapel, where in boyhood I worshiped, the choir was composed of half a dozen singers, with men who played violins and bass viols. I shall never forget the Sabbath night that choir sang and fiddled, "There is a land of pure delight." It had been arranged as an anthem. When the choir and instruments came up in full blast to where "Moses stood," I expected they would have taken the Jordan at a bound, but, they stood stock still for a moment, as if appalled. Then a delicate soprano, all alone, tremulously waded into "Jordan's stream and death's cold flood," and for awhile I feared the result. At this crisis a bass singer and a bass viol came to the rescue; and then they all plunged in, and for five minutes it was "Jordan's stream, Jordan's stream, nor death's cold flood" over and over again, until there was nothing left but "death's cold flood." It drowned out all the sweet fields beyond; and I was heartily glad when at last, instruments in hand, they stood exaltant on the other shore.

O! how many christians there are, who in daily life imitate that old choir. They gather up all the pains and aches, sorrow and sicknesses, darkness and deaths of a life time, and harp on them unceasingly. In prayer meeting, and class-meeting, they feel specially called upon to recapitulate briefly their manifold tribulations. They magnify Jordan, that thread of a stream, until it becomes a Mississippi, turbid, impetuous, inundating, and exaggerate death's cold flood, until all hope is frozen out of life. They let fall out of the hymn of life the fact, that "Infinite day excludes the night,

And pleasure chases pain."

ALFRED E. CLAY.

Prof. Magruder, writes us that the opening of his school, Collegiate Institute, Baton Rouge, will be postponed on account of the prevalence of the yellow fever. Notice will be given as soon as it is deemed safe for children to leave their homes or come to Baton Rouge.

President Andrews writes us that Jackson, La., has never been healthier than at present, and that Centenary College will open at the usual time, the first Monday in the month, October 7. Jackson is keeping up a strict quarantine against all infected districts. The local patronage will enable the College to organize, and students from a distance will come in in due time. Dr. Andrews states that letters for Jackson, La., must be sent by the river via Bayou Sara, as all mail matter by the ordinary route lies blockaded at Amite City.

We regret to see that the fever is increasing at Baton Rouge, and that its spread is wider and wider in Mississippi. It is reported to be in Jackson, Mississippi, and also in Meridian. But for the near approach, as we hope, of cold weather and frost, we should fear its becoming general throughout the States of Mississippi and Louisiana.

The fever in New Orleans has shown no decline for the last few days. We are having August weather, and in some sections of the city the epidemic is raging violently. For the 24 hours ending at 12 m. Friday, October 4, there were 51 deaths.

The Governor of Louisiana has appointed Wednesday, October 9, to be observed as a day of fasting and prayer. No doubt it will be duly observed by service in our churches, throughout the city and State. We are gratified that our Governor has called on the people to recognize the hand of God in their afflictions, and to appeal to Him for support and deliverance. It is an occasion for confession of sin, of hearty repentance, and of trusting to God in humble trust and dependance upon the Lord of hosts. In answer to prayer may He that dwelleth between the cherubim shine forth.

Errors.

The extract published last week from Bishop Wightman, was from a letter not to Mr. Coleman but to the columns of the Southern Christian Advocate.

The letter about the Kentucky Conference in our last number was written by our esteemed friend Bro. Thos. L. Mellen, of Natchez, Miss., not Mellow as the printer had it. But the compositor was not much to blame; lawyers as well as some others often write their names in a fearful and wonderful way.

Rev. John Mathews is up and about the house. His wife and eldest daughter are now sick with the fever. Both at this time, October 1, are doing well. Brothers Krauter and Bohmfalk, of the German ministers, are quite sick, but with good prospects of recovery. Rev. J. M. Board is still improving and will be out in a few days. Rev. Dr. Ahrens, of the German Church, and Rev. Tiff Foster, our pastor at Moreau street, though unacclimated, have not been attacked as yet.

Acknowledgment.

Rev. Henry D. Moore forwards us for the yellow fever sufferers, $5, contributed by Dr. John E. Crews, Eufaula, Alabama.

Books and Periodicals.

—"Jesus is coming" is the title of a little paper-covered volume of ninety-six pages, by W. E. B.; F. H. Revell, publisher, Chicago. The author advocates the pre-millennial theory.

NOTES on the SHORTER CATECHISM. By Alfred Nevin, D.D., LL.D. Philadelphia: Presbyterian Board of Publication.

Some things in this Catechism, we think, rather hard to explain and prove. Nevertheless the work is a good one for its purpose. The author gives arguments, scripture proofs, explanations of doctrine, and furnishes many very entertaining illustrations. The Presbyterians are very thorough in their catechetical drill. Methodists have something to learn from them in this respect. The volume is a 12mo. of 388 pages.

THESE LITTLE ONES. By Rev. W. Ham Scribner. Philadelphia: Presbyterian Board of Publication.

The volume treats of what God has commanded touching the church membership of children, and what he has promised concerning their salvation. The subject is developed and treated from the Presbyterian point of view, and as held in the Westminster Confession. The author is concise, clear and devoutly in earnest.

"DUTIES OF THE CHURCH MEMBER TO THE CHURCH" is a tract by Thomas Murphy, D. D., published by the Presbyterian Board, Philadelphia. It is an excellent treatise, and ought to be read by church members of every creed.

—Southern Cultivator for October also, the Farm Journal, for October have been received. These are both valuable periodicals, and specially useful to our Southern farmers and planters.

—American Agriculturist for October is as attractive as any number we have seen for a long time. Housekeepers, farmers and gardeners should never be without this valuable journal.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS FOR 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE OF SESSION.	BISHOP.
Wisconsin	Fond du Lac	[illegible]
Denver	Las Animas	[illegible]
Western	Wyandotte	[illegible]
Missouri	Macon	[illegible]
Illinois	Bloomington	[illegible]
Kentucky	Shelbyville	[illegible]
Montana	Helena	[illegible]
Saint Louis	Carondelet	[illegible]
Columbia	Cuba	[illegible]
Cincinnati	Chillicothe	[illegible]
Tennessee	Clarksville	[illegible]
St. Louis	Charleston	[illegible]
Indian Mission	Muscogee	[illegible]
West Texas	San Marcos	[illegible]
Pacific	San Francisco	[illegible]
Holston	Knoxville	[illegible]
Arkansas	Russellville	[illegible]
N. W. Texas	Belton	[illegible]
Los Angeles	S. Bernardino	[illegible]
White River	Searcy	[illegible]
Virginia	Petersburg	[illegible]
Florida	Gainesville	[illegible]
Memphis	Paris	[illegible]
German Miss.	Industry	[illegible]
North Texas	Ferrell	[illegible]
N. Carolina	Charlotte	[illegible]
N. Alabama	Athens	[illegible]
N. Mississippi	Macon	[illegible]
N. Georgia	Marietta	[illegible]
Little Rock	Hot Springs	[illegible]
Texas	Chappel Hill	[illegible]
S. Carolina	Newberry	[illegible]
Alabama	Marion	[illegible]
Mobile	Thomasville	[illegible]
S. Georgia	Americus	[illegible]
Louisiana	New Orleans	[illegible]
East Texas	Tyler	[illegible]
Mississippi	Meridian	[illegible]
Baltimore	Salem	[illegible]

Publisher's Department.

MR. E. E. F. ROSS, one of the [illegible] of this paper, is now traveling [illegible] and East on business connected with [illegible]. Any attention shown him will be appreciated.

MESSRS. SOLSOM BROTHERS have one of the finest gun stores in the city. They have an advertisement in our paper to which special attention is called. Their new stock, which are from first-class manufacturers are guaranteed in every respect, and sportsmen generally should call and see the very fine assortment of arms. We commend them to our friends as gentlemen.

J. S. RIVERS, the well-known [illegible] at 71 Camp street, has had a reputation of being one of the most successful printers in the city. He does any work in the stationery line as well as can be done anywhere. He is prompt and reliable, and we commend him to our friends.

The Advertisement of A. Bird & Jowder will be seen in our paper to-day. Mr. Bird has been doing work for the Advocate with this office for years, and has given invariable satisfaction.

THE AMERICAN HOUSE, Biloxi, Miss., stands high with the traveling public. The proprietors, by an unvailing spirit of courtesy, and attending carefully to the wants of their guests, have made for it a reputation for their hotel. Those who have stopped at the American House

The Light of the Heathen.

Preaching on one occasion in a country village, and being anxious simply to answer the question, "Have not the heathen sufficient light?" his illustration was exceedingly simple and graphic. "I admit," said he, "that the heathen have some natural light; but they do not use even this aright. Now, suppose the whole family in a farmhouse, assembled round the large kitchen fire on a winter's evening, all peaceful and happy. Presently the stable boy opens the door and cries out, 'Master! the thieves are robbing the hen-roost!' Up they all start; the farmer rushes to his closet for a lantern; he lights the candle, runs out and, holding up the light nearly to his head, advances with cautious steps. The wheelbarrow has been left in the way, and over it the good man falls; and why? Because he has no light? No, because he used it improperly. Thus it is with the heathen."—Anecdotes by Rowland Hill.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

NEW DISCOVERY

An Antidote for Malarious Miasmatic Poisons. It Breaks up Chills, Fever, Bilious, Remittent, Congestive Chills, Dumb Chills, or Congestive or Typhoid Fever, Pneumonia, Sore Eyes, Intermittent Fever, Rheumatism, Etc. With Malaria in the blood the functions of the body fail to perform their proper duties, and Disease is the result. No other Medicine required, it is used alone.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine will break up the most inveterate case of Chills and Fever in the shortest time on record. Thousands of testimonials have been received by Dr. J. H. McLean, from persons who have used it in the Mississippi Valley. Thousands of druggists have ordered it by the gross, and sell it as fast as they can get it. Thousands of wonderful Magic Pain Killers have been sold in the Mississippi Valley. This new all-conquering Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine, will do more than all of the Magic Pain Killers ever sold in the Mississippi Valley. Try it. Be Rational. Take no Pain Killer. Take Dr. J. H. McLean's Liquid Substitute for Quinine, and be cured of Chills and Fever

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the recognized Standard Family Medicine in the UNITED STATES. Scarcely a family can be found from MAINE to MEXICO that does not use them.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits.

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that result from MALARIAL POISON and a DERANGED LIVER, such as Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Typhoid Fevers, Chills, Colic, Sick Headache, Choleraic Diarrhœa, Nervousness, Dizziness, Palpitation of the Heart, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney Diseases, Chronic Constipation, Piles, etc.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a

Dull pain in Shoulder, Coated Tongue, Costive Bowels, Weight in the Stomach after eating, Sour Eructations, Aversion to Exertion of Body or Mind.

BE ADVISED, AND AT ONCE

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

The first dose produces an effect which often astonishes the sufferer, and in a short time follow an Appetite, Good Digestion,

SOLID FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE.

A sufferer says they are the

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

DR. TUTT, I have used your Pills for Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never had anything before to so much good in the way of medicine. They are as good as you represent them. They are the best Pill in Existence, and I do all I can to have others use their good efforts. J. W. HOLLEY, Decatur, Miss.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York. nr-sp

DRY IN POWDER. ROGERS' CITRATE OF MAGNESIA

An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

This well known preparation is highly recommended for DYSPEPSIA, HEADACHE, Sickness of the Stomach, Heartburn, and all complaints arising from Acidity, Biliousness and Malarial Fevers. It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite purgative, and its acidity and sweet taste render it refreshing and refreshing. Put up in 6 ounce bottles. Prepared by

A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists, N. Y.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

For sale by all New Orleans Druggists. su

WATERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGA

is the most beautiful musical style and perfect in tone ever made. It has the celebrated Concerto stop, which is a fine imitation of the Human Voice, and two and a half Octaves of bells tuned in perfect harmony with the reeds, & their effect is magical & electrifying.

WATERS' CLARIONA, ORCHESTRA CONCERTO, VESPER, CENTENNIAL CHURCH, CHAPEL and COTTAGE ORGANS. Unique French Cases are in every instance FIRST CLASS.

WATERS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE, and Upright ARE THE BEST MADE, the Purest Tone, Workmanship & Durability unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Installments received. A Liberal Discount to Teachers, Ministers, Churches, Schools, etc. AGENTS WANTED. Special inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments at Great Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK. Box, 3567.

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the last installment of our fall stock of these goods (unexpectedly delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection. An Breech-loading Shot Guns in our assortment to some comprises upward of 30 different styles and patterns, ranking through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be confidently adduced lower than ever before, owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while as our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from the Civil War. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves, what you wish to buy now or not. FOLSOM BROS.,

9 Decatur (Old Levee) St., opp. Postoffice.

Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

W. C. TOOMER.

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE—48 Carondelet St., Cor. Union.

NEW ORLEANS

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made in this market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in this city for Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Stocks on Pearl River. Lumber for Plantation use filled to order.

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

182 MAGAZINE ST., near 14th, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

ICE! ICE! ICE!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

FAMILIES SUPPLIED AT LIBERAL RATES.

ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

WILLIAM MYERS,

SIXTH STREET, between Magazine and Tchoupitoulas Sts., opposite the Market.

THE TREMONT HOUSE.

The Palace Hotel of Chicago.

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLANS.

AMERICAN PLAN.

Rooms, with board, $4 per day.

Table Choice and Unsurpassed.

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms, without board, $1 to $4 per day

Restaurant the finest in the West.

JEWETT, WILSON, Manager.

JAS. COPP, Proprietor.

Meneely & Kimberly,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.,

Manufacture superior quality of Bells. Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS. Illustrated Catalogue sent free.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

MEDICAL.

The Most Refreshing Toilet Article.

CASSEBEER'S

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

(EAU DE QUININE)

WILL preserve, cultivate beautify, arrest the fall of and restore a silken softness to the Hair, and will not soil the most delicate fabric. Price, $1.

Cassebeer's Ammonia Lozenges.

For mitigating coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, dry throat, etc., and in facilitating expectoration. Price, 25 cents, send by mail.

Both excellent preparations are for sale by all druggists, and by the proprietor, H. A. CASSEBEER, Apothecary, 57 Fourth avenue and 337 Sixth avenue, New York.

Jenkin's ANNIHILATOR

The Great Southern Remedy for

RHEUMATISM, GOUT and NEURALGIA

IS PURELY VEGETABLE, and can be taken without fear of any injurious result by the delicate as well as the robust in constitution. It purifies the Blood, stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and eradicates every vestige of the above diseases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. Pamphlets, containing testimonials and valuable advice, sent free to any address.

N. JENKINS & CO., Proprietors, New Orleans, La.

FINLAY & THOMPSON, Wholesale Druggists, General Agents, New Orleans, La.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by a true process of re-vitalization.

REMARKABLE CURES have been made in Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Headache, Neuralgia, Catarrh, and the severe train of ailments which come from nervous depression.

LOSS OF VITALITY [illegible] the nervous forces of the body, and especially IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES [illegible] who have used the New Treatment.

FREE! A Treatise upon the Compound Oxygen, with many testimonials to remarkable cures, sent free. Address DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard St., Philada.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 208 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. J. H. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKellops and Eames, leading dentists of St. Louis; James Lapp, M. A. Wolff; Frank Shapleigh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. S. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Sheckle, Agt. N. W. Pas. Co., St. Louis; John Bentley, Agt. Ill. C. R. R.; Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; L. Billon, Wiggins Ferry Co; Capt. Jerry Wood, steamer Minneapolis, and others.

MISCELLANEOUS.

J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOOPER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.

152 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS

IN

CARRIAGE, WAGON

AND

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

And Manufacturers of

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons.

All at Reasonable Prices.

68 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.,

Between Common and Gravier.

NEW ORLEANS.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

LADIES', GENTS', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.

MY MOTTO—"Quick Sale and Small Profits."

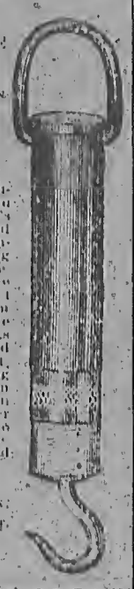
Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.

A BEAUTIFUL, USEFUL and EASY-SELLING ARTICLE



Wanted by every Farmer, Hunter, Trapper, Fisherman, Sportsman and Every Family.

The most perfect scale ever invented. Is graduated from 2 oz. to 1 lb., is about the size of a man's watch, weighs only 2 oz., and can be carried in the pocket without inconvenience. Thus being always ready to meet an ever recurring and universal want. "Upon holding both it and the letter it will at the same instant weigh it," by an ingenious contrivance this little wonder does so. A child may be so adjusted as to give the exact weight of mail matter, without, subtracting the weight of the receptacle in which the mail is weighed an advantage possessed by no other scale. It can be hung on a post or suspended by a buckle plated and will be sent post paid on receipt of 70 cents.

GEORGE BETTS,

575 Broadway, New York.

Sole Proprietor and Manufacturer.

AGENTS WANTED.

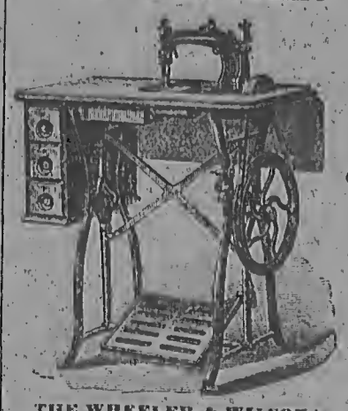
PIANO Another bottle of high priced, Worthless ORGAN Nonsense Send stamp for Beauty's latest Newspaper and Full Particulars sent free. Before buying PIANO or ORGAN read my latest circular. Beauty's celebrated Patent and Organs, in case of dispute, plays Challenge and Parlor. Rivals are tempting me by offers. Most successful house in America. Commenced in a few years ago. Now manufacturing 10,000 Organs yearly. Lowest price ever given. Magnificent Parlor Organ, $125; 10 stop Church Organs, $115. Personal attention given to orders. Address WAR DANIEL F. BEATTY, WAR Washington, N. J., U.S.A.

SEWING MACHINES.

WHEELER AND WILSON

NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!



GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to		$60.
"	90	50.
"	85	45.
"	80	40.
"	75	35.
"	70	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self setting needle.
It never cuts the thread or goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no noisy cog wheels.
It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It allows the work to run back from the operator.

Send for our New Cash Price List.

CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

M. A. PECK, Gen. Agent for La., Ala. and Miss

OFFICE AND SALESROOM—102 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. sp

WE DO NOT WONDER.

We do not wonder that housewives who have been accustomed to use Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts should turn in disgust from the trash often sold under the name of Flavoring Extracts, which stink smells and tastes like turpentine. Dr. Price's Flavoring Extracts have the taste and odor of the fresh fruits.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Farmers, Equitable and Others can purchase no remedy equal to Dr. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, for the cure of Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Croup, Colic and Sea Sickness, taken internally. It is perfectly harmless; use with it according to directions, and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Cuts, Burns, Scaldings, Bruises, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Pains in Limbs, Back and Chest. The VENETIAN LINIMENT was introduced in 1347, and no one who has used it but continues to do so, many stating it it was ten dollars a bottle they would not be without it. Thousands of certificates can be seen at the depot, speaking of its wonderful curative properties. Sold by the druggists at 50 cents. Depot, 42 Murray street, New York. sp

Religious Notices.

THE Wilkie Springs camp meeting, Perote circuit, Eufaula district, Alabama Conference, will commence on Friday night before the fourth Sunday in September, 1875. All are invited to attend.

JAMES L. MATHESON, P. C.

THE camp meeting at George's Bethel will embrace the second Sabbath in October—beginning October 9. Preachers will be met at Chunchula, on the Mobile and Ohio railroad, and conveyed to the camp ground. There will be arrangements made for the conveyance of other visitors from the railroad at moderate rates. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan. All preachers are invited, and ample accommodations will be provided for them.

O. M. ROPER, P. C.

THERE will be a camp meeting at China Grove, Pike county, Miss., beginning on the third of October next, known as the China Grove and Pearl River camp meeting. We have plenty of good water and camping ground, which we offer to the public free of charge, and cordially invite everybody to come and prepare for their own accommodation, as it will be strictly self-sustaining. There will be a lot for horses, and a boarding tent, for those who prefer paying the money, on very reasonable terms. Ministers of the gospel are earnestly requested to attend, for whom, with their families, accommodations will be made.

P. HOWARD,
L. W. CONRAD.

THE annual camp meeting at Asbury camp ground will embrace the fourth Sabbath in October, commencing on Thursday night before. The above named camp ground is located in the bounds of the Sepulga circuit, Prattville district, Alabama Conference. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan—that is, all are expected to provide their own lodging and board. Ministers and their families will be provided for.

ROBERT SMITH, P. C.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Jackson and Plains, at the usual	Sept. 15, 16
Wilkinson at Malwood	22, 23
Attala, at Siders	29, 30
Bethabara at Mount Carmel	Oct. 6, 7
East Feliciana at Pine Grove	13, 14
East Baton Rouge at Bethel	19, 20
Pickens at Pine Grove	26, 27
Williams	Nov. 2, 3
Woodville and District and Quarterly Conference	8, 10
Clinton	16, 17
Macedonia at Macedonia	23, 24
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	30, Dec. 1
St. Francisville, at [illegible]	Dec. 7, 8

The District Conference in Woodville is postponed until November 8, 9 and 10.

JAMES A. GODFREY, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Ridge and Forest Hill	Sept. 14, 15
Rock Hill	21, 22
Raymond	28, 29
Madison circuit	Oct. 5, 6
Shuqualak circuit	12, 13
Canton circuit	19, 20
Brownsville circuit	26, 27
Jackson circuit	Nov. 2, 3
Yazoo circuit	9, 10
Tranquil circuit	16, 17
Silver Creek circuit	23, 24
Yazoo City station	30, Dec. 1
Carroll station	Dec. 7, 8
Jackson station	14, 15

F. M. FRATHERSTON, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Port Gibson	Sept. 14, 15
Fayette at Edom's	21, 22
Kingston	28, 29
Natchez	Oct. 5, 6
Rocky Springs, at Center Grove	12, 13
Cayuga, at Reeves' chapel	19, 20
Warren, at Frechtown	26, 27
Delta, at Fletcher's chapel	Nov. 2, 3
Mound Place, at Mound Place	9, 10
Rolling Fork	16, 17
Clover Hill and Calvary	23, 24
Vicksburg	30, Dec. 1

W. L. C. HUNSUCKER, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pleasant Valley and Zion Hill, at Zion	Sept. 21, 22
Georgetown circuit, at Georgetown	28, 29
Bethel circuit, at [illegible]	Oct. 5, 6
Brandywine circuit, at Hebronville	12, 13
Beauregard circuit, at Hickory	19, 20
Scotland circuit, at Lake Ville	26, 27
Meadville circuit, at Neosho	Nov. 2, 3
Summit circuit, at Johnson Station	9, 10
Ragsdale circuit, at Ragsdale	16, 17
Brookhaven circuit, at Wesson	23, 24
Crystal Springs	30, Dec. 1
Hazlehurst	Dec. 8, 9

Reports for the year will be due at these Conferences from pastors, local preachers, trustees and stewards. Superintendents received and forwarded to the Appointing Committee in charge of the presiding elder.

W. B. M. LINSTEAD, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meridian	Aug. 31, Sept. 1
Shubuta, at [illegible]	Sept. 14, 15
Enterprise	21, 22
Wayne at Lake [illegible]	24, 29
Paulding, at Hopewell camp ground	Oct. 5, 6
Decatur, at New Hope camp ground	12, 13
Philadelphia, at Bethel	19, 20
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	26, 27
Lauderdale mission, at Spring Hill	Nov. 2, 3
Macon, at Macon	9, 10
McGowan, at Squire chapel	16, 17
Ellisville mission, at Hebron	23, 24
Lake [illegible] at Chunky	30, Dec. 1
Sterling Hill	Dec. 7, 8

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Franklin Street	Oct. 5, 6
Tomtmanville	6, 7
Citronelle at George's	12, 13
Stockton	13, 14
Pollard, Powhon and B. Water, at Coon Hill	26, 27
Okatumpa, at Bethel	Nov. 1, 2
Chelon	7, 8
St. Stephen's, at New Hope	9, 10
Pensacola	13, 15
Warrington	17, 18
Milton and Yellow River	20, 21
Grand Bay, at Mt. Elim	Dec. 1, 2
St. Francis Street	7, 8

Local preachers and trustees will please have their reports ready. Stewards, make earnest, honest efforts to settle with your pastors.

S. H. COX, P. E.

BUFFALO DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Reuben	Oct. 26, 27
Pea River	Nov. 1, 2
Newton	9, 10
Enon and Midway	15, 17
Perote	19, [illegible]
Villula	24, 24
Glennville	25, [illegible]
Henry	29, [illegible]
Columbia	Dec. 1
Ozark	Dec. 3, [illegible]
Clayton	[illegible]
Willie Pond	[illegible]
Eufaula	[illegible]

The Stewards are requested to make a full settlement with their preachers on this round. They know their duty—let them perform it.

HENRY D. MOORE, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BUENA SALUD

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia & all Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Coca leaf of Bolivia, and is highly recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of this leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peru and Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

QUICHUA COCA CO.,

No. 7 William St., New York.

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

P.O. 29 CAMP AND 116 COMMON ST.,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15 to will buy an elegant Porcelain DeTerre (nearly equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable) DINNER SET, comprising 124 pieces to wit:

12 Dinner Plates	1 Soup Tureen
12 Tea Plates	1 Sauce Boat
12 Soup Plates	1 Salad Dish
12 Preserve Plates	2 Covered Dishes
12 Butter Plates	2 Vegetable Dishes
12 Tea Cups and Saucers	1 Meat Dish
12 Coffee Cups and Saucers	2 Pickle Dishes

Stone China DINNER SETS
Stone China TEA SETS
Decorated CHAMBER SETS
Real French China DINNER SETS
Gold Band China TEA SETS
Table TUMBLERS
Table GOBLETS

WHITE GOODS PRICES.

sp W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

GOODWYN'S EUREKA YEAST POWDER a production of chemistry, is both pleasant with the taste and the delight of all experienced housekeepers, and no wonder, for it is an article of the very highest order of merit. Send for circular and prices.

P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer,
No. 30 Magazine street, New Orleans, La.

WATER WHEELS.

THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE

TURBINE WATER WHEEL,

PORTABLE AND STATIONARY

STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS,

SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS,

MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING,

SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS

Of Improved Designs, A Specialty.

Address, POOLE & HUNT,

Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD

BLYMYER M'F'G CO BELLS

Church, School, Fire Alarm Bells; cast in the best, warranted satisfactory. Catalogue with 700 testimonials, prices, &c., sent free. Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O. sdw

18 ELEGANT New Style Chromo Cards, with name, 10c., post paid. Geo. I. Reed & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

FITS OR EPILEPSY.

To the Editor of the Advocate:

DEAR SIR—Will you please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above disease; and that by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst and of long standing, and will give

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

for a case it will not cure or greatly benefit. Indeed, so strong is my faith, I will send

ONE BOTTLE FREE,

together with a valuable treatise, to any sufferers addressing me, giving their name, express and address. Please show this letter to any one you may know who is suffering with this terrible disease and oblige,

Respectfully yours,

DR. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl Street, N

MISCELLANEOUS.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT T DEPOT

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.25 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.25. Best at $1.40 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice $1.50.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GROUND RIO, parched or ground ..... 25c. per lb.
CHOICE RIO, " " ..... 30c. "
CHOICE CORDOVA, " " ..... 35c. "
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA, " " ..... 40c. "

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station in Mobile or Jackson Railroad. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send 30c. extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

London M'f'g Co.'s Essence of Meat

ESSENCE OF BEEF, MUTTON, CHICKEN.

For Invalids, Children and persons of delicate Health.

Particularly adapted for YELLOW FEVER convalescents.

BEST THING KNOWN for CHILDREN'S COMPLAINTS. IN CASES OF SEA SICKNESS—Affords immediate relief.
FOR INVALIDS—Natural, Pleasant, Refreshing. Nourishment.
FOR DISPEPTICS—Readily Assimilated. AFTER CHILD-BIRTH—Meat Stimulant. Concentrated Form.
FOR TRAVELERS—Very Convenient. Retains the fine flavor and smell of the meat.

Will remain on the stomach when the finest food or soup will not. Taken cold from the can needing no preparation whatever. Entirely takes the place of Beef Tea.

Prepared only by the LONDON MANUFACTURING CO.,

71 & 73 VARICK STREET, NEW YORK.

For Sale by L. L. LYONS, New Orleans, La.

Patented May 3rd, 1870.

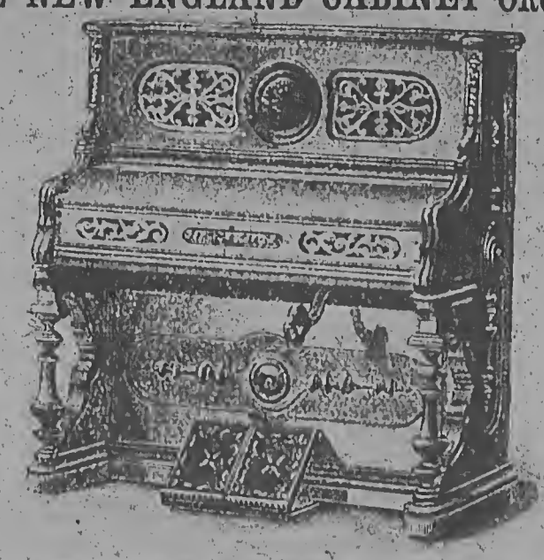
The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Man'f'g C

Every cow-brown-eyed cow should have one of our wonderful Milkers. A child can use them. Sent free to any part of the United States on receipt of $2. Send for our Illustrated Pamphlet and Price Catalogue containing the opinions of leading Agriculturists and dairymen throughout the United States and views of cows' heads with bag diagrammed and properly Explained, by Drs. White and Wilson of this city. Sent free by mail.

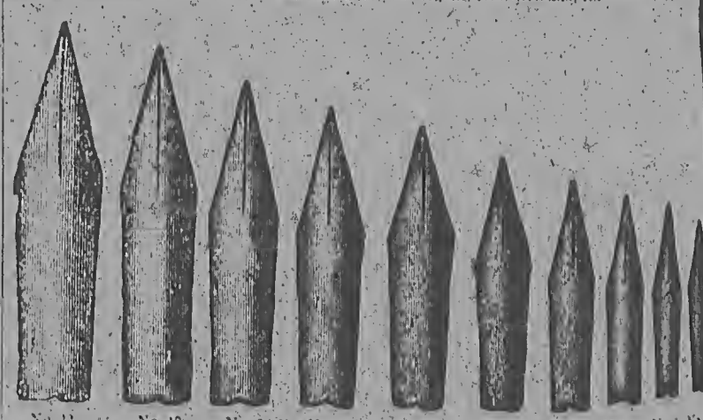
GEO. E. KING, President.

Office, 571 Broadway, New York.

THE NEW ENGLAND CABINET ORGAN



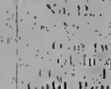
CONTAINS all modern improvements, and are furnished in a variety of styles and prices, combining adapted to Church and Home use. Every instrument fully warranted. Illustrated catalogues sent free upon application to the NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO., 1299 Washington St., Boston, Mass. PHILIP WERLEIN, Sole Agent, New Orleans, La.



No. 12. No. 10. No. 9. No. 8. No. 7. No. 6. No. 5. No. 4. No. 3.

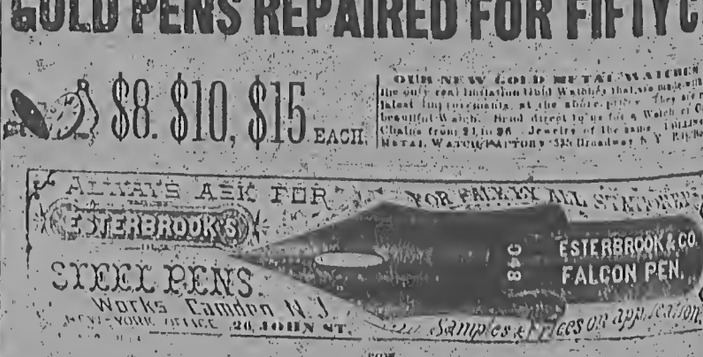
Our twenty years experience in making and selling Gold Pens enables us to offer goods of unequalled quality. Our New Illustrated Catalogue of Gold Pens, Pen Holders, etc., sent free. Illustrated Pamphlet, containing the above Pen, sent to any address on receipt of price. C. P. BARNES & CO., Gold Pen Makers, 221 Main Street, Between Sixth and Seventh, Louisville, Ky.

GOLD PENS REPAIRED FOR FIFTY C



$8. $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES, the only real imitation Gold Watches that are made, the latest improvements at the above prices. They are beautiful watch. Send direct to us for a Watch or Chains from $1 to $6. Jewelry of the same. Tables. METAL WATCH FACTORY, 325 Broadway, N. Y. Box



ALWAYS ASK FOR ESTERBROOK'S

AGENCY 26 JOHN ST. Samples & Prices on application.

sow

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERYBODY ANSWERS—YES

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY is the only reliable remedy. Simply wheat in the usual grain rendered powerfully poisonous to certain and is really Nature's remedy for these annoyances and thorough even punishing at rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will at once relieve you from these annoyances and destructive pests. Price, only 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States at

M. P. CREAMER & BRO'S.,
Manufacturing Chemists,
94 Tchoupitoulas street,
Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S, 35 Magazine street. sp

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTURERS WAREHOUSE,

No. 91 John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

WIRE RAILING AND Ornamental Wire Work

DIEHL & CO., No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Arbors, Fenders, Cages, Sieves, Wire Cloth and Coal Screens. Wove Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples worth $5 free. Address STINSON & CO., Portland, Maine.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1878 NO. 41.

GOD EVERYWHERE.

"Ask that your joy may be full."—John xvi. 24
"Rejoice evermore."—Rom. v, 11.
"Peace in the Lord always."—Phil. iii, 1.

Everywhere, for God is everywhere
His children need not roam;
He seeks them ever come,
Tis sin to find their home.

Everywhere, for Rest is everywhere
Since we have our rest,
In Him forever blest,
All welcome to His breast.

Everywhere, for Peace is everywhere
Beyond the jar the peace
Which brings joy's true increase,
And ends all warfare ceases.

Everywhere, for Work is everywhere
Where God finds His rest,
In His works at best,
Most like Him the most blest.

Everywhere, for Love is everywhere
Seen by we all can prove,
The only as to His above,
To reach the life above.

Everywhere, for Christ is everywhere
Who all beauty lives,
Who by he freely gives,
Which all change outlives.

Everywhere for Glad ever where
And Him and His to praise
Who satisfies always,
Whose service Rapture.

—Anne Ballen.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—A dispatch to the Surgeon General from Holly Springs reports the situation there unchanged. Fever deaths to date , and great destitution.

A mulatto named Stone cut the throats of his wife and sister-in-law last night. Neither is expected to live. Cause, jealousy. Stone narrowly escaped lynching by the crowd which followed him to the police station.

The Adjutant General to-day received a telegram from Gen Sheridan announcing that the Cheyenne Indians were closely pursued by the troops. Reports were also received that the Indians at Spotted Tail Agency have left the reservation and are committing depredations in the surrounding country. The situation regarded as serious.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6—A special to the Globe-Democrat from Topeka says: The Indians who recently went north, after crossing the Kansas Pacific Railroad, struck to Decatur county and raided the settlements here. Their main depredations were on Sappa Creek. Every residence for twelve miles was plundered of all cattle stampeded, and what of crops was left by the Indians has been eaten up or destroyed by the stock. The number of the killed is not yet known.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 6—Yellow fever epidemic here. Fifty cases to date; nine deaths, all white.

JAS. D STEWART.
President H. A.

VICKSBURG, Oct. 6.—Thermometer 88. Slightly cloudy all day and to-night. Reports confirm continued spread of the fever through the country and at Delta, La.

Three interments to-day, only one of them from Vicksburg. Miss Sarah H. Sweet, one of our oldest citizens, died this morning at Beach Grove, near Vicksburg, of pneumonia.

THOMPSON, Oct. 6—Thirty new cases, one death, a five year old daughter of Gov. Nicholls.

MEMPHIS, TENN., Oct. 7.—Among the new cases reported to night are Mrs. Robert Britton, Miss Carrie Plant, Mrs. Lippold, and the wife of the late Rev. E. C. Slater. Eighteen physicians of the Howard Medical Corps report 97 new cases.

VICKSBURG, Oct. 7.—Four deaths in the city; six from the immediate neighborhood. Among the new cases to-day is Dr. H. Shannon.

The telegraph office at Greenville, Miss., is closed. Operators all down with the fever.

BATON ROUGE, LA., Oct. 7.—111 new cases and 11 deaths of yellow fever are officially reported, with one physician to hear from, for the 48 hours ending this morning.

The scourge is steadily and constantly doing its work now, and there is no prospect of abatement as yet. The weather continues hot and oppressive. A great many cases are reported as doing badly.

HOLLY SPRINGS, Oct. 7.—The number of new cases yesterday was 18, number to-day 8; number deaths yesterday was 3 to-day 2; and are as follows: Miss Allen, George Strother, Mrs. Howcraft, Jacob Mohl and one other. This shows a marked abatement in the disease, and the physicians say that at the close of the week the fever will be entirely under control.

MOBILE, Oct. 7.—Since October 1 the Board of Health reports 8 new cases and 3 deaths, of which 1 was a case previously reported and 2 were of the 8 cases reported since the first instant. 4 cases now under treatment.

GALVESTON, Oct. 7.—A News special from Mason, Texas, October 6, says: Information has been received of Indian raids near Junction City. Three girls and a boy, named Dowdy, were killed on Johnson's Fork, Guadalupe River. Reports from the surrounding country show that the Indians are stealing stock and murdering settlers. A general raid is feared.

CHATTANOOGA, October 8.—Four deaths reported and twenty new cases, among the latter Drs. G. A. Baxter and E. M. Baird. Weather unfavorable, but the disease is still in its first quarter. A camp has been established on Bald Knob.

GRAND JUNCTION, TENN., Oct. 8. Three new cases; no deaths to-day.

At Lagrange, Tenn., two deaths and four new cases.

DECATUR, ALA., Oct. 8.—About forty sick, many with fever.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 8—noon.—The weather has settled warm, which is favorable to further spreading of the disease. From 6 o'clock last night until noon to-day twenty-two deaths are reported by the undertakers.

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 8.—Official report of yellow fever for the twenty-four hours ending this morning at 6 o'clock: New cases, 47; deaths, 4.

PORT GIBSON, Oct 8.—No deaths in town since Sunday's report. A few cases and but few to leave the fever. News from the country is fearful. The following whites have died since last report: Dr. Thomas Young, Bernard Newman, son of Louis T. Newman, John J. B Randell, Bertron Purnell Ben Humphreys, Jr., son of Hon. B. W. Humphreys, Mr. Stewart, and Mr. Shannon on G. W. Humphries' place, two named Goosehorn—mother and son—and Rev. S. R. Berton. At least forty whites have died of yellow fever in the country. The number of deaths of colored persons not known, but many more than of whites.

FOREIGN.

BERLIN, Oct 6.—It is stated that Emperor William will resume the reins of government immediately upon the passage of the Socialist bill.

LONDON, Oct. 6—A dispach from Simla says: The British troops occupied Jamrood, and subsequently stormed the fortress of Alemujed in Khyber pass. Several of the hill tribes have joined the English.

LONDON, Oct 6.—Lord Chelmsford, who was Lord Chancellor under Earl Derby's administration, and who retired in 1865, died yesterday in the eighty-fourth year of his age.

Dr. Austin's Treatment for Yellow Fever.

The following course of treatment for yellow fever was furnished by Dr. W. G. Austin of New Orleans, to his daughter-in-law, who is in the interior of the State, and who requested it for her own guidance and use in case of attack. Believing it may be of use to others not familiar with the disease, we have obtained a copy for publication. By its possession valuable lives may be saved. Dr. Austin has had an experience of many years in yellow fever epidemics, and has had remarkable success in his practice.

MY DEAR DAUGHTER: I send you by your request my treatment of yellow fever this year.

When the patient complains of headache, backache, and has flushed face and injected eyes. Sometimes one, sometimes all these symptoms appear and has more or less fever with chilly sensations, put the patient to bed under cover consisting of two blankets, keep arms under cover, give a purge of calomel say ten grains, followed by castor oil in eight hours afterwards. This practice of calomel first, I find best in the country or even city, if there is malaria in the system. In ordinary cases where the tongue is clean castor oil is sufficient.

The object is to empty the bowels well and slightly stimulate the liver. Use the bed-pan. Never under any circumstances allow the patient to sit up or raise his head from the pillow—it excites restlessness and the nervous system never recovers from it. I have the back, over the kidneys, well rubbed with spirits of turpentine, and where I find any reason to suspect kidney trouble I would add one-half teaspoonful of spirits turpentine to the oil or even one teaspoonful will not be too much. DO not change the clothing on bed or patient for five or six days, and in a bad case, let them remain longer. Give immediately after the purge is given a mustard foot-bath, hot as they can have it, put the bath tub in the foot of the bed; the patient laying on his back with his legs drawn up so he may rest easy for the half-hour that the feet remain in the bath. At the same time he should drink orange leaf tea hot through a glass tube, or a sick cup that is used to drink out of lying down. The drink of hot orange leaf tea should be given every half hour, or as often as the patient calls for drink, until the first twenty-four hours are past. Then the patient will have tired of the warm drinks and require cold, and they should by all means be given. After the first or second foot-bath a hot brick, wet with vinegar, can be occasionally put to the feet wrapped up in a piece of flannel, merely to keep up a gentle perspiration for at least forty-eight hours. After this, one blanket should be taken off and a sheet and one blanket or a counterpane should remain. About this time your patient will become restless. Never give any opiate to quiet him, but resort to sponging with tepid vinegar and water every half hour, until the fever entirely subsides, which will vary this year from forty to seventy-two hours. Nervous heat which is sometimes taken for return of fever can be easily quieted down by giving cold water injections, sometimes stupid, depending upon the temperature of the skin. These water injections I would recommend daily throughout the critical days. I generally keep them, the bowels pumped full. Some of the water must absorb and prevent to some extent this kidney trouble that has destroyed so many patients this year. If brandy and beef tea readily absorb by enema why should the cold water fail to do so? Keep your patients from drafts, and close all openings that will let in north wind, allowing your patient fresh air sufficient to keep the room at a proper temperature. Keep the forehead cool while the head is hot or painful with very cold water applied with a cloth to the forehead. If you can get it, ice water is preferable, if not to be had, use the cold well water. After the pain leaves, keep the head cloth on if agreeable to the patient.

After the patient has been purged give one-half drop of "Fleming's Tincture of Aconite every hour until the fever leaves unless the aconite disagrees with the stomach. Should it produce nausea stop it at once. Apply a blister (Cantharides) over the stomach if the patient complains of a load or heavy feeling there. This blister should always be covered, after spreading the ointment, with pulverized camphor to prevent strangury. It should be kept on eight hours to get the specific effect of the Cantharides. In every case where the patient is taken with a cold, sore throat, or cough I invariably give chlorate of potassium, twenty grains dissolved in one ounce of water. Dose, teaspoonful every two or three hours, this chlorate, protects the mucous surfaces and prevents glandular swellings about the neck which often proves fatal in yellow fever. The chlorate of potassium can be given at any period of the disease when the stomach is not irritable. It never irritate the stomach. After the first twenty-four hours of sweating small quantities of orange leaf tea or cold water should be given at a time so as not to overload the stomach. Just as soon as the fever leaves the patient one teaspoonful of milk and half teaspoonful of lime water should be given every hour so as to feel of the stomach and prepare it to take larger doses of nourishment. This must be done gradually one, two, three teaspoonsful until you get up to a tablespoonful of milk, beef tea or chicken water, gradually increasing until you can give toast and tea, soft boiled eggs, broiled chicken, etc. When the fever leaves the patient I find good brandy or whisky the best stimulants, in teaspoonful doses, gradually increased as the stomach will bear it. During convalescence small quantities of light ale may be taken with advantage. No one should be allowed in the room of the patient, but the nurses—no friends under any circumstances should be admitted. The motto "deliver me from my friends" should be strictly adhered to during an attack of yellow fever. If the patient does well he may sit up for a short time on the tenth day. After he has been up ten days he should take five or six grains of Quinine every morning to give him strength and prevent a relapse, and this should be kept up for some time. Always keep cheerful around the patients, say nothing to discourage, and everything to encourage.

Bright faces in a sick room are better than medicine. When the patient sleeps never wake him to give any thing, but when he does wake, if he is exhausted, give him stimulants, or nourishment, providing the fever is broke.

If your little daughter should get down I would give her five or six grains of calomel followed in eight hours by one large tablespoonful of castor oil and give but one quarter of a drop of aconite, she being six years old. Of course any doses above are intended for adults. You have my permission to make such use of this hurriedly written paper as you may think proper.

Your affectionate father,
WM. G. AUSTIN.

P. S.—I give you in another slip what I use for sick stomach or belching and also for black vomit.

FOR SICK STOMACH OR BELCHING.

Rx. one drachm (60 grains of Bi-Carb. Soda, Mint water, Peppermint 8 ounces, Cherry Laurel water 1 ounce. Mix.

Dose—Teaspoonful every time they belch or are sick at the stomach—even if they vomit it will frequently stop it.

FOR BLACK VOMIT.

Creosote 30 drops, Bi-Carb. Soda 1 drachm, Mucilage, Gum Arabic 4 ounces. Mix.

Dose—Teaspoonful every time they vomit.

Of course you use dry mustard to rub with and apply the plasters to extremities if they are too cold or have clammy perspiration using brandy at this time freely.

WM. G. AUSTIN.

The late Mr. Justice Byles had most shrewd and ingenious manner of adapting stern and unyielding facts to the most clever theory of reference. We recollect the conviction before him at Exeter of a lady who was perpetually stealing trifling articles from the shops she patronized. Being "called upon" for judgment, her counsel argued that she was the victim of Kleptomania. "Kleptomania?" asked the judge, in the most innocent manner; "what is kleptomania?" "A disease, my lord," said her counsel, "the subject of which is uncontrollably addicted to larceny." "Oh, I see, said the judge; "and a disease, sir, which the judges are sent on circuit, as physicians to cure. My prescription on the present occasion is twelve months' imprisonment with hard labor!"—Belgravia Hour.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

OUR DEAR LITTLE ELLA ONCONE, died of diphtheria, near Fort Jessup, La., on the 6th of August, 1878, aged four years, four months and twenty-eight days. Our only comfort in giving up our precious little jewel is that she has gone to be with the angels in the bosom of the loving Saviour.

Her father, J. M. FRANKLIN.

CHARLES HOLLAND, born June 6, 1837, died in New Orleans, March 11, 1878. He was a true and loyal Mason, ever extending the hand of charity.

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Holland the neighborhood and Lodge have sustained a great loss; and though we cannot record any heroic deeds of his during his life, to gain the applause of public sentiment, yet we can say that he was a good, law-abiding citizen; benevolent, respected and esteemed by all who knew him; he was a devoted husband and an indulgent father.

Resolved, That in this severe affliction we humbly submit to Him who doeth all things well and cannot err. We hope that he has passed through the gate into the temple, made with hands, eternal in the heavens.

Resolved, That we sincerely condole with his widow and orphans, and tender them our sympathies in this their great bereavement, trusting to Him who hath said that He will be a husband to the widow, and a father to the fatherless, for comfort and consolation.

Resolved, That the members of New Ireland Lodge No. 215 wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days from this date, and that a copy of the above preamble and resolutions be transmitted to his bereaved family, and same be recorded in our Lodge minutes, and a copy be sent to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE for publication.

W. L. DILLEY,
L. E. BOSTYN,
W. A. GERMANY,
Committee.

BROTHER SILLERIC KINDRIC died May 6, 1878. He had completed his three score years and ten less one month. Bro. Kindric was a true man in every respect; his character spotless; his efforts for good constant and unceasing. He was instant in season and out of season, always abounding in the work of the Lord. He was nearly years a member of the Methodist Church, to which he was sincerly devoted, while he loved every holy, and especially religious people, he was peculiarly attached to his own, and the church of his choice. For many years Bro. Kindric was an official member in the church. As class leader none excelled him in diligence, faithfulness and gentleness. His firmness of character and untiring zeal won for him great success in this office. He also filled for many years the office of Steward. In that responsible and important relation he evinced his true worth to the church; his seat was never vacant; at quarterly meeting he was always able to make a good report. he was liberal himself, and by his liberality he incited others to imitate his example. His rule was to use every exertion to raise the assessment of his church, and if he failed he would make up the deficiency.

In the death of Brother Kindric, Concord Church has lost one of its best members, and we may safely say Springer Circuit one of its best officials, still more Conecuh county one of its best citizens, and the State of Alabama one of its truest patriots.

ROBERT SMITH.

MISS L. A. NORTHRUP was born in Autauga county, Ala., April 10, 1818; she died in Elmore county, which was formerly Autauga, July 22, 1878, being in the forty-first year of her age. She lived in the same county all her life, except four years in Bibb county, Ala. She was converted and joined the church at about the age of eighteen years. She was never known to shrink from duty, but was always at her post. She has ever been zealous in the discharge of her duty to her church, unless providentially hindered her pew was never vacant. She was zealous in the work of the Sunday-school. Among her last words were, tell Mr. C. please not let the Sunday school go down; don't let the church go down, for these are my delight.

She visited the sick, clothed the naked, and administered to the wants and necessities of the poor as well as she was in her power. She rebuked evil speaking and tale bearing, and all kinds of sin where ever she found it. She was happy in God, was always happy. Her perfect love to God cast out her fears. She rejoiced ever more.

She was one of those marked as a perfect woman, and we can truly say her end was peace. With a few hours warning she called the family and friends around her bed-side and instructed them what to do and how to do it. After her last work was to pray the unconverted to flee from the wrath to come, and admonishing the professed to the discharge of duty, saying, "Meet me in heaven," she said to her physician, "My work is clear and bright; I am going in peace with God and man, what have I to fear?" Last of all she exclaimed, "I see angels."

A. J. COPELAND, L. P.

BUSINESS CARDS.

G. G. GORDIN.
GORDIN & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS
AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.
Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed, $4 00
Home-Made Shoes, screwed, $3 to $3 50
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 5 to 10 workmen constantly.

W. W. CARRE.
HORACE U. BEACH, Manager.
LUMBER YARD,
3rd DELORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Cabins and Dressed Lumber a Specialty.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,
DEALERS IN
PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND
CANNEL COAL,
FOR FAMILY USE. Office—No. 24 Carondelet street. Landings—the Levee, foot of Esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to jobbing orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.
CHAS. O. LANGENBECKER, M. D.,
Successor to H. Stumpf,
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.
Receives in the Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. H. HUSSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL,
Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,
NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

J. A. ROURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Lock Box 877.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 20 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Morgan, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's shoes manufactured to order.

ESTABLISHED 1849.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soap.
Office—110 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.
All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Moldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.
☞ Frames made to order—a specialty.
No. 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

ESTABLISHED IN 1835.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Fowler Sts.
T. W. ROTHICK,
UNDERTAKER,
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.
We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the very lowest prices.
Silver Watches at $10 and upward.
Gold Watches at $45 and upward.
All fully guaranteed.
A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,
COLORED SATINS,
EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,
ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.
WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.
D. H. HOLMES,
153 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,
48 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Especial attention to Orange brand bales and at Orange rates.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
55 ST. CHARLES STREET 55.
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN
OF ALL KINDS.
Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler; wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. J. R. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1590.

PIANOS.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the best and most satisfactory manner, at
Mr. Burchardt's Manufactory,
633 MAGAZINE STREET 633
Between Jackson and Josephine Sts.

WHEELER & PIERSON (successors to Perry & Wheeler and Pierson & Hess) NOS. 13 & 15 CAMP ST., opposite the City Hotel,
CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS
FOR MEN AND BOYS.
We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep no "shoddy" goods, and mark in plain figures. Orders by mail promptly solicited, and a liberal deduction made to the Wholesale department upon prices.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.
CARPETING—Wilton, Velvet, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three Ply, Ingrain.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—Straw, Cocoa, Coir and Canton.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CHOICE GOODS by the yard.
RUGS, Table and Stair OIL CLOTHS.
A. BROUSSEAU.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC, Largest in the world. Organized 1867. 75 eminent professors. 115 free scholarships. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

EDUCATIONAL.

READVILLA SEMINARY,
BATON ROUGE, LA.
MRS. M. W. READ, Principal. Session begins October 22.
For further information apply to the Principal, P. O. Box 79.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,
AT BATON ROUGE, LA.
THE next session of this school will begin on the first Wednesday in October, 1878.
This is a thoroughly Boarding School for boys. The healthfulness of the location is unsurpassed. Instruction thorough in all that is necessary to prepare the student for any grade in college or any pursuit in life. Discipline parental. The constant personal care of the principal is given to the health, morals and manners of the pupils.
For circulars, with necessary information, apply to W. H. N. MAGRUDER,
Baton Rouge, La.

AUGUSTA FEMALE SEMINARY,
STAUNTON, VA.
THE largest first class institution for young ladies in Virginia, with an able corps of twenty-five teachers.
Opens the first Wednesday in SEPTEMBER, 1878, and closes on the first Wednesday in June, 1879.
For catalogues, containing full particulars, address MISS MARY J. BALDWIN,
Principal, Staunton, Va.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.
THE price and quality of board and tuition compares favorably with other colleges, while the peculiar constitution of the college and the influence of its surroundings render it in my judgment the very best and safest place for boys and young men; at a certain stage of culture, which varies in the Methodist Church South."—Rev. E. M. Grace, A. M., of Alabama.
Address J. H. BRUNNER, D. D.,
Hiwassee College, Tenn.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. CHAS. E. KELIS & DR. M. VIET,
DENTISTS,
12 DAUPHINE STREET 12
One door from Canal, New Orleans.
Dentistry in all its branches. Irregularities of the teeth corrected. Artificial Palates with the latest improvements. Teeth extracted without pain under the influence of Nitrous Oxide Gas. Established in 1851.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
220 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET,
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
New Orleans, La.

C. L. BILLIGER,
ARCHITECT
31 CARONDELET ST. 31
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

WANTED.
A M. A. graduate of the Southern University, with some years experience, desires a position as TEACHER. For references apply to the Faculty of the University at Greensboro, Ala.
JAS. E. McCANN.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS
Are awarded first the HIGHEST HONORS AT ALL WORLD'S EXPOSITIONS FOR TWELVE YEARS viz: at PARIS, 1878; VIENNA, 1873; SANTIAGO, 1875; PHILADELPHIA, 1876, TWO GOLD MEDALS at PARIS, 1878. Grand square and upright Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs were awarded highest honors at any such World's Exhibitions. Illustrated Catalogues and Circulars, with new styles and prices, sent free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., BOSTON, NEW YORK, or CHICAGO.

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Chicken Sticks, Lift and Force Pumps, Ale Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns.
116 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

WASHBURN'S
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART
GALLERY,
CORNER CANAL ST. AND EXCHANGE PLACE.
☞ The finest finish produced in the South.
A PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in a manner to please you, or no way other satisfaction will be required.
Copying and enlarging of old pictures a specialty. Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY.

JOHN BOIS,
DEALER IN
FURNITURE, PICTURES,
LOOKING GLASSES ETC.
152 Camp Street 152
Near Julia St. Market. New Orleans.
Orders promptly filled, and satisfaction guaranteed. Packing done with neatness and despatch, and no charge.

JEWELRY STORE.
A. BOITEL,
WATCHMAKER,
28 ROYAL STREET,
Between Conti and St. Louis Sts., NEW ORLEANS.
☞ Watches and Jewelry repaired.

REMOVAL!
ELKIN & CO.
DEALERS IN Carpet and Oil-Cloth Warehouse
TO
100 CANAL STREET 100
Between Carondelet and St. Charles Streets.
A full line of CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, MATTINGS, WINDOW SHADES, etc., at lowest prices.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE:

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

The Duty of Pleasing.

There are cynical and half brutal natures that take an evident satisfaction in crossing the desires and thwarting the plans of others. They are rough, uncouth and disobliging in their intercourse for no other apparent reason than that they like so to be. It is a way they have of asserting their individuality and independence, or of taking their revenge for the selfishness and wrong which they imagine the world has shown towards them. Those who have through long and severe struggles attained to wealth, and feel themselves masters of the situation, are often harsh and inconsiderate in their dealings with subordinates, and with those who have been less successful in life. They sought to please when there was an object, and when there were selfish ends to gain, but when secure in their wealth and position, they became domineering, and repellant. Prosperity often mars the manners and destroys the amiability. The outward department becomes worse as the man's circumstances become improved.

There are also stern types of morality, and even of godliness—men and women in their way, both benevolent and devout who regard it as a sin to make themselves perfectly agreeable. They act as if they feared some danger in the ordinary amenities of social intercourse, and as if remembering to be courteous would somehow compromise their high calling, and stain the garments of their christian profession. Their principles are good, they are staunch in asserting them, and conscientious in making them as repulsive as possible to those of a different persuasion. As the carnal mind is enmity against God, and as the cross is foolishness to the natural man, they would, as they believe, be chargeable with wickedness to attempt to conciliate the world. There is offence in the cross, and it is a mark of fidelity in the christian that he make himself other than agreeable to the worldly. So far from seeking to please, they would regard such a course as a betrayal of the grace of God. They are religious scolds and zealots who are really better than they seem. They are such saints as children are afraid of, and such as christians of a dunmer mould respect rather than love.

The art of pleasing, as it exists in society, is for the most part selfish. True politeness is the expression of benevolence in little things. In social intercourse, and in all our relations with one another, it is a thing of great value. A right minded and intelligent christian must be polite: Charity "doth not behave itself unseemly." And yet the pages of Chesterfield exhibit the hypocrisy, and the immoral designs, which are often underneath the garment of outward elegance and decorum. The money shaver is the blandest of men until he gets his victim in his power. It pays for the dealer to show his wares with a smile upon his face. The good salesman is the man of good manners. We are indebted to sharp competition for three-quarters of all the politeness that is shown us in business intercourse and on the thoroughfares of travel. To make headway in society, in business, or in politics, people must be affable. Popularity is cultivated as the means to the attainment of selfish ends, and as the path of success in securing wealth, influence and honor.

It is not unlikely, however, that with the most of people, it is pleasant to please. If no self-interest is sacrificed thereby, they would rather make themselves agreeable than repulsive. They rise above indifference and would rather impart pleasure when it is in their power to do so. It may be akin to selfishness, and it may be something better. It may not spring from any high principle, but, if a wild flower, it has a certain beauty and fragrance. We meet with teasing, hectoring spirits now and then, but they are the exceptions, and with them, humor is largely in the ascendant. It is their way of giving and receiving pleasure.

We come out of all these aspects of the subject to the high christian assertion of the duty of pleasing. Paul was a gentleman indeed, and in his inspired moods he was careful to say: "Let every one of us please his neighbor for his good to edification," and he points to the perfect example when he declares: "For, even Christ pleased, not himself; but as it is written, the reproaches of them that reproached thee fell on Me." This was a principle of action in all his intercourse with men. He was probably the most courteous and affable man of his age. There was nothing gruff or boorish about him. He writes to his brethren and cites his own uniform course: "Give none offence, neither to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles, nor to the church of God; even as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine own profit, but the profit of many, that they may be saved." We know not how the christian duty of pleasing could be set forth more completely. The end is purely a benevolent one, divested utterly of the hollowness and selfishness which often taint the elegancies and courtesies of worldly intercourse.

Christians do well to study this masterly exhibition of a duty which, in its highest import, is too much neglected. No principle is to be compromised, no truth is to be surrendered, and yet we are to seek to please, to make ourselves as attractive and agreeable as possible, and with the single purpose of benefiting our neighbor. "Not seeking mine own profit, but the profit of many, that they may be saved." The art of pleasing is not to be surrendered to human vanity, selfishness and venality, but it is to be appropriated and sanctified as a means of bringing souls to Christ, and of winning them from the service and bondage of sin.

However the principle may apply to the minister of the Gospel as influencing his intercourse with the people and the manner of his pulpit ministrations, it is also very suggestive in its adaptation to our every day christian life. That the children of the house sometimes become averse to instruction and worship, and regard the Bible as the most dismal of books, may not be their fault altogether. There has been stern parental discipline and peremptory insistence upon obedience, but the element of pleasing has been overlooked. Religion and especially religion at home, is a thing of beauty, but it has not been made so. Our neighbors have no good opinion of our faith, because we have taken little or no pains to add something to their happiness by such considerate attentions as would secure their friendship. Our course may have been such as needlessly to awaken opposition and excite prejudice. We have been dogmatic rather than kind; we have been harsh in tone and censorious in spirit, forgetting that "the sweetness of the lips increaseth learning."

The Christ-like man will study how to please his neighbor for his good to edification. He will please that he may lure him to the cross, and bring him to Christ. He will endeavor to catch men with this godly guile, and to lead them to the sanctuary by the strong but silken cords of love. The school of Christ is a school in which the duty of pleasing stands out prominently. The law cannot be silenced, sin must be exposed and rebuked, and the world's enmity must be encountered, but the unselfish and earnest purpose to make men better and happier is a mighty force in the christians' work.

Rev. John D. Simpson writes us that the Clanton Camp Meeting, Alabama, closed on Wednesday night, September 25th. It was a real old-fashioned meeting in which there were wonderful displays of divine power. On Sunday between fifteen hundred and two thousand people were on the ground, and the best of order prevailed throughout. The preaching was excellent and attended by the outpouring of the Holy Spirit. There were about fifty conversions, and twenty-five accessions to the church. We join in the writer's prayer: "That we may see many returns of such times."

From Jackson, Louisiana.

MR. EDITOR: The quarantine of the mails by the Mayor of Clinton has deprived us of the weekly visits of the ADVOCATE for about two months. Its absence makes us feel as if some important member of the family was off from home. The ADVOCATE is necessary to our comfort. We get a mail once a week by the river; will you please ask Bro. Harp to have the package of ADVOCATES for Jackson, La., sent by the river mail, and we think we will get them. If any of our friends see this communication, they may also send their letters via Bayou Sara. All letters sent by the ordinary mail route lie blockaded at Amite City.

Our village and community have been healthier this summer and fall than usual; a strict quarantine against all infected districts is kept up, and we trust that we shall escape the contagion altogether.

The exercises of Centenary College will begin as usual on the first Monday in October, the 7th day of the month. Doubtless there will be a small attendance at first, as the quarantine will prevent all students from infected districts from coming in; the local patronage will enable us to organize, however, and we will be ready to receive other students as they come in. They can enter at any time. Those who see this may know that they can come forward as soon as they may deem it safe to travel; we are perfectly healthy here.

We have been kept in painful suspense about our brethren in the fever regions, one paper reporting them dead, and another saying they were convalescing; even now we do not know surely whether some are living or dead. Our earnest prayers have gone up for them, and our deepest sympathies have been elicited in their behalf. May heaven speed the day when the sombre plague cloud shall be blown away from the land by the invigorating breezes fresh and crisp from many big white frosts.

C. G. ANDREWS.

Jackson, La., September 30, 1878.

OUR PRESBYTERIAN MINISTERS.

We are pained exceedingly to learn that Rev. M. W. Trawick, pastor of the Canal Street Presbyterian Church of New Orleans, died of yellow fever on Tuesday, October 8. Not long ago one of his children died, and his wife who was convalescent, on the death of her husband relapsed and died a few hours later. Both were buried at the same time on Wednesday, October 9. Mr. Trawick was popular and beloved, an excellent preacher, a diligent pastor, and unusually esteemed by all classes and denominations. In his conscientious devotion to his work, he has fallen in the prime of life being only forty years old. His death will be felt as a sad calamity, and he will be mourned by all our churches. We tender to his church our deep sympathy in this hour of their great sorrow.

Rev. Mr. Flinn of the Franklin Street Memorial Presbyterian Church has had an attack of the fever but we are glad to hear that he is recovering.

Rev. Mr. Witherspoon, of the Presbyterian Church in this city, has had a number of cases of the fever in his family, but all have recovered. Mr. Witherspoon himself has been in good health, and has made himself exceedingly useful in ministering to the sick and destitute.

The other Presbyterian pastors here, Drs. Palmer, Markam and Smith have kept up throughout the epidemic although severely taxed by their unusual and onerous duties.

We have expressed our views with considerable fulness on the subject of pastoral duty in connection with epidemics. As a rule we think the pastor should stay. There are circumstances however that may justify a different course. As we have in a previous number referred to Rev. Dr. Thompson, Protestant Episcopal, of this city, it is just to state that we have learned that he was in bad health and ordered away by his physician before the fever made its appearance. Of the two or three ministers of our church in Mississippi who have been censured we have assurance that there were strong and sufficient grounds for the course which they took. If any man's sense of duty differs from our's we have no controversy with him. He must be fully persuaded in his own mind. We have been careful to judge no one, to condemn no one. Every one must stand or fall to his own Master. Public opinion, and we believe also the conviction of christian people, demand that the pastor face the peril. This heroism and self sacrifice is expected of him. They cannot ordinarily be evaded without detriment to the cause of Christ.

REV. P. H. MOSS.

This beloved minister, pastor of our churches at Monroe and Delhi, La., has no doubt gone to his reward. He died at Delhi, of yellow fever while in the performance of his ministerial duties. We have, as yet, no particulars as to the exact date and circumstances. He was we suppose about thirty years of age, and came to Louisiana from the Alabama Conference, two years ago the approaching December. He was a very popular and useful preacher, wholly devoted to his work, and such a pastor as was everywhere in demand. He was married last spring. In due time we suppose there will be an obituary sketch furnished. His promising and useful career has been cut short, but he was sane and true to the last, and fell as every faithful minister should wish to fall, in obedience to the call of duty and humanity. Deeply do we mourn his death; sadly do we think of the loss that has fallen upon his family and upon the church.

The fever commission consisting of Dr. Bemiss of New Orleans, Dr. Cochrane of Mobile, and Dr. Lloyd Howard of Baltimore, held its first session in this city on Monday, October 7. Great expectations seem to be entertained in regard to the results of the commission. We have no doubt these gentlemen will gather up a vast array of facts touching the history and progress of the prevailing epidemic, and possibly they may arrive at certain conclusions satisfactory to themselves. But when they are done we shall be just as much at sea as ever concerning the cause, preventives, and treatment. It is however a most worthy and humane object for which this commission has been organized and some good will be done, if in addition to what is known, there shall be a clear setting forth of what is not known. About as much is known of yellow fever as of any other fever, or of other infectious diseases, and it is about as successfully treated in places accustomed to its prevalence.

Rev. Dr. Watkins sends us the following concerning the fever in Jackson, Mississippi:

JACKSON, MISS., Oct. 7, 1878.—We are fairly into the yellow fever. Up to this date 14 have died (white), there are 30 whites and 20 colored sick, 5 new cases to-day. Our Bro. Joseph L. Labitter, died on the 5th. He was one of our most useful citizens and a valuable member of the church.

W. H. WATKINS.

Bro. Sawyer writes us that Benjamin Wilkinson, son of the lamented Rev. John Wilkinson, died of yellow fever in Baton Rouge, October 3, aged eight years. He has gone to join his parents in the better land. Very touching and beautiful were his dying words. He was a young but a true soldier of the cross. A brief notice from his pastor will appear in the ADVOCATE hereafter.

Acknowledgment.

We have received from Rev. J. T. Lumpkin, pastor of M. E. Church, South, at Culpeper, Va., $10 25 contributed by members of his charge, for yellow fever sufferers. Other contributions have previously been made by the same generous people. We have turned the above amount over to the Young Men's Christian Association of this city.

Dr. H. F. Johnson wishes us to say that Whitworth College will not open till October 30. He writes us that Brookhaven and vicinity continue remarkably healthy. It is hoped that by the last of the month travel on the railroad and by other routes will be safe.

The following report of yellow fever in New Orleans is up to 12 m., Wednesday, October 9. Deaths for the last twenty-four hours, 42; new cases, 413; total number of cases, 10,929; total number of deaths, 3,303.

The day of fasting and prayer, Wednesday, October 9, was generally observed. It was a rainy day but good congregations assembled in most of the churches.

The Illinois Conference, Bishop Kavanaugh presiding, closed September 16. Six were admitted on trial, two had died, and three located. Net increase of church members 509; Sunday school scholars 389.

A little while, O heart,
With sorrow breaking;
A few more hours of night,
And then comes waking;
And lasting comfort shall be given
When breaks the golden day of heaven,
After a little while.

I know not any pleasure of sense more exquisite than a draught of cool, clear water when you are thirsty; but few things are more insipid than water when there is no thirst. It is thus that Christ and His salvation are very sweet to one, and very tasteless to another.—William Arnot.

Books and Periodicals.

AMY AND MARION'S VOYAGE AROUND THE WORLD. By Sarah B. Adams. Boston: D. Lothrop & Co. 16 mo., 390 pages, $1 25.

This handsome volume, from the pen of the daughter of a distinguished Boston clergyman, is the record of a trip around the world in an East India merchantman, made a year or two since by two young ladies, one of whom was the author. Sailing from Boston, the first land touched was San Francisco. From there, after a brief stay, the voyagers proceeded to Honolulu, thence to the Chinese coast, where the cities of Hong Kong, Canton, Singapore, Amoy, Shanghai and Macao were visited in turn. The ship then sailed for the Philippine Islands; and at Manila, one of the loveliest and most picturesque cities of the Southern Pacific, two or three happy weeks were spent. From that port the homeward course was taken, the usual doubling the Cape of Good Hope and sailing up the African coast. The story of the voyage is gracefully and vividly told. The illustrations which accompany the text are made doubly interesting from the fact that they are engraved from photographs procured on the spot and brought home by the author.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for November has been received. It is profusely illustrated and contains the usual variety of entertaining and instructive reading matter.

—In "The Preacher" and Homiletic Monthly" for October, "The Complete Preacher," and the Metropolitan Pulpit and Homiletic Monthly are combined in one large Magazine. The combining of these publications in one is an excellent measure. Rev. I. K. Funk, Editor; Published by the Religious Newspaper Agency, New York. Price, per year, $2 50.

Napoleon and the Private.

It is said of Napoleon that while he was reviewing his army one day, his horse became frightened at something, and the Emperor lost his rein, and the horse went away at full speed, and the Emperor's life was in danger. He could not get hold of the rein, and a private in the ranks saw it, and sprang out of the ranks toward the horse, and was successful in getting hold of the horse's head at the peril of his own life. The Emperor was very much pleased. Touching his hat, he said to him, "I make you Captain of my Guard." The soldier didn't take his gun and walk up there. He threw it away, stepped out of the ranks of the soldiers, and went up to where the body-guard stood. The captain of the body-guard ordered him back into the ranks, but he said, "No! I won't go." "Why not?" "Because I am Captain of the Guard." "You Captain of the Guard?" "Yes," replied the soldier. "Who said it?" and the man pointing to the Emperor, said, "He said it." That was enough. Nothing more could be said. He took the Emperor at his word. My friends, if God says anything, let us take him at his word. "He that believeth on the Lord Jesus Christ shall not perish, but have everlasting life." Don't you believe it? Don't you believe you have got everlasting life? It can be the privilege of every child of God to believe and then know that you have got it.—Moody's Anecdotes, by McClure.

Lord Nelson.

In my boyhood days it was my privilege to listen to the thrilling stories of ocean life from the lips of a British tar who had served under Lord Nelson. My hero will be remembered by those who were acquainted with the interior workings of Nathaniel Tufts' old tin-shop, in Malden, five-and-forty years ago. He was a perfect specimen of the ideal man-o'-warsman; his voice like the murmuring of a conch-shell; his gait like the waddle of a duck; his trowsers having a need to be hoisted over his hips every time he spoke, and his appetite for grog and tobacco of the keenest and most appreciative. He was on board Nelson's flag-ship at Trafalgar, and in the course of that battle the terrific thunder of the marine artillery almost entirely destroyed his hearing. He might be called as deaf as a post. He said that Admiral Lord Nelson had a heart as tender as a woman's. To see a brave man flogged gave him as much pain as was given to the culprit himself. When all hands were called to witness punishment, Nelson would crawl up on the outside of the gathered squad-officers, and there stand, with his chapeau pulled down over his eyes, until the scene was over. Once upon a time an old forecastle man, and helmsman, was upon the black list for drunkenness. He stood at the gangway waiting his turn to be lashed to the grating. At length his name was called—"John Murey!" He was a man of honorable record; of many years; and of long service. "Is there not one to speak a word for poor Jack?" he cried, as the boatswain started to remove his frock. "Gentlemen!" exclaimed Nelson, looking around upon his officers, "Will not one of you speak? Then I will speak: Avast there! Belay where you are! Officer of the deck, call all hands below!" Then to the quivering sailor he said, at the same time extending his hand: "Jack, when the battle comes, think of me!" A month later an old sailor appeared at court, bearing dispatches and captured battle-flags, and a letter of commendation from a dying hero. It was Jack Marey, brave, true, and loyal; and he went back to his duty with a quartermaster's warrant.—New York Ledger.

MARRIED.

PIRTLE—RODGERS.—September 18, by Rev. Chas. F. Evans, at residence of A. A. C. Rodgers, the bride's father, in Bluff, Ark., Mr. John A. Pirtle to Miss N. Rodgers.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS F 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	BISHOP.
W. Virginia	Parkersburg	Pierce
Denver	W. Las Animas	Wightman
Western	Wyandotte	Doggett
Missouri	Macon	Doggett
Illinois	Paris	Doggett
Kentucky	Shelbyville	Kavanaugh
Montana	Helena	Pierce
S. W. Missouri	Clinton	Wightman
Louisville	Cadiz	Doggett
Columbia	Rossburg	Pierce
Tennessee	Clarksville	Wightman
St. Louis	Charleston	Kavanaugh
Indian Miss.	Muscogee, C N	Doggett
West Texas	San Marcos	McTyeire
Pacific	San Francisco	Kercher
Holston	Knoxville	Wightman
Arkansas	Russellville	Kavanaugh
N. W. Texas	Belton	McTyeire
Los Angeles	S. Bernardino	Kercher
White River	Searcy	Wightman
Virginia	Petersburg	McTyeire
Florida	Gainesville	Pierce
Memphis	Paris	Kavanaugh
German Miss.	Industry	Pierce
North Texas	Ferrell	Keener
N. Carolina	Charlotte	Keener
N. Alabama	Athens	Pierce
N. Mississippi	Macon	Kavanaugh
N. Georgia	Marietta	Paine
Little Rock	Hot Springs	McTyeire
Texas	Chappell Hill	Doggett
S. Carolina	Newberry	Keener
Alabama	Mobile	Pierce
S. Georgia	Thomasville	Kavanaugh
Louisiana	New Orleans	McTyeire
East Texas	Tyler	Doggett
Mississippi	Meridian	Keener
Baltimore	Salem	Paine
		Wightman

Publisher's Department

MR. E. E. F. ROSS, one of the of this paper, is now traveling through the and East on business connected with the CADE. Any communication which will be ated.

OPTICIANS.—Messrs. R. & J. advertise their microscopes in this edi the paper. They are dealers in a goods as telescopes, marine glasses, tacles, barometers, &c., and are re town, and well posted as to the needs of customers. We advise all those inte in optical instruments to correspond this firm.

AMERICAN CHILLED SHOT.—H ters and those who deal in hunters' mat should read the advertisement of The Sparks in regard to the above-named The shot tower at which these are made founded in 1808, and has the reputat being possibly the best in America sometime advertiser. A. Dolan, agent for New Orleans and [illegible] order.

THE KEWANEE MANUFA Company advertise their Agricul Mill in our paper to-day. Th used to great advan[illegible] planters of the South, and [illegible] pense than steam, or [illegible] pumping water for [illegible] would be especially [illegible] a good breeze could be [illegible] as would also be the [illegible] We advise our [illegible] attention.

THE AMERICAN HOUSE, [illegible] Miss., stands high with [illegible] The proprietors, by an [illegible] courtesy, and attending [illegible] wants of their guests, [illegible] reputation for their house [illegible] stop at the American House.

PERFORATED CHAIR SEA Messrs. Gardner & Co. are [illegible] the popular perforated chair seats [illegible] there has been a large demand for [illegible] cially in the South. Chair [illegible] parties who wish chairs and settees [illegible] order should write to this firm and [illegible] one's. Those living in [illegible] bad, a more comfortable [illegible] above. For particulars, see the [illegible] ment.

BRAIN WORKERS.

Clergymen, lawyers, physic [illegible] professional men of all classes of [illegible] the use of Dr. Price's Cream Baking [illegible] Powder, is the best. The formula [illegible] and sent free to the [illegible] the cases of small profit [illegible] depending upon it.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

DR. WILLIAMS' [illegible] OINTMENT AND [illegible] has effected more and [illegible] cures of [illegible] than any other [illegible] Ointment and Pills [illegible] the use of these [illegible] Ointment [illegible] from the smoking [illegible] the [illegible] Pills [illegible] DINAY & CO., [illegible] sale by all druggists.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED [illegible] ION POWDER is acknowledged [illegible] believe no one can [illegible] one month [illegible] tion that does not [illegible] or leave black spots in the [illegible] apply it to infants who have [illegible] safety of immediate relief. [illegible] tions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. For sale [illegible] gists, and at depot, 607 North Ninth [illegible] Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

QUEEN OF THE OVEN.

A biscuit made with Dr. P Cream Baking Powder is [illegible] the oven. So light, white and [illegible] breakfasting on biscuits [illegible] Cream Baking Powder, what more [illegible] (date sale bill, or grumble because [illegible] him for money.

The Rev. Dr. Jeter, of Richm told this story at his own expe Many years ago an artless [illegible] whom I casually met, said to me hear you preach every Sunday. are the greatest preacher I ever hear.' 'Ah,' said I, 'you have I suppose, heard Mr. M. pre (At this time Mr. M. was attra great attention by his sermo 'Yes,' he replied, 'I have heard M. several times. He is a preacher; but he is not so gr preacher as you are. You hav mournfullest voice of any man I did hear.'

A Hindoostanee work on music that "music is the painfully acq art of speaking very loud in a voice."

Mount upward! Heaven is won by pra Be sober, for you are not there!

MISCELLANEOUS.

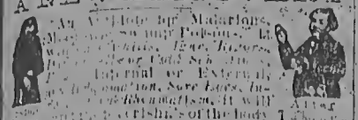
NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY



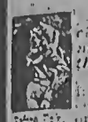
No other Medicine required, it is used alone.

DR. J. H. McLEAN.

A NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

Dr. J. H. McLean's

COUGH AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.



Before Tak. After Tak.

Take no more medicine down to the Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

Before Tak. After Tak.

DR. J. H. McLEAN'S

Celebrated Catarrh Snuff

Before Tak.

After Tak.

READER, ARE YOU AFFLICTED?

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

JOS. B. WOLFE & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS,

58 Carondelet St., New Orleans.

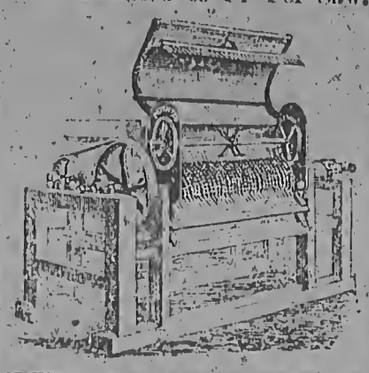
GENERAL AGENTS FOR

DANIEL PRATT'S IMPROVED

"Revolving Head" Cotton Gin

PATENTED JULY 18, 1877.

Price Reduced to $4 Per Saw.



THIS GIN has been in use for the past five seasons, and several recent improvements have been added. It obviates all friction at the ends of the cotton box, prevents the roll from breaking, and gives a Larger Yield of Lint from the same Amount of Seed than any other Gin in use. The Revolving Head lightens the draft and causes the Gin to run faster with less driving power, thus doing a great deal more work within the same time, while economizing steam or animal power than any other Gin. The seed being ginned very close, the length of the staple is increased producing cotton on this account of a greater market value. This improved value, given by length of staple, with extra production of lint added, to increased amount of work done more than covers the cost of the Gin in every 50 bales ginned. Testimonials sent by mail on application.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.

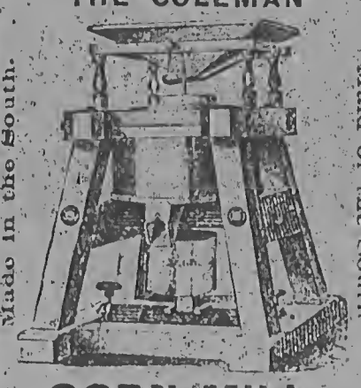
Mills, Engines and Machinery,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WE SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines, Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Cotton Presses and Machinery delivered at railroad depots or river landings.

Portable Engine prices greatly reduced.

THE COLEMAN



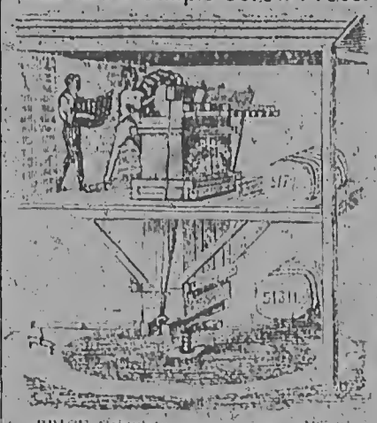
Made in the South. Mill of the South.

CORN MILL,

VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York State to Texas over thirty-three different competitors, during the past twenty-eight years. Awarded the only gold Medal ever awarded to any Corn Mill in the United States. Simple, strong, durable and cheap, with solid French burr Stones. Made by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.,
New Orleans, La.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press.



PRICE, Complete $65 00

Weight Iron Screw 7 inches in diameter. Packing 9 cubic feet. Simple, strong, durable and guaranteed to pack a 500 lb. bale. Send for circular. Manufactured by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.,
New Orleans, La.

We make a specialty of the Celebrated Power Press (shown above).

STRONGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.

INCREASING IN POPULARITY.

Number sold in 1876	175
Number sold in 1877	850

COST OF

1 per bale, covering 4 ends	30 cts per bale
1 per bale, covering 8 ends	60 cts per bale

Canvasser wanted to solicit orders for Ropes and Twines.

Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.

NO MORE

RHEUMATISM

OR GOUT

ACUTE OR CHRONIC

SALICYLICA

SURE CURE.

Manufactured by

European Salicylic Medicine Co.

OF PARIS AND LEIPZIG.

RELIEVES IMMEDIATELY.

CURES PERMANENTLY.

Now exclusively used by all celebrated Doctors in Europe and America, and thoroughly introduced throughout United States, miraculous cures having been made in nearly every city and State.

Price, $1.00 a box; 6 boxes for 5.00.

Orders filled by mail, or ask your Druggist for it.

WASHBURNE & CO.,
Sole Agents,
23 Cliff street New York.

AGENTS WANTED.

$7 A DAY to Agents canvassing for the Fireside Visitor. Terms and outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $50. New articles, just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CHIDESTER, 218 Fulton street, New York.

NOW READY. AGENTS WANTED.

THE GRAND ACHIEVEMENTS OF H. M. STANLEY.

A full history of his explorations in Africa, and marvelous journey down the Congo, "Through the Dark Continent." The public are eagerly awaiting this book. It is of matchless interest, richly illustrated, low priced, and will sell without a parallel. For full description and terms address N. D. THOMPSON & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE MADE by Agents selling our Chromos, Crayons, Picture and Chromo Cards. 125 samples, worth $5, sent postpaid for 85 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Estab'd 1826.

AGENTS wanted to sell THE CURSE OF RUM, including Life and Work of Murphy and Reynolds, with History of the movement, to date; 500 pages. Fully illustrated. Price, only $2. GUARANTEE PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER AGENTS Wanted. $50 to $125 a Month. An Encyclopedia of Law and Forms. For Business Men: Mechanics, Farmers, Property Owners, Tenants; everybody, every business. Saves many times cost. Selling fast. Send for circular and terms. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., 625 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

AGENTS WANTED

$20 FOR $10

AMERICAN WATCHES

305 N. 7TH ST. ST. LOUIS MO.

Send for price list. L. DRESSER, Agent.

MAKE $100 PER MONTH

YOU CAN

Acting as Our Salesman.

We are desirous of engaging energetic AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business if not employed; and when you receive our circulars read them carefully. Address, with stamp for particulars,

G. W. FOSTER & CO.,

273 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET,

Chicago, Illinois.

GOLD! Any worker can make $20 a day at home. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

STAMPING PATTERNS, Stamped with Powder on Instructive Fancy Work. Five new designs just out. A. BERNARD & Co., Lyons, N. Y.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

30 Mixed Cards, Snowflake, Bonbon & Motto, with name, 10 cts. J. MINKLER & CO., Nassau, N. Y.

REVOLVER FREE Seven shot Revolver with box cartridges, Ad'ss I. Bow & Son, 7 & 9 Wood St., Pittsburg, Pa.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples, worth $5, free. Address STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

18 ELEGANT New Style Chromo Cards, with name, 10c., postpaid. Geo. I. REED & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

For Singing Schools and Choirs.

L. O. EMERSON'S ONWARD is a new book for Singing Schools, Conventions and Choirs. It contains a full course of Rudiments, carefully prepared by the author, a large collection of Glees, and the best variety of Sacred Music.

Price, $1.50; or $13.50 per dozen.

EMERSON'S Church Offering, a new book for Choirs and Congregations, is filled with the best Anthems and Set Pieces, which will be found of the first quality, fully equal to those in his former books. Also a large number of Hymn Tunes.

$1.50; or $13 per dozen.

EMERSON'S Sacred Quartettes, a new book for Choirs, Singing Classes and Musical Conventions. A large collection of new pieces by the best popular authors, and prepared in such a way that one book will last for many Singings through the year.

Boards $1.50; Cloth $2.25.

EMERSON'S Festival Chorus Book, (Sept. 25) has a large collection of Grand Choruses.

W. O. PERKINS' REQUIEM is a new and solemn Music for Funerals, with Hymns and Tunes for Funeral Occasions. Price 40 cents.

Send for Catalogues containing full descriptions of the above and other Music Books for Choirs, Singing Classes, &c.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO.,

867 BROADWAY, New York.

J. S. RIVERS,

PATENTEE,

Steam Power Printer,

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER,

& LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

74 CAMP STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

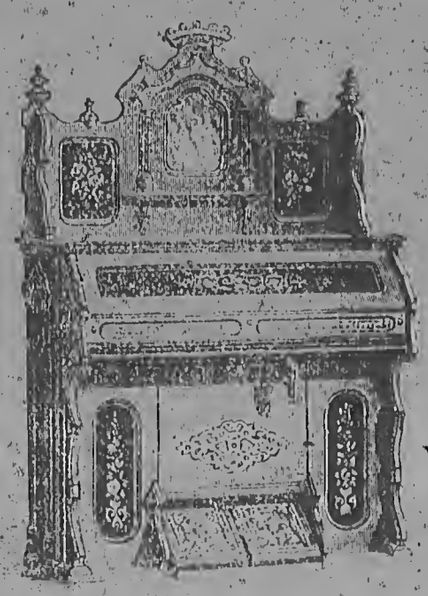
Country Orders for Millinery AND FANCY GOODS.

Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HARDON,
Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans.
Second door above Custom House.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PHILIP WERLEIN.



This Cut Represents

MASON & HAMLIN'S

$190 ORGAN,

REDUCED TO $135,

on easiest payments—$15 50 cash, and $3 50 in 6, 8, 9, 12, 15, 18, 21, 24 and 27 months. Freight from Boston to be added.

$90 Organ Reduced to $72:

$7 50 QUARTERLY.

Very highly improved Pianos of J. P. Hale & Co., with stool and cover, the style reduced to $250, on easiest payments known—$50 cash, and $10 a month until paid.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 CANAL STREET,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

CHICKERING & SON'S PIANOS,
MATHUSHEK PIANOS,
HALES PIANOS,
HARDMAN'S PIANOS,

ORGANS.

MASON & HAMLIN'S,
ESTEY & CO'S,
NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO.'S.

☞ Liberal discount for cash.

Persons at a distance may order with the assurance of receiving just as good instruments as though present to select for themselves. If not found satisfactory they may be returned free expense.

PHILIP WERLEIN,
135 Canal street, New Orleans.

H. W. JOHNS' PATENT.

ASBESTOS MATERIALS.

LIQUID PAINTS.

THE best and most durable paints in the world for structural purposes. Send for samples and price circulars.

ASBESTOS ROOFING.

With white fire proof coating, for steep or flat roofs. The only reliable substitute for tin.

Boiler Coverings, Steam Packing, Sheathing, Felts, Roof Paint, Fire-Proof Paints, Coatings, Cements, etc.

All these materials are prepared ready for use, and can be easily applied by any one. We guarantee the quality of our goods to be second to none in the world. From 15 to 25 per cent. of customary outlays can be saved by their use.

Samples, illustrated pamphlets, price lists, etc., sent free. Liberal inducements to dealers and large consumers. Send for samples and reduced price list.

From the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion. JACKSON, Mississippi.

Mr. T. H. Maughly, of Jackson, one of the best painters in the State, and a gentleman of great intelligence and worth, says in reference to these Paints:

"I have tested them fully, and am prepared to say that the Paints we have for all colors and shades are not only the cheapest, but the best I have ever used in my extensive and varied practice for the past fifty years, and the certificates in my possession to the superiority of the same will do me credit on the subject.

T. H. MAUGHLY."

CALEB A. PARKER & CO.,

GENERAL AGENTS FOR ALABAMA, GEORGIA, TENNESSEE, LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND TEXAS,

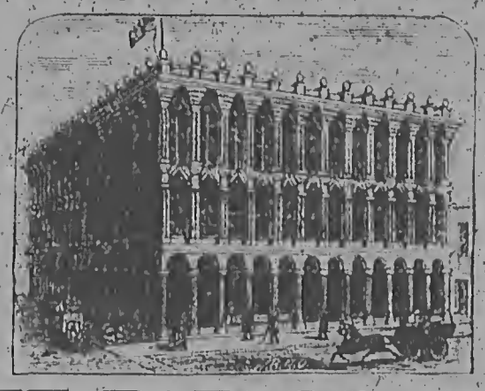
NO. 10 UNION ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY,

FURNITURE EMPORIUM,

Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.

FEATHERS.



SPRINGS, HAIR AND MOSS MATTRESSES.

FINE PARLOR SUITS,

IN SILK, SATIN, COTOLINE REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.

FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.

Fine Dining Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PIER MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.

MILK OF MAGNESIA

IS THE best preparation known for all disturbed conditions of the stomach. It immediately and certainly cures DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN, SOUR STOMACH and HEADACHES caused by acidity of the stomach. The pleasant taste and entire freedom from disagreeableness of this preparation renders it very valuable for infants, requiring no persuasion to induce them to take it. It positively prevents Curd forming in the stomach, and will act as a laxative when most required. It is also peculiarly adapted to females. The smoothness of this preparation and its perfect solubility are made fully apparent in the following illustrations. They represent a fractional part of a single drop magnified 25 diameters. The first the celebrated Magnesia as taken with water. The second the Milk of Magnesia now universal. The difference is shown to be most striking, for whereas the undissolved precipitates are left in the drop of celebrated Magnesia, are exhibited with terrible distinctness, the Milk of Magnesia has all the appearance of a steady water, entirely free from the objectionable precipitates, in the drop as directed.

Be sure to get MILK OF MAGNESIA. Ask your druggist for it, and do not accept what he may say is just as good, for it is entirely different from all other preparations of Magnesia. The compounds and tablets are not friendly to it, and with this preparation can obtain explanatory circular by addressing

C. H. PHILLIPS,
Magnesia Chemist,
P. O. Box 647. NEW YORK.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Gems of all Odors. Toothene, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Flash, Lewis & Co., John T. Adams & Co., Hartwell & Chambers, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans.

FOOD CURE TRADE MARK.

BLANCHARD

FOOD CURE CO.,

27 UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK.

The FOOD CURE SYSTEM is founded in FACT and COMMON SENSE.

A 64-page Pamphlet, explanatory of the system, sent postpaid to any address.

THE BLANCHARD BLOOD AND NERVE FOOD,

Or Tonic Extract of Wheat,

CURES NERVOUS DEBILITY, MENTAL PROSTRATION, LOSS OF SLEEP, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, SCROFULA, CATARRH, NEURALGIA, RHEUMATISM AND LOSS OF VITAL ENERGY.

The only reliable Brain Invigorator SOLD PER BOTTLE, sent by Express. Ask your Druggist for it.

☞ Circulars sent free. (8p)

SAM'L E. MOORE, Agt., Cor. Canal and Royal Sts., New Orleans.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS

received the Highest Medal at the recent

PARIS EXPOSITION,

over all American competitors. Their FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET (20) fitness fits with perfect ease, and is warranted to not break down over the hips. Their HEALTH CORSET, with the improved Busk, is more graceful than the Health ever. Their NURSING CORSET is the delight of every mother.

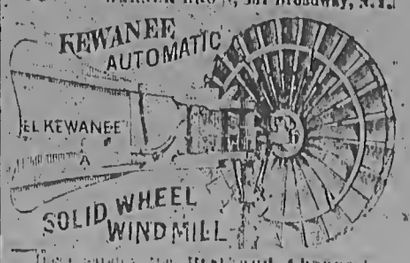
For sale by all the first class merchants.

WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N. Y.



The Best and Cheapest Windmill. Over Twenty-Eight First Premiums in 1878.

Kewanee Manuf'g Co. Patentees.

FOUNDED JULY 4th 1808.

OLDEST SHOT TOWER IN AMERICA.

THOS. W. SPARKS,

Patent American Chilled Shot

AND LEAD MANUFACTURER,

149 WALNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA.

J. A. BIBBY, Agent,
NEW ORLEANS.

G. R. MILLER & CO., Agents,
GALVESTON.

MICROSCOPES.

R. & J. BECK,

Manufacturing Opticians,

921 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE STANDARD

CHROMATIC TUNING OR PITCH-PIPE.

Nature, Shape or Use,

Accurate Sharp or Flat,

Is equal to the Pitch-Pipe of

PROF. WM. A. PEAKE,

No. 1 Irving Place, New York City.

Directions for use of

PROF. PEAKE'S

PITCH-PIPE.

RETAILED AT $3.50.

Send for circular, or correspondence of prof.

DANIEL F. READ & CO.,

17 BROADWAY, N. Y.

And Music Dealers.

Mark P. Wright & Co.,

TYPE FOUNDERS,

CHICAGO,

Type

DR. S. H. P. LEE'S

LITHONTRIPTIC

CURES STONE AND GRAVEL, GALL STONES, DIABETES, GOUT, ENLARGEMENT OF THE PROSTATE GLAND, and all its complicated stages, BRIGHT'S DISEASE,

HAS NEVER DISSOLVED

STONE AND GRAVEL

in the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder. It is now for the first time offered to the public. Secure for the manufacturer's address, full pamphlet, testimonials, &c., to the LITHONTRIPTIC COMPANY, No. 401 Union Place, New York City. Sold by druggists.

WANTED--LADY AGENTS FOR

MADAME GRISWOLD'S

PATENT SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSETS

21 E. 16th ST. New York.

BRANCH OFFICE

No. 11 WINTER ST., BOSTON, MASS.

Any of the above goods sent by mail, postage prepaid, on receipt of the price. Send for descriptive circular.

CAUTION!

Before purchasing look for Stamp and Trade Mark.

His book meets no rival or enhancement. DR. PALMER.

AGENTS WANTED FOR DR. PALMER'S NEW BOOK,

DAWN

To the new, unique and popular Author of Night Scenes in the Bible, over a million of copies will be sold. Agents are selling from 10 to 20 copies per day. Beyond Pen and Ink, and address of the Stories of the Bible. Agents will find this book with its sparkling thoughts, glowing style, grand illustrations, and (rich blue) Gilt Side Stamp, the best selling book in the market. Terms Liberal, Circulars Free. Address J. C. McCURDY & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

ow

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the prescribed Standard Family Medicine in the UNITED STATES. Scarcely a family can be found from MAINE to MEXICO that does not use them.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits.

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that Result from MALARIAL POISON and a DERANGED LIVER such as Dyspepsia, Bilious and Typhoid Fevers, Chills, Colic, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhœa, Nervousness, Dizziness, Palpitation of the Heart, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney Diseases, Chronic Constipation, Piles, &c.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a

Dull pain in Shoulder, Coated Tongue, Costive Bowels, Weight in the Stomach after eating, Sour Eructations, Aversion to Exertion of Body or Mind;

BE ADVISED, AND AT ONCE

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

The first dose produces an effect which often astonishes the sufferer, and in a short time follows an Appetite, Good Digestion,

SOLID FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE.

A sufferer says they are the

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

Dr. TUTT: I have used your Pills for Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never had anything to do me so much good in the way of medicine. They are as good as you represent them. They are the best Pill in Existence, and I do not see how I can do without them.

Yours, W. H. HARTER, Decatur, Miss.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York. 1myapp

DRY IN VACUO. ROGERS' POWDER

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA

An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

This well known preparation is highly recommended for DYSPEPSIA, HEADACHE, Sickness of the Stomach, Heartburn, and all complaints arising from Acidity, Bilious and Malarial Fevers. It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite medicine for children and its acidity and sweet taste makes it exciting and refreshing. Put up in 6-ounce bottles. Prepared by

A. ROGERS & SONS, Chemists, N. Y.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

For sale by all New Orleans druggists. sp

WATERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGA

is the most beautiful thing in style and perfect in tone ever made. It has the celebrated Concert stop, which is the imitation of the Human Voice, and two and a half Octaves of bells in unison in perfect harmony with the reeds, & their effect is magnificent & electrifying. WATERS' CLARIONA, OR CHESTRAL, CONCERTO, VESPER, CENTENNIAL CHIMES, CHAPEL and COTTAGE ORGANS, in Unique French Cases are in every respect FIRST CLASS.

WATERS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE, and Upright, ARE THE BEST MADE; the Tone, Touch, Workmanship, & Durability Unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Installments received. A Liberal Discount to Teachers, Ministers, Churches, Schools, &c. AGENTS WANTED. Special Inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments at Great Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 481 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK. Box, 3567.

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our fall stock of these goods (unexpectedly delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection. In Breech-Loading Shot Guns alone our assortment in store comprises upward of 40 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded lower than ever before, owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while all our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves, whether you wish to buy now or not. POLSOM BROS.,

P [illegible] (Old Levee) St., opp. Postoffice. Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

W. C. TOOMER.

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE—48 Carondelet St., Cor. Union.

NEW ORLEANS

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made in this market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in this city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Stockton Cypress Mills. Lumber for Plantation use filled to Order

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

168 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

ICE! ICE! ICE!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

FAMILIES SUPPLIED AT LIBERAL RATES.

ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

WILLIAM MYERS,

SIXTH STREET, between Magazine and Constantinople, opposite the Market.

THE TREMONT HOUSE.

The Palace Hotel of Chicago.

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLANS.

AMERICAN PLAN.

Rooms, with board: [illegible] per day.

Rooms without board: [illegible] per day.

Restaurant the finest in the West.

JEWETT WILCOX, Manager.

JAS. COUTTS, Proprietor.

Meneely & Kimberly,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.,

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells. Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS. Illustrated catalogue sent free.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Academy Farms, Factories, Court-houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

Vanduzen & Tift, 102 & 104 E. 2d St., Cincinnati.

MEDICAL.

The Most Refreshing Toilet Article.

CASSEBEER'S

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

(EAU DE QUININE)

WILL preserve, cultivate beautify, arrest the fall of, and restore a silken softness to the Hair, and will not soil the most delicate fabric. Price, $1.

Cassebeer's Ammonia Lozenges.

For mitigating coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, dry throat, etc., and facilitating expectoration. Price, 25 cents, sent by mail.

Both excellent preparations are for sale by all druggists, and by the proprietor, H. A. CASSEBEER, Apothecary, 57 Fourth, avenue and 357 Sixth avenue, New York.

Jenkin's ANNIHILATOR

The Great Southern Remedy for

RHEUMATISM GOUT and NEURALGIA

IS PURELY VEGETABLE, and can be taken without fear of any injurious result by the delicate as well as the robust in constitution. It purifies the Blood, stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and eradicates every vestige of the above diseases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. Pamphlets, containing testimonials and valuable advice, sent free to any address.

N. JENKINS & CO., Proprietors
New Orleans, La.

FINLAY & THOMPSON, Wholesale Druggists, General Agents, New Orleans, La.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by a true process of re-vitalization.

REMARKABLE CURES have been made in Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Headache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and the various forms of ailments which come from nervous depression.

LOSS OF VITALITY is the great cause of complaint, and especially in the case of those who are recovering from acute diseases, the overruling effects of climate, and especially IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES, is the chief cause which attends convalescence, and which dooms so many to permanent invalidism.

STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. JUDGE KELLEY, T. S. ARTHUR, Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Ex-Gov. BOREMAN, of West Virginia, and others who have used the New Treatment.

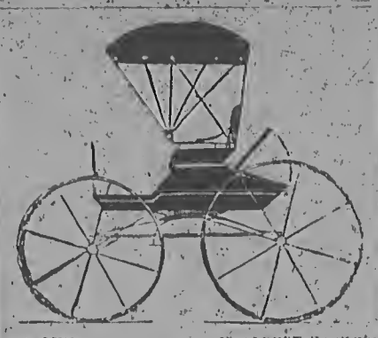
FREE! A Treatise (200 pages) on COMPOUND OXYGEN, with many testimonials to most remarkable cures, sent free. Address

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1109 Girard St., Philada.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 925 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. J. H. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKellops and Latimer, leading dentists of St. Louis; James Lapp's, M. A. Wright, Frank Stupleigh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. B. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. B. Sheckle, Agt. N. W. Pass. Co., St. Louis; John Bentley, Agt. Ill. C. R. R.; Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; E. Billon, Wiggins Ferry Co.; Capt. Jerry Wood, steamer Minnesotalia, and others.

MISCELLANEOUS.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT, Manager.

J. A. LUM & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.

162 Gravier and 18 Union Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS

IN

CARRIAGE, WAGON

AND

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

And Manufacturers of

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,

At as Reasonable Prices

118 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.,

Between Common and Gravier,

NEW ORLEANS.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

LADIES', GENTS', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.

MY MOTTO—"Quick Sales and Small Profits."

Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.

A BEAUTIFUL USEFUL and EASY-SELLING ARTICLE

Wanted by every Farmer, Hunter, Trapper, Fisherman, Sportsman and Every Family.

The most perfect scale ever invented. It is graduated from 2 oz. to 5 lbs., is about the size of a man's forefinger, weighs only 2 oz., and can be carried in the pocket without encumbrance. These handy articles are ready to hand at every turn, carrying and delivering what. The novelty, beauty and usefulness of the article ensure success. By an ingenious contrivance this little wonder is so arranged that both Gold & Silver may be so adjusted as to give the exact weight of matter weighed without disturbing the weight of the receptacle in which the matter is weighed—an advantage possessed by no other scale. Each new design patented prior to sell. Each scale is heavily nickel-plated, and will be sent post paid on receipt of 25 cents.

GEORGE BETTS,
Hyattsville, Md.

Sole proprietor and manufacturer.

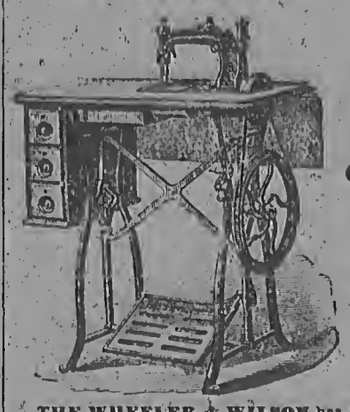
AGENTS WANTED.

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS Lapelaire's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the most remedy combining efficiency in action with agreeable palatableness. Price 50 cents. Every bottle warranted. Sold at all well-assorted drug stores and by the proprietors, 24 and 26 Elysian Fields street, Mobile depot—DuBois & Co., 20 Water St., St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 500 N. Main st. 5p

SEWING MACHINES.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to					$60.
"	90	"	"	"	50.
"	85	"	"	"	45.
"	80	"	"	"	40.
"	75	"	"	"	35.
"	70	"	"	"	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, an Unparalled of 1,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self setting needle.
It never cuts the thread or goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no noisy cog wheels.
It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It allows the work to run back from the operator.

☞ Send for our New Cash Price List.

☞ CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

M. A. PECK, Gen. Agent for La., Ala. and Miss

OFFICE AND SALESROOM—168 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA. 50

WE DO NOT WONDER.

We do not wonder that housewives who have been accustomed to use Dr. Price's Spice and Flavoring Extracts should turn in disgust from the trash often sold under the name of Flavoring Extracts, which smell and taste like lozenges. Dr. Price's Flavoring Extracts have the taste and odor of the fresh fruits.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Farmers, Families and others can purchase my remedy equal to Dr. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, for the cure of Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramp, Colic and Sea-Sickness, taken internally (it is perfectly harmless, see each wrapper containing each bottle) and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Pains in Limbs, Back and Chest. The VENETIAN LINIMENT was introduced in 1847, and no one who has used it but continues doing so, many stating if it was ten dollars a bottle they would not be without it. Thousands of certificates can be seen at the depot, speaking of its wonderful curative properties. Sold by the druggists at 10 cents. Depot, 12 Murray street New York. 8p

Religious Notices.

THE Wilkie Springs camp meeting, Pearlington circuit, Eufaula district, Alabama Conference, will commence on Friday night before the fourth Sunday in September, 1878. All are invited to attend.

12 JAMES L. MATHISON, P. C.

THE camp meeting at George's Bethel will embrace the second Sabbath in October—beginning October 11. Preachers will be met at Chunchula, on the Mobile and Ohio railroad, and conveyed to the camp ground. There will be arrangements made for the conveyance of other visitors from the railroad at moderate rates. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan. All preachers are invited, and ample accommodations will be provided for them.

19 G. M. ROGER, P. C.

THERE will be a camp meeting at China Grove, Pike county, Miss., beginning on the third of October next, known as the China Grove and Pearl River camp meeting. We have plenty of good water and camping ground, which we offer to the public free of charge, and cordially invite everybody to come and prepare for their own accommodation, as it will be strictly self-sustaining. There will be a lot for horses, and a boarding tent, for those who prefer paying the money; on very reasonable terms. Ministers of the gospel are earnestly requested to attend—for whom, with their families, accommodations will be made. P. HOWARD.

15 I. W. COOPER.

THE biennial camp meeting at Ashbury camp-ground will embrace the fourth Sabbath in October, commencing on Thursday night before. The above named camp-ground is located in the bounds of the sepulga circuit, Prattville district, Alabama Conference. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan—that is all are expected to provide their own lodging and lunch. Ministers and their families will be provided for. (15) ROBERT SMILEY, P. C.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Jackson and Plains, at Jackson	Sept. 15, 16
Wilkinson at Midway	21, 22
Archie, at Salem	28, 29
Bullalo at Mount Carmel	Oct. 5, 6
First Pellicion at Pine Grove	12, 13
East Baton Rouge at Roth 1	19, 20
Pockley at Pine Grove	26, 27
Wilmot	Nov. 2, 3
Woodville District and Quarterly Conference	8-10
Clinton	16, 17
Magnolia, at Magnolia	23, 24
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	30, Dec. 1
St. Francisville, at Greensburg	Dec. 7, 8
The District Conference in Woodville 18-19th; to end on November 8, and 10;
17	JAMES A. GODFREY, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Ridge and Forest Hill	Sep. 14, 15
Oak Hill	21, 22
Raymond	28, 29
Madison circuit	Oct. 5, 6
Sharon circuit	12, 13
Carden circuit	19, 20
Brownsville circuit	26, 27
Jackson circuit	Nov. 2, 3
Yazoo circuit	9, 10
Trapnall circuit	16, 17
Silver Creek circuit	23, 24
Yazoo City station	30, Dec. 1
Carthage station	Dec. 7, 8
Jackson station	14, 15
29	F. M. FEATHERSTON, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Port Gibson	Sep. 14, 15
Fayette, at Pleasant Hill	21, 22
Kingston	28, 29
Natchez	Oct. 5, 6
Rocky Springs, at Center Grove	12, 13
Carthage, at Reeves' chapel	19, 20
Warrenton, at Beechland	26, 27
Bovina, at F. Grice's chapel	Nov. 2, 3
Mound Direct, at Mound Direct	9, 10
Rolling Fork	16, 17
Clover Hill, at Clover Hill	23, 24
Vicksburg	30, Dec. 1
27	W. L. G. HUSKETT, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pleasant Valley and Zion Ch., at Zion	Sept. 21, 22
Georgetown circuit, at Bethesda	28, 29
Shiloh circuit, at Franklin chapel	Oct. 5, 6
Brandywine circuit, at Hebron	12, 13
Hemingway circuit, at Batson	18, 20
Scotland circuit, at Caseyville	26, 27
Meadville circuit, at Negro	Nov. 2, 3
Summit circuit, at Lamar's station	9, 10
Bogue Chitto circuit, at Bogue Chitto	16, 17
Brookhaven circuit, at Wesson	23, 24
Crystal Springs	30, Dec. 1
Hazlehurst	Dec. 7, 8

Reports for the year will be due at these Conference Road papers. Local preachers, stewards and stewards' subscriptions received and forwarded to the Advocate by the preacher in charge or the presiding elder.

5 W. E. M. TISDALE, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meridian	Aug. 31, Sept. 1
Enterprise and Marion	Sept. 14, 15
Lauderdale	21, 22
Wayne, at Eulah camp meeting	27, 29
Paulding, at Hickory camp meeting	Oct. 5, 6
De Kalb, at New Hope camp meeting	12-14
Philadelphia, at Hester's	19, 20
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	26, 27
Lauderdale mission, at Spring Hill	Nov. 2, 3
Marion, at Marion	9, 10
McGowall, at Spring chapel	16, 17
Edsel Mission, at Belpoin	23, 24
Enon prize circuit, at Chunky	30, Dec. 1
Spring Hill	Dec. 7, 8

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

ANGELL'S

HOMEOPATHIC PHARMACY,

CANAL STREET, near Chartres, South Side, New Orleans, La.

Homeopathic Medicines, Books, Cases, and all other articles used in Homeopathic practice.

BUENA SALUD.

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia & all Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Coca leaf, (erythroxylon coca,) and is recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of this leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peru and Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

QUICHUA COCA CO.,

No. 72 William St., New York.

8p

W. C. SHEPARD & Co.,

No. 29 CAMP AND 116 COMMON STS.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

$15.00 will buy an elegant Porcelain Decorated set, equal to French China in appearance, and far more durable; DINNER SET, consisting of 124 pieces, to-wit:

12 Dinner Plates,	1 Soup Tureen,
12 Tea Plates,	1 Sauce Boat,
12 Soup Plates,	1 Salad Dish,
12 Preserve Plates,	2 Covered Dishes,
12 Butter Plates,	2 Vegetable Dishes,
12 Tea Cups and Saucers,	4 Meat Dishes,
12 Dinner Coffee Cups and Saucers,	2 Pickle Dishes,

Stone China DINNER SETS ..... WRITE
Stone China TEA SETS ..... for Decorated CHAMBER SETS ..... PRICES
Real French China DINNER SETS .....
Gold Band China TEA SETS .....
Table TUMBLERS .....
Table GOBLETS .....

8p W. C. SHEPARD & CO.

GOODWYN'S EUREKA YEAST POWDER,

A Product of this city, is both popular with the trade and the light of all experienced housekeepers, and no wonder, for it is an article of the very highest order of merit. Send for circular and prices.

P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer,
No. 20 Constance Street, New Orleans, La.

WATER WHEELS.

THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE

TURBINE WATER WHEEL.

PORTABLE AND STATIONARY

STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS.

SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS.

MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING,

SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS

Of Improved Designs, A Specialty.

Address, POOLE & HUNT,

Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD

THE MARVELOUS PEN!

NO INK Required! Writes with WATER Put on any color and holds ten cents. Agents wanted. J. T. HILLYER, 111 Nassau street, New York. cow

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FITS OR EPILEPSY.

To the Editor of the Advocate:

DEAR SIR:—Will you please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the cure of the above disease, and that by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst and of long standing, and will give

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

for a case it will not cure or greatly benefit. Indeed, so strong is my faith, I will send

ONE BOTTLE FREE,

together with a valuable treatise, to any sufferers addressing me, giving their name, express and address. Please show this letter to any one you may know who is suffering with this terrible disease and oblige, Respectfully yours,

DR. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl Street, N

MISCELLANEOUS.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT T DEPOT

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS,

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.25 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.20. Best at $1.40 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice $1.25.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOLD RIO, parched or ground	25c. per lb.
CHOICE RIO	25c. "
CHOICE CORDOVA	25c. "
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA	40c. "

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station on Mobile or Jackson Railroad or Steamboat. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

London M'f'g Co.'s Essence of Mea

ESSENCE OF BEEF, MUTTON, CHICKEN.

For Invalids, Children and persons of delicate Health

Particularly adapted for YELLOW FEVER convalescents.

Best Thing Known for CHILDREN'S COMPLAINTS. IN CASES OF SEA SICKNESS—Arrest
FOR INVALIDS—Natural, Pleasant, Refreshing. Nourishment.
FOR DISPEPTICS—Readily Assimilated. AFTER CHILD-BIRTH—Meat Stimulant.
FOR TRAVELERS—Very Convenient. Retains the Trained Form.
True Flavor and Smell of the Meats.

Will remain on the stomach when the finest food or soup will not. Taken fresh from the can needing no preparation whatever. Entirely takes the place of Beef Tea.

Prepared only by the LONDON MANUFACTURING CO.,
77 & 79 VARICK STREET, NEW YORK.

For Sale by L. L. LYONS, New Orleans, La.

Patented May 28th, 1878.

The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Manf'g

Every one who owns a cow should have one of our wonderful M... A child milks them. Sent free to any part of the United States on receipt of 25 cents for our Illustrated Pamphlet on the Cow, containing the journals of practical farmers and dairymen throughout the United States, and sectional views of a cow's teats and the machine as used and explained, by Drs. Whitehead Wilson of this city. Sent free to any address.

GEO. E. KING, Pres't.

Office, 574 Broadway, New York.

SILVER PLATED WARE

Our new Priced Catalogue of Watches, Jewelry, Silver Plated Ware, Diamonds, Spectacles, Opera Glasses, Clocks, Bronzes, Fine Cutlery, Gold Pens and Pencils, Canes, Umbrellas, Fancy Goods, Notions, Coin Silver Ware, Engraving, Repairing, Etc., Etc., Illustrated. Price 10 cents. Sent free to any address.

C. P. BARNES & BRO., Jewelers,
224 Main St., Louisville, Ky.

$1.50 RAZOR

Our Premium No. 4 Razor and fifty cents we will send you, by return mail, prepaid, a Rodgers & Sons celebrated Razor, warranted to shave the hardest beard. Razors of all grades and prices. Send for Illustrated Price List. Mention this paper. Address

C. P. BARNES & BRO., Jewelers,
224 Main St., Louisville, Ky.

Gold Pens!

Our Premium No. 4 Pen and fifty cents we will send you, by return mail, prepaid, a Gold Pen, warranted to write the best quality and finest hair line. Also a large assortment of Gold Pens, suitable for all hands, at prices to suit the times. Gold Pens repaired if worn or broken, and exchanged.

C. P. BARNES & BRO., Gold Pen Makers,
Main St., bet. Sixth and Seventh, Louisville, Ky.

6w

$8. $10, $15 EACH.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERYBODY ANSWERS YES!

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY is the only reliable remedy. Simply wheat in the whole grain rendered powerfully poisonous to vermin, and is really Nature's remedy for the complete and thorough extermination of rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will at once relieve you from those noxious and destructive pests. Price only 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States at

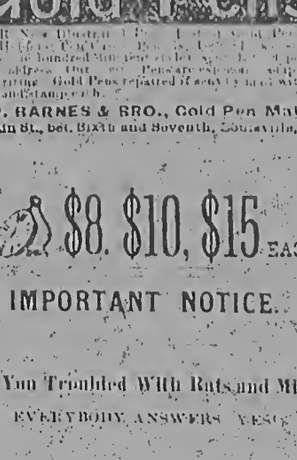
MY T. CREAMER & CO'S.
Manufacturing Chemists,
91 Thompkins street,
Mac Dougal street

Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S, 45 Magazine street. 8p

PERFORATED

VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,

For use in Churches, Halls and Lodges, are coming into general favor on account of their Comfort, Durability, Cleanliness, and Ornament.



No. 115.

Churches intending to buy Chairs or Settees will do well to correspond with

CARDNER & CO.,
Patentees and Manufacturers,
370 PEARL ST., NEW YORK.

WIRE RAILING
AND Ornamental Wire Works.

DUFUR & CO., No. 30 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Sleeves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Wayen Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

WALTHAM WATC

We sell Genuine Waltham Watches at Factory Prices. Send for Price List. Mention this paper.

C. P. BARNES & BRO.,
224 Main St., bet. Sixth and Seventh, Louisville, Ky.

FORKS AND SPO

We sell Genuine Rogers' Knives and Forks at Factory Prices. Send for Price List. Mention this paper.

C. P. BARNES & BRO.,
224 Main St., bet. Sixth and Seventh, Louisville, Ky.

POCKET KNI

We have a ready sale for Joseph Rodgers & Sons' Pocket Knives at Factory Prices. Send for Price List. Mention this paper.

C. P. BARNES & BRO.,
224 Main St., bet. Sixth and Seventh, Louisville, Ky.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCH ... Beautiful Watch. Send Street Dress ... Watch. Prices from $12 to $6. Jewelry ... same ... METAL WATCH FACTORY, 49 Beekman St., N. Y.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS

MANUFACTURER'S WAREROOMS,
No. 91 John Street, New York.
JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

Twenty-Ninth Annual Statement

OF THE

CRESCENT MUTUAL

INSURANCE CO.

NEW ORLEANS, May 1, 1878.

ASSETS, April 30, 1878 ...
GROSS PROFITS for year ending April 30, 1878 ...

The Board of Trustees this day resolved to pay for the year ending April 30, 1878, a dividend of TWENTY PER CENT. on the capital stock of the company. Said dividend of TWENTY PER CENT. is payable on MONDAY, June 10, to those entitled to receive the same.

TRUSTEES

Thos. A. Adams,	John E. King,
Samuel B. Newman,	Lloyd Cumerford,
Samuel H. Kennedy,	Joseph M. Stone,
John Phelps,	George Martin,
Adam Thompson,	Alfred Moulton,
Henry Abraham,	L. O. Jarry,
Victor Meyer,	Edward Nalle,
Joseph Bowling,	Thos. W. Scales,
Edward Gray,	Paul E. Morphy,
Simon Hernsheim,	John V. Moore,
Simon Fürstenheim,	W. H. Cooper,
Joseph B. Wolfe,	Henry M. Fiske,
R. DuPuy,	J. C. Gray,
Edward Delahaye,	Reuben G. Baugh,
	John M. Parker.

GEO. PURVES'

Sash, Blind and D

STEAM FACTORY

AND

LUMBER YARD

Corner St. Charles and Clio Sts.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

BOOKS

ENTABLISHED ... New Book ... orders ... attention ... Sunday and ... Address ... Ireland and ... Depot ... J. W. McINTYRE, 56-72 Duane St., N. Y.

cow

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1878. NO. 42.

SAINTS.

[illegible] them with [illegible] heavenward eyes,
[illegible] Meet who in Christ abide:
[illegible] long trials and apt to rise
[illegible] Though time's the ceasing tide
[illegible] a star across earth pathway lies
But the pale sorrows not aside.

[illegible] the which no discords mar,
[illegible] and fear and [illegible] toil,
[illegible] a seraph preaching to a star,
Outreaching an angel's hand,
[illegible] a light beginning from afar,
And lowering all the land.

[illegible] they pass; each man beholds
The master's risen face,
[illegible] arm aglow near he oyes unfold.
[illegible] keeps its forward place,
[illegible] counsels, the strong upholds
But all are in the race.

[illegible] through the dinginess and the pain,
[illegible] and joy and hope,
[illegible] myriad hands are raised in vain
To battle or to stop.

[illegible] them nothing to detain,
[illegible] nothing to affright.

[illegible] fair their course is graced,
[illegible] bitter, healed;
[illegible] like servants sent in haste
Who, toiling challenged, yield.
[illegible] the gardenman the waste
[illegible] to God's happy field.

[illegible] each human loss is gain
[illegible] as it was all to vain?
[illegible] which long suffered.
[illegible] each soul and heaven nearer
[illegible] of Christ.
[illegible] goes on and on;
[illegible] depths,
[illegible] facing, hastening are gone
[illegible] broken hearts,
[illegible] pity for his own,
[illegible] every tear that starts.

[illegible] of God is strong and [illegible] devious way,
[illegible] see the curtain lift
[illegible] the everlasting day.
[illegible] the toil, how vast the gain
[illegible] weary the delay.

[illegible] faith his haven there
[illegible] not, will shall be [illegible] of thy saints assured
[illegible] they are sorry [illegible]
[illegible] for inheritance waiting
[illegible] serenely.

M. H. Sterling, in [illegible] World.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 9.—A dispatch to the Banner, from Helena, Ark., says Gen. Gideon Pillow, of Mexican war notoriety, a Brigadier General in the Confederate service, died this morning of congestion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 9.—The Mormon City of New York, from Liverpool, brings this information: In New Zealand, five Wesleyan missionaries were murdered and eaten by the Rush natives near the Matiotia river. Eighty of the tribe were killed by the traders and constables in retaliation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The New York Times sums up the result of the elections as follows: Ohio the returns thus far received show large Republican gains, under it seems of the Republicans have undoubtedly been elected. Probably twelve of the twenty Congressmen. Indiana has gone Democratic on the State ticket by about the same majority as in 1876. The Indiana Congressional delegation will probably stand six Republicans, five Democrats and two districts in doubt. Iowa the largest vote ever polled is reported and the Republican majority is large. Two Democratic Congressmen elected. In West Virginia in the Third district the contest between the Democratic and Greenback candidates is not decided by present returns.

ATLANTA, Oct. 10.—Atlanta has at three physicians, fifty bales and large contributions to Chattanooga. Lee, Knott and Olmsted volunteered to go. Atlanta will equip and maintain a hospital in Chattanooga till the fever is passed.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 10.—Advices from Benson, Swift county, report a prairie fire exending over thirty miles square, destroying many farms, with crops, barns, cattle and grain; many farmers are reduced to a condition of destitution. There will be much suffering this winter in consequence.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 10.—The Congressional delegation in the State stands: Democrats six Republicans seven, Nationals one. Official returns of the Legislature give the following result: Senate—Democrats twenty-five, Republicans twenty-four, National one. House—Democrats fifty-four, Republicans forty-one, Nationals five. Democratic majority on joint ballot six.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—The steamer Belgic has arrived with advices from Hong Kong to September 2, and from Yokohama to the 22d.

Difficulties between foreign Christian missionaries and native bandits, prominent in the province of Fukien, and churches and schools have been burned by the rioters.

Dangerous mobs have congregated in the District of Chinsan, in consequence of the oppressive taxation, and 200,000 peasants threaten to rise at Ningpo.

WASHINGTON, October 11.—The United States Consul for St. Thomas telegraphs the Department of State from Frederickstad, Santa Cruz, that the rioters are apparently controlled; about two hundred and fifty killed. Planters are cancelling the country laborers. An English vessel is at Frederickstad, and a French vessel at Christiansted. Four-fifths of the mills, dwellings, cane, rum and sugar on plantations destroyed; also all business houses in Frederickstad. Many families are destitute. All business is temporarily suspended.

LOUISVILLE, Oct 13.—Heavy frost this morning. Another likely to occur to-morrow.

FRANKLIN, La., Oct 13.—The fever has made its appearance at Verdunville, six miles below Franklin; one case and one death.

VICKSBURG Oct 14.—Eight deaths to-day, five whites and three colored.

MERIDIAN, Miss., Oct. 14.—Thirty-six deaths and one hundred and forty-three cases to date. The disease continues to spread.

CHATTANOOGA, Oct. 14.—For the twenty-four hours ending at 4 p. m., the deaths were four whites and four negroes. There were fourteen new cases, seven colored.

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 14.—Official yellow fever report for forty-eight hours ending at nine o'clock this morning: New cases, 92; deaths, 8.

In West Baton Rouge, four new cases and three deaths for the last twenty-four hours.

PATTERSONVILLE, Oct. 14.—The fever on the Teche plantations is gradually abating among the blacks. At Richoc plantation, including Poles and blacks, there has been fifteen deaths to date. In Pattersonville and vicinity, five deaths from the tenth instant. The fever assumes a more malignant form, and is gradually spreading.

VICKSBURG, Oct 15.—Deaths in the city: One white and two colored.

HELENA, Ark., Oct. 15.—Four new cases and three deaths for the twenty-four hours ending at noon.

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 15.—Official yellow fever report for the twenty-four hours ending at nine o'clock this morning: New cases, forty-six; deaths, four.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 15.—The board of health officially report eighteen deaths from yellow fever during the past twenty-four hours, ending at six o'clock to-night; undertakers report fifteen additional deaths not officially reported to the board.

NATCHEZ, Miss., October 15.—A courier arrived from W. Tompson, La., this evening and reported that 2,000 armed negroes surrounded Waterproof to-day, and threatened to burn and rob the town. It is supposed they burned Yznaga's place on Lake St. John, four miles below Waterproof. A call for armed assistance was made on Natchez, and 100 men leave here on the ferryboat to aid the whites at Waterproof if needed.

CLINTON, La., Oct. 15.—Since the death of the Rev. John A. Rerty the fever is spreading from the lake. Six new cases. Miss Annie Rerty is not expected to live. Several new cases at Dejoies', but all doing well. Two new cases at Marston's, also doing well. The Clinton Howards are sending out clothes and supplies to all the different places. Three doctors now in attendance. No fever in Clinton.

FOREIGN.

ROME, Oct. 11.—Engagements of a report from Cardinal McCloskey, the Vatican is taking measures for a very considerable development of catholicism in America.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 7.—The country is quiet and business improving. The exportation of sugar, coffee, precious metals and dye woods has greatly increased over last year.

Funeral Address.

One of the saddest events connected with the epidemic is the death of Rev. M. W. Trawick and his wife, of the Presbyterian Church in this city. As notice in our last week's paper they died within a few hours of each other, and were buried at the same hour. The funeral services were conducted in the Canal Street Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Trawick was the popular and beloved pastor, October 9. The Picayune gives the following report of Rev. Dr. Palmer's address on the occasion:

The Rev. Dr. Palmer then read the fourteenth chapter of the Gospel according to St. John, commencing: "Let not your hearts be troubled; ye believed in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you."

After concluding the chapter, Dr. Palmer observed that in the presence of this double death, human speech was almost profane. We were stunned on yesterday when the intelligence reached us that he was dead, an impressive service had been determined upon to-day, with this sorrowing church, we should meet together to render the last tribute to his memory; when the tidings came that she, who was undivided with him in life, was undivided with him in death. Then our reason and almost our faith was staggered—we would rather draw our mantle over our head and weep than to say any words which could be uttered by our lips.

The last words uttered in this church previous to the present occasion were those of rejoicing, but the words pronounced to-day were words of woe. The scroll is written on either side with lamentations and a widowed church bows down in silent appeal. Comes there no voice that speaks to the heart? Oh, let it fall from the lips of your dead pastor, the last he ever uttered; when, just as the cloud was gathering over his mind and going into the eclipse of darkness itself, he exclaimed: "The Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly."

Dr. Palmer then said: "Let this be my text and my sermon to this weeping church. The Cross in one hand and the Crown in the other—the voice of faith speaking God's promise to his people. A doubt was expressed whether, from beneath his crown and his glory he who had passed away could utter words more pregnant than these: "For the Lord God is a sun and shield; the Lord will give grace and glory; no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly."

The first lesson taught by such a death was whispered to us in muffled tones that God's church must suffer in a suffering world, that the cup of suffering must be drank to its very dregs by the people of God, and that they must then exclaim, "Not my will but Thine be done." We must, as St Paul said, make up that which was lacking in the suffering of our blessed Lord. Therefore was the cross laid upon the Christian and the Christian church. We must put our shoulders under the Lord's cross, for until the transfiguration, this world is to be a world of suffering, humiliation and sorrow to his blood-bought people and his church. On that account God's church, much as he loves her, must suffer.

Reference was then made to the life of this good man, his piety and the humbleness with which he walked before his God. That it was a blessed privilege to be associated with such a man. Even in the hours when he was mighty, when reason had unshipped the rudder and could no more direct the bark, he would, as it were, at one time be baptizing, at another preaching and at another praying. A short time before his death he turned to his nurse and said: "Do you not know that you must be born again before you can enter the kingdom of heaven?" and when the nurse answered in the affirmative Mr. Trawick said: "I pray God you be born again." Later, and when the shadow of death was passing over him, one at his bedside asked him to give her a verse of scripture, and he replied immediately, the last words he ever uttered on earth: "The Lord will give grace and glory, no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly."

The wonder might be expressed by some that God would take him away from his children and his church. By this and similar allusions, the proof shone out to the world that God all the more loved us.

The second lesson enlightens by this death was, that when God asked a sacrifice from any of us, we must give him the best, not the lame, the halt, the sick or the blind. The lamb for the sacrifice must be one year old, with full strength of development, sound in limb, spotless in fleece and washed and purified by the hands of the priest before it is laid upon the altar for the sacrifice. So many lives were a burden, even to themselves; so many lives were not felt as a loss even by those who have them; why, some ask, did not God take one or two of these, instead of the main support of a church and the father and mother of these children?

And the answer comes that He did not want the lame, or the halt, or the sick, or the blind; but a perfect sacrifice. Does He not take the sweetest babe of the lot? You want it to lay on your bosom; should not He also want it to lay on His bosom? And we must bow our heads to the Divine will and exclaim: "The Lord gave and the Lord has taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

In giving up that dear brother to be with God in heaven, let us give him joy. There are now two widowed churches of this Presbytery in this city. By these and other afflictions, God means that we shall own His sovereignty, that attribute of which he is so jealous. The will of the creature must submit to the will of the Creator. Jehovah is asserting His sovereignty, and vindicating His empire. It was hard for this church, in the moment of her despair and despondency, to exclaim: "Thy will be done," yet He has written this church upon His arms, and engraved her upon the palms of His hands. No one loves this weeping, sorrowing church as he loves it. This church may perhaps be given another pastor, who may be also called upon to lay down his life in this blessed martyrdom.

Thank God, the church will ever have martyrs who are willing to lay down their lives for His service. The Lord God omnipotent reigneth; let the whole earth rejoice. The Lord gave, the Lord has taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord.

Two Germans met in San Francisco. After affectionate greeting the following dialogue ensued: "Fen you said you be arrived?" "Yesterday." "You came dot horn around?" "No." "Oh! I see; you came dot Isthmus across?" "No." "Oh! den you come dot hand over?" "No." "Den you bef not arrived?" "Oh! yes. I be arrived, I come dot Mexico through."

Conversation between an inquiring stranger and a steamboat pilot: "This is Black Mountain?" "Yes, sir. Highest mountain above Lake George?" "Any legend or story connected with that mountain?" "Lots of 'em. Two lovers went up that mountain once, and never came back again." "Indeed! Why, what became of them?" "Went down on the other side."

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy in proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

HUGH A. D. THOMPSON, aged seven years, five months and twenty-two days, only son of Rev. George F. and Mrs. Rachel Thompson, died at Moss Point, Mississippi, October 12, 1878, of Bilious Remittent Fever.

"The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord."

In this sad hour of their deep affliction, Brother and Sister Thompson request an interest in the prayers of the church.

C. S. STEWART.

BENJAMIN WILKINSON, son of the late Rev. John Wilkinson, died in Baton Rouge, La., at the residence of Mr. S. B. Harbour, on Thursday, October 3, 1878, aged eight years and nine months. Benny was taken with yellow fever in the night of Saturday, September 28, and was, during most of his sickness, delirious, the disease seeming to attack his head from the start. He suffered much pain but died in peace at the last. He was often heard repeating his prayers; and, during his lucid moments, he talked so sweetly and lovingly to the Harbour family as to completely melt them. He had much to say about his sister Mary, sometimes asking: "Did ever you see any one so sweet as little Mary?" Towards the last he sang, "I Want to be an Angel," and repeated several times: "I'm going home."

Last October, during Brother Goodwyn's meeting, Benny gave his hand and name to the preacher for membership. Though never received formally, yet he always considered himself a church member, and was, in every particular, a glorious little Christian soldier. He was a child of great promise, possessing a wonderfully bright intellect and a wealth of heart-tenderness and affection rarely seen. Had he lived he would have added lustre to the name of his noble father; but, God willing otherwise, he has in early boyhood been taken from earth to dwell with father and mother in the paradise above. Benny has become an angel of surpassing beauty.

His Pastor.

MRS. NANCY SWAYZE died at her home in Catahoula parish, La., after a long and painful illness, in the fifty-second year of her age. The deceased was a daughter of John and Mary Y. Watkins, and was born in Wilkinson county, Mississippi, January 7, 1827; was married April 21, 1844; united the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in 1850, where she remained a consistent member and devoted Christian to the day of her death, June 6, 1878.

She was a devoted daughter, an affectionate sister, a kind and most charitable neighbor, ever ready at all times to minister to the wants of the sick and destitute. As I write this I cannot but recall her kind, genial face, that always brought with it a premonition of peace; always ready by day and by night, whatever might be her cares, to discharge the sacred duties of a christian. The rod of affliction often fell heavily upon her. She was the mother of eight children, three of whom have preceded her to the grave. Her first-born, a promising young man of eighteen years, was killed during the late war, while nobly performing his duties as a soldier. She leaves a husband, three sons and two daughters, to whom she had ever been a faithful wife and tender mother, and as they mourn her loss they have but to follow her virtues, which point them to the lamb of God, and their end will be like her's, and death, but victory for Jesus who has declared, "He that believeth in Me though he was dead yet shall he live, and whosoever liveth and believeth in Me shall never die."

M. C. D.

MRS. ELIZABETH CATHERINE PICKENS, wife of Silas J. Pickens, departed this life, after a brief illness at her residence in Clarke county, Alabama, August 1, 1878, in the twenty-ninth year of her age. Sister Pickens was happily converted under the ministry of the Rev. R. M. Powers, during a revival at Tabernacle Church in 1867. She connected herself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and lived a faithful member of the same until she was called to join the triumphant church above.

The day before her spirit took its flight the writer informed her of her critical condition, and asked her if she should be called away did she feel prepared to meet her God in peace. She answered that she felt all would be well, and when her mother asked her if she still loved Jesus, she placed her arms around her mother's neck and said: "Ma, you know I love Him." Her husband told a lady friend that she lived almost upon prayer for several months before she passed away. She seemed to have a presentiment that her days on earth were almost numbered, and "like the good man when he dies, she placed her house in order." It was the happiest death-bed scene I ever witnessed. She asked me to pray for her, for Doctor I will never hear you again on earth. I knelt by the bed-side with her loved ones, and offered up a feeble petition, and when we arose her face was radiant with joy. All was joy and jollity; it was a bethel, for you could almost hear the rustling of angel wings. She asked them to sing for her, and then one by one she told them good-bye, and begged them to meet her in heaven.

She asked her sister-in-law to connect herself with the church, and lead a Christian life, that they might meet again in that unbroken circle. When he promised to live for heaven she kissed his cheek and then kissed the other, and after committing her soul into his care, fell asleep in Jesus.

B. M. ALLEN.

BUSINESS CARDS.

G. G. GORDIN.

GORDIN & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS
AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.
Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed..... $4 00
Home-Made Shoes, sewed..... $3 to $3 50
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

W. W. CARRE,
HORACE U. BEACH, Manager.
LUMBER YARD,
340 DELORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Cabins and Dressed Lumber a specialty.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,
DEALERS IN
PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND
CANNEL COAL,
FOR FAMILY USE. Office—No. 24 Carondelet street. Landing—On Levee, foot of Esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to plantation orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.
CHAS. O'LANGENBECKER, M. D.,
Successor to H. Stumpf,
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.
Dealer in fine Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. H. HUSSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL,
Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,
NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Chippewa, New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Lock Box 87.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Molasses, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CHASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Marais, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

ESTABLISHED 1870.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, Germain, Magnolia and Castile Soap.
Office, 110 CRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.
All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Curtains, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Mouldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.
☞ Frames made to order a specialty.
No. 119 Camp Street, New Orleans.

ESTABLISHED IN 1825.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Poydras Sts.
T. W. ROTHICH,
UNDERTAKER,
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming and Disinfecting. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Coffins for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.
We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the Very Lowest prices.
Silver Watches at $4 and upward.
Gold Watches at $8 and upward.
All fully guaranteed.
A. D. GRISWOLD & CO.,
Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,
COLORED SATINS,
EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,
ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.
WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.
D. H. HOLMES,
135 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,
48 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Does business on Grange principles and at Grange rates.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
55 ..... ST. CHARLES STREET 55
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN
OF ALL KINDS.
Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. J. P. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1503.

PIANOS.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the best and most satisfactory manner, at
Mr. Burchardt's Manufactory,
088 ..... MAGAZINE STREET 088
Between Jackson and Louisiana Sts.

WHEELER & PIERSON (successors to Darcy & Wheeler and Pierson & Howe),
NOS. 12 & 15 CAMP ST., opposite the City Hotel.
CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS
FOR MEN AND BOYS.
We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at fair prices, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. Wholesale department upstairs.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.
CARPETINGS—Willon, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTHS, English and American.
MATTINGS—100 rolls White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Tableau and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
BURLAPS Table and Enamel OIL CLOTHS.
A. KRUDSEN.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 1,200 students since 1867. 75 eminent professors. 105 lessons per day. E. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

EDUCATIONAL.

READVILLA SEMINARY,
BATON ROUGE, LA.
MRS. M. W. READ, Principal. Session begins October 22.
For further information apply to the Principal, P. O. Box 70.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,
AT BATON ROUGE, LA.
THE next session of this school will begin on the first Wednesday in October 1878.
This is a family boarding school for boys. The healthfulness of the locality is unsurpassed. Instruction thorough in all that is necessary in preparing the student for any grade in college or any pursuit in life. Discipline parental. The constant personal care of the principal is given to the health, morals and manners of the pupils.
For circulars, with necessary information, apply to W. H. N. MACRUDER,
Baton Rouge, La.

AUGUSTA FEMALE SEMINARY,
STAUNTON, VA.
THE largest first-class institution for young ladies in Virginia, with an able corps of twenty-five teachers.
Opens the first Wednesday in SEPTEMBER, 1878, and closes on the first Wednesday in June, 1879.
For catalogues, containing full particulars, address, MISS MARY J. BALDWIN,
Principal, Staunton, Va.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.
"THE high character and quality of board and tuition compares favorably with other colleges, while the peculiar constitution of the college and the influence of its surroundings render it, in my judgment, the very best and safest place for boys and young men, at a certain stage of culture, with which to visit the Methodist Church South."—Rev. S. M. Grace, A. M., of Memphis.
Address J. H. BRUNNER, D. D.,
Hiwassee College, Tenn.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. CHAS. E. KELSA DR. H. VIET,
DENTISTS,
12..... DAUPHINE STREET 12
One door from Canal, New Orleans.
Dentistry in all its branches. Irregularities of the teeth corrected. Artificial Palates with the latest improvements. Teeth extracted without pain under the influence of Nitrous Oxide Gas. Established in 1847.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
220 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 210 CARONDELET STREET,
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
New Orleans, La.

C. L. KELLER,
ARCHITECT,
31 ..... CARONDELET ST. 31
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
All orders from the country will receive satisfactory attention.

WANTED.
A M. E. preacher for the [illegible] Universal [illegible] to [illegible] Christian [illegible] TEACHER. For [illegible] apply to the faculty of the University at Greensboro, Ala.
J. W. E. MCCANN.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS
[illegible] HIGHEST HONORS AT ALL WORLD'S EXPOSITIONS FOR TWELVE YEARS. We are Paris Sole Agents for the Gold Medal Organs at Paris, 1878, and for the Swedish Gold Medal Organs, 1876. Our Organs were awarded highest honors at Sydney, Melbourne and Philadelphia. Illustrated catalogues and circulars, containing new styles and prices, sent free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., BOSTON, NEW YORK, or CHICAGO.

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Air Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Tinned Cocks of all Patterns.
136 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

WASHBURN'S
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART
GALLERY,
CORNER CANAL AND EXCHANGE PLACE.
☞ The finest and most central place of the kind in the South.
A PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in a manner unequaled by any gallery in this country.
Copying and enlarging of old Pictures a specialty.
Remember Washburn's New Gallery.

JOHN BOIS,
DEALER IN
FURNITURE, PICTURES,
LOOKING GLASSES, &C.
652 ..... Camp Street 654
Near the Corner of Julia Street, New Orleans.
Packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. One price and on packing every article, and no deviation.

JEWELRY STORE.
A. BOITEL,
WATCHMAKER,
88 ROYAL STREET,
Bet. Bienville and Conti ..... NEW ORLEANS
☞ Watches and Jewelry carefully repaired.

REMOVAL!
ELKIN & CO.
HAVE REMOVED THEIR
Carpet and Oil-Cloth Warehouse
TO
100 ..... CANAL STREET 100
Between corner of St. Charles Street.
A full line of CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, MATTINGS, WINDOW SHADES, &c., at reduced prices.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronising Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX,
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Looking on the Things of Others.

The practical precepts that have to do with our business affairs and with our social relations are among the best and rarest things to be observed. that lowliness of mind which leads each to esteem others better than themselves, and in honor prefering one another, is not as common as it ought to be. In secular affairs it is a good rule for every one to mind his own business. Meddlers are not likely to be esteemed. "Busy bodies in other men's matters" are condemned, and very justly. A vicous curiosity may lead us to pry into the domestic concerns of a neighbor. It affords material for gossip, and gossip is essential to the very existence of some. Without it there would be nothing to talk about, and the zest of life would be gone. The interest which people take in their neighbors and acquaintances may arise from jealousy, envy, curiosity or the hope of profit, or all of these together. In a miscellaneous company of strangers thrown together in a car, or in an assembly of almost any kind, the silent criticisms and inward comments that are going on would make a comic and piquant chapter. How they riddle each other with their eyes, and how the play upon the features tells the inward emotions? That relic of barbaric vulgarity, staring, lingers among people who pretend to decency and refinement.

And yet it is an unchristian thing for man or woman to be indifferent. Those who are so engrossed in themselves and in their own affairs that they have no thought for others are open to censure. The injunction is meant for them: "Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others." Minding one's own business may be a virtue or it may be a sin, accordingly as we interpret the matter. To look upon the things of others, to be anxious for their welfare, and to help them in their need, may make demands not alone upon our sympathies, but upon time and purse. Here is a man devoted to his own business. He is engaged in buying and selling. He must protect himself from loss and make the best bargains he can. But is he not a selfish sinner if he be indifferent to the welfare of those who deal with him? He has a property to sell, but is he doing right if he looks only at his own advantage, and is rather pleased that the purchaser has made a bad bargain? "It was his own lookout and not mine," says the sagacious man of affairs. But was it? Can a man buy a thing, or sell it, knowing that the other party is wronged, and be guiltlessly indifferent to the fact?

Competition is the life of trade, but in connection with it are also the tricks of trade. Do we often find it so, that the seller is as anxious that the buyer should make a good bargain as that he should make a good bargain himself? "But business is not done in this way," says our sharp and thrifty friend, and more, he doubts whether it can be. Our concern, however, is to know what Christian duty and principle require, and this also should be his concern if he pretends to be a religious man. Besides looking on our own things ought we not also to look on the things of other. It is expected that every man will take care of himself. In the battle for bread and for fortune each one must fight for his own standing ground. This may be true, and yet the strong ought to help the weak, and the men of sagacity, foresight and judgment should aid rather than take advantage of those, who are deficient in business capacity.

We do not find that professedly religious people are altogether selfish in their social and business relations. The rule may be the other way. But in too many instances these who drive hard bargains and seem to study their own advantage exclusively, are the men who claim allegiance to the unselfish Christ. They may come up to the worldly standard of fair and honest dealing, but they fall far below "the golden rule."

In our social life there is often more of rivalry and envy than of kindness and benevolence. Self is first and last and midst. The things of the prosperous excite covetousness, while the things of the unfortunate excite a commiseration as empty as it is worthless. "The cold charities of the world," is not the true phrase. The charities of the world are warm often munificent. It is in those conditions where there is no call for charity that men most display their selfishness. It is in the competitive race for wealth, position and influence that men and women tread each other down, and are either indifferent or inimical to each other's welfare.

It is here, in business, in social life in all our human relations that we are to break away from a mean and groveling selfishness and to look on the things of others. It is the privilege and duty of kindness and helpfulness, not in alms giving, but in doing justly, loving mercy, and walking humbly with God. Men may be Shylocks in their business extortioners in their trade, and yet give largely to charity. Something of what they have made may find its way into college endowments, and the erection of churches. With the giving we have no exception to make. That part may be well. The point we insist upon is that Christian principle must influence all the life, that it must be carried into all the affairs and relations of men. Business must not be made the school nor the cloak of selfishness, and society must not ignore the plainest precepts of the gospel.

Louisville Conference.

Mr. Editor.—I was not able to attend the session of the Louisville Conference which convened at Cadiz last week and closed yesterday, but have been furnished with full notes, from which I extract and condense such items as may be of interest to your readers.

Bishop Pierce presided, and had so far regained his strength as to be able to preach last Sunday. Dr. McFerrin and Dr. Fitzgerald were present during the first two or three days, and Dr. Wilson remained till near the close of the session. Dr. McFerrin is laboring zealously in behalf of the Publishing House. His heart is in the work. He succeeded in placing bonds to the amount of $125, somewhat in excess of the subscription by the Kentucky Conference the preceding week. The Doctor, I am informed, states that the Tennessee Conference will take $75,000 of the bonds, and the creditors of the House $150,000 in settlement of their claims to that amount. Let the church rally to his support. Let the Publishing House be saved and sustained. Dr. Fitzgerald is making friends for himself and especially for the Christian Advocate wherever he goes. He is making it the paper for the whole church, and well worthy the subscription price. Dr. Wilson, our Missionary Secretary, likewise won golden opinions from all. He is doing much to awaken the zeal and love of the church in behalf of missions. His addresses are full of fire and touch the hearts of his hearers. Dr. Young was also present, looking after the interests of Vanderbilt. The Rev. Dr. W. W. Ramsey was in attendance as fraternal messenger of the Kentucky Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was received with becoming courtesy.

Much interest was manifested by the large audience as well as the members of the Conference, when the examination of the characters begun. The name of A. H. Redford was soon reached. There was a pause amid perfect silence for some moments. The silence was broken by the offering of a resolution by the Rev. Dr. N. H. Lee, seconded by the Rev. David Morton, for which the Rev. Dr. J. B. Cottrell, seconded by the Rev. John S. Geiger, offered a substitute in these words:

Resolved, That in the passage of the character of A. H. Redford this Conference does not forejudge any issue hereafter to be settled between him and the Book Committee of the Publishing House, wherein publications have gone forth in the newspapers of the country.

This substitute was adopted and the character of Dr. Redford passed. Dr. Redford said that he committed his character and reputation into the hands of his Conference. He then asked and was granted a supernumerary relation on account of failing health.

For Foreign Missions, $1996; and for Domestic Missions, $1890, were the amounts reported. Concerning other financial matters I am not informed.

An event of some interest was the recognition in deacon's orders of Joseph M. Barry, late an elder in the Cumberlite Church and his reception into the Kentucky Conference.

Methodism in this State is not doing much more than holding its ground. Its progress is very slow. Too many preachers live miles and miles away from the Circuits over which they have pastoral charge. Presiding Elders live out of the bounds of their Districts, and too often limit their labors to Quarterly Conference affairs. Too much sky-craping and too little gospel preaching is done. Disciplinary measures are too seldom resorted to for the correction of unruly members. We ought to have 15,000 members in the city of Louisville alone. As it is we have not more than 1500.

TOM. L. MELLEN.

HENRY COUNTY, Ky., Oct 8, 1878.

Change of Time.

We call special attention to the following important notices of the change in the time of holding the Memphis, North Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences. These changes have been made expedient by the long prevailing epidemic. The brethren who may see these announcements will please circulate them, as many cannot be reached at present through the mails from this point.

FROM BISHOP PAINE.

To the New Orleans Christian Advocate:

The Memphis Conference is postponed until December 4.

The North Mississippi Conference to December 11.

The Mississippi Conference to be held as originally announced, December 18.

Those charges which have not been visited by the epidemic ought to double their usual contributions.

R. PAINE.

ABERDEEN, Miss., October 8, 1878.

FROM BISHOP DOGGETT.

CHARLESTON, Mo., Oct. 10, 1878.

On account of the continued prevalence of the yellow fever in the city of New Orleans and its vicinity at this date, and also the condition of the Conference finances consequent thereon, the time of the ensuing session of the Louisiana Conference, in the city of New Orleans, is hereby changed from December 11, next, to January 8, 1879, by request of our preachers in the city of New Orleans.

DAVID S. DOGGETT.

Accordingly the Memphis Conference will meet December 4.

The North Mississippi December 11. The Mississippi at the original time, December 18. And the Louisiana is changed from December 11 to January 8, 1879. For the reasons set forth in Bishop Doggett's notice, the preachers in New Orleans requested the time of the Louisiana Conference to be changed. They would have conferred with the other preachers of the Conference, but communications by mail at the present time are slow and difficult, and the change, if made, must be announced at once. They took the responsibility of advising the change, believing that it would meet the approval of the entire Conference.

From Jackson, Mississippi.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 13, 1878.

Rev. L. Parker, D.D., New Orleans, La.:

Dear Brother.—As public attention is watching the progress of the scourge, you will be glad to get a word from Jackson. We have now one hundred and forty-four cases in all, and twenty-four deaths. Of the cases on hand the larger number is among the colored; of the deaths the preponderence is among the whites. It has been specially fatal among our young men, and among these we number some of our most esteemed. Up to this time five of my congregation have died. I see almost all the sick, and render such comfort as a minister, and such help as a man, as is in my power. Both Dr. Hunter, of the Presbyterian, and Dr. Tucker, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, stand ready to do what they can.

To-day we had service in our church, Dr. Hunter officiating. About twenty persons present.

We were so perfectly organized, and had made such ample preparation, that there is comparatively little distress, and we feel assured that God has moved the heart and opened wide the hand of the people. You will sympathise with us in the sorrow we feel for Bro. Featherstun; at last accounts he had buried a son, a daughter, a son-in-law and a sister-in-law, and he, his wife and his other children were sick. May God in his mercy spare him and his household. Pray for us. My family keep well. As for myself, I never more resignedly felt that my trust is in God. Your brother,

W. H. WATKINS.

Rev. J. G. Graham, Waterproof, La., in a recent communication refers as follows to Rev. P. H. Moss:

The life of the Rev. P. H. Moss, affords a beautiful illustration of the great truths of religion. Though it was not our privilege to be long with him, yet we studied the "picture" closely while we had an opportunity, and we beheld so many beauties that we scarcely know which one to describe. We studied the "picture," as that of a Christian minister, and Oh! how complete! how beautiful! and fascinating it was. He left his home in Delhi, La., and traveled a long distance in order to be present at our District Conference, which was held at Waterproof, August 15-17. He labored assiduously for the saivation of souls. Long, long, will we remember his ardent zeal, his fervent prayers, and his burning eloquence.

He won and left himself mirrored in every heart. His words are embalmed in all our hearts, and his name is as "ointment poured forth." He left us and went to his post, then, surrounded by death. He labored earnestly to alleviate the sufferings of his people until death seized him.

Rev. Absolem Pettit, a local preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, died at his residence, Magnolia plantation, Warren county, Mississippi, October 5. Bro. Pettit was in the eighty-first year of his age. He was a native of Virginia, and in early life removed to Mississippi, where his long and exemplary life has been spent. He was a man of quiet and meditative habits, and for years past, infirm with age, he seldom left his home, but occupied his time with his pen and books, and in converse with his family and intimate friends. His conversation was in heaven, and he lived and died in the peaceful and blessed assurance of a better resurrection. One of his daughters is Mrs. W. H. Foster of this city, and one of his sons, Dr. Absolem Pettit, is engaged in the practice of medicine in New Orleans. He leaves a wife and several children, and a large circle of friends who will ever reverence and cherish his memory. He leaves to his children the heritage of a good name, and of a character pure and untarnished. He came to his grave "in a full age, like as a sheck of corn cometh in his season."

From Mexico.

The following note from Rev. W. M. Patterson, Superintendent of our Missions in the City of Mexico will awaken universal sympathy and regret. We remember little Mabelle as we saw her here last winter—a bright and beautiful child. Her young and sweet life has been contributed to the Mexican Mission. May the precious sacrifice only stir the heart of the church to more profound and earnest effort. We pray that our brother and sister may be divinely supported in their bereavement:

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 30, 1878.

My Dear Doctor Parker.—Our little daughter Mabelle died yesterday morning at six o'clock. She was not yet two years of age; was sick more than a month; suffered very much; and on a bright Sabbath morning passed away to the heavenly and eternal home. You remember her, and must know that the loss of our little darling is a great affliction. remember us in your prayers.

Your brother in Christ,

W. M. PATTERSON.

Acknowledgment.

Brother Price Williams, of Mobile, sends us five dollars to be paid over to the Treasurer of the Methodist Aid Society of this city, for the benefit of the yellow fever sufferers. Our church has no such organization here, but we have received several donations for the use of our preachers in relieving the destitute of their charges. We will see that the amount so thoughtfully contributed by Brother Williams is judiciously expended for the relief of the sufferers.

J. B. Wilson, Esq., sends us a check for $75, contributed by the Mt. Vernon Place Church, M. E. Church, South, Washington City, District of Columbia, for the yellow fever sufferers. As directed by Bro. Wilson, we have turned the money over to the Young Men's Christian Association of New Orleans.

Our Brother Rev. John Mathews, whose entire family have had the fever, with the exception of Willie, who is at school in Tennessee, has not passed the ordeal without bereavement. His infant son Robert, a babe five months of age, died on Monday, October 14. He was a child of great beauty, sweetness and promise. God in mercifully sparing the rest, has chosen to take away the lamb of the flock. The sorrowing family will have the sympathy and prayers of their many Christian friends.

Yellow Fever.

The report for New Orleans is: Deaths for the twenty-four hours ending Wednesday at 12 m., October 16, 26; new cases, 110; total cases, 11,965; total deaths, 3575. The reports for the past three days up to Wednesday, noon, indicate a decided decline in the fever in this city. We have hopes that it will cease to be epidemic by November 1.

We learn that the preparation of the Life of Bishop Marvin by Rev. T. M. Finucy has been interrupted since the first part of August up to a recent date by various hindrances, and especially by the sickness of the author. He is now recovered and will give to the work his exclusive time and industrious labor.

Rev. T. B. Hollowman, writing from Woodville, Miss., October 8, informs us that there is no yellow fever there, and that things are moving on about as usual, except that many people are away, and business is interrupted by quarantine.

From the Work.

MEADVILLE CIRCUIT, BROOKHAVEN DISTRICT, MISS. CONFERENCE.

Dear Mr. Editor.—The work of grace is prospering on this Circuit. We commenced a meeting at Coolsprings on the evening of the third Sabbath in September, and protracted four and one-half days. There were twenty-seven conversions and twelve accessions up to the time we closed. Since then the young converts have been carrying on a weekly prayer meeting, and twelve more have been converted and three more accessions, making the total results of the meeting to be thirty-nine conversions and fifteen accessions. I never witnessed greater displays of divine power at any place than was manifested there. Thank God the holy flame is still spreading. We are deeply indebted to Brothers Bethea and Guice for valuable assistance rendered.

We also commenced a meeting at Oak Grove, on Saturday before the fifth Sabbath in September, protracted six days. God graciously manifested himself to us there in His quickening powers by the Holy Spirit. Twenty-six were converted and fourteen joined the church, twelve of whom were received into full communion.

Brothers Bethea and Guice rendered efficient assistance here also.

The members of Oak Grove as well as Coolsprings Church, have much to be thankful for. I never saw young men take such a bold stand; many of them have already erected the family altar. The whole Circuit has been peculiarly blessed this year.

Yours in Christ,

B. F. JONES, P. C.

MEADVILLE, Miss., October 1, 1878.

EAST BATON ROUGE CIRCUIT, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The Lord has been good to us on East Baton Rouge Circuit this year. We commenced a meeting at Live Oak Church on Friday night before the third Sabbath in July, which continued six days. As a result of the efforts made we report ten accessions and a number of conversions, and the membership revived. On the first Sabbath in August we began a meeting at Black Water Church, which we continued for six days. This meeting was one of the most remarkable ones we ever attended. The wonderful characteristic of this meeting was the conversion of so many boys. There were twenty-one added to the church and eighteen conversions, one-half of the conversions were boys. Since the meeting closed the boys have established a weekly boys' prayer meeting, attended only by the boys. We report so far sixty-three accessions to the church on the Circuit this year.

Prayer meetings and Sabbath-schools kept up, and the work of the Lord prospering. To Him be all the praise and glory.

RUFFIN T. DAVIS, Pastor.

September 20, 1878.

Rev. R. S. Isbell, writing from Washington, La., October 8, says:

The Lord has been very merciful to us, and has thus far spared us the terrible epidemic that is now desolating so many portions of our country. Our quarantine regulations are very strict, and thus far, under the blessings of God, we are free, for which we ought to be deeply grateful.

I have been much occupied of late, attending the sick, but none with the yellow fever. Some have died. Our congregations are uniformly large and attentive, and our worship has been greatly blessed. Hope to write you soon an encouraging statement of our work.

It is better not to ask too many questions about the future. A curious husband—that is a husband who was too curious—asked his wife, "My dear, what kind of stone do you think they will give me when I am gone?" She answered coyly, "Brimstone, John."

MARRIED.

BARBER—GILMORE.—At the re... R. S. Armistead, September 18, 187... W. W. Graham, Mr. R. J. Barber... May E. Gilmore, all of Clark coun...

Dean Stanley AND THE BIBLE REVISION COMMITTEE.

Dean Stanley, says the N... Observer of October 3, ca... Boston to New Haven, where... the guest of Professor Fish... Friday they came to this c... went immediately to the Bibl... where the revision committee... session.

The Dean is a member of the... lon Committee in England, ... now brought with him and p... the salutations of the ge... there engaged in the same... Rev. Dr. Schaff, President ... Committee, presented the ... members to the Dean, and ... addressed by a representative ... of the denominations. Re... Washburn spoke in behalf of ... palians, President Woolsey ... Congregationalists, Rev. Dr. ... for the Presbyterians, Rev. D... driek in the name of the R... and Rev. Dr. Strong for the ... dist Church.

"We have another Benjamin ... said Dr. Schaff, "whose elo... often silence, and perhaps we ... have a speech from Prof. Ca... Quaker member."

Professor Chase instantly ar... said, "Dean Stanley. I salute ... a friend."

Which was just the brightest ... of the occasion. After lu... to which Dr. Schaff invited t... pany, the Dean went on to P... phia. There he was the g... George W. Childs, Esq., who ... of the contributors of a... window in Westminster Abbe... Sabbath last the Dean preac... Philadelphia, St. James' ... being crowded to its utmost ca... and hundreds going away u... find admission.

In this connection we m... that the Bible Revision Com... is making progress. The N... tament Company has finish... first revision of Revelation a... proceed to the final revision ... Gospels in October. The Old ... ment Company has finished t... revision of the Books of Samu...

Some very absurd stateme... going the rounds of the pa... regard to the decisions of th... mittee to reject this, that a... other text or portion of Sc... Nothing has yet been decide... The work of the Committee ... side of the ocean and the oth... be compared, from time to ti... the results are not known o... the rooms. It will require ... three years, and perhaps a ... time, to complete the revision. ... then it has no authority beyo... of opinion, and will be acce... not at the option of every rea...

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	Bishop.
W. Virginia	Cattlettsburg	Pierce
Denver	W. Los Angeles	Wightman
Western	Wyandotte	Doggett
Missouri	Macon	Doggett
Illinois	Paris	Kavanaugh
Kentucky	Shelbyville	Pierce
Montana	Helena	Wightman
S. W. Missouri	Clinton	Doggett
Indianville	Cadiz	Pierce
Columbia	Rossburg	Wightman
Tennessee	Clarksville	Kavanaugh
St. Louis	Charleston	Doggett
Indian Miss.	Muscogee Nation	McTyeire
West Texas	San Marcos	Pierce
Pacific	San Francisco	Wightman
Holston	Knoxville	Kavanaugh
Arkansas	Russellville	McTyeire
N. W. Texas	Bethel	Pierce
Los Angeles	St. Bernar	Wightman
White River	Searcy	McTyeire
Virginia	Petersburg	Pierce
Florida	Gainesville	Kavanaugh
German Miss.	Industry	McTyeire
North Texas	Terrell	Pierce
N. Carolina	Charlotte	Doggett
N. Alabama	Athens	Kavanaugh
N. Georgia	Marietta	McTyeire
Little Rock	Hot Springs	Kavanaugh
Texas	Chapmel Hill	Pierce
Memphis	Paris	Doggett
N. Mississippi	Macon	Doggett
S. Carolina	Newberry	Pierce
Alabama	Mobile	Doggett
S. Georgia	Thomasville	McTyeire
East Texas	Tyler	Pierce
Mississippi	Meridian	Doggett
Oklahoma	New Orleans	Wightman
Baltimore	Salem	Doggett

Publisher's Department

MR. E. E. F. ROSS, one of th... of this paper, is now trave... the East, on business connec... Any attention ... ded.

ARMSTRONG, CAESAR ... Illinois. This well-kn... began advertisements in ... The store is one of the most ... in the United States. ... voted to ribbons, velvets, and the ... goods of that description. The seco... to hats and millinery goods; the ... white goods, laces, etc., and the fo... hosiery, woods, blankets and other ... Our representative called on them ... Baltimore some days ago, and speak... highest terms of the business of the ... Send for samples and prices.

THE TRUSS advertised by ... C. Kram is highly recommended by ... have had occasion to use it. The Doc... devoted much time and study to the ... of rupture, and has made this truss on ... rific principles, and feels assured ... superiority over others now used. ... interested should write to him for ... particulars in regard to his trusses ... general mode of treating diseases for ... they are designed.

THE AMERICAN HOUSE, B... Mass., stands high with the traveling ... The proprietors, by an unvarying sys... courtesy, and attending carefully ... wants of their guests, have made a n... reputation for their hotel. When in ... stop at the American House.

NOTICE.

We have appointed Logan D. Pa... agent Advocate Publishing house, St. ... Mo., our general agent for sale of ... Marvin's Book of Travels, "To the E... way of the West," to whom all orde... books and applications for agencies m... addressed. RYMAN, THRAS... St. Louis, August 28, 1878.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

DR. WILHOFT'S ANTI-PERIODIC OR FEVER AND AGUE TONIC.—Wilhoft's Tonic has established itself as the real infallible Chill cure. It is universally admitted to be the only reliable and harmless Chill medicine now in use. Its efficacy is confirmed by thousands of certificates of the very best people from all parts of the country. It cures malarious diseases of every type, from the sinking agues of the lakes and valleys to the racking fevers of the torrid zone. Try it. It has never been known to fail. WILHOFT, FINLAY & CO., proprietors, New Orleans. For sale by all druggists.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, chap blister, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with assurety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 607 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

QUEEN OF THE OVEN.

A biscuit made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is certainly the queen of the oven. So light, white and enjoyable! After breakfasting on biscuits made with Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, what man would contentedly suffer, or grumble because his wife asked him for money?

WE DO NOT WONDER.

We do not wonder that housewives who have been accustomed to use Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts should turn in disgust from the trash often sold under the name of Flavoring Extracts, which stuff ruins and taints like turpentine. Dr. Price's Flavoring Extracts have the taste and odor of the fresh fruits.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Farmers, Fruit-growers, Planters can purchase no remedy equal to the JULIAN'S VENETIAN LINIMENT for the cure of Cholera Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramp, Colic and Sick-Headache, taken internally. It is perfectly harmless. Full directions accompanying each bottle, and especially for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Pains in Limbs, Back and Chest. The VENETIAN LINIMENT was introduced in 1847, and to one who has used it, continues to display many startling proofs of its virtues. Thousands of certificates can be seen at the depot, speaking of its wonderful curative properties. Sold by the druggists at 10 cents. Depot, 12 Murray street, New York.

BRAIN WORKERS.

Clergymen, lawyers, physicians, students and all classes of brain workers will find the use of Dr. Price's Floral Riches Cologne grateful refreshing. The handkerchief wetted in it and applied to the face occasionally will please the senses, quell headache, prove a stimulus to the mental faculties, leading to vigorous action.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY

An Antidote for Malarious, Miasmatic Poisoning. It will cure Chills, Fever and Ague, Dumb Chills or Congestive Chills, Bilious Fever, Dengue, Break-Bone Fever, Remittent Fever, any inflammation, Sore Eyes, Inflammation of the Bowels, Kidneys or Bladder, Piles, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Sore Throat, Quinsy, Mumps, Erysipelas, Pleurisy, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, Hoarseness, Influenza, Catarrh, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Colic, Cramps, Spasms, Nausea, Vomiting, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Hysterics, Nervous Headache, Female Weakness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Debility, Hypochondria, Blues, Suppressed or Painful Menstruation, Whites, Sterility, Impotency, Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Discharges, Wakefulness, Mercurial Affections, Poisoning or Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Carbuncles, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Itch, Ringworm, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Black Spots on the Face or Body, Copper-Colored Complexion, Syphilitic Taint, Diseases arising from the Use of Mercury, Bones, Joints, Rheumatism, Gout, Lumbago, Kidney Complaints, Dropsy, Gravel, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, Dizziness, Sick-Headache, Constipation, Costiveness, Blood Impurities, Vitiated Blood, Fevers of all kinds, Ague, Intermittent Fever, Typhoid Fever, Yellow Fever, Scarlet Fever, Typhus Fever, Spotted Fever, Brain Fever, Inflammation of the Brain, Paralysis, Sunstroke, Heat Exhaustion, Epilepsy, Spasms, St. Vitus' Dance, Tetanus, Lockjaw, Hydrophobia, Diseases of the Urinary Organs, Dropsy, Pain in the Back, Disease of the Heart

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the recognized Standard Family Medicine of the United States. Scarcely a family can be found, from Maine to Mexico, that does not use them.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits.

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that result from MALARIAL POISON and a DERANGED LIVER such as Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Typhoid Fevers, Chills, Colic, Sick Headache, Female Irregularities, Nervousness, Dizziness, Constipation of the Bowels, Piles, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Kidney Diseases, Chronic Dysentery, Pleurisy, etc.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a

Dull pain in Shoulder, Coated Tongue, Costive Bowels, Weak Stomach, Sick Headache, Sour Eructations, Averse to Exertion of Body or Mind.

BE ADVISED AND AT ONCE

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

The first dose produces an effect which at once astonishes the sufferer, and in a short time follow an Appetite, Good Digestion,

SOLID FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE.

A sufferer says they are the

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

DR. TUTT: I have used your Pills for Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never have found so prompt relief to the way of medicine. They are as good as you represent them. They are the best Pill in Existence, and I do all I can to sell them, others with their good merits. J. W. FISHER, Dakota, Minn.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York. 6mosp

ELASTIC JOINT

IRON ROOFING.

FIRE, WATER AND WIND PROOF.

Durable, Cheap, easily applied by any one. Provides for expansion and contraction. In practical use sixteen years. Boxed for shipment to any part of the country.

Address for Circular, CALDWELL & CO., Cincinnati, O.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS

received the Highest Medal at the recent

PARIS EXPOSITION,

over all American competitors. Their FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET (120 Bones) fits with perfect ease, and is worn a full inch lower over the hips. Their HEALTH CORSET, with its improved Bust, is now a greater favorite than ever. Their NURSING CORSET is the delight of every mother.

For sale by all leading merchants.

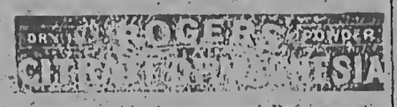
WARNER BROS., 351 Broadway, N.Y.

Incomparably the Best and Cheapest Windmill. Protected by two Patents. Twenty-Eight Great Premiums. Light, but strong and durable. Has more self-regulating points in Better Winds, is more adjustable, and pumps more water than any other windmill ever before made. Requires no attention, no combustible, no repairing expenses. It has successfully withstood the hurricanes of the West, while other mills that stood near them have been destroyed. It is rapidly superseding others there. See certificates and test of 30 days by our Tested Dynamometer.

Kewanee Manuf'g Co. Patentees.

Office 35 BROADWAY, New York.

N. B. Liberal Agent and County Agents wanted in all parts of the World.



An Improved Aperient and Refrigerant.

This new preparation is highly recommended for Acid Dyspepsia, Headache, Sickness of the Stomach, Heartburn, and all complaints arising from Acidity and in Bilious and Malarial Fevers. It corrects acidity and is greatly to the bowels. It is a delightful remedy for children and is pleasant and sweet to the taste, cooling and refreshing. Put up in quart bottles. Prepared by A. TUTT & SONS, Chemists, N. Y.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

For sale by all New Orleans druggists. 6p

WATERS' Orchestrine Chimes of Gold

Grand Musical Marvel! Stands 42 inches high; 72 inches wide. Has the celebrated Concerto stop, which gives the instrument the effect of a Human Voice, and is a beautiful Orchestral Solo Instrument. Especially adapted to CHURCH, CONCERT, VESPER, CENTENNIAL, CHIMES, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORGANS. The Unique French Cases are given due respect. FIRST CLASS.

WATERS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE and UPRIGHT, ARE THE BEST MADE. For Tone, Touch, Workmanship, Durability Unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Installments received. A Liberal Discount to Teachers, Churches, Schools, etc. AGENTS WANTED. Special inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments at Great Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 481 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK, Box, 3567.

ICE! ICE! ICE!

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

FAMILIES SUPPLIED AT LIBERAL RATES.

ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

WILLIAM MYERS,

NINTH STREET, between Magazine and Constance Sts., opposite the Market.

THE TREMONT HOUSE.

The Palace Hotel of Chicago.

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN PLANS.

AMERICAN PLAN.

Rooms (with board) ..... $3 to $4 per day.
Table d'hote dinner passed.

EUROPEAN PLAN.

Rooms without board ..... $1 to $2 per day.
Restaurant the finest in the West.

JEWETT, WILCOX, Manager.
JAS. COUCH, Proprietor.

Meneely & Kimberly,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.,

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells. Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS. Illustrated catalogue sent free.

BLYMYER M'F'G CO. BELLS

Church, School, Fire Alarm, Plantation, Bell, Warranted. Catalogue with 1700 testimonials, prices, etc., sent free.

Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O.

MEDICAL.

The Most Refreshing Toilet Article.

CASSEBEER'S

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

(EAU DE QUININE).

WILL preserve, cultivate, beautify, arrest the fall of, and restore a silken softness to the hair, and will not soil the most delicate fabric. Price, $1.

Cassebeer's Ammonia Lozenges.

For mitigating coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, dry throat, etc., and in treating expectoration. Price, 25 cents, sent by mail.

Both these first preparations are for sale by all druggists, and by the proprietor, H. A. CASSEBEER, Apothecary, 57 Fourth Avenue and 347 Sixth avenue, New York.

Jenkin's ANNIHILATOR

The Great Southern Remedy for

RHEUMATISM GOUT and NEURALGIA

IS PURELY VEGETABLE, and can be taken without fear of any injurious result by the delicate as well as the robust in constitution. It purifies the Blood, stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and eradicates every vestige of the above diseases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. Pamphlets, containing testimonials and valuable advice, sent free to any address.

N. JENKINS & CO., Proprietors, New Orleans, La.

FINLAY & THOMPSON, Wholesale Druggists, General Agents, New Orleans, La.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by a true process of Re-vitalization.

REMARKABLE CURES have been made in Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Headache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and the large class of ailments which come from nervous depression.

LOSS OF VITALITY feebleness of constitution, exposure to miasma, the enervating effects of climate, and especially IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES to the slow reaction which attends convalescence, and which dooms so many to permanent invalidism.

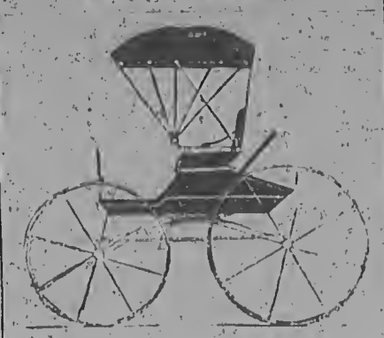
STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. JUDGE KELLEY, P. S. ARTHUR, Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Ex-Gov. BOREMAN, of West Virginia, and others who have used the New Treatment.

FREE! A Treatise [200 pages] on COMPOUND OXYGEN, with many testimonials to most remarkable cures, sent free. Address DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard St., Philada.

PILES.

DR. W. H. WORTMAN & CO., 908 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. J. Hale Lean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKellops and Eaines, leading druggists of St. Louis; James Lupe; M. A. Wolff; Frank Shapleigh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. B. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Shreckle, Agt. N. W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Bentley, Agt. Ill. C. R. R.; Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; L. Hillon; Wiggins Ferry Co.; Capt. Jerry Wiest, steamer Minnesauls, and others.

MISCELLANEOUS.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOGAN.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.

162 Gravier and 18 Union Street.

☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

J. THOMSON & BRO.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS

IN

CARRIAGE, WAGON

AND

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

And Manufacturers of

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons.

All at Reasonable Prices

68 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.,

Between Common and Gravier,

NEW ORLEANS.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

LADIES', GENT'S, MISSES AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.

MY MOTTO—"Quick Sales and Small Profits."

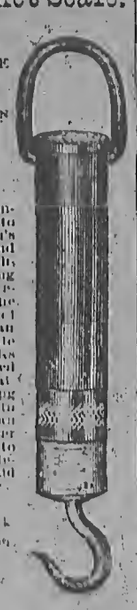
Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.

A BEAUTIFUL, USEFUL and EASY-SELLING ARTICLE



Wanted by every FARMER, HUNTER, TRAPPER, FISHERMAN, SPORTSMAN, and EVERY FAMILY.

The most perfect scale ever invented. As graduated from 2 oz. to 196lbs. is about the size of a man's forefinger, weighs only 2 oz., and can be carried in the pocket without inconvenience. Thus being always ready to meet an ever-recurring and universal want. The novelty, beauty and usefulness of the article is sure to sell it. By an ingenious contrivance this little wonder is so arranged that by its self-graduated it may be adjusted as to give the exact weight of matter weighed, without subtracting the weight of the receptacle in which the matter is weighed, an advantage possessed by no other scale. It is a new idea, and sure to sell. Each scale in handsome nickle plated, and will be sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents.

GEORGE BETTS,

55 Broadway, New York.

Sole proprietor and manufacturer.

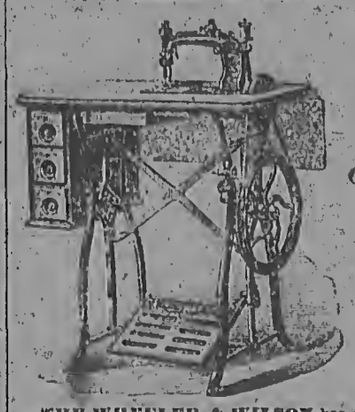
AGENTS WANTED.

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS, Lapelaire's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balsam is the only positively effective, healing sedative of action with a most palatable savor. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold by all well-assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 24 and 26 Elysian Fields street, Metairie depot. Depôts—Richardson & Co., 709 N. Main st. 5p

SEWING MACHINES.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to	.....	$60.
" 90 "	.....	50.
" 85 "	.....	45.
" 80 "	.....	40.
" 75 "	.....	35.
" 70 "	.....	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self setting needle.
It never cuts the thread or goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no noisy cog wheels.
It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It allows the work to run back from the operator.

☞ Send for our New Cash Price List.

☞ CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM:

103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Religious Notices.

WOODVILLE DISTRICT.

The preachers of the Woodville District, Mississippi Conference, will please send me the names of members of the District Conference in their various charges immediately.

Respectfully,

T. B. HALLOMAN, P. C.

THE camp meeting at George's Bethel will embrace the second Sabbath in October—beginning October 11. Preachers will be met at Tuskahoma, on the Mobile and Ohio railroad, and conveyed to the camp ground. There will be arrangements made for the conveyance of other visitors from the railroad at moderate rates. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan. All preachers are invited, and ample accommodations will be provided for them.

G. M. ROPER, P. C.

THERE will be a camp meeting at China Grove, Pike county, Miss., beginning on the third of October next, known as the China Grove and Pearl River camp meeting. We have plenty of good water and camp'ng ground, which we offer to the public free of charge, and cordially invite everybody to come, and prepare for their own accommodation, as it will be strictly self-supplying. There will be a hot for horses, and a boarding tent, for those who prefer paying the money, on very reasonable terms. Ministers of the gospel are earnestly requested to attend, for whom, with their families, accommodations will be made.

P. HOWARD,
I. W. COOPER.

THE Wilkie Springs camp meeting, Perote circuit, Eufaula district Alabama Conference will commence on Friday next before the fourth Sunday in September, A. D. All are invited to attend.

P. JAMES L. MATHIS, P. C.

THE annual camp meeting at Antioch camp ground, will embrace the fourth Sabbath in October, commencing on Thursday the 24th inst. The most splendidly improved ground is located in the bounds of the Sepulga circuit, Prairieville district, Alabama Conference. The meeting will be conducted on the self-sustaining plan; that is all are expected to provide their own. Folding and couch. Mattresses and bed clothes will be provided by the committee.

ROBERT SMILEY, P. C.

Quarterly Meetings.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Louisiana Avenue	Oct. 13
Algiers	14
Bellevue Street	17
Baton Rouge	Nov. 1
Mercury Street	17
Pilgrim Mission and Carrollton at Elysian	17
St. Charles Avenue	Dec. 1
Unfinished Street	2
Lafayette at Hermes	29

LISLE PARKER, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Jackson and Florida Mission	Sept. 15, 16
Wilkinson at Midway	21, 22
Amite, Hebron	28, 29
Bellaire at Mount Carmel	Oct. 6
East Feliciana at Pine Grove	12, 13
East Feliciana at Bethel	19, 20
Pinckney at Pine Grove	26, 27
Wharton	Nov. 2, 3
Woodville, Bayou and Quarterly Conference	8, 10
Clinton	16, 17
Magnolia at Magnolia	23, 24
Bayou Sara at Bayou Sara	30, Dec. 1
St. Francisville	Dec. 7, 8

The Deputy Conference in Woodville is postponed until November 9 and 10.

JAMES A. GUSKEY, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Ridge and Forest Hill	Sep. 14, 15
Oak Hill	21, 22
Raymond	28, 29
Madison circuit	Oct. 5, 6
Sharon circuit	12, 13
Pinckney circuit	19, 20
Deadman circuit	26, 27
Brunswick circuit	26, 27
Jackson circuit	Nov. 2, 3
Yazoo circuit	9, 10
Tranquil circuit	16, 17
Ship of Creek circuit	23, 24
Yazoo City station	30, Dec. 1
Canton station	Dec. 7, 8
Jackson station	14, 15

F. M. FEATHERSTON, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Port Gibson	Sep. 14, 15
Fayette at Ebenezer	21, 22
Kingston	28, 29
Natchez	Oct. 5, 6
Rocky Springs, at Potter Grove	12, 13
Bayou, at Grove Chapel	19, 20
Warren, at Beechland	26, 27
Dover, at Foreman's chapel	Nov. 2, 3
Mount Olivet, at Mount Olivet	9, 10
Rolling Fork	16, 17
Clover Hill and Leotard	23, 24
Vicksburg	30, Dec. 1

W. L. CHUNNETT, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

Pleasant Valley and Zion Ch., at Zion	Sept. 21, 22
Georgetown circuit, at Bethesda	28, 29
Bethel circuit, at Franklin Chapel	Oct. 5, 6
Brandywine circuit, at Rehoboth	12, 13
Beauregard circuit, at Bethany	19, 20
Scotland circuit, at Caseyville	26, 27
Meadville circuit, at Negro	Nov. 2, 3
Summit circuit, at Johnson Station	9, 10
Bogueschitto circuit, at Bogueschitto	16, 17
Brookhaven circuit, at Wesson	23, 24
Crystal Springs	30, Dec. 1
Hazlehurst	Dec. 8, 9

Reports for the year will be due at these Quarterages from pastors, local preachers, trustees and stewards. Subscriptions received and forwarded to the Advocate by the preacher in charge or the presiding elder.

W. E. M. LANSFIELD, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meridian	Aug. 31, Sept. 1
Shubuta and Quitman	Sept. 14, 15
Enterprise	21, 22
Wayne, at Talon (camp meeting)	28, 29
Pachuta, at Hickory Flat (camp meeting)	Oct. 5, 6
DeKalb, at New Hope (camp meeting)	12, 13
Quitman circuit, at Hopewell	19, 20
Chunkeyville, at Hebron	26, 27
Waynesboro, at Waynesboro	26, 27
Lauderdale miss'n, at Shiloh Hill	Nov. 2, 3
Marion, at Marion	9, 10
Marlboro, at Salem chapel	16, 17
Enterprise mission, at Bethany	23, 24
Enterprise circuit, at Chunky	30, Dec. 1
Spring Hill	Dec. 7, 8

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Franklin Street	Oct. 5, 6
Taulmanville	6, 7
Citronelle, at George's	12, 13
Stockton	19, 20
Pollard, Pawelton and B. Wine Coon Hill	26, 27
Oktuppa, at Bethel	Nov. 1
Bladon	2, 3
St. Stephen's, at New Hope	9, 10
Pensacola	16, 17
Warrington	17, 18
Milton and Yellow River	23, 24
Grand Bay, at St. Elmo	Dec. 1
St. Francis Street	7, 8

Local preachers and trustees will please have their reports ready. Stewards, make earnest, honest efforts to settle in full with your pastors.

S. H. COX, P. E.

EUFAULA DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Beulah	Oct. 26, 27
Pea River	Nov. 2, 3
Newton	9, 10
Elton and Midway	16, 17
Perote	19
Villula	23, 24
Clemville	25
Henry	29
Columbia	30, Dec. 1
Ozark	Dec. 2, 3
Clayton	5
White Pond	7, 8
Eufaula	9

The Stewards are requested to make a full settlement with their preachers on this round. They know their duty, let them perform it.

HENRY H. MOORE, P. E.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BUENA SALUD

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia & all Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Coca leaf of Cuzco, Peru, and is recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of this leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peruvian Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

QUICUA COCA CO.,

No. 32 William St., New York.

BOGART'S CANCER REMEDY.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Office Consultations Daily from 9 to 3 and by A. M. and Card or P. M.

Office, Corner Rost and Calypso Streets, NEW ORLEANS.

Office Consultations—Daily from 9 to 3 and by A. M. and Card or P. M. 1mw GOODWYN'S EUREKA YEAST POWDER, a double Gem of this city, is both popular with the trade and the élite of all over-grazed households, and is warranted by it to be unrivalled in the very highest order of merit. Send for circular and prices.

P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer, No. 240 Constance street, New Orleans, La.

WATER WHEELS

THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE

TURBINE WATER WHEEL,

PORTABLE AND STATIONARY

STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS,

SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS,

MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING,

SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS

Of Improved Designs, A Specialty

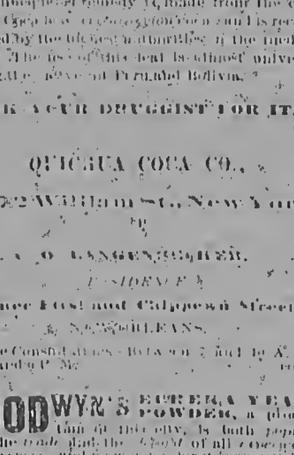
Address, POOLE & HUNT,

Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD

PERFORATED

VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,

For use in Churches, Halls and Lodges, are coming into general use on account of their Comfort, Durability, Cleanliness, and Ornament.



No. 115.

Churches intending to buy Chairs or Settees will do well to correspond with

CARDNER & CO.,

Patentees and Manufacturers,

310 PEARL ST., NEW YORK.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

LONDON MAN'F'G. CO.'S

ESSENCES OF MEATS,

For Invalids, Infants and Travelers,

ESSENCE OF BEEF, MUTTON, CHICKEN,

Entirely Takes the Place of Beef Tea.

UNEQUALED in Children's Complaints.
FOR INVALIDS—Natural, Pleasant, Refreshing.
FOR DISPEPTICS—Readily Assimilated.
IN CASES OF SEA SICKNESS—Afford immediate Nourishment.
AFTER CHILD-BIRTH—Meat Stimulant; Concentrated Form.

Particularly adapted for YELLOW FEVER convalescents.

Taken cold direct from the can, needing no preparation whatever.

Prepared only by the LONDON MANUFACTURING CO.,

77 & 79 VARICK STREET, NEW YORK.

For Sale by I. L. LYONS, New Orleans, La.

FITS OR EPILEPSY.

To the Editor of the Advocate:

DEAR SIR—Will you please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the cure of the above disease, and that by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing, and will give

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

for a case it will not cure or greatly benefit. Indeed, so strong is my faith, I will send

ONE BOTTLE FREE,

together with a valuable treatise, to any sufferers addressing me, giving their name, express and P. O. address. Please show this letter to any one you may know who is suffering with this terrible disease and oblige,

Respectfully yours,

DR. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl Street, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT DEPOT

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.
ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.25 per lb.
IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.25. Best at $1.50 per lb.
MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice $1.25.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Flowery Pekoe, Japan, Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground	25c. per lb.
CHOICE RIO	30c. "
CHOICE CORDOVA	35c. "
REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA	40c. "

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station on Mobile or Jackson Railroad Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send 25 cts. extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

Patented May 22d, 1877.

The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Man'f'g Co

Every one who owns a cow should have one of our wonderful Milkers. A child can use them. Send free to any part of the United States on receipt of price. Send for our Illustrated Pamphlet on the Cow, containing the testimonials of practical farmers and dairymen throughout the United States and Europe, who have given our cows, heats and time tests last year. Also, testimonials of Hon. Whitehall Wilson of this city. Send for many testimonials.

GEO. E. KING, President.

Office, 573 Broadway, New York.

NEW AMERICAN $15 WATCH

The extraordinary favor with which the Waltham has been received by the public has encouraged us to greatly increase our facilities, without increasing the price. Having recently purchased the entire stock of the New England Watch Co., which includes the finished movements of the NEW Model Improved Waltham Watch, 1000 Lever Watches, fully warranted in hunting and open face cases, and a correct Time Keeper for the watch, and likewise a large number of AT WORKS, which we offer at a low price, subject to examination. Circulars sent free. Money may be sent by Express, or by Post Office order, payable to our order. Watches sold, Chains, Gold Pens, Jewelry, etc., repaired. Price List of New Illustrated Watches sent free.

C. P. BARNES & BRO., Jewelers, 241 Main St., below Canal, Cincinnati, O.

A KEY TO THAT

$8. $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERYBODY ANSWERS, YES!

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY, is the only reliable remedy, simply wheat in the whole grain rendered powerfully poisonous to vermin, and is really Nature's remedy for the complete and thorough extermination of rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will at once relieve you from those noxious and destructive pests. Price, only 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States at

M. T. CREAMER & CO'S,
Manufacturing Chemists,
91 Tchoupitoulas street.

Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S, 35 Magazine street. 8p

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

183 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our fall stock of these goods (more especially delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection by Breech Loading Shot Guns Alone our assortment in store comprises upward of 20 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded lower than ever before, owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while all our old stock has been marked down to reflect the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it but call and see for yourselves, whether you wish to buy now or not. FOLSOM BROS.,

9 Decatur (Old L. Vse) St., opp. Postoffice. Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS

MANUFACTURERS' WAREROOMS,

No. 91 John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

Twenty-Ninth Annual Statement

OF THE

CRESCENT MUTUAL INSURANCE CO.

NEW ORLEANS, May 20, 1878.

ASSETS, April 30, 1878 ..... $[illegible]
GROSS PROFITS for year ending April 30, 1878 ..... [illegible]

The Board of Trustees this day resolved after paying the annual dividend of TEN PER CENT. on the capital stock of the company, to pay a dividend of TWENTY PER CENT. in cash on MONDAY, June 10, to those parties entitled to receive the same.

TRUSTEES.

Thos. A. Adams,	John E. Rice,
Samuel R. Newman,	Fred'c Amerdes,
Samuel H. Kennedy,	Joseph W. Stone,
John Phelps,	George Marbury,
Adam Thomson,	Alfred Moulton,
Henry Abraham,	L. Oechsner,
Victor Meyer,	Edward Nalle,
Joseph Bowling,	Geo. W. Seutell,
Edward J. Gay,	Paul E. Morphy,
Simon Hernsheim,	John V. Moore,
Alfred Forsch-Heer,	W. H. Cooper,
Joseph H. Wallis,	Henry M. Pirrie,
R. B. Post,	Reuben H. Rich,
Edward Pilsbury,	John M. Parker.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings for Churches, Schools, Farms, Plantations, Factories, Court Houses, etc. Illustrated Catalogue and Price List sent free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 E. Second St., Cincinnati, O.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1878. NO. 43.

LAURA'S REGRET.

[illegible] skimming the other day,
[illegible] song,
[illegible] haunting me all day long
[illegible] melody,
[illegible] had you loved but me?"
[illegible]
[illegible] love, had you loved but me?
[illegible] simple—but, O, how much
[illegible] told in that little touch!
[illegible] story of chances lost,
[illegible] sacrificed melody,
[illegible] had you loved but me?"
[illegible] the key may be
[illegible] love, had you loved but me?
[illegible] in what poets have said
[illegible] are broken and lives thus wasted
[illegible] loved will shrink to their ordeal
[illegible] mental risk, like the nurse
[illegible] still to that melody,
[illegible] love, had you loved but me?"
[illegible] on and the years steal by,
[illegible] vanish and memories die,
[illegible] up with a restless pain,
[illegible] longing ever again
[illegible] the passionate melody,
[illegible] had you loved but me?
[illegible] love been but turned to [illegible] my love, had you loved but me?

—London Word.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A letter from the City of Mexico says that a dispatch from Puebla states that on September 29 at Atzala, a mob incited by priests killed twenty-five Protestants and wounded a number others. The Governor of the State sent troops to quell the disturbance in Puebla. The mob has also threatened to break up the Protestant missions, and President Diaz has promised to do all in his power to protect all religious denominations.

CAIRO, Oct. 19.—Two new cases ever since noon. No deaths.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 19.—The ground this morning was covered with sufficiency frost as to cause the belief that a light snow had fallen. The temperature fell enough to a low ice to the depth of an inch in thickness in some on the ponds in and around the city.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 20.—A light frost last night. The board of health officially report four deaths from yellow fever during the past twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock to-day.

MOBILE, Oct. 21.—From noon Saturday to Sunday noon, three deaths and seven new cases here. From Sunday noon until twelve o'clock to-day one death and eleven new cases. Forty cases are now under treatment.

VICKSBURG, Miss., October 21.—Fine weather fair. Thermometer 82. One death in the city and nine in the country to-day. Ex-sheriff Cramer and Major Cochran are among the cases at Delta. Dr. Gilard, city officer, is worse. Fourteen under treatment at Yazoo City. Sister of Mercy there had black vomit this morning. Another [illegible].

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., Oct. 22.—Seven new cases to-day, two deaths, five heavy rains last night. Weather clear and cold to-day.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 22.—It commenced raining last night at ten o'clock and continued without cessation until ten this morning. It is clear and cold with thermometer at 58. From 6 o'clock last night until noon to-day eleven orders for interments were reported by undertakers.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 22.—New cases for the twenty-four hours ending to-day at noon, 28; deaths, 3; total cases, 350; total deaths, 28 whites, 13 colored; Of the 30 whites now on the sick list, 27 are convalescents or doing well. Rain last night followed by cold wind to-day.

FOREIGN.

ROME, Oct. 18.—Special to the Liberto from districts inundated by the flow of the Bormida rivers, says: The communes of Millesimo, Cengila and Calizzano suffered incalculably. Houses are in ruins, bridges destroyed, trees uprooted, ground broken up, and many families reduced to utter destitution. Subscription lists have been opened. Signor Zanardelli, Italian Minister of the Interior, sent 5,000 francs for relief of the sufferers.

BERLIN, Oct. 19.—The Reichstag to-day adopted the whole of the Socialist bill by a vote of 221 against 111. Both sections of the Conservative and National Liberals voted for the bill. Prince Bismarck then read a message closing the Reichstag. He said the Government, armed with this measure, would make a decided effort to cure the prevalent disease. If they were not able to succeed in two and a half years, the Government hoped to obtain further concession.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The whole management of the City of Glasgow Bank, namely, the secretary, managing director and six directors, were arrested Saturday on a charge of fraud. They are confined separately and not allowed to communicate with any person. They all surrendered without trouble, and declared they would have done so voluntarily if they had known they were wanted.

A Reuter special from Constantinople says the Sultan has further delayed the reply respecting the British scheme for reforms in Asia Minor, pending certain explanations which he has requested from the Ministry. The Sultan has declared Mr Layard, the British ambassador, that he would never conclude an alliance with Russia.

Change of Time.

We call special attention to the following important notices of the change in the time of holding the Memphis, North Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences. These changes have been made expedient by the long prevailing epidemic. The brethren who may see these announcements will please circulate them, as many cannot be reached at present through the mails from this point.

FROM BISHOP PAINE.

To the New Orleans Christian Advocate:

The Memphis Conference is postponed until December 4.

The North Mississippi Conference to December 11.

The Mississippi Conference to be held as originally announced, December 18.

Those charges which have not been visited by the epidemic ought to double their usual contributions.

R. PAINE.

ABERDEEN, Miss., October 8, 1878.

FROM BISHOP DOGGETT.

CHARLESTON, Mo., Oct. 10, 1878.

On account of the continued prevalence of the yellow fever in the city of New Orleans and its vicinity at this date, and also the condition of the Conference finances consequent thereon, the time of the ensuing session of the Louisiana Conference, in the city of New Orleans, is hereby changed from December 11, next, to January 8, 1879, by request of our preachers in the city of New Orleans.

DAVID S. DOGGETT.

Accordingly the Memphis Conference will meet December 4.

The North Mississippi December 11. The Mississippi at the original time, December 18. And the Louisiana is changed from December 11 to January 8, 1879. For the reasons set forth in Bishop Doggett's notice, the preachers in New Orleans requested the time of the Louisiana Conference to be changed. They would have conferred with the other preachers of the Conference, but communications by mail at the present time are slow and difficult, and the change, if made, must be announced at once. They took the responsibility of advising the change, believing that it would meet the approval of the entire Conference.

Our Golden Wedding.

Mr. Editor.—We had an assemblage on the occasion of our golden wedding. We were not only in the midst of a terribly fatal pestilence, but we were both down with yellow fever. All our children and grandchildren, and numerous friends, who expected to unite with us in the celebration, were quarantined out of Port Gibson. Yet the main object we had in view in publishing the fiftieth anniversary of our married life has been accomplished. As our heavenly Father has blessed us with such long, happy and, to some extent, useful union in holy wedlock, we not only felt that we ought to give him public praise and adoration for his great favor to us, but also that our joy would be increased by having our old friends, among whom we have lived and labored heretofore, unite with us in thanksgiving to God for all his mercy and love to us. In this we have been highly gratified. We have received congratulatory letters from every direction, too numerous to be answered personally, and we hereby tender our warmest regards to all who have so affectionately remembered us in their thanksgiving and prayers. Dear old friends, our next business is to get fully ready to meet in heaven. If we "be found of Him in peace, without spot, and blameless," we shall soon be there. We now feel that we have additional cause for praise and thanksgiving to God for preserving our lives through this terrible pestilence. So far as we know we are the only white persons above seventy who recovered.

Our children and friends say the golden wedding must be celebrated after past.

J. G. JONES.
JANE G. JONES.

PORT GIBSON, Miss., Oct. 15, 1878.

A Gospel Reason.

The Wesleyan Christian Advocate fears, and with good reason we think, that the epidemic will interfere with the missionary collections in several Conferences. This will certainly be the case unless the time of holding the Conferences affected by the fever, be changed to a later date. Memphis, North Mississippi, Mississippi and Louisiana will be much crippled in any event. Nothing can be raised here for general purposes, until our absentees return and business revives. Every nook and corner of the New Orleans District is filled with yellow fever, and every business interest is prostrate. Many other sections are in the same condition, and the collections for all church purposes will be meagre. Our stricken people will we trust do what they can, but unless extraordinary efforts are made, the widows and orphans and superannuates will receive a very small stipend, and the contribution to foreign missions will be even more inadequate. The Wesleyan says:

A large district of our country—including in it many large and liberal congregations—have been so desolated by the yellow fever that they cannot reasonably be expected to contribute their usual sums to this cause. They must of necessity come short by several thousand dollars. Now it seems to us a perfectly plain duty for the church outside of the stricken district to bear this burden for them. It surely will be done, and that cheerfully. There is scarcely a congregation that is doing its best for this great cause. It is perfectly safe to say that every one that is not doing its best ought to feel this epidemic to be a Providential call to it to do more than its assessed share, seeing the assessment was made before this fearful and unforseen calamity fell upon our brethren of the Mississippi Valley. It would be a shame upon the whole church not to meet the deficiency thus likely to be made in several Conferences. It ought to condemn the assessment plan of raising missionary money and consign it to the tomb of things obsolete. We are not sure but it had better go there anyhow.

But our love for our afflicted brethren must compel us to bear this burden. No pain is greater, no grief more bitter to a true Christian heart, than to see the cause of Christ suffer through his inability to extend help when help has been expected of him. No doubt there are in New Orleans, and Vicksburg, and Memphis, and Grenada, and Holly Springs, and all along the river, thousands of Christian people—Methodists—who, in all their bitterness and sorrow, have to bear this also: that they cannot contribute their usual amount to the cause of missions—does any one smile, let him be pitied. This burden can easily be taken from them by the church elsewhere. Thus their hearts will be relieved and the "law of Christ" fulfilled.

Will not the pastors everywhere in the Connection, urge this as a gospel reason for increased contributions? We have not heard from the brethren in the affected districts specifically upon this subject: they are too much occupied with their sorrows, with their dead and dying now to write about this matter. But we know the Methodist Christian heart and the situation, and think we cannot be mistaken as to their feelings or our duty.

The publishers of the Southern Christian Advocate announce that with the issue of November 2 that paper will be enlarged and changed to eight pages, containing forty columns. We are glad to know that the Southern is being duly appreciated and supported. The Southern of October 12 has this good news about Dr. Kennedy:

We learn with pleasure and gratitude that Dr Kennedy, the editor-in-chief of the Southern Christian Advocate, has much improved in health from his recent residence at the Yellow Sulphur Springs, in Virginia. Our readers would be glad to hear direct from the Doctor. We hope to hear from him soon.

Since writing the above we have received a letter from Dr. Kennedy, written by himself. We are glad to announce that he is very much improved in health. It is needless to say that his interest in the Southern Christian Advocate and the South Carolina Conference is unabated, and that he is ready, as he may have opportunity and strength, to serve the interests of Methodism in South Carolina.

The editor of the Nashville, Christian Advocate, writing about the Tennessee Conference says:

On Saturday at 11 A. M. the Committee on Publishing House interests made their report, which was excellent in its terseness of style and earnestness of spirit, and Dr. McFerrin then addressed the conference. The speech was characteristic, and the result grand. Upward of $40,000 worth of Publishing House Bonds were sold on the spot, which, added to previous subscriptions make $115,000 taken by the Tennessee Conference. (It might have been more, but the church was overheated that frosty morning. You cannot have enthusiasm without oxygen.)

The following communication from Rev. J. Bancroft, pastor of Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in Eufaula, shows that our friends there have not been unmindful of our suffering people. God bless them.

REV. L. PARKS, D. D.

Dear Brother.—Please find two dollars sent by a Christian lady of Eufaula, Ala., for yellow fever sufferers. From churches, committees and nickle boxes, Eufaula has remitted $112.18 to Memphis, Vicksburg and New Orleans.

The Lord God of our fathers protect you.

Yours fraternally,
J. BANCROFT.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

REV. THOMAS S. COLLIER, M. D., was born in Cox county, Tenn., October 10, 1826; was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in the sixteenth year of his age at a camp meeting held at Watson's camp ground, in Cowetta county, Georgia, in September, 1840; was married to Miss Luchida C. Smith November 30, 1848; moved to Winn parish, Louisiana, in the winter of 1859; was licensed to exhort at the Fourth Quarterly Conference for the Montgomery Mission in the year 1859. Was licensed to preach by the same quarterly Conference in the year 1861; was ordained Deacon in Baton Rouge, by Bishop Paine, in the year 1856; was ordained Elder in the City of St. Louis, by Bishop Wightman, in the year 1873; and closed his earthly mission at the residence of Mr. W. B. Holston, in Grant parish, Louisiana, July 25, 1878.

This servant of God served the Church in all its offices, in all of which his zeal knew no lagnor. When he first joined the church he at once became active, and was soon a leader in a prayer meeting in the neighborhood, which lasted during his stay in his native State, and was the means of doing great good, and from 1847 to his departure for his new home in the West, his zeal in those meetings was the means of bringing many to Christ. In 1860 the writer first made his acquaintance, at a meeting which the Doctor attended as a stranger, but soon, by his all-fully and burning zeal, he was known by all. His songs, prayers and advice soon made him many life-long friends. In 1861 the writer was his pastor, and found his relation changed from an active layman to a zealous exhorter, and in that capacity he magnified his office, and became a constant and an efficient co-worker. His home was always the head-quarters for the preacher, where, by his own personal sacrifices, aided by his amiable wife and daughter, contributed every thing that ample means and glad hearts could to make God's preachers comfortable. At the close of this year he was licensed to preach the gospel, to which he addressed himself with great devotion, always operating in harmony with the pastor in supplying the highways and hedges with the gospel. In 1862 he was employed to travel the Rapides Circuit, Louisiana Conference, which he did with credit to himself and profit to the church, he brought up a fine report, and all for almost his own charges. And again in 1870 the Presiding Elder of Alexandria District was straightened for men, and applied to Brother Collier, who hesitated not to take charge of Saline Mission, where he did a faithful years work, and that too almost entirely at his own expense. He graduated in Medicine in Cincinnati, February 23, 1876, and became very skilful in the treatment of disease, and in this relation he served this generation to great advantage.

On Monday night of July 22, 1877, in Atlanta, Louisiana, he received the blessing of entire sanctification, and again at a meeting held in Atlanta last June he more fully than ever consecrated himself and all he possessed to the service of the Lord, from that time to the day of his death mortality seemed to have been "swallowed up of life." All business now given up he devoted himself exclusively to saving souls. He left home on Thursday before second Sabbath in July last, to assist Bro. Sheppard in a series of meetings, but alas! never to return alive. The last meeting he attended was held at Holloway's Prairie, embracing third Sabbath in July. Here he seemed full of the Holy Ghost, lost in love. At the close of this meeting he left for his home. His soul seemed all aglow with holy fire. On Wednesday evening he was taken sick at the house of W. B. Holston and died early next morning. The disease which swept him away, congestion of the stomach, soon did its work, there was no long, protracted sickness.

He died realizing the presence of Him who has said: "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." He was for many years an acceptable Master Mason, but the gavel has sounded, the roll has been called, there is one absent, his tools lie scattered around—left hurriedly by Dr. T. S. Collier. The Master of assemblies called him first in that temple not made with hands.

J. W. HEARN.

MRS. JANE CURRY GAILEY, was born in Brown county, Ohio, October 23, 1826, and died of yellow fever in Baton Rouge, La., September 15, 1878. She had been a professor of religion for many years, before coming to Louisiana, but with her husband and children was received last Fall, by Rev. A. E. Goodwyn, into the membership of the M. E. Church, South, at Baton Rouge. Sister Gailey possessed a strong character and was, in her Christian life, very decided and thorough-going. She met her end with great firmness, her hope of heaven not being shadowed by a single doubt. As long as she could, freely, and with a wonderful calmness, born of a blessed assurance, she talked to her pastor and husband and brother of her bright prospects, her willingness to die, and the sufficient support and hope that was hers in Christ. Her last utterance was a request for prayer, which request was complied with by her pastor. Then she settled herself to die, and at 1:10 A. M. she passed home to God.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth. Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors."

J. T. S.

BUSINESS CARDS.

G. A. GORDIN.

GORDIN & CO.
COTTON FACTORS
AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS
NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.
Home-Made Shoes, hand sewed, $4 00
Home-Made Shoes, screwed, $3 to $3 50.
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gents, Boys, Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

W. W. CARRE,
HORACE D. FRENCH, Manager.
LUMBER YARD,
340 DECORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Cabins and Dressed Lumber a specialty.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,
DEALERS IN
PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND
CANNEL COAL.
FOR FAMILY USE. Office—No. 221 Carondelet street. Landing—On Levee, foot of Esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to plantation orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.
CHAS. O. LANGENBECKER, M. D.,
Successor to H. Stumpf,
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.
Dealer in Fine Chemical, French, German and American Drugs. Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. H. HUSSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL,
Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,
NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Tchoupitoulas, New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Look Box 87.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Grain of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 206 FRENCHMEN ST., between Villery and Morgan, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Misses' and Gentlemen's shoes manufactured to order.

ESTABLISHED 1870.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia, and Castile Soap.
Office—110 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.
All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soap.

HEATH PIPPEY & LARY,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Curtains, Lace and Net Curtains, Cornices, Mirrors, Moldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.
☞ Frames made to order especially.
No. 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

ESTABLISHED IN 1845.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Fogelson Sts.
T. W. ROTHICH,
UNDERTAKER
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming and Dignified Funerals a specialty. Coffins and Cases kept constantly on hand. Orders promptly attended to. Hearses and Carriages furnished. Corpses carefully shipped. Carriages and Cases for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY
We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the very lowest prices.
Silver Watches at $10 and upward.
Gold Watches at $25 and upward.
All fully guaranteed.
A. B. GRISWOLD, Agent,
Corner Camp and Bienville Sts.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,
COLORED SATINS,
EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,
ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.
WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.
D. H. HOLMES,
155 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,
48 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Does business on Orange principles and at Orange rates.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
55 ..... ST. CHARLES STREET 55
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN
OF ALL KINDS.
Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail. Guns Imported to order. J. R. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle-Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1599.

PIANOS.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the best and most satisfactory manner, at
Mr. Burchardt's Manufactory,
633 ..... MAGAZINE STREET 633
Between Jackson and Josephine Sts.

WHEELER & PIERSON (Successors to Darcy & Wheeler and Pierson & Dews,)
NOS. 13 & 15 CAMP ST., opposite the City Hall,
CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS
FOR MEN AND BOYS.
We invite everybody from the country to look at our stock. We keep only goods sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Gentlemen's Trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to the Wholesale department speculators.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.
CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH, English and American.
MATTINGS—800 rolls White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
BUBLAPS Table and Enamel OIL CLOTHS.
A. BROUSSEAU.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 47,000 students since 1867. 75 eminent professors. 15 lessons for $15. E. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

EDUCATIONAL.

READVILLA SEMINARY
BATON ROUGE, LA.
MRS. M. A. WREAD, Principal.
For further information address P. O. Box 70.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE,
AT BATON ROUGE, LA.
THE [illegible] session of this school [illegible] the [illegible] Wednesday in October.
This is a Boarding School for [illegible]. The healthfulness of the location is unsurpassed. In addition all [illegible] that is necessary to [illegible] the study of any grade in [illegible] are pursued in the Institute [illegible].
For personal [illegible] the principal [illegible] the [illegible] and manners of the pupils.
For circulars, with necessary information, apply to
W. H. N. MAGRUDER,
Baton Rouge, La.

AUGUSTA FEMALE SEMINARY,
STAUNTON, VA.
THE [illegible] session of this [illegible] for young ladies in Virginia, with [illegible] corps of [illegible] teachers.
Opens the first Wednesday in SEPTEMBER, and closes on the first Wednesday in July, 1879.
For catalogues containing full particulars address
MISS MARY J. BALDWIN,
Principal Staunton, Va.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.
THIS [illegible] and [illegible] Board and Tuition [illegible] the [illegible] of the other colleges. While the [illegible] the College and the [illegible] of its [illegible] remember it is my [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] Mississippi Valley and [illegible] to the [illegible] of Tennessee. Send for [illegible] to
J. M. McSPADDEN, D. D.,
Hiwassee College P. O.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. CHAS. E. KELLS & DR. G. VIET,
DENTISTS
12 CALHOUN STREET 12
[illegible] Nitrous Oxide Gas [illegible] the [illegible] interest of [illegible] Dr. Kells [illegible] with the [illegible] Dr. Viet [illegible] with the [illegible] pain [illegible] gum [illegible] the [illegible]

DR. C. J. RICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
220 Jackson St., [illegible] Chestnut St., Algiers.
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. till three P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET
Between Julia and St. Joseph
New Orleans, La.

C. L. HILLGER,
ARCHITECT
[illegible] CARONDELET [illegible]
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
All orders [illegible] will be [illegible] attended to.

ARMSTRONG, GAFFORD & CO.,
Ribbons, Millinery, Straw Goods
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] Canal Street
[illegible]

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Wash and Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Va. Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, Gas Fixtures and Fitted Complete all Buildings.
116 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing [illegible] other Country orders attended to.

WASHBURN'S
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART
GALLERY,
COR. CANAL ST. AND EXCHANGE PLACE.
☞ The handsomest place of the kind in the South.
A PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in a manner unequaled by any other establishment in this country.
Copying and enlarging of old Pictures a specialty by December. WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY.

JOHN BOIS,
DEALER IN
FURNITURE, PICTURES,
LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.
132 Camp Street 134
Near to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.
No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only to each and every customer, and no deviation.

REMOVAL!
ELKIN & CO.
HAVE REMOVED TO THEIR
Carpet and Oil-Cloth Warehouse
TO
100 ..... CANAL STREET 100
Between Carondelet and St. Charles Streets.
A full line of CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, MATTINGS, WINDOW SHADES, etc., always on hand.

OPERA AND FIELD GLASSES.
R. & J. BECK,
Manufacturing Opticians,
921 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
Would call attention to their [illegible] stock of [illegible] Opera and Field Glasses, [illegible] the largest [illegible] in the country. [illegible] Microscopes, Telescopes, Spectacles, Eye Glasses, Barometers, Thermometers, Compasses, Drawing Instruments, Magic Lanterns, Stereoscopes, Stereoscopic Views, Photographic Lenses, Apparatus and Chemicals, Gold Pens, Pencil Cases, Rubber Goods, Etc.
GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.
Send three stamps for our fully illustrated and priced catalogue of 100 pages.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address on all matters of business, Rev R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conference.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. LOCKE
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. O. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Reading and Readers.

The sole reading of thousands of busy people is the secular newspaper. A few, and only a few comparatively, of busy Christians read the religious newspapers in addition to the secular. Then there is a small company of the elect whose reading is pretty much confined to the church paper and the bible. There is a class rather large, we imagine, devoted to fashion magazines, pictorials, serials, and the lighter works of fiction generally. The records of public libraries show that novels are much more read than books of history, science and art. The book worm, properly speaking, is a rarity in these days. Few people read books, very few care for old books, or for those standards that have come down to us through the trying test of generations of criticism and approval. Here and there we meet with an omnivorous reader, one who devours octavos, duodecimos, tracts, pamphlets, magazines and dailies and weeklies with equal gusto. He is not more particular than the ostrich in the desert, or the shark in the sea, but consumes whatever comes in his way.

The purpose with readers is various. With some it is a literary voracity with no other concious object than to be ever swallowing something. It is an appetite that craves books and papers as a stimulant without much regard to edification or profit. The habitual novel reader follows the thread of an exciting romance for the momentary excitement and diversion, and sometimes as a means of temporarily escaping from the vexatious and annoying realities of every day life.

The newspaper habit is something to be considered by itself. Those accustomed to the regular visits of a morning newspaper are at a loss if it should be missing. The desire for their coffee is not stronger, nor more an appetite, than is this desire for the morning paper. It may be the old Athenian lust for news, the desire to know what is going on in the world at large and in the community about them, but the regular repast is delayed or withheld, there is the sense of unrest and of want. Our country friends are just as dependent upon the receipt of their weekly journal. Its failure would not affect them financially, no important interest would be influenced, but their mental habits have been formed and set to a certain periodicity in their gratification. It is well when this law of habit comes in to make the religious paper a necessity. We are always gratified when a subscriber grumbles about not getting his paper in time. It shows that he is hungry for a good thing, and that the aching void in him is of the right sort. Once start a good religious journal in a family, and in time it becomes necessary to their comfort.

There are readers for pleasure. Those who read only to be amused and entertained, and who care nothing for information. Reading with them is recreation and pastime. Memory is not exercised, the thinking and reflective faculties are not taxed. There are others who read for an object. They thirst for knowledge. They wish to become well informed, there is the desire to know. In the professions men read and expect to coin their reading into money and fame. Literary men have a similar incentive. The preacher reads, that he may entertain and instruct, and lead his hearers to the fountain of all good. The public man studies finance, political economy, and perhaps also the best utterances of distinguished politicians and statesmen. Men busy in the affairs of life, are apt to read the books that will help them in their callings.

Each one according to his pursuits has his favorite authors. They are his tools in trade. The lawyer's library is dull and almost repulsive to others, but to him it not only has a money value, but it is as bright and fragrant as a garden. Those who give themselves to medicine find a facinating occupation in studying anatomy, physiology, therapeutics and practice. In the domains of science and art, a few revel in these special departments of knowledge.

And there are readers, earnest readers, whatever their particular path in active life, who intermeddle with all knowledge. With them it is something more than a habit, it is wider and nobler than mere professional duty or taste, and it combines both pleasure and profit. At the same time that there is this thirst for all knowledge, the reading is discriminative, and none but the best books are sought. The true reader is slow, because the book in hand is worth the time bestowed upon it. Memory, taste, judgment, and the reasoning powers are all in healthful and robust exercise. Reading is earnest work. All readers may have their "leisure hour" books, their diversions in papers and periodicals, and their literary recreations, but they are not true readers unless they can also enjoy and master a solid standard work, and unless they keep such a work on hand and always in process of thorough and careful study.

Knowledge is now served up in many attractive and popular forms, and intelligence is more general than it has ever been, but, with the greater diffusion of knowledge, there is also a corresponding shallowness. The stream is broad, but it is also superficial. The current is rapid and agitated but it is not deep. The great need of the times is not good books or good papers, but good readers. The market is flooded with ephemeral, and even demoralizing sheets and volumes, but there were never so many good books as now. They are on the shelves of our own and of other publishing houses, but they are not where they ought to be, generally in the homes of our people. Work, sleep and recreation occupy all the hours, and there is no time left for reading. The newspaper, the dime novel, the monthly pictorial, the fashion magazine, have driven out the books, and the people under such influences, are becoming more and more frivolous and devoid of earnestness and the love of knowledge.

In a religious point of view the fact is most serious. Our religious people need more than anything else the culture of good reading. Not one-half of them read a religious newspaper. Passing few of them read religious books. Our pulpits have to deal with men and women who are almost entirely ignorant of books on the subject of history, doctrine and experience. Every church if possible should have a congregational library, and every member should be supplied frequently with the catalogue of the Publishing House. Give us a reading people, infused with the zeal and fire of our revival methods, and we can then move forward, and hold the ground. We shall then have an improved type of piety, not only zealous but intelligent, and as deep and lasting as it is warm and demonstrative.

Some Recent Events in Port Gibson.

Dr. Linus:—Many of your readers far and near will be interested in an account of events that have happened here in the last two months. The outside world has known but little of our troubles, as the dispatches sent forth were infrequent and meagre.

The first death from yellow fever occurred August 8. In a few days there were other cases, and then it was like a lightning stroke, since of the little more than six hundred cases four hundred were sick at once. I myself was taken on the nineteenth of August. As I had before gone through an epidemic of yellow fever unharmed, I was surprised to find myself attacked among the earliest. Of my family two had been sent to the country, and the four of us who remained were all down at the same time, and two dangerously ill, Mrs. Monger and our little boy Eddie. Of the alternating hopes and fears of those days I will not speak, since thousands have of late met the same experiences bravely, and have not told them out to the world. We are all spared, and in this we devoutly recognize the good mercy of God.

In the beginning our people expected to cope with the epidemic alone, and for this purpose our efficient County Board of Supervisors had appropriated the sum of two thousand dollars, but we soon found it far beyond our measure. Happily more than half the population had left town. I believe there were only parts of eight or nine Methodist families remaining.

In all these there was sickness. Four protestant ministers remained, Rev. George Hall and Rev. Mr. Planck of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. J. G. Jones of our own.

The first of these died of the fever. His last days were full of ministries to the sick, and it may be said of him that he died on the field of honor. Rev. Father Jones of the Catholic Church, former priest here being in Minnesota on vacation, and hearing of the condition of affairs, came immediately, despite all quarantines.

There was a time when all the ministers in the place were sick, and the dead at that time were buried without religious services.

We have lost three from our Sunday-school, and I fear there will yet be others, and three adult members of our church. Mr. A. J. Lowder, Mrs. Huber and Mrs. Strobridge, all true and faithful. Two of these I did not see in their illness, as I was then sick myself.

The last of these, Mrs. Strobridge, her husband, Dr. Strobridge, with their little boy of three years, came to Port Gibson less than a year ago from Cincinnati, Ohio. She was a Methodist in that city and united with the church here. She was an earnest and useful Christian. I have not known any one in Port Gibson who in so short a time made so many friends or was more beloved. There is a mournful interest about the fate of the family. First the bright little boy was taken sick but recovered. Mrs. Strobridge was next attacked and died in three days. The Doctor went from his wife's grave to see his patients. He soon fell a victim to the fever, and now the little boy was left in a strange land hundreds of miles from a relative. But a noble hearted woman, Mrs. Weeks, who had lost her only children, two fine boys, took the little orphan to her own home and is now tenderly caring for him.

Many sad events have occurred, just such as have been related of other fever stricken places. Families have been broken up, in one instance five dying all in less than twenty-four hours. Frequently the dead were taken away by stealth, that others lying sick might not know it, and there were burials by moonlight and by torchlight. Out of less than seven hundred who remained one hundred and fifteen have died. The fever is very bad now in the country, and more than forty white persons have died there, besides many negroes.

Bro. Mason has been greatly bereaved in the death of an interesting and lovely daughter, Miss Jennie.

You will regret to learn of the death of Miss Sallie Burnet, daughter of Mr. John Burnet, at whose house you made your home when in Port Gibson two years ago. She was an estimable young lady, with the brightest prospects in life.

Prof. J. Payne Green has lost two beautiful and accomplished daughters, Misses Lizzie and Cayosa, eighteen and sixteen years of age. I read the solemn service of the church at the grave of the first one day and at the grave of the second at the same hour next day.

Yesterday we buried Ben. Humphreys, son of Hon. G. W. Humphreys. Ben. was a noble young man, intelligent, generous, true; like a Greek athlete in strength and form. Mr. D. B. Humphreys also has lost a sweet little daughter, Eva. But I cannot mention all.

The golden wedding of Brother and Sister Jones was looked forward to with much interest, but it was spent amid the silence and suffering of the sick room.

After fifteen days of sickness I have been up and at work for five weeks, and I have found that these dealings of God have made an impression on the hearts of the people. When I came to the bed side of a good Christian woman of another church, who was dying, and heard her say: "Thank God you are up, and can come to see me before I die." I felt that it was a privilege beyond all cost to be here. To many among us religion has never seemed more precious, nor the grace of God mightier to uphold.

Yours in Christ,

E. H. MOUNGER.

PORT GIBSON, MISS., Oct. 8, 1878.

Rev. Tesko Triest, pastor of the First German Presbyterian Church of New Orleans, died in this city of yellow fever, Wednesday, October 16. Mr. Triest was a ripe scholar and a useful and faithful pastor. His death is greatly regretted by all. The pastor of the same church died of yellow fever twenty years ago, in 1858.

Death of Rev. Tiff Foster.

This estimable young minister, pastor of Moreau Street Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of New Orleans, was stricken with yellow fever on Friday last, October 18, and died at 1 P. M. October 23. His case was a critical one from the beginning. He was carefully nursed, and was most assiduously and faithfully attended by Dr. J. M. Watkins and Dr. Lewis. We were with him the most of last night, and have just come from witnessing his last moments. He died peacefully and in the presence of his brethren—Walker, Mathews, Hannon, Werlein and the Editor of the ADVOCATE being around his bed. He was fully conscious until within a few hours of the end; was aware of his condition and expressed to us his entire trust in Christ and his complete resignation. When we first entered his room, a little after midnight, in speaking of the oppression and pain in his stomach, he said: "Doctor I have seen so many in this condition, and now I am in it myself." Then he dwelt upon various scriptures, his desire to have the regular services of the church kept up, and quoted the passage: "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him." When his mind began to wander he was readily recalled by a quotation from Scripture, and was clear in his views of religious subjects. A little before daylight we prayed with him, and he followed the prayer, repeating some of it, and made frequent and hearty responses. Shortly before the end Dr. Walker led in prayer, whilst the brethren of the ministry and a number of the members of his charge bowed tearfully and sorrowfully in the chamber of death. His last moments were apparently without pain, and he fell on sleep. Bro. Foster was a native of De Soto Parish, La. He graduated at Centenary College in July, 1877, and was admitted on trial in the Louisiana Conference last winter. He had preached as a local preacher for several years, but this was the first year in the Conference. He was a young preacher of great promise, a faithful and diligent pastor, and greatly beloved by his people. His labors during the epidemic have been incessant and unsparing. When the fever first made its appearance in the city, he deliberately counted the cost, and in full view of the peril, believed that it was his duty to remain. When consulting us on the subject he informed us that the most of his official members had advised him to leave, but that he felt that the question, with him, was not open to debate. He might fall but he could not forsake his post in the hour of danger. A noble, heroic and useful minister has fallen, and in his youthful prime. Our sorrow is deep, for we loved him much; but we bow in submission to Him who doeth all things well.

To our surprise and pleasure, says the Pacific Methodist of October 4, we found Bishop Wightman installed in the arm chair of our office last Tuesday morning. His appearance was accounted for by the fact that he was hoping to make connection at this point with the steamer for Portland in order to avoid the long and tedious overland travel which comprehended fifty-two hours of staging over the roughest mountain region. He failed in his effort, and on Wednesday he was on his way by rail and stage. The Bishop has had a hard experience within the last two months, but looks little worse for the wear and weariness of his protracted travel. In consequence of the immense territory over which his district was spread, and the dangerous and laborious methods of travel, he has been compelled to make short work at the Conferences held. For instance, to get to the Montana Conference required nearly a week of stage travel after leaving the railroad. This bit of travel was over the ridge of the Rocky Mountains, and despite buffalo robes, fur tippets and overshoes it was difficult to keep from freezing as the stage rolled through the snow-belt during the lonely hours of the night.

The fever still rages at Pattersonville, La. Rev. A. E. Clay, our pastor there, writing October 16, says:

I am thankful that wife and I have escaped the scourge so far. The last week has been our most fatal week. We had one case, among nine of us in family, but he is now convalescent.

Our church has lost a dear mother in the death, by yellow fever, of Sister Knight, wife of Rev. J. Knight, local preacher in my charge. For over thirty years she has walked blameless before God. Many souls were brought into the church by her efforts. Not a few of the ministers in our Conference will rise up to call her name blessed. She fell a martyr to Christian duty. After watching, and helping, and praying among the sick and dying for days, she went home to die in a few hours. Her son is now down with the fever.

The Central Methodist, Catlettsburg, Ky., of October 12, announces that Rev. C. W. Miller, D. D., of the Kentucky Conference has become associated with Rev. Zephaniah Meek as one of the editors of that paper. The Central is one of the brightest and best of our exchanges, and Dr. Miller will contribute to make it more attractive than ever. We wish the worthy editors of the Central a prosperous career. They deserve and will doubtless command a large patronage.

The Montana Annual Conference held its first session in Helena, September 19-22. Bishop Wightman presiding. Bishop Wightman, according to the Helena Herald, made a profound impression upon the Conference and the people. There are two Districts, Helena and Deer Lodge. Eight preachers received appointments. Four charges were left to be supplied.

A little girl sends us a well written account of Salem Camp Meeting, East Pascagoula Circuit. Our limited space will not permit the publication of the letter, but we feel thankful to Miss Idella for the information. The meeting began October 3 and closed October 7. It was well attended, the church greatly revived, and there were seven conversions and two accessions to the church.

Bro. H. S. Oswald, writing from Bayou Sara, La., October 17, informs us that the town is free from yellow fever, and that a strict quarantine is kept up. The pastor, Bro. Cecil, and his wife have gone to nurse Dr. John Heath, a member of his charge, living near Tunica. We trust that our friends in Bayou Sara and their brave pastor may all be kept in safety.

The fever in this city has declined decidedly. The report for the twenty-four hours ending at twelve M., October 23, was: Deaths, 19; new cases, 26. The weather is clear and cool, and the mercury was down to frost point on the morning of the twenty-third. For reports concerning the fever at other places see news column.

Rev. Dr. Ahrens, Editor of the Family Friend, and Presiding Elder of our German Work in New Orleans, was taken with the yellow fever on Monday, October 21. At this writing, October 23, he appears to be doing well. Let prayers go up to God, that his valuable life may be spared.

Rev. Albert Barthe, pastor of the German Lutheran Church, corner Milan and Camp streets, Sixth District of New Orleans, died Tuesday of yellow fever. He was thirty-eight years of age, and a native of Germany. His wife died a few weeks ago of the fever.

Acknowledgment.

N. P. Banks, Esq., Superintendent of the Enon Sunday-school, Enon, Ala., sends us $5, contributed by the Sunday-school of that place for the yellow fever sufferers.

Dr. McFerrin has received news of the death of his venerable and saintly mother, on the twenty-eighth of September, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Applewhite in Cross county, Ark. She was in her ninety-third year. Her death was rather sudden, but very peaceful.—Nashville Advocate.

POSTPONED.—The Woodville District Conference will meet in Woodville, Miss., November 22, 23, 24, and not at the time originally published.

Books and Periodicals.

DAISY AND HER FRIENDS. By H. E. H.

OLD PORTMANTEAU. By Kate W. Hamilton.

Both of the above works are from the Presbyterian Board of Publication, Philadelphia.

They are written for the entertainment and edification of young people. From the hurried and imperfect examination we have been able to give them we believe them to be well written and calculated to both please and benefit.

FEEDING ON CHRIST; THE SOUL'S NOURISHING AND THRIVING, AND ITS SALVATION. By Rev. W. B. Brost, D.D. Presbyterian Board of Publication, Philadelphia.

The author writes plainly, earnestly, and devoutly, and is very happy, in illustrating his subject. The chapter on being filled with Christ falls below our Methodist doctrine of entire sanctification. The degree of cleansing, the author holds, "is not an entire expulsion of the depravities that have struck through our being, but a baptism of power and holiness for the battling with those depravities and subjection of them under the power of an indwelling Christ." With some things of this sort that we would except to, the volume is full of interest, and can hardly be otherwise than helpful and profitable to serious readers.

—Appleton's Railway and Steam Navigation Guide for October has been received. It is a very accurate and complete work, and invaluable to tourists and commercial travelers.

—The Magazine of Art for October is as usual filled with illustrations of great beauty.

—Southern Musical Journal for October has been received.

—Appleton's Journal for November has: The Multitudinous Seas—second paper, eight illustrations; The Dialects of our country (Concerning Clams; Subaqueous History; The Jumping Procession of Luxemburg; and other articles.

—Littell's Living Age, in its issue for the week ending October 19th, begins the publication, from the author's advance sheets, of a new serial story by George MacDonald. The new story is entitled, "Sir Gibbie," and promises to be one of much interest.

—Sunday Afternoon for November has: Women in Prison; Who are the Dunkards? The Japan Story of Creation; Chips from a North Western Log; How to use the Bible; Fencing the law; and other articles. Editor's Table is, as ever, fresh and suggestive.

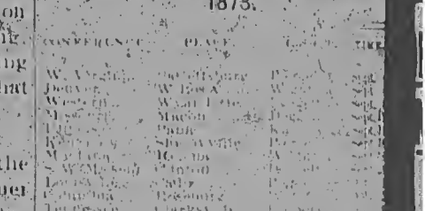
—Lippincott's Magazine for November has: Seawards—a third land of Shell; illustrated. The Harvesting Acts of Florida, illustrated. Symphonic Studies; Unwritten Literature of the Caucasian Mountaineers; The Paris Exposition of 1878; Music in America; and other articles.

—Our Nashville Sunday school periodicals for November are on hand in good time, and the quality is good.

—St. Nicholas for November is a number of Extraordinary interest. The illustrations are spirited and well executed, and the articles are of great variety and excellence. Among the many fine articles are: A Boy's Service; Towed by Bull; The Dairy Day; Half a Dozen Housekeepers; The Three Wise Men.

—Scribner's Monthly for November has: Henry W. Longfellow and portrait; The Spelling Bee at Agra, illustrated; Pictures and Aspects of Farm Life in New York, illustrated; A Night with Edison, illustrated; The Poet's Fame; Parsons and Parsons; and other articles.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS FOR 1878.



BUSINESS NOTICES.

DR. WILLIFORT'S ANTI-CHILL AND FEVER AND AGUE TONIC has established itself as a specific for Chills and Fever, Dumbness, Malaria, Bilious Fever, Dengue, Intermittent Fever, Periodical Headache, Neuralgia, Pain in the Back and Limbs, Debility, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Female Weakness, Irregularities, Depression of Spirits, Blues, Etc. It is purely vegetable, and contains no quinine or mineral substance of any kind. It is a specific for the above diseases, and is warranted to cure in every instance. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared only by DR. WILLIFORT, Proprietor, No. 5 Carondelet street, New Orleans. For sale by all druggists.

QUEEN OF THE OVEN.

A biscuit made with Dooly's Yeast Powder is perfect in texture, white and delicious, containing no bisulphate of lime, Rochelle Salts, Ammonia, Alum or Potash, and is the most healthful and economical. Try it. Sold by grocers.

WE DO NOT WONDER

We do not wonder that [illegible] who have been accustomed to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription should refuse to accept from the trade any of the worthless substitutes which will surely be offered by unscrupulous dealers. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best remedy for the diseases of women that can be had, and the trade and others should be informed that it is not to be had at any price.

IMPORTANT NOTICE. The genuine Tobacco can only be had of the manufacturers, and purchasers can be sure of getting the genuine article by calling for TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT. This is the great remedy for the cure of Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps and Pains in the Stomach, Sick Headache, Seasickness, Nausea, Vomiting, Internal Pains, Colic, Cramps, Spasms, Sudden Colds, Coughs, Sore Throat, Croup, Influenza, Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pain in the Back and Side, Toothache, Sore Throat, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Frost Bites, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Whitlows, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, Bunions, Frost Bites, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Ulcers, Boils, Felons, Whitlows, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns, Bunions, Piles, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pain in the Back and Side, Toothache, Sore Throat, Cuts, Bruises, Sprains, Burns, Scalds, Chilblains

MISCELLANEOUS.

MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

NEW DISCOVERY

Before. After.

...and Jobs for Malarious, Miasmatic, Splenic Poison.... It ... Ague, Bilious, ... and Scrofulous ... or External, Sore Eyes, Inflammations, it will ... other Medicine required, it is used alone.

...Liquid Substitute for Quinine, J. H. McLean's ... Liquid Blood Purifier, ... Poisonous Influences ... the System ... is prompt. It is taken up by the Stomach, Lungs and Skin, and ... to the Liver and the Causes of Chills and Fevers.

THE WHOLE Mississippi Valley

This new ... Dr. J. H. McLean's ... substitute for Quinine, will ... or the Fever. Ten Drops in a Tumbler of Water, ... Bottle, prices ... Dose it requires ... Bottle of the ... Dose ... Dr. J. H. McLean's ... Liquid Blood Purifier ... Liquid Substitute for Quinine

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the Standard Family Medicine of the United States. Sold everywhere.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

NO. They are for Diseases that arise from MALARIAL POISON and a DERANGED LIVER such as Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Fevers, Dizziness, Constipation, Headache, Dropsy, Nervousness, Piles, Pain in the Back, Kidneys, Hypochondria, Melancholy, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Colic, Female Complaints, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Consumption, Worms, Skin Diseases, Ulcers, Blood Humors, Fever and Ague, Chills, Loss of Appetite, Impure Blood, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Indigestion, Nervousness, Dizziness, Paralysis, Heart Disease, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney Diseases, Ulcers, Consumption, Worms, Skin Diseases, Chills and Fever, Loss of Appetite, Impure Blood, Piles.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Offensive Breath, Want of Appetite, Sour Eructations, Sick Headache, Dizziness, Costiveness, Pain in the Region of the Liver, Yellow Skin, Bowels Irregular, Piles, Dull Pain in the Head, Loss of Memory, Sour Stomach, Drowsiness after Meals, Restlessness at Night, Highly Colored Urine, and Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constipation, Piles, Rush of Blood to the Head, Dizziness, Dryness of the Skin, Eruptions, Yellow Skin, Pain in the Back, Sides, Chest, Limbs, &c., Sudden Fright, Want of Sleep, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Dizziness, Horrible Dreams, Highly Colored Urine, Hot Flushes,

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1878. NO. 44.

IN THE
MR. AND MRS. J. W. JONES, on the occasion of their GOLDEN WEDDING.

friends will meet around board to-day,
greets you from afar,
a shade by;
silver, pearls or gold,
golden union" rare;
tell, or feel you that joys would share.

welcome adorn thy brow,
fifty years,
crown, "the heavy hour sunshine, bring ours.

dearly united, at,
and true as gold;
what fools or slaves
lived never grown old.

the lives of all good crossed your married life, sight could any see that aged man and wife.

Summer, Autumn, Wintry dress wreath, their woof and woof, you stood a happy pair
years ago.

gave the and gone and now pass view the landscape o'er;
not a longing lingering look to where pilot's shore.

Well-a-day comes, may you both
The Golden Street
MRS. L. CATHY.

News of the Week.

DOMESTIC.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A heavy storm, accompanied by violent from the northeast, passed over city last night. From one until this morning the wind was high, uprooting houses, obstructing and doing other damage.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25.—The storm did great damage around the The water rose very high, wharves being submerged, there was some damage to the ping.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—Dispatches Western Missouri and different in Kansas, note the earliest fall in sixteen years. Rain fell all day, with a cold atmosphere indications of snow.

LITTLE ROCK, Oct. 28.—From noon 26th to 27th, twelve new cases and deaths. For the twenty-four ending noon to-day, three new and one death.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 28.—The Board of officially reported four deaths yellow fever during the past twenty-four hours. Ending at six o'clock to-night two additional interments are reported by undertakers parties who died of fever in city. No new cases are reported.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 28.—Eight cases, six colored and two white, yesterday, noon, one death, total. Total cases, 381; total deaths, one. Raining; weather cold night.

BATON ROUGE, Oct. 28.—Official fever report, for the forty-four hours ending at nine o'clock morning; New cases twenty-deaths two. Weather cloudy cool.

CHATTANOOGA, October 28.—One and one new case both colored, other cold; few this morning. condition has slightproved.

The Mayor of Mobile, in an official publication, announces that on and after last Friday, October 21 quarantine on all freight is removed.

FOREIGN.

MADRID, Oct. 25.—As the King driving through the street known the Calle Major this evening, man blouse fired a pistol at him. King was unhurt and continued his way to the palace amid the manations of the crowd. The man was immediately seized by lers and taken to prison.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—A dispatch to Times from Alexandria says the dation from the Damietta Branch the Nile is advancing; it now ers 120 square miles. Twenty ages have been submerged and to 1000 lives have been lost.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—A Renter's telefrom Rome says: It is thought table negotiations between Germany and the Vatican may be discontinued in consequence of the difficulty of effecting a compromise eptable both to the Vatican and German Ultramontanes.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—A Berlin dispatch to the Post says: The Emperor illiam seems determined to resume ernment, instead of spending the ter in Italy, as his physicians se.

A special dispatch to the Times m Dorgeelling says it is expected proclamation of war against the ir of Afghanistan will be gazetted shortly, specifying in full the sons which decided the Governnt to declare war.

The Times Berlin dispatch says it expected in Russia that if the glish occupy the south of Afghaniit the Russians will occupy the th.

BOMBAY, Oct. 27.—The Times of dia says: The fortress of Ali Masjid has been reconnoitered. Fifty guns were seen in position, but entrenchments are poor. Afghan stories are reported to be actively working converting muzzle loading es into breech-loaders. It is reported that thirty of the Ameer's ps are dying daily, and a forcible y has been ordered.

Centenary Female College.

SUMMERFIELD, Ala., Oct. 17, 1878.

MR. EDITOR.—Notwithstanding apprehensions of the approach of yellow fever to this section of Alabama, this institution has opened better than it did last year, and a good number of boarders have come in, while others are engaged to come after frost. Selma has so far escaped the terrible scourge, for which exemption every heart cannot help but feel grateful to a merciful Providence, and all danger seems now, as far as we can judge, to be over. In this salubrious air and healthy hill country there can be no apprehension of disease. The history of the forty years' existence of this institution; fully attests the wisdom of selecting this place for these schools. There is no doubt that this is one of the healthiest places in the South, as well as one of the best localities in which to educate the young. No better or stronger moral and religious influences can prevail anywhere, and there is nothing here to lead the young astray.

A superior faculty, thorough and skillful teaching, the great care taken of girls, strict and wholesome discipline, complete organization of all departments, constitute some of the advantages found here.

One decided evidence of the good work done here is the fact that the patrons are delighted with the progress and success of their daughters during the past session, as well as during former sessions. Then again it is the cheapest first class institution in the South. The present aim is to combine real excellence with strict economy, so as to bring the advantages of a complete education within the reach of those in moderate circumstances. Special facilities are afforded here for the study of art, vocal and instrumental music.

Prof. R. S. Holcome has fitted up a large mansion for the accommodation of boys in his own family. It is decidedly the best arrangement that has ever been made for boys here. There can be no better school for boys anywhere, and none cheaper. Let the preachers speak for these schools and urge parents to send here. Two hundred boys and girls can be easily accomodated here.

The Alabama Conference alone ought to send this number, for this is its own cherished institution, never to be given up, with which its name has been longest associated, and to which the memories of over six hundred graduates cling. Fill up these schools and the good report of faithful work done here will revive the cause of education within our bounds. At the remarkably cheap rates offered here, very few Southern boys and girls need suffer for an education. Special inducements are offered for the first of November.

Address immediately,
A. D. McVOY.

St. Louis Conference.

This Conference was held at Charleston, Mo., October 9th Bishop Dogget presiding. We take the following items and appointments from the St. Louis Christian Advocate:

The aggregate amount of salaries was $33,870, amount paid $25,669 90, average salary of preachers $412 53; while the amount actually received individually ranged from a little over $100 to $3000. Some received the first and some the second sums named. This report shows that the members of the church, in the bounds of the Conference, paid an average of about $2 50 to their preachers, and paid on the claim of the Bishops an average of about 5½ cents.

The Board of Missions made a report which showed that the aggregate amount raised in the Conference was: For Foreign Missions, $900 40, and for Domestic Missions, $1 276 17. Last year, the amount for Domestic Missions was $1,563 32, and Foreign Missions, $1,102. So both amounts fall below that of last year. The average per member paid for missions was about 2¼ cents a member.

A friend made up and handed me the following, by districts—thus:

"St. Louis District paid for Foreign Missions, per member, 4½c.; for Domestic Missions, 31c., (omitting fractions). Salem District for Foreign Missions, 4c; Domestic 5c. Poplar Bluff District, Foreign, 6 mills; Domestic, 1c. per member. Charleston District, Foreign, 7c.; Domestic, 8. Iron Mountain District, Foreign, 2c.; Domestic, 1c. per member."

APPOINTMENTS.

ST. LOUIS DISTRICT—W. T. Tudor, P. E. First Church, J. E. Godfrey; Centenary, J. W. Lewis; St. John's, J. G. Wilson; St. Paul's, E. M. Bounds; Chouteau Avenue, L. J. Watts; Bellefontaine, J. C. Berryman; Bridgeton, B. K. Thrower; Eden, F. A. Morris; Mt. Olive, A. T. Tidwell; Kirkwood, I. L. Spencer; Manchester, J. W. Robinson; Marvin Chapel, W. R. Mays; Fenton, J. B. Clayton; Page Avenue, to be supplied; St. Louis Advocate, D. R. McAnally.

SALEM DISTRICT—H. Hanesworth, P. E. Salem and Rolla, J. W. Johnson; Houston Circuit, J. B. Rice; Meramec Circuit, Irl R. Hicks; Licking Circuit, A. M. Robinson; St. James Circuit, W. R. Swayne; Cuba Circuit, James A. Carter; St. Clair Circuit, W. R. Craven; Steeleville Circuit, to be supplied; Labadie circuit, L. F. Aspley; Washington Circuit, S. W. Emory.

POPLAR BLUFF DISTRICT—D. J. Marquis, P. E. Spring Hill Circuit, Sidney Richmond; Dexter Circuit, M. Arrington; Dunphan Circuit, J. H. Cox; Poplar Bluff Circuit, J. L. Batten; Alton Circuit, to be supplied; West Plains Circuit, supplied by H. J. Simmons; Centerville Circuit, supplied by B. S. McNail; Eminence Circuit, S. D. Biffle; Piedmont, to be supplied by N. J. Knowleuger; Neelyville, supplied by E. Brauham; Grand Prairie, J. R. Ledbetter; Clarkton, supplied by W. C. Enoch.

CHARLESTON DISTRICT—J. H. Headlee, P. E. Charleston Station, J. S. Frazier, Charleston Circuit, H. N. Watts; Jackson Circuit, H. S. Watts; Benton Circuit, J. Garten; Lutesville Circuit, J. R. Eddleman, C. E. W. Smith, supernumerary; Oak Ridge Circuit, S. C. Biffle; York Chapel Circuit, J. T. Allen; Belmont Circuit, to be supplied; New Madrid Circuit, C. E. Devinney; Gayoso Circuit, supplied by G. H. Adams; Greenville Circuit, T. G. Atchinson.

IRON MOUNTAIN DISTRICT—T. M. Finney, P. E. Potosi Circuit, C. O. Jones, G. M. Ellinger, Supernumerary; Piattin Circuit, W. M. Shelton; Farmington, J. A. Russell; Fredrektown, G. W. Hull; Marquand, J. C. Williams; Bellvue Circuit, W. P. Gibson; Caledonia Station, J. C. Alexander; T. M. Finney, President Bellvue Collegiate Institute.

A Tender.

HAZELHURST, Miss., Oct. 22, 1878.

Hazelhurst tenders its hospitality to the Mississippi Conference during its ensuing session. Having enjoyed exemption from the prevailing epidemic, it can do so safely; and therefore begs to share with Meridian the vicissitudes of the plague.

W. E. M. LENFIELD,
P. E. Brookhaven District.

Col. Holland, who died at Holly Springs, October 22 of the yellow fever, the Picayune says:

The announcement by telegraph, this morning of the death of W. J. L. Holland, at Holly Springs, will be received with sincere and painful regret by the journalistic brotherhood of the Southern States. He fell a martyr to the cause of humanity. During the whole period of the woeful epidemic which has decimated the population of Holly Springs, Col. Holland devoted his time, his talent, his energies and his personal service to the succor of his afflicted fellow citizens. Day and night he worked with unflagging zeal and the devotion of a minister of mercy. He knew no weariness of body or of effort, but labored on, till himself stricken down by the insatiate plague. A life so unselfishly sacrificed, sinks from the sight of men with the halo of noble deeds about it, and leaves behind the example of its own magnanimous dedication to duty and humanity.

Mortuary Statistics.

SIX THOUSAND DEATHS SINCE JULY 1.

The total mortality from all causes in this city from July 1 to October 21 was as follows:

For four weeks ending July 28	1[illegible]
For five weeks ending September 1	1566
For four weeks ending September 29	2[illegible]
For three weeks ending October 21	1410
Total mortality	6177
Natives of Louisiana	3011
Under 10 years of age	2[illegible]
Under 15 years of age	2650

Thus, since the first of last July, over 6000 persons have died in this city, of which number nearly 43 per cent. were children under 15 years of age. Of the 6177 persons who have died, 3733 fell victims to yellow fever and 2144 to other diseases.

Columbia Conference.

APPOINTMENTS.

WILLAMETTE DISTRICT—T. B. White, P. E. Albany, P. A. Moses; Corvallis, Jos. Emery; Junction City, E. G. Mitchell; Tangent and Lebanon, D. C. McFarland; Dallas, T. B. White; Yamhill and Tillamook, N. M. Skipworth; Oregon City, to be supplied by B. R. Baxter; Forks of Santiam and Sweet Home, to be supplied; Professor of Corvallis College, Joseph Emery.

WALLA WALLA DISTRICT—E. H. Ogleshy, P. E. Walla Walla, T. W. D Mays; Pendleton, H. T. Burger; Weston, R. C. Oglesby, E. P. Wharton; Dayton, S. W. Daves; Palouse, to be supplied.

BLUE MOUNTAIN DISTRICT—J. H. Compton, P. E. Grande Ronde, J. W. Compton, Wallowa, J. W. Shreve; Powder River, S. Gascoigne; Boise City, T. P. Haynes.

JACKSONVILLE DISTRICT—J. R. N. Bell, P. E. Jacksonville, A. Fardison; Williamsburg, M. C. Miller; Roseburg, J. R. N. Bell; Oakland, W. H. Klyce; Coquille, to be supplied; Table Rock, J. W. Stahl.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy in proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

REBECCA ALICE MCFARLAND, wife of Thomas J. McFarland, and daughter of W. H. and R. W. Ballou, was born October 9, 1847, and died at Demopolis, Alabama, August 12, 1878. She was a lady of fine mental and moral culture, having had the advantage of instruction at Summerfield, Alabama, under such educators as R. K. Hargrove and Dr. Rivers. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South—the church of her parents—at an early age. Her love for religious literature, and especially for the Guide to Holiness, when a mere girl, indicated a piety rarely found in persons so young. She was also distinguished for her charitable disposition. While at college her parents furnished her with pocket-money to spend at her pleasure. Instead of laying it out for confectionaries, jewelry and other foolish trumpery, she would buy useful presents for the poor servant-girls in the institution, and for the poor in the neighborhood. She thus "adorned herself with good works, as becometh women professing godliness."

Her married life was one of sickness and pain, but she bore her sufferings with patience and resignation, and she never absented herself from the services of her church when she was able to attend. She was blessed with a kind and affectionate husband, who did all in his power to make her life happy. A few years before she died death robbed her of two promising little children. When told "she must die," she joyfully exclaimed: "Then I shall soon be with my children in heaven." She was perfectly conscious up to a few minutes before her death, and without a struggle she calmly and triumphantly yielded her spirit into the hands of her Saviour. She leaves with her disconsolate companion, two little children, one an infant and the other only two years of age.

H. B. C[illegible]ELL.

MARY KIMBELL, wife of Archibald Kimbell, deceased, was born in the State of Georgia, March 24, 1797, and died May 12, 1878, at the residence of her son, Richard Kimbell, in Elmore county, Alabama. Soon after her marriage, which was at the early age of about fourteen, she united herself with the Methodist Episcopal Church, in which she continued for the long space of sixty-five years a faithful and consistent member until the time of her death. It may be said in truth that mother Kimbell was a Methodist of the old school. She had a great aversion to the fantastic and gaudy style of dress worn at the present day by females calling themselves Methodists. She said they didn't seem like Methodists to her so different from the plain, simple and unostentatious style of the long ago Methodists. She had on one rule and fashion as to dress, and that was simplicity and plainness.

She was a faithful and dutiful wife during the long period she was one affectionate mother to her children; a kind and obliging neighbor, and a true and hospitable friend to the preachers; her greatest pleasure was to wait upon them. She was in what is called a comatose state for some time before she died, and consequently was unable to converse relative to her spiritual state, but the writer, who has known her intimately for the last thirty-seven years, and had a conversation with her a few weeks before she was taken sick, feels assured of her eternal happiness.

A. H. ELLIOTT.

ERNEST T. CROPPER, aged forty-one years, died at Pecan Grove, September 18, 1878, after an illness of nine days. In the death of Bro. Cropper the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Pattersonville loses one of its best Stewards and one of its most consistent members. Being his pastor for three years, I had ample opportunity for testing his character and worth in all his relations of life. It seemed as though we could have spared any one else rather than him. The church and community may well mourn his loss. Actively engaged in business that seemed to absorb all his time and attention, he still made time to attend the services, and diligently worked for the church. In his home he reigned supreme. His great father-heart carried the joys and griefs, the smiles and tears, of his large family. Those of his children who are old enough will never forget the quiet, loving, unobtrusive man whose smiles gladdened them, whose kisses healed their sorrows and whose arms were their safeguard. In the church he was silent, his feelings seldom if ever found expression. But I do know that only once in three years did they come near enough to the surface to admit of expression. He was one man who needed not to tell his experience; his face in church and his actions out were the most positive expressions of his inner life. He was at church the day before he was taken sick, and I saw during the sermon the tears rolling down his cheeks. He died saying, "I'm not afraid to die." Gently as a babe pillowing its head upon a mother's breast he caught the smile of God, and fell asleep in Jesus, at 2:30 A. M., September 19, 1878.

A. E. C.

BUSINESS CARDS.

D. G. DORRIS.
GORDIN & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS
AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.
Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed $4 50
Home-Made Shoes, screwed $3 to $4 50
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

W. W. CARHE,
HORACE E. BEACH, Manager.
LUMBER YARD,
310 DELORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Cabins and Dressed Lumber a specialty.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,
DEALERS IN
PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND
CANNEL COAL,
FOR FAMILY USE. Office—No. 21 Carondelet street. Landing—Dr. Lewis' foot of Esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to plantation orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.
CHAS. O. LANGENBECKER, M. D.,
Successor to H. Stumpf,
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.
Dealer in fine Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. H. HUSSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL,
Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,
NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, N. Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
147 DECATUR St., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Lock Box 272.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Furs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, &c. Every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 26 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Marais, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies' Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

ESTABLISHED 1840.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, Cocoanut, Magnolia and Castile Soap.
Office—110 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.
All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

ESTABLISHED IN 1825.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Bancher Sts.

T. W. HOTHICK,
UNDERTAKER
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS
Embalming and Disinterring Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cars for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.
We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the very lowest prices.
Silver Watches at $4 and upward.
Gold Watches at $15 and upward
All fully guaranteed.
A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,
COLORED SATINS,
EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,
ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.
WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.
D. H. HOLMES,
135 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,
48 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Down business on Grange principles and at Grange rates.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
55 ST. CHARLES STREET 55
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN
OF ALL KINDS.
Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. J. R. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle-Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1699.

PIANOS.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the best and most satisfactory manner, at
Mr. Burchardt's Manufactory,
633 MAGAZINE STREET 633
Between Jackson and Josephine Sts. 8p

WHEELER & PIERSON (successors to Darry & Wheeler and Pierson & Howes,) NOS. 13 & 15 CAMP ST., opposite the City Hotel,
CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS
FOR MEN AND BOYS.
We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at one prices, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. Wholesale department up stairs. 8p

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.
CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—50 rolls White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
BURLAP'S Table and Enamel OIL CLOTHS.
A. BROUSSEAU & CO.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 17,000 students since 1867. 75 eminent professors. 115 lessons for $15. S. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

GOODWYN'S EUREKA YEAST POWDER, a product of this city, is both popular with the trade and the public of all experienced housekeepers, and no wonder, for it is unequaled for the very highest order of light. Send for circular and prices.
P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer,
No. 29 Constance Street, New Orleans, La.

EDUCATIONAL.

AUGUSTA FEMALE SEMINARY,
STAUNTON, VA.
THE largest first class institution for young ladies in Virginia, with an able corps of teachers. Opens the first Wednesday in SEPTEMBER 18[illegible], and closes on the first Wednesday in June 1879.
For catalogues, containing full particulars, address MISS. MARY J. BALDWIN,
Principal, Staunton, Va.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.
"THIS price and quality of board and tuition compares favorably with other colleges, while the peculiar constitution of the college and the influence of its surroundings render it in my judgment the very best and safest place for boys and young men, of a certain class of culture, which I wish to see in the Methodist Church South."—REV. E. E. WILSON, A. M., of Alabama.
Address J. H. BRUNNER, D. D.,
Hiwassee College, Tenn.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. CHAS. E. KELLS & DR. H. VIET,
DENTISTS,
12 DAUPHINE STREET 12
One door from Canal, New Orleans.
Dentistry in all its branches. Irregularities of the teeth corrected. Artificial Porcelain with the latest improvements. Teeth extracted without pain under the influence of Nitrous Oxide Gas. Established in 1850.

DR. C. J. BICHHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
230 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
New Orleans, La.

C. C. HILLIGER,
ARCHITECT
CARONDELET ST. 81
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

ARMSTRONG, GATOR & CO.,
Importers and Manufacturers of Ribbons, Millinery, Straw Goods
WHITE GOODS,
Linen Lace, Embroidery, Handkerchiefs,
AND
LADIES' NECK WEAR,
237 & 239 Baltimore Street, Baltimore

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Wash-stands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Wrought Iron Pipe, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns
150 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

WASHBURN'S
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART
GALLERY,
COR. CANAL ST. AND CHA. HANOS PLACE.
☞ The handsomest place of the kind in the South.
A PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in a manner unexcelled by any other establishment in this city.
Copying and enlarging old Pictures a specialty.
Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY.

JOHN BOIS,
DEALER IN
FURNITURE, PICTURES,
LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.
152 Camp Street 154
Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.
No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

REMOVAL!
ELKIN & CO.
HAVE REMOVED THEIR
Carpet and Oil-Cloth Warehouse
TO
100 CANAL STREET 100
Between Camp and St. Charles Streets.
A full line of CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, MATTINGS, WINDOW SHADES, etc., at lowest prices.

SPECTACLES.
R. & J. BECK,
Manufacturing Optician,
921 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
Would call special attention to their improved Spectacles and Eye-Glasses. Telescopes, Opera Field and Marine Glasses, Microscopes, Etc., Etc. The largest and most varied in the United States.
GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.
Send three stamps for our splendidly illustrated and priced catalogue of 96 pages.

Established in St. Louis in 1858.
R. L. ROSEBROUGH SONS,
Marble Works,
NOS. 1121 BROADWAY,
Between Biddle and Mullanphy Streets,
ST. LOUIS, MO.

H. CATH. PUPPEY & CARA.
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Mouldings, Curtain Fixtures, Engravings, etc.
☞ Frames made to order, a specialty.
No. 90 Camp street, New Orleans.

...RISTIAN ADVOCATE.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1878.

R... GINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

...RT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

...49 CAMP ST. NEW ORLEANS

...ers of business, Rev. R. J ... Camp street, New Orleans.

...all communications designed for publi... Rev. LINUS PARKER, 49 Camp street ...

...—All the members of the Patronizing ...

...EDITORIAL COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE

...V. S. H. COX
...REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH D. ...
REV. FELIX R. HILL

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

REV. W. H. WATKINS D. D.
REV. JAMES A. DOHERTY,
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER
REV. JOHN MATHEWS
REV. LINUS PARKER D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00.
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75.

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00.
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

From Strength to Strength.

For many the journey to the Holy City was long. The way was a rough one, over hills and through rocky defiles, and exposed to the elements. As they walked there was strength only for a single day. But day after day the long miles grew shorter, the body became hardened to exposure, and almost a stranger to fatigue. They went from strength to strength, and at last they reached the temple and appeared before God.

In our spiritual pilgrimage it is not otherwise. The strength at the beginning is not such as would suffice for the entire course. There is a continual increase, and the increase of to-day is built upon the use of the strength of yesterday. It is not to the maximum at a single bound, but from strength to strength. Just as in walking the exercise of the present day makes us stronger and able to go further to-morrow; so the earnest effort now, and the putting forth of all our vigor, makes it possible for us to endure far more in the future. It is not from weakness to strength, but from a low degree of strength to a higher. The import of it is: with whatever of grace you have, set your face towards Jerusalem, and strike out boldly for the goal. The ability to take one step is enough—take that, and the next will be easier. One day's journey may exhaust what force you have, but make it, and the next, and the next, will be performed with growing power.

Herein the spiritual is not unlike the physical life. There is a law of development from the less to the greater. If we would be stronger we must bring the little strength we have into exercise. God gives more grace accordingly as we use what we have. In counting the cost of confessing Christ and devoting ourselves to his service we should not lose sight of this principal in the economy of the Divine mercy. It is something we can count on in our forecast of the path of discipleship. Peter and John, and the rest, when first called could not have met the duties of such a ministry as was devolved upon them after Pentecost. Wisdom and strength increased as they advanced, and they who fled, when the Master was arrested, were strong enough afterwards to witness for Him before the world and to die for Him. The grace that enables us to overcome an evil habit to-day, will be given in larger measure to-morrow, and thus in ever increasing abundance until the mastery is easily secured, and the victory complete.

Some are deterred from entering into covenant with God to give up their sins and to give Him their heart, lest they should fail to keep it. They do not feel themselves strong enough to overcome, and to meet the obligations of the Christian life. It is not needful that they should. If God gives them grace to start, the use of this insures what is needful at the next step; and that, improved, guarantees that they will be supported at the next, and thus all along the path of duty and experience. This is a law of the religious life. Grace used insures more grace. If faithfully improved at every stage of the journey there will never be any lack. The dark valley will find us leaning upon the rod and staff of God, the passes where we have the fiercest encounters with the enemy will be on fire with the chariots and armies of heaven.

Our mistake and our sin are committed at this point where we are fearful and unbelieving. Sinners halt because they doubt. The awakened and trembling soul, confronted by the obstacles of the way—his own sinful nature, the temptations in the world—fears to obey the voice of conscience and the guidance of the Holy Spirit. Men may well distrust themselves, but they will surely perish in their sins if they wait until they feel possessed of such resources as shall suffice to carry them to the end of the conflict. God does not work in that way. He gives enough for the duties of the present hour, and tells us to use that. You have the conviction that you ought to take Christ as your Saviour, and to come out on the Lord's side. You have the power to move a little, to take the first step, and that is all you will have until you have put it in action. Our freedom and responsibility in connection with the grace of God are manifested, not in our ability to do without grace, but in the power we have to use it or to reject it. In His sovereign mercy God gives to every man, not enough to save him, but enough, if accepted and improved, to save him. The kingdom has its initial point, and it works then like the leaven. It has its germinant stage as the grain of mustard seed, to be followed by a development of wonderful magnitude.

This is the Divine order. The child is before the man, the pigmy before the giant. The twilight is before the day. God gives to the sinner some grace in the shape of certain convictions, and if he acts upon them, he comes to Christ, to a changed heart and a holy life. The faithful believer's course is thus also described as from "strength to strength." Each day finds him better equipt for the war, and more easily victorious. There is in him a stronger faith, a larger and more complete appropriation of the promises, and a peace more profound. He is stronger to labor, stronger to suffer, and stronger to die. Every day has come to him with its privileges, duties, trials and mercies, and each succeeding day has come with some increase of grace. He goes from strength to strength until at last, with the rugged path of sorrow and toil left behind, he appears before God.

Mississippi Conference.

Amid the wide spread suffering and sorrow attending the great epidemic, we must not forget our superannuated preachers, or the widows and orphans depending on us, and to whom our small annual contributions afford so much relief. As a member of the Joint Board of Finance of the Mississippi Conference, I would remind the brethren of the ministry and laity of those worthy claimants in whose behalf I feel no little interest. Brethren do not forget them. I beg of you to remember the long, long years of useful labors of our few superannuates, who gave up all to the service of their Master, and now in the eventide of life are nearing the verge of Jordan, and must soon cross over. Let us do all we can to make their last days their best days, for unto them our people owe a never ending debt of gratitude.

Let us not forget the widows and children of those who have crossed over after having fought the good fight and endured unto the end. These are not many, but we owe them much. Hitherto we have treated them badly. God will hold us to a fearful account for our stinginess and unfaithfulness in this matter. Let us all do better. Let no minister be satisfied with such pittances as too many brought up to the last Annual Conference. It is not the fault of the members that so little is collected. Tell me that among two hundred and ninety-three members only one dollar could be collected for a purpose so noble, for claimants so worthy! The preacher never heard. Does any one believe that from four hundred church members only eight dollars and fifty cents could be collected? Take care, brethren, "as ye sow, so shall ye reap." You are neglecting your duty in this matter, and failing to instruct your people; by and by you will be superannuated or your wives and children be the recipients of aid from the Conference. What do you expect when that time comes?

Some of you fail to report the condition of the claimants, although you are required by the Discipline to do so, and we are compelled to get our information the best way we can. And though we do the best we can in making the distribution, we are blamed. We never give satisfaction—in fact we are never satisfied ourselves. You give us so little information, and you bring us so little money, that we are always dissatisfied. We (I speak the sentiments of all the members of the Board) ask, we urge you to do better. The assessment is the very least amount we need. We can use double the amount called for without being at all extravagant. The necessities of some of the claimants are urgent; the claims of all are meritorious. We have given them so little. Think of it! a poor widow and several children given only $100 or $125; and a preacher, who has spent a half of a century toiling for our good, not enough to clothe himself and wife decently! Brethren will you not do better? Will you not bring up not only the full amount of your assessment, but also more, much more?

LAYMAN.

Whitworth College.

BROOKHAVEN, Miss., October, 1878.

MR. EDITOR.—The cold winds whistling around our dwelling this morning, give pleasant sounds; for they tell us of approaching winter and the end of the epidemic. But who can count the tears and weigh the sorrows of the afflicted ones? How keenly will families and communities feel their losses when the usual health and order shall have been restored. Not in the heat of the battle do warriors weep for fallen comrades, but after the artillery has hushed and the smoke and dust have cleared away.

Last week we received a letter announcing the death of Miss Lillie Sharp of Madison county. She had been with us two years. By her gentleness of manner and sweetness of spirit, she won all hearts. She professed religion in May, 1877. Her experience, as given to my daughter soon afterwards, was: "O, I am so happy. I love every body." How glad we are to learn that she died in peace. "How blessed are the righteous when he dies." Yes, Lillie, "Thou are gone to the grave, but we will not deplore thee." How happy her father was when she received her gold medal last June. Said he, "It is the happiest day of my life." But how the scene is changed.

Miss Lillie Snyder of Warren county, one of our pupils last term has fallen on sleep. She, too, was mild and gentle, was universally beloved, confessed Christ in her college life, communed regularly, was a faithful pupil and received a gold medal last June. But she has gone up on high with the voice of triumph, to receive the plaudit, "Well done."

Miss Jenny and Miss Mary Coker of Hinds county, sisters, were pupils beloved. How kind and affectionate they were to each other; how respectful and kind to their teachers; how lovingly they spoke of their parents. They were of the Episcopal Church. God called them suddenly. But we trust that they were ready. How sad our hearts were when the news came, Jennie and Mary Coker are dead!

We could write much more of these young ladies. They were our pupils and we loved them while living, and cherish their memory still.

Many of our old pupils have doubtless fallen, but we trust have fallen to rise.

These few words, in memoriam, we have written. Our hearts are sad, but we mourn not as those without hope. The day will dawn, the light arise, and the shadows fly. O, Lord, hasten thine appearing.

H. F. JOHNSON.

Pearlington, Mississippi.

Rev. A. B. Nicholson, writing from Pearlington, October 23, says:

Yellow fever has been in this town over since the first of August. It has visited this place several times, but has never been an epidemic, in the common acceptation of that word, though it proved fatal in nearly every case; so it has this year. No new cases at this date. Business of all kinds has stopped; church matters suspended; Sunday-schools stopped; our flock scattered—some have crossed the last river, mostly young people.

In this town we had a flourishing Methodist Church, a parsonage, and the preacher well cared for.

Logtown, two miles above here, a small place of not more than two hundred inhabitants, has been awfully scourged by the fever, in fact I question whether any place in the South has suffered more than Logtown, according to its population. While but between forty and fifty genuine cases of yellow fever have been reported, almost the entire population has been prostrated; the death rate very heavy. In that community we had a new and beautiful church, a respectable congregation, Sunday-school and Missionary Society; but alas, how sad to-day!

Our Steward there Bro. Robert Carrie, a noble Christian gentleman, was among the first to fall a victim to the disease, and none left to take his place. The fatality has been in the main among the young people.

Galusville is eight miles above Logtown. When I was there last but two cases were reported. The white population is almost all gone.

We quarantined, but too late; the fever was in our midst before we began the work. We have a yellow fever doctor with us doing a good work. Nurses have been sent by the Howards. Our local physician, Dr. Mead, though born and educated in the North, met the monster face to face, with a moral heroism that entitles him to great praise. We have to-day cold north wind.

From Oregon

Rev. T. B. White, writing from Albany, Oregon, October 14, says:

Our (Columbia) Conference is past. Nearly all the clerical members were present. Bishop Wightman got to us Saturday. Weather exquisite; session pleasant; best of all, "the Lord of hosts was with us." I had finished my work and had gone out to comply with a promise made Bro. Bell to help him hold some meetings. We commenced one on Deer creek, nine miles from Roseburg, three weeks before Conference, and continued until Conference met. It was a remarkable meeting; sixty-five precious souls professed conversion; thirty-two joined our church. Then at Roseburg fifteen or twenty more joined during and immediately after Conference. Conversions clear,—scarcely a still-born child into the kingdom. Christians rejoiced. More shouting than I have witnessed in many years; it seemed to me Bro. Miller, a young man from Holston Conference, and Bro. Bell, P. E and P. C. of Roseburg Circuit, were abundant in labors. God's blessed name be praised for these work-men and the precious trophies.

I presume you have the list of appointments of the Conference. You observe your correspondent is continued as Presiding Elder of Willamette District, and in addition is P. C. of Dallas Circuit. Each charge enough to engage the powers of a live man. I am not sufficient for it, but "the laborers are few." I propose, grace helping, to do my best, and all I can, and leave the result with God. Ask the prayers of my old friends and brethren. "Brethren pray for us."

Would that we had a good man for Dallas Circuit. I have two other appointments in my District to be supplied. Where are the men?

Alabama Conference.

MOBILE, October 22, 1878.

MY DEAR DOCTOR.—Some doubt has been expressed as to whether it will be expedient for the Alabama Conference to hold its ensuing session here, on account of the prevalence of the yellow fever.

Please state for the information of the brethren, that we feel confident here that no change of place will be necessary. All the indications point to an early frost, and even if the fever should prevail some weeks longer, we believe that strangers will incur no risk in coming into the city so late as the eleventh of December, which is the time appointed for the meeting of the Conference. We want the Conference to meet here. If, however, it shall be necessary to make a change, we will take the proper steps in ample time.

In writing the above I am sure that I express the views of not only our preachers, but all our people here.

Up to this date one hundred and thirty-five cases and forty deaths from yellow fever have been reported to our Board of Health. Quite a large proportion of the cases are now yielding readily to treatment. More than a dozen of my people, among them three of my Stewards, have been down with the prevailing fever. I am quite well, as are also Dr. Wadsworth and Bro. Andrew. We rejoice with you that the plague is abating in your city.

Affectionately yours,

FELIX R. HILL.

Rev. J. M. Brown writes us that Mrs. Mary A. Randle, widow of Rev. Richmond Randle, died at Mansfield, La., September 26.

Sister Randle was an exemplary Christian, and devoted to the church of her choice. Two of her sons are traveling ministers and members of the Louisiana Conference. Her obituary will appear shortly.

The Rev. Joel W. Whitten, stationed preacher at Decatur, Alabama, died, says the Nashville Christian Advocate, on the twentieth of October of yellow fever. A good man and a valuable worker has fallen. A suitable memoir will appear in due time.

The funeral of Rev. Tiff Foster took place Thursday, October 24 at 10 A. M., and was attended by a large concourse of people. Services were held at the church, several ministers participating in them, after which the remains were taken to the Girod Street Cemetery and solemnly consigned to their last resting place. The casket was placed in front of the altar, and both it and the table in front of the pulpit, were covered with flowers which loving hands had brought and tastefully arranged. The Times of this city, in its notice of the services, concludes as follows:

But the best tribute was paid by the number of poor people present at his funeral. A poor woman came before services, and said: "Can I take a last look at that good young minister?" The answer was: Yes," and she passed on with tears in her eyes to see his face for the last time.

The Methodist Church especially, and the Christian Church generally, has sustained a great loss in the demise of this promising young minister, who, when advised by some of his people to go away because he was not a colonist, replied: "I cannot leave my charge in the hour of peril," and like his Master died for its flock.

A Desolated Home.

The following note from Rev. C. B. Galloway brings us very sad tidings. There have been a few such instances of great mortality in a household, but they have been comparatively few. Bro. Feathers'on has been bereaved indeed. We pray that his life may be spared, and that he may be supported by the hand of Him who alone is able to comfort us in all our tribulations:

VICKSBURG, October 24, 1878.

Dear Dr. Parker,—I have sad intelligence to communicate to the friends of our dear and honored brother, Rev. E. M. Featherston, Presiding Elder of the Jackson District, Mississippi Conference. At his home in Warren county, nine eighteen miles from Vicksburg, he has seen almost his entire family in a few days perish with the yellow fever. Of an interesting household of ten only two remain—himself and a widowed daughter. He has been a true Christian hero, and bears his great sorrows with a Christian's faith and resignation.

Yours,

CHAS. B. GALLOWAY.

The Louisiana Conference.

CHANGE OF TIME.

CHARLESTON, Miss., Oct. 16, 1878.

On account of the continued prevalence of the yellow fever in the city of New Orleans and its vicinity at this date, and also the condition of the Conference finances consequent thereon, the time of the ensuing session of the Louisiana Conference, in the city of New Orleans, is hereby changed from December 11, next, to January 8, 1879 by request of our preachers in the city of New Orleans.

DAVID S. DOHERTY.

The yellow fever report for New Orleans, Wednesday, October 30 is as follows: Deaths for the twenty-four hours ending at 12 M., Wednesday, October 30, 13: new cases, 10: old cases, 21: total cases, 13066: total deaths, 3917.

We believe the epidemic, properly speaking, is over, and that another week will give us nearly a healthy city. Absentees, however, must not return until advised by the Board of Health.

Rev. T. B. Holcomb writes us that he did not mean, in a recent communication, to assert that there had been no yellow fever in Woodville, Miss. The County Board of Health have not admitted that yellow fever exists there. Dr. Henderson, however, reports forty-six cases up to October 22. Eight during the week ending October 19. There have been four deaths altogether since the first of September.

Rev. Dr. Ames, we are glad to report, is rapidly recovering from his attack of yellow fever. His attentive and skilful physician, Dr. J. M. Watkins, has, we believe, dismissed him as needing no further medical care. With prudence, he will be out in a few days.

Acknowledgment.

Rev. M. N. Morris sends us $26 10, contributed by the Sociopatoy Circuit, North Alabama Conference, for the yellow fever sufferers.

POSTPONED.—The Woodville District Conference will meet in Woodville, Miss. November 22, 23, 24, and not at the time originally published.

Periodicals.

Golden Hours for November has an inviting table of contents. Among the articles are: Billy's Motto, Illustrated; Golden Shoes, Illustrated; The Chimpanzee, Illustrated; Watch those Boys; The Hospices of the Alps; Talks about Musical Instruments, Illustrated; Too Much of a Bite; Hero Benton, Illustrated.

MARRIED.

CANNON—MOORE.—In Perry county, October 24, 1878, by Rev. H. H. Raym... D. D., Mr. David W. Cannon to Miss M... Moore.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS FO... 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	BISHOP.	T...
W. Virginia	Gallipolis	Pierce
Denver	Wahsatch	Wightman
Western	Wyandotte	Doggett
Missouri	Macon	Doggett
Illinois	Paris	Doggett
Kentucky	Shelbyville	Kavanaugh
Montana	Helena	Pierce
S. W. Missouri	Clinton	Wightman
Louisville	Cadiz	Doggett
Columbia	Roseburg	Pierce
Tennessee	Clarksville	Wightman
St. Louis	Charleston	Kavanaugh
Dallas Miss.	Mississippi C'N	Doggett
West Texas	San Marcos	McTyeire
Pacific	San Francisco	Kavanaugh
Boston	Knoxville	Wightman
Arkansas	Russellville	Kavanaugh
N. W. Texas	Belton	McTyeire
Los Angeles	S. Bernardino	Kavanaugh
White River	Searcy	Wightman
Virginia	Petersburg	McTyeire
Florida	Gainesville	Pierce
German Miss.	Industry	Kavanaugh
North Texas	Terrell	Keener
N. Carolina	Charlotte	Keener
N. Alabama	Athens	Pierce
N. Georgia	Marietta	Kavanaugh
Little Rock	Hot Springs	McTyeire
Texas	Chapel Hill	Doggett
Memphis	Paris	Keener
N. Mississippi	Macon	Pierce
S. Carolina	Newberry	Pierce
Alabama	Mobile	Pierce
S. Georgia	Thomasville	Kavanaugh
East Texas	Tyler	McTyeire
Mississippi	Meridian	Keener
Louisiana	New Orleans	Pierce
Baltimore	Salem	Wightman

Publisher's Department.

MR. E. E. F. ... of this paper, is now ... and East on business ... CATE. Any attention ... kind.

PLASTIC JOINT ... roofing is said to combine ... than any other in use. ... sively used in the North ... universal satisfaction. ... learned. It is cheap, ... expansion and contra... been a great drawback ... It is perfectly fire and ... be readily adapted to ... buildings. In these times ... of economy is so pressing ... parties who intend building ... materials at the lowest ... can be procured. They ... to send circulars than ... to other parts of the ... instituted. For particulars ... Company, whose address ... advertisement.

BUGGIES AND CARRIAGES.—We would heartily recommend Mr. ... Long & Co. for anything in ... business. We have had ... gentlemen for many ... found them straight ... men. We consider them ... dling up this city. To ... able in price and ... respect. They have a ... children's carriages, of ... specialty. Our friends will ... a call of these remarks, at ... to buy buggies or carriages ... 64 Gravier street, New Orleans.

Our numerous readers throughout the South, when visiting ... are or business should call at ... House, which is the best ... by the price. Mr. Vanderbeck ... patronage. As his general ... nothing should be left undone ... their guests. The Bar ... meet all the business ... is an important feature ... Cincinnati on business ... address, corner Sixth and W...

Beginning of a New Volume.

Scribner for November.

Edition 90,000 Copies.

Dr. Holland writing of Frances Hodgson Burnett, says: "There ... but one English writer ... who can command ... in America."

"HAWORTH'S."

MRS. BURNETT'S NEW NOVEL ... begun in this number, ... presents an advance of ... of "Lowrie's." The first ... is of absorbing interest, ... seven chapters with four engravings by Dielman and Bolles.

A New Portrait of Longfellow.

The present number is ... exquisite engravings, from ... which is a full-page ... portrait of Longfellow, drawn from life by Wyatt Eaton, and engraved by Cole, the artist and engraver of the Bryant portrait in the August number. Accompanying this is a biographical paper by ... Stoddard, with illustrations by Francis Lathrop, and R. Swain ...

A Night with ...

The fullest account yet published of this notable invention, ... by Kelly.

A New Poem by Bret Harte.

"The Spelling Bee at ..." ... reported by Private Jack ... in humor and execution with the author's earliest successes. Illustrated by Thomas Eakins.

Fast Life in New York.

By John Burroughs, with illustrations by Mary Hallock Foote reproduced by a new process.

Johnny Reb at Play.

The first of a series of papers by an ex-Confederate, giving the inside view of life in the Confederate army, with illustrations by the author.

Parsons and Parsons.

By Edward Eggleston. A paper of humorous anecdotes, being the first of a series of character sketches by the author of "The Hoosier School-master" and "Roxy."

Our Patent System.

A thorough discussion of the arguments for abolishing our present system, by an expert.

There are also illustrated articles on FORT CHAMBLY, A CALIFORNIA WIND STORM, and an interesting sketch of Eugene Scribe, etc.

Progress in Electric Light.

"The World's Work" is entirely given up to a description of the recent inventions connected with electric light.

The Editorial Departments

Contain essays by Dr. Holland, Book Reviews, "Hints to Young Housekeepers," etc.

Price $4 a year. 35 cents a Number. For sale by all Book-sellers, Newsdealers and Postmasters. Persons wishing to subscribe direct with the publishers, should write name, Post-office, county and State in full, and send with remittance to SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, New York.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Farmers, Families and others can purchase no remedy equal to Dr TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, for the cure of Cholera Diarrhea, Dysentery, Croup, Colic and Sea Sickness taken internally (it is perfectly harmless; one bath accompanying each bottle) and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Pains in Limbs, Back and Chest. The VENETIAN LINIMENT was introduced in 1-47, and as one who used it but continues to do so, many stating if it was ten dollars a bottle they would not be without it. Thousands of certificates can be seen at the depot, speaking of its wonderful curative properties. Sold by the druggists at 40 cents. Depot, 56 Murray street, New York. 8p

BRAIN WORKERS.

Clergymen, lawyers, physicians, editors and all classes of brain workers will find the use of Dr. Price's Floral Riches Cologne grateful refreshing. The handkerchief wetted in it and applied to the face occasionally will please the sense of smell, prove a stimulus to the circulation, inducing to vigorous action.

NOTICE.

We have appointed Logan D. Dameron, Advocate Publishing house, St. Louis, our general agent for sale of Bishop Peck's Book of Travels, "To the East by Way of the West," to whom all orders for books and applications for agencies must be addressed. BRYAN, BRAND & CO.

St. Louis, August 28, 1878.

For particulars regarding Electric Suspensories address PULVERMACHER GALVANIC CO. Cincinnati, Ohio. new

QUEEN OF THE OVEN.

A biscuit made with Dr. Price's Baking Powder is certainly the queen of biscuits. So light, white and enjoyable. After eating biscuits made with Dr. Price's Baking Powder, what housewife would contemplate or grumble because her wife asked to buy one.

WE DO NOT WONDER.

We do not wonder that housewives have been accustomed to use Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts should turn in disgust from the trash often sold under the name of Flavoring Extracts, which stall smells and tastes like, Dr. Price's Flavoring Extracts have the natural odor of the fresh fruits.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BREECH-LOADERS.

We take this opportunity of informing our customers and friends that the first installment of our stock of these goods (unexpectedly delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for delivery. The Breech-Loading Shot Guns alone now in store comprise upward of 50 styles and patterns, ranging through all desirable grades. These fresh importations are probably afforded lower than ever before, and represent low cost of gold and sterling exchange while all our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves, whether you wish to buy or not. FOLSOM BROS.,

13 Decatur (Old Levee) St., opp. Postoffice.

Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

WATER WHEELS.

THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEEL.

PORTABLE AND STATIONARY STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS.

SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS.

MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING.

SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS

Of Improved Designs, A Specialty

Address, POOLE & HUNT.

Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD.

MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

NEW DISCOVERY

No Medicine required, it is used alone.

DR. J. H. McLEAN.

NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

Dr. J. H. McLean's

LIVER AND LUNG-HEALING

CATSUP LESS.

Take no more pills that disorder the Stomach to swallow before the Liver.

After Taking.

It is a new way of being cured with the Great Liver and Lung-Healing Remedy, containing no mercury, but acting on the Liver, Lungs and Blood, as the Great Spring of Health in the Human System. Thousands upon thousands have been cured by Dr. J. H. McLEAN'S LIVER AND LUNG-HEALING GREAT CATSUP LESS. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Lung-Healing Great Catsup Less, for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Diseases of the Throat or Lungs, is a wonderful Magic Influencer, and has performed wonders all over the world. Send for book. Letters will be received for thirty days.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,

Chestnut Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

ABSORBS THE POISON. 6m

The only way that CATARRH is cured, by

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Celebrated Catarrh Snuff

This new and wonderful discovery cures by absorbing the poison in the nose, throat, or skin. Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Powder, get it of the sore parts to contact with the disease in the throat, or Skin, and it will never fail to cure Catarrh, Sores in the Nose, Pimples, Aches, Black Specks on the Face or Skin, Ringworms, Sweating Feet, etc. You need Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff in connection with the disease. It will absorb the poison of every sore and cure it. Trial-boxes 50 cts. by mail.

After Taking.

Address, DR. J. H. McLEAN,

Chestnut St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.

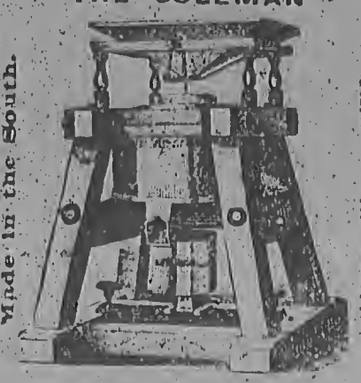
Mills, Engines and Machinery,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WE SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses and Machinery delivered at railroad depots or river landings

Portable Engine prices greatly reduced.

THE COLEMAN



Made in the South.

CORN MILL.

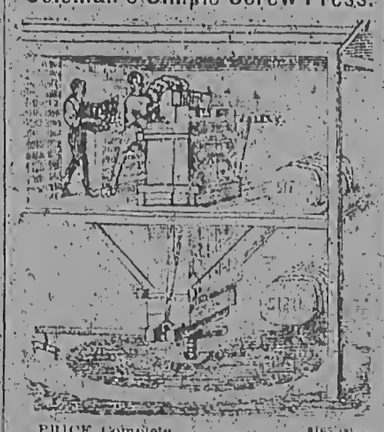
VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York State to Texas, over thirty-three different competitors, during the last twenty-eight years.

Awarded the only Gold Medal ever awarded to any Corn Mill in the United States. Simple, strong, durable and cheap, with solid French Burr Stones. Made by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.

New Orleans, La.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press.



PRICE, Complete $65 00

Wrought Iron Screw 4 inches in diameter. Packing box 9 feet deep. Simple, strong, durable, and guaranteed to pack a bale as well as any. Send for circular. Manufactured by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.,

New Orleans, La.

We make also the Friction-Power Press. (Simmons' patents.)

STRONGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.

INCREASING PUBLIC ARITY.

Number of bales tied in 1877 1,500,000

Number of bales tied in 1878 3,000,000

COST OF

Iron Ties, including freight ..... 50 cts. per bale

Cotton Ties, including freight ..... 75 cts. per bale

Canvassers wanted to solicit orders for a commission.

Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Manufacturers of Barbed Wire Fencing.

WIRE RAILING AND Ornamental Wire Works.

DUFFER & CO., No. 2 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc., Sieves, Fenders, Ores, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Tree Guards, Chairs, etc.

W. C. TOOMER,

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE—18 Carondelet St., Cor. Union, NEW ORLEANS.

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made in the market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in the city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Stockton Cypress Mills. Lumber for Plantation use filled to order

GEO. PURVES'

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD

Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

NO MORE

RHEUMATISM

OR GOUT

ACUTE OR CHRONIC

SALICYLICA

SURE CURE.

Manufactured by

European Salicylic Medicine Co.

OF PARIS AND LEIPZIG.

RELIEVES IMMEDIATELY.

CURES PERMANENTLY.

Now exclusively used by all celebrated Doctors of Europe and America, and thoroughly introduced throughout the United States, miraculous cures, having been made in nearly every city and State.

Price, $1 00 a box; 6 boxes for $5.00.

Orders filled by mail, or ask your Druggist for it.

WASHBURNE & CO.

Sole Agents,

24 Cliff Street New York.

THE STANDARD

CHROMATIC TUNING

OR PITCH-PIPE.

Gives the correct pitch of any tone, Natural, Sharp or Flat. Adjusted to the desired pitch instantly. Never gets out of order. FINE AS NICE AS PLEASED. No Teacher, Instrumental Player or Singer should be without one.

RETAILED AT $1.50.

Sent to any address upon receipt of price.

DANIEL M. READ & CO.,

647 BROADWAY, N. Y.,

Inventors and Manufacturers.

Sold by all Music Dealers.

AGENTS WANTED.

AGENTS WANTED FOR

LITERATURE, ART & SONG.

Acknowledged the Richest, Rarest and Handsomest Book ever issued from the American Press, combining Poetry, History, Biographies, many Anecdotes and Music. Magnificent Illustrated, with over 300 Engravings. A beautiful Steel Engraving presented gratis to each subscriber. This work should be in every Home circle. AGENTS. Terms the most liberal. Now is the time. Don't wait for the Holidays. Extra inducements to experienced Agents. Write at once for terms and territory. J. H. CHAMBERS & CO., St. Louis, Mo., and Atlanta, Ga.

GOOD NEWS

TO ALL OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.

We will send free by mail to any one desiring pleasant and profitable employment a beautiful Chromo and multiplied circular of the American and European Novelty Company, showing how to make money. We have something entirely new, such as has never been offered to the public before. There is lots of money to be made. Address, inclosing a 3-cent stamp for return postage on Chromo,

F. GLEASON, 19 Essex St., Boston, Mass.

$500 MADE IN 87 DAYS. CATALOGUE FREE. Buckeye Novelty Co., Cincinnati, O.

NOW READY!

The Grand Achievements of

STANLEY Only $2.75.

By Hon. J. W. Helderly, the Prince of descriptive authors. A full legacy of his explorations in Africa; nine months journey down the Congo. A new exciting book, bristling with wild adventures and thrilling scenes of danger. Is profusely illustrated. The public eagerly await it. It is selling wonderfully.

CAUTION the great success of this book has induced unscrupulous publishers to get out catch-penny works. We therefore caution purchasers to send for proof of genuineness and full description of this work, also terms.

N. D. THOMPSON & Co. Pubs, St. Louis, Mo. AGENTS WANTED.

$7 A DAY to Agents canvassing for the Fireside Visitor. Terms and outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

$57.60 AGENTS PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $50. New articles, just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. P. CHANDLER, 205 Fulton street, New York.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE. MADE by Agents selling our Chromos, Crayons, Picture and Chromo Cards. 125 samples worth $5, sent postpaid for 25 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Estab'd 1830.

AGENTS wanted to sell THE CURSE OF RUM, including Life and Work of Murphy and Hayworth, with History of the movement in all ages. Fully illustrated. Price, only $2. GUARANTEE PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER AGENTS Wanted. $50 to $125 a Month. An Encyclopedia of Law and Forms. For Business Men, Mechanics, Farmers, Property Owners, Tenants, everybody; every business saves many times cost. Selling fast. Send for circular and terms. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., 625 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

MAKE $100

Acting as Our Salesman.

WE CAN PEN MONTH

We are desirous of engaging energetic AGENTS either as clerks or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business if not employed, and when you receive our circulars read them carefully. Address, with stamp for particulars,

G. W. FOSTER & CO.,

275 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET,

Chicago, Illinois.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR SINGING CLASSES.

ONWARD! By L. O. EMERSON, and is the author's best and perhaps best compilation for Singing Schools. Emerson's Rote Singing Exercises, many pieces and Songs, and a good quantity of Sacred Music.

JOHNSON'S Method for Singing Classes. 60 cts., or $6 per dozen. Or Singing Schools, has a practical clear instructions, and a large number of pleasing, varied and secular Music for practice.

THE LAUREL WREATH, 60 cts. per copy, or $6 per dozen. By W. O. PERKINS, is a good book for Singing Classes in High Schools, Normal Schools and Conventions. Part I. Elementary. Part II. Voice Cultivation. Part III. Select Music for Concert parts. Part IV. Sacred Music.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL CHOIR, 60 cts., or $6 per Dozen. By W. S. TILDEN, is an entirely new collection of Music for the Singing Classes in Grammar Schools, and for the younger classes in High Schools.

THE WHIPPOORWILL, 60 cts., or $6 per Dozen. By W. O. PERKINS, is a genial and very bright collection of School Songs.

Any Book sent free on Receipt of Price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO.,

843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

FOUNDED JULY 1, 1845.

OLDEST SHOT TOWER IN AMERICA.

THOS. W. SPARKS,

Patent American Chilled Shot

Standard, Drop and Buck-Shot

AND BAR LEAD MANUFACTURER,

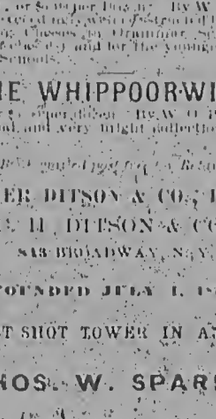
121 WALNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA.

F. A. HEBAN, Agent, NEW ORLEANS.

O. H. MILLER & CO., Agents, GALVESTON.

Country Orders for Millinery AND FANCY GOODS.



Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HARDON,

Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,

87 and 89 Chartres St., New Orleans.

Second door above Custom-house.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PRICE LIST OF J. J. MARTIN'S

GREAT T DEPOT,

NO. 5 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

TEAS.

OOLONG, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Best at $1 per lb.

ENGLISH BREAKFAST, Black—35c., 40c., 50c., 75c., $1. Best at $1.20 per lb.

IMPERIAL GREEN TEA—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c., $1, $1.20. Best at $1.40 per lb.

MIXED TEAS—35c., 40c., 50c., 60c., 75c. Very choice, $1. Extra choice $1.20.

Also a choice assortment of Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Orange Pekoe, Ebwory Pekoe, Japan Assam, Mandarin and Caper Teas.

COFFEES.

GOOD RIO, parched or ground ..... 25c. per lb.

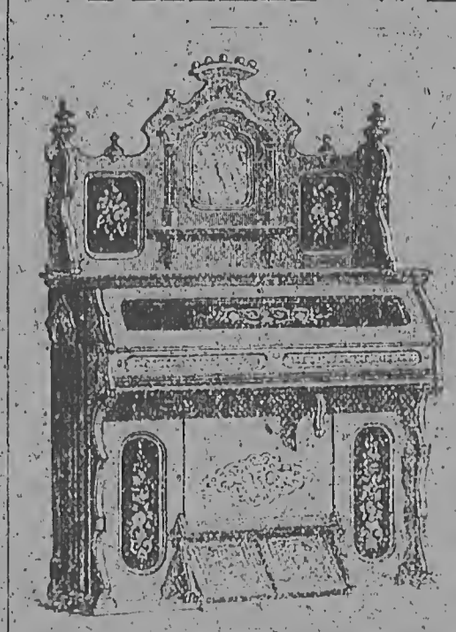
CHOICE RIO, " " ..... 30c. "

CHOICE CORDOVA, " " ..... 35c. "

REAL OLD GOVERNMENT JAVA ..... 40c. "

NOTICE.—We will ship $5 worth or more of our goods, if prepaid, to any Express station on the Mobile or Jackson Railroad Free of Freight. Parties ordering less than $5 worth must send 25 cents extra for expressage. Packages of 1 lb. or less can be sent by mail for 1 cent per ounce. Remittances should be made payable to J. J. MARTIN, Great Tea Depot, 5 Camp street, New Orleans.

PHILIP WERLEIN.



This Cut Represents

MASON & HAMLIN'S

$490 ORGAN,

REDUCED TO $135.

on easiest payments—$135 cash, and $5 in 6, 9, 12, 15, 18, 21, 24 and 27 months. Freight from Boston to be added.

$90 Organ Reduced to $72.

$2 QUARTERLY.

Very highly improved Pianos of J. P. Hale & Co., with stool and cover, the style reduced to $250 on easiest payments known—$25 cash, and $10 a month until paid.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 CANAL STREET,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

CHICKERING & SONS' PIANOS,

MATHUSHEK PIANOS,

HALE'S PIANOS,

HARDMAN'S PIANOS,

ORGANS.

MASON & HAMLIN'S,

ESTEY & CO.,

NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO.'S

Liberal discount for cash.

Persons at a distance may order with the assurance of receiving just as good instruments as though present to select for themselves. If not found satisfactory they may be returned at my expense.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal street, New Orleans.

H. W. JOHNS' PATENT

ASBESTOS

MATERIALS.

LIQUID PAINTS.

THE finest and most durable paints in the world for structural purposes. Send for samples and references.

ASBESTOS ROOFING.

With white fire-proof coating, for steep or flat roofs. The only reliable substitute for tin.

Boiler Coverings, Sheathing, Paper, Roofing, Felts, Roof Paint, Fire-Proof Paints, Coatings, Cements, etc.

All these materials are prepared ready for use, and can be easily applied by any one. We guarantee the quality of our goods to be second to none in the world. From forty years' experience of customers we have proved their worth.

Samples, illustrated pamphlets, price lists, etc., sent free. Liberal inducements to dealers and large consumers. Send for samples and reduced price list.

From the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion.

JACKSON, Mississippi, ——

Mr. C. H. Manship, of Jackson, one of the best painters in the State, and a gentleman of great intelligence and worth, says in reference to these Paints:

"I have tested them fully, and am prepared to say that the Paints which are of all colors and shades, are put only the cheapest, but the best I have used in my experience—such painted for the past nine years, and the certificates in my possession to the same effect would fill a book on the subject. C. H. MANSHIP."

CALEB A. PARKER & CO.,

GENERAL AGENTS FOR ALABAMA, GEORGIA, TENNESSEE, LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND TEXAS,

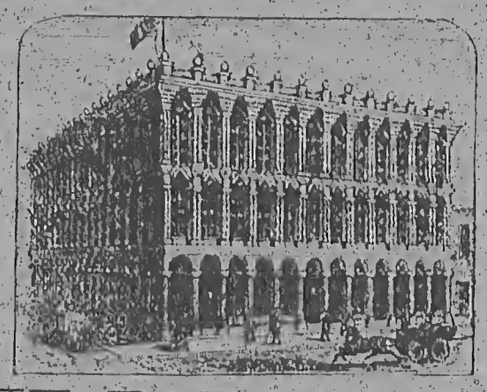
NO. 10 UNION ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY,

FURNITURE EMPORIUM,

Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.

FEATHERS.



SPRING, HAIR AND MOSS MATTRESSES.

FINE PARLOR SUITS,

IN SILK, SATIN, TOPOLINE REPS AND HAIR CLOTHS

FINE BED-ROOM SUITS! IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and dressing Cases

Fine Dining Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.

DR. PRICE'S

Cream Baking Powder

Special Flavoring Extracts

Eminent Chemists and Physicians certify that these goods are free from adulteration, richer, more effective, produce better results, than any others, and that they use them in their own families.

DR. PRICE'S Unique Perfumes are the Finest of all Odors. Toothono, an exquisite Liquid Dentrifice.

USE STEELE & PRICE'S LUPULIN YEAST GEMS.

STEELE & PRICE, Mfrs., Chicago, St. Louis & Cincinnati

The above goods are sold by Messrs. Nash, Lewis & Co., John I. Adams & Co., Hartwell & Chambers, and Burke & Thompson, New Orleans. 9t REVOLVER FREE Seven Shot Revolver with box cartridges. Add's J. Brown & Son, 136 & 138 Wood st, Pittsburgh, Pa.

GOLD! Any worker can make $12 a day at home. Costly outfit free. Address Tuue & Co., Augusta, Maine.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples worth $5, free. Address STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

STAMPING PATTERNS.—Stamped Samples of 30 Designs for 25c. The first number just out. A. BERNARD, 401 Canal St., N. Y.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

BIG GIANT CORN MILL.

Every Mill Has Our Name.

Ground, Milled with or without Shelling, also new and improved Cob Crushing Corn and Feed Cutting Mill with Grinding Corn and Cob Feed Attachment, all with Grinding Corn and Cob Feed Attachment, all with Grinding Corn and Cob Feed Attachment, all

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the recognized Standard Family Medicine in the UNITED STATES. Scarcely a family can be found from MAINE to MEXICO that does not use them.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits.

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that arise from MALARIAL POISON and a DERANGED LIVER such as Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Torpid Liver, Chills, Sick Headache, Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Nervousness, Dizziness, Pain in the Side, Heart, Kidneys, Rheumatism, Kidney Diseases, Chronic Constipation, Piles, etc.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a

Dull pain in Shoulder, Coated Tongue, Costive Bowels, Weight in the Stomach after Eating, Sour Eructations, Aversion to Exertion of Body or Mind.

BE ADVISED, AND AT ONCE

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

The first dose produces an effect which often astonishes the sufferer, and in a short time follows an Appetite, Good Digestion.

SOLID FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE.

A sufferer says they are the

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

DR. TUTT: I have used your Pills for Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never had anything to do me so much good in the way of medicine. They are as good as you represent them. They are the best Pill in Existence, and I do all I can in recommending brothers with their good merits. J. W. THIELETTS, Dacota, Minn.

Sold by Druggists Office, 35 Murray Street, New York. 6mmp

ELASTIC JOINT

IRON ROOFING.

FIRE, WATER AND WIND PROOF.

Durable, Cheap, easily applied by any one. Provides for expansion and contraction.

In practical use sixteen years.

Boxed for shipment to any part of the country.

Address for Circular, CALDWELL & CO., Cincinnati, O.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS

received the Highest Medal at the recent

PARIS EXPOSITION,

over all American competitors. Their FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET clasps the Bust, fits with perfect ease, and is warranted not to break down over the hips. Their HEALTH CORSET, while its improved Bust, is now a greater favorite than ever. Their NURSING CORSET is the delight of every mother.

For sale by all leading merchants.

WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N.Y.

Incomparably the Best and Cheapest Windmill. Protected by two patents. Twenty-Eight First Premiums. Light, but strong and durable. Has more wind surface, runs in lighter winds, is more automatic, and pumps more water than any other windmill ever before made. Requires no attention, no commutator, no tangling rope, etc. It has successfully withstood the tornadoes of the West, while other mills that stood near them have been destroyed. It is rapidly superseding others. Send for certificates and testimonials in our illustrated Catalogue.

Kewanee Mapl'g Co. Patentees;

Office 355 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

N. B.—Responsible State and County Agents wanted in all parts of the World.

DRY IN ROGERS' POWDER

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA

An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

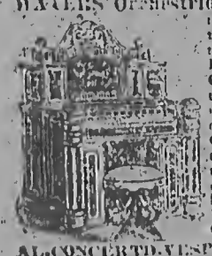
This well Known preparation is highly recommended for DYSPEPSIA, HEADACHE, Sickness of the Stomach, Heartburn, and all complaints arising from Acidity, Bilious and Malarial Fevers. It cools the blood, and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite medicine for children, and is mildly and sweet just enough to cooling and refreshing. Put up in 6 ounce bottles. Prepared by

A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists, N. Y.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

For sale by all New Orleans druggists. sp

WATERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGA



is the most beautiful in style and perfect in tone ever made. It has the celebrated Concerto stop, which is a fine imitation of the Human Voice, and two and a half Octaves of bells tuned to perfect harmony with the reeds, & their effect is magical & electrifying. WATERS' CLARIONA, ORCHESTRONA, CONCERTO-VESPER, CENTENNIAL CHIMES, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORGANS, in Unique French Cases are in every respect FIRST CLASS.

WATERS' PIANOS, GRAND SQUARE, and UPRIGHT, ARE THE BEST MADE in Tone, Touch, Workmanship, & Durability Unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Installments received. A Liberal Discount to Teachers, Ministers, Churches, Schools, etc. AGENTS WANTED. Special inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments at Great Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK, Box, 3567.

J. S. RIVERS,

STATIONER,

Steam Power Printer,

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER,

LITHOGRAPHER AND ENGRAVER,

74 CAMP STREET,

6p NEW ORLEANS.

Meneely & Kimberly,

BELL FOUNDERS, TROY, N. Y.,

Manufacture a superior quality of Bells. Special attention given to CHURCH BELLS. Illustrated catalogue sent free.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, chap, blister, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box; sold by druggists, and at depot, 617 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

MEDICAL.

The Most Refreshing Toilet Article.

CASSEBEER'S

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

(EAU DE QUININE)

WILL preserve, cultivate beautify, arrest the fall of, and confer a silken softness to the Hair, and will not soil the most delicate fabric. Price $1.

Cassebeer's Ammonia Lozenges.

For mitigating coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, dry throat, etc., and facilitating expectoration. Price 25 cents, sent by mail.

Both excellent preparations are for sale by all druggists, and by the proprietor, H. A. CASSEBEER, Apothecary, 57 Fourth avenue and 357 Sixth avenue, New York.

Jenkins' ANNIHILATOR

The Great Southern Remedy for

RHEUMATISM GOUT and NEURALGIA

IS PURELY VEGETABLE, and can be taken without fear of any injurious result by the delicate as well as the robust in constitution. It purifies the Blood, stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and eradicates every vestige of the above diseases. Price $1, sold by all druggists. Pamphlets, containing testimonials and valuable advice, sent free to any address.

N. JENKINS & CO., Proprietors, New Orleans, La.

FINLAY & THOMPSON, Wholesale Druggists, General Agents, New Orleans, La.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by a true process of re-vitalization.

REMARKABLE CURES have been made in Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Headache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and the large class of ailments which come from nervous depression.

LOSS OF VITALITY, feebleness of constitution, exposure to miasma, the enervating effects of climate, and especially

IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES the depression which attends convalescence, and which dooms so many to permanent invalidism.

STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. JUDGE KELLEY, T. S. ARTHUR, Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Ex-Gov. BOREMAN of West Virginia, and others who have used the New Treatment.

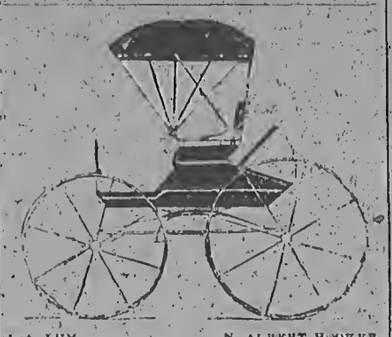
FREE! A Treatise (200 pages) on COMPOUND OXYGEN, with many testimonials to most remarkable cures, sent free. Address

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard St., Philada.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 906 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to DR. J. H. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKellops and Eames, leading dentists of St. Louis; James Lupe; M. A. Wolff; Frank Shapleigh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. B. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Sheckle, Agt. N. W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Bentley, Agt. Ill. C. R. R.; Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; L. Billon, Wiggins Ferry Co.; Capt. Jerry Wood, steamer Minneapolis, and others.

MISCELLANEOUS.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

162 Gravier and 18 Union Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS

IN

CARRIAGE, WAGON

AND

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

And Manufacturers of

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,

All at Reasonable Prices.

68 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.,

Between Common and Gravier,

NEW ORLEANS.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER TRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

LADIES', GENT'S, MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.

MY MOTTO—"Quick Sales and Small Profits."

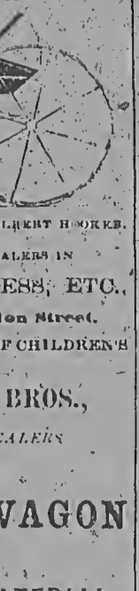
Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.

A BEAUTIFUL USEFUL and EASY-SELLING ARTICLE



Wanted by every FARMER, HUNTER, TRAPPER, FISHERMAN, SPORTSMAN, and EVERY FAMILY.

The most perfect scale ever invented. Is graduated from 2oz. to 15 lbs., is about the size of a man's forefinger, weighs only 2 oz., and can be carried in the pocket without inconvenience. Thus being always ready to meet an ever recurring and universal want. The novelty, beauty and usefulness of the article is sure to sell it. By an ingenious contrivance this little wonder is so arranged that by holding slightly may be so adjusted as to give the exact weight of matter weighed, without subtracting the weight of the receptacle in which the matter is weighed—an advantage possessed by no other scale. It is new like, and sure to sell. Each scale is heavily nickle plated, and will be sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents.

GEORGE BETTS,

576 Broadway, New York,

Sole proprietor and manufacturer.

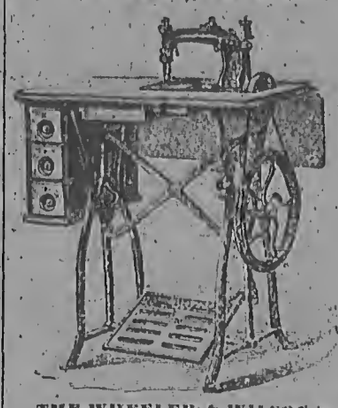
AGENTS WANTED.

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS, Lapelle's Indian Turnip Pectoral Balm is the only remedy combining efficiency of action with a most palatable savor. Give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 21 and 23 Elysian Fields street. Manilla depot—DuBose & Co., 26 Water St., St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 709 N. Main St. 6p

SEWING MACHINES.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to				$60.
"	90	"	"	50.
"	85	"	"	45.
"	80	"	"	42.
"	75	"	"	35.
"	70	"	"	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,000,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self-setting needle.
It never cuts the thread or goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no noisy cog wheels.
It has no complicated Angle to thread.
It allows the work to run back from the operator.

Send for our New Cash Price List.

CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM:

103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

THE NEW ENGLAND CABINET ORGAN.

CONTAIN all modern improvements, and are furnished in a variety of styles and musical combinations, adapted to Church and Home use. Every Instrument fully warranted. Illustrated catalogues sent free upon application to the NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO., 1298 Washington St., Boston, Mass. PHILIP WERLEIN, Sole Agent, New Orleans, La. 10ow

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIS.—FOURTH ROUND.

Louisiana Avenue	Oct. 15
Algiers	20
Felicity Street	27
Baton Rouge	Nov. 14
Morgan Street	17
Plaquemine and Grosse Tete at Livonia	21
St. Charles Avenue	Dec. 1
Carondelet Street	29
Lafourche at Hopkins

15 LEIN PARKER, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Bethel, at Mount Carmel	Nov 2,
Bay of Stars, at Bay of Stars	16, 17
Woodville (Quarterly and District Conference)	23, 24, 25
Wilkins, at Pinckney	30
Clinton	30, Dec. 1
Magnolia, at Magnolia	Dec 7 8
St. Helena, at Greensburg	14

Note.—The District Conference will be held in Woodville, November 22, 23 and 24.

Brethren, please attend at your own. The Conference we think, can assign the Wednesday or Thursday as a standing day, the time and place indicated.

12 JAMES A. GRIFFITH, P. E.

JACKSON DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Spring Ridge and Forest Hill	Sept. 14, 15
Oak Hill	21, 22
Raymond	28, 29
Madison circuit	Oct. 5, 6
Sharon circuit	1, 13
Camden circuit	19, 20
Brownsville circuit	26, 27
Jackson circuit	Nov. 2, 3
Yazoo circuit	9, 10
Trappell circuit	16, 17
Silver Creek circuit	23, 24
Yazoo City station	30, Dec. 1
Canton station	Dec. 7, 8
Jackson station	14, 15

29 F. McFERRIN, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Port Gibson	Sept. 14, 15
Fayette, at Ebenezer	21, 22
Kingston	28, 29
Natchez	Oct. 5, 6
Rocky Springs, at Corner Grove	12, 13
Cayuga, at Beaver Chapel	19, 20
Warren, at Greenland	26, 27
Union, at Fletcher's chapel	Nov. 2, 3
Mount Olivet, at Mount Olivet	9, 10
Rolling Fork	16, 17
Clover Hill and Chomah	23, 24
Vicksburg	30, Dec. 1

29 W. L. C. RUSSELL, P. E.

MERIDIAN DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Meridian	Aug. 31, Sept. 1
Shubuta, at Quitman	Sept. 14, 15
Enterprise	21, 22
Wayne, at Unbet (camp meeting)	28, 29
Pambling, at (camp meeting)	Oct. 5, 6
McKalb, at New Hope (Camp meeting)	12 14
Philadelphia, at Hester's	19, 20
Waynesboro, at Wayne boro	26, 27
Lauderdale mission, at Spring Hill	Nov. 2, 3
Marion, at Marion	9, 10
Meridian, at South chapel	16, 17
Collinsville mission, at Heiron	23, 24
Enterprise circuit, at Chunky	30, Dec. 1
Spring Hill	Dec. 7, 8

29 JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Franklin Street	Oct. 5, 6
Tuskmanville	6, 7
Citronelle, at George's	12, 13
Stockton	19, 20
Pollard, Powerton and B. Water, at Coon Hill	26, 27
Okrupps, at Bethel	Nov. 2,
Bladon	2, 3
St. Stephen's, at New Hope	9, 10
Pensacola	16, 17
Warrington	17, 18
Milton and Yellow River	23, 24
Grand Bay, at St. Elmo	Dec. 1,
St. Francis Street	7, 8

Local preachers and trustees will please have their reports ready. Stewards, make carriest; bursal efforts to settle in full with your pastors.

8, R. COX, P. E.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTURERS' WAREROOMS,

No. 91 John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

185 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BUENA SALUD.

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia & all Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Coca leaf of Bolivia, Peru, and is recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of this leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peru and Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

QUICA COCA CO.,

No. 22 William St., New York.

sp

PERFORATED

VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,

For Offices, Churches, Halls and Lodges, are coming into general use on account of their Comfort, Durability, Cleanliness, and Ornament.

No. 115.

Churches intending to buy Chairs or Settees will do well to correspond with

CARDNER & CO.,

Patentees and Manufacturers,

370 PEARL ST., NEW YORK.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERYBODY ANSWERS: YES!

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY in the only reliable remedy. Simply wheat in the world, gratefully rendered powerfully poisonous to vermin, and is really Nature's remedy for the complete and thorough extermination of rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficiency. It will at once relieve you from these noxious and destructive pests. Price, only 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States at

M. T. CREAMER & SONS,

Manufacturing Chemists,

61 Champtiantines street.

Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S, Magazine street. sp

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best modern Improved Yoke, Chime Arc, Schools, Farm, Factory, Court House Bells, etc. Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue and Price List sent free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 & 104 E. Second St., Cincinnati.

20 Chromo Cards (Perfect beauties) with name, 10c. Outfit 10c. Tilton Card Co., Ashland, Mass.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

LONDON MANF'G CO.'S

ESSENCES OF MEATS,

For Invalids, Infants and Travelers,

ESSENCE OF BEEF, MUTTON, CHICKEN.

Entirely Takes the Place of Beef Tea,

UNEQUALED in Children's Complaints.
FOR INVALIDS—Natural, Pleasant, Refreshing.
FOR DISPEPTICS—Readily Assimilated.
IN CASES OF SEA SICKNESS—Afford Immediate Nourishment.
AFTER CHILD-BIRTH—Most Stimulant; Concentrated Form.

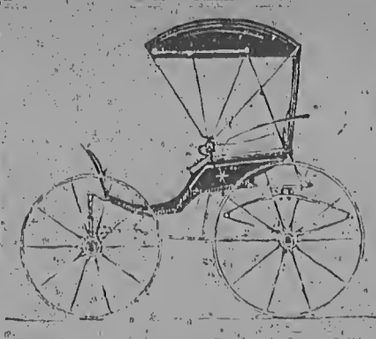
Particularly adapted for YELLOW FEVER convalescents.

Taken cold direct from the can needing no preparation whatever.

Prepared only by the LONDON MANUFACTURING CO.,

77 & 79 VARICK STREET, NEW YORK.

For Sale by I. L. LYONS, New Orleans, La.



ANDERSON, HARRIS & CO.,

Wholesale Manufacturers of

Buggies, Phætons,

CARRIAGES AND VEHICLES

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

OFFICE AND FACTORY:

N. E. Cor. Baymiller and Liberty Sts.

CINCINNATI.

Fifth Street (Green) Cars pass the door.

FITS OR EPILEPSY.

To the Editor of the Advocate:

DEAR SIR—Will you please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the cure of the above disease, and that by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing, and will give

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

for a case it will not cure or greatly benefit. Indeed, so strong is my faith, I will send

ONE BOTTLE FREE,

together with a valuable treatise, to any sufferers addressing me, giving their name, express and P. O. address. Please show this letter to any one you may know who is suffering with this terrible disease and oblige. Respectfully yours,

DR. H. C. ROOT, 183 Pearl Stree, N. Y.

Patented May 28th, 1878.

The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Man'f'g Co.

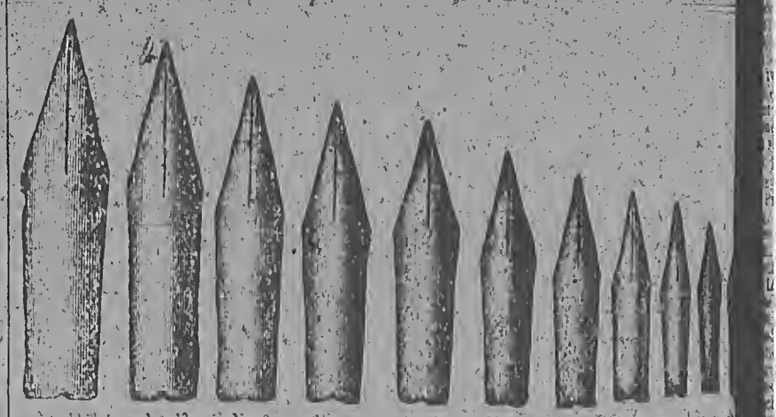
Every one who owns a cow should have one of our wonderful Milkers. A child can use them. Sent free to any part of the United States on receipt of $2. Send for our Illustrated Pamphlet on the Cow, containing the testimonials of practical farmers and dairymen throughout the United States, and sectional views of a cow's teats and bag dissected and scientifically explained, by Drs. White and Wilson of this city. Sent free to any address.

GEO. E. KING, President.

Office, 575 Broadway, New York.

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES ARE the only reliable imitation Gold Watches that can be sold for less than $40. Warranted to keep correct time for 5 years. Sent by express to any part of the country. Send for Watch Chart and Circular. Chains from $1 to $6. Jewelry of the same. COLLINS GOLD METAL WATCH CO., 320 Broadway, N. Y. P. O. Box 4586.



No. 15. No. 13. No. 9. No. 7. No. 6. No. 5. No. 4. No. 3.

Dealers supplied with Stub and Stylographic Pens and Gold Pens of every description. Send for our New Pen Holder Chart, containing a diagram of the Pen, Pen Holder, Ink Stand, etc., and price list, and get full particulars, discounts, etc. Address C. P. HARNEY & BRO., Gold Pen Makers, 324 Main Street, between Sixth and Seventh, Louisville, Ky.

GOLD PENS REPAIRED FOR FIFTY CTS

Twenty-Ninth Annual Statement

OF THE

CRESCENT MUTUAL

INSURANCE CO.

NEW ORLEANS, May 23, 1878.

ASSETS, April 30, 1878	$1,011,511 57
GROSS PROFITS for year ending April 30, 1878	184,010 61

The Board of Trustees this day resolved that, after paying the annual dividend of TEN PER CENT. on the capital stock of the company, a dividend of TWENTY PER CENT. in cash be paid on MONDAY, June 10, to those parties entitled to receive the same.

TRUSTEES.

Thos. A. Adams,	John E. King,
Samuel H. Newman,	Fred Camerlen,
Samuel H. Kennedy,	Joseph W. Stone,
John Phelps,	George Martin,
Adam Thompson,	Alfred Moulton,
Henry Abraham,	L. G. Janvy,
Victor Meyer,	Edward Nalle,
Joseph Bowling,	Hen. W. Sentell,
Edward J. Gay,	Paul E. Mortimer,
Simon Hernsteilp,	John V. Moore,
Simon Forstenheimer,	W. H. Granger,
Joseph H. Wells,	Henry M. Preston,
R. R. Post,	J. J. Irby,
Edward Pilsbury,	Reuben G. Rush,
	John M. Parker.

DR. S. C. GRAM,

MANUFACTURER OF THE

SURE CURE TRUSS,

N.W. cor. Fifth & Elm sts. Cincinnati, O.

THE BEST TRUSS IN THE WORLD!

Those who have suffered untold agony for years, by wearing the Metallic Spring Trusses will find by the Sure Cure Truss all that its name implies, a sure cure for all the ills attendant upon rupture. It is Rupture, no springs, strong elastic webbing, cushion pads that never blister, never slip. Can be worn at night.

Testimonials of cures can be seen at the office, No. 1 Fifth the Truss, the best manufactured, warranted, price $4 for single, $5 for double. Examinations free.

Trusses sent free by mail on receipt of order and money. Send stamp for circular.

DR. WILHOFT'S ANTI-PERIODIC or FEVER AND AGUE TONIC. Without a Tonic has established itself as the real infallible Chill cure. It is universally admitted to be the only reliable and harmless Chill medicine now in use. Its all-powerful to counteract the malignancy of repeated cases of the very best people from all parts of the country. It cures malarious diseases of every type, from the smoldering agues of the lakes and valleys to the raging fevers of the torrid zone. Try it! It has never been known to fail. WHEELOCK, FINLAY & CO., proprietors, New Orleans. For sale by all druggists.

O'CLANT, COMMISSION MERCHANT, and dealer in Western Produce. Solicits consignments of Cotton, Sugar, Raw Products, etc. 95 DECATUR ST. (Rear 2 Story) New Orleans. 12

Marder, Luse & Co.

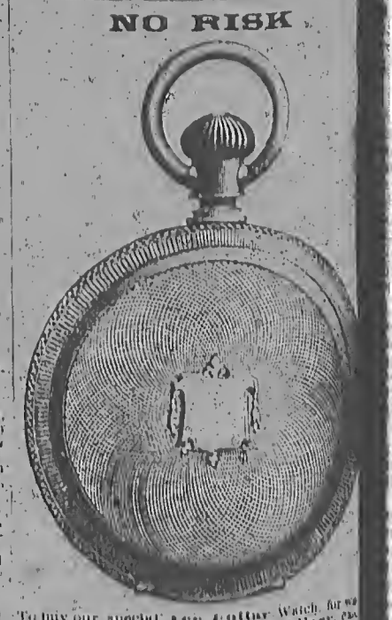
TYPE-FOUNDERS,

CHICAGO

Foundry in the most central and accessible location on application. Complete outfits.

sp

NO RISK



To any one ordering our special $20 Dollar Watch for examination we will send the Solid Coin Silver, exactly as represented in the cut, open face, stem wind and set, patent cap over movement (holds it perfectly dust proof), which we warrant to keep correct time and quality, that has never been offered for the price. Can represent the exact size of watch. Send your name and address plainly. We will send one of the above named watches C. O. D., upon receipt of money and express charges, fully warranted. WM. HENDRICH & SON, 110 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky.

Send Catalogue free on application. (Mention this paper.)

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1878. NO. 15.

OUR BELOVED.

Our beloved have departed,
While we tarry, broken-hearted,
In the dreary, empty house;
They have ended life's brief story,
They have entered the house of glory,
Over death victorious!

Hushthat sobbing, weep more lightly
Cares travel daily, nightly,
To the rest that they have found
Are we not upon the river,
Sailing fast to meet forever,
On more holy, happy ground?

O we haste, to home invited,
There with friends to be united
In a surer mind than here!
Meeting soon and met forever!
Glorious hope, forsake us never.
For thy glimmering light is dear.

Ah, the way is shining clearer
As we journey ever nearer
To the everlasting home;
Comrades who await our landing,
Friends, who around the Throne are standing,
We come on, and we come.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. The president has issued a proclamation appointing Thursday, the twenty-eighth of November, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer.

The following is written in the president's thanksgiving proclamation:

"The general prevalence of blessings of health throughout the wide land has made more conspicuous the suffrings and sorrows where the dark shadow of pestilence has fallen upon a portion of our people. This affliction, even the Divine Ruler has spared to the suffering communities in universal sympathy and succor which has flowed to their relief, and the whole nation may rejoice in the unity of spirit in which people by which they cheerfully share one another's burdens."

ATLANTA, Oct. 31. The Confederate monument of the Ladies' Memorial Association was unveiled to-day in the presence of a great concourse of people. Gov. Colquitt, A. H. Stephens, and other distinguished persons were present. The oration was delivered by Col. Chas. C. Jones. The military were headed by the thirteenth infantry band from Atlanta.

The monument is seventy-six feet high, of marble from Italy, and is said to be one of the largest in the country. The statue of a Confederate soldier at the top, and four statues of Lee, Jackson, Walker and Cobb, twenty-feet base. Several Confederate flags were displayed on the stand. In front of the monument the star spangled banner and the Confederate flag were blended and surrounded by an olive fringed streamer, the watchword "Peace."

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The final session of the Prophetic Conference was held this evening. The church was crowded. A series of resolutions were adopted expressive of the undying faith of the representatives of the churches present in the second coming of the Lord.

There was an immense audience to night at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, the occasion being the reception to Dean Stanley and the Bishops and clergy of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Bishop Harris presided, and an address, elegantly engrossed on parchment, which was subsequently presented to the Dean, was read by Rev. J. M. King.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2. The Methodist Episcopal Missionary Society to-day made the following appropriations for foreign missions: Germany, $8000, Norway $11,000, Sweden $9000, Northern India $60,000, South India $10,000, Bulgaria $5,000, Italy $22,000, Mexico $22,000, Japan, new schoolhouses, paying another missionary, $25,957.

MOBILE, Nov. 2. Quarantine restrictions removed against every place, including New Orleans.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 2. The Board of Health declares it safe for absentees to return, but recommends that houses be thoroughly aired before being entered. All quarantine restrictions removed.

CHATTANOOGA, Nov. 4. The Local Board of Health declares the fever epidemic at an end.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 4. A thanksgiving service was held at the Broad street Presbyterian church last night, at which contributions of money were made for the families of Presbyterian ministers who have died of yellow fever.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 4. The Board of Health reported four deaths from yellow fever during the past twenty-four hours ending at 6 o'clock to-night; undertakers report seven additional interments of persons who died beyond the corporation line.

VICKSBURG, Nov. 4. Three deaths in city, white and one colored; two white and one colored in country. One death at Delta. Trains on the Vicksburg and Meridian railroad to-day running regularly to Meridian this morning.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 4.—Nine cases since yesterday noon; two deaths last night. The health county quarantine was raised Saturday, and many of our refugee citizens returned to-day, but on learning the situation of affairs concluded to return to Raleigh and other Chickasaw counties until another frost. A case of fever is reported at Brookhaven and one death at Edward's, Hagris Freeze.

VICKSBURG, Nov. 5. Four deaths to-day, all in the country.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 5. The Board of Health to-day reported eight deaths from yellow fever during the past twenty-four hours ending at six o'clock to-night.

FOREIGN.

CITY OF MEXICO, via New Orleans, Oct. 31. The Minister of Public Works announces that the Government, at the suggestion of Mexico, is about to nominate a commission to organize a special exposition, to take place at a convenient early date, for the nations exclusively of American and Mexican productions, the same to be held in this city under the auspices of the Government.

LONDON, Nov. 2. The Observer's dispatch from Paris says James G. Bennett left Paris yesterday night for St. Petersburg en route for Jamaica, taking with him Jean Wolsakyn, formerly with the Herald correspondent in the field of war.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 3. The Golos says Russia far wishes peace, but the present aspect of affairs is very alarming. The Golos similarly points to the fact that the entire Turkish fleet has been returned from Odessa and Sebastopole, and asks why the removal of army transporting are not true. They cannot be contradicted. An advance on Constantinople would be a hostile challenge on the part of Russia.

ROME, Nov. 1. The American Baptists have erected a new church here to-day, near the Quirinal.

VIENNA, Nov. 5. The negotiations between Austria and Russia have been suspended, the attitude of Russia affords no hope of a satisfactory result.

Letter from England.

The Weekly Review of London, the organ of English Presbyterianism, has a very appreciative leading article on the late Wesleyan Conference. Referring to the admission of laymen, the article contains this criticism:

The rules for electing these representative laymen appear to be somewhat complicated; but Wesleyanism is now a very highly organized structure, and its legislation often appears to be uncommonly complex.

And it closes thus:

The Wesleyans are peculiarly tenacious of their distinctive principles, yet no body of Christians is more truly catholic in spirit, or is more ready to fraternize with all evangelical churches in good words and works. They are consequently held in high esteem among other denominations, excepting, of course, some of the discordant denominations that compose at present the Church of England. The people that were once everywhere spoken against are now held in peculiar honor among the truly Protestant Churches of Christ. Their earnest, sustained and successful evangelistic labors in England and over the whole world have gained for them a name which no true Protestant will ever despise. Indeed, some old fashioned Wesleyans declare that their body is in danger of being too well spoken of, and that it might be a little better for it if it received from the world some of the treatment it met with in Wesley's days. Whatever may be thought of them it is for the Wesleyans to make a proper use of their excellent name, which has been won by unwearied Christian labor.

Prof. Fairbairn, D. D. as the spokesman of the Nonconformist deputation which the Wesleyan Conference welcomed at its recent meetings in Bradford, said in his admiable address:

"It is possible that the indirect work of Methodism is greater than its direct work." Ten thousand-fold greater. Under God nearly all the spiritual life and real Christian activity of the age in the various branches of the catholic churches are traceable indirectly to Methodism.

Doctrinal unrest, has reached and influenced the Wesleyan Church. So far the Methodist Church throughout the world has been a unit in doctrine, but it would seem that it is not destined to escape perturbation upon questions which are agitating other Christian communities at the present time. The Fernley-lecturer this year was the Rev. I. W. Oliver, and his subject was endless punishment. The usual vote of thanks was not given to him by the Conference, and the lecture is to be published at his own expense. Wherefore? Because his views do not quadrate with the standards. He has not defected so fundamentally as to call for the application of discipline, but would not be surprised if the publication of the lecture, and the controversy which it is sure to provoke, would culminate in Mr. Oliver's retirement from his position in the Wesleyan Church. The Conference will not relax: it will not grant sufficient margin. This is mere personal conjecture, and no one would be more rejoiced than the writer if it should prove incorrect.

But the Rev. Wm. Impey, the General Superintendent of Wesleyan Missions in south-eastern Africa, and who has a conspicuous record of faithful, consecrated missionary service covering a period of almost forty years, has just been compelled to resign his position in the Wesleyan body because he cannot conscientiously teach that "Hell is a dark and bottomless pit, full of fire and brimstone, in which the wicked will be punished for ever and ever by having their bodies tormented by the fire and their souls by a sense of the wrath of God." He was summoned to London last year by the Missionary Secretaries for examination in Conference, and after being examined he was requested to resign. He will join the ministry of the Church of England. His son will follow him in the course which he has pursued.

Mr. Impey is the son-in-law of the late Rev. Wm. Shaw, whose ministerial life, except a few years at its close, was spent on the African Mission field. He was a noble and illustrious man, and was held in such high esteem by his brethren that he was elected President of the English Wesleyan Conference in 1865, and seven years later he was called home to heaven.

A son of Mr. Shaw is a clergyman of the Church of England, and if not a Ritualist he is High Church. Mr. Shaw was one of many ex-Presidents of the Wesleyan Conference whose sons took orders in the Anglican Church. The massive-minded and philosophical James Dixon has a son in the ministry of the Establishment; and he wrote his father's life. So has John Hannah, so has John Bowers; so has Thomas Jackson, and so have others. Many living Wesleyan ministers have also sons in the ministry of the same church. Dr. Rule, a distinguished Wesleyan divine and author, has a son a priest in the Church of Rome. Strange to say all the writings of the Doctor were pointing out the errors of that church to which his son has gone. I saw it somewhere stated that Dr. Pope, who was President of the Conference last year, has a brother in the Romish priesthood. Dr. Osborn, during the last Conference, stated that Wesleyanism should adopt the rite of confirmation as practiced by the Church of England.

Turning from the Establishment to Dissent, it will be seen that Methodism has given to the Nonconformist churches their ablest ministers. Wm. Landels, one of the most prominent Baptist ministers of London was originally a Primitive Methodist, So was the late Jabez Burns, D. D., the distinguished temperance advocate. Scores of the Independent ministers of England were originally Methodists. Even the Irish Presbyterian Church, the most thoroughly calvanistic of all the branches of Presbyterianism, is indebted to Methodism for one of its ablest ministers. Thus, indirectly does Methodism contribute to the good of other churches.

As soon as Dr. Rigg had been elected President and delivered his inaugural address, thanks to Dr. Pope were proposed, "for his able and dignified discharge of the duties of his office, both during the sessions of the last Conferences and throughout the year." This was proposed by Dr. Pope's predecessor in office, Mr. McAulay, and seconded by the Rev. John Hartley.

Dr. Pope moved a resolution of thanks to Dr. Williams, the ex-Secretary, ex because unable to attend, and in the address which he gave while doing so, very admirably and accurately describes the Doctor's many-sided character. "The services of Dr. Williams have been very much more than valuable to me. They were to me sometimes invaluable. His faultless accuracy, his readiness at all times to meet every emergency, extracted me out of every difficulty. I have honored Dr. Williams all my life. I have thought him to be one of the very best theologians we have—not of the new school, not of the German school—but still as a Methodist theologian; I have always regarded him as the most reliable and the best; I have honored him very much; I have honored the ever-ready facility with which he would enter into theological discussion, the only man who was ready after dinner or before dinner, in public or in private controversy or dogmatics, systematic theology or its ethics, things above, things below, Old Testament, or New, on all sides of the controversy, on every topic of theology always ready; I always admired him for that." Dr. Williams has written some works of standard merit.

The venerable Dr. George Osborn proposed a vote of thanks to the ex-President (Dr. Pope) for his ordination charge. In doing so Dr. Osborn said:

The line of thought taken was, he believed he might say, thought regarded with reference to such occasions. As might be expected from the natural line of thought taken, one was compelled to ask, why and he did not think they need long to wait for an answer. So far as the young men were concerned, if they followed the line of thought in their lives, a great service would be rendered to the future of religion in the connection. It was bringing to view one side of Methodistic theology and wisdom, which modern tendencies would cast into the shade, and by obscuring which and still more by casting them into the shade, these modern tendencies would proportionately damage, both intellectually and religiously, the strength of the Methodist Connection. The very spirit of John Wesley breathed through that charge—hear, hear—the style of piety it was the object of that discourse to recommend was in his judgment never more needed than to-day. They had been told the "stream became shallower as it became broader." However broad the stream might become, if their brethren followed that advice, and imbibed the spirit of that production, the stream would not become shallower, however broad it may become, and however long it may run.

It was a very able and valuable discourse. It is to be published with all Dr. Pope's sermons and addresses which he delivered during his year of office.

Wesleyan Methodism was never richer in great, cultured and consecrated men than to-day, and her ministers are taking their place amongst the Christian scholars of the age.

OBSERVER.

September 29, 1878.

We learn, says the Nashville Christian Advocate of November 2, that the Rev. and Hon. Parnelias T. Scruggs, of Memphis, Tenn. fallen a victim to the yellow fever. He was a talented minister of the Memphis Conference, and was recently elected Judge of the Criminal Court of Memphis. We mourn his loss.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as 'mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

BRO. BOLIN G. SIRMON closed his earthly pilgrimage on the fifteenth day of August, 1878. He was born and raised in Conecuh county, Alabama, and was twenty-four years, six months, and three days old. Brother Sirmon was a quiet, peaceable citizen; a man that gave close attention to his own business and was ever ready to assist others when called upon. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and ever true and loyal, keeping his vows inviolate; he enjoyed heart-felt religion, and constantly exhibited a spirit of gentleness and love that testified of his knowledge of Christ. He was dutiful and obedient to his parents during his minority, and kind and affectionate to his wife and children as husband and father.

ROBERT SMILEY, P. C.

Whereas, God, in His Providence, has removed from our midst, by death, Sisters Frances Rachel and Clarisa Grace Christian, members of this Sabbath-school; therefore Resolved 1. That we bow with humble submission to this stroke of Divine Providence, well assured that God is too wise to err, and too good to do wrong.

Resolved 2. That in the death of these two friends and sisters this school has lost two of its most valuable members.

Resolved 3. That while we strike their names from our roll, we will ever cherish their memories and imitate their example, until we, like them, shall be called by the Master to meet them on high, where no more beyond the sun-set, to live with God, and angels, and the good; where death hath no power.

Resolved 4. That we tender to the bereaved relatives our deep-felt sympathies, and will unite our prayers to fervidly God that He would, according to the riches of His glory, sanctify this affliction to their eternal good.

Adopted by Pineville Sunday-school, Sunday, July 28, 1878.

W. M. HENDRICKSON, Secretary.

MISS JENNIE ELLETT MASON died of yellow fever in Port Gibson, Miss., on the morning of the third of September, 1878. She was the daughter of Maj. J. S. Mason, editor of the Port Gibson Reveille. She had just reached the eighteenth year of her age, and this closed so early and, in these times of trouble and desolation, a life which promised to be long and happy.

She had many qualities which caused her to be admired and beloved by all. She was attractive in person and intelligent, kind and cheerful in disposition, so that no one had a wider circle of friends. But it was in the sacred precincts of home that the virtues of her character shone most beautifully. With all tender devotion and affection she strove to minister to the comfort of father, and brothers, and sister, to make them happy when well, and to cheer and relieve them when sick. In sickness, the touch of her gentle hand on the brow of the sufferer was a blessing.

She had been brought up in the Sabbath-school, and carefully trained in religious things at home. When she came to die, in faith she committed herself to God. She had a joyful hope of another life; her last words were prayer, expressions of trust in Christ, and of an expectation of meeting in heaven her mother, who had gone there when she was a little child.

E. H. MOUNCE.

Louisville, Ky., and Wilmington, Del., papers please copy.

At a meeting of Tobitha Chapel Sunday-school, the following was adopted:

Whereas, The Lord, in His Providence, has seen fit to remove from our midst one of our members, Henry P. Reeves, thereby weakening the chain that bound us together in a work worthy of all good men, and depriving us of his counsel, which we always had when it was convenient for him to attend the school,

We will revere his memory, imitate his virtues, and throw a veil over his foibles.

Although he was comparatively young he had read his bible through. He was a kind husband, and dutiful son; loving and kind to wife, mother, brothers and sisters. In a word, Henry was kind to all.

In his last illness his sufferings must have been great, yet he complained not, but bore all with Christian fortitude. And when near death's portals he laid his hand on his youngest brother and asked him to go with him, minding, doubtless, to the better world.

Our sympathies we extend to the wife, mother, brothers and sisters of our deceased member and brother.

JOHN MCK. WRIGHT,
For Committee.

MISS LELIE E. NEWMAN, daughter of Rufus M. Newman and Lucinda Keller, died in the Parish of Iberville, La. September 30, 1878; aged fifteen years, ten months and twenty-three days.

E. W. H.

Use his gold work of grandeur, that some day some day the King,
To his old royal palace his banished home will bring,
We soon and we hearts running o'er, we shall see
The King in his beauty, no our idle country.

BUSINESS CARDS.

O. G. DORION.

GORDIN & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS
AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.
Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed..... $1 00
Home-Made Shoes, screwed...$2 to $3 50
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent.'s, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

W. W. CARRE,
HORACE U. BEACH, Manager,
LUMBER YARD,
110 DELORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Cabins and Dressed Lumber a specialty.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,
DEALERS IN
PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND
CANNEL COAL,
FOR FAMILY USE. Office—No. 24 Carondelet street. Landing—On Levee, foot of Esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to plantation orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.
CHAS. O. LANGENBECKER, M. D.,
Successor to H. Stumpf,
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.
Dealer in fine Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. B. HUSSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL,
Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,
NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans.
P. O. Lock Box 877.
Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

J. D. CRASSONS,
BOOT AND SHOE STORE,
NO. 20 FRENCHMEN ST., between Victory and Moreau, Third District, New Orleans.
A large assortment of Boots and Shoes always on hand, and made to order. Ladies', Children's and Gentlemen's Shoes manufactured to order.

ESTABLISHED 1849.
J. H. KELLER,
MANUFACTURER OF
Palm, Olive, German, Magnolia and Castile Soap.
Office—110 GRAVIER ST., New Orleans, La.
All kinds of Laundry and Toilet Soaps.

ESTABLISHED IN 1835.
LEEDS' FOUNDRY,
Cor. Delord and Eagle Sts.

T. W. ROTHICK,
UNDERTAKER
271 CAMP STREET NEW ORLEANS
Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY.
We are selling the WATCHES of the above Factory at the very lowest prices:
Silver Watches at $10 and upward.
Gold Watches at $25 and upward.
All fully guaranteed.
A. B. GRISWOLD & CO.,
Corner Canal and Royal Sts.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,
COLORED SATINS,
EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,
ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.
WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.
D. H. HOLMES,
135 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,
48 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Does business on strictly cash principles and at cheapest rates.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
55 ..... ST. CHARLES STREET 55
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN
OF ALL KINDS.
Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. J. R. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1599.

PIANOS.
PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the best and most satisfactory manner, at
Mr. Burchardt's Manufactory,
933 ..... MAGAZINE STREET 933
Between Jackson and Josephine Sts.

WHEELER & PIERSON (successors to Darcy & Wheeler and Pierson & Howe) NOS. 13 & 15 CAMPS., opposite the City Hall.
CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS
FOR MEN AND BOYS.
We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. Wholesale department up stairs.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.
CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.
MATTINGS—All rolls White, Check and Fancy.
WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.
FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.
RUBLAIN Table and Enamel OIL CLOTHS.
A. BROUSSEAU.

NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. Largest in the world. 17,000 students since 1867. 75 eminent professors. 115 lessons for $15. E. TOURJEE, Music Hall, Boston.

GOODWYN'S EFFERVESCENT POWDER, a preparation of this city, is both popular with the trade and the people, of all it is the most delicious beverages, and no wonder, for it is made after the very highest order of merit. Send for circular and prices.
P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer,
No. 29 Constance Street, New Orleans, La.

EDUCATIONAL.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.
"THE price and quality of board and tuition compares favorably with other colleges, while the peculiar constitution of the college and the influence of its surroundings render it, in my judgment the very best and safest place for boys and young men, at a certain stage of college which exists in the Methodist Church South."
Rev. F. M. Ware, A. M. of Alabama.
Address J. H. BRUNNER, D. D.
Hiwassee College Tenn

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. CHAS. E. KELLS & DR. M. VIET,
DENTISTS
12 ..... DAUPHINE STREET, ... 12
One door from Canal, New Orleans.
Dentistry in all its branches. Irregularities of the teeth corrected. Artificial Palates with the latest improvements. Teeth extracted without pain under the influence of Nitrous Oxide Gas. Established in 1850.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
230 Jackson St., Bet. Chartres and Columbus
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 319 CARONDELET STREET
Between Julia and St. Joseph
New Orleans, La.

C. L. HILLGER,
ARCHITECT
31 ..... CARONDELET ST 31
NEW ORLEANS, LA
All orders from the country will be satisfactorily attended to.

The Stewart Stove
WITH LATEST IMPROVEMENTS,
Is now the
LEADING STOVE OF THE AGE.
There can be no failure in the perfect operation. Will outlast and consume less fuel than any other Stove made.
Can be had for use of coal or wood.
Hot water attachments for bathing, etc., can be attached with but little extra cost.
Please to repair old Stewart stoves constantly on hand.
J. H. CAMPMAN,
135 Poydras Street.

ARMSTRONG, GATOR & CO.,
Importers and Dealers in Ribbons, Millinery, Straw Goods
WHITE GOODS,
Lace, Lace Embroidery, Handkerchiefs,
AND
LADIES' NECK WEAR
227 & 229 Baltimore Street, Baltimore

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
AND DEALER IN
COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,
Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Wash Stands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Air Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns.
116 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.
Repairing neatly done. Orders attended to.

WASHBURN'S
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART
GALLERY,
COR. CANAL ST. AND NORTH RAMPART
☞ The handsomest photographs in the South.
A PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in a manner unsurpassed by any other establishment in the country.
Copying and enlarging of old pictures a specialty. Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY.

REMOVAL!
ELKIN & CO.
HAVE REMOVED THEIR
Carpet and Oil-Cloth Warehouse
TO
100 ..... CANAL STREET 100
Between Camp and Carondelet Streets.
A full line of CARPETS, OIL CLOTHS, MATTINGS, WINDOW SHADES, at lowest prices.

THERMOMETERS.
R. & J. BECK,
Manufacturing Opticians,
924 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
Would call special attention to their unequaled stock of Meteorological Instruments, Spirit and Mercurial Thermometers, Barometers, Compasses, Field and Opera Glasses, Microscopes, Telescopes, Spectacles, etc., of the largest and most varied assortment in the United States.
GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.
Send three cents for our illustrated catalogue and price list.
Established in St. Louis in 1858.

R. L. ROSEBROUGH SONS,
Marble Works,
No. 1121 BROADWAY,
ST. LOUIS, MO.

H. HEATH, PIPPEY & CO.,
(SUCCESSORS TO HEATH & PIPPEY)
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Moldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.
☞ Frames made to order a specialty.
No. 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED PRICE LIST
BRINLY PLOWS
BEST & CHEAPEST IN USE
BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,
SOLE MANUFACTURERS
LOUISVILLE, KY.
SUITED TO EVERY KIND OF SOIL OR WORK.

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate

Will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Is It The Best Way?

Mr. Talmage, the notable sensational preacher of Brooklyn, recently made a personal inspection and exploration of the dancing, drinking and gambling houses of New York, and for the purpose of being the better able to expose and denounce these tents of wickedness from the pulpit. The reverend investigator was accompanied in his midnight excursion by two of his most stalwart deacons, and, we believe, also by a police escort. These precautions may have been sufficient to assure his bodily safety, and to guard against any suspicion of immoral conduct. What he saw and heard he has since described to crowded congregations in his tabernacle. As an expedient to draw it has proved a success, but will it also be a success in abating these vile haunts of dissipation, and in diminishing their patronage?

Preachers and others can get all the information they need, at second hand, through the papers and from the testimony of policemen, the records of the courts, and the related experience of reformed sinners. But pictures made up from these sources would have lacked the sensational element, there would have been no spice of naughtiness in them, and they would have had nothing of eccentricity about them. It was a rare treat to both saints and sinners to hear a parson tell what he had seen with his own eyes, and what he had heard with his own ears, in places where reputable men and women would be ashamed to be recognized.

If the preacher may go to see for himself why may not others go? If Mr. Talmage and his deacons can make the grand round of the slums and gin palaces and play-houses of New York by night, why may not his members and hearers—the young men especially—do the same thing? As the preacher was not satisfied to know of these places at second hands, is it reasonable that his hearers should be content with anything short of a personal inspection? The purpose, though possibly a good one, will not much lessen the force of the example. The desire that young men have to see the world for themselves will be increased and palliated by the course of a pulpit celebrity, who is more likely to be followed, in this respect, by many of his hearers, than in any other. Vice ought to be exposed, and all this vast machinery of dissipation and death ought to be shown up and denounced, but for this end a personal inspection was not necessary. Such an expedient is likely to lead to greater evils than any it will cure. If the preacher had gone to these dens of iniquity in company with his deacons to warn their inmates and to preach to them, there would have been more justification, but as it was merely for the purpose of seeing and noting things to be afterward exhibited in the tabernacle, the end may be fairly questioned.

On this whole subject of denouncing and portraying vice and worldly dissipation from the pulpit there may be very erroneous notions. Sin must be denounced, popular vices and public immoralities must be condemned. It is the minister's duty to warn, and to seek to save the lost. Wickedness in high places and in low should be branded, and the disguises of respectable villainy and corruption should be torn away. But after all the chief power to reform and save is in a positive gospel. Christ lifted up, is the supreme magnet that is to draw all men unto him. One ounce of close, spiritual, conscience preaching, in which the doom and the remedy of sinners is positively proclaimed is worth a ton of mere denunciation against specific forms of vice. When the heart and the character are reached and changed, the work of reformation is done effectually. That is the best and most effectual preaching which deals most in the positive side of the gospel. Mr. Wesley was a wise master builder, and, in his sermons to the cutaways and the most degraded, he nearly always dwelt upon the mercy and love of God and upon the doctrine of redemption and of salvation freely offered to them that believe. The gospel of conversion is the only means of overturning the strong holds of intemperance and lust. The tents of wickedness will never fall until the wicked are converted. The preacher who has never visited them does not strike amiss when he presses the truth of the gospel home upon the conscience, and insists that without holiness no man shall see the Lord. He may not know all about the scenes of the brothels, and the saloons, and the gambling houses, and the race course, but conscience, truth and the Holy Spirit will do their work, and perhaps all the more powerfully, because the messenger is known to be personally ignorant of them.

The true object of all endeavor is of course to suppress vice, and to save. The mere exposure and denunciation often accomplishes little or nothing. The guns seem to be heavily shotted and well trained upon the citadels of sin, but the walls do not come down, and beyond the applause of the hearer, not much comes of the assault. The foundations must be undermined by the power of truth and grace, and by the building up of character, and the awakening of conscience. Preachers should speak against social and prevalent sins, but they must not rely too much upon this method. Let them also go on in the old track—preaching Christ, and repentance, and faith, and holiness. The weapons of their warfare are not carnal, but mighty, through God to the pulling down of strongholds.

Bishop Wightman in the Stage.

From Ogden, Utah, to Helena, the seat of the Montana Conference, the distance is five hundred miles. There is a narrow-gauge railroad to Oneida, one hundred and twenty miles. The balance of the trip was made by stage. We give a part of the Bishop's letter to the Southern Christian Advocate. Whitehall is in sixty miles of Helena in Montana:

So I begin the first of my night rides. There is so much small baggage, valises and the like, at the bottom of the coach, that the feet cannot be stretched out. Most of the night is spent in talk. Tales of adventures with grizzlies, Indian fights, hair breadth escapes and the like—pass away the hours pleasantly. It is remarked as an exceptional case, that there is no bottle of whiskey aboard. One of the gentlemen had a cattle-ranch, miles off from the road, in Idaho, and had been a long time in the country. I was sorry that he and his friend left us the next morning early. The glory of our temperance, non-whiskey experience, departed with them. One of the vacant seats was filled by a man who had a small demijohn in hand, as he climed into the coach; and his first salutation was, "will you take a drink?" Everybody replied in the negative, and at the close of the next night he had "empiled the jog." That second night was somewhat colder than the first, still we were pretty comfortable. We had struck Snake river, one of the affluents of the Columbia, flowing west of course. Reaches of the river showed from the coach, giving life to the monotonous landscape of level plain stretching away to the horizon. We encountered clouds of dust, this day, driven ahead of the coach by a strong wind aft. The second night finds us gradually rising, but still it is not intensely cold. The next morning we breakfast at Pleasant Valley. We are now close to the "divide"—the Southern Montana line, across which we are on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains. I could hardly realize the fact. But the proof undeniable appears in the direction of the mountain streams which all run toward sunrise.

At this breakfast house, we see a considerable number of wagons—but horses and mules nowhere. The Indians had made a foray upon the stock just before we arrived, and had carried off sixty head. Among the sufferers was a brother Craven, transferred from the Denver to the Montana Conference. He had his wife and three children in a wagon, but his pair of horses were gone. How sorry I was for them! A company of men, armed and equipped, started in pursuit of the Indians just as we finished our breakfast. The red skins had burned on Thursday night the hay stacks of one of the stables of our stage line. This is the beginning of trouble to this road.

Pleasant Valley is some fifty miles from the west line of the Yellowstone National Park—an area of fifty-five by sixty-five miles in extent, covering the sources of the Madison, Gallatin, and Yellowstone rivers; the first two uniting with the Jefferson to form the Missouri river, which is pronounced here to be, counting the length of the Jefferson, 4,500 miles. In the Yellowstone Park—the crest of North America, flow out, southward, the headwaters of the Colorado, westward the Snake, which is the principal affluent of the Columbia, and the Madison and Gallatin, northward, into the Missouri; three of the grandest rivers in the world. How much one would like to visit this wonderful Park, which is not only the birth-place of these mighty waters which connect the Atlantic with the Pacific, but also holds the Yellowstone Lake, a beautiful sheet of water, 7,500 feet above the sea-level, rimmed round by peaks, snow-capped, the loftiest of the Rocky Mountains, and fed by torrents from the eternal snows of those peaks.

There, too, are the upper and lower basins of the Geysers. This is the grand Geyser realm of the world. (Parenthetically, Geyser is an Icelandic word, meaning, "shooting up.") These Geysers—my friend Stanley, who visited the Park in 1872 and who is sitting by me as I write, tells me—are numerous, but the most noticeable of them are about twenty. Of these the Giant Geyser throws the largest volume of hot water to a height, says of two hundred and fifty feet. This is in play, from an hour and a half to double that time, once in every twenty-six hours. The water is clear, and as it shoots upward spreads out, and is invested with a thin steam veil, thus delighting the wondering eye with the rush of the central ascending shaft and the descent of the falling mass of waters. Scores of thermal springs are formed particularly in the lower basin.

The day is done. Our road, after crossing the Divide, follows up the Red Rock creek some fifty miles, and then the Beaver Head river, to Lovell's, where in the night we change coaches. Now there is a keen north wind blowing, and it becomes very cold. By morning it is freezing. Buffalo overcoats come into play, and overshoes are comfortable. But we weather through the night, and stop at the breakfast house some forty miles below Whitehall. Here we leave some of our passengers, who take the road to Virginia City, forty miles a little south of east. It is seldom as cold at mid-winter in South Carolina, as I found it this morning. We dispatch our breakfast, and pay our dollar for it, and are off once more. Early in the afternoon we reach Whitehall and leave the coach.

The New Quarterly.

We are glad to learn from a recent communication from Dr. J. W. Hinton in the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, that the proposed new Quarterly Review is likely to be commenced at once. Our limited space prevents the insertion of Dr. Hinton's article. We summarize as follows. Dr. J. W. Hinton, of Macon, Ga., is managing editor, and all literary contributions, and letters relating to the same, must be sent to him. His residence and address are Macon, Ga. Nashville is the place of publication, and three dollars the subscription price, always in advance. Rev. R. A. Young, D. D., is the treasurer; his address is Nashville, and to him names and money of subscribers must be sent. Dr. Hinton says:

All literary contributions, and letters relating to the same, must be sent to me, the Managing Editor, at Macon, Ga. The literary work will be done in Macon, the mechanical at Nashville. This is an age of railroads and mails. No serious or insuperable hindrance will be found in the non-residence of the editor.

If possible, the first number, bearing date January, 1879, will be issued in December. Our prospects are sufficient to warrant this expectation. Considering the magnitude of this project, we will do well to appear so early.

What are our prospects? A question so often asked, demands a public reply. They are good as to financial support. This I feared as the chief difficulty; it is really the least. The Review is needed and demanded—subscribers are easily obtained. We do need more literary support, and for this there can be no apology, as mental resources are abundant. Many able pens are idle. We want to afford them employment.

All traveling preachers are requested to act as agents, and to begin at once. Dr. Hinton informs us that the financial basis is secure, and that there need be no apprehension on this score. The review is needed, and with right management it can be supported. Much depends upon the editor and managers in giving us a first-class Quarterly, and much, also, upon the preachers in canvassing for subscribers. This call for volunteer articles is something of a risk, but with a firm and discriminating hand at the helm, it may bring out talents that otherwise would be unemployed, whilst the literary standard is sustained. There should be no place in such a publication for feeble, crude and commonplace matter. A Quarterly to succeed must be made the repository of the thought and studies of the best and most cultured minds upon all living topics connected with theology, literature, science, and political economy. A good review is a most difficult achievement. We doubt not, the committee and editor have surveyed the entire ground, and that before beginning they have made sure of their resources, and of their ability to sustain the enterprise.

Southern Methodism ought to have a Quarterly Review, and it can have. We hope all will help in starting and in sustaining the enterprise. The whole church will be benefitted. The readers may be few comparatively—limited to the preachers and the more intelligent of the laity—but a periodical of the character contemplated will be a well-head of thought and information whose streams will ultimately reach and vivify all. It would be a misfortune as well as a shame, should we allow it to languish for lack of patronage. But it will not lack if the traveling preachers are hearty in urging its claims.

As the first volume, beginning with the January number, is certainly to be issued, subscribers run no risk in forwarding their subscriptions at once. The gentlemen composing the committee, including the managing editor, Dr Hinton, have been selected from different sections of the church. They are among our representative men, and are worthy of our confidence. Let us rally to their support and give them our earnest co-operation in this important undertaking.

From Jackson, Mississippi.

Rev. L. Parker, D. D.

Dear Brother.—The fever still prevails in our city, but the number of "new cases" decreased rapidly from forty-two to eight per day. There have been about 400 cases in all. Of these sixty-one have died, thirty-four whites and twenty-seven colored. Of the thirty-four whites seventeen were young men from eighteen to twenty-five years of age. Most of them were our trusted young men, who held good positions, and thought they could not afford to loose them. Alas for them and for us, the positions are lost and those who filled them have perished.

The abundant liberality of friends still supplies our wants, and I have no doubt will continue to do so as long as the plague prevails. We were fortunate in procuring a few good nurses in the outset. These have rendered us valuable service. Our experience satisfies us that the average professional nurse is a nuisance—drunken, thievish and stupid. Dr. Hunter of the Presbyterian Church, who, by the way, has never had the fever, and myself, have been able to keep up our regular service upon every Sabbath.

I see by the city papers that Bro. Foster, of Moreau Street, is added to the list of fallen heroes. The world has never witnessed so many deeds of courage, and self sacrifice for duty and humanity, in any of the years of its history. These outpourings of Christian liberality are twice blessed—to him that gives and to him that receives; better to him that gives, for divine authority has said: "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

If you will allow me a word for myself, I would say, I am weary, and long for rest from this anxious toil. If I live to see my people again safe in their homes, I think I shall ask permission to rest for a little season.

Your brother,
W. H. WATKINS.

Week of Prayer for Young Men.

The International Committee of American Young Men's Christian Associations, representing one thousand Associations with a membership of one hundred thousand, in accordance with the instructions of the Louisville Convention, have issued a call for the observance of the second Lord's day of November, and the week following as a season of thanksgiving and of special prayer for God's blessing upon young men and work in their behalf. The World's Convention of the Associations held at Geneva, Switzerland, August 13-18, 1878, at which eleven nations were represented, joined heartily in this appointment, so that in all parts of the world this season of prayer is being observed. The American Committee suggest the following topics for meetings each day of the week.

November 10, Sunday—Exhortation to Young Men. Titus II, 6-8.

November 11, Monday—Young Men, Their Power for Evil. I Kings XI, 26; XII, 26-30; XIII, 33, 34; Acts VII, 57-60; VIII, 1, 3.

November 12, Tuesday—Young Men, Their Power for Good. Prov. XX, 29; I John II, 13, 14; Eph. VI, 10, 11.

November 13, Wednesday—Something Stronger than the Strength of Youth. Micah VII, 5-8.

November 14, Thursday—How to reach Young Men. John I, 35-46.

November 15, Friday—Young Men, Their Special Temptations. Eccl. XI, 9, 10; II Tim. II, 22.

November 16, Saturday—The Pattern for Young Men. Luke II, 42-52; Acts X, 38, 43.

Rev. R. S. Isbell writes us, October 31, that they have had a yellow fever panic in Washington, La. Only three deaths, however, out of eight cases unmistakably yellow fever, and thirty-five cases in all. There had been no new cases for several days, and it was hoped that the worst was over. Bro Isbell, as a matter of course, remained with the sick and dying, ministering to them as best he could, and attending to the burial of the dead.

Tangipahoa, Louisiana.

Mr. Editor.—I have just read an article in your paper written by E. H. Mounger, relative to the fever in Port Gibson. It interested me much, and I feel a sympathy for the people of Port Gibson; the more so as we are having a like experience. Out of two hundred inhabitants we have had about fifty deaths from yellow fever, and we are not yet through with it. We have had every thing that kind friends in New Orleans and elsewhere could furnish, temporal, but spiritually, nothing. I do not think that in a single instance was there any religious services performed at the burial of any one. A few Methodists here are entitled to preaching once a month, but have not seen a preacher since the fever commenced, on the eighteenth of September, or about that time. Mrs. Lewis, a member of the Methodist Church for many years, died on the twenty-second of October.

M. W. CALLIHAN.

Tangipahoa, La., October 27.

The yellow fever in New Orleans, as elsewhere, is nearly gone. For the twenty-four hours ending 12 M. Monday, November 4, there were four deaths and four new cases; for the twenty-four hours ending 12 M. Tuesday, November 5, there were nine deaths and six new cases; for the twenty-four hours ending 12 M. Wednesday, November 6, there were five deaths and no new cases. Sporadic cases will doubtless occur for some time, but the epidemic is over. The city is filling up with people, and business is reviving as the quarantine restrictions are being removed. We are having the most perfect autumn weather, bright, cool and invigorating.

Noble Goodness.

Through the generosity of the Mayor of Portland, Maine, $200 has been sent to Dr. J. W. Harmon, of our city, to be distributed to necessitous persons who would not ask aid of any of the charitable associations. Also the Congregational High Street Church, Portland, Maine, and other noble friends, sent the Doctor $225. Said funds have been faithfully and judiciously distributed, and reported to the noble friends who have thus aided us in our distress. God bless the givers with all heavenly benedictions.

From the publisher, Mr. J. H. Chambers, we have received some sample pages of the forthcoming "Life and Labors of Bishop Marvin," by Dr. Finney. There are two interesting engravings: The Old Place, Bishop Marvin's Childhood Home; McConnell's House, where Bishop Marvin was Converted. The paper is very fine and the print all that could be desired. Judging from these sample pages we doubt not the work will be one of great merit, and worthy of him whose life it portrays and commemorates.

The Louisiana Conference.

CHANGE OF TIME.

CHARLESTON, MO., Oct. 10, 1878.

On account of the continued prevalence of the yellow fever in the city of New Orleans and its vicinity at this date, and also the condition of the Conference finances consequent thereon, the time of the ensuing session of the Louisiana Conference, in the city of New Orleans, is hereby changed from December 11, next, to January 8, 1879, by request of our preachers in the city of New Orleans.

DAVID S. DOGGETT.

We regret to learn that Mr. George W. Briggs, brother of the Rev. A. J. Briggs of the Alabama Conference, died in Selma, Ala., September 1. His death was one of remarkable triumph; his victory over the last enemy was complete. We tender to the bereaved our sympathy in this time of loss and sorrow.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE, BATON ROUGE, LA.—Professor Magruder informs us that this Institution will reopen on Wednesday, November 13. The yellow fever has nearly disappeared in Baton Rouge, and we suppose that all danger will be over by the time indicated.

The Southern Christian Advocate of November 2 reached us wearing a new dress, and in its new eight page form. It presents a very handsome appearance, and is a most attractive and entertaining paper. Long may it live and prosper.

We see from the Texas Christian Advocate that the West Texas Conference met at San Marcos, October 23. Bishop Keener was in time to open the session. The year has been a prosperous one with the Conference.

Rev. A. Gottschall, local preacher, now residing in New Orleans, informs us that his mother-in-law and his two children have been very ill of yellow fever, but all are recovering.

MARRIED.

CRYER—GULLET. At the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. Gullet, Amite City, La., October 31, 1878, by Rev. J. B. Smith, Mr. John B. Cryer to Miss Lydia Gullet.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS FOR 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	BISHOP.	WHEN.
W. Virginia	Parkersburg	Pierce	Sept.
Denver	W. Las Vegas	Wightman	Sept.
Western	Wynnedale	Doggett	Sept.
Missouri	Macon	Doggett	Sept.
Illinois	Paris	Doggett	Sept.
Kentucky	Shelbyville	Kavanaugh	Sept.
Montana	Helena	Pierce	Sept.
S. W. Missouri	Clinton	Wightman	Sept.
Louisville	Cadiz	Doggett	Sept.
Columbia	Roseburg	Pierce	Sept.
Tennessee	Clarksville	W. Gilman	Oct.
St. Louis	Charleston	Kavanaugh	Oct.
Indian Miss.	Muscogee C N	Pierce	Oct.
West Texas	San Marcos	McTyeire	Oct.
Pacific	San Francisco	Kavanaugh	Oct.
Holston	Knoxville	Wightman	Oct.
Arkansas	Russellville	Kavanaugh	Oct.
N. W. Texas	Belton	Doggett	Oct.
Los Angeles	S. Barbara	Kavanaugh	Oct.
White River	Searcy	Kavanaugh	Oct.
Virginia	Petersburg	Pierce	Nov.
Florida	Gainesville	Kavanaugh	Nov.
German Miss.	Industry	Kavanaugh	Nov.
North Texas	Terrell	McTyeire	Nov.
N. Carolina	Charlotte	Pierce	Nov.
N. Alabama	Athens	Doggett	Nov.
N. Georgia	Marietta	Doggett	Nov.
Little Rock	Hot Springs	Kavanaugh	Nov.
Texas	Jefferson	McTyeire	Nov.
Memphis	Paris	Doggett	Dec.
N. Mississippi	Macon	Doggett	Dec.
S. Carolina	Newberry	Pierce	Dec.
Alabama	Mobile	Doggett	Dec.
S. Georgia	Thomasville	Doggett	Dec.
East Texas	Tyler	McTyeire	Dec.
Mississippi	Meridian	Doggett	Dec.
Louisiana	New Orleans	Doggett	Dec.
Baltimore	Salem	Pierce	Dec.

Publisher's Department.

MR. E. E. F. ROSS, one of the well known in this city and [illegible] and last one hundred years, has [illegible] CARE. Any attention [illegible] asked.

Rev. J. B. Parker, so [illegible] known in this city and [illegible] health is greatly improved [illegible] and grand. D. R. Holmes, [illegible] ready to serve his many [illegible] old Virginia reminds us [illegible] him a universal favorite for [illegible] of a century.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

WHITWORTH FEMALE COLLEGE, BROOKHAVEN, Miss.—School charges reduced to $140 [illegible] 25th, 1878.

JUST ISSUED.

A New Quarterly Conference Journal (printed forms,) arranged for the order of business as laid down in the new Discipline. Price $2 50. Sent by mail for $2 80. Every charge in the whole church connection ought to have a copy.

Address Advocate Publishing House, LOGAN D. DAMERON, Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

BISHOP MARVIN'S WORKS.

To the East by Way of the West. By Bishop Marvin.
Echoes of the Past. By Bishop Marvin.
Book of Sermons. By Bishop Marvin.
Doctrine of Intercourse. By Bishop Marvin.
Works of Christ. By Bishop Marvin.
Life and Labors of Rev. W. G. Caples. By Dr. McAnally.
Around the World. By [illegible] D. D.
Our Children. By A. G. [illegible]
Wrights and Wings. By [illegible]
The Teacher's Commentary. By [illegible]

Above discount to agents. Address the ADVOCATE PUBLISHING HOUSE, Or, LOGAN D. DAMERON, Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

DR. WILHOFT'S ANTI-PERIODIC OR FEVER AND AGUE TONIC—Which has established itself as the [illegible] cure. It is universally admitted [illegible] liable and harmless Chill med[illegible] fact [illegible] is confirmed by the [illegible] rules of the very best people from [illegible] country. It cures malarious [illegible] Ague, from the smallest [illegible] to the fag to fevers of the [illegible] of 10 has never been known to fail. [illegible] FINLAY & CO., proprietors, New Orleans. For sale by all the [illegible].

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by [illegible] ladies who use it daily, to be the [illegible] preparation that [illegible] and roughen the skin, or [illegible] black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who [illegible] with it immediate relief. [illegible] cents and $1; sold by druggists, and at depot, 107 North [illegible] (Louis Lindell Hotel.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE. [illegible] and letters [illegible] to DORAS VENEKLASEN [illegible] care of Gaston Bee [illegible] and [illegible] Stockings, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

NO MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

A NEW DISCOVERY

An Antidote for Malarious Miasmatic Poisons. It [illegible] Cold Symptoms, Pain, Inflammation or Congestion. See Effects. Is an Expectorant, Diaphoretic, Diuretic, Tonic, Sedative, Nervine, Alterative, Deobstruent, Resolvent, Prophylactic, Antiseptic, Stimulant, Anodyne, Astringent, Cathartic, Emmenagogue, Alkalizer, Acidifier, Solvent, Eliminator, Revulsive, Counter-Irritant, Rubefacient, Vesicant, Epispastic, Escharotic, Detergent, Demulcent, Refrigerant, Aperient, Carminative, Sialagogue, Errhine, Emetic, Cathartic, Anthelmintic, Parasiticide, Disinfectant, Deodorizer, Hypnotic, Narcotic, Narcotico-Acrid, Alterative, Tonic, Astringent, Stimulant, Diaphoretic, Diuretic, Expectorant, Sedative, Nervine

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the recognized Standard Family Medicine in the United States. Scarcely a country can be found, from Maine to Mexico, that has not used them.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that result from MALARIAL POISON and A DERANGED LIVER such as Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Typho-Malarial Fevers, Chills and Fever, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Dizziness, Costiveness, Dysentery, Piles, Palpitation of the Heart, Nervousness, Rheumatism, Kidney Troubles, Chronic Constipation, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have

Dull pain in the Shoulder, Costive Bowels, Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Averse to Exertion of Body or Mind.

BE ADVISED AND AT ONCE

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

The first dose produces an effect which often astonishes the sufferer, and in a short time follows an Appetite, Good Digestion,

SOLID FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE.

A [illegible] is Guaranteed.

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

DR. TUTT: I have used your Pills in my Drug trade. Weak Stomach and Nervousness I never had anything to do so much good in the way of medicine. They are as good as represented. They are the best Pill in Existence, and I do all I can to assist purchasers with their good merits. J. W. TIBBETS, Dakota, Minn.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York. 1mnbp

ELASTIC JOINT.

IRON ROOFING.

FIRE, WATER AND WIND PROOF.

Durable, Cheap, easily applied by any one. Provides for expansion and contraction.

In practical use sixteen years.

Boxed for shipment to any part of the country.

Address for Circular, CALDWELL & CO., Cincinnati, O.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS

received the Highest Medal at the recent

PARIS EXPOSITION,

over all American competitors. Their FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET (No. 3009) has a fine sateen boning, and is guaranteed not to break down over the hips. Their HEALTH CORSET, with its improved Bust, is now a great favorite than ever. Their NURSING CORSET is the delight of every mother.

For sale by all leading merchants.

WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N.Y.

Incomparably the Best and Cheapest Windmill. Protected by two patents (Dec. 24, 1872, and Sept. 3, 1878). Eight extra Premiums. Light, but strong and durable. Has more wind surface runs in lighter winds is more automatic, and pumps more water than any other windmill ever before made. Requires no attention, no combustible, no running expenses. It has successfully withstood the tornadoes of the West, while other mills that stood near them have been destroyed. It is rapidly superseding others (hence see certificates and testimonials in our illustrated Catalogue.

Kewanee Manuf'g Co. Executors.

Office, 4 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

N. B.—Responsible State and County Agents wanted in all parts of the World.

DRY IN ROGERS' POWDER

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA

An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

This well known preparation is highly recommended for Sick Headache, Sickness of the Stomach, Heartburn, and all complaints arising from Acidity, Biliousness and Malarial Fevers. It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite laxative for children and its acidity and sweet taste make it cooling and refreshing. Put up in convenient form. Prepared by

A. ROGERS' SONS, Chemists, N. Y.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

For sale by all New Orleans druggists. 8p

WATTS' Orchestrion chime ORGA is the most beautiful in style and perfect in tune ever made. It has the celebrated Courtepin stop, which is a fine imitation of the Human Voice, and ten and a half Octaves of bells attuned to perfect harmony with the reeds, & the effect is enlightened & electrifying. WATTS' CLARIONA, ORCHESTRAL, CONCERTO, VESPER, CENTENNIAL CHIMES, CHAPEL and COTTAGE ORGANS, to Pulpit or French Cases are in every respect FIRST CLASS.

WATTS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE, and Upright, ARE THE BEST MADE; the Tone, Touch, Workmanship, & Durability unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Instalments received. A Liberal Discount to Churches, Ministers, Churches, Schools, etc. AGENTS WANTED. Special inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments at Great Bargains. HORACE WATTS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK, Box, 3507.

DR. S. C. BRAM,

MANUFACTURER OF THE

SURE CURE TRUSS,

N.W. cor. Fifth & Elm sts., Cincinnati, O.

THE BEST TRUSS IN THE WORLD!

Those who have suffered untold agony for years, by wearing the Metallic Spring Trusses will find in the SURE CURE TRUSS all that its name implies—A sure cure for all the discomforts attendant upon ruptures. It is light, has no springs, strong elastic in back, cup and cushion pads that never blister, never slip. Can be worn at night.

Testimonials of cures can be seen at the office. No. 1 Elastic Trusses, the best manufactured, warranted, at $4 for single, $8 for double. Examination free.

Trusses sent free by mail on receipt of order and money. Send stamp for circular.

BIG GIANT CORN MILL.

Every Man His Own Miller.

The only Mill that will grind as fine as when new until worn out. The only Mill grinding Corn and Cobs constantly that will grind shelled Corn fine enough for family use. Grinding is executed as by other Mills of same weight and price. Material, workmanship and

J. A. FIELD, SON & CO., 922 N. Second St., St. Louis.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Do not disfigure your face by wearing spectacles when you can buy a pair of the celebrated P. P. C. Pebbles for $3. Guaranteed to improve the sight, or money refunded. Address

DR. E. P. LEITZ & CO.,

P. O. box 3418. 91 Liberty St., New York.

ROSES

MEDICAL.

The Most Refreshing Toilet Article.

CASSEBEER'S

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

(EAU DE QUININE.)

WILL preserve cultivate beautify, arrest the fall of and confer a silken softness to the Hair, and will not soil the most delicate fabric. Price $1.

Cassebeer's Ammonia Lozenges.

For mitigating coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, dry throat, etc., and facilitating expectoration. Price, 25 cents, sent by mail.

Both excellent preparations are for sale by all druggists, and by the proprietor, H. A. CASSEBEER, Apothecary, 57 Fourth avenue and 337 Sixth avenue, New York.

Jenkin's ANNIHILATOR

The Great Southern Remedy for

RHEUMATISM GOUT and NEURALGIA

IS PURELY VEGETABLE, and can be taken without fear of any injurious result by the delicate as well as the robust in constitution. It purifies the Blood, stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and eradicates every vestige of the above diseases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. Pamphlets, containing testimonials and valuable advice, sent free to any address.

N. JENKINS & CO., Proprietors, New Orleans, La.

FINLAY & THOMPSON, Wholesale Druggists, General Agents, New Orleans, La.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by a drug process of re-vitalization.

REMARKABLE CURES have been made in Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Headache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and the large class of ailments which come from nervous depression.

LOSS OF VITALITY feebleness of constitution, exposure to miasma, the enervating effects of a climate, and especially IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES to the slow reaction which attends convalescence, and which dooms so many to permanent invalidism.

STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. JUDGE KELLEY, T. S. ARTHUR, Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Ex-Gov. BOREMAN of West Virginia, and others who have used the New Treatment.

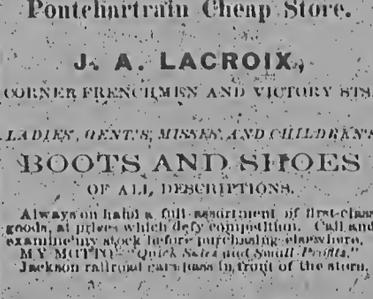
FREE! A Treatise (200 pages) on COMPOUND OXYGEN, with many testimonials to most remarkable cures, sent free. Address

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1109 Girard St., Philada.

PILES.

DR. W. S. WORTMAN & CO., 908 Pine street, St. Louis, positively cure Piles without knife, ligature or pain. Patients can attend to business. No charge unless cured; pay all expenses if they fail; guarantee five years. Refer to Dr. J. H. McLean, known all over the United States and Europe; Drs. McKellops and Eames, leading dentists of St. Louis; James Lupe; M. A. Whiff; Frank Shapleigh, wholesale hardware, Main street; Hon. J. B. Henderson, Ex-United States Senator; J. H. Stieckle, Agt. N. W. Ins. Co., St. Louis; John Bentley, Agt. Ill. C. R. R.; Edw. Mead, Jr., Jeweler, Fourth street; L. Billon, Wiggins Ferry Co.; Capt. Jerry Wood, steamer Minneapolis, and others.

MISCELLANEOUS.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO., MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

163 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS

IN

CARRIAGE, WAGON

AND

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

And Manufacturers of

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,

All at Reasonable Prices.

68 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.,

Between Common and Gravier,

NEW ORLEANS.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

LADIES', GENTS', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.

MY MOTTO: "Quick Sales and Small Profits."

Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.

A BEAUTIFUL, USEFUL and CLEVER SELLING ARTICLE

Wanted by every Farmer, Huntsman, Trapper, Fisherman, Sportsman, and Every Family.

The most perfect scale ever invented. Is graduated from 1 oz. to 15 lbs.; is about the size of a man's forefinger, weighs only 2 oz., and can be carried in the pocket without inconvenience. Thus being always ready to meet an ever recurring and universal want. The novelty, beauty and usefulness of the article is sure to sell it. By an ingenious contrivance this little wonder is so arranged that by its sliding slight it may be so adjusted as to give the exact weight of matter weighed, without subtracting the weight of the receptacle in which the matter is weighed an advantage possessed by no other scale. It is a new idea, and sure to sell. Each scale is tested, nickel-plated, and will be sent, post paid, on receipt of 50 cents.

GEORGE BETTS,

573 Broadway, New York,

Sole proprietor and manufacturer.

AGENTS WANTED.

COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA.

Remember that for all Affections of the THROAT AND LUNGS, Lapelaire's Indian Turnip, Pectoral Balm is the sure remedy, containing elements of action with a most palatable savor, give it a trial. Price, $1. Sold at all well assorted drug stores, and by the proprietor, 23 and 25 Elysian Fields street, Mobile depot—Bullose & Co., 20 Water st., St. Louis depot—Richardson & Co., 209 N. Main st. 8p

MISCELLANEOUS.

LONDON MANF'G CO.'S

ESSENCES OF MEATS,

For Invalids, Infants and Travelers,

ESSENCE OF BEEF, MUTTON, CHICKEN.

Entirely Takes the Place of Beef Tea.

UNEQUALED in Children's Complaints. FOR INVALIDS—Natural, Pleasant, Refreshing. FOR DISPEPTICS—Readily Assimilated. IN CASES OF SEA SICKNESS—Afford immediate Nourishment. AFTER CHILD-BIRTH—Meat Stimulant; Concentrated Form.

Particularly adapted for YELLOW-FEVER convalescents.

Taken cold direct from the can, needing no preparation whatever.

Prepared only by the LONDON MANUFACTURING CO., 77 & 79 VARICK STREET, NEW YORK.

For Sale by L. L. LYONS, New Orleans, La.

FITS OR EPILEPSY.

To the Editor of the Advocate:

DEAR SIR—Will you please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the cure of the above disease, and that by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing, and will give

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

for a case it will not cure or greatly benefit. Indeed, so strong is my faith, I will send

ONE BOTTLE FREE,

together with a valuable treatise, to any sufferers addressing me, giving their name, express and P. O. address. Please show this letter to any one you may know who is suffering with this terrible disease, and oblige, Respectfully yours,

DR. H. C. ROOT, 183 Pearl Street, N. Y.

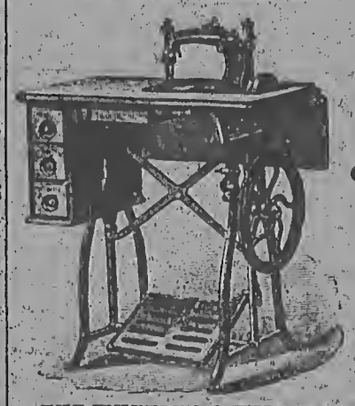
SEWING MACHINES.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to	$60.
" 90 " "	50.
" 80 " "	45.
" 60 " "	40.
" 75 " "	35.
" 70 " "	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self-setting needle. It never cuts the thread or goods. It is a new machine, with straight needle. It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing. It has no noisy cog wheels. It has no complicated shuttle to thread. It allows the work to run back from the operator.

Send for our New Cash Price List.

CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM:

103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Appointments for Quarterly Meetings.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

NEW ORLEANS DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Louisiana Avenue	Oct. 11
Algiers	20
Felicity Street	27
Baton Rouge	Nov. 10
Marengo Street	17
Plaquemine and Grosse Tete, at Livonia	24
St. Charles Avenue	Dec. 1
Carondelet Street	8
Lafourche, at Thomas	29

17 LINUS PARKER, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

WOODVILLE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Buffalo, at Mount Carmel	Nov. 2, 3
Bayou Sara, at Bayou Sara	16, 17
Woodville (Quarterly and District Conference)	21, 23, 24
Winans' (Tuesday)	26
Clinton	30, Dec. 1
Magnolia, at Magnolia	Dec. 7, 8
St. Helena, at Greensburg	14, 15

NOTE—The District Conference will be held in Woodville, November 22, 23 and 24.

Brethren, please attend if you can. The Conference would think a assemble without danger, or hindrance from quarantine, at the time and place indicated.

12 JAMES A. GODDEY, P. E.

VICKSBURG DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Port Gibson	Sept. 14, 15
Fayette, at Ebenezer	21, 22
Kingston	28, 29
Natchez	Oct. 5, 6
Rocky Springs, at Center Grove	12, 13
Cayuga, at Reeves' chapel	19, 20
Warren, at Beechland	26, 27
Dover, at Fletcher's chapel	Nov. 2, 3
Mount Olivet, at Mount Olivet	9, 10
Rolling Fork	16, 17
Clover Hill and Chotard	23, 24
Vicksburg	30, Dec. 1

29 W. L. G. BUSSEY, P. E.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

MOBILE DIST.—FOURTH ROUND.

Franklin Street	Oct. 5, 6
Fountainville	9, 7
Citronelle, at George's	12, 13
Stockton	19, 20
Pollard, Powellton and B. Water, at Cogic Hill	26, 27
Okatippa, at Bethel	Nov. 1,
Bladon	2, 3
St. Stephen's, at New Hope	9, 10
Pensacola	16, 17
Warrington	17, 18
Milton and Yellow River	23, 24
Grand Bay, at St. Elmo	Dec. 1, 2
St. Francis Street	7, 8

Local preachers and Trustees will please have their reports ready. Stewards, make earnest, honest efforts to settle on full with your pastors.

26 S. H. COX, P. E.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTURERS' WAREHOUSE,

No. 91, John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker.

183 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

FURNITURE, PICTURES,

LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.,

152 Camp Street 154

Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. The prices only on each and every article, and no deviation.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the Latest Improved Hangings, for Churches, Academies, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 E. 2d St., Cincinnati.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BUENA SALUD.

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia & all Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Cocaine (erythroxylon coca), and is recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of this leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peru and Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

QUICHUA COCA CO.,

No. 72 William St., New York.

8p

PERFORATED

VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,

For use in Churches, Halls and Lodges, are coming into general use on account of their Comfort, Durability, Cleanliness, and Ornament.

No. 115.

Churches intending to buy Chairs or Settees will do well to correspond with

CARDNER & CO.,

Patentees and Manufacturers,

1370 PEARL ST., NEW YORK.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERYBODY ANSWERS: YES!

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY is the only reliable remedy. Simply wheat in the whole grain rendered powerfully poisonous to vermin, and is really Nature's remedy for the complete and thorough extermination of rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will at once relieve you from those noxious and destructive pests. Price, only 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States at

M. T. CREAMER & CO.,

Manufacturing Chemists,

91 Thompkins Blue street.

Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S, 35 Magazine street. 8p

20 Chromo Cards (perfect beauties) with name, 10c. Gilt-edge, Fringe Card Co., Ashland, Mass.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

DIAMONDS

IN SOLID GOLD MOUNTINGS.

ONE DOLLAR. ONE DOLLAR.

THE WONDERFUL LEFEVRE DIAMOND TRADE MARK PAT.

Lefevre Ring, $1. Set of Studs, $1. [The Shirt] Stud, $1. Lefevre Ear Drops, $1.

THE ONLY PERFECT FAC-SIMILE OF THE REAL DIAMOND IN THE WORLD

Pronounced by the Academy of France that M. Lefevre has really obtained and recently the true diamond. The basis of these gems are pure crystals found in the Sierra Nevada, from whence they are exported to the Lefevre Laboratory in Paris, France, where they are submitted to a chemical and voltaic process,

BY WHICH THEIR SURFACES ARE COVERED WITH A COATING OF PURE DIAMONDS, imparting to them all the BRILLIANCY, HARDNESS and reflective qualities of the natural diamond, and making them as desirable for Wear, Brilliancy and Beauty, as the genuine gems themselves. The Rings, Studs, and Ear Drops, as displayed in this announcement, are accurate engravings of SOLID GOLD MOUNTINGS, containing the Wonderful Lefevre Diamond, warranted by certificate U. S. Assay.

ON RECEIPT OF ONE DOLLAR we will send free, by Registered Mail, to any address in America, either article as represented. Our "Book on Diamonds," with illustrations of artistic Diamond Jewelry, sent free.

I have seen many imitations of diamonds, but never any that equal the Lefevre Brilliant.—M. CLERY, Stamford, Conn. I am in receipt of a pair of the Wonderful Lefevre Ear Drops, for one dollar; would say that I am pleased with them; they fill the bill—they are simply elegant.—ANDREW MORRIS, Hornellsville, N. Y.

The Wonderful Lefevre Diamond Ring, for one dollar, came duly to hand this morning; it is really a beauty, and is entirely satisfactory, and exceeds my expectations, and elicited wonder and admiration from all who saw it.—W. H. REEDY, Machinist, Mass.

The Lefevre Diamonds, mounted in solid gold, are truly marvelous.—H. AVERY & SONS, Hoosick Falls, N. Y.

The constantly successful experiments of M. Lefevre silence all doubt of the artificial reproduction.—M. DE LERNO, the great French Sculptor.

The Lefevre Diamond most effectually disturbs the slumbers of the possessors of costly gems.—Boston Post.

We guarantee the Wonderful Lefevre Diamonds for One Dollar to be mounted in Solid Gold, and will cheerfully refund the money if found unsatisfactory. Address and Orders to AMERICAN JEWELRY COMPANY, 5 Arende, Cincinnati, O.

The American Jewelry Company is a prompt and reliable house.

For NINETY DAYS FROM DATE

Elegant Table Silverware

Can be secured by the undersigned with the following conditions. The National Silver Plating Company, No. 704 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, manufacturers of the Celebrated Standard Silver Plated Ware, intend to introduce their goods into every family in the United States, and engrave on each spoon, any desired initial, also a copy of the following Silver-ware is issued, as the above Company

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1878. NO. 46.

UNBROKEN.

...stands in his cloak of grass—
...strong great-hill that lifts against the sky,
...nothing wakes him, even when we climb
...up with careless footsteps, you and I.
...Gods life in the life that nurses the world
...lives are still our own to hold and guide:
...though all future lives to show us God;
...is in heart and consciousness abide.
...and more its faithful friendship know,
...so, when restless and adrift, I keep
...comfort in a quietness like this;
...awful strength that lies in fearless sleep:
...this good shoulder lay my head, nor miss
...things I longed for but an hour ago.

...times happens that two friends will meet
...with a smile and touch of hands, again
...lovely way along the noisy street;
...so sure of all the friendship sweet,
...loving silence gives no thought of pain.
...so, I think, those friends whom we call dead
...with us. It may be some quiet hour
...of busy work for hand or head—
...love fills all the heart, that missed them so,
...brings a sweet assurance of the life
...above to worry that we know,
...we grow braver for the comfort brought,
...should we mourn because they do not speak
...that he is so far below their thought?

—Sunday Afternoon.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. At the afternoon session of the M. E. Missionary Society, Bishop Harris, Ames and Wiley, Revs. Hiss, Gadsden and Newman, Hon. Mr. Ferry and General Clinton B. Fisk were appointed a committee to wait upon the Secretary of State, inviting a treaty with China, and the cause of freedom and humanity, for a protective clause to missionaries signed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. Among the appropriations for Domestic Missions, made by the M. E. Missionary Society, are the following: Mississippi $6500, Tennessee $2500, Texas $..., Virginia $5000, North Carolina $3000, Western Texas $3000, Savannah $1000, South Carolina $5000. A motion to appropriate $... for dissemination of missionary intelligence, laid on, which to be used for the creation of a monthly magazine, was withdrawn.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. The body of A. T. Stewart was stolen from the vault of St. Mark's church in this city by body-snatchers some time last night.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7. The news of the theft of A. T. Stewart was received at 12 m. A. M., and the following was sent over the police wires at the request of Judge Hilton, to the police precincts: "The remains of A. T. Stewart were last night stolen from the vault in St. Mark's church-yard. The vault was found broken open and the body gone. The decomposition of the remains renders it evident that they cannot be concealed. It is apparent from standing at the opening of the vault this morning. Consequently it must be taken across the ferries or placed somewhere above ground without discovery. A diligent search to be made in your district as the remains were evidently stolen for the sake of a reward."

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 8. One death from fever to-day. No new cases.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 8. The board of health this morning reported two deaths from yellow fever during the past twenty-four hours, ending at six o'clock to-night, both colored. No new case reported of a person who had been exposed to the fever since the ...

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8. The annual report of the general committee on church extension of the M. E. Church shows a continual increase in receipts, and an appeal to be made to members and friends. For the year two hundred and twenty-two churches were added by donations and loans, and the appropriations to Conferences represented at the meeting to-day, are: South Carolina, $2000; Louisiana and Texas, $... Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee, $... South Carolina, Central Alabama, Florida, North Alabama, Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia, $... Alabama, $500, and Arkansas, $1000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. Mrs. A. T. Stewart has offered a reward of $2,000 for the recovery of the body of her late husband, stolen from the family vault in St. Mark's Church yard, and conviction of the thieves. A separate sum will be paid for the recovery of the body.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 10. No deaths to-day. Only four deaths during the past seven days. Two cases since yesterday's report. Added to the danger. The official register of deaths is no longer kept, making it difficult to get exact information.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10. A Bakersfield, Northern Territory, dispatch says: Reliable reports from the plains report an outbreak of Indians between the Assiniboines and Sioux, the latter were killed. The Assiniboines are Sioux-Nassoes from the Blackfeet Agency, Blackfoot chief.

VICKSBURG, Nov. 10. Work on the gunboats in Charleston harbor begins under Lt. Sullivan's Island, or North Channel, while constructed first. Gen. Gilmore is arranging for transportation of granite and other material.

WINNEBAGO, Minn., Nov. 10. The St. Vincent extension of the St. Paul and Pacific railway is finished to Pembina yesterday.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 11. No yellow fever cases or new cases.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 11. Five fever cases since saturday night. Two deaths are reported to-night. Three deaths at Bolton to-night.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 11. Chris. D. Steinkuhl, a merchant tailor, died of fevers, late last night, after an illness of ten days. Col. R. C. Brinkley, owner of the Peabody Hotel is reported in a dying condition at Yuka, Miss.

SAVANNAH, Nov. 11. All quarantine regulations against New Orleans and other infected cities was raised this morning. Weather cool and clear. Fever very low and slowly falling.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 11. Peter Freeman, a lumberman, S. C., murderer, who was recently acquitted from England was run over and killed by a railroad train in this city on Saturday night, while attempting to escape from the sheriff.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 12. The rapid improvement in business daily manifested is satisfactory to the most sanguine of merchants. The bar is thronged with steamers discharging freights, stores are crowded with customers from the interior, and the general appearance of commercial affairs is most encouraging.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 12. Grand Commanders of Virginia Knights Templar meet here in annual session to-morrow. Sir Knights from various sections of the country will be present. Grand parade to-morrow.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 12. Returns one hundred counties in the State give the following: Senate, Democrats, 15; Republicans, 14; Greenbackers, 3. House Democrats, 46; Republicans, 11; Greenbackers and Independents, 13.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, Nov. 10. At Constantinople it is asserted that the Russians have forcibly seized the district of Malgarla, near Gulf Saro.

PESTH, Nov. 10. The Emperor Francis Joseph, in receiving the delegations, declared that the demobilization of the army, after occupation, would be facilitated by the most satisfactory relations of Austria with all the powers.

ROME, Nov. 10. It is asserted that the negotiations in favor of Greece have been suspended until Prince Commundouros explains his policy.

BOMBAY, Nov. 10. The Times of India says hopes are entertained at Simla of a peaceful solution of the Afghan difficulty. It is supposed that Russia is exercising a pressure upon the Ameer, with this object. The Ameer moreover dispairs of success against the British commander-in-chief. Gen. Brown's division still [illegible] the first blow of war is declared.

LONDON, Nov. 10. A dispatch to the Times from Vienna says: Insurgent committees on the frontiers of Roumelia and in many places in Macedonia, are recruiting men under thirty-five years of age and arming the elders for the defence of their homes. The insurgents are well armed and provisioned.

LONDON, Nov. 11. A dispatch to the Standard from Simla says: Information has been received from various sources that the Afghan troops are withdrawing from Candahar, the Ameeg having publicly announced that Russia will occupy Candahar and Herat. The governor, however, has punished agitators who endeavored to rouse the populace against the English.

LONDON, Nov. 11. A Times dispatch from Roumania says the clerical party has announced its intention of participating with the greatest energy in the elections, which must inevitably follow the contemplated revision of the ...

PARIS, Nov. 11. The exhibition will be finally closed this afternoon. The receipts since the opening were 12,... francs.

Pacific Conference.

This Conference was held in San Francisco, October 16 ... Bishop Wightman presiding. From the Pacific Methodist we learn that the session was very pleasant and very profitable to the church.

The Statistical Secretary submitted a report which was adopted: ... teachers, 41 ... number of members, ... probationers, 218; infants baptized, ... children in Sunday-schools, ... value of church property, $214,0...; amount expended for church purposes, ... amount expended for Sunday-schools, $... number in attendance, ...; money expended for Sunday-school literature, $...

The following ministerial appointments were announced:

[illegible] Conference—W. ... J. San Francisco Station, W. ... Trogsdale; Philip Tuggle, superannuated; Sandy Tadgo, superannuated; Stockton, to be supplied; Sacramento, F. V. Rinkin; Woodland, J. C. Barlow; Healdsburg, B. A. Reams; Mountain View, E. L. Hopkins; Santa Clara, M. C. Fields; San Jose, H. B. Avery; Gilroy, T. V. Atkinson; Hollister, W. Atkinson; Salinas City, W. M. Winter; Salinas, to be supplied by J. M. Brown; Paso Pinos, ... S. Hutton; Isleton, J. Hedgpeth.

SANTA ROSA DISTRICT—H. ... P. E. Santa Rosa Station, C. Chamberlin; Santa Rosa Circuit, T. C. Clinton; Petaluma, R. E. Allen; Healdsburg and Shiloh, J. C. Hyden; Anderson Valley, T. S. Burnet; Ukiah, T. S. Paul, L. H. Hargis, supernumerary; Long Valley, J. S. Vann; Potter Valley and Upper Lake, J. G. Shelton; Lakeport, J. C. Pendergast; Rockville, C. C. Wright; Winters, T. L. Bike; Vacaville, H. F. Harris; Dixon Station, J. A. Simmons; W. A. Finley, President of P. M. College; S. W. Davies, superannuated, Santa Rosa Station.

COLUSA DISTRICT—George ... P. E. Colusa Station, T. H. B. Anderson, Knights Landing, A. Odom; Williams, J. D. Clarke; Leesville, J. M. Overton; Princeton, J. Kelsay; Chellent, R. C. Howard; Willows, M. McWhorter; Orland, H. M. McKnight; Hearleyville, H. Neddo; Anderson, E. H. Robertson; Millville, J. T. Howard; Chico Creek, J. P. Roberts; Chico Station, J. C. Renfro; Biggs, M. H. Shartzbaugh; Yuba City, J. M. Alsaliser; Wheatland, G. W. Humphrey; Bear River, T. V. Muley.

VISALIA DISTRICT—H. ... P. E. Visalia Station, P. T. Page; Antelope, S. M. Spears, supply; Pilarcitos, J. H. Neal; Livingston, S. A. Whipple; Fresno City, E. M. Stanley; Madera, J. G. Newton; Merced, J. K. P. Price; Mariposa, R. A. Seaville; Somera, J. Wood; Linden, A. L. Hagsaker; Modesto, R. H. Bissell; Oak Dale, A. Criswell; Los Banos, A. L. Paul; E. S. Miller, transferred to the Missouri Conference; R. Pratt, transferred to Los Angeles Conference.

A Directory.

DR. Isabel Pierce has begun a series of articles in the Nashville Christian Advocate under the head of Sanctification Directory. We quote as follows from his first article:

As I am settling preliminaries before entering upon the main topic, I postulate, as an unwelcome burden to this sequential directory, that it has never entered into the mind of a single Christian believer that any thing we mean by sanctification ever existed in the same regeneration precedent to its manifestation. Therefore we assume that there is no such connectional oneness between them as to justify the belief that justification could by care be preserved intact, simply as an act of pardon. It would be nothing but pardon, a change in our relation to God, from that of condemnation to that of reconciliation—a work done for us; and when done, it is done. But sanctification is a work done in us by the renewing process of the Holy Spirit working in us to will and to do his good pleasure; and the need of entire sanctification from the antagonism of the flesh to the spirit becomes the conviction on which the truth-guided soul is sometimes overwhelmed to such a degree as to speak of it as if it were a second conviction of sin. But it is not, unless you have indeed fallen away from your first love, so as to make repentance necessary to put your back at your Alpha again; in which case, as you see, it could not be a conviction of the need of entire sanctification, but would be of the need of restoration to the lost favor of God. The conviction that leads to the intensified desire for this scriptural sanctification is a deep-toned sense or conviction of the need of personal holiness; [illegible] not of sin as sin. Here let us pause and think; for it was here inquirers began to feel that sort of confusion that, always bewilders, and often leads to taking a wrong way. So, we judge, it has been in reference to our sanctification directory, as originally formulated. There never was a time when sanctification was taught as a mere glorious privilege; it was always taught as a moral necessity, as integral to anything that could compass the idea of an entire spiritual regeneration. Hence, the moral need of sanctification had to be predicated of some additional relief from sin. This gave rise to the idea of its being to deliver us from the remains of sin, and from inbred sin—which terms, while they were substantially right, left as they were, were exceedingly ambitious. So it came to pass, when the Church began to fill up with members that would and receive such dogmas as true merely because they had been so received, [illegible] not merely an inquiry, but a controversy upon this remains of sin, after a full and free pardon of all sin, as all understood to be done in justification. They did not see how a believer could be justified from all sin, and yet have to be sanctified to be saved from the remains of sin. I acknowledge the [illegible] seems to be well [illegible] the [illegible] ready in our mistake. Those ministers and laymen of Methodism [illegible] used the terms so as to mean sins that remain, but always in reference to what they call the remains of sin. Therefore it is [illegible] that they were wrong, it was in the [illegible] could not on the degrees to [illegible] to [illegible] subsidize the [illegible] the realization of sin, and you know it is a [illegible] between [illegible] and [illegible] where the [illegible] sanctification is [illegible] a [illegible] is not dominant. We are not, therefore, looking upon ourselves as in a state of [illegible] sanctified but [illegible] we [illegible] Christ are not now after sanctification for after Christ.

Lesson Quarterly.

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronising Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

A Committee of One.

This is the best committee we know of for effective work. Many hands make light work, it is true, where they all work; but the trouble is, that a divided responsibility is apt to lead to negligence and indifference. What is every body's business is no body's business. One waits for another, and the impression prevails that somebody else will attend to the matter, and the consequence is, the work is not done at all. There are advantages in organization, and in the union of counsels and effort, but, to realize these advantages, every individual must feel himself charged with the duty of doing all that is possible. The man who feels himself to be a committee of one to do all the good he can in the world is the man who will achieve the grandest results. His call is from above, his Master is one, even Christ, and his mission is to watch for the open doors of usefulness, and to enter them.

Mary's commendation was, that she had done what she could. There was no subscription set on foot to buy that costly ointment, and no committee appointed to present it. It was of her own motion, a tribute of her own love, and an act that was all her own. There is room and occasion for this independent personal endeavor in the churches. The death of societies of every kind is the lack of such endeavor. Once formed they come to nothing because the members lose sight of their individual responsibility. Somebody will look after the interests in hand, and, as there is a society formed for the purpose, we need give ourselves no further concern. We have our trustees, stewards, Sunday-school and missionary societies, and, knowing this, thousands of capable church members are content to live without a thought about the support of the gospel, the instruction of the children or the conversion of the heathen. They wait to be called on, to be solicited, to be urged to do what they ought to be forward to do of their own accord.

We would place the responsibility just where it belongs, upon every individual Christian man and woman in the church. Their money should be forthcoming, even before it is asked for, and they should be abroad in the field without waiting for the importunate summons. Committees of every other sort and dimension we have, and committees to represent every several fraction of benevolent and religious enterprise. The committee of one is the oldest of all and the most comprehensive of all—simply an earnest, consecrated man doing with his might what his hand findeth to do—a woman who so loves her Lord that she is at no loss to devise ways in which to honor His name.

The final reckoning will be on this principle. The Lord delivered His goods to His servants as individuals, giving to each a portion, and the reckoning was in the same way. It cannot be with churches, nor with societies, nor with boards of missions, but with individuals. "Every one of us shall give account of himself to God." The church will not be condemned, but the delinquent members will be judged. If there has been failure in the great commission the blame will rest with those who have kept back the tithes and have robbed God. In the great community here the short comings of the individual may be hid, but not when account shall be given to the final Judge.

Let every Christian realize his personal responsibility, not only to accept the gospel offer of mercy, but to do the work to which the gospel calls him. He is a committe of one on missions, on Sunday-school, on the support of the church, and on the kingdom of Christ in the world. He must look well to these interests, not forgetting the account that he must render. His report will be called for in the last day. His is the last committee that will be discharged.

Montana Conference.

It is the day of small things with this Conference. In a recent letter to the Wesleyan Christian Advocate Bishop Wightman says:

The next morning we opened the Conference—five traveling preachers and three lay delegates taking their seats. It was the smallest body of the sort I had ever sat in. They had counted confidently on large results from the action of the General Conference at Atlanta, which raised a feeble mission into the rank of an Annual Conference. They had anticipated a considerable reinforcement of strong preachers and a large increase of missionary appropriations to bear the expenses of their getting to Montana, and to support them while here. In these anticipations they were disappointed. We had to make the best of the situation. One preacher only asked to be transferred, and that one from the Denver Conference. He had family ties in Montana, which made that Territory properly his home. He had had his horses stolen by the Indians, en route to Helena, and did not reach the Conference at all. We had no suitable young man to station at Helena where we have a good substantial church. The membership in the whole Conference territory did not number 250. "Jacob" was "small," indeed, and the prospect of his "arising" not bright. Nevertheless, the little band, if they had no enthusiasm, had faith in God, and hope of a better day to come. I preached on Friday night, and twice on Sunday, the church being crowded at the night service, at the close of which the appointments were read out.

I parted with the brethren with no little emotion. They had been as cordial and kind as though they did not know how opposed in judgment I had been to the policy of their being set up as an Annual Conference. There are, here and there, Southern families, excellent people, who desire to remain in connection with the Southern Methodist Church. This appeals strongly to one's sympathies. There is a fine opening at Fort Benton, the head of navigation on the Missouri river, and in the Sun River Valley which is filling up with a prosperous population; at neither of which points is there any Protestant minister. If I did not know the impossibility at present of obtaining anything like an adequate missionary appropriation I should appeal to the Eastern Conferences to send out a young man of genuine faith and zeal, of the best mental culture and gentlemanly port to occupy this field.

Upon the whole, I am not prophet enough to conjecture even the future of this new Conference. If a Bishop could live in the Territory; if a score of picked men from the older Conferences could be sent to this country; if $10,000 a year could be spared from the missionary treasure chest to support the experiment, a flourishing church, I dare say, might be planted in the valleys of this beautiful mountain Territory.

LIEUT. BENNER.

We are glad to know that efforts are being made to raise a relief fund for the family of this brave officer who lost his life while engaged in succoring the yellow fever sufferers in the valley of the Mississippi. Company A, Continental Guards, of this city, on Saturday, October 26, adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, Lieut. Benner, late of the United States Army, moved by the dictates of humanity, when pitiless pestilence and gaunt famine so sorely afflicted our countrymen of the South, and especially of the Mississippi Valley, sacrificed his life to relieve the distress of his fellow men, and fell a victim to the scourge of yellow fever at Vicksburg, leaving a helpless family.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to receive contributions and solicit subscriptions from the military organizations of Louisiana and all persons desiring to contribute, for the benefit of the family of Lieut. Benner, who died at Vicksburg, on October 17th, 1878, while in charge of the supply boat J. M. Chambers.

Rev. J. D. Cameron, Presiding Elder of the Holly Springs District, North Mississippi Conference, writing October 3, to the Nashville Christian Advocate, says:

I am meeting all my appointments, and trying to keep up the organization and work of the church as best as I can." This, notwithstanding I have been published to the world by one W. J. L. Holland as having deserted my post and my flock, and this, too, after specially promising to stay in Holly Springs. My view of duty was too entirely different from such a course for me to have entertained the thought; so that the statement is utterly without foundation in fact; and if to continue to serve ten out of eleven charges is to desert one's post, then do I plead guilty to the charge; and if to continue to serve 2650 out of 2700 members is to desert one's flock, then have I deserted mine. I have sent a full refutation of this misrepresentation of this "accuser of the brethren" to the Courrier-Journal, the paper in which it was first published, and would be obliged to you Mr. Editor, and all our church editors, if you would copy, as the secular press has been industrious in giving publicity to his statements.

The Central Methodist, Catlettsburg, Ky., refers to a peculiar fever now prevailing in the Mountains of Kentucky:

The fever in the mountains, reported by us last week, has not abated in the least, and many have been its victims during the past week. Within the territory embraced in its grasp, the per cent. of those attacked is fully as large as in Memphis or New Orleans, while the death rate is doubtless greater. It is, for the most part, a sparsely settled district, and facts and information cannot readily be obtained. As our office is about central to the district affected, our facilities for information are very good, and in a general way we condense as above. Perhaps the most malignant form of the disease is found in the counties of Johnson and Floyd. Here the death-rate is very heavy, and some of the best known men in the Sandy Valley have been carried away. Among them we note Hon. David Martin, representative from Floyd and Johnson, and Isaac Meek, father of the publisher and senior editor of this paper. Some physicians call it typhus fever, but in many respects it resembles yellow fever, and is doubtless related to it in some way.

Our Conference Claimants.

Mr. Editor—Permit me to call the attention of the brethren to the following statistics, regarding our widows' and orphans' estimated claims and collections:

For 1875—Estimated Claim		$3,500
Collected		1,711
Amount lacking		1,789
For 1876—Estimated Claim, only		2,039
Collected		1,830
For 1-77—Estimated Claim		2,389
Collected		1,083
Amount lacking		1,306
For 1878—Estimated Claim		4,430

The above estimate is probably far below the real wants of claimants.

I know that this estimate is correct, and that every dollar thereof will be needed. May God help us to look well to this loud wail from our widows and orphans.

Yours,

B. F. WHITE,
Sec. Board of Finance.

October 7th, 1878.

Attention, Alabama Conference.

MOBILE, November 5, 1878.

Dear Doctor—Please state, through the Advocate, that the recent heavy frosts have stopped the yellow fever in Mobile, and the Board of Health have officially announced it safe for absentees to return. The people are rapidly returning and business is opening.

Presiding Elders will confer a favor by forwarding to Bro. Hill or myself the names of the lay delegates from their districts. Visitors and brethren who expect to bring members of their families are also requested to notify us, so that proper arrangements can be made for their entertainment. Due notice will be given as to rates of fare on railroads and steamboats.

Yours,

J. O. ANDREW.

From Port Gibson.

Dr. Parker.—I write to inform you of the death, at Rocky Springs, in this county, of Rev. D. A. J. Parker, member of the Mississippi Conference, of yellow fever. He died on the second of November; his wife also of the same disease, a few days previous. About thirty white persons have died in that community, and our church has suffered largely, having lost, among others, Rev. J. J. Harper, a local preacher, and his wife.

Bro. J. W. Sandell has been with his people in the midst of the fever, but has escaped thus far.

Among recent deaths in the vicinity of Port Gibson, there have been Mrs. D. B. Humphreys and Mrs. Lilly Bertron, daughter of ex-Gov. Humphreys. Yours truly,

E. H. MOUNGER.

PORT GIBSON, Miss., Nov. 5, 1878.

East Mississippi Female College.

The Board of Health of Meridian has made formal public announcement that yellow fever has disappeared from among us as an epidemic, and solicits the return of refugees and the opening out of business. I feel satisfied that I will not err in urging the immediate return of pupils to the College. School opens on Monday the eleventh of November. We will endeavor to complete a full year's course to those who get in by the eighteenth of November, by running the session a little further into the summer, and making closer improvement of the current time. No cases of fever have originated in the neighborhood of the College, and in any considerate mind there can appear no reason for delay.

J. W. ADKISSON.

MERIDIAN, Miss., Nov. 9, 1878.

Our preachers at Chattanooga did not leave their posts of peril to attend Conference. Among the first things at the session of the Holston Conference at Knoxville, October 23, was the passage of the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, Our dear brethren, R. H. Parker, J. W. Smith, and M. D. Thompson, are not present at this session of the Conference, being detained at their posts in Chattanooga by the presence of the yellow fever; therefore,

Resolved, That we heartily approbate the Christian fidelity of those devoted brethren, and that we pray God for their continued safty from the pestilence in the midst of which they are remaining.

Resolved, also, That the Secretary be requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to the brethren in question.

Mississippi Conference.

The people of Meridian are not willing to resign the honor and pleasure of entertaining the Conference at its ensuing session. To transfer to Hazlehurst the seat of Conference would seriously disappoint a large proportion of the members. Therefore, with full appreciation of the elegant and generous tender made by the good people of Hazlehurst, I advise that the subject be no further agitated—lest confusion ensue.

JOHN A. ELLIS, P. E.
Meridian District.

We had a pleasant quarterly meeting trip to Baton Rouge last week. The Congregations were good—love-feast in good tone, and the church generally in good condition. Bro. Sawyer is doing a fine work, and the people there expect him back next year. There were three cases of yellow fever left in Baton Rouge on the eleventh, but the town is healthy and business is reviving. In this latitude the yellow fever is over, although sporatic cases may occur now and then.

Rev. Charles Samuel Hart, a member of the Alabama Conference, and pastor of the Crawford Circuit, died at the parsonage, October 21. Bro. Hurt was a very efficient and useful preacher, and greatly beloved by his charge and by his brethren in the ministry. He died of congestion of the heart and lungs after a short illness. Dr. M. S. Andrews has furnished us an obituary, which will appear soon.

Rev. James Shanks, a superannuated member of the Mississippi Conference, died in Clark county, Miss., October 4. Bro. Shanks was nearly eighty years old, and had been in the ministry about fifty years. He was a faithful preacher, well posted in the Methodist standard authors, and filled with the spirit. Dr. West sends us an obituary which will appear soon. His end was one of peaceful triumph.

Rev. D. C. Brown, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, Friars Point, Mississippi, writes us, October 12, that the yellow fever had been very fatal at Friars Point. There had been twelve cases and seven deaths. Bro. Brown's letter reached us one month after date. At the time of writing he was at his work and reorganizing Church and Sunday-school.

Health of the City.

For the 24 hours ending at 12 M., Tuesday, November 12, there were two deaths from yellow fever, and no new cases reported. There have been several frosts, the weather is cool and dry, and we believe that absentees run but little if any risk in returning.

The elections are now over and the results are known. The Southern States have gone Democratic, but there have been decided Republican gains in most of the Northern States. Both Houses of Congress will be Democratic, but the majority on joint ballot will be small.

Writing of the recent session of the Holston Conference, the Holston Methodist says:

The Conference is full to overflowing, and when the charges were all supplied with preachers there were sixteen over; but they have been wedged in here and there, and we hope the plethora will work well.

The Revs. R. H. Parker and John W. Smith attended Conference right out of the yellow fever atmosphere of Chattanooga. They looked well, and the preachers were thankful that these beloved brethren had been so mercifully preserved from the pestilence. They returned to their duties and dangers before the close of the session.

Mrs Herrick gives notice that the publication of the Southern Review will be continued.

Messrs. W. A. & C. J. Griffith, of Salem, Va., are now the publishers, and it is to be issued from Richmond, Va. Mrs. A. T. Bledsoe, Jas. a liberal interest in the proceeds, and Mrs. S. Bledsoe Herrick continues as one of the editors.

The first number under the new auspices, will date from January 1, 1879.

Books and Periodicals.

THE LIFE AND LABORS OF REV. E. M. MARVIN, D.D., LL.D., one of the Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; together with a discussion of some of the more important points of doctrine and principles of Church polity taught by the Methodist Episcopal Churches. By D. R. McAnally. St. Louis: Logan G. Dameron: Agent, Advocate Publishing House. 1878.

The author states in the preface, alluding to several other biographies:

"With these facts before him the present author had no encouragement, inclination nor desire to attempt a detailed account of the life and labors of Bishop Marvin; but that life and those labors furnished an appropriate text for the presentation and discussion of some points in Methodist doctrine and economy, which the author believed needed to be before the church. The opportunity was favorable, and he embraced it, as he had a right to do. How he has accomplished his work the reader will judge for himself. He asked no one's permission to write—he sought the assistance of none—he had from the first all the materials he desired, and has used them in the following pages agreeably to his own original purpose."

The apologetic tone of the writer indicates that he anticipated objections to the publication. Without discussing the question of right, we have doubted the propriety of Dr. McAnally's course. We think it would have been better had the discussion of Methodist doctrine and polity been given to the public in a separate work. Connecting it with the name of Bishop Marvin may secure for it a wider circulation and a more extensive sale, but as the life and labors were already announced to be prepared by another hand, and by one who was the choice of the Bishop's family, and also of his surviving colleagues, we can but regret that Dr. McAnally did not withhold the biographical part of his volume. Whatever may be the intrinsic merit of his book, it will be damaged in the estimate of many by the circumstances under which it appears. The volume is a large 12 mo. of 330 pages, and is brought out in handsome style. Price $1 50.

The International Lesson Hymnal, edited by David C. Cook, published by David C. Cook, Chicago, Impresses us as a work of real merit. The songs and hymns are selected with judgment, and the music, for the most part, is excellent.

—Blackwood's, Edinburgh, Magazine for October, has the following table of contents: The New Ordeal; preliminary; Fireflies; Visions in the South, Poetry; Through the Ivory Gate; Holy Day; The Troubles of a Scotch Traveler; John Caldigate, part 7; Three days in Paris; Fred, a tale from Japan; Transiations from Heine, by Theodore Martin; The New Routes to India; Eastern Prospects.

National Repository for November is unusually profuse and attractive in its illustrations. The articles are Knickerbocker Literature; The Ice Bridge; Along the Riviera; The Cloud; Logan, the Mingo Chief; About Precious Stones; Egypt in 1878; Dum Vivimus, Vivamus; Among the Thorns; Christian Lyrle Poetry; Country Sounds; Editorial Miscellany.

—Wide Awake for November is a delightful number of this always charming magazine. It is filled with pictures, poetry, stories and articles of instruction for the young. Edited by Ella Farman. D. Lothrop & Co., Publishers, Boston. Price $2 a year.

—An article by Ernest Renan on "The Emperor Hadrian and Christianity," is to appear in the November-December number of the North American Review; also a paper entitled "Pessimism in the Nineteenth Century," by Rev. Dr. Samuel Osgood.

—Vick's Illustrated Monthly for November has been received. It is a thing of beauty.

—The Princeton Review for November has the following articles: National Morality; The Rights and Duties of Science; Philosophy as Scientia Scientiarum; The European equilibrium; Copyrights and Patents; Man's Place in Nature; Duties of Higher towards Lower Races; Eclipses of the Sun; The Recent Solar Eclipse; A Criticism of the Critical Philosophy, in reply to Professor Mahaffy; Physiological Metaphysics.

—The British Quarterly Review for October, 1878, American Edition, The Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York, has the following table of contents: The Universities and the Renaissance; Lessing as Philosopher and Theologian; Joubert; Buffon and Cremn; Bosnia, Herzegovina and Austria; Tent Work in Palestine; Mr. Hughes on the Establishment; The Three Treaties; Contemporary Literature.

—American Agriculturist for November abounds in beautiful illustrations, and is filled with practical information. It is the cheapest and best periodical of its kind that we know of. Published by the Orange Judd Co., New York. Price $1 50.

THE DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

For Jackson District, Mississippi Conference will meet at Canton, Miss., Thursday, December 5, 1878. The local and traveling preachers and delegates are requested to attend as promptly as the duties will permit, and be ready with their reports.

F. M. FEATHERSTON, P. E.

November 8, 1878.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS FOR 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	BISHOP.	TIME.
W. Virginia	Catlettsburg	Pierce	Sept.
Denver	W. Los Ahlos	Wightman	Sept.
Western	Wyandotte	Doggett	Sept.
Missouri	Macon	Doggett	Sept.
Illinois	Paoa	Kavanaugh	Sept.
Kentucky	Shelbyville	Pierce	Sept.
Montana	Helena	Wightman	Sept.
S. W. Missouri	Clinton	Doggett	Sept.
Louisville	Cadiz	Pierce	Sept.
Columbia	Roseburg	Wightman	Oct.
Tennessee	Clarksville	Kavanaugh	Oct.
St. Louis	Charleston	Doggett	Oct.
Indian Miss.	Muscogee, CN	McTyeire	Oct.
West Texas	San Marcos	Keener	Oct.
Pacific	San Francisco	Wightman	Oct.
Holston	Knoxville	Kavanaugh	Oct.
Arkansas	Russellville	McTyeire	Oct.
N. W. Texas	Belton	Keener	Oct.
Los Angeles	S. Bernardino	Wightman	Oct.
White River	Searcy	McTyeire	Oct.
Virginia	Petersburg	Pierce	Nov.
Florida	Gainesville	Kavanaugh	Nov.
German Miss	Industry	Keener	Nov.
North Texas	Terrell	Keener	Nov.
N. Carolina	Charlotte	Pierce	Nov.
N. Alabama	Athens	Kavanaugh	Nov.
N. Georgia	Marietta	McTyeire	Nov.
Little Rock	Hot Springs	Doggett	Nov.
Texas	Cumpled Hill	Keener	Dec.
Memphis	Paris	Pierce	Dec.
N. Mississippi	Macon	Pierce	Dec.
S. Carolina	Newberry	Pierce	Dec.
Alabama	Mobile	Kavanaugh	Dec.
S. Georgia	Thomasville	McTyeire	Dec.
East Texas	Tyler	Keener	Dec.
Mississippi	Meridian	Pierce	Dec.
Louisiana	New Orleans	Doggett	Jan.
Baltimore	Salem	Wightman	Mar.

Publisher's Department.

MR. E. E. F. ROSS, one of the staff of this paper, is now traveling through the West and East on business connected with the ADVOCATE. Any attention shown him will be appreciated.

We take pleasure in calling attention to the advertisement in another column of a young lady for a position as teacher in a school or private family. Being personally acquainted with her, we can bear testimony and recommend her as one worthy the services of an accomplished teacher and lady in the highest moral character.

The advertisement of Bolo Pocket Knives, by Gen. Wm. Kendrick & Son, 110 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky., will be seen in this issue. They enjoy a reputation which can be gained in no other way than by a course of fair and honest dealing. There is no cutlery establishment in the South more deserving of public confidence than this house. Send and get one of their Bolo watches and you will never want to be without one. Or if you prefer anything else for fifteen dollars. In order to send and send money with the order, add 25 cents for express charges.

BRINLY PLOWS.—These plows are well known to the planters of the South, and do not need an extended notice. We would simply say that the manufacturers, Messrs. Brinly, Miles & Hughes, have kept up to the same high standard which has made their reputation. See advertisement in this paper.

THE SILK FOOT PROTECTOR, advertised in our paper is an article that should be in every shoe, and we should think it would be a great protection in this climate from cold and dampness. It is said to be a relief from corns. The price is only twenty-five cents, and we would advise all of our readers who have cold feet to send on for a pair or more pairs.

MASON & HAMLIN ORGANS.—We have pleasure in calling attention to Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organs, advertised in another column, because these instruments are so useful, not only in churches and Sunday-schools, but especially in families. That the wider dissemination of these instruments is to be encouraged, and has been the experience of those made by Mason & Hamlin is so well established that we do not need to say in buying an organ you should make sure to get where they have the highest reputation. Where they have received the highest awards at the great World's Fairs, coming in competition with the best makers of Europe, and have always taken the highest honors, the most musicians agree that they are of peculiar excellence.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

An Ounce of Prevention is worth a pound of cure. Ruffner's Specific and Yellow Fever Pills, for the bowels, liver and stomach, are the ounce of prevention. Sold by druggists, or sent by mail, by using Magazine's Combination.

For particulars regarding Poetry, Rights address, RUFFNER MEDICINE CO., Cincinnati, Ohio.

JUST ISSUED.

A New Quarterly Conference Record, printed forms, arranged to meet the business as laid down in the new Discipline. Price $2 50. Sent by mail for $2 75. Any change in the whole church can be made to have it copy.

Address Advocate Publishing House, LOGAN G. DAMERON, Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

DR. WILDER'S ANTI-CHILL AND FEVER AND AGUE TONIC. Will be found to satisfied itself, in the case. It is universally admitted to be the most valuable and harmless Chill remedy in the pharmacopœia, is endorsed by the leading physicians of the very best people from all parts of the country. It cures malarious diseases of every type from the shaking ague to the lingering fevers of the low lands. Price 50 cts. If not to be had of your druggist, write to the proprietors, Wilder, Eastman & Co., Cincinnati, O. Sold by all druggists.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, cause blister, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 667 North Sixth street, St. Louis. (Lindell Hotel.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Farmers, Families and others can purchase the celebrated Dr. TOBIAS VENETIAN LINIMENT for the cure of Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Sea Colic and Sea-Sickness, taken internally as directed in bottles; sore throat accompanying colds, bruises and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Toothache, Sore Throat, Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Insect bites, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Pains in the Limbs, Back and Chest. The VENETIAN LINIMENT was introduced in 1847, and no one who has used it but continues to do so, finds, stating it was ten dollars a bottle they would not be without it. Thousands of certificates can be seen at the depot, speaking of its wonderful healing qualities. Sold by the druggists at 40 cents. Depot, 42 Murray street, New York.

BLYMYER M'F'G CO
BELLS
Church, School, Fire alarm, Tower Clocks, Chimes, Peals, etc. Catalogue with 1600 testimonials, prices, etc., sent free. Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O.

MORE BUZZING IN YOUR HEAD, DEAFNESS, BLINDNESS, SPINAL TROUBLES.

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Liquid Substitute for Quinine

CHILLS AND FEVER CURE.

NEW DISCOVERY

After

other Medicine required, it is used alone.

Liquid Substitute for Quinine ... poisoning ... Diseases ... Fever, Bilious or Typhoid ... Sore Eyes ... Rheumatism, it will ... other Medicine required, it is used alone. ... Liquid Substitute for Quinine ... poisoning ... Diseases ... exist ... taken by the ... follow ... the causes of Chills and ... MISSISSIPPI VALLEY ... This new discovery ... Substitute for Quinine ... or any Fever ... Chills, Fever ... Dr. J. H. McLEAN, ... St. Louis, Mo.

NEW PRINCIPLE! A NEW WAY!

Dr. J. H. McLean's

LIVER AND LUNG-HEALING GLOBULES.

After Use.

Take no more medicine than is in the Stomach to go up to cure the Lungs.

... Globules ... Way of Living ... Liver ... Lungs ... Heart ... Blood ... After Use.

... They ... Medicine ... A ... Liver ... Lungs ... Heart ... Blood ... Globules ... Dr. J. H. McLEAN, ... St. Louis, Mo.

ABSORBS THE POISON, 378

... Say that CATARRH is cured by

Dr. J. H. McLean's

Celebrated Catarrh Snuff

After Use.

This ... and wonderful ... all cases of ... is ... to the ... Nose, Throat, or ... Skin. Dr. J. H. McLean's ... Catarrh Powder will ... at once with the ... to the ... Head, or Skin, and it will ... Catarrh, Sores in the Nose, Pimples, Black Specks on the Face or Skin, Eruptions, Scrofulous Taint, etc. ... Dr. J. H. McLean's Catarrh Snuff is ... these cases. It will ... poison ... and cure ... Druggists ... Address J. H. McLEAN, ... ST. LOUIS, MO.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.

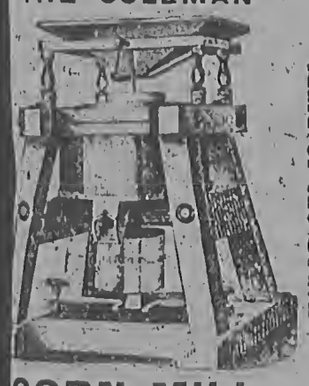
Engines and Machinery,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines, Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Presses and Machinery delivered at Boats or river landings.

Engine prices greatly reduced.

THE COLEMAN



Mail of the South

CORN MILL.

... at every Fair from New York ... Texas, over thirty-three different ... during the past twenty-eight years. ... the only Gold Medal ever awarded for ... Mill in the United States. Simple ... and cheap, with solid French ... Made by ... D. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., ... New Orleans, La.

...eman's Simple Screw Press.

... Complete ... $165 00

... and Iron Screw (3 inches in diameter ... Cheese. Simple, strong, durable ... arranged to pack a 500 lbs bale, send for ... Manufactured by ... D. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., ... New Orleans, La ... also the Friction Power Press (this ... picture).

...NGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.

...INCREASING POPULARITY.

... Delivered in 1876-77 ... 1,500
... Delivered in 1877-78 ... 8,000

COST OF

... including freight ... 80 cts. per bale.
... including freight ... $30 to $40 per bale.

... wanted to collect orders for a com...

...dley-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo. ... Manufacturers of Wire and Iron Goods.

WIRE RAILING AND Ornamental Wire Works.

...TER & CO., No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacturing WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, etc., Sleeves, Fenders, Cages, Sand Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron ... Chairs, etc.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Globe Wagon Manufactory

D. T. SHEAHON & CO.,

PROPRIETORS,

Wagons, Carts & Drays

MADE TO ORDER.

Southern Orders Respectfully Solicited.

... Cor. Clark and Convent ... ST. LOUIS, MO.

BUFUS R. EDSON. ARTHUR L. EDSON.

EDSON & SON,

Manufacturers of

Carriages and Buggies

LIGHT AND HEAVY SPRING WAGONS.

715 North Eighth Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

... Barouches, Phaetons, Buggies and all kinds of Spring Wagons constantly on hand and made to order.

FIRST PREMIUM AT ST. LOUIS FOR 1878.

JOHN KIMPEL,

Manufacturer of

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES,

PLATFORM WAGONS, TRUCKS,

LIGHT AND HEAVY SPRING WAGONS.

Nos. 210, 212 & 214 Spruce St., ST. LOUIS, MO.

... Barouches, Buggies and all kinds of Spring Wagons.

Broadway Foundry Co.

JOHN J. HOLLIDAY,

SUPERINTENDENT.

313 Carr Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Manufacturers of Stationary and Portable

Steam Engines and Boilers

McLAY AND CIRCULAR SAW MILLS,

Saw and Grist Mill Machinery, Rolling Mill and Blast Furnace Castings, Wrought Shafting, and House Work. PARKER'S & JOHNSON'S WATER WHEELS. Tubular and Lard-Press screws, Compound Tobacco Presses, Door Knobs, Iron and Brass CASTINGS of every description, also Grist Mills and Smelting Furnaces of most improved descriptions.

... Pratt Patent Cut-off. THE WHEEL & LEVALLEY PATTERNS OF GATY MFG. CO.

J. B. DAVIES, ... of Louisville, Mechanical Engr.

Music Teachers Will Do Well

TO USE

... Scholars, Mason's Pianoforte Technics

... a book of Sterling merit, which ... Technical Exercises, which may be expanded to many thousands if desired. Admirably prepared by Wm. MASON, assisted by Wm. B. Matthews.

... For Organ Scholars, Clarke's Harmonic School

... for the ORGAN. ... The newest and the very best Organ School. Teaches one position as well as playing. By Wm. H. Clarke.

... For Thorough ... these Scholars, JOHNSON'S NEW METHOD FOR THOROUGH BASS ... The simplest and best method ever issued ... showing by Figured Tunes other Progressions &c. Ask for the New Methods.

... For Singing Classes, ONWARD Singing School Book by L. O. Emerson. $6 per dozen, and JOHNSON'S Method for Singing Classes, $9 per dozen, are splendid books, differing in price and contents, but accomplishing the same excellent result in diverse ways. Examine both.

... Address, OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO.,

843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

CONVERTIBLE FARM MILL.

THE simplest and most durable stone mill in the world. Any farmer can run and grind as fine meal as they may want, by steam, stove or water power, and as the cheapest feed mill in use. Every Mill guaranteed. Send for Circular B with Price List.

Vertical position.

C. H. McGLENEY & Co., 50 Lake St., Chicago.

GOLD MEDAL

has been awarded at the Paris Exposition of 1878 to

J. & P. COATS,

for their best Six-Cord Spool Cotton, confirming the estimate placed upon their goods at all the World's Expositions, from that at London, 1862, to the Centennial Exposition of 1876, where they took a Diploma for "SUPERIOR STRENGTH AND EXCELLENT QUALITY."

The Second Prize of a Silver Medal was taken by the Willimantic Linen Company, which claims to be the special champion of American industry, and which has extensively advertised a Grand Prize at Paris.

NO GRAND PRIZES were awarded for Spool Cotton at PARIS.

J. & P. Coats have established in Pawtucket, R. I., the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States. Every process of Manufacture, from the Raw Cotton to the finished spool, is conducted there. Their American-made Spool Cotton took the award at the Centennial, and while they have never claimed special Merit for their American-made Spool Cotton over that Manufactured in their Scotch Mills, we have the satisfaction of announcing that they have so identified themselves with this country, that AMERICA as represented by

J. & P. COATS, IS STILL

AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON.

ADCHINCLOSS BROTHERS,

... Agents.

GET THE BEST.

Webster's Unabridged.

THE STANDARD

... Schools recommended by State Supt's of 35 States and by 50 College Presidents. ... 32,000 have been placed in Public Schools by law or by School Officers. ... CONTAINS 3,000 Illustrations, nearly three times as many as any other Dictionary. ... Dictionary used in the Govt Printing Office. ... Webster's in 10 times as great as that of any other series of Dictionaries. ... published by G. & C. MERRIAM, Springfield, Mass.

DISCOVERY ... by which hair can be ... to grow on the smoothest heads. The papers all over the country contain notices of the remarkable virtues of Mrs. Hyatt's Hair Restorer, and there are scores of people, witnesses in St. Louis, who take pleasure in testifying to the efficacy of this Restorer. Mrs. Hyatt's principle is the most reasonable, because she proceeds on the well-based supposition that the Hair germ never dies while life exists in the person, and that it is only necessary to stimulate the germ to produce a satisfactory growth. Three bottles for $5. Her unexcelled Hair Dye and Tonic to be used when ... the order and ... ST. LOUIS, MO. ... 205 NORTH SIXTH ST., ... St. Louis, Mo.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles, just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CUTHBERT, 218 Fulton street, New York.

AGENTS WANTED.

William Cullen Bryant's

LATEST AND GREATEST WORK,

Outselling all others combined. Richly Illustrated, ... the NEW BRYANT BIOGRAPHY and New Steel Portrait. Sold only by Subscription. WANTED—A gentleman or lady of tact and ability, with or without business experience. ... BORIS, HOWARD & HULBERT, New York.

AGENTS WANTED FOR DR. MARCH'S NEW BOOK

FROM DARK TO DAWN.

In this new volume the popular Author of NIGHT SCENES IN THE BIBLE portrays with vivid and thrilling force the events of Sacred Truth, and adds fresh testimony to the beauty, pathos and sublimity of the Stories of the Bible. Agents will find this Book with its sparkling thoughts, beautiful engravings, and rich bindings, the best in the market. Terms Liberal. Circulars Free.

J. C. McCURDY & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

... 60w

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE

PICTORIAL

History of the World.

It contains 672 fine historical engravings and 12 large double column pages, and it is the most complete History of the world ever published. It sells at sight. Send for specimen pages and extra terms to Agents, and see why it sells faster than any other book. Address

NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

AGENTS WANTED FOR

LITERATURE, ART & SONG.

Acknowledged the Best, Rarest and Handsomest Book ever issued from the American Press, combining Poetry, Histories, Biographies, Essays, Anecdotes and Music. Magnificently Illustrated; with over 100 Engravings. A beautiful Steel-Engraving presented gratis to each subscriber. This work should be in every home circle. AGENTS.—This is the book to take orders for the Holidays. Extra inducements to competent Agents. Write at once for terms and territory. J. B. CHAMBERS & CO., St. Louis, Mo., and Atlanta, Ga.

GOOD NEWS

TO ALL OUT OF EMPLOYMENT.

We will send free by mail to any one desiring pleasant and profitable employment, a beautiful Chromo and confidential circular of the American and European Chromo Company, showing how to make money. We have something entirely new, such as has never been offered to the public before. There is lots of money to make for agents. Address, inclosing 3c stamp for return postage on Chromo:

P. GLEASON, 19 Essex St., Boston, Mass.

$500. MADE IN 87 DAYS. CATALOGUE FREE. Buckeye Novelty Co., Cincinnati, O.

NOW READY!

The Grand Achievements of

STANLEY. Only $2.75.

By Henry J. T. Headley, the Prince of descriptive authors. A full history of his explorations in Africa, and more than journey down the Congo. A new exciting book, bristling with wild adventure and thrilling scenes of danger. Is profusely illustrated. The public eagerly await it. It is selling wonderfully.

CAUTION Beware of misstatements of interested parties, but send for proof of genuineness and full description of this work.

N. D. THOMPSON & CO., Pubs., St. Louis, Mo. AGENTS WANTED.

$7 A DAY to Agents canvassing for the Fireside Visitor. Terms and outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE MADE by Agents selling our Chromos, Crayons, Picture and Chromo Cards. 125 samples, worth $5, sent postpaid for 85 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Estab'd 1830.

AGENTS wanted to sell THE PURSE OF RUM, including Life and Work of Murphy and Reynolds, with History of the movement. Richly illustrated. Fully illustrated. Price, only $2. GUARANTEE PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER AGENTS Wanted. $50 to $125 a Month. An Encyclopedia of Law and Forms. For Business Men, Mechanics, Farmers, Property Owners, Tenants, everybody, every business. Saves many times cost. Selling fast. Send for circular and terms. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., 530 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

MAKE $100

Acting as Our Salesman.

YOU CAN MAKE $100 PER MONTH

We are dispatch of engaging energetic AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business if not employed, and when you receive our circulars read them carefully. Address, with stamp, for particulars:

C. W. FOSTER & CO.,

273 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET,

Chicago, Illinois.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Country Orders for Millinery

AND FANCY GOODS.

Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HARDON,

Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,

87 and 89 Charters St., New Orleans,

Second door above Custom House.

NO MORE

RHEUMATISM OR GOUT

ACUTE OR CHRONIC

SALICYLICA

SURE CURE.

Manufactured by

European Salicylic Medicine Co.

OF PARIS AND LEIPZIG.

RELIEVES IMMEDIATELY

CURES PERMANENTLY

Now exclusively used by all celebrated Doctors of Europe and America, and thoroughly introduced throughout the United States, miraculous cures having been made in nearly every city and State.

Price, $1.00 a box; 6 boxes for 5.00.

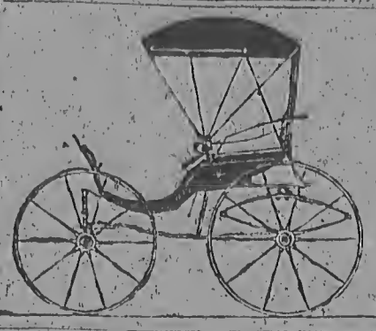
Orders filled by mail, or ask your Druggist for it.

WASHBURNE & CO.

Sole Agents,

23 Cliff street New York.

MISCELLANEOUS.



ANDERSON, HARRIS & CO.,

Wholesale Manufacturers of

Buggies, Phætons,

CARRIAGES AND VEHICLES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

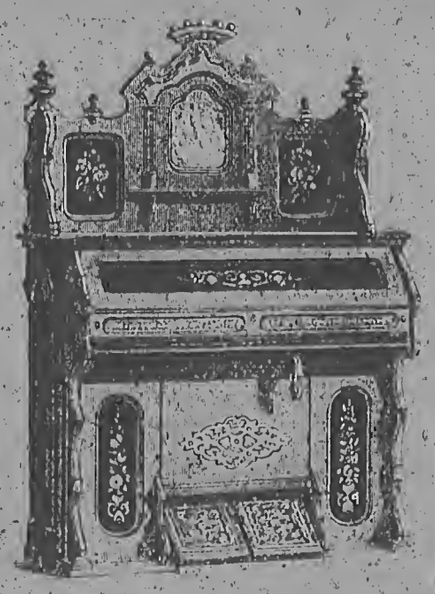
OFFICE AND FACTORY:

N. E. Cor. Baymiller and Liberty Sts.,

CINCINNATI.

Sixth Street Cars pass the door.

PHILIP WERLEIN.



This Cut Represents

MASON & HAMLIN'S

$190 ORGAN,

REDUCED TO $135,

on easiest payments—$10 cash, and $3 a month. In 24, 21 and 27 months. Freight to be added.

$90 Organ Reduced to $72.

EQUITABLY ...

Very lately one very Prominent ... Hale & Co. ... for and ... $400 style reduced to $270 ... easiest payments ... $5 cash ... and $2 a month ... until paid.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 CANAL STREET,

... Agent for the ...

THICKERING & SONS PIANOS.

MATHUSHEK PIANOS.

HALES PIANOS.

HARDMAN'S PIANOS.

ORGANS.

MASON & HAMLIN'S.

ESTEY & CO.'S.

NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO.'S.

Liberal discount for cash.

Persons at a distance may order with the assurance of receiving just as good instruments as though present to select for themselves. If not found satisfactory they may be returned at my expense.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 Canal street, New Orleans.

H. W. JOHNS' PATENT.

ASBESTOS

MATERIALS.

LIQUID PAINTS.

THE finest and most durable paints in the world for structural purposes. Send for pamphlets and references.

ASBESTOS ROOFING.

With much less cost of coating, for steep or flat roofs. The only reliable substitute for tin.

Boiler Coverings, Steam Packing, Sheathing, Felts, Roof Paint, Fire-Proof Paints, Coatings, Cements, etc.

All these materials are prepared ready for use, and can be easily applied by any one. We guarantee the quality of our goods to be second to none in the world. From 1 to 2 per cent. of customary outlays can be saved by their use.

Samples, illustrated pamphlets, price lists, etc., sent free. Liberal inducements to dealers and large consumers. Send 15c. for samples and reduced price list.

From the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion.

Jackson, Mississippi.

Mr. C. H. Manship, of Jackson, one of the best painters in the State, and a gentleman of great intelligence and worth, says in reference to these Paints:

"I have tested them fully, and am prepared to say that the Paints, which are of all colors and shades, are not only the cheapest, but the best I have used in my experience as a painter for the last fifty years, and the certificates in my possession to the superiority of the roofing are sufficient to dispel all doubt on the subject. C. H. MANSHIP."

CALEB A. PARKER & CO.,

GENERAL AGENTS FOR ALABAMA, GEORGIA, TENNESSEE, LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND TEXAS.

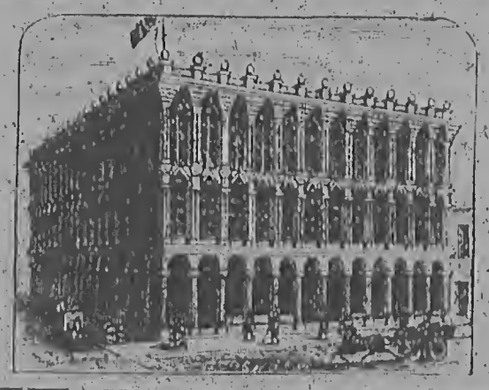
NO. 10 UNION ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY,

FURNITURE EMPORIUM,

Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.

FEATHERS.



BEDDING, HAIR AND MOSS MATTRESSES.

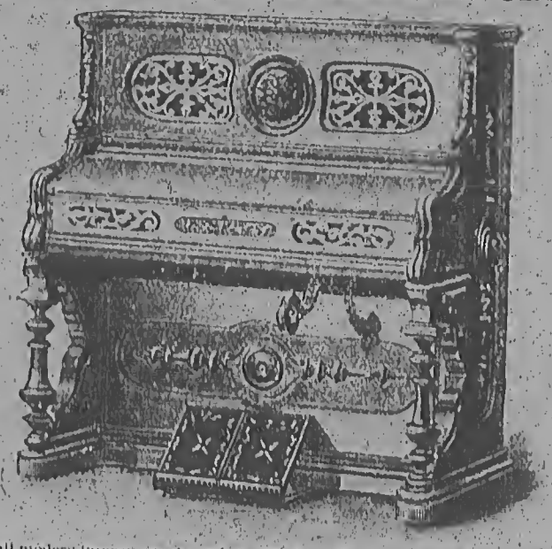
FINE PARLOR SUITS,

IN SILK, SATIN, COTTOLINE REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.

FINE BED-ROOM SUITS! IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.

Fine Dining Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Sideboards, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.

THE NEW ENGLAND CABINET ORGAN.



CONTAIN all modern improvements, and are furnished in a variety of styles and musical compositions, adapted to Churches and Home use. Every instrument fully warranted. Illustrated catalogues sent free upon application to the NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO., 1299 Washington St., Boston, Mass. PHILIP WERLEIN, Sole Agent, New Orleans, La. ... 60w

W. C. TOOMER,

GENERAL

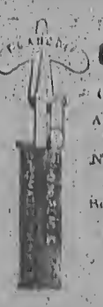
COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE 48 Crondelet St., Cor. Tulane,

NEW ORLEANS.

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made in this market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in this city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Stockton Cypress Mills. Lumber for Plantation use filled to order.



THE STANDARD

CHROMATIC TUNING OR PITCH-PIPE.

Gives the correct pitch of fifty tones.

Natural, Sharp or Flat.

Adjusted to the desired pitch instantly. Never gets out of order.

FINELY NICKEL PLATED.

No Leader Instrumental Player or Singer should be without one.

RETAILED AT $1.50.

Sent to any address upon receipt of price.

DANIEL F. READ & CO.,

647 BROADWAY, N. Y.

Inventors and Manufacturers.

Sold by all Music Dealers.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PORTABLE FARM SCALE.

ONE OUNCE TO 500 POUNDS

WARRANTED TO WEIGH ACCURATELY

Made of best material with Steel Beam. Price $10. EDWARD THOMSON, ... Imperial Yard, ... Nos. 114 & 116 Fulton ... New York.

LIVE AGENTS WANTED.

WANTED Agents For THE PICTORIAL Bible Commentator.

... St. Louis ... 175 ... Pages ... Many ... Illustrations ... FAMILY ...

Umpire Measuring Jar.

... Liquids ... Agents Wanted. EMPIRE GLASS CO. RICHARD ELLIS ...

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORGANS,

ONLY GOLD MEDAL

Paris Exposition, 1878.

PARIS, 1878. AT EVERY
Two Highest Medals. WORLD'S
SWEDEN, 1878 EXPOSITION
PHILADA., 1876
SANTIAGO, '75 FOR 12 YEARS
VIENNA, 1873
PARIS, 1867 HIGHEST HONORS

At the Paris Exposition, 1878, ... awarded the GOLD MEDAL ... GRAND GOLD MEDAL OF SWEDEN AND NORWAY, 1878. No other American organs ever attained highest award at ANY World's Exposition.

... MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO. ... BOSTON. NEW YORK. CHICAGO.

MEDICATED RAW SILK FOOT PROTECTOR

PATD APRIL 2 1878 MFD BY STUTTLE & SONS PHILA

... Cured wool ... of the ... feet. ... When ... and ... cold or damp ... feet, ... to prevent ... cure ... Sold by ... Druggists ... Send for ... circular. ... Agents ... D. W. JOHNSON, ... 323 Arch Street, ... Philadelphia.

DR. S. H. P. LEE'S

LITHONTRIPTIC

CURES STONE AND GRAVEL, GALL STONES, DIABETES, GOUT, ENLARGEMENT OF THE PROSTATE GLAND, and in the incipient stages BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

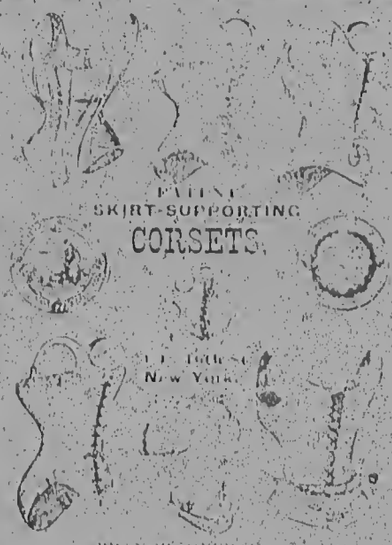
... DISEASES ...

STONE AND GRAVEL

... Kidneys, Liver ... Bladder, Etc. ...

LADY AGENTS WANTED FOR

MADAME GRISWOLD'S



PATENT SKIRT-SUPPORTING

CORSETS.

... New York.

BRANCH OFFICE:

No. 11 WINTER ST., BOSTON, MASS.

... of the above ... postpaid, ... Send for descriptive ... CAUTION ... Beware ... Trade Mark.

THIS NEW

ELASTIC TRUSS

SENSIBLE TRUSS ... PENNSYLVANIA ... HAS A PECULIAR ... THE INNER.

... Eggleston Truss Co., Chicago, Ill.

REVOLVER FREE.

... Adm'r's Linen & Sons Linen & ... Worsted Publishing Co.

STAMPING PATTERNS. ... Stamped Samples of ... Designs for ... The best ... Just out. ... A. HERNARD, Pictorial St., N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the Standard Family Medicine [illegible] A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits.

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that result from MALARIOUS POISON and a DERANGED LIVER such as Dyspepsia, Constipation, Bilious Fevers, Sick Headache, Jaundice, Dizziness, Nausea at the Stomach, Pain in the Shoulder, Disturbed Sleep, Fluttering of the Heart, Nervous Apprehensions, Piles, Loss of Appetite, Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Nervous Irritability, Kidney Diseases, Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Bilious Colic, Painful Menstruation, Whites, Rheumatism, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Dropsy, Female Weakness, Sick Headache, Loss of Memory, Female Irregularities, Neuralgia, Blotches on the Face, Tetter, Ringworm, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Salt Rheum, Boils, Carbuncles, Coughs, Colds, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, Scrofulous Affections of the Throat, Neck, Breast and Lungs, Liver Complaint, Dumb Ague, Fever and Ague, Malarial Fevers, Ague Cake, Enlargement of the Spleen, Scrofulous Inflammation, Kidney Diseases, Diabetes, Dropsy, Gravel, Pain in the Back, Kidneys and Bladder, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Despondency, Melancholy, Headache, Impaired Memory, Spasms, St. Vitus' Dance, Epilepsy, Fits, Impaired Vision, Paralysis, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Hot Flashes, Debility, Dizziness, Sudden Faintness, Lack of Confidence, Want of Energy, Nervousness, Wakefulness, Biliousness, Cold Feet, Chilliness, Cramps and Pains, Sinking Spells, Diseases of the Blood, Heart, Lungs, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder and Nerves.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a [illegible] Dull Pain in the Head, Costive Bowels, Weak Stomach, Sour Eructations, Acrid Rising in the Throat, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Waterbrash, Low Spirits, Blues, Lassitude, Lack of Energy, Nervousness, Irritability, Low State of the Feelings, Dizziness, Want of Attention, Dullness of Perception, Lack of Memory, Timidity, Wakefulness at Night, Restlessness, Nightmare, Horrible Dreams, Hot Flashes, Sudden Faintness, Cold Feet, Drowsiness after Meals, Yellow Skin, Sick Headache, Frequent Headache, Dizziness, Blotches on the Face, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, Constipation, Scanty Supply of Urine, Highly Colored Urine, Sediment in the Urine, Frequent Desire to Urine, Smarting Sensation, Pain in the Small of the Back, Kidney Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Gravel, Pain in the Back, Kidneys and Bladder, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Despondency, Melancholy, Headache, Impaired Memory, Spasms, St. Vitus' Dance, Epilepsy, Fits, Impaired Vision, Paralysis, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Hot Flashes, Debility, Dizziness, Sudden Faintness, Lack of Confidence, Want of Energy, Nervousness, Wakefulness, Biliousness, Cold Feet, Chilliness, Cramps and Pains, Sinking Spells, Diseases of the Blood, Heart, Lungs, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder and Nerves.

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

The first dose produces an effect which often astonishes the sufferer, and is a short trial follow an Appetite, Good Digestion,

SOLID FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE.

[illegible] says by a Druggist:

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

DR. TUTT: I have used your Pills in Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness, I never had anything to take hold as quick as [illegible] in my medicine chest in the way of medicine. They are the best Pill in Existence, and I have used a good many with their good merits. J. W. TRIBBETT, Dakota, Minn.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

ELASTIC JOINT

IRON ROOFING.

FIRE, WATER AND WIND PROOF.

Durable, Cheap, [illegible] Superior to any now in use. Provided with [illegible] and Contraction. In practical use sixteen years. Send for Circular and Price List. Agents wanted in every part of the country. Address for Circular, CALDWELL & CO., Cincinnati, O.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS

received the Highest Medal at the recent

PARIS EXPOSITION,

over all American competitors. Their FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET (No. 220 Bonnet) fits with perfect ease, and is so constructed as to break down over the hips. Their HEALTH CORSET, with its improved Bust, is now a greater favorite than ever. Their NURSING CORSET is the delight of every mother.

For sale by all leading merchants.

WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N.Y.

The Cheapest, Simplest, Best and Cheapest Windmill. Protected by [illegible] Twenty-Eight First Premiums. [illegible] Strong and durable. Has [illegible] and surface gears in lighter weights, more automatic and pumps more water than any other windmill ever before made. Requires no attention or [illegible] in running for years. It has successfully withstood the tornadoes of Kansas, while other mills that stood near it have been destroyed. It is rapidly superseding others there. New certificates and testimonials, and illustrated Catalogues.

Kewanee Manuf'g Co. Patentees.

C. E. 33 BROADWAY, N. Y. [illegible]

N. B.—Liberal terms to Special County Agents [illegible] parts of the World.

DRY IN ROGERS' POWDER

CITRATE OF MAGNESIA

An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

This well-known preparation is highly recommended for Dyspepsia, Headache, Sickness of the Stomach, Heartburn, and all complaints arising from Acidity, Bilious and Intermittent Fevers. It cools the blood and allays fever. It is a favorite beverage with those who have used it, being pleasant to the taste, and sweet when [illegible] refreshing. Put up in 25 cent bottles. Prepared by A. ROGERS & SONS, Chemists, N. Y.

Superior to Manuf'd Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

For sale by [illegible]

WATERS' Orchestrine changes ORGA

The finest musical invention of the present age. Has the tone quality of the celebrated Concertina, with the addition of the Human Voice, or two and a half Octaves of Sustained Power, with perfect harmony with the reeds, & effect magical & electrifying. WATERS' CLARIONA ORCHESTRAL CONCERTO-PICCOLO CENTENNIAL CHIMES, CHAPEL and COTTAGE ORGANS, of Unique French Case Suitable in every respect FIRST CLASS.

WATERS' PIANOS, GRAND SQUARE, and UPRIGHT, ARE THE BEST PLAYED, Most Powerful, Sweet Toned, Workmanship & Durability Unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Installments received. A Liberal Discount to Teachers, Clergymen, Churches, Schools, Lodges, etc. AGENTS WANTED. Special inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments at great bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK, Box, 3567.

DR. S. C. HRAM,

MANUFACTURER OF THE

SURE CURE TRUSS,

N.W. cor. Fifth & Plum sts., Cincinnati, O.

THE BEST TRUSS IN THE WORLD!

Those who have suffered [illegible] agony for years of wearing the Metallic Spring Trusses will find in the SURE CURE TRUSS all that its name implies. A positive relief to the most afflicted. Given [illegible] Upon a Bed [illegible] no springs, straps, chain or [illegible] back, it retains, under pads, the never failing, never ugly. Can be worn as a glove.

Testimonials of cures can be seen at the office. No. 1 Electric Truss, the best manufactured, warranted, at [illegible] Call for pamphlet. Examinations free.

Trusses sent [illegible] on receipt of order and money. Send chest, [illegible] by mail.

BIG GIANT CORN MILL.

Every Man His Own Miller.

[illegible] J. A. FIELD, SON & CO., 922 N. Second St., St. Louis, Mo.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Dr. [illegible] Oculist, [illegible] your face by wearing [illegible] Spectacles, when you can buy a pair that will [illegible] EYE GLASSES for [illegible] Address

DR. P. P. LEE & CO.,

[illegible] New York.

PIANOS $125 to $1000 Factory Prices [illegible] Manufacturers, America's Great Piano Co., [illegible] Mfg. Co. Pianos [illegible] Mfg. Co. [illegible]

MEDICAL.

The Most Refreshing Toilet Article.

CASSEBEER'S

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

(EAU DE QUININE)

WILL preserve, cultivate, beautify, arrest the fall of, and restore a silken softness to the Hair, and will not soil the most delicate fabrics. Price $1.

Cassebeer's Ammonia Lozenges.

For mitigating coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, dry throat, etc., and facilitating expectoration. Price 25 cents, sent by mail.

Both excellent preparations are for sale by all druggists, and by the proprietor, H. A. CASSEBEER, Apothecary, 4 Fourth avenue and 57 Bleecker street, New York.

Jenkin's ANNIHILATOR

The Great Southern Remedy for

RHEUMATISM GOUT and NEURALGIA

IS PURELY VEGETABLE, and can be taken without fear of any injurious result by the delicate as well as the robust in constitution. It purifies the Blood, stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and eradicates every vestige of the above diseases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. Pamphlets, containing testimonials and valuable advice, sent free to any address.

N. JENKINS & CO., Proprietors, New Orleans, La.

FINLAY & THOMPSON, Wholesale Druggists, General Agents, New Orleans, La.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by a true process of re-vitalization.

REMARKABLE CURES have been made in Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Headache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and the large class of ailments which come from nervous depression.

LOSS OF VITALITY feebleness of constitution, exposure to miasma, the enervating effects of climate, and especially IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES the lowered vitality which attends convalescence, and which dooms so many to permanent invalidism.

STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. JUDGE KELLEY, T. S. ARTHUR, Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Ex-Gov. BOREMAN of West Virginia, and others who have used the New Treatment.

FREE! A Treatise (200 pages) on COMPOUND OXYGEN, with many testimonials to most remarkable cures, sent free. Address

DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard St., Philada.

MISCELLANEOUS.

J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

162 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

FOUNDED JULY 1, 1808.

OLDEST SHOT TOWER IN AMERICA.

THOS. W. SPARKS,

Patent American Chilled Shot,

Standard Trap and Buck Shot

AND BAR LEAD MANUFACTURER,

121 WALNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA.

I. A. REHAN, Agent, NEW ORLEANS.

G. B. MILLER & CO., Agents, GALVESTON.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS

IN

CARRIAGE, WAGON

AND

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

And Manufacturers of

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,

At the Lowest Cash Prices.

68 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.,

Between Common and Gravier,

NEW ORLEANS.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

LADIES', GENT'S, MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.

MY MOTTO—Quick Sales and Small Profits.

Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.

A USEFUL AND USEFUL and SALEABLE ARTICLE

Weighs by every Farmer, Hunter, Trapper, Fisherman, Sportsman and Every Family.

The most perfect scale ever invented. Is graduated from 2 oz. to 2 lbs., and will weigh anything from a mosquito's proboscis to a bag of sugar. By an ingenious contrivance this little wonder-worker weighs correctly as well as a scale costing ten times as much. Any desired amount of goods can be weighed, from a single ounce to the full capacity of the scale. The weight of the receptacle in which the goods are weighed can be adjusted so as to give the exact weight of fruit or vegetables without subtracting the weight of the receptacle in which the goods are weighed—an advantage possessed by no other scale. It is nickel plated and will be sent post-paid on receipt of 75 cents.

GEORGE BETTS,

Broadway, New York.

Sole proprietor and manufacturer.

AGENTS WANTED.

MISCELLANEOUS.

LONDON MAN'F'G CO.'S

ESSENCES OF MEATS,

For Invalids, Infants and Travelers,

ESSENCE OF BEEF, MUTTON, CHICKEN.

Fully Takes the Place of Beef Ten,

UNEQUALED in Children's Complaints.
FOR INVALIDS—Natural, Pleasant, Refreshing.
FOR DISPEPTICS—Readily Assimilated.
IN CASES OF SEA SICKNESS—Afford immediate Nourishment.
AFTER CHILD-BIRTH—Meat Stimulant, Concentrated Form.

Particularly adapted for YELLOW FEVER convalescents.

Taken cold direct from the can, needing no preparation whatever.

Prepared only by the LONDON MANUFACTURING CO.,

77 & 79 VARICK STREET, NEW YORK.

For Sale by I. L. LYONS, New Orleans, La.

FITS OR EPILEPSY.

To the Editor of the Advocate:

DEAR SIR—Will you please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the cure of the above disease, and that by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing, and will give

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

for a case it will not cure or greatly benefit. Indeed, so strong is my faith, I will send,

ONE BOTTLE FREE,

together with a valuable treatise, to any sufferers addressing me, giving their name, express and P. O. address. Please show this letter to any one you may know who is suffering with this terrible disease, and oblige. Respectfully yours,

DR. H. C. ROOT, 183 Pearl Street, N. Y.

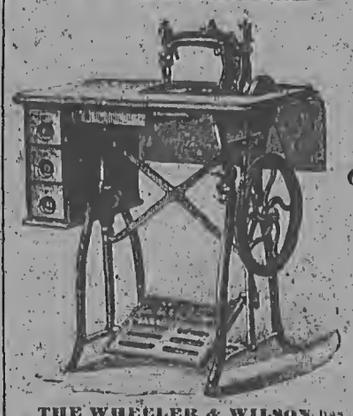
SEWING MACHINES.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to	$60.
" 90 " "	50.
" 85 " "	45.
" 80 " "	40.
" 75 " "	35.
" 70 " "	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self setting needle.
It never cuts the thread or goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no noisy rip wheels.
It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It allows the work to run back from the operator

☞ Send for our New Cash Price List.

☞ CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM:

103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Patented May 28th, 1878.

The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Man'f'g Co.

Every one who owns a cow should have one of our wonderful Milkers. A child can use them. Sent free to any part of the United States on receipt of $2. Send for our illustrated Pamphlet on the Cow, containing the testimonials of practical farmers and dairymen throughout the United States and Sectional views of a cow's teats and leg dissected and scientifically explained, by Drs. White and Wilson of this city. Sent free to any address.

GEO. E. KING, President.

Office, 878 Broadway, New York.

$8. $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES ARE the only really reliable Watch ever put on the market with a stem-set. The latest improvements in the movements. They are really beautiful Watches. Sent direct to wearer on receipt of price. Watches or Cascbel Chains from $1 to $6 delivered by the return COLLINS GOLD METAL WATCH FACTORY, 338 Broadway, N. Y. P. O. Box 2,956.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S

STEEL PENS.

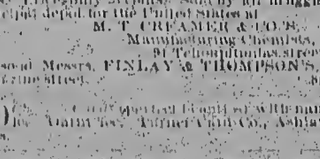
SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.

MANUFACTURERS' WAREHOUSE,

No. 91 John Street, New York.

JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

R. B. MITCHELL,



Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

183 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

FURNITURE, PICTURES,

LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.

152 ..... Camp Street 154

Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

Established in 1837.

Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks, etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.

Vanduzen & Tift, 102 to 108 E. Second St., Cincinnati.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERYBODY ANSWERS—YES!

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY, is the only reliable remedy. Simply wheat in the whole grain, rendered powerfully poisonous to vermin, and is really Nature's remedy for the complete and thorough extermination of rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will at once relieve your front those terrible and destructive pests. Price only 25 Cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States at

M. T. CREAMER & CO.'S,

Manufacturing Chemists,

91 Tchoupitoulas street,

New Orleans, La.

Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S, 35 Magazine street.

20 Cent postal Sample of Silk name, Yours Bros., Fulton Chin Co., Ashland, Mass.

30 Mixed Cards, Silver Gilt, Damask, etc., no 2 alike, with name, 10 cts. J. MINKLER & Co., Nassau, N.Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BUENA SALUD.

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SPECIFIC FOR REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia, All Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System, and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Coca leaf (erythroxylon coca), and is recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of this leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peru and Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

QUICHUA COCA CO.,

No. 72 William St., New York.

PERFORATED

VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,

For use in Churches, Halls and Lodges, are coming into general use on account of their Comfort, Durability, Cleanliness, and Ornament.

No. 115.

Churches intending to buy Chairs or Settees will do well to correspond with

CARDNER & CO.,

Patentees and Manufacturers,

376 PEARL ST., NEW YORK.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

The Steinau Jewelry Co.'s ONE DOLLAR ROMA CASKE

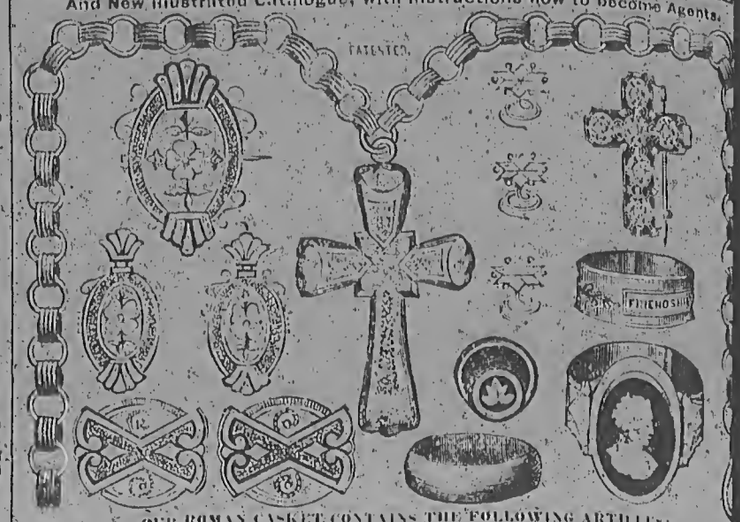
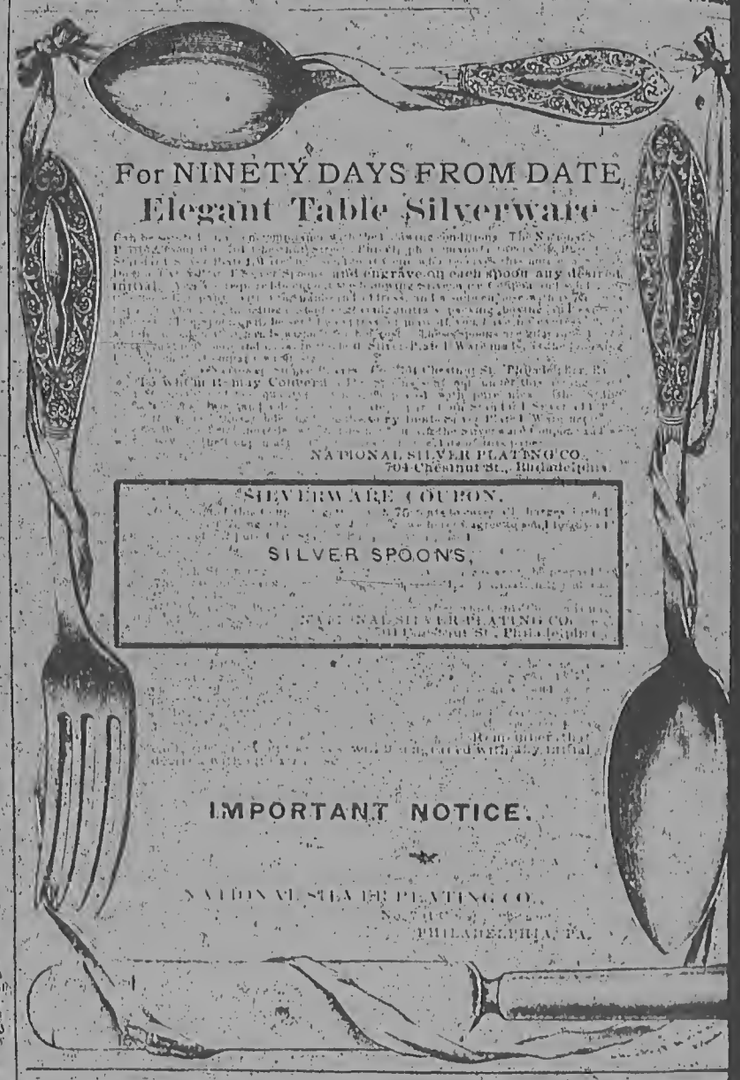
And New Illustrated Catalogue, with instructions how to become Agents.



OUR ROMAN CASKET CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING ARTICLES:

[illegible] We warrant the Goods as represented by the engravings, and to stand the test of solid [illegible] On receipt of One Dollar we will send the [illegible] Casket, [illegible] address, by mail or express, free.

STEINAU JEWELRY COMPANY, 27 Arcade, CINCINNATI, O.



For NINETY DAYS FROM DATE,

Elegant Table Silverware

[illegible] Premium Offer. [illegible] Premium Offer. The Subscriber [illegible] Premium Offer. [illegible] Premium Offer. [illegible] Premium Offer.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1878. NO. 47.

HEAVEN.

[illegible] of Heaven! I love
[illegible] hear about my home above:
[illegible] there high many a loved one dwells
[illegible] bright and joy ineffable;
[illegible] tell me how they shine and sing,
[illegible] very harp rings echoing,
[illegible] every glad and sparkless eye
[illegible] like the bright sun gloriously
[illegible] of that victorious palm
[illegible] in glory weareth
[illegible] of that celestial calm
[illegible] glory weareth.

[illegible] happy happy country!—where [illegible] sin;
[illegible] who keeps His portals fast.
May never once come in.
[illegible] can change their day to night
[illegible] is light
[illegible] and lasting bird hath sent [illegible] endless banishment.
[illegible] more may one dark tear
Redden their burning eyes;—
[illegible] they shall while here
[illegible] agonies,
[illegible] a bright and dazzling zone
[illegible] immortal diadem.

[illegible] blooming country—there
[illegible] all that we deem fair;
[illegible] no fields nor forests green,
[illegible] gardens, there are seen,
[illegible] perfumes load the breeze,
[illegible] their material source
[illegible] God's right hand are flowing [illegible] archetypes of these.
[illegible] the home the halls of light
[illegible] highest person can dig
[illegible] there's this word—death
[illegible] there forever cease
[illegible] the eternal dirge
[illegible] and peace.

[illegible] happy land!—on thee
[illegible] unveiled Deity
[illegible] through each bright tress
[illegible] calm, unbroken rest
[illegible] most solemn worship death shall never [illegible] to mingle ever forever
[illegible] may Heaven and those who [illegible] from mortal sorrow
[illegible] faint, weary spirit find [illegible] happy, happy land.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

[illegible], Miss., Nov. 13. One death and [illegible] new cases to-day, decrease in [illegible] cases are reported to-day. All the [illegible] doing. The victims of several physicians returns indicates it is safe to [illegible]

[illegible], Va., Nov. 14. The Grand Commandery of Knights Templars to-day elected [illegible] Bain, of Portsmouth, Grand Commander; John E. Reasinty, of Richmond, Grand Commander; and Peyton S. [illegible] of Albemarle, Grand Captain-General. [illegible] was selected as the next place of meeting. The Grand Conclave then adjourned sine die.

[illegible], Nov. 14. An official dispatch from the Governor of Texas has been received by the Galveston Board of Trade and Cotton Exchange, announcing the telegraphic guaranting on the Texas coast to [illegible]. The proclamation takes effect on or before the 15th of November.

[illegible], Nov. 14. The [illegible] case, involving the right of Mormons to [illegible] polygamic marriages, came up for [illegible] to-day in the United States Supreme Court in the shape of an appeal from [illegible] Court of Utah. The case is of [illegible] interest, because it presents to the [illegible] for the first time the question of the [illegible] right of Congress to prohibit [illegible] when it assumes the guise of religion, and it hinges on article 1st of the [illegible] for the prisoner contends that [illegible] restricted from such prohibition [illegible] amendment to the constitution [illegible] United States, which provides for [illegible] religion. Counsel for the United [illegible] argue that this rigid interpretation [illegible] constitution would prevent Congress [illegible] making any crime in the Territories [illegible] punishable by a typical priest [illegible] practice, and so leave it remediless. The decision is awaited with [illegible]

[illegible], Nov. 17. A News special [illegible] says: A fire here on Saturday night [illegible] five large stores, United States [illegible] rooms, together with all their [illegible] Loss about a hundred thousand dollars [illegible] for from half that amount. [illegible] in Northern and foreign companies.

[illegible], Nov. 17. At a late hour last [illegible] was officially announced that the [illegible] was closed. Capt. Healey, with [illegible] command, of Hoboken, took possession [illegible] body in Weehawken Cemetery. Last [illegible] was known that the body was there, [illegible] taking possession of it was postponed [illegible] had been accumulated since [illegible] to all the persons concerned in [illegible]. It is believed that they all have [illegible] arrested.

[illegible], Nov. 17, 11 P. M. Reports in morning papers that Stewart's body had been found are pronounced untrue by police [illegible].

[illegible] quiet about police headquarters to-day and to night, in strange contrast to the excitement of Saturday night, and stories about the body being found in a box in Weehawken Cemetery, published in the morning papers, were laughed at by the police officials as ridiculous and [illegible].

FOREIGN.

[illegible], Nov. 14. The Chronologano of [illegible] Gazzetta, says it does little in the [illegible] as between the Austrian and Germany on which to rest hopes of peace with [illegible] church.

[illegible], Nov. 16. The Tiber is rising and [illegible] overflowed the banks here. [illegible] lower part of this city is inundated. [illegible] expected that the flood will become [illegible] as unprecedented and disastrous as the [illegible] of 1870.

[illegible] been violent storms throughout [illegible] Italy. The damage is almost unprecedented. Travel on all railways between [illegible] and the north is interrupted. Rain [illegible] here and the wind changed, but [illegible] continues to rise rapidly.

[illegible] overflow of the Tiber inundated the [illegible], the plaza of the Pantheon, the Trajan [illegible] St. Angelo and the lower [illegible] of the city.

[illegible], Nov. 17. As King Humbert was [illegible] the city in state to-day, a poorly [illegible] attempted to assassinate him with [illegible]. Signor Calvili, chief of the min[illegible] who was in the carriage with the King, [illegible] hand on the man, who wounded [illegible] in the thigh. The king drew his sword [illegible] struck the assassin, who was immediately [illegible] secured. The king received a slight [illegible]. Popular indignation is intense and [illegible] demonstrations of loyalty are unbounded. [illegible] assassin is 21 years old and is by occupation a cook. He says he belongs to no society, but being poor nourished hatred towards the king.

VIENNA, Nov. 17. The Political Correspondence says the Macedonian insurrection is daily increasing in dimensions and spreading towards Epirus and Thessaly. The insurgents are divided into four bodies, variously located; one is scattered on the slopes of Mount Olympus and consists chiefly of Greeks, the others are Bulgarians. For many the political tendency is a mere pretext for robbery and plunder. The Porte has sent twenty-three battalions of regulars, with five batteries, to subdue the insurrection.

MADRID, Nov. 15. At a meeting of the old Moderado party it was decided to accept the principle of religious toleration.

A resolution passed approving conversations between the Captain General and the insurgent leaders in Cuba for the conclusion of peace.

NEW ORLEANS PACIFIC RAILROAD.

Major S. L. James, says the New Orleans Times of November 19, has kindly furnished the following facts concerning the actual condition of the New Orleans Pacific railroad and the prospects now entertained of completing the same.

A construction company has been formed by New Orleans and New York capitalists to complete the road from this city to Shreveport, and under it is company Major James is contracting for the grading, six leve being completed of eight hundred hands. A portion of his force is now at work on the line below Alexandria, and another portion is grading the line near the border between Natchitoches and De Soto parishes.

The grading south of Alexandria already reaches within fifteen miles of Boyce Creek, and only needs some dressing preparatory to the laying of the tracks. A large number of laborers will be engaged in completing the grading to Bayou Rigolo.

The iron for forty miles of this road has been purchased, and the laying will soon be commenced at Alexandria and pushed rapidly northward. Every thing is being well and economically done, and the road will be completed in the very shortest possible time consistent with good work.

The New Orleans Pacific railroad company will probably commence the purchase of the road as completed and known as the Red River and Gulf railroad, from Alexandria to Shreveport, which will [illegible] Bayou [illegible] to the connection [illegible] company will [illegible] Shreveport [illegible] Bayou [illegible] Red River [illegible] Texas [illegible] Pacific [illegible] Texas [illegible] Bayou [illegible] Pacific [illegible] Texas [illegible] Bayou [illegible] Pacific [illegible] Texas [illegible] Bayou

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased travelling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Self in the Problem.

Many never seem to trouble themselves about the problem of natural evil until calamities befall them. Parents have lately gone so far as to curse God, or to doubt whether there be a God, because their homes have been invaded, and their children taken away. People who have hitherto been prosperous and comfortable and very well satisfied with the world and its government, under the personal visitation of affliction have suddenly waked up to the conviction that either God is unjust, or that the world is without an intelligent creator and preserver. Either every thing is subject to blind and fortuitous influences, or we are under the power of a malignant being who takes pleasure in the misery of his creatures. Why were not these things thought of before? Just such sorrows as have come upon them, have been the lot of others from the earliest ages. The epidemic that has recently swept over the South is a small and insignificant matter compared with the famines in India, China and Brazil, or as compared with the plagues, famines and wars that in other ages have desolated Europe.

Nearer home, and in the very communities in which they live, families have been broken up, other people's children have been carried to the grave, but there was nothing particularly inscrutable or perplexing in the matter until the blight fell upon their own households. Men who never thought of rebelling against God, while the evil did not touch their own immediate interests, protest against the invasion of their own circle as an outrage against goodness and justice. God has been cursed and people have hardened themselves under their troubles, not because these calamities have always been, and are every where in the world, but because they have touched them.

There is certainly no good reason why a man should find fault with God for sending affliction upon him, any more than if that affliction were sent upon a dear neighbor, or upon somebody living in Madagascar. It argues a vast conceit in any one to think that he, of all others, ought to be exempt, and that God is cruel only when the blow is permitted to fall upon him. In much of this madness and rebellion in sorrow there is manifested this abounding conceit and this supreme selfishness. There are those who murmur under the slightest personal suffering, but who, if spared themselves, would regard the wreck of the race with perfect complacency.

To charge God with injustice betrays not only this supreme selfishness, but also a lamentable degree of ignorance, and a very narrow view. In their strivings with God these murmurers seem to feel that death and sorrow are something new under the sun, and that their experience is of exceptional severity, whereas history abounds in the recital of woes that are far greater. And it is a matter of fact that the holiest saints, the most devoted and faithful servants of God have been among the greatest sufferers on the earth. At the first outburst of overwhelming sorrow some lack of consideration may be excused, but why have not these things been thought of before? Those who close their eyes to facts and to reason habitually cannot but be bewildered and distracted by sudden misfortune. There is nothing in history, in observation or in scripture to lead any one to expect exemption from sore affliction. The lessons from all these sources is that none may hope to escape altogether.

Sorrow is a revelation. What the sufferer never would learn from any other source he now learns from experience, that the world is full of trouble, and that he has a share in it. It is also a manifestation of character. There was no rebellion against God, and no disturbing problems in Providence so long as the sun of prosperity shed its rays upon the path. It was then a very good world indeed, and the man believed himself to be a good sort of man, and in perfect accord with the Divine order. He may not have thought of these things much, but there was an easy sense and consciousness of God which combined in equal proportions indifference and self-righteousness. The stroke of adversity discloses the real character. Love, faith, submission are all wanting. God had no right to blast his hopes, to allow the shadow of death to fall upon his home, or to sweep away his fortune. True, these things had been happening to others always and everywhere, but what right had God to touch him? It is manifest that self is the new and the dominating factor in the problem of God and of an effective Providence. This revolt against God in trouble is one of the most painful and fearful indications of the corrupt heart. Trouble is the occasion of the manifestation, but it is not the cause of a defiant and rebellious spirit. The inward virus is only brought to the surface.

There may be a temptation in believers to distrust God in times of personal sorrow. The result will show whether they have been well instructed in the truth, and whether a genuine spiritual experience has brought them to right and sober views of Providence. If they have no enlightened conception of the need and ministry of sorrow, and no constant looking at the things which are not seen, they may be overcome. The trial will show whether their religion is merely a beautiful but not well apprehended theory, or whether it is a transforming power. The Divine purpose is doubtless to awaken and to reveal, to expose the emptiness of man apart from the grace of God, and to end the conflict of the carnal mind by bringing it to absolute submission. God intends to disclose the false foundations in order that we may be induced to build on the true. He designs to work out self in its every form of conceit, self-righteousness, worldliness, and rebellion, that he may plant in us a true faith and a genuine holiness.

Our Ex-Pastor.

Mr. Editor.—Our ex-pastor, Dr. Pliable, was certainly a very remarkable man. His voice was as sweet as music to the ear. His manners, too, in the pulpit and out of it, were very attractive. He always held the hymn book in his left hand, and his right hand in his bosom. Some who could find no fault with his voice or his manner, said: there are always people to say what they ought not—"vox et preterea nihil," and that he sought the degree of D. D. because he was conscious that "his divinity needed doctoring." In reply we might say that a good voice is a wonderful equipment for a preacher, and as to his needing help, no such consciousness ever appeared in his manners. We may confess, however, that he had neither the learning nor logical force of Paul, nor the eloquence of Apollos, nor power like Peter or Stephen to "cut men to the heart." Yet his preaching was "with enticing words," and his manner was so graceful that his congregation was always delighted, and then in social life he even impressed us more favorably than in the pulpit. I have often heard Bro. Donothing say that for a year, at least he was fully persuaded that he was the special favorite of the Doctor, and so it was with nearly every member of his congregation. No coquet ever kept a dozen men in love with her with more adroitness than Dr. Pliable managed to impress each member of his congregation that he or she was a special favorite. The result was, every body loved him, little and big, saints and sinners. If there was any difference, the worst sinners loved him most. He was so tender and loving to them. He never rebelled any body. He managed to make people think well of themselves, and, in return, they thought well of him. He won all hearts to himself.

To show how we loved him I will relate an incident that occurred about a year after he left us—for much as we hated it, by our economy, we had to give him up. A preacher of great reputation visited us, from another Conference. His text was: "Behold the Lamb of God, that taketh away the sin of the world." To impress us with the enormity of sin, he took us to Mount Sinai, and as the lightning flashed before our eyes, and the thunders pealed upon our ears, there really seemed no safe standing ground, for sinners, anywhere, and when he turned to the "Lamb of God" every stranger in the congregation, for there were such that day, attracted by the reputation of the preacher—seemed thrilled to ecstacy. Not so with us. We were thinking in how much milder and sweeter strains Dr. Pliable was accustomed to preach. So we gazed with the indifference people accustomed to meteoric showers, might be supposed to look up to the distant stars. The preacher himself seemed to understand why we could not appreciate his gospel. So he changed his theme and began to speak to us about Dr. Pliable. Instantly all hearts were moved, and all eyes were full of tears, so that the distinguished preacher was constrained to say, afterwards, that "no one could make his salt preaching after Dr. Pliable." The fact is no one has ever been able, successfully, to follow Dr. Pliable. The people become so facinated with what he says and does, that they are always saying: "That is not the way Dr. Pliable would do."

Soon after the Doctor came among us his house began to fill, and in a little time there was scarcely standing room for the overflowing congregations. Meanwhile the membership increased at a wonderful rate. His net drew in all sorts, "good and bad." We were persuaded that we were individually, and as a church, the greatest people in the world, and that Dr. Pliable, if not the greatest preacher, was, at least, the dearest man, and the best pastor that ever led the flock to green pastures. It was so very, very easy to be a member of the church under his administration. Sometimes, it must be confessed, we had a dim sort of conception that all was not so well as we could have desired. We knew that there were Sabbath-breakers, and dancers, and profane swearers, and drunkards, etc., in the church. But these seemed unfortunate persons, to be pitied, rather than guilty persons to be blamed. The sin in our midst seemed venial rather than mortal. We understood that the doom of damnation still hung over sinners, but surely not over such dear, friendly sinners as belonged to our church. Not that our preacher spared sinners! No! not he! He denounced the sins of New York City, of Paris, and of all people afar off, with such emphasis and holy zeal, as served to comfort us very much when we compared ourselves with them. Their sins differed from ours in that they were so ugly and inexcusable. Our preacher was too tender and polite to be personal. He said it was a way back in uncivilized times that a prophet could be so rude as to say, especially to a man of importance: "Thou art the man!" Moreover it might discourage many in his congregation, who were willing to let the church have the benefit of their social influence, if the church would only bear with their defects, and show them that they were highly esteemed for their social position. But above all he seemed fully satisfied that the people would not stand such preaching. There might come a revival, or Providence might intervene, or "something might turn up." At all events, it would not do for the the preacher to risk his popularity, by denouncing in real earnestness, and with persistency, the sins that people had determined to commit. It would make him unpopular, and then he could not have access to them. Unpopularity was, therefore, to be feared above all things. Political parties were accustomed to let a man go whenever he became unpopular, by leaving the ground of expediency, and becoming fully pronounced, even on the principles professed by the party. This was notable in the case of Franklin Pierce. So the appointing powers in the church were not accustomed to go behind a preacher's unpopularity to look for causes. They would not, perhaps could not, force an unpopular preacher upon a reluctant church. So for the sake of peace and success a preacher must, at all hazards, preserve his popularity. And so he did.

In my next I propose to tell you something of our present pastor, the Rev. Andrew Faithful.

Yours truly,

ALLEN CARTESON.

Rev. Tiff Foster.

As in the days of Elijah Steele, so now, the yellow fever claims as its victims the brightest ornaments of the church. No nobler or more heroic spirit ever yielded up his life to duty than he whose name is at the head of this article. He was with us four sessions at Centenary College, and we think we are prepared to judge of his worth. He was always as true to duty as the needle to the pole. At the recitation, at the class-meeting, at the appointment to preach, if Foster was not on hand with the best offering of which he was capable, every one felt assured something was the matter. In conference with his brethren, his nature would unbend, and with a becoming humility and a tearful pathos, he would tell of the dealings of God with his soul, and of his own earnest purpose to be wholly consecrated.

He was eminently trustworthy. When he offered himself to the Conference, we remarked that he could be put in charge of the most responsible pastoral work; hence we were not surprised that the Bishop should have given him, as his very first pastorate, Morean Street Church, New Orleans. The high esteem in which he was held by his people, and the success he was having in his ministry, proved the judiciousness of the appointment. He loved the church, almost reverenced her faithful ministers, and regarded it as the very highest earthly calling to be permitted to devote his life to the service of the Master. His friends were not surprised at his determination to remain in the midst of the epidemic, though advised to leave, indeed they would have wondered at his leaving. He could consent to death, but not compromise duty; he could fall, but feel no fear.

As the best indication of his integrity, as well as the most eloquent eulogium that could be pronounced upon his character, we subjoin an extract from his letter to us dated September 16, and written from the midst of the suffering people, viz:

"You know, in part at least, what we are, and have been, passing through here in the city. It has been quite a busy time with the most of us, in visiting and ministering to the sick and dying. Of late, only, have I been so busy, as for some time after the fever had been epidemic, our portion of the city—the Third District—was exempt comparatively from the fever. God has graciously preserved me and my people so far from the prevailing sickness. Excepting a few children of the Sabbath-school, none of my members had been taken up to a few days ago. At this writing one member, a lady, has the fever, but is doing well, and if no relapse, will be up in a few days. I have been with the fever a good deal, some cases in the last and worst stages of the disease—throwing up 'black vomit' every few minutes. I have seen it in all of its stages, from the first to the last, when the person was in the very throes of death. But, thank God, I have 'feared no evil,' my hope and stay have been in God. The anchor of my soul is cast into the blissful depths of the ninety-first Psalm. I would be 'dwelling in the secret place of the Most High.' I love His service—especially do I appreciate the blessed privilege of ministering to the sick, and those who are seeking preparation to meet their account at the 'judgment seat of Christ.' I have had (bless God) many happy seasons at the bedside of the sick. It seems that there it is that the Lord is pleased specially to manifest His gracious presence. There it is that song and prayer are more than ordinarily sweet to me."

What a glowing dying testimony is this! How cheeringly it betokens the perfect readiness of his soul for an entrance upon the glorious realm beyond! How blessed a thing it is to die, as died our Christian soldier, to lay his armor off and rest—in heaven!

We thank the New Orleans ministers for their devoted services to him in his last moments; the scene of his brethren, Parker, Walker, Matthews, Harp, Hannon and Werlein, kneeling together by his bedside, and commending his soul to God, presents a beautiful picture, one that will linger in our memory with a melancholy pleasure, and with an inspiring effect.

C. G. ANDREWS.

CENTENARY COLLEGE, La., Nov. 7, 1878.

Rev. J. B. Bobbitt, D. D., for ten years past the proprietor and publisher of the Raleigh Christian Advocate, has transferred the paper to Revs. W. S. Black and F. L. Reid, who have become its editors and publishers. Dr. Bobbitt has been eminently successful as a religious journalist, and we are sorry to lose him from the editorial fraternity. Impaired health and a desire to return to the pastoral work are the reasons of his retirement. We wish him health, happiness and a long and useful career. While we part from the retiring editor with regret, we would extend a cordial welcome to his successors. They stand among the ablest men of the North Carolina Conference, and will supply the church with a first-class paper.

A pleasant incident connected with Dr. Bobbitt's retirement, was the presentation to the Doctor of a handsome gold watch by the employees of the office. No body needs a good watch more than a Methodist preacher, for he is under solemn vows to "be punctual" and to "do everything exactly at the time." John Wesley must have carried a good time-keeper. He would never have tolerated an indifferent one.

Change of Mississippi Conference.

The place of holding the Mississippi Conference is changed from Meridian to Hazlehurst, by request. The time—i. e. December 18—is not changed.

R. PAINE.

ABERDEEN, Miss., Nov. 15, 1878.

Mrs. M. E. Owen, a lady who came to New Orleans in the midst of the recent epidemic from Chicago, for the purpose of ministering to the sick and destitute, died of the fever on the 16th of November. She was a member of the Methodist Church, a devoted Christian, and given to works of charity. The Picayune of this city, referring to her death, says:

Our readers will remember the announcement of the arrival in this city in the height of the epidemic of Mrs. M. E. Owen, of Chicago. Impelled by a noble desire to aid in alleviating the sufferings of the sick, she left her friends, home, family and kindred, braved the dangers of the pestilence and toiled here by day and night at the bedsides of the sick and dying. Regardless of her own comfort, and forgetting all risks she watched and worked with loving fidelity until it came her own turn to be stricken down; and now it is our sad task to chronicle her death, which occurred Saturday morning at the Central House, on Camp street. Her name will be recorded in the honored list of self-sacrificing philanthropists and her memory will be cherished by those whose pain she has alleviated and whose troubled minds she soothed and comforted.

The funeral of this estimable lady took place yesterday. Rev. Dr. Mathews, assisted by Dr. A. J. Witherspoon, conducted the services, which were attended by a large number of the ladies of the Methodist congregations and members of the relief associations. Mr. Mathews read a telegram from Dr. Thomas, pastor of the Methodist Centenary Church of Chicago, expressing regret at the demise of Mrs. Owen. The remains were interred in the Girod Street Cemetery. The coffin was profusely decorated with flowers by the ladies.

The Elder Bond.

Judge Bond, says the Richmond Christian Advocate, is sitting here in the United States Court. His face brings up that man whose like we shall never see again, Dr. Thomas E. Bond, his brother. That was a gifted race. This Bond is a man of genius, so Judge Brooks of North Carolina, on the same bench, said to this writer, and he rarely mis-measures his man.

In a ten minutes' chat with Judge Bond, last Friday, we led him to tell about his father, "old Dr. Tom." He related two anecdotes, setting off that person as tradition hath him, brimming with wit and sense.

His father had been a physician, and in his last sickness knew his own case better than his medical attendant. Two or three eminent doctors called and examined him, and then one of them, with some prelude and hesitation, said: "We must tell you that your end is near." The patient made answer, "Why I know that a week ago, but was afraid to tell any one for fear of hurting Dr. P's. [his family physician] professional feelings!"

Dr. Palmer, the leader in the Christian perfection movement, called also. The sick man sought around for an excuse to avoid an interview, and broke out: "I don't understand the doctrine, and I know he doesn't: so, what's the use of our talking?"

Health of the City.

The total number of deaths from all causes for the week ending Sunday, November 17, was, 43. Of these twenty-nine were from yellow fever. The city is regarded as safe for unacclimated persons, and the absentees have already returned by thousands. At this writing, November 19, we know of no cases of yellow fever, and physicians of large practice inform us that they have met with no new cases. Our churches on last Sunday were well filled, and the business thoroughfares have a lively and bustling appearance. Thank God we are done with the yellow fever for this time.

Bishop Gregg, the representative of the Reformed Episcopal Church in Great Britain, is making good progress, and will shortly celebrate the first anniversary of his communion in Newman Hall's Church, Westminster. He has already held two series of ordinations, admitting to orders more than twenty gentlemen; the movement has also gained the adhesion of several of the beneficed and other clergy of the English Church, belonging, of course, to the evangelical section.

Rev. R. S. Woodward, pastor of our church at Natchez, Miss., writing November 14th, informs us that Natchez has altogether escaped the fever, and that the people there have nobly contributed, both in money and nurses, to the relief of the suffering cities. The church is doing well, and all assessments for the year will be met.

Books and Periodicals.

AGATHA LEE'S INHERITANCE. By Mrs. [illegible] Higham. New York: Anson D. F. Randolph & Co.

A very interesting story, and calculated to make the reader better. It is decidedly religious.

THE SECRET DRAWER. By the author of Alice Middleton. New York: Anson D. F. Randolph & Co.

Another short story, and well adapted to please and instruct the young.

UNDER GRAY WALLS. By Sarah Doudney. New York: Anson D. F. Randolph & Co.

A religious story well told, and worth the read.

GENTLEMAN JIM. By Mrs. E. Prentiss. New York: Anson D. F. Randolph & Co.

The story is about a miner and his daughter. The name of the author will insure for it a large circulation. It is very good as a matter of course.

—The Southern Review, October, 1878, contains the following articles: 1.—Bledsoe's Christian Cosmos. This is, we suppose, the conclusion of Dr. Bledsoe's last great work, so far as completed when the author died. 2.—Francis of Assisi. 3.—A Study in Life. 4.—Edwards on the Will, a reproduction of Dr. Bledsoe's work on this subject. 5.—Benjamin D'Israeli, the Jew. 6.—Oyster at Home. 7.—Apostolic Doctrine of Future Life. 8.—Hamlet. 9.—Cyprian. 10.—St. Paul at Rome. 11.—A word to Mothers. 12.—Notices of Books. Every article, so far as we have had time to examine, is excellent. The Southern Review, we are glad to know, is to be continued. It has been transferred to Messrs. W. C. J. Gritfith, Salem, Va., who will publish it regularly in Richmond, Va., beginning January 1, 1879. Mrs. Herrick, and other former contributors remain upon the staff, and Dr. A. T. Bledsoe is allowed a liberal interest in the Review during his life by his purchasers. The price has been reduced to $4 a year, including postage.

—The November-December number of the North American Review contains the following articles: "The Government of the United States," by Ex-Governor Horatio Seymour; "Secretaries of Offices and Defense in Naval Warfare," by Hobart Pasha, Admiral of the Imperial Ottoman Navy; "The Congress of Berlin and its Consequences," by Arminius Vambery; "Japan and the Western Powers," by Matsuyama Makoto; "The Financial Resources of New York," by William B. Ma[illegible], Ex-President of the Department of Public Parks of New York; "The Public Health," by Elisha Harris, M. D., President of the American Public Health Association; "Mormonism in the Nineteenth Century," by Samuel Osgood, D. D.; "An Appeal to the Negro," by James Parton; "The Empire of Hayti and Christianity," by Ernest Be[illegible], Member of the French Academy; "Contemporary Literature."

Published at 751 Broadway, New York, and for sale by booksellers and newsdealers generally.

Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for December has: Christianity in Mexico; Oldest Manuscripts of the Testament; Revelation or Religion and Science; Martin Luther of India; Pope Boniface Eighth; The Scottish Martyrs; Hours with the English Sacred Poets, and other articles numerous and good, besides illustrations almost without end.

The Helping Hand is the title of a book of Songs and Hymns and Music for the use of Sunday-schools and social meetings, by W. T. Giff and J. W. Lee. Published by George P. Newhall & Co. Cincinnati. Price: single copies 35 cents; per dozen $3 60.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY

[illegible]

The American edition of this periodical is now more than 70,000 monthly, and has a larger circulation in England than any other American magazine. Every number contains about one hundred and fifty pages, and from fifty to seventy-five original illustrations.

[illegible]

Among the attractions for the year are the following:

"Hawthorne," a serial novel, by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, author of "Louisiana" and "Lass o' Lowrie's."

"Kathrina," a serial novel, by J. G. Holland, author of "Gold Foil," "Bay Path," "Miss Gilbert's Career," "Arthur Bonnicastle," "Nicholas Minturn," "Titcomb's Letters," etc.

"A Story of New Orleans," by George Cable, to be begun on the completion of "Falconberg."

Portraits of American Poets, a series begun in August with Whittier, portrait of Bryant will be continued, that of Longfellow appearing in November.

STUDIES IN THE SIERRAS. A series of papers (mostly illustrated) by John Muir, the California naturalist.

A New View of Brain. Mr. Herbert Spencer, of Cornell University, a colleague of the late Prof. Hartt, is now engaged, with Mr. J. Wells Champney, the artist, who accompanied Mr. Edward King on his tour through "The Great South," preparing for Scribner a series of papers on the present condition, the cities, industries, resources of the great empire of the South in America.

The "Johnny Reb" Papers, by a Confederate soldier, will be among the most valuable contributions to Scribner during the coming year.

The Leading Periodicals Exhibited. We are now having printed for distribution articles on the leading Periodicals of the world. Terms, $4 00 a year in advance; 35 cents a number.

ST. NICHOLAS.

SCRIBNER'S ILLUSTRATED MAGAZINE FOR GIRLS AND BOYS.

An Ideal Children's Magazine.

Messrs. Scribner & Co. in 1873 began publication of St. Nicholas, an illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, with Mary Mapes Dodge as editor. Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won for itself the best position. It has a monthly circulation of over 50,000 copies.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York, and the transatlantic reputation is almost as general and hearty as the American. Although the progress of the magazine has been already advance, it has not reached its editor's ideal at best, because her ideal continually outruns its and the magazine as swiftly follows after. To-day St. Nicholas stands alone in the world of books. The New York Tribune has said of it: "St. Nicholas has reached a higher plane of excellence than any other periodical for children in this country, or, so far as we know, in any other country. It is unrivalled in its own field, and in point of literary merit, and commands for its service writers of greater resources in art and letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of Scribner's press."

MARRIED.

WHARTON—BROWN—October 24, 1878, by Rev. R. S. Woodward, Mr. J. P. Wharton, of Franklin county, to Miss M. E. Brown, of Natchez, Mississippi.

WILSON—GRAHAM.—October 30, 1878, by Rev. R. S. Woodward, Mr. John Wilson to Miss Susan Graham, both of Natchez, Miss.

MORGAN—REESE.—October 31, 1878, by Rev. R. S. Woodward, Mr. Henry Morgan to Miss Lou. Reese, both of Natchez, Miss.

WHITCOMB—BAYNARD.—At "Wayside," Adams county, Miss., Nov. 12, 1878, by Rev. R. S. Woodward, Mr. Charles Whitcomb, of Natchez, Miss., to Miss Georgina Baynard.

Religious Notices.

The Louisiana Conference.

CHANGE OF TIME.

CHARLESTON, Mo., Oct. 10, 1878.

On account of the continued prevalence of the yellow fever in the city of New Orleans and its vicinity at this date, and also the condition of Conference finances consequent thereon, the time of the ensuing session of the Louisiana Conference, in the city of New Orleans, is hereby changed from December 11, next, to January 8, 1879, by request of our brethren in the city of New Orleans.

DAVID S. DOGGETT.

THE OPELOUSAS DISTRICT CONFERENCE will convene at New Iberia, La., December 5th, 9 A.M.

J. D. HARPER, P. E.

THE DISTRICT CONFERENCE of Jackson District, Mississippi Conference, will meet at Canton, Miss., Thursday, December 5, 1878. The local and traveling preachers, and delegates are requested to attend as promptly as the duties will permit, and be ready with their reports.

F. M. FEATHERSTON, P. E.

November 8, 1878.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS FOR 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	BISHOP.	TIME.
Carolina	Charlotte	Pierce	Nov. 27
Alabama	Athens	Kavanaugh	Nov. 27
Georgia	Marietta	McTyeire	Nov. 27
Little Rock	Hot Springs	Doggett	Nov. 27
Texas	Chappell Hill	Keener	Dec. 4
Memphis	Paris	Paine	Dec. 4
Mississippi	Macon	Paine	Dec. 11
Holston	Newberry	Pierce	Dec. 11
Virginia	Montie	Kavanaugh	Dec. 11
Georgia	Thomasville	McTyeire	Dec. 11
North Texas	Tyler	Keener	Dec. 11
Mississippi	Meridian	Paine	Dec. 18
Louisiana	New Orleans	Doggett	Jan. 8
Florida	Salem	Wightman	Mar. 6

Publisher's Department.

MR. E. E. F. ROSS, one of the staff of this paper, is now traveling through the West and East on business connected with the Advocate. Any attention shown him will be appreciated.

THE STEWART STOVE. There is no doubt but the improved Stewart Stove, offered in trade by our neighbor J. H. Cashman, 133 Poydras street, is one of the best existence for durability, convenience and economy. We once thought that in point of economy some other stoves had the preference, and believe many shared this opinion; we are satisfied, however, by more recent information, that with its latest improvements there is no advantage in this respect claimed by stoves of any other manufacture. Cashman is an excellent citizen, straightforward and honorable in his dealings and obliging to his customers. See advertisement in another column.

THE OHIO AND MISSISSIPPI RAILWAY. This leading Eastern line between Cincinnati and St. Louis, with its branch to Louisville, is perfectly equipped with the very latest of modern appliances for comfort and safety of its patrons. The road-bed is in excellent condition, and passengers are carried over it at a rapid rate, and safely. W. H. Peabody is the General Superintendent, with headquarters in Cincinnati, a more efficient, gentlemanly officer could not be found; he and his associates are a clever set of good fellows, and the present popularity of the Ohio and Mississippi Railway is the result of their well directed labors. Whether going East from St. Louis or going to Louisville or Cincinnati, should you travel this road, they will take good care of you.

THE ALTON RAILROAD. This admirably managed line deserves high praise for its accommodations. The sleeping cars are the finest of any elegant cars that leave the Union Depot. The dining cars are kept up with all the rare regardless of cost. Luxurious meals are served and passengers can dine at their leisure, while passing along the road. Accidents are hardly known, and the feeling of security comes over the passenger when he steps aboard the cars of Alton fame. Mr. Samuel Knight the efficient agent in St. Louis, does whom he can to oblige, and accommodating gentlemanly spirit can not be found on any railroad in the country; his disposition to please all who travel on his road is not excelled by any agent in the United States.

THE PORTABLE FARM SCALE, manufactured by our friend Edward Thompson, 112 and 114 Poydras street, will be found a valuable article by farmers and others in the country. Mr. Thompson is in every respect reliable and sells nothing but what can be relied on in every respect. We recommend him to all of our readers.

MADAME HYATT'S advertisement will be seen in the ADVOCATE. There are a number of living witnesses in St. Louis to testify to the efficacy of this preparation, hundreds of certificates bear testimony to its never failing qualities. Some of the most prominent merchants in St. Louis who have used for years, and who tried other remedies without being benefitted, decided by using Madame Hyatt's restorer having their bald heads covered with different heads of hair; her preparation is superior than any other in the market, and free from all poison. The representative of the ADVOCATE met gentlemen at her office who were being treated by her, all of whom spoke in high terms of the preparation. Decline sent to any address. Try it.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A Great Remedy for Liver Derangements.

Amongst the number of prominent citizens who have endorsed Maguire's Cundurango, will be found the names of Gen. Jno. B. Hood, Col Robt L. Adams, Col. James F. Casey, Col. Jack Wharton, Gen. Bushrod R. Johnston, I. N. Maynard, Esq., Jas. H. Hummel, Esq., Ben. Thos. A. Harris, Rev. A. J. Tardy and many others. The Cundurango, for complaints of the Liver, Blood, Kidneys and Stomach has no equal; it opens and regulates the bowels and prevents and cures bilious attacks. It contains no alcohol, and is the only vegetable substitute for Calomel.

An Ounce of Preventive

Is worth a pound of Cure. Billious, Intermittent, Malarial and Yellow Fevers prevented by keeping the bowels free and stomach cleansed of fecal matter, by using Maguire's Cundurango.

DR. WILHOFT'S ANTI-PERIODIC OR FEVER AND AGUE TONIC.—Wilhoft's Tonic has established itself as the real infallible Chill cure. It is universally admitted to be the only reliable and harmless Chill medicine now in use. Its efficacy is confirmed by thousands of certificates of the very best people from all parts of the country. It cures malarious diseases of every type, from the shaking agues of the lakes and valleys to the raging fevers of the torrid zone. Try it! It has never been known to fail. WHEELOCK, FINLAY & Co., proprietors, New Orleans. For sale by all druggists.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, chap, blister, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with a sorety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 607 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Farmers, Families and others can purchase no remedy equal to Dr. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT for the cure of Cholera, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Croup, Colic and Sea-Sickness, taken internally (it is perfectly harmless; use with accompanying each bottle) and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, Sore Throat, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Pains in Limbs, Back and Chest. The VENETIAN LINIMENT was introduced in 1847, and no one who has used it but continues to do so, many stating if it was ten dollars a bottle they would not be without it. Thousands of certificates can be seen at the depot, speaking of its wonderful curative properties. Sold by the druggists at 50 cents. Depot, 42 Murray street, New York. sp

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.

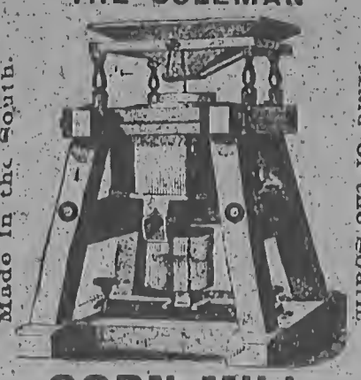
Mills, Engines and Machinery,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WE SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines, Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses and Machinery delivered at railroad depots or river landings.

Portable Engine prices greatly reduced.

THE COLEMAN



Made in the South. MADE IN THE SOUTH.

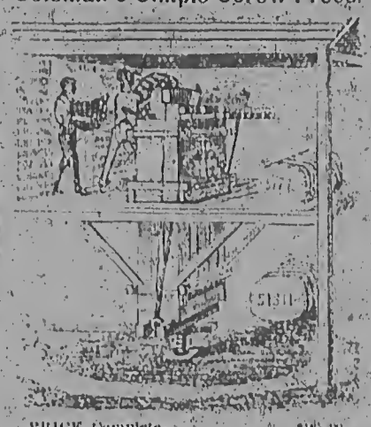
CORN MILL.

VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York State to Texas, over thirty-three different competitors, during the past twenty-eight years.

Awarded the only Gold Medal ever awarded to any Corn Mill in the United States. Simple, strong, durable and cheap, with solid French Burr Stones. Made by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., New Orleans, La.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press.



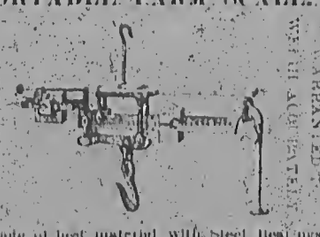
PRICE, Complete $95 00

Wrought Iron Screw 4 inches in diameter. Packing box 9 feet deep. Simple, strong, durable, and guaranteed to pack a 500 lbs. bale. Send for circular. Manufactured by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., New Orleans, La.

We make also the Friction Power Press (Billmeier's patent.)

PORTABLE FARM SCALE.



Made of best material with Steel Bearings. Price $10. EDWARD THOMPSON, General Agent. 112 & 114 Poydras st., New Orleans.

LIVE AGENTS WANTED.

WIRE RAILING AND Ornamental Wire Works.

DUPUR & CO., No. 20 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; Stoves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

CONVERTIBLE FARM MILL

Vertical position.

THE simplest and most durable stone mill in the world. Any farmer can run and grind as fine meal as any four inch stone or iron cylinder. Is as easily kept in order as a cotton gin. Every Mill guaranteed. Send for Circular B with Price List.

C. R. OGLESBY & Co., 343 Canal St., Chicago.

BIG GIANT CORN MILL.

Every Man His Own Miller.

The only Mill that will grind as fine as when new until worn out. The only Mill grinding Corn and Cobs successfully that will grind shelled Corn fine enough for family use. Grinding twice as fast as any other Mill of same size and price. Manufactured by

J. A. FIELD, SON & CO., 902 N. Second St., St. Louis.

AGENTS WANTED.

William Cullen Bryant's

LATEST AND GREATEST WORK,

Outselling all others combined. Richly Illustrated. Has the NEW BRYANT BIOGRAPHY and New Steel Portrait. Sold only by Subscription. AGENTS WANTED—A gentleman or lady of tact and ability (with or without business experience). FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT, New York.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE

PICTORIAL History of the World.

It contains 672 fine historical engravings and 126 large double column pages, and it is the most complete History of the world ever published. It sells at sight. Send for specimen pages and extra terms to Agents, and see why it sells faster than any other book. Address

NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

AGENTS WANTED FOR

LITERATURE, ART & SONG.

Acknowledged the Richest, Rarest and Handsomest Book ever issued from the American Press, containing Poetry, Histories, Biographies, Essays Anecdotes and Music. Magnificently Illustrated, with over 100 Engravings. A beautiful Steel Engraving presented gratis to each subscriber. This work should be in every Home circle. AGENTS.—This is the book to take orders for the Holidays. Extra inducements to competent Agents. Write at once for terms and territory. J. H. CHAMBERS & CO., St. Louis, Mo. Md., and Atlanta, Ga.

$500. MADE IN 87 DAYS. CATALOGUE FREE. Buckeye Novelty Co., Cincinnati, O.

NOW READY!

The Grand Achievements of

STANLEY Only $2.75.

By Hon. J. T. Headley, the Prince of descriptive authors. A full history of his explorations in Africa, and marvellous journey down the Congo. A new, exciting book, brimming with wild adventure and thrilling scenes of danger. Is profusely illustrated. Time public is eagerly awaiting it. It is selling wonderfully.

CAUTION Beware of miserable counterfeits of interested parties, but send for proof of genuineness and full description of this work, also Terms.

N. D. THOMPSON & Co., Pubs., St. Louis, Mo. AGENTS WANTED.

$7 A DAY to Agents canvassing for the Fireside Visitor. Terms and outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

$10 to $25 A DAY SURE MADE by Agents selling our Chromos, Crayons, Picture and Chromo Cards. 125 samples, worth $5, sent postpaid for $1 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston. Estab'd 1830.

AGENTS wanted to sell THE CURSE OF RUM, including Life and Work of Murphy and Reynolds, with History of the movement to date. 200 pages. Fully illustrated. Price, only $2. GUARANTEE PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER AGENTS Wanted. $50 to $125 a Month. An Encyclopedia of Law and Forms. For Business Men, Mechanics, Farmers, Property Owners, Tenants, everybody; every business saves many times cost. Selling fast. Send for circular and terms. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., 62 Olive St., St. Louis, Mo.

MAKE $100

Acting as Our Salesman.

We are desirous of engaging energetic AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't fail to write us in regard to business if not employed; and when you receive our circulars read them carefully. Address, with stamp for particulars,

G. W. FOSTER & CO.,

275 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET, Chicago, Illinois.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Country Orders for Millinery

AND FANCY GOODS.

Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HARDON,

Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods, 27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans, Second door above Custom House.

Music Teachers Will Do Well

TO USE

For Piano Scholars, Mason's Pianoforte Technics (a "Touch-book of Sterling merits without Set Technical Exercises, which may be expanded to many thousands of Studies). Admirably prepared by Wm. Mason, assisted by W. S. B. Mathews.

Have you read Special Musical Record? Lots, each.

For Organ Scholars, Clarke's Harmonic School for the ORGAN. The newest and the very best Organ School. Teaches composition as well as playing. By Wm. H. Clarke.

Subscribe to the Musical Record, $2.00 per year.

For Singing Classes, ONWARD! Singing School Book by L. H. Ehrer. $7.50 per dozen, and JOHNSON'S Method for Singing Classes, $9 per doz.; are splendid books, all telling in price and contents, but accomplishing the same excellent result in diverse ways. Examine both!

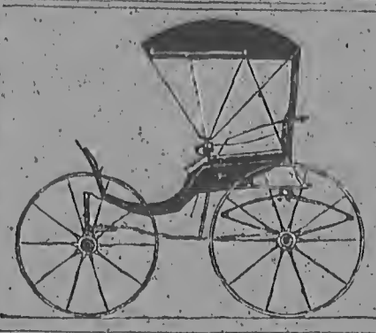
Ask at Nearest Store for Musical Record.

Any Book mailed post free for Retail Price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO., 843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.



ANDERSON, HARRIS & CO.,

Wholesale Manufacturers of

Buggies, Phætons,

CARRIAGES AND VEHICLES OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

OFFICE AND FACTORY:

N. E. Cor. Baymiller and Liberty Sts., CINCINNATI.

Sixth Street (Green) Cars pass the door.

PHILIP WERLEIN.

This Cut Represents

MASON & HAMLIN'S

$190 ORGAN,

REDUCED TO $135,

on easiest payments—$13.50 cash, and $13.50 in 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18, 21, 24 and 27 months. Freight from Boston to be added

$90 Organ Reduced to $72.

$6.20 QUARTERLY.

Very highly improved Pianos of J. P. Hale & Co. with stool and covers—$900 style reduced to $250—on easiest payments known—$50 cash, and $10 a month until paid.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 CANAL STREET,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

PHICKERING & SONS' PIANOS,
MATHUSHEK PIANOS,
HALE'S PIANOS,
HARDMAN'S PIANOS,

ORGANS.

MASON & HAMLIN'S,
ESTEY & CO.'S,
NEW ENGLAND GIGAN CO.'S.

$5 Liberal discount for cash.

Persons at a distance may order with the assurance of receiving just as good instruments as though present to select for themselves. If not found satisfactory they may be returned at my expense.

PHILIP WERLEIN, 135 Canal street, New Orleans.

H. W. JOHNS' PATENT. ASBESTOS MATERIALS.

LIQUID PAINTS.

THE finest and most durable paints in the world for structural purposes. Send for samples and references.

ASBESTOS ROOFING.

With white fire-proof coating, for steep or flat roofs. The only reliable substitute for tin.

Boiler Coverings, Steam Packing, Sheathing, Felts, Roof Paint, Fire-Proof Paints, Coatings, Cements, etc.

All these materials are prepared ready for use, and can be easily applied by any one. We guarantee the quality of our goods to be second to none in the world. From 15 to 25 per cent. of customary outlays can be saved by their use.

Samples, illustrated pamphlets, price lists, etc., sent free. Liberal inducements to dealers and large consumers. Send for samples and reduced price list.

From the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion.

JACKSON, Mississippi.

Mr. C. H. Manship, of Jackson, one of the best painters in the State, and a gentleman of great intelligence and worth, says in reference to these Paints:

"I have tested them fully, and am prepared to say that the Paints, which are of all colors and shades, are not only the cheapest, but the best I have used in my experience as a painter for the roof, fifty years, and the certificates in my possession to the superiority of the roofing material dispel all doubt on the subject. C. H. MANSHIP."

CALEB A. PARKER & CO.,

GENERAL AGENTS FOR ALABAMA, GEORGIA, TENNESSEE, LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND TEXAS.

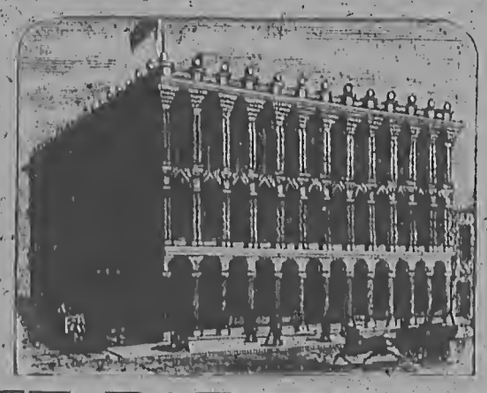
NO. 10 UNION ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY,

FURNITURE EMPORIUM,

Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.

FEATHERS.



SPRING, HAIR AND MOSS MATTRESSES.

FINE PARLOR SUITS,

IN SILK, SATIN, COTELINE, REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.

FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.

Fine Dining Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.

W. C. TOOMER,

GENERAL

COMMISSION MERCHANT.

OFFICE: 18 Carondelet St., Cor. Union,

NEW ORLEANS.

LUMBER, TIMBER, STAVES, NAVAL STORES and Country Produce. Liberal advances made on consignments. Purchases made in this market for account of my friends.

Sole Agent in this city of Robinson & McMillan and McMillan & Son, celebrated Stockton Cypress Mills. Lumber for Plantation use filled to order.

NO MORE

RHEUMATISM OR GOUT

ACUTE OR CHRONIC

SALICYLICA

SURE CURE.

Manufactured by

European Salicylic Medicine Co.

OF PARIS AND LEIPZIG.

RELIEVES IMMEDIATELY!

CURES PERMANENTLY!

Now exclusively used by all celebrated Doctors of Europe and America, and thoroughly introduced throughout the United States, miraculous cures having been made in nearly every city and State.

Price, $1.00 a box; 6 boxes for 5.00.

Orders filled by mail, or ask your Druggist for it.

WASHBURNE & CO.

Sole Agents,

23 Cliff street New York.

STRONGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.

INCREASING IN POPULARITY.

Number of ties used in 1876 1,500,000
Number of ties used in 1877-78 3,000,000

COST OF

Iron Ties, including freight ..... 56 cts. per bale.
Centennial, including freight ..... 34 cts. per bale.

Canvassers wanted to solicit orders for a commission.

Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo. Manufacturers of Barbed Fire Goods.

Globe Wagon Manufactory

D. T. SHEARON & CO.,

PROPRIETORS,

Wagons, Carts & Drays

MADE TO ORDER.

Southern Orders Respectfully Solicited.

Office and Factory: Cor. Carr St. ST. LOUIS, MO.

Broadway Foundry Co.

JOHN J. HOLLIDAY,

SUPERINTENDENT,

313 Carr Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Manufacturers of Stationary and Portable

Steam Engines and Boilers

SAW AND CIRCULAR SAW MILLS,

Saw and Grist Mill Machinery. Bolting Mill and Plaid Furnace Castings. Wrought Shafting and House Work. PAIKER'S & JOHNSON'S WATER WHEELS. Tobacco and Lard Press Screws, Compound Cobweb Presses, Lard Kettles Iron and Brass CASTINGS of every description, also Quartz Mills and Smelting Furnaces of most improved descriptions.

HAVE PURCHASED ALL THE WHEEL & PULLEY PATTERNS OF DAVY, McCUNE & CO. OF J. B. DAVIES, Isle of Louisville, Mechanical Man'r.

MISCELLANEOUS.

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"American Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton Textiles, yarns and threads, at the Paris Exposition decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Williamantic Linen Company for "SPOOL COTTON ESPECIALLY ADAPTED FOR USE ON SEWING MACHINES," over all the good thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to J. & P. COATS to announce that

No Grand Prizes were Decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by Cable of the following Awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.

Williamantic Linen Co., Silver Medal.

and we claim for the winners of the First Prize that, as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from the raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by J. & P. COATS, is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON.

AUCHINCLOSS BROTHERS,

Agents for J. & P. COATS, New York.

BLANCARD'S PILLS

Of Iodide of Iron.

A Specific in all cases of Scrofula, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Chronic Diseases of the Skin, Blood, Glands, Bones, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder, Female Complaints, Consumption, Dropsy, Piles, Worms, Nervousness, Debility, Loss of Memory, Impotency, Sexual Diseases, Impurities of the Blood, Constipation, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Headache, Neuralgia, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Pimples, Eruptions, Ringworm, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Mercurial Affections, Syphilis, Gout, Dropsy, Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Bilious Fever, Typhoid Fever, Yellow Fever, Scarlet Fever, Spotted Fever, Malarial Fever, Female Weakness, Irregularities, Suppressions, Whites, Sterility, Nervous Prostration, Hysteria, Epilepsy, Spasms, Convulsions, Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia, Deafness, Blindness, Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Nose, Lungs, Heart, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs, Diseases of Children, Diseases of Females, Diseases of Males, Diseases of Old Age, Diseases of Middle Life, Diseases of Youth, Diseases of Infancy, Diseases of Manhood, Diseases of Womanhood, Diseases of Childhood, Diseases of Boyhood, Diseases of Girlhood, Diseases of Adolescence, Diseases of Puberty, Diseases of Maturity, Diseases of Decline, Diseases of Convalescence, Diseases of Recovery, Diseases of Health, Diseases of Sickness, Diseases of Life, Diseases of Death, Diseases of Resurrection, Diseases of Immortality, Diseases of Eternity, Diseases of Time, Diseases of Space, Diseases of Matter, Diseases of Spirit, Diseases of Body, Diseases of Soul, Diseases of Mind, Diseases of Thought, Diseases of Feeling, Diseases of Will, Diseases of Conscience, Diseases of Judgment, Diseases of Memory, Diseases of Imagination, Diseases of Reason, Diseases of Understanding, Diseases of Perception, Diseases of Consciousness, Diseases of Self-Consciousness, Diseases of God-Consciousness, Diseases of Man-Consciousness, Diseases of Nature-Consciousness, Diseases of Universe-Consciousness, Diseases of Infinity-Consciousness, Diseases of Eternity-Consciousness, Diseases of Time-Consciousness, Diseases of Space-Consciousness, Diseases of Matter-Consciousness, Diseases of Spirit-Consciousness, Diseases of Body-Consciousness, Diseases of Soul-Consciousness, Diseases of Mind-Consciousness, Diseases of Thought-Consciousness, Diseases of Feeling-Consciousness, Diseases of Will-Consciousness, Diseases of Conscience-Consciousness, Diseases of Judgment-Consciousness, Diseases of Memory-Consciousness, Diseases of Imagination-Consciousness, Diseases of Reason-Consciousness, Diseases of Understanding-Consciousness, Diseases of Perception-Consciousness, Diseases of Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Self-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of God-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Man-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Nature-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Universe-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Infinity-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Eternity-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Time-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Space-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Matter-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Spirit-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Body-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Soul-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Mind-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Thought-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Feeling-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Will-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Conscience-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Judgment-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Memory-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Imagination-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Reason-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Understanding-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Perception-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Self-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of God-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Man-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Nature-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Universe-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Infinity-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Eternity-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Time-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Space-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Matter-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Spirit-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Body-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Soul-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Mind-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Thought-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Feeling-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Will-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Conscience-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Judgment-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Memory-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Imagination-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Reason-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Understanding-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Perception-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Self-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of God-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Man-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Nature-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Universe-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Infinity-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Eternity-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Time-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Space-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Matter-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Spirit-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Body-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Soul-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Mind-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Thought-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Feeling-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Will-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Conscience-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Judgment-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Memory-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Imagination-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Reason-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Understanding-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Perception-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Self-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of God-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Man-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Nature-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Universe-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Infinity-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Eternity-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Time-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Space-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Matter-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Spirit-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Body-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Soul-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Mind-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Thought-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Feeling-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Will-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Conscience-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Judgment-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Memory-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Imagination-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Reason-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Understanding-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Perception-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Self-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of God-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Man-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Nature-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Universe-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Infinity-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Eternity-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Time-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Space-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Matter-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Spirit-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Body-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Soul-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Mind-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Thought-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Feeling-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Will-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Conscience-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Judgment-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Memory-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Imagination-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Reason-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Understanding-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Perception-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Self-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of God-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Man-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Nature-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Universe-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Infinity-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Eternity-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Time-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Space-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Matter-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Spirit-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Body-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness, Diseases of Soul-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consciousness-Consci

MISCELLANEOUS.

HELP!

FOR THE WEAK, NERVOUS AND DEBILITATED!

PULVERMACHER'S

ELECTRIC BELTS

AND [illegible]

READER, ARE YOU AFFLICTED?

PULVERMACHER'S
ELECTRIC BELTS AND BANDS

HEALTH, STRENGTH, AND ENERGY,

PULVERMACHER GALVANIC CO.,
Cor. Eighth & Vine Sts., CINCINNATI.

ELASTIC JOINT

IRON ROOFING.

FIRE, WATER AND WIND PROOF.
Durable, Cheap, [illegible]
Prompt [illegible]
In practical use sixteen years.
Boxed for shipment to any part of the country.
Address for Circular, CALDWELL & CO., Cincinnati, O.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS

received the Highest Medal at the recent
PARIS EXPOSITION,
over all American competitors. Their FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET (No. [illegible]) fits perfect ease, and is warranted not to break down over the hips. Their HEALTH CORSET, with the improved Busk, is now a greater favorite than ever. Their NURSING CORSET is the delight of every mother.
For sale by all leading merchants.
WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N.Y.

Incomparably the Best and Cheapest Windmill. Protected by two patents. Twenty-Eight First Premiums. Light but strong and durable. Has more wind surface, runs in lighter winds, is more automatic, and pumps more water than any other windmill ever before made. Requires no attention, no combustible, no running expenses. It has successfully withstood the tornadoes of the West, while other mills that stood near them have been destroyed, it is rapidly superseding others there. See cuts, sizes and testimonials in our illustrated Catalogue.
Kewanee Manuf'g Co. Patentees.
Office 35 Broadway, New York.
N. B.—Responsible State and County Agents wanted in all parts of the World.

WATER WHEELS.

THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE
TURBINE WATER WHEEL,
PORTABLE AND STATIONARY
STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS,
SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS,
MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING,
SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS
Of Improved Designs, A Specialty
Address, POOLE & HUNT,
Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our fall stock of these goods (unexpectedly delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection. In Breech-Loading Shot Guns alone our assortment in store comprises upward of 90 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded lower than ever before, owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while all our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves, whether you wish to buy now or not.
FOLSOM BROS.,
49 Decatur (Old No. 3 Carondelet) St., corp. Poydras.
Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

THE MARVELOUS PEN!

NO INK required. Writes with WATER. Pen of any color and fabric. Agents wanted. J. T. HILLYER, 16 Nassau [illegible] New York.

MEDICAL.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the recognized Standard Family Medicine of the United States. Scarcely a family can be found from Maine to Texas, to whom they are unknown.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits.

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that arise from MALARIAL POISON and a DERANGED LIVER such as Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Typhoid Fevers, Chills, Colic, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Diarrhœa, Nervousness, Dizziness, Palpitation of the Heart, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney Diseases, Chronic Constipation, Piles, &c.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a

Dull pain in the Shoulder, Coated Tongue, Sallow Skin, Weight in the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Sour Eructations, Aversion to Exertion of Body or Mind,

BE ADVISED, AND AT ONCE

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

The first dose produces an effect which often astonishes the sufferer, and in a short time follow an Appetite, Good Digestion,

SOLID FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE,

A sufferer says they are the

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

DR. TUTT: I have used your Pills for Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness. I never had anything to do me so much good in the way of medicine. They are as good as you represent them. They are the best Pill in Existence, and I do all I can to acquaint sufferers with their good merits. J. W. TIBBETTS, Bucyrus, Minn.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

The Most Refreshing Toilet Article

CASSEBEER'S

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

(EAU DE QUININE).

WILL preserve, cultivate beautify, arrest the fall of and restore a silken softness to the Hair, and will not soil the most delicate fabric. Price, $1.

Cassebeer's Ammonia Lozenges.

For mitigating coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, dry throat, etc., and facilitating expectoration. Price, 25 cents, sent by mail.

Both excellent preparations are for sale by all druggists, and by the proprietor, H. A. CASSEBEER, Apothecary, 37 Fourth avenue and 57 South avenue, New York.

Jenkin's ANNIHILATOR

The Great Southern Remedy for RHEUMATISM
GOUT and NEURALGIA

IS PURELY VEGETABLE, and can be taken with without fear of any injurious result by the delicate as well as the coarse in constitution. It purifies the Blood, eliminates the Liver and Kidneys, and eradicates every vestige of the above disease. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. Pamphlets, containing testimonials and valuable advice, sent free to any address.
N. JENKINS & CO., Proprietors,
New Orleans, La.
FINLAY & THOMPSON, Wholesale Druggists, General Agents, New Orleans, La.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by a true process of re-vitalization.
REMARKABLE CURES have been made in Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Headache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and the large class of ailments which come from nervous depression,
LOSS OF VITALITY [illegible] of essential, the sustaining effects of climate, and especially
IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES [illegible] from which patients in every section and which doctors so many [illegible] diseases.
STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. Judge KELLEY, Hon. S. ARTHUR, Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Gov. BOREMAN of West Virginia, and others who have used the New Treatment.
FREE! A treatise (200 pages) on Compound Oxygen, with many testimonials of most remarkable cures, sent free. Address
DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1109 Girard St., Philada.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOUNDED JULY 1, 1808.

OLDEST SHOT TOWER IN AMERICA.

THOS. W. SPARKS,

Patent American Chilled Shot,

Standard Drop and Buck Shot
AND BAR LEAD MANUFACTURER,
121 WALNUT STREET,
PHILADELPHIA.

F. A. BEHAN, Agent,
NEW ORLEANS.
G. B. MILLER & CO., Agents,
GALVESTON.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS

IN

CARRIAGE, WAGON

AND

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

And Manufacturers of

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,

All at Reasonable Prices.

68 AND 70 SOUTH HAMPART ST.,
Between Common and Gravier,
NEW ORLEANS.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

LADIES', GENTS', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.
MY MOTTO: "Quick Sales and Small Profits."
Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

ROSES

6 for $1, 12 for $2, by mail, postpaid. Descriptive Catalogue free. To the trade and Catalogue with Price List to wholesale purchasers, free on application. Address A. H. Phillips & Son, West Grove, Chester Co., Pa.

REVOLVER FREE Seven Shot Revolver, with box cartridges. Address J. Brown & Son, 136 & 138 Wood st., Pittsburg, Pa.

STAMPED PATTERNS.—Stamped Stamps of 25 Designs for 25c. This first number just out. A. BERNARD, 40 Canal St., N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FITS OR EPILEPSY.

To the Editor of the Advocate:

DEAR SIR—Will you please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the cure of the above disease, and that by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing, and will give

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

for a case it fails to cure, or ever benefit. Indeed, so strong is my faith, I will send together with a valuable treatise to any sufferer addressing me, giving their name, express and P. O. address. Please show this note to any of your readers who is suffering with this terrible disease, and oblige, Respectfully yours,

ONE BOTTLE FREE,

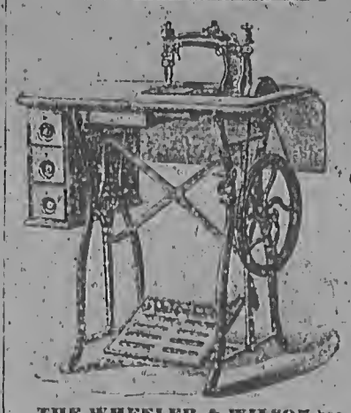
DR. H. C. ROOT, 183 Pearl Street, N. Y.

SEWING MACHINES.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The Sing Machine Reduced to	$60.
" " " "	50.
" " " "	45.
" " " "	40.
" " " "	35.
" " " "	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 4,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self setting needle.
It never cuts the thread or goods.
It is a new machine, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no noisy cog wheels.
It has no complicated shuttle to thread.
It always has the work to run back from the operator.

Send for our New Cash Price List.
CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.
OFFICE AND SALESROOM:
103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Patented May 28th, 1878.

The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Man'f'g Co.

Every one who owns a cow should have one of our wonderful Milkers. A child can use them. Send free to any part of the United States on receipt of 42 cents for our Illustrated Pamphlet on the cow, containing the testimonials of practical farmers and dairymen throughout the United States, and sectional views of a cow's teats and bag dissected and scientifically exhibited, by Drs. White and Wilson of this city. Sent free to any address.

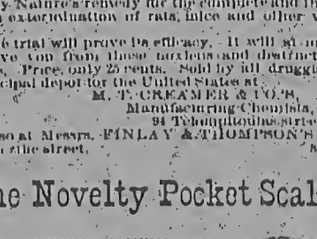
GEO. E. KING, President.
Office, 573 Broadway, New York.

$8. $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD MEDAL WATCH & CHAIN are the only two Imitation Gold Watches that are made with all the latest improvements of the American factories. They are a perfect, beautiful Watch, and cannot be told from a Gold Watch & Chain except by an experienced jeweler. Sent to any address on receipt of $15. Jewelers and the trade supplied. COLLINS GOLD METAL WATCH FACTORY, 34 Beekman st., N. Y. P.O. Box 3054.

JOSEPH GILLOTT'S
STEEL PENS.
SOLD BY ALL DEALERS.
MANUFACTURERS' WAREHOUSE,
No. 91 John Street, New York.
JOSEPH GILLOTT & SONS.

R. B. MITCHELL,



Carpenter and Cistern-Maker
183 MAGAZINE ST., near Josephine, New Orleans.
Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

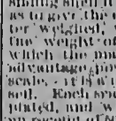
FURNITURE, PICTURES,

LOOKING GLASSES, ETC.,

153 Camp Street 154

Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.



BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Superior Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Etc. Chime Bells for Churches, Town Clocks etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, 271 3 Mill St., Cincinnati.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERYBODY ANSWERS: YES!

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY, is the only reliable remedy. Simply wheat, in the whole grain ordered powerfully poisonous to vermin, and is really Nature's remedy for the complete and thorough extermination of rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will at once relieve you from those noxious and destructive pests. Price, only 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States at
M. T. CREAMER & CO.'S,
Manufacturing Chemists,
94 Tchoupitoulas street.
Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S, 56 Magazine street.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.

A BEAUTIFUL, USEFUL and EASY-SELLING ARTICLE

Wanted by every FARMER, BUTCHER, TRADER, FISHERMAN, SPORTSMAN, and EVERY FAMILY.

The most perfect scale ever invented. Ingeniously from 2 oz. to 15 lbs., is about the size of a man's forefinger, weighs only 2 oz., and can be carried in the pocket without inconvenience. Thus being always ready to weigh an ever recurring and universal want. The novelty, beauty and usefulness of the article is sure to sell it. By an ingenious contrivance this little weighs is so arranged that by its sibling shell it may be so adjusted as to give the exact weight of anything weighed, without subtracting the weight of the receptacle in which the matter is weighed—an advantage possessed by no other scale. It is a new idea, and sells well. Each scale is heavily nickel-plated, and will be sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents.

GEORGE BETTS,
55 Broadway, New York,
Sole proprietor and manufacturer.

AGENTS WANTED.

20 Chromo Cards (perfect beauties) with name, 10c. Gold Edge, 15c. Turner Card Co., Ashland, Mass.

30 Mixed Cards, Snowflake, Damask, etc., no 2 alike, with name 10 cts. J. MINKLER & Co., Nassau, N. Y.

MISCELLANEOUS.

BUENA SALUD

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia & all Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Coca Leaf of Cuzco, Peru, and is recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of Coca leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peru and Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

A. QUICHUA COCA CO.,
No. 72 William St., New York.

PERFORATED

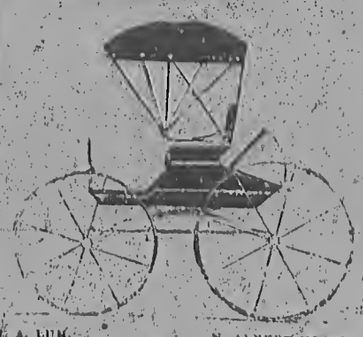
VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,

For use in Churches, Halls and Lodges, are coming into general use on account of their Comfort, Durability, Cleanliness, and Ornament.

No. 115.

Churches intending to buy Chairs or Settees will do well to correspond with

CARDNER & CO.,
Patentees and Manufacturers,
370 PEARL ST., NEW YORK.



E. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,
169 Gravier and 18 Union Street.
A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $50. New articles just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. BOOMER, Nassau, Fulton street, New York.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FAITH,

Hope and Charity is a Beautiful Illuminated Motto, just published and sent postpaid to every 4 months subscriber to Leisure Hours, 25 cents (send silver, stamps or currency). This Motto, size 12x16, is printed in 15 Oil Colors; the words are elegant [illegible] Lillies, Forget-me-nots, Lillies of the Valley, Pansies and Grasses, handsomely printed in Oil Colors [illegible] their beauty, each [illegible] a full description of its beauty. This Motto is worth [illegible] and will be considered cheap at 50 cents; but the publishers, J. L. PETTIS & Co., 42 Barclay st., N. Y., are desirous of introducing their new Magazine, Leisure Hours, after every subscriber the Motto FREE. Leisure Hours is the name of a monthly Magazine [illegible] from a bi-page paper filled with [illegible] articles of Stories, Travel, Biography, Nature, Gems, [illegible] by the ablest writers. This is the largest Magazine published, quality and [illegible] sold [illegible] at $1 per year; 50 cents for six months; 25 cents for three months; 10 cents per number. A [illegible] plate, Pictures, Dreams, Gold and Silver Watches, Sewing Machines, etc., to the amount of $3,000 [illegible] prizes given free to Agents. Besides large commissions to [illegible] cents. Canvassing and subscription [illegible] Send 25 cts. for [illegible] postage. News dealers sell LEISURE HOURS. State where you saw this.

Given Away

DIAMONDS

IN SOLID GOLD MOUNTINGS.

ONE DOLLAR. ONE DOLLAR.

THE WONDERFUL LEFEVRE DIAMONDS TRADE MARK PAT'D

Lefevre Ring, $1. Set of Studs, $1. The Shah Stud, $1. Lefevre Ear Drops, $1.

THE ONLY PERFECT FAC-SIMILE OF THE REAL DIAMOND IN THE WORLD

Pronounced by the Academy of Paris (Prof. M. Lefevre [illegible] and [illegible] Chemist to the Academy of Paris, France, where they are [illegible] to the [illegible] Geography, in Paris, France, where they are [illegible] to the chemical and [illegible] test.

BY WHICH THEIR SURFACES ARE COVERED WITH A COATING OF PURE DIAMOND [illegible] imparting to them all the [illegible] DIAMONDS [illegible] mond, and making [illegible] resembling Wear, Brilliancy, and Beauty, [illegible] gems themselves. The Rings, Studs and Ear Drops, as displayed in this [illegible] curate engravings of SOLID GOLD MOUNTINGS, containing the Wonderful Lefevre Diamond, warranted by certificate for [illegible]

ON RECEIPT OF ONE DOLLAR [illegible] we will send free, by return mail, to any address in America, either of the above articles, or [illegible] resented, our "Book of Diamonds," with illustrations of artistic Diamond Jewelry, [illegible] Diamonds, describing [illegible] Lefevre Diamond. [illegible] ANDREW MARKS, Jeweler, 41 N. Y.

[illegible] JEWELERS, Manufacturing Jewelers, 41 Maiden Lane, New York. P. O. Box 3,038.

Gold and Silver Plating by the Quicksilver Process. Send for Circular.

AMERICAN JEWELRY COMPANY, 5 Arcade, Cincinnati, O.

The American Jewelry Company is [illegible]

SOLID GOLD RINGS.

Illustrated Catalogue, showing sizes and prices of [illegible] Gold Rings, also Amethyst, Jet, [illegible] and Cold Set Rings, with [illegible] sent free, by mail, to any [illegible] cents extra for registration. We [illegible] as represented. We [illegible] description of [illegible] manufacture of Engagement [illegible] Rings, to be sent safely by mail.

[illegible] & Co., Goldsmiths, 201 Main [illegible] the Lafayette, Ky.

EVERY RING WARRANTED.

MISCELLANEOUS.

OSCAR C. FOLSE, COMMISSION MERCHANT, and dealer in Western Produce, Seeds, Cotton Seed Meal, Cotton Seed Oil, Cotton Sugar, Rice, Potatoes, etc. 135 DECATUR ST., [illegible] New Orleans, La. 8p

PROSER'S SAN FRANCISCO CITRATE EFFERVESCENT

An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

This well known preparation is highly recommended for its purity. Its cleansing, [illegible] qualities in Stomach Disorders, and [illegible] arising from Acidity, Biliousness and Malarial Fevers. It cools the blood and [illegible] Prepared only by A. PROSER, Chemist, N. Y.
Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.
For Sale by [illegible]

WATERS' PIANOS, [illegible] Improved, ARE THE BEST MADE. Over Three Pianos, Wood Cases, Agraffe Treble, Overstrung Scale, Warranted for SIX YEARS.
PRICES LOWER THAN LOW. Cash, Monthly Installments, or Rented. A Great Discount.
ORGANS WANTED. Second-hand organs taken in part pay for Pianos. Illustrated Catalogues and Price Lists mailed.
Agents Wanted. Liberal Inducements to Dealers. Great Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 481 & 483 BROADWAY, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK. Box 3567.

DR. S. C. RHAM,
SOLE PROPRIETOR OF THE
SURE CURE TRUSS,
N. W. cor. Fifth & Elm Sts., Cincinnati, O.
THE BEST TRUSS IN THE WORLD!

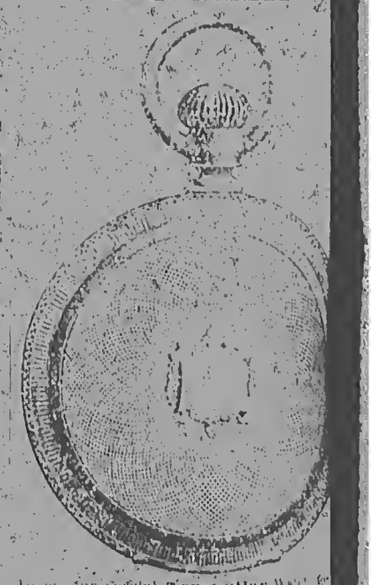
Those who have suffered untold agony for years, by wearing the Metallic Spring Trusses will find in the SURE CURE TRUSS all that the name implies—a sure cure for all the ills attending and upon ruptures. It is a RUBBER Truss, has no springs, strong plastic in back, Vulcanite rubber pads that never blister, never slip. Can be worn at night.
Testimonials of cures can be seen at the office. No. 1 Flexible Trusses. The best manufactured, warranted, at $4 per single, $7 for double. Examination free.
Trusses sent free by mail on receipt of order and money. Send stamp for circular.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Do not disfigure your face by wearing spectacles, when you can buy a pair of the celebrated EYE CUPS for $5. Guaranteed to restore the sight, or money refunded. Address
DR. F. P. LEE & CO.,
P. O. Box 3918. 81 Liberty st., New York.

DISCOVERY BY which hair can be forced to grow on the smoothest heads. Few papers all over the country contain Notices of the remarkable virtues of Mrs. Hyatt's Hair Restorer and their increasing sales. Hundreds testify to the efficacy of the Restorer. Mrs. Hyatt's principle is the most reasonable, because she proceeds on the well-based supposition that the Hair gems lower than while life exists in the gems to produce a healthy growth. Three bottles for $5, or according to the order and [illegible] to be paid when medicine is delivered.
205 NORTH STATE ST., Apothecaries, St. Louis, Mo.

NO RISK



In order to introduce our Special Ten Cotton Wash Boilers into every family in the United States, we have concluded to make them the Solid Coin Silver, Cash Offer for Improvement in the Manufacture of Boilers, so as to render them the best Article ever offered to the public. Time and Quality, that has ever been given for the price. Can refer to over 1,000 families in this city who have used them. We send one Boiler to any address in the United States on receipt of $5.00, or two Boilers for $9.00, and if not as represented, will refund the money. Warranted. W. H. ENDERICK & SON, 111 Fourth Ave., Louisville, Ky.
Send Catalogue free on application. Mention this paper.

Marder, Luse & Co.
TYPE FOUNDERS,
CHICAGO.

MASON & HAMLIN
CABINET ORGANS
ONLY GOLD MEDAL
Paris Exposition, 1878

PARIS, 1878	AT EVERY
Two Highest Medals.	WORLD'S
SWEDEN, 1878	EXPOSITION
PHILADA, 1876	FOR 12 YEARS
SANTIAGO, '75
VIENNA, 1873	HIGHEST HONORS
PARIS, 1867

At the Paris Exposition, 1878, they were awarded the GOLD MEDAL, the highest honor at the disposal of the Jury, also the ORNATE MEDAL, the highest distinction for exceptional workmanship. They have also received the GRAND GOLD MEDAL OF SWEDEN & NORWAY, 1878. No other American Organs ever attained highest honors at any World's Exposition. Sold for cash, or payments by installments. Latest Catalogues, with newest styles, prices, etc., free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., BOSTON, NEW YORK or CHICAGO.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1878. NO. 18.

FIRST GUIDE.

[illegible]

LAWS OF THE WEEK

DOMESTIC.

[illegible]

Washington, Nov. 21. The report of the Yellow Fever Commission, composed of Surgeons Woodworth, Guiteau and Howard, who, with Col. T. S. Hordon, sanitary officer, have been investigating the origin of the fever stricken cities in Louisiana, that a great amount of filthiness was taken up by the steamboats and that the best cases in New Orleans, the midst of filth, were brought up by by contagion as yet not fully understood, investigations, however, show that the disease is invariably traced to direct or indirect exposure to bodies in which decomposition is going on. [illegible] sanitary precautions [illegible] the Mississippi valley [illegible] the Gulf ports.

Washington, Nov. 21. To-morrow's proceedings of the Public Health Convention will be opened by Col. Harper, sanitary engineer of Lexington, who will read a paper on sanitary conditions of New Orleans.

Washington, Nov. 21. The proceedings of the Public Health Association were opened by Harper, with a review of the fever epidemic in New Orleans, as dwelling from the point of topographical surroundings [illegible] after which Dr. Chapin, president of the New Orleans board of health, read a paper taking the ground that yellow fever is not an indigenous disease of Louisiana or other part of the North American continent, but is the many years when [illegible] importation in this country.

Washington, Nov. 21. No fever deaths or cases reported. There is a prospect of rain to-night.

St. Louis, Nov. 21. Governor Phelps has telegraphed all the congressmen-elect in this district, including those in the commercial convention, which is to be held in New Orleans the latter part of November, urging Messrs. Bland, Clark and Beecher, who are members of the present Congress, and whose presence is necessary in Washington at the late session of Congress.

New Orleans, Nov. 21.—The search for the remains of A. T. Stewart's grave is still [illegible] Smith, every rumor heretofore [illegible] having been followed up, and has [illegible] proving nothing and the police say [illegible] know who else.

New York, Nov. 22. The case of James [illegible] against General Sheridan was [illegible] the United States court [illegible] Wallace, now acting for the [illegible] Butler, one of the counsel [illegible] for plaintiff, [illegible] Monday [illegible] Mr. Stewart [illegible] for alleged losses [illegible] Atlantic [illegible] Mr. Wallace [illegible] was in possession of [illegible] New Orleans [illegible] 1865, [illegible] New Orleans. [illegible]

[illegible]

Lexington, Nov. 21. Reports of Veterans' [illegible] Perryville [illegible] by the [illegible] Association [illegible] Association [illegible] Association

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

REV. T. J. HARP, Publisher.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. T. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

The Lowest Place.

"Any place in the house of God is better than the most exalted in the tents of wickedness. The threshold of the one is more to be desired than the luxuries and elegancies of the other. "I had rather be a door-keeper." But the marginal reading brings out the sense more clearly: I would choose rather to sit at the threshold of the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness." The lowest place in God's service is better than the highest in the walks of sin. This is the conviction that possessed the mind, the feeling that animated the heart.

The house of God and the tents of wickedness describe the religious and the worldly life. They represent opposite courses, and stand in opposition to each other. One experience cannot embrace both. They mutually exclude each other. They that dwell in the tents of wickedness are not so much as on the threshold of religion, and they that are even on the threshold of the sanctuary cannot remain in sin. The two great institutions stand confronting and in opposition. They have nothing in common, but are always in violent antagonism. The dwellers in sin have no part in God's house, the least of sin has no fellowship with the works of darkness. Between these—the house of God and the tents of wickedness—the choice lies. Identification with one or the other is inevitable. The attempt to combine the two exhibits a common delusion. The soul absorbed in the world, given up to pleasure, and bent on the frivolous and giddy dissipations of the times, is in the tents of wickedness. The house of God may still be entered and its worship attended, but the real character is altogether worldly. No man can serve two masters. In fact no man does. He may think otherwise, but he is deluded and self-deceived.

It is something to be well satisfied with the choice we have made in religion; to feel that the portion of God's house is infinitely better than the world and its delights. The tents of wickedness present no temptations to one in this state of mind. Their splendors may be in strong contrast with the plainness, and even poverty of the Christian's temporal condition. He is not dissatisfied on this account. Those glittering baubles will soon be swept away. All their beauty and glory are doomed to fade. The word of the Lord endureth forever. God's house stands firm and enduring, and its riches and pleasures, so great and satisfying now, are everlasting. He would not change places with those who revel in riches that are the price of sin, nor with those whose pleasures are indulged at the cost of their soul's salvation. There is money in sin. Fortunes are made in liquor, in gambling, and by fraudulent practices in business. A lottery ticket draws a prize now and then. It sometimes puts a man in possession of a mansion and a comfortable fortune. The tenants of wickedness of this sort are exceptional, but they are alluring. With these full in view the "better" of the Psalmist comes in. The costless mansion and the suggest fortune—the prize of gambling and the gain of sin—are not to be compared with the blessedness of God's house. This satisfaction and fixedness in religion is a great deal. The lack of them is seen in the lapses from integrity that sometimes occur. If is surely "a good thing that the heart be established with grace." There is something unsound and dangerous in the condition of the man who is looking back, or, who even hesitates upon this point. If the threshold of God's house be not better to him than the tents of wickedness, if he be in a mood even to tolerate debate, there is peril.

The lowest place in the one is chosen rather than the highest in the other. As between place and place in God's house, in one sense, there is neither high nor low. All places are alike so they be filled with a contented and devoted spirit. But the priests went into the sanctuary from which ordinary worshipers were excluded, and then, as now, there were divers orders in the ministry. The place for strangers and Gentiles was inferior to that of the children of Abraham. Sometime ago we knew a venerable and somewhat eccentric old Methodist who boasted wherever he went that he was sexton of a small church, and had been for thirty years. We believe he kept on ringing the bell and dusting the pulpit and pews, and getting shouting happy at every meeting until he died. He would not have changed places with a crowned head. As minister or layman, as prominent or obscure, the lowest place is better than the honors and pleasures connected with sin. In such a mind as this was the old and threadbare itinerant, who on receiving his appointment to a poor and hard circuit, joyfully thanked God for any place.

The true spirit of Christian service is in this estimate of it. A seat upon the threshold of God's house is better than a throne in the tents of wickedness. A place in the outer court is more to be desired than complete possession of all the pleasures and riches of the world. In the work of the church our field may be obscure, the sphere narrow, the service humble. And in our religious life we have given up many things that the world prizes. The secret of strength, happiness and perseverance lies greatly in this sense of the supreme importance and superiority of religious things. The peace and happiness can hardly be measured where this spirit of religious content and satisfaction reigns in the heart. Where "a day in the Thy courts is better than a thousand," where the sunny atmosphere and the sweetest light are in the temple of God, there will be no lustful and restless longings for the world without.

At the Conference in Texas.

Corpus Christi, Tex., Nov. 13, 1878.

Mr. Editor.—You will remember that I took a running start to get into Texas, round by Baltimore, New York and Chicago, yet narrowly escaped being put off in the Indian Nation, ten miles from anywhere; and here, but recently, just below Hampstead, not being able to sign the certificate that I had not been in an infected region since the first of August. Having neither Doctor's nor Mayor's statement, nor anything to show, nothing but pure reason, you may judge that much talking in a very confidential tone was necessary to pass through some six several quarantines. I commend all this caution, it has kept the fever out, and I only hope, with Dr. Marshall, that the government will follow up public opinion and place such a guard upon our West India, Central, and South American commerce, as shall forever protect the South against this imported, deadly, subtle fever. It was in Philadelphia one hundred years before it ever appeared in New Orleans, and was only gotten rid of by stopping all West Indian trade. We can import whatever articles we need from the tropics in the three winter months.

In New York I heard Dean Stanley on Job, 38th chapter, the words of Elihu, "Suffer me a little and I will show thee that I have yet to speak in God's behalf." The Dean is of spare, sinewy frame, about five feet eleven, sixty-two years of age, has a fine, sensitive face, sharp cut nose, firm, deep marked mouth, small bright eyes, broad and high forehead, surmounted with glossy, gray hair and gray, close cut side whiskers. He was dressed in a surplice, with scarlet ribbon loosely hanging from his neck—the crimson hood of an English D. D.—from which he occasionally threw a golden jewel, the Order of the Bath.

He read and held one hand on the page with scarcely a gesture, except a nervous throwing up of the head and eyes, say every three minutes. The first impression was, the very many ways there are of pronouncing English. It was not Scotch but as hard to catch, a very hard, gutteral use of the a, so that fully one half of the whole discourse was to be guessed or lost. All that could be understood was admirable in purity and beauty of style. He assigned to Elihu the part of the wise chorus in an ancient tragedy, or of a judge balancing the arguments in a contested case. He drew four chief pratical lessons from the book: First, the wisdom put in the mouth of Elihu, where the friends have failed in their arguments—"there were times when traditional authorities must give way to truth; when he who is young may instruct those who are aged"—that each generation must learn not only from what has gone before, but from that which is to come after it." Second—That there are problems beyond the power of man to understand, and that in the certainty of the uncertainty it is our privilege to rest; for it has been well said that one may rest as calmly before a confessed and unconquerable difficulty as before a confessed truth." Third—That though Job had whereof to glory yet it was not before God; "we all need the graces of modesty and humility." Fourth and lastly—A sense of the imperfection of our own knowledge may help us to understand the uses of suffering—"we go through life wondering whereunto this thing will grow, but by every affliction something is gained. Humility and charity for others, and a deeper knowledge of the mind of God were among the gifts that even the best may gain by trials."

His discourse ended with an illustration: A party who had escaped from a sinking ship found themselves in an open boat, and out on a raging tropical sea; their danger was not from the solid mass of water but from the waves which came upon them. They feared that when the night came down it would be impossible to see and keep the boat headed towards these towering waves; but when darkness came the waves rolled toward them crested with phosphoric light, and so they rode through until the dawn and a ship came to their rescue.

The West Texas Conference was a most delightful one. We had the Spirit manifestly with us all the way through. The Mexicans were there in force. God had greatly honored their work during the year. Twelve native preachers, six hundred members, twenty Sabbath-schools, three Local Preachers, two hundred and ten adult and eighty-two infant baptisms. Four traveling deacons were ordained, all Mexicans. Among the stationers are men of marked character. One of them was an old United States Mexican ranger, a very compact, powerful man, of medium stature; he was converted through the preaching of Armendariz and the verse, "no man cometh to the Father but by Me." This was paint blank against the thousand and one saints of Rome. He was converted in the chaparral, a spot which he never passes without halting the company and going to prayers. The ladies of San Marcos improvised a missionary supper for the Spanish speaking brethren, and waited on the table themselves. At this supper the old guide, Rodriguez, spake, the tears covering his and our faces; so, too, Bro. Potter, famous as always on the outside row, the travels with Winchester in hand. Bros. Sutherland, the Superintendent, Dr. Tucker, DeVilbiss and several others. We have had this Mexican group photographed beautifully for the missionary treasury, by the generous enterprise of Mr. Shaw, of Galveston.

Six years ago my eye fell on the single figure of a manly, bright-eyed Mexican as he entered the Conference at Victoria in company with Dr. Tucker, Allgo Hernandez; now all these! I felt assured that the Mexican work was an accomplished fact. No power of the adversary can destroy it. The Spirit has scattered too many coals in this flesh for the fire ever to be quenched.

There is a spring near San Marcos from which the San Marcos river flows, more refreshing to the eye than the fountains of Egeria. It is full half a mile in length and not less than one hundred feet wide. You float on the limpid surface and see below you a garden of plants, brighter than emerald, varieties of water grasses, lillies, and cresses, with perch, trout and an occasional turtle, slowly moving, or standing as if fixed in crystal, transparent to the depth of twenty to thirty feet. One can scarcely imagine the beauty of that dell of leaf in water to night with light down to the very sand from which it springs.

At Belton the North Texas Conference met October 30. This has come to be a powerful body, with a grand territory—one worthy of all their gifts and graces. The Conference is sadly at ease in school houses and a few little square structures called churches; it needs a great revival on church building. The missionary cause received a permanent lift in the very able speech of Dr. Wilson, the Missionary Secretary, at the Missionary Anniversary. My heart rejoiced under its power. Surely God will stir us all presently to take our proper place side by side with the churches of Christendom in preaching the gospel to the heathen. The collection was over $400.

This Conference, at several points, has been sorely troubled with a new departure—the Holy Band. They believe: 1—That they themselves are wholly sanctified. 2—That others are not; and that the sacraments should not be taken from an unsanctified hand—being perfect it is scarcely necessary to take them at all. 3—They have "impressions" in answer to prayer that are of nearly equal value to revelation. 4—They exclaim on meeting each other: "Saved from sin?" Answer: "Saved from sin." They do not sing the same songs, nor at the same time with the rest of the brethren; when these sing they are still, and vice versa. 5—They scarcely need preaching. One of the brethren was met by an official last year as he reached his appointment: "We do not need you, we are saved." 6—They believe in sensing of self-mortification—a sanctified lady doubts if she should continue with a husband that is just commonly religious, etc., etc. An itinerant company from the North was invited down to several towns on the railroad to hold special meetings on holiness, and this is the result.

The German Mission Conference began here on yesterday. A whole District is absent; the New Orleans, which we greatly regret.

What preachers we have are a very solid, well dressed body of men. At nearly every appointment of ours in Texas and Louisiana, the Northern Methodist Missionary Society has planted a German church beside our German church. The community, probably large enough to support one church, is then made to draw on the Missionary Society of both Methodisms for money enough to support two. This is folly only less than sin. It is the war feeling shown in the war, and the great devil seeking itself missionary entrance. This is fraternity with a vengeance. Let us have thy kind grace.

Yours truly,

J. C. KEENER.

We are happy to welcome the Western Methodist again after its temporary suspension. It comes to us in full form and looking well after a period of rest. The first number of November 15, is largely devoted to memorial sketches to A. W. Blew, Dr. Slater and others who died of the fever in Memphis. The Editor, Geo. Johnson, says:

Heart-sick—decidedly. We sit down to-day alone in our office. Alone, alas? A first mournful duty engages us—to remember and record. No words of ours can affect them—they are with God in heaven, with the good, happy majority, for love this pen-state of toil and trial, of death and sorrow; while we linger here in uncertainty, yet not without hope. So though we cannot by our words affect them, we can relieve ourselves by thinking them. Nay more—we can derive from their lives, their examples, blessing for our subject and comfort and guidance, so that following them as they followed Christ, we too may attain the blessedness now enjoyed by them.

ROBERT W. BLEW.

We falter, as we set down that name first among our dead. And yet it must be written—Robert W. Blew is one of our dead, alas! We put on Uncle Bob's page in mourning, and fill all its columns with tributes to his memory, and especially with sketches of his last days and the closing scene, from the pen of the Rev. W. P. Barton, who so tenderly and so faithfully ministered unto his dear friend and brother, and the entire family all through the dark days of death. Every page of the paper might show the customary black lines, if that would avail aught; but there is no need of such signs, in testimony of our grief for our dead; for brethren in the ministry and membership of the Church, for friends, and fellow-citizens, hundreds and thousands, who have fallen victims of the plague.

The sketch of Bro. Blew concludes as follows:

Indeed, as a layman, converted to God in early life, and henceforth devoted to the work of the Church, he was a remarkably brilliant example of fidelity to his convictions of duty and of usefulness in the Church. In his family Brother Blew was very happy. His wife was one of the loveliest Christian women, and their devotion to each other was perfect. Six dear children God gave them—five he took with them to heaven: Miss Zillah, an accomplished young lady, one of the graduates last summer of the State Female College, Miss Willie, Robert, Maggie and James; the baby, Daly, Sallie survives, in her sixth year. The Rev. W. P. Barton, who so strongly and lovingly ministered to the family in the closing scene, has the little orphan at his house, and with his family for the present, and he would gladly, with the consent of relatives in Virginia and Maryland, adopt her as his own child, as would many others of us. Our beloved associate, with almost his entire family, now enjoys the heavenly rest—all that is mortal sleeping in the quietude of Elmwood. There soon, doubtless, the children will erect a monument to his memory. Farewell, brother, till we meet in heaven!

What the Richmond Christian Advocate says of the Richmond churches may afford timely suggestion to pastors whose Conferences are yet to meet:

There has been a very thorough purging of all the church registers of this city during this Conference year. A very large number of names have been taken from the books of those who have removed without certificate and have been lost sight of for over twelve months, and yet we are glad to know that there is quite an increase in the aggregate membership in the city.

Our friend Dr. J. M. Watkins, after a brief trip to Mississippi for rest and recreation, returned to his post last week. He can be found hereafter at his office and residence, on Elysian fields street, in the Third District.

Books and Periodicals.

LITTLE MISS MISCHIEF AND HER HAPPY AFTERNOONS. Adapted from the French of E. Sauvin, by L. de Grimm. Drawings by Beggarstaff, engraved by Pearsall. Boston: D. Lothrop & Co.

The story of the quaint conceits, pranks, and novel ideas of a bright and fun-loving child is entertainingly amusing. There are twenty-two chapters, each very pretty, and each illustrated by a full-page engraving. A good many little Miss Mischiefs will be found in this book. The work is a work of art throughout. Price $1 25.

CHRISTIAN LIFE AND CHARACTER OF THE ANTE-NICENE FATHERS. By J. Kaye, D. D., Lord Bishop of Lincoln. Boston: Little, Brown & Co.

A good book for young students. The story is well told, and is enriched throughout with valuable lessons. The volume is a fine specimen of typographical art. Price $1 50.

TRAVELS IN NEW GUINEA. By J. Elliot Lawson, M. D. Boston: D. Lothrop & Co.

This book is full of interesting matter, and is a work of rare literary merit. The style is graceful and entertaining. Sermons and sermons have given us the largest and best of the missionaries for the boys and girls, and we are assured that these will be improvements in the future.

Scribner's Monthly for December has Alfred Anderson's illustrated "The Great Dead Wood Mystery," Hawthorne's "Elizabeth's Children," illustrated; "The National Bank Commission," "Dora Hood," illustrated; "Carlsbad Hunting," illustrated; "The Douglass Squirrel of California," illustrated; "The Cliff Dwellers," illustrated; "At the Paris Exposition;" "Art Narrowing;" "Roads profitable and other matters."

St. Nicholas for December is a gem. The illustrations and articles are very fine.

The Westminster Review for October, American Edition, the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York, has the following articles: 1. The Australian Colonies. 2. Novels of Bernhard Auerbach. 3. Buddhist Literature. 4. The Troubadours. 5. Milnorne. 6. The Situation in the East and the Future of Russia. Contemporary Literature.

Lippincott's Magazine for December has: Dutch in Days Illustrated; Some Aspects of Contemporary Art; A Spanish Story-teller; The Bell-Tower of 1858, I. Modern Instances; The Great Earthquake of 1868 in Venezuela; and other articles.

Golden Hours for December is a charming number for this excellent periodical for the girls and boys.

Appleton's Journal for December has: The Americans at Work, No. 1, Illustrated; A German Town and Castle, Illustrated; Old New York; The Great French Exhibition; Ancient Houses; A Primitive City of the Middle East; The Greats—Macaulay; The Work and Workers.

Vick's Floral Magazine for December has: Farm Animals, Illustrated; Cornwall, Illustrated; Wisteria and the Lindie Hills; Weeks and the American Revolution; Oliver C. Morton; The Fig Tree; Among the Thorns; The Marvels of Insect Life; Editorial Miscellany.

The Magazine of Art for November is as usual filled with choice art, literature and with numerous and superior engravings. Published by Cassell, Petter and Galpin, London, Paris and New York.

MARRIED.

SPIVEY—GARDNER—November 13, by Rev. James M. Crews, at the residence of the bride's mother, in Lowndes county, Ala., Mr. John P. Spivey to Miss Annie A. Gardner.

DAVIS—McCAULEY—September 11, by Rev. W. C. Black, at the residence of the bride's mother, near Sulphur Springs, Miss., Mr. W. E. Davis to Miss S. J. McCauley.

HOWARD—HOLLIDAY—November 13, 1878, by Rev. W. C. Black, at the bride's residence, near Carrollton Mission, Dr. J. Howard to Mrs. E. V. Holliday.

Religious Notices.

The Louisiana Conference.

CHANGE OF TIME.

CHARLESTON, [illegible] 10, 1878.

On account of [illegible] continued prevalence of the yellow fever in the city of New Orleans and its vicinity at this date, and also the condition thereof, the place of session of the Louisiana Conference in the city of New Orleans is hereby changed from December 11, 1878, to January 8, 1879, by request of the preachers in charge of New Orleans.

D. C. KELLER, President.

Change of Time and Place of Conference.

At the request of several Presiding Elders, and with the consent of our bishops, on March the 26th, the place of holding the session of the Mississippi Conference is hereby changed. It will meet in Vicksburg, December 18.

R. PAYNE.

Secretary.

THE DISTRICT CONFERENCES.

For Jackson District, Meridian Station, to Panola, Miss., December 5th.

[illegible] preachers and delegates as prompt [illegible] on the ground with [illegible]

T. M. [illegible]

Secretary.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS.

1879.

Publisher's Department.

The representative [illegible] the Advocate [illegible]

[illegible] Co., the celebrated [illegible]

[illegible] Co., Mass., [illegible] to advertise in the paper [illegible] for the restoration of sight to those [illegible] been injured or whose sight is [illegible] by the proprietors to accomplish the purpose which they are intended. For particulars [illegible] interested should address the Company at Liberty street, New York.

R. L. ROST & CO., the [illegible] W. Wash. [illegible] the above [illegible] 123 Broadway, St. Louis, Mo., [illegible] established. The work done [illegible] by a large number of the best [illegible] employed. Our correspondent [illegible] weeks ago speaks in high [illegible] which this institution [illegible] [illegible] to the above [illegible]

J. H. CHAMBERS & CO., of [illegible], Me., advertise a new [illegible] Accordion Song Book that has been [illegible] They wish to supply [illegible] the sale and offer extra [illegible] The special attention [illegible] and reliable.

DR. E. P. LEE & CO., have [illegible] advertisement in this paper [illegible] restoration of sight to those [illegible] been injured or whose sight is [illegible] by the proprietors to accomplish the purpose which they are intended. For particulars [illegible] interested should address the Company at Liberty street, New York.

BIG GIANT CORN MILL.—[illegible] Mill advertised by Messrs. [illegible] & Co. of this city, has been extensively used in the West, and always given satisfaction. It is specially adapted to the wants of farmers and planters, who are conveniently situated to a railway from which large grists can be had with reasonable promptness. [illegible] work done at home or for a short period of time. The proprietors are well known and reliable, and we recommend them to our friends.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

DR. WALKER'S ANTI-PERIODIC FEVER AND AGUE TONIC.—Walker's Tonic has established itself as the real infallible Chill Tonic. It is universally admitted to be the only reliable and harmless Chill medicine now in use, and is confirmed by thousands of certificates of the very best people from all parts of the country. It cures malarious diseases in every form, from the shaking agues of the lake's and valleys of the fevers of the torrid zone. Try it. Price, one dollar. Sold by all druggists. WALKER & CO., Proprietors, New Orleans. For sale by all druggists.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of its users to be the only preparation which, while it will not freshen the skin, clear the complexion, and prevent chapping, will not injure the skin in the slightest degree. Mothers can use it on their infants who become chafed with a single application affords immediate relief. It removes all eruptions, pimples, freckles and tan perfectly. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 517 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo. (Send for circular.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Farmers, Planters and others, can purchase no remedy equal to DR. JAMES' VENETIAN LINIMENT, for the cure of Colds in Distemper, Pleurisy, Croup, Coughs, Sore Throat, Colic, Harvest Diseases, Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises, Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Pains in the Back and Chest. The VENETIAN LINIMENT will outwear, in use, any two ordinary remedies in the country, costing but a trifle more than one bottle. Thousands of certificates can be seen at the office of the proprietor, and sold by druggists at 10 cents, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1 per bottle. Depot, 48 Murray street, New York.

For particulars regarding Electric Physicians, address ELECTRICIAN, Box 1, Station D, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Hygiene.

WHO WROTE IT?

Dr. H. W. Gore.

A CARD.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

The Scientific American.
THIRTY-FOURTH YEAR.

PATENTS.

100,000

Mme. Demorest's Mammoth Model Plate of Fashions.

EVERY MAN THE $3 Press.
HIS OWN PRINTER EXCELSIOR WORKS Meriden, Conn.

Joseph Gillott's
Steel Pens.
303 404 170 351 332,
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

GEO. PURVES'
Sash, Blind and Door
STEAM FACTORY,
AND
LUMBER YARD
Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PIANOS $125 to $1000 Parlor Organs $65 to $500 Mathushek Pianos and Organs are the finest made in the world. Illustrated catalogue free. Mathushek Piano Manufacturing Co., 841 to 847 East 32d St., New York.

20 Prize Cards, Transparent Gem, Motto, Chromo, Gilt Edge, Floral, Lace, Hidden Name, etc., 10c. Agent's Outfit, 10c. Agent wanted. Model Card Co., Nassau, N. Y.

30 Mixed Cards, Snowflake, Damask, etc., no two alike, with name, 10c. & 25c. J. MINGER & CO., Nassau, N. Y.

$77 A DAY to Agents supplying the Picture Visiting Cards. Terms and outfit free. Address, D. WILKINSON, Augusta, Me.

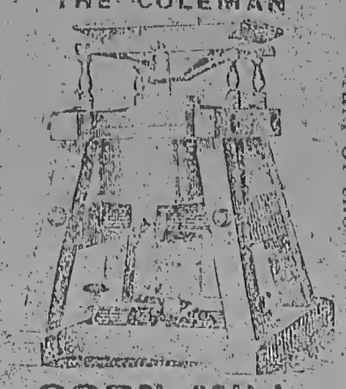
$500. MADE IN 30 DAYS. CATALOGUE FREE. Hockley Novelty Co., Chelmsford, O.

MACHINERY, TILES, ETC.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.
Mills, Engines and Machinery,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WE SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines, Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses and Machinery delivered at railroad depots or river landings. Portable Engine prices greatly reduced.

THE COLEMAN

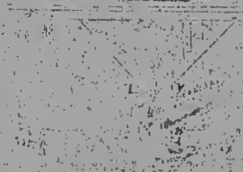


CORN MILL.

Mail or the South.

VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York to Texas, for thirty-three different competitors, during the past seven years. Awarded the only Gold Medal ever awarded to a Corn Mill in the United States, simple, strong & reliable and cheap with bolt. French Burr Stone Meal. Address H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., New Orleans, La.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press



PRICE Complete $65.00

Weighs 1500 lbs. Screw 4 in. Bed 18 inches. Platen 12x18 inches. Strong and durable. Circulars free. Address H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., New Orleans, La.

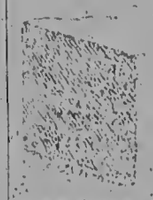
WIRE RAILING
Ornamental Wire Work
DEVLIN & CO.

CONVERTIBLE FARM MILL

C. B. McGLENEY & Co., 59 Camp st.

BIG GIANT CORN MILL.
Every Man His Own Miller.

J. A. FIELD SON & CO., 922 N. 2d



CENTENNIAL

STRONGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.
IN PLEASING QUANTITY.

Ludlow Snyder Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.

EDSON & SON,
Manufacturers of
Carriages and Buggies
LIGHT AND HEAVY SPRING WAGONS.
715 N. 2d ST. LOUIS, MO.
Repairing of Buggies, Carriages and all Kinds of Spring Wagons carefully and promptly executed.

FIRST PREMIUM AT ST. LOUIS FOR 1878
JOHN KIMPEL,
Manufacturer of
CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES,
LIGHT AND HEAVY SPRING WAGONS,
No. 2nd & 3rd ST. LOUIS, MO.
Repairing Promptly and all Kinds of Spring Wagons.

MORE RHEUMATISM OR GOUT ACUTE OR CHRONIC SALICYLICA CURE CURE
Manufactured by
European Salicylic Medicine Co.
OF PARIS AND LEIPZIG,
RELIEVES IMMEDIATELY.
CURES PERMANENTLY.

Now exclusively used by all celebrated Doctors of Europe and America, and thoroughly introduced throughout the United States, innumerous cures having been made in nearly every city and state.

Price, $1.00 in box; 6 boxes for $5.00.

Orders filled by mail, or ask your Druggist for it.

WISHBURNE & CO.,
Sole Agents,
29 Cliff street, New York.

AGENTS WANTED.

WANTED!

ACTIVE AGENTS in every county for our five illustrated publications. This is a rare opportunity for profitable employment. Extra inducements to both subscribers and agents. AGENTS RUN NO RISK. For ILLUSTRATED circulars, giving terms and full particulars, address,

P. F. A. L. RISTEIN,
1102 Chestnut st., Philadelphia, Pa.

AGENTS WANTED FOR DR. MARCH'S NEW BOOK
FROM DARK TO DAWN.
In this new volume the popular Author of NIGHT SCENES IN THE BIBLE portrays with vivid and Graphic power the events in Sacred Truth, and adds fresh testimony to the beauty, purity and reliability of the stories in the Bible. Agents will find this book with its sparkling thoughts, beautiful engravings and rich bindings the best in the market. Address
J. C. McCURDY & Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

William Cullen Bryant's
EXPENSIVE GREAT WORK
Outselling all others combined. Richly Illustrated. Has NEW BRYANT BIOGRAPHY and New Steel Portrait. Agents wanted. Sample WANTED—A gentleman of taste of liberal and ex. with or without business experience. HORTS, HOWARD & HUBBARD, New York.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE PICTORIAL
History of the World.
It contains 400 historical engravings and 800 pages. Sells at sight. Send for specimen pages and extra terms to Agents, and see why Bonds before the adv. Chicago, Ill.
NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

AGENTS WANTED FOR LITERATURE, ART & SONG.
Acknowledged the BEST selling Book in America. Agents Wanted on the Centennial Year. Magnificent Prospectus. Descriptive Circulars, Terms, etc., free. Address HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

AGENTS WANTED—Magnificent Illustrated, with over 100 Engravings, Absorbing Interest. Great Variety. Low Price. Immense Profits to Agents. Write quick for terms. Extra inducements to canvassers. Address J. H. CHAMBERS & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

NOW READY!
The Grand, Athletic Achievements of
STANLEY Only $2.75.
By H. M. STANLEY, the Prince of all Explorers. Exciting, Enthralling, Bristling with wild adventure. The Life Secrets Dripping, eagerly wound up. Caution, Caution, Caution. Beware of inferior, half-price, spurious editions. Agents wanted. Extra terms. Outfit free. Address HUBBARD BROS., Publishers, Philadelphia, Pa.

AGENTS WANTED.
$10 to $25 per day at home. Samples worth $5 free. Address STINSON & CO., Portland, Me.

AGENTS Wanted. Work Sample and Particulars free. Address with 3c. stamp, Excelsior Manufacturing Co., Berlin, Conn.

HOW TO GET RICH. AGENTS Wanted. $125 a Month. 100 Different Articles. Catalogue and Terms Free. Address DAVIS & CO., Marshall, Mich.

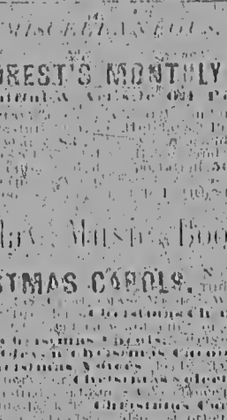
AGENTS Wanted. $125 a Month. 100 Different Articles. Catalogue and Terms Free. Address DAVIS & CO., Marshall, Mich.

MAKE $100
Acting as Our Salesman.
IF YOU CAN PEDDLE MOTTOES.
Write for terms, etc., to
C. W. IGLEHART & CO.,
273 and 275 Fulton st., Chicago, Ill.

MISCELLANEOUS.

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY!
Beautiful Art Steel Plates.
Holiday Music Books!!
CHRISTMAS CAROLS.
Christmas Chimes
Christmas Carols
Christmas Melodies
Christmas Carols, Old and New
Christmas Voices
Christmas Melodies
Christmas Carols, Old and New
Christmas Carols, and other single Carols.
Church Chiming. By L. O. Emerson. A collection of Anthems, Sentences, Motets, etc., suitable for use in Choirs and Singing Societies. 224 pages. Boards.
Noel. By Sanford & Emerson. Christmas ORATORIO.
The School Song Book. By L. O. Emerson and W. S. Tilden. An excellent book for Common Schools or Normal Schools, of 144 pages. Good Instructions and very good music.
Endeared Combination for Christmas Jubilee by Parkhurst & Emerson. MASON'S PIANO FORTE TECHNICS, or, the System of Technics explained and illustrated. By Dr. Wm. Mason. Price $2.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.
C. H. DITSON & CO., 843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

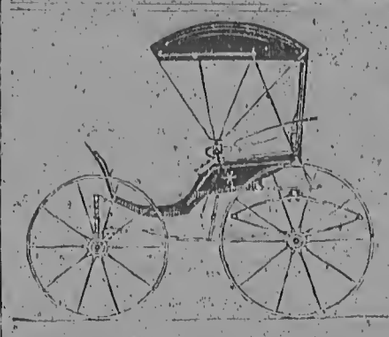
Country Orders for Millinery
AND FANCY GOODS.



Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

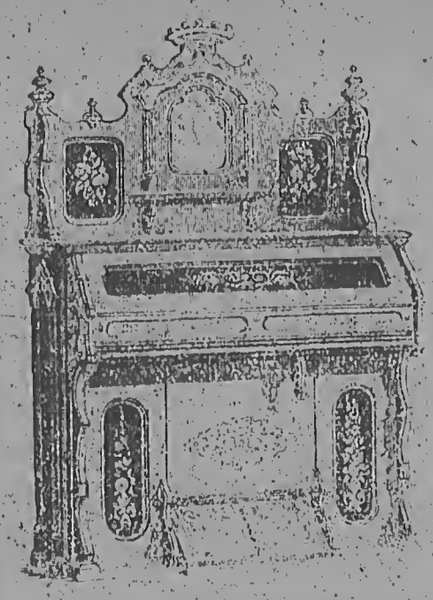
F. H. HADDON,
Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans,
Second door above Customhouse.

MISCELLANEOUS.



ANDERSON, HARRIS & CO.,
Wholesale Manufacturers of
Buggies, Phætons,
CARRIAGES AND VEHICLES
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
OFFICE AND FACTORY
N. E. Cor. Baymiller and Liberty Sts.,
CINCINNATI.
Sixth Street (Green) Cars pass the door.

PHILIP WERLEIN.



This Cut Represents
MASON & HAMLIN'S
$190 ORGAN.
REDUCED TO $135.
On easiest payments $150 cash, and $5 per month. Freight from Boston included.
$90 Organ reduced to $72.
QUARTERLY.
Very Rich & improved Styles of Parlor Organs with stool and cover, from $200 to $1000, reduced to $150 to $600 cash, or $10 to $50 per month until paid.

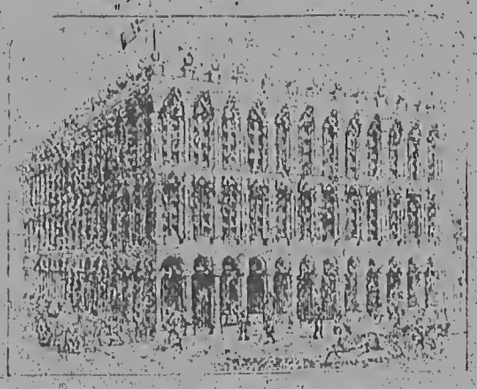
PHILIP WERLEIN,
139 CANAL STREET,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in
CHICKERING & SONS' PIANOS,
MATHUSHEK PIANOS,
HALLET PIANOS,
HARDMAN PIANOS,
ORGANS.
MASON & HAMLIN'S,
ESTEY & CO.'S,
NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO.'S.
Liberal grand terms.
Persons at a distance can order with the guarantee that every instrument will be sent on the most favorable terms, and if not satisfactory they may be returned at my expense.
PHILIP WERLEIN,
139 Canal street, New Orleans.

THE NEW ENGLAND CABINET ORGAN.

Combining all modern improvements and the highest excellence attained by any organ, adapted for Church and Home. Every instrument fully warranted. For sale by the NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO., 1299 Washington St., Boston, Mass. PHILIP WERLEIN, Special Agent, New Orleans.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY,
FURNITURE EMPORIUM,
Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.

FEATHERS. ELASTIC MATTRESSES.



FINE PARLOR SUITS
IN SILK, DAMASK, COTTOLINE REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.
FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.
In the Dining Room, Hall and Library Suits, Easy Chairs, Sofas, Tables, Lounges, Bureaus, Wardrobes, Mirrors, Pier and Centre Tables, Bedsteads, Cribs, Cots, Mattresses, Spring Beds, Feather Beds, Pillows, Bolsters, Blankets, Comforts, Quilts, Sheets, Pillow Cases, Towels, Oil Cloths, Carpets, Rugs, Mats, Window Shades, Curtains, Cornices, Lambrequins, Curtain Materials, Lace Curtains, Nets, Muslins, Table Linens, Napkins, Doylies, Crumb Cloths, Hearth Rugs, Fenders, Fire Irons, Fire Sets, Coal Hods, Shovels, Tongs, Stoves, Ranges, Grates, Mantels, Looking Glasses, Picture Frames, Chromos, Engravings, Etchings, Oil Paintings, Clocks, Bronzes, Vases, Statuary, Lamps, Chandeliers, Gas Fixtures, Bird Cages, Baby Carriages, Refrigerators, Ice Chests, Water Coolers, Kitchen Furniture, Tinware, Woodenware, Brushes, Brooms, Mops, Matches, Soaps, Perfumery, Toilet Articles, Fancy Goods, Notions, Hosiery, Gloves, Underwear, Corsets, Skirts, Dress Goods, Trimmings, Buttons, Ribbons, Laces, Embroideries, Hamburgs, Flouncings, Handkerchiefs, Ties, Scarfs, Collars, Cuffs, Shirts, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Clothing, Ready-made Suits, Overcoats, Cassimeres, Vestings, Cloths, Tailors' Trimmings, Gents' Furnishing Goods, Trunks, Valises, Carpet Bags, Umbrellas, Canes, Parasols, Sunshades, Jewelry, Watches, Clocks, Silverware, Plated Ware, Cutlery, Guns, Pistols, Ammunition, Sporting Goods, Fishing Tackle, Toys, Games, Dolls, Books, Stationery, Pictures, Frames, Albums, Portfolios, Pocket Books, Wallets, Purses, Satchels, Leather Goods, Harness, Saddles, Bridles, Whips, Robes, Blankets, Horse Clothing, Carriage Trimmings, Axles, Springs, Wheels, Hubs, Spokes, Rims, Shafts, Poles, Bows, Seats, Boots, Aprons, Carriage Paints, Varnishes, Oils, Turpentine, Glass, Putty, Paints, Colors, Dye Stuffs, Drugs, Medicines, Chemicals

MISCELLANEOUS

FOUNDED JULY 1, 1808.

OLDEST SHOT TOWER IN AMERICA.

THOS. W. SPARKS,

Patent American Chilled Shot

For sale by Buck Shot

AND MANUFACTURER,

ST. WALNUT STREET,

J. TROWBRIDGE, Agent,

CARRIAGE, WAGON

MATERIAL,

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,

COTTON EXCHANGE, 76 CAMP AND 75 CARONDELET STS.,

Dog Head and Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER ST. PETER AND DUMAINE STS.

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

PIANOS,

WATERS & SONS,

481 BROADWAY, CORNER OF LEONARD STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK. Box, 3567.

OSCAR A. FOLSE, COMMISSION MERCHANT, and dealer in Western Produce, solicits consignments of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Potatoes, etc. 95 DEVILLIERS St., near New Orleans Levee.

IRON ROOFING,

FIRE, WATER AND WIND PROOF.

Address C. CAMPBELL & CO., Chicago, O.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS

PARIS EXPOSITION,

FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET

HEALTH CORSET,

NURSING CORSET

WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N.Y.

WATER WHEELS.

THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE

TURBINE WATER WHEEL,

PORTABLE AND STATIONARY

STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS,

SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS,

MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING,

SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS

Of Improved Designs, A Specialty.

Address, POOLE & HUNT,

Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD.

BREECH-LOADERS.

REVOLVER FREE

MEDICAL.

TUTT'S PILLS.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

SAY THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 39 Murray Street, New York.

Jenkin's ANNIHILATOR

The Great Southern Remedy for

RHEUMATISM GOUT and NEURALGIA

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of Chronic Diseases, by revitalizing.

REMARKABLE CURES

LOSS OF VITALITY IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES!

STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. JEREMIAH BLACK, Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Hon. JOHN SHERMAN, Hon. HENRY WINTER DAVIS, Hon. BOHEMAN of West Virginia, and others.

FREE! A Treatise on Compound Oxygen, with many testimonials to most remarkable cures, sent free. Address DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1109 Girard St., Phila.

DR. S. C. KRAM,

MANUFACTURER OF THE

SURE CURE TRUSS,

N.W. cor. Fifth & Elm Sts., Cincinnati, O.

THE BEST TRUSS IN THE WORLD.

The Most Refreshing Toilet Article.

CASSEBEER'S

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

(EAU DE QUININE)

Cassebeer's Ammonia Lozenges.

DISCOVERY

QUICHUA COCA CO.,

No. 72 William St., New York.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

BUENA SALUD

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia & all Disorders of Digestion,

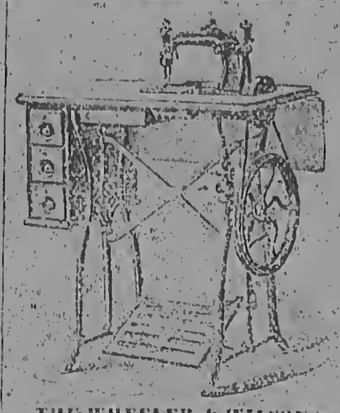
CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The Shuttle Machine Reduced to	$60.
" " "	50.
" " "	45.
" " "	40.
" " "	35.
" " "	30.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON

Send for our New Cash Price List.

CANVASSERS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM:

103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Manf'g Co.

Patented May 28th, 1878.

GEO. E. KING, President.

Office, 575 Broadway, New York.

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES ARE

COLLINS GOLD METAL WATCH FACTORY 340 Broadway, N. Y. P. O. Box 956.

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

PERFECTION FIELD

VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,

No. 115.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

FURNITURE, PICTURES,

BOOKING GLASSES, ETC.,

152 Camp Street 154

Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

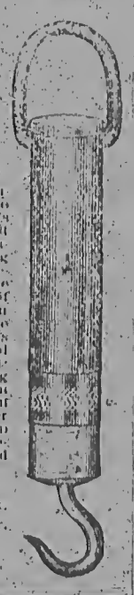
BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

The Novelty Pocket Scale.



ROGERS' POWDER

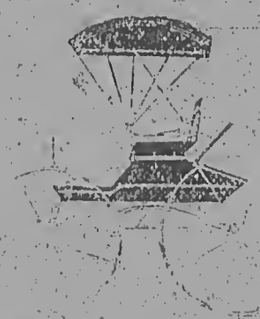
CITRATE OF MAGNESIA

An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

CHURCH ORGANS!

CARDNER & CO.,

Patentees and Manufacturers,



Globe Wagon Manufactory

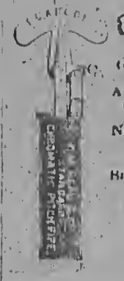
D. T. SHEAHON & CO.,

Wagons, Carts & Drays

MADE TO ORDER.

Southern Dealers Respectfully Solicited.

ST. LOUIS, MO.



THE STANDARD

CHROMATIC TUNING

OR PITCH-PIPE.

DANIEL M. HEAD & CO.,

Broadway Foundry Co.

JOHN J. HOLLIDAY,

313 Carr Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Manufacturers of Stationary and Portable

Steam Engines and Boilers

MILAY AND CIRCULAR SAW MILLS,

J. & A. GEM, ALBERT H. GEM.

J. & A. GEM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

103 Gravier and 64 Union Street.

Globe Wagon Manufactory

D. T. SHEAHON & CO.,

Wagons, Carts & Drays

MADE TO ORDER.

Southern Dealers Respectfully Solicited.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

THE STANDARD

CHROMATIC TUNING

OR PITCH-PIPE.

DANIEL M. HEAD & CO.,

Broadway Foundry Co.

JOHN J. HOLLIDAY,

313 Carr Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Manufacturers of Stationary and Portable

Steam Engines and Boilers

MILAY AND CIRCULAR SAW MILLS,

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

MOST POPULAR NEWSPAPER OF THE DAY

GRAND PREMIUM SCHEME!

OVER $10,000 IN PRIZES.

HOME AND FARM

FOR 1878 AND 1879.

FIFTY CENTS A YEAR!

CATARRH

CONSUMPTION

ASTHMA

BRONCHITIS

CATARRH

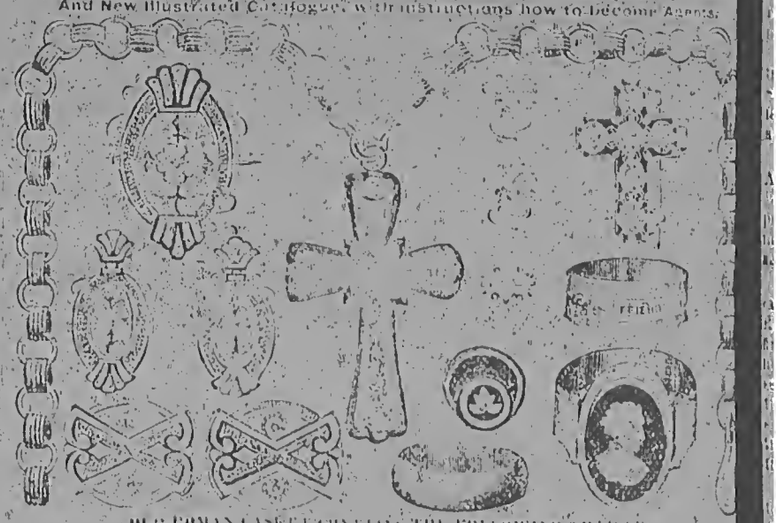
CARBOLATE OF TAR

HOME TREATMENT

Dr. M. W. CASE, 530 North Thirty-Fifth Street, Philadelphia

The Steinau Jewelry Co.'s ONE DOLLAR ROMAN CASKET

And New Illustrated Catalogue with instructions how to become Agents.



IN EACH ROMAN CASKET CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING ARTICLES

On receipt of One Dollar

Will send the Casket and contents to their address, free.

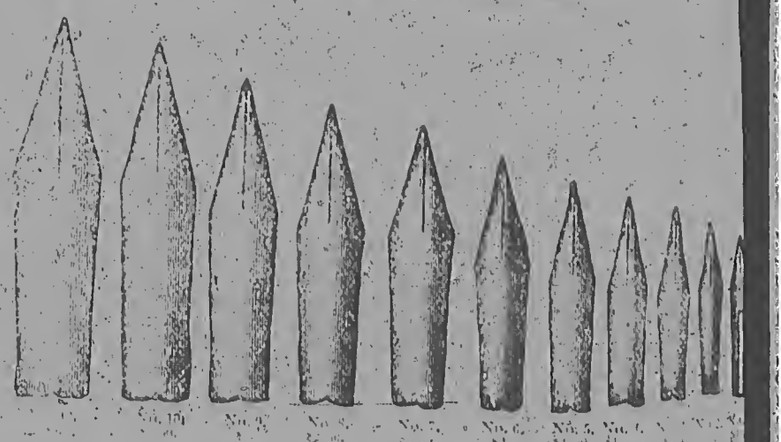
STEINAU JEWELRY COMPANY, 97 Arcade, CINCINNATI, OHIO.



GOLD PENS REPAIRED FOR FIFTY CTS

It having been widely advertised under the caption of

"America Ahead in Spool Cotton,"

that the Jury on Cotton Textiles, yarns, and threads, at the Paris Exposition, decreed a Gold Medal and Grand Prize to the Williamantic Linen Company for "SPOOL COTTON ESPECIALLY ADAPTED FOR USE ON SEWING MACHINES," over all the great thread manufacturers of the world, we owe it as a duty to the public and to J. & P. COATS to announce that

No Grand Prizes were Decreed at Paris for Spool Cotton.

We are advised by Cable of the following awards:

J. & P. COATS, GOLD MEDAL.

Williamantic Linen Co., Silver Medal:

and we claim for the winners of the First Prize that, as they have established in Rhode Island the largest Spool Cotton Mills in the United States, where their Spool Cotton is manufactured through every process from the raw cotton to the finished spool, AMERICA, as represented by J. & P. COATS is still AHEAD IN SPOOL COTTON.

AUCHINCLOSS BROTHERS,

THIS NEW ELASTIC TRUSS

PRICE, $5 EACH. SENT BY MAIL. JUST AS A PERSON WOULD WITH THE FINGER.

Eggleston Truss Co., Chicago, Ill.

BLYMYER M'F'G Co

BELLS

Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O.

WANTED Agents For THE PICTORIAL Bible Commentator.

Contains 1,038 pages, 475 Illustrations. Prepared by scholars. "The most complete and perfect Commentary on the entire Scriptures ever published." There is nothing like it. Sells at sight. Agents are making and selling Gold Pens equally as fast. Has a FAMILY Record of the best Judges of Books. Address, stating experience, if any, and territory desired, J. B. FORD & CO., Publishers, 27 Park Place, New York.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. R. CHESTER, 218 Fulton street, New York.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples, worth $5, free. Address STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1878 NO. 19.

LIFE.

BY "ARIOSO."

[illegible] appears that men can get out
[illegible] Saturday, their business about,
[illegible] whether sunshine or rain comes
And they care not for trouble, if by it they gain.

A merchant can bear a whole week of failure,
Can put by his books, or rule bogus after league,
Forgetting one matter that weigh'd on his mind;
[illegible] contract, or customers find.

[illegible] stand [illegible] stop him; he only wears up
[illegible] for [illegible] can't stop [illegible] night good when the Sabbath comes round.

For [illegible] must be bright that at church he is found.

How [illegible] happens I've often like to know,
That clerks, on week days, such vigor show?
They can waltz every night of the blessed week,
And till Sunday comes round they are never sick.

Then the path and the mind their way they can wend,
To take part in a dance or the house of a friend;
But ah me! when did they ever essay
To be present at church on a rainy Sunday?

And why does this happen? I beseech you friend,
Tell me the cause, why it is so?
Is it the Devil, having on the Sabbath a spell,
Ingenuous mind and conscience thus mollify?
Or is the fault in the man, who away from church stays?

—Christian Observer.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Reports received last night from the east of Nevada were that the snow-fall had passed through the pretty severe weather was entered there.

The latest news from Virginia City is that the snow-fall at the summit in the 2,500-foot level of the Nevada tunnel averaging about thirty-one inches to the ton. The [illegible] is now considered to be [illegible].

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—The steamer Colonel, from Hong Kong via Yokohama, has arrived. She brings the following news:

There is a serious revolt of native troops in the province of Kwang-si, and fears of its extension are entertained in consequence of pay and rations throughout the army.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—Louis A. Godey, founder of Godey's Lady's Book, and who continued to be its publisher and proprietor until within two years, died suddenly to-day, aged 75 years.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 30.—J. C. Matthe, commissary of the Citizens' Relief Committee, in making his final statement reports that seven hundred and forty-five thousand, seven hundred and thirty-five rations were issued to sixty-eight thousand and twenty-two persons during the prevalence of yellow fever in this city.

MEMPHIS, Dec. 2.—A lot of certificates of indebtedness issued to the Barnes relief fund sold at the Cotton Exchange to-day for nine dollars and two cents per pound, realizing five hundred and ten dollars. The bonds will be shipped to New Orleans and other southern cities to be similarly disposed of.

HARTFORD, Dec. 3.—A spoon dredge found last week by Capt. Scudington of the New London sloping schooner Simmons, from Louisa Bay, where an Esquimaux gave it to him, was brought to Hartford to-day. It proves to be of solid silver and bears a shield crest. Which has been identified as Whittlesey, duty as those of the Franklin family of England. This settles the genuineness as a relic of Sir John Franklin.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The bark Monrovia, with colored emigrants, sent out by the American Colonization Society to Liberia, sailed to-day. Among the passengers were J. B. Pinney President of the College of Liberia, D. W. Davis and wife, missionaries, and W. M. Davis Church, Attorney General of Liberia. The passengers took a quantity of household furniture. Before the vessel departed the last crowd of colored people assembled on deck and bade their fellow countrymen farewell.

FOREIGN.

MADRID, Nov. 28.—The minister of works has announced that a number of armed malefactors assembled in a house in Saragossa, but were arrested.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Times Berlin special says that the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Vienna gent-Gillent. Political Correspondence says: Russia has announced her intention of actively supporting the Ameer in the event of England occupying any points in Afghanistan from which Russia dominion in Asia might be [illegible] threatened.

MADRID, Nov. 29.—The Supreme Tribunal has condemned Moheast to death. The appeal will be carried to the Court of Cassation.

BERLIN, Nov. 29.—Under an order the Bismarck Ministry declaring that persons considered dangerous to public order may be denied the right of residing in Berlin or its suburbs, about forty conspicuous Socialists to-day received orders of expulsion, among whom are Messrs. Hasselmann and Frinzsche, Socialist deputies.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The Daily News gets the following dated Peshawur, Friday evening: "Gen. Browne's communications to-day are unimportant. Hostile Ghazis, estimated in number four thousand, have collected below Ali Musjid. They continued struggles and thus on wood parties. The section of the pass between Jamrood and Ali Musjid [illegible] closed altogether for the present. A strongly escorted convoy failed to force its way to-day. The situation is serious, and strong measures are inevitable.

COPENHAGEN Nov. 30.—The marriage of Princess Thyria, of Denmark, with the Duke of Cumberland, will be solemnized on the 21st or 22d of December.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—A dispatch from Calcutta to the Times says: The trouble in Khyber Pass was greatly exaggerated. A single officer—Lord William Beresford—rode the entire length of Khyber Pass without being molested.

Gen. Browne's force will probably winter at Dakka, unless some movement on the part of the Afghans provokes a further advance.

Gen. Biddulph will probably remain at Pesheen, but if he shall determine to proceed to Candahar, that place will probably be found to be undefended. Gen. Robert's advance on the Pelwar Pass may encounter resistance, but the Pass will probably be found to be easily overcome. No important fighting is expected anywhere this year.

LAHORE, Dec 3.—It is reported at the headquarters here that a battle was in progress all day yesterday between Robert's command and the Afghans in Pelwar Pass.

The Afghan Governor of Candahar is removing his family to Cabul.

Ameer Sheer Ali has levied two lacs of rupees on Candahar.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 2.—Suleiman Pasha has been degraded and sentenced to imprisonment in a fortress for his conduct during the war.

The Russians have evacuated various places in the neighborhood of Demotika.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 3.—Rashid Pasha and Circassians defeated the Bulgarian insurgents on the Mesta district, Macedonia, and burned twenty more villages. Only one Turkish [illegible] escaped.

President's Message.

Congress assembled on Monday, December 2. The President's message is a lengthy document. With reference to financial legislation the President says:

In the present financial condition of the country, I am persuaded that the welfare of the legitimate business and industry of every description will be best promoted by abstaining from all attempts to make radical changes in the existing financial legislation. Let it be understood that during the coming year the business of the country will be undisturbed by governmental interference with the laws affecting it, and we may confidently expect that resumption of specie payments which will take place at the appointed time will be successfully and easily maintained, and that it will be followed by a healthful and enduring revival of business prosperity.

Let the healing influences of time, the talented energies of our people, and the boundless resources of our country, have a fair opportunity, and relief from present difficulties will surely follow.

The message refers to the yellow fever and the recent elections:

YELLOW FEVER.

The enjoyment of health by our people generally has, however, been interrupted, during the past season, by the prevalence of a fatal pestilence—the yellow fever—in some portions of the Southern States, creating an emergency which called for prompt and extraordinary measures of relief. The disease appeared as an epidemic in New Orleans, and at other places on the lower Mississippi, soon after midsummer. It was rapidly spread by fugitives from the infected cities and towns, and did not disappear until early in November. The States of Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee have suffered severely. Almost one hundred thousand cases are believed to have occurred, of which about twenty thousand, according to intelligent estimates, proved fatal. It is impossible to estimate with any approach to accuracy the loss to the country occasioned by this epidemic. It is to be reckoned by the hundred millions of dollars. The suffering and destitution that resulted excited the deepest sympathy in all parts of the Union. Physicians and nurses hastened from every quarter to the assistance of the afflicted communities. Voluntary contributions of money and supplies, in every needed form, were speedily and generously furnished. The government was able to respond in some measure to the call for help, by providing tents, medicines and food for the sick and destitute, the requisite directions for the purpose being given in the confident expectation that this action of the Executive would receive the sanction of Congress. About eighteen hundred tents, and rations to the value of about twenty-five thousand dollars, were sent to cities and towns which applied for them, full details of which will be furnished to Congress by the proper department.

The fearful spread of this pestilence has awakened a very general public sentiment in favor of a national sanitary administration, which shall not only control quarantine, but have the sanitary supervision of internal commerce in times of epidemics, and shall, in advisory relation to the State and municipal health authorities, with power to deal with whatever endangers public health, and which the municipal and State authorities are unable to regulate. The national quarantine act, approved April 29, 1878, which was passed too late in the last session of Congress, to provide the means for carrying it into practical operation during the past season, is a step in the direction here indicated. In view of the necessity for most effective measures, by quarantine and otherwise, for the protection of our seaports and country generally from this and other epidemics, it is recommended that Congress give to the whole subject early and careful consideration.

PACIFICATION.—THE RECENT ELECTIONS.

Permanent pacification of the country by complete protection of all citizens, in every civil and political right, continues to be of paramount interest with the great body of our people. Every step in this direction is welcomed with public approval, and every interruption of the steady and uniform progress to the desired consummation awakens general uneasiness and widespread condemnation.

The recent congressional elections have furnished a direct and trustworthy test of the advance thus far made in the practical establishment of the right of suffrage, secured by the constitution to the liberated race in the Southern States. All disturbing influences, real or imaginary, have been removed from all of these States.

The three constitutional amendments, which conferred freedom and equality of civil and political rights upon the colored people of the South, were accepted by the conquered as an axiom of the [illegible] of good citizens who maintained the authority of the National Government and the integrity and perpetuity of the Union at such cost of treasure and blood as a wise and necessary embodiment in the organic law of the fortunes of the war.

The people of the former slave-holding States accepted these results, and gave, in every practicable form, assurances that the fourteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, and the laws passed in pursuance thereof, should, in good faith, be enforced rightly and impartially, in letter and spirit, to the end that the humblest citizen, without distinction of race or color, should, under them, receive full and equal protection in person and property, and in political rights and privileges. Rejecting counsels and influences which sought to make radical changes in the existing fundamental legislation, they have constantly manifested a steadfast purpose to secure the benefits of the new system to all who were entitled to its protection.

It will be for the Congress, for which these elections were held, to make such examinations into their conduct as may be appropriate to determine the validity of the claims of members to their seats. In the meanwhile it becomes the duty of the Executive and Judicial Departments of the Government, each in its province, to inquire into and punish violations of the laws of the United States which have occurred. I can but repeat what I said in this connection in my last message: that whatever authority rests with me to this end I shall not hesitate to put forth, and I am unwilling to forego a renewed appeal to the legislatures, the courts, the executive authorities, and the people of the States where these wrongs have been perpetrated, to give their assistance toward bringing to justice the offenders, and preventing a repetition of the crimes. No means within my power will be spared to obtain a full and fair investigation of the alleged crimes, and to secure the conviction and just punishment of the guilty.

CONNECTION.—Dear Bro. Parker: In the publication of my short notice of Centenary College, at Summerfield, Ala., contained in your paper of the twenty-first of November, you omit the fourth item of merits enumerated, which is as follows: "The educational facilities of the school in all the departments, are of the highest order."

LEVI W. REEVES.

BRYAN, Ala., Nov. 27, '78.

Note.—We published the communication as written—Editor.

Sowing and Reaping.

The apostle to the Gallatians sets forth a law of sequence, which is universal and invariable. It is a law of development, but not a law of evolution; it is a law of progress, but not a law of departure from original quality or essence. It is the conclusion of an argument against ritualism, whereby men hoped to become spiritualized. The ritualist was and is the religious evolutionist, who is ever trying to demonstrate that virtues have grown out of ritual, and holiness can be manufactured out of forms and ceremonies. The scientific evolutionist ridicules the ritualist, yet he is trying to demonstrate scientifically the very same thing, viz.: That all life and intelligence and morality have evolved from the monad, and the monad from the moleculæ. The scientist has reaped his conclusion legitimately from the sowing, and believes that life and intelligence again involve themselves into the moleculæ. Paul warns the ritualist that his doctrines will finally lead him back to the same conclusion. "For whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap."

The same has been exemplified again and again in those who cling to a religion of Nature. Though at first the august dome seemed regular in all her movements, yet soon she was discovered to be whimsical in many particulars. Furthermore, it soon became evident that her sowing had no moral higher than expediency, and expediency was not sufficiently enshrined to any fixed race to enlighten conscience. So that Paul well describes the downward gradation of the worshipers of Nature who "becoming vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing to be wise, they became fools, and changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like unto corruptible man, and to birds, and to four-footed beasts, and to creeping things." What worshiper of Nature does not become either a pantheist, a deist or an atheist? Sowing and reaping follow here as truly as elsewhere.

Rationalism fares no better. Starting with certain propositions assumed as axiomatic, rationalists profess rigidly to adhere to rule in order to overthrow all authority. Gradually they diverge from a straight line, and end either in transcendentalism, nihilism, idealism or materialism. The God manufactured out of their postulates vanishes like the mists that shun over hills, or hides himself in the ashes of their sacrificial fires. Whatsoever a man sows in the dominions of reason, that he also reaps.

Not less, but more striking, is this truth in the domain of the appetites, passions and virtues, or vices. No man can form an appetite for anything without that appetite coming back with a demand for indulgence. No passion once admitted to the breast but seeks to grow there; no virtuous sentiment, no vicious motive, but claims the heart that once entertained it, as a field to grow and develop. This is a fact too well known to be denied by any, and therefore needs no argument to enforce its truth. All alike agree here that whatsoever a man sows that shall he reap.

But there is another idea beneath the surface in Paul's words, viz.: Evil and good, and even things indifferent, are of an imperishable nature, so far as concerns their reproductive quality. Matter is indestructible; so, too, are the things which man frequently treats as temporary. There is no doubt as to what is going to grow from the sowing, nor is there any doubt of its growing. Propagation is certain. The carnal and the sensual propagate as well as their opposites. None need think that these appetites and passions indulged will die with the indulgence. An event unheard and non-consentive does not transpire in the heart or life of man.

Nor need man fear that he shall sow for another to reap—he is to reap his own sowing. Personal identity is no more certain than personal responsibility and personal right. Man cannot be defrauded of one without being robbed of the others. They co-exist; as mysterious and as indissoluble as that of the God-head, and whatever be the vicissitudes to which his life is ordained, they are guarded by all the laws of his triune being corporeal, mental and spiritual. Go where he will, do what he may, either here or in the future, find himself transported into the identity, property or responsibility of no other.

Notwithstanding the multiplicating character of all sowings, some will be sown but from the pit of hell and may spring. No one ever indulged one appetite, passion or vice, without several springing from it. Gluttony is seldom seen without indolence, and indolence seldom comes without insensibility to delicacy. Intemperance gives almost necessitates lying and hypocrisy, while there is hardly a vice or a crime in the catalogue that may not be found in its company. Avarice begets fraud, treachery, oppression and violence. So the virtues multiply. If it is difficult for a man to cultivate one vice without having several, so is it hardly possible for him to cherish one virtue alone.

"What soever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." Many in the world without money are sowing smiles. They shall reap smiles. Some sow bright eyes here and there through tears. They shall reap bright eyes hereafter. Some [illegible] in the homes of sorrow and the hovels of poverty. They shall reap thankful hearts to home of joy and mansions of wealth. They may sow handfuls, but they shall reap armfuls. They may sow in the sere and yellow leaf, but they shall reap when [illegible] illuminate the sky and deck with lavish [illegible]. They may sow when [illegible] but they shall reap when day lingers with sloping birds and fragrance of eve. Happy they who sow in deeds of kindness and love. Happy they who are not afraid to trust the best seed in the [illegible]. Happy they who are not afraid to entrust that best seed to the best soil prepared in the best way, under the best seasons, by the best means. The only unhappy reapers will be they who glean up the [illegible] seed, and planted the good ground, and used the good means and reasons sowing tares.

T. A. S. A.

Appointments of the North Texas Conference.

JEFFERSON DISTRICT—L. B. Ellis, P. E. Jefferson station, S. H. Negley; Scott Lakes circuit, D. W. Efler; Atlanta circuit, [illegible] Green; Queen City circuit, J. Cook Smith; Kelleyville circuit, J. W. Hull; Dangerfield circuit, R. G. Sewell; Mt. Pleasant circuit, J. G. Walker; Cuthbert circuit, L. N. Crutchfield; Boston circuit, W. W. Horner; Texarkana mission, David F. Fuller.

PARIS DISTRICT—John H. McLean, P. E. Paris station, A. C. Alexander; Paris circuit, R. G. Riley; Honey Grove circuit, J. B. Hardin; Bonham City circuit, L. C. Weaver; Ladonia circuit, W. F. Bigger; Commerce circuit, N. A. Kenyon; Russon Prairie circuit, Charles E. Lemly; Robinsville circuit, J. H. Shaw; A. L. McDougal; Wavland circuit, L. F. Palmer; Clarksville circuit, H. J. McGee; Honey Grove High School, J. W. Piner.

SULPHUR SPRINGS DISTRICT—R. Lane, P. E. Sulphur Springs station, M. C. Blackburn—[illegible] J. M. [illegible]; Sulphur Springs circuit, J. F. Sherwood; Greenville circuit, P. C. Archer; White Rock circuit, J. H. White—W. K. Duff; Lone Oak circuit, S. J. Hawkins; Winsborough circuit, S. W. Jones; Pittsburgh circuit, D. P. Haggard; Quitman circuit, A. G. Mayer; Gilmer circuit, E. S. Boyd; Sulphur mission, M. D. Williford.

TERRELL DISTRICT—R. M. Bowers, P. E. Terrell station, W. F. Easterling; Wills Point, L. P. Lively; Kaufman circuit, D. P. Thomas; Elliott circuit, M. C. Simpson; Forney ville circuit, A. H. Brewer; Pleasant Grove circuit, J. L. Angel; Rockwall circuit, James McDougall; Forney mission, Edgar S. Williams; Seyene circuit, W. C. Young; Trinity circuit, C. B. Hodger; Bible agent, Z. Parker.

DALLAS DIST.—W. H. Hughes, P. E. Dallas station, H. A. Howard; Floyd Street, Thomas R. Pierce; Bethel circuit, George S. Hatchwood; Grapevine circuit, L. M. White; Plano circuit, W. S. May; Van Alstyne and McKinney, W. H. Stead; Honey Creek circuit, H. H. Sullivan; Grapevine Springs mission, Elias Robertson; Corinth and Coppell, M. H. Calhim—S. Armstrong.

SHERMAN DISTRICT—J. M. Rutledge, P. E. Sherman station, H. H. Reed; Sherman circuit, Charles W. Walker; Denison circuit, F. A. Risser; Whitesboro circuit, Isaac S. Ashmore; Dexter circuit, J. R. Crowder; Pilot Point station, Thomas M. Smith; Collinsville circuit, John W. Clark; Bonham station, H. W. Cottingham; Bonham circuit, S. B. Rush; Savoy circuit, W. E. Cook; Pond Grove circuit, H. P. Hayes; Bible agent, W. C. Hasell.

GAINESVILLE DISTRICT—H. H. Moss, P. E. Gainesville station, L. P. Smith—J. B. Smith; Gainesville circuit, W. M. Robbins; Mayesville circuit, W. W. Bridwell; Denton station, J. D. Whitehead; Denton circuit, Jas. W. Lesley; Decatur circuit, R. N. Brown; Montague circuit, S. Churchfield; Henrietta and Prospect mission, W. R. Manning; West Fork mission, J. M. [illegible]; [illegible] circuit, J. Sherrill; Boston circuit, M. [illegible].

TRANSFERRED—D. M. Proctor, Southwest Missouri Conference; H. M. Reid, East Texas Conference; J. C. Worthington, North Georgia Conference.

SUPERANNUATED—J. W. F. McKenzie, Clarksville; W. W. Redwell, White Rock; D. J. Cook, Sulphur Springs; J. W. Fields, Forney; A. R. Parkhill, P. Cooper; J. B. Polk, A. Cannon; L. N. Cocke, J. M. Stephenson, Texas.

Old Debts.

Preaching to the collegians for the superannuated preacher, and the widows and orphans. Dr. John, Editor of the Texas Christian Advocate, says:

"Centenary collection, $12. The frequency of this item in the reports of preachers is significant. It is [illegible] that it is a compromise with the poor or a persecution. For some can be [illegible] to make an appeal to his people in behalf of this [illegible] cause without [illegible] out of his own pocket to cover his delinquency. (I hope [illegible] the spring, [illegible] to exercise a little faith for [illegible] up his collection, the widows and orphans and [illegible] the consolation he provided in the [illegible]. In visiting [illegible] we have become [illegible] superannuated. Now and then we [illegible] of one of them that owes a small [illegible] story of pride [illegible] some preacher's widow be [illegible] told about our church [illegible] holding more keenly alive [illegible] than that [illegible] upon the preacher. There is another consideration. There is [illegible] in every Conference who are approaching that door where the appointing power will say: 'Stand aside. Your work is done. We have no place for you among the efficient men of the [illegible].' Some of us are fast nearing that boundary which will place us among those who are willing to work anywhere on the church has no longer need of your labor. We had better be [illegible] the church to take care of these worn out veterans before we find a place among them.

We should be [illegible] to urge that "other consideration." The reasons are [illegible] without it. But it is an humiliating truth, we fear, that there are men in the ministry who need to be moved by just such selfish motives. It ought to be regarded as a privilege to plead for the Conference claimants, and people who have hearts and consciences will be grateful for the opportunity of contributing. We do not understand how any preacher can fail to present the subject to his congregations. It is [illegible] to us that there is occasion to call attention to the matter. But still there is occasion.

Something New!

A WANT SUPPLIED.

We are glad to announce that a complete and simple Quarterly Conference Record Book has been prepared by a layman of our church, who has had a long experience as a Quarterly Conference secretary. The copy was examined and approved by the book agents and editor, and by preachers and laymen noted for their systematic views and methods. It is complete for a period of four years, or until the next session of the General Conference, when some alteration may be made in the formula of questions. Convenient blanks are provided for the official roll, for the minutes, and all necessary statistical information, and a supplement of four ruled pages is inserted after the minutes of each session, upon which may be recorded pastors and trustees reports, and memoirs of deceased local preachers and all ministers. The record also contains a page of Episcopal decisions upon Quarterly Conference questions, and two pages of forms of official papers, extracted from the Manual of the Discipline by the book editor. This book will be a great help to presiding elders and Quarterly Conference secretaries, and if generally adopted will insure to the church the benefit of uniform and correct records.

Just such a book has always been needed, and considering its simple and easy methods, it is surprising that one has never been furnished before.

The copyright has been donated to the Publishing House, with the hope that this record book will reach every part of our connection.

In every presiding elder send for a copy, and there will be no trouble in [illegible]. There is scarcely a Quarterly Conference secretary in our church, but that would cheerfully pay for it himself for the saving of time and labor in keeping the records. Price $1, postage extra. Send orders to

J. B. McFERRIN, Agent.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1878.

I WAIT FOR THE LORD.

BY THE REV. JOSIAH BARKER, A. M.

"My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning. I say, more than they that watch for the morning."—PSALM CXXX. 6.

"Who watch for the morning"
Be proud, festive maid, who to-night they hush and shout,
As the wine and the song are the theme about;
While the music rolls in like waves to the shore,
And the flattering feet beat time on the floor.
Not these—
They care not how far is the coming night,
While the senses swim and the skies is bright.

Who wait for the morning?
The sentinel guard to whom is trust the fate
When the host lies low but the blood is hale and
And the courage flags and the strength for the fight
And the end of the day is more than the midnight.
He waits—

And bright as the sun of life's meridian day,
With a cloudless mind, and a heart at ease,
Who wait for the morning?
The tempest-tossed seaman, borne away on a spar,
When the night is dark, and the land is afar;
And the wreck and the jungle are still on the wave,
Which the storm-king welcomed with a shout as he passed.
He waits—

And the ruling comes like a sail in sight—
His fears depart with the coming light.

Who watch for the morning?
The poor bedden, sick in life's darker hour,
The watchers are sleeping or wearied and gone;
Her lips are parched, and her eye has grown dim,
And she cries in vain for the cool of grass.
She waits—

How far the night-fire has gray drawn its wing,
As he throws it up over the morning stars.

These watch for the morning—

So, God of my fathers, I'm waiting for Thee,
With a prayerful eye, and a bridled knee;
And my soul cries out with its load oppressed,
And seeks in thy word alone for its rest.
The harp cannot please me, its power is lost;
Sad are the tones that once thrilled me the most;
For the fire is true that once swept the wires
I mourn like the doves—I sigh like the wings
The daughters of Judah weep while they sing
To songs that float from the wreck of my ark.
Yet bright through the gloom, I descry my cold heart—
Storm-baffled birds fly back on their nest,
Patiently wait—I will not complain;
I know the sad heart-sick ne'er sought Thee in vain
There is mercy at the throne—Then, last spoken the word—
And still my soul mounts up to its Lord.
Abba, my Father, Thy house is my home,
The shadows flee fast, the morning has come
Lone through the valley, a hand presses mine—
Keeps the void—for that hand—lo! I pine—
I'm sinking—I'm mount ng upward I see—
The morning—the morning, my home in the skies

TUSCUMBIA, ALABAMA, Oct 30, '78.

In the Midst of the Sea, Tossed With Waves.

While the disciples, in a fishing-smack, are in the midst of the sea tossed with waves and in apparent danger, let us learn a few lessons which their adventure aptly teaches. I learn that though they were in a storm they were safe. I say this not because I know the school, but because Christ sent them there. He that held the winds held them. The darkness of the night, the strength and fury of the winds and waves, the smallness of the boat, none of these things ought to have moved them. Had he not sent them "unto the other side?" The bottom was not the other side surely, and yet they were afraid. How often amid the storms have we supposed we were sinking! We are sailing yet. The path of duty is a path of safety and always. If Christ put you in the boat, depend upon it, he will see you safe on the other shore. His boats never founder. The beaches of the world have been covered with hulks, and the shattered carcasses of those who attempted to navigate Life's treacherous sea alone; but never yet has any wave of sorrow or woe cast ashore a manned, ballasted Christian corpse. Heaven's waves wash upward, and what has seemed a wreck here has been glorious discharge in the harbor of heaven. Don't you feel it fellow-voyager? Aye, as though we were now wrapped to the bosom of God.

I learn also that storms and darkness enter largely in all of our lives. Christian biographies are not made up of sunbeams. The saintliest of men have been the most storm-tossed. Storms for Christ in the wilderness, in the Holy City, in Gethsemane, on Calvary. Just one streak of light falling upon a life spent between a midnight and a cross. Storms for Christians in the workshop, in the home, in the world. Sickness, sorrow, bereavement, our constant companions. The pathway of the years paved with the graves of our loved ones. The stillness of the night filled with our groaning. Our first knowledge of practical experience a wail of woe, and its ending a heart-broken "Thank God, to soothe and sustain us we have the blessed knowledge that we are sailing to the other shore. The night will not be long, the storm cease, will be with us, and as the glorious morning breaks, it will find us safe amid the splendors of the home beyond.

I also learn that this adventure was sacramental. Christ had many means of inculcating lessons. Perhaps that James recommended "Pure religion, and undefiled before God and the Father." It is often the case when a contemplated feast is spoken of, an extensive survey is taken, or a great work be accomplished, like that of Eads at the mouth of the Mississippi, that the country will be greatly benefitted. Religion, however, which has accomplished more for our country and the world at large than anything else, is rarely ever spoken of in that light. A religion that changes the heart of a man, that makes the dishonest man honest, the vicious virtuous, the swearer a praying man, the profligate economical, and the drunkard a sober man, is certainly beneficial to any country.

The Christian religion presents the evidence of its divine origin in the spirit which it breathes, in the vast field which it embraces, in the glorious end to which it points, in the good it has accomplished, and in the hope it inspires in the breast of man. "Peace and good will" was the first message it proclaimed, happiness and eternal safety the legacy it bequeathed to the world. While it exhibits the arm of Divine vengeance to alarm the man of daring impenitence; it imparts confidence and fortitude to the trembling, helpless, penitent sinner, and throws open for him the bosom of a God "ready to pardon."

In the religion of pure and undefiled we discover nothing of that inefficient theory which slumbers over speculations of improvement, and coldly suggests plans of reformation. In it we find a living system of active, laborious effort, carried on by the necessity of its constitution to the promotion of good, and the diffusion of happiness drawing mercy down to the earth, and raising man up to heaven. In its Divine Founder we are not called upon to contemplate the cold, supercilious philosopher, absorbed in the dream of fancied superiority, pointing the finger of scorn at ignorance and looking down with contempt on the wretch, etc.; He will not labor to remove. In Him we recognize the compassionate friend of man, stretching forth His hand to the relief of our misery, laboring with indefatigable perseverance in the removal of our ignorance, having no other interest but the good of man and the glory of God. While on earth He was "faithful in things pertaining to God and to make reconciliation for the sins of the people." He was found devoting Himself to a life of sorrow, and a death of dishonor, that He might spread throughout the world the glory of the one, and lay an imperishing foundation for the welfare of the other.

It is a truth resting on the mind of man, and supported by the strongest evidence of his history, that whatever can restrain the lawless passions of man, and counteract his inordinate propensities, is the donor of human happiness, the source of human improvement, and an incalculable benefit to any country. Now, no power but the controlling power of religion can overcome the violence of human depravity, no force but the force of the gospel, when impelled by the Holy Ghost, can save man from his infernal and sometimes raging passions. To what other hope can we look? Is it to the law? The law has forbidden the commission of crimes, stern, inexorable justice has punished the criminal, but the criminal urged on by ungovernable passions has despised the law, and laughed to scorn human justice. For how many ages has the penalty of the law been inflicted upon its violators? Yet it has scarcely thinned the number of the guilty. The man of violence is still uplifted; but the rabble still infests society, the voice of blasphemy is still heard, and the degraded human body still slumbers in the death of intoxication. There are evils which the law, unsupported by religion, have not been able to remove. The dread of the law may occasionally restrain man from the public perpetration of crimes, but it cannot raise in his bosom the love or any virtue. It may force man to screen his enormities under the veil of hypocrisy, but in doing so it kills every noble principle in his heart, and sinks him to the lowest depth of moral humiliation.

When we trace the cheerless condition of man in those portions of the world where pure and undefiled religion has not found a resting-place, we find the earth covered by countless hoards of savages, unsocial and hostile, without God, without hope, without humanity, and without any of the sciences or arts; or if they have any religion it consists in homage paid to blocks and stones of their own workmanship. Passing from this humiliating view of our species, and directing our attention to those regions where the light of Christianity has dawned upon man, we see him softened, humanized, enlightened; and lest any doubt should exist respecting the cause of his improvement, we discover social happiness and national prosperity growing with the growth of religion, and declining with its fall. Can then the diffusion of such a religion as this, throughout the length and breadth of our country, or its extension to the remotest parts of the earth, be looked upon with indifference, even by men destitute of its enlightenment?

In the accumulation of the wealth of this world men are generally selfish; but not so with religion—the more a man has the more he wants others to have, that they with him may abound in every good word and work. In Christ's sermon on the mount he said: "First seek the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you;" and in the things that shall be added we may include peace, harmony, commercial confidence, and consequently national prosperity. What is it then that the Christian cannot claim or hope for? Our departed Bishop Bascom knew by experience what he was writing when he penned the following beautiful extract: "Christians! what has goodness denied you? Does the field contain a flower, or the heavens a star, they are yours—all that blooms below or shines above. It was for you He studded the heavens with their starry isles, damasked the clouds with their glowing crimson, and gave to earth its beauty and attraction! The Infinite mind felt sympathy with the joy not less than the sorrow of man, and it was for him—for us inhabiting earth and beholding heaven—that He spread out the wonders and glories of nature, gorgeous, varied and ample, whether glittering with light or gay with mantling verdure. And these blessings in the whole range of their comprehension extend, by charter and tender, to the world at large, embracing its entire burden of families and nations." And to those possessed of "religion pure and undefiled" especially. May our prayer then be

"O may thy sower's seed,
And fruit with every hour shall be,
Throughout the world Thy kingdom spread,
Thine everlasting truth be clear."

W. SPILLMAN.

LEXINGTON, MISS., November 1, '78.

From the Work.

I am just finishing up the third round on Spring Hill Circuit. This work lies in Marengo county, Ala., and is made up of four small villages, Dayton, Spring Hill, Anderson and Linden, the county-seat of Marengo, with one or two sub-appointments, where we preach in the afternoon of Sundays.

We have held protracted services at all the appointments except one, beginning all in twenty-seven days, the fifth Sunday and the intervening days of less revival.

The meeting at Dayton was a good success, the best known at that place by years past, so say the brethren. The whole town was more or less stirred upon the subject of religion. The infidels, several of the leading citizens becoming seekers of salvation, and two have joined the church, one the Baptist and one the Methodist. The camp was usually crowded with anxious penitents, and some scenes deeply affecting, such as parent and child kneeling side by side, pleading for mercy, the one for the other, several times occurred.

A number were converted at this meeting, and seventeen joined the church. Yet the assistance rendered in the above meetings by Brothers W. A. Rice of Selma, and E. W. Solomon of Uniontown, who preached in demonstration of the Spirit and of power, and the Word of the Lord had free course, and was glorified in the salvation of sinners and in the upbuilding of the church. For the above results we are to admit and give praise.

Owing to short crops and the low price of cotton our finances, I fear, will run very low. Stewards are beginning to feel the almost impossibility of putting off collections till the end of the year, finding themselves at the fourth Quarterly Conference and behind with their preacher's salary.

The pastor has gone, perhaps, oftentimes with a heavy heart to his appointments, and into his pulpit, knowing that his wife and loved ones at home were not provided for as they should have been.

We everywhere encounter the cry of hard times, hard times, and we often listen to eloquent lectures from the pulpit on retrenchment and economy. But I have generally observed that retrenchment usually strikes at religion and the church first. It is so easy to stop the Advocate, to buy no religious books, to do nothing for the poor, and to trim the faithful pastor's salary down one-third, one-fourth, one-half, till he is reduced almost to starvation.

But I have observed no retrenchment on self-indulgences, none on the superfluities of life, none on the vain pomp and glory of the world. I have noticed none grieving even a little self-denial, in order to be able to administer to the wants of their pastor, or to the necessities of the saints.

The people of this section have escaped the awful scourge of yellow fever; the country was never more bountifully supplied with all the necessaries of life; they are improving their dwellings, their plantations, their stock, buying new farms, and doubtless slowly increasing in substantial wealth; but I fear no improvement in church finances, and none in the support of the ministry. Instead of rising into a higher, nobler liberality, they are sinking deeper and deeper into the very spirit of that selfishness which will finally drown men's souls in perdition forever.

O, when will professing Christian people learn not to muzzle the ox which treadeth out the corn, that they who preach the gospel must live off the gospel, and that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

G. HAWKINS.

DAYTON, ALA., Nov. 28, 1878.

Rocky Springs, Mississippi.

The yellow fever has not been all round us without hurting us. There have been about one hundred and eighty cases in this neighborhood and forty-three deaths, thirty of these were whites, and among them some of our best citizens. Our church has lost ten members, two of them preachers, viz: H. A. J. Parker, Superannuate, and J. J. Harper, L. P., their wives are also among the dead.

All the interests of the church are much affected by the epidemic and none but the All-wise God can see how it is all for our good and His glory.

J. W. SANDELL.

ROCKY SPRINGS, Nov. 1, 1878.

East Feliciana Circuit, Mississippi Conference.

I am glad to be able to state there is a considerable increase of spirituality among the old members of the church; about sixty accessions and at least seventy conversions. At one church, Olive Branch, we have had a most gracious outpouring of God's spirit, result, some forty conversions and forty-five accessions. Brothers Ikir Wall of Clinton and J. W. Chambers of Baton Rouge rendered very efficient service. There are at least eleven men and boys [illegible] in that church who will now act as leaders in a prayer meeting when called upon, of which they have two every week. I believe. The people seem to like their pastor very much and would be glad if he could be sent back to them another year.

N. B. NORWICH.

November 19, 1878.

Circuit Prayer-Meetings.

The idea of organizing a prayer-meeting, which should be called a "circuit prayer-meeting," was given to me by a brother in the month of April, of this year, and I immediately began the organization. And we now have within the bounds of the East Baton Rouge circuit a prayer-meeting at which the members of the churches adjacent to the one at which the meeting is to be held attend, and where the Lord is present to bless their labors. I find them a great help to me on the circuit, for while I am on one part of the circuit the brethren are at another point, all engaged in the same good work. In regard to the great amount of territory embraced in the circuit, it is almost impossible to have a prayer-meeting at all the churches in the month. So we selected four churches, and have these prayer-meetings on two Sabbaths in the month. As to the manner of conducting them, the preacher in charge appoints those who will go to conduct the service; generally it is best to appoint two. The leader opens the meeting in the usual way of opening prayer-meetings, using his judgment in the mode of procedure. Short lessons, short hymns, short prayers and short addresses are recommended. It was my pleasure to attend one of these prayer-meetings, and took my part in it, and I must say, it was a feast of fat things to my soul.

I offer these thoughts hastily penned for the benefit of myself and others in the ministry, as well as for the benefit of the laity. I find that this is one means of bringing out the latent talent of the laymen, and of building up the cause of Christ.

ROBERT T. DAVIS.

EAST BATON ROUGE CIRCUIT, Nov. 4, 1878.

A Curious Study.

It is a curious study to see how many of the men who stand right in the professions, in political life and in general society, have never been trained in the university. They may not always be self-made men, but they have somehow obtained essentially the same results by that social attrition and keen common sense which makes a well-bred man a great leader, and make a man who steps out from the ranks to make good in part what he must always feel to be defects more or less in his training. The truth is that our ideas of culture need to be broader than the university, which, in fact, is only the stepping stone to something else. The close contact with men, the ambitious spirit which is infused into American youths as a part of their social environment, the idea of making one's way to something more than he was born to, is quite as powerful an incentive to general culture as the college, and, while it will never do to say that learning can be dispensed with, it is a constant surprise to find how abundantly quick-witted men make up for its loss in the actual work of life. It is the peculiar experience of American society that its leaders come from all the walks of life, and not more from one quarters or circle than from another. We are all here to possible great move, if the conditions are favorable by which we march out from boyhood. If in one generation a family steps into the first rank, it is by no means certain that it will retain its position in the second and third. Everything is shifting. And a cast of atoms with us practically goes for nothing.—Boston Advertiser.

CHILDREN CAN SERVE CHRIST.

The boy that carried the five loaves and the two fishes was of some service to the benevolent and wonder-working Saviour. A little boy once said to his mother, "I should like to have lived in the time of my Saviour, that I might have done something for him." His mother smiled and said, "What could a child of your years have done for him to prove your good-will?" The little boy thought a moment, and then said, "I would have run everywhere doing his errands." Now, this boy could still serve Christ, by giving his little savings to train boys to print and circulate Bibles and Testaments. The Lord Jesus could still see him do it, and still remember it, did for heathen boys and girls.—Bible Advocate.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names of very distinctly. We follow copy on proper and immediately. Give only points of gen[illegible] terest, such as will help the living. De[illegible] funeral services, and such phrases as "[illegible] their loss," etc., are not editorial. Verses original or select, not admissible in this ment. Give the locality distinctly and in the case of infants only a simple announce the death, with names and dates, will be [illegible] lished.

☞ All obituaries received are published as convenient. If after a reasonable time such communication has not appeared, it may be safely inferred of a complaint.

JOHN SAMUEL [illegible] son of [illegible] Athey, was born [illegible] 1878, in Floyd La. [illegible] child the sunshine of his home, the [illegible] his parents, and a source of [illegible] not, for God like [illegible] arms, and bore us in the [illegible] above.

SUE TINKER HARRIS, [illegible] Harrison, and the wife of [illegible] South, died after a [illegible] in Butler, Alabama, [illegible] four years, four months [illegible] The deceased was [illegible] moved in early life with [illegible] where she lived [illegible] About two months [illegible] Burning in her breast [illegible] it had been her [illegible] but find relief in [illegible] hold would Jesus [illegible] church she took [illegible] at her quiet home.

About three days before [illegible] was instructed to select [illegible] her and which could [illegible] She called all who were [illegible] and whispered to them [illegible] solution. One [illegible] source of much suffering [illegible] absence of the child [illegible] found it ready to part [illegible] his desire to be with [illegible] original or select, not admissible in this [illegible] ment. Give the locality distinctly and in [illegible] the case of infants only a simple announce [illegible] the death, with names and dates, will be [illegible] lished.

☞ All obituaries received are published as convenient. If after a reasonable time such communication has not appeared, it may be safely inferred of a complaint.

JOHN SAMUEL [illegible] son of [illegible] Athey, was born [illegible] 1878, in Floyd La. [illegible] child the sunshine of his home, the [illegible] his parents, and a source of [illegible] not, for God like [illegible] arms, and bore us in the [illegible] above.

SUE TINKER HARRIS, [illegible] Harrison, and the wife of [illegible] South, died after a [illegible] in Butler, Alabama, [illegible] four years, four months [illegible] The deceased was [illegible] moved in early life with [illegible] where she lived [illegible] About two months [illegible] Burning in her breast [illegible] it had been her [illegible] but find relief in [illegible] hold would Jesus [illegible] church she took [illegible] at her quiet home.

About three days before [illegible] was instructed to select [illegible] her and which could [illegible] She called all who were [illegible] and whispered to them [illegible] solution. One [illegible] source of much suffering [illegible] absence of the child [illegible] found it ready to part [illegible]

[illegible] Nov. 19, 1878.

[illegible] Circuit, Miss. [illegible] Conference, from the [illegible] sad parting of [illegible] home sadly [illegible] of [illegible] little Nowell Vick [illegible] was a domestic [illegible] mission or station [illegible] was unanimously [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] he Christian Advocate.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1876.

THE SILENT MUSIC.

A breeze at play [illegible] blowing,
Adown the rocky steep,
Where ferns are greenest growing,
And forest shades are deep,
Makes music, wild and sweet,
Among the fawn's rough feet.

The forest warblers, singing,
With many a happy thrill,
Fling out a wordless thing,
Are voiceless as the rill;
For though all the summer heat
Makes spirit-song and sweet,

Yet over the brook's [illegible]
The winding woods lay ways
Nor breath of breezes blowing
Amid the leaves at play:
Nor human pinions fleet,
Nor fawn's rough feet,

Nor laughter ringing,
Nor [illegible] pattering feet,
Nor [illegible] singing,
Make music half so sweet
As the silence of [illegible]
Of her sleeping child.

—Boston Transcript.

Light On Bible Texts.

Customs and habits of life still [illegible] in Egypt illustrate many [illegible] referred to in the Bible. The [illegible] Home gives the following "Put off thy shoes from thy feet, [illegible] place whereon thou standest is holy ground." Exodus iii: 5.

The putting off the shoes is an [illegible] ceremony in the East as an [illegible] courtesy or reverence. The [illegible] on entering his mosque, [illegible] in passing into church, [illegible] his shoes at the door; it is, [illegible] common to all Orientals in [illegible] worship; nor is that alone, [illegible] being as a mark of respect on [illegible] coming before a superior, [illegible] lowly-hearted Joseph, and he [illegible] a coat of many colors." [illegible] xxxvii:

"A coat we often see in the [illegible] of Cairo; it comes from Syria, [illegible] made of pieces of cloth of [illegible] colors, so arranged as to form, [illegible] though effective pattern. The [illegible] are then braided, and sometimes very elaborately.

"Over Edom will I cast out my [illegible] Psalm lx: 8.

"Giving a shoe at a wife is at this [illegible] Egypt a sign of divorce, and [illegible] the attempt [illegible] with David, when he was [illegible] blessed both the sons of [illegible] and worshiped leaning upon [illegible] staff." Hebrews xi: 21.

"Coptic Christians down to [illegible] time, lean upon a staff, [illegible] ordeal, in their worship, [illegible] with a transverse piece of [illegible] the top, thus: T; on this [illegible] they place both hands, and thus [illegible] themselves as they stand [illegible] the prayers and the reading [illegible] gospel. Their services are [illegible] long, but this is doubtless a [illegible] usage.

"On the tops of their houses, and [illegible] streets, every one shall howl, [illegible] bitterly." Isaiah xv: 3.

"The custom still obtains here. [illegible] in the dark blue cotton of [illegible] daily, I see women wailing, [illegible] bitterly, bowing on the [illegible] knees and we often hear them [illegible] 'Oh great city,' to the streets, [illegible] their throne is an open sepulchre." Psalm v: 9.

"Many of the Arabs bury without [illegible] to the present day; and [illegible] a coffin is used they do not [illegible] down the lid, but cover it [illegible] boards and shawls. The wealthy [illegible] family vaults, the walls of [illegible] rise a foot or two above the [illegible] ground. When the [illegible] is required for a fresh tenant, or [illegible] wall yields to natural de[illegible] is not uncommon, the all-[illegible] proceeding from the open [illegible] of a tomb—like the words [illegible]

"Thou girded us with loins and [illegible] Amos." First Kings [illegible]

"The groom who prepares to run [illegible] master always wears a [illegible] girdle round his loins, which [illegible] as occasion requires; and, [illegible] tucks one side of his [illegible] garment to the rein, which gives [illegible] freedom to the legs.

"When thou buildest a new house, [illegible] shalt make a battlement [illegible] thy roof, that thou bring not [illegible] upon thine house if any man [illegible] thence." Deuteronomy [illegible]

"I am reminded of this merciful in[illegible] when I see the large and [illegible] houses in Cairo, with flat roofs, [illegible] terraces, where the inmates [illegible] the air at eventide. These are [illegible] usually surmounted with a slight [illegible] and plaster barricade, with a [illegible] opened top, as is the case of [illegible] Hassan house, giving it a castel[illegible] appearance; but in many [illegible] modern innovation has substituted fancy palisades to prevent [illegible] hazard of any one falling from [illegible] roof. Few houses are so insignificant as not to have a terrace and [illegible] railing barrier.

The Preacher and the King.

Once upon a time, runs the most [illegible] little story, one of the Great [illegible] Frederick's chaplains was taken from [illegible] by the hand of death. The pe[illegible] of qualities in the deceased eccle[illegible] had not been more than his [illegible] piety, and heartfelt reverence [illegible] his known courage in danger [illegible] presence of mind in seasons of [illegible] ment. Said the great King: [illegible] where shall I find [illegible] so truly devout and so [illegible] ously devoted to his reli[illegible] who will fill the same [illegible] high presence chamber? [illegible] ther Isaac's wits were [illegible]

"But however a candidate [illegible] cended to his favorable [illegible] as man known to be [illegible] ght, and against whom [illegible] scandal had ever been [illegible]

"It is his courage," de[illegible] rejoined. "What would [illegible] moment of mortal terror [illegible] burst unexpectedly over [illegible]

The proposer shook his head. He could not say.

"Ha?" cried the King, "we will try him. Look ye, He shall preach in our chapel next Sunday afternoon, and I will be there. But he is to have no sermon prepared. I will myself, when I enter the chapel, place in his hand a sealed package, within which he will find the text; and from that text he will preach his sermon."

The ecclesiastic was consulted and readily consented to the proposition. The eventful day arrived, and the clergyman entered the chapel, and as he passed up the center aisle an officer in gaudy uniform—aid-de-camp of the King—put a sealed paper into his hand, at the same time whispering, "From his Majesty."

The clergyman ascended the pulpit, read the Scriptures, gave out the two hymns, made an appropriate prayer, in which the King was recognized without fulsomeness, and then he arose and broke the seal of the missive he had received and found it—blank! Not a word or pen mark appeared. With a calm smile the clergyman cast his eyes over the congregation and then said:

"Brethren and sisters—Here is nothing," and held up the paper to show that it was blank. "Blessed is he whom nothing can annoy, whom nothing can make afraid or swerve from his duty. We read that God made from nothing all things! And yet look at the stupendous majesty of His infinite creation!"

And thereupon the candidate went on with a powerful and eloquent discourse on the wonders and beauties of creation!

Suffice it to say that Frederick bestowed upon him the vacant chaplaincy, and that in time he came to be the King's chief confidant and spiritual adviser.

Source of Personal Beauty.

A beautiful person is the natural form of a beautiful soul. The mind builds its own house. The soul takes precedence of the body, and shapes the body to own likeness. A vacant mind takes all the meaning out of the fairest face. A sensual disposition deforms the handsomest features. A cold, selfish heart shrivels and distorts the best looks. A mean, revolting spirit takes all the dignity out of the figure and all the character out of the countenance. A cherished hatred transforms the most beautiful human features into an image of ugliness. It is impossible to preserve good looks with a bad set of passions seething in the blood, a base, low love roaring through the heart, and a selfish, distrustful spirit enthroned in the will, as to preserve the beauty of an elegant mansion with a layer of swine in the basement, a brood of gypsies in the parlor, and owls and vultures in the upper part. Badness and beauty will not long keep company. Sweet while that poison will consort with health, or an elegant carving survive the furrowing axe. The experiment of putting the two together has been tried for thousands of years, but with one unvarying result. There is no sculptor like mind. There is nothing that so refines, polishes and ennobles bare deformity as the constant presence of great thoughts. The man who lives in the region of ideas, mood beams though they lie, becomes himself. There are no arts, no gymnastics, no cosmetics which can contribute a tithe so much to the dignity, the strength, the ennobling of a man's looks as a great purpose, a high determination, a noble principle, an unquenchable enthusiasm. But more powerful still than any of these as a beautifier of the person is the all-pervading, supreme and preserving disposition of kindness in the heart. Affection is the organizing force in the human countenance. Wounds is fairer than man because she has more affection than man. Love possesses the outside of love, kindness, sweetness, good will, a prevailing desire and determination to make others happy, make the body a temple of the Holy Ghost. The soul that is full of pure and generous affections fashions the features into its own angelic likeness, as the rose by inherent impulse grows in grace and blossoms into loveliness which art cannot equal. There is nothing on earth which so quickly transfigures a personality, refines, exalts, irradiates with heaven's own impress of loveliness, as a pervading, prevailing kindness of heart. The angels are beautiful because they are good, and God is beauty because he is love.—Home Journal.

Paris in the Morning.

It is an interesting sight to take a seat on the top of a street car at an early hour in the morning and witness the cleaning process that everything is undergoing. The house-keepers bring out all their rubbish and pile it up in the street, one pile for every four or five houses. It is no sooner emptied than the rag-pickers, who swarm the streets with their bags and baskets and hand-carts, pounce upon it and gather up all the fragments of paper, rag or metal to be found in the piles. They are so numerous that there is a scramble on every street, and they move from pile to pile as if their lives depended on their activity. They seem to take away one-third of the rubbish. Servants are everywhere to be seen with broom and bucket in hand cleaning off the fronts. The streets are being sprinkled with hose, and an army of men and women with birch brooms are sweeping the streets. On the boulevards horse-brushing machines are in motion, and the garbage carts are removing the piles thrown out by the house-keepers. Water is turned on to all the gutters, and women with brooms are engaged washing them down. Men with hose are watering all the roots of all the hundred of thousands of trees on the boulevards, and taking up the gratings so as to loosen the earth around them. All, or nearly all, this work is being done by the city authorities, and by 9 o'clock the city is as clean as broom and brush and water can make it.—Presbyterian Banner.

Dr. Isaac Barrow.

In the time of Charles II, and previously, candidates for Holy Orders were expected to answer in Latin to the various questions put to them by the bishop, or his examining chaplain. The following is related of the celebrated Dr. Isaac Barrow, who was tutor to the immortal Newton:

When Barrow was about to take his bachelor's degree, he presented himself before the bishop's chaplain, who said to Barrow, "Quid est fides?" ("What is faith?")

"Quod non vides." ("What thou dost not see), answered Barrow in a moment.

The chaplain, a little vexed at Barrow's laconic answer, continued, "Quid est spes?" ("What is hope?")

"Magna res," ("A great thing"), replied the young candidate quickly.

"Quid est charitas?" ("What is charity?") was the next question.

"Magna raritas," ("A great rarity"), was Barrow's prompt reply. The examiner went to the bishop and told him that a young Cantab had thought proper to give rhyming answers to three several moral questions, and he added that he believed his name was Barrow, of Trinity College, Cambridge.

"Barrow! Barrow!" said the bishop, who knew the liberty and moral worth of the young Cantab; "if that's the case, ask him no more questions, for he is better qualified to examine us than we him."

The candidate received his letters of orders forthwith. Barrow was afterward appointed Professor of Greek at Cambridge, and also Lucasian Professor and Master of Trinity.—Methodist.

The Mote in the Eye.

While at play, a child, happening to get a mote into his eye, kept rubbing and wiping it for a while, but with no other effect than to increase the pain and irritation. At last he ran and complained to his father, who put a small feral into it and bade him close and roll it about several times, whereupon the pain dropped out with the mote adhering to it. This suggested to Guthrie the following thoughts: "The eyes the light of the body. It sees all things presented to it, but not itself. It is, however, as the present instance shows, an extremely sensitive organ, and cannot endure even a mote, but weeps and aches until it is relieved. It thus affords us a true emblem of conscience, which, although itself little noticed, perceives, apprehends and, so to speak, keeps a record of all things. In one respect, indeed, conscience is superior to the eye, for while the latter sees only by day, the former sees also by night, and takes cognizance of the works of darkness. Now, true it is that many, especially when blinded by the delusions of self-love and carnal security, look upon sin as only a mote. But ah! with what bitterness and anguish the mote, which seems so small, can wring the conscience! How it aches and weeps! And, in such a case, O God of mercy! there is no help but with thee. The Gospel of Jesus is the pearl of great price. Dropped by thy hand into the wounded and troubled heart, it takes out and all its anguish away, so that we find rest to our souls, and learn to serve thee with alacrity and delight.

Help me, O my God! to walk at all times cautiously and circumspectly, and grant me by Thy grace from ever wounding my conscience.—Gotthold's Emblems.

Woman's Constellations.

The Haverhill (Mass.) Gazette has a correspondent who tells the following story: "Perhaps the reader has noticed, while journeying upon the Boston and Lowell railroad, at Wilow Bridge, Somerville, a plain but substantial brick house upon the hill, only a moment's walk from the station. Its doors have not been opened for twelve years. Twelve years ago one of the brightest and smartest mechanics to be found in our busy city—young, handsome, whose only apparent fortune was his daily wages, of which he was very careful, saving all he could for the one bright object of his life, which was to marry her whom he had won, as soon as they could get money enough to commence housekeeping. She was conscientious to a fault, brought up in the most puritanical of puritan families, good, pure and beautiful. One bright morning in spring he invited her to take a drive in the suburbs. They halted, after about an hour's drive, in front of this house. He asked her how she liked it. Of course and wished it was theirs; they could be so happy if they only had a home like that. He invited her in. The house was just completed and very nicely furnished. Judge of her surprise when he quietly informed her that he owned it. Why, she was completely dumbfounded, and, of course, wanted an explanation. How, when did he come in possession of so much property? He tried to avoid the question, but she was firm. He finally told her that he drew twenty thousand dollars in some lottery scheme, and with the funds built and furnished this house for her. She flirted upon him as though he was the veriest gambler, vowing then and there that she would never be his wife until he gave back the property which he had gained by what she termed unlawful means. She scorned all efforts of his to occupy the house. They separated; parted at the door, which has not been opened since. The furniture remains the same to-day as when they left it twelve years ago, except what age has done. Both are wanderers upon the face of the earth; both lives blasted."

A church is to be to God's work, what grace is to the soul. Grace is not to be created in a year by casting together a heterogeneous mass of people, bound together by no tie stronger than that of admission to a choir, or organist, or a preacher.—Watchman.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The great Jewish Council at Paris chose the aged M. Adolphe Cremieux president, and selected four vice-presidents, one of whom was Rabbi Jacobs, of New York. The treasurer of the Alliance Israelite reported that it now has 71,000 members, and that it raised last year 111,000 francs. President Cremieux rejoiced that he had lived to see the Orient free. It was the happiest day of his life, and he cried out to God "Hallelujah!" The Jews in the East were now liberated from a grievous thrall. It was a glorious victory for which Israel had long waited, and hoped even against hope. Justice had prevailed, and 3,000,000 of people—Jews and Christians—had been released from the shackles they had worn for seemingly endless years. If he had worked in the past for human freedom, he only wished he could reduce his years from 84 to 44, and he would show these tyrants who endeavor to enslave their fellow-men what he would yet do. The Conference decided to order medals, to be struck in honor of the liberation of the Jews in the East, to be presented to each member of the Berlin Conference, and it discussed proposed modifications in the constitution of the Alliance, and its schools in the East.

—The total income of the English Church Missionary Society last year was $1,415,000. The total number of clergymen employed by the Society is 385, of whom 182 are native clergy. The lay agents number 2,052, for only being English. The accounts from the various fields of labor were for the most part encouraging, the massacre of Messrs. Smith and O'Neile, at the Victoria Nyanza, forming, however, a sad page in this year's report. From recent information received by the society it would seem that those gentlemen and their native followers were slain while attempting to defend an Arab trader, who had sought protection at their hands from the chief Lukongeh of Uzerewe. Four selected brethren start next week by way of the Nile, to take the place of those who have fallen, while Mr. Mackay is instructed to press forward with another party from the East Coast.

—ROMANISM IN PERSIA.—We read in the Missions Catholiques that the Shah of Persia has granted an audience to Mgr. Chizel, Delegate Apostolic of the Romish See in Persia, who was accompanied by M. Joseph Arakelian, Superior of the American Mission at Ispahan. The Shah told Mgr. Chizel that he (the Shah) bore great veneration and great affection toward the Pope, and that when he took his intended visit to Europe shortly he should travel from Paris to Rome expressly in order to compliment Leo XIII; that he had a great regard toward the Roman Catholics of his kingdom, and that he would do all in his power to promote their prosperity and happiness. The Shah's son, who is Governor of Ispahan, has granted a subvention for all of the Roman Catholic schools of that city.

—Rev. J. M. Thoburn, D. D., is having a continuance of the marvelous work of God in Calcutta, which has now gone on uninterrupted for four years. He says: "We are well in Calcutta. God is with us in mercy, truth and power. Our work never looked better than at present. God has opened our way in Calcutta wonderfully; there has been no backward move for four years, but steady growth. I am looking for a day of great power in India. Would to God that some consecrated young men would come out to join our work. It is more than a marvel to me that so many men, later found Conference doors waiting for work, while all the world is open to them."

Mr. James E. Tracy writes to the American Board this encouraging news from the Madura mission, India: "In several villages new congregations are offering themselves for instruction. They come faster, indeed, than I can get men to teach them. A catechist told me a few days ago that in a village four miles from Essaly nearly twenty families were eager for instruction. So it is. The work is growing, and the great need is of faithful, pious men to go in and occupy the field."

The thirty-second annual meeting of the American Missionary Association was held in Taunton, Mass., October 29-31.

Our Young People.

A CHILD'S RESOLVE.

So I can make the flowers the charm the eye,
And scent the air around;
He made the trees so broad and high,
To shadow all the ground.

He made the stars to cheer the night
And you dark sky adorn;
He made the sun so warm and bright,
To ripen well the corn.

I can't [illegible] like a bee,
Or bloom in fields like flowers,
But God hath made a world for me,
And given me noble powers.

And I'll be good, to please my God who
[illegible]
Then shall not [illegible]
And all be good for [illegible]

MARY SLAUGHTER BROWN.

MR. EDITOR: We want to write about the sweet little one whose name is at the head of this article. She was the daughter of Rev. B. Brown, formerly of Virginia, and a granddaughter of Drs. J. A. Wilkins, both members of our church here at Fort Hudson, Louisiana. We buried her on Sunday, October 29, when she was just four years, eight month's and twelve days old. I enclose to you eighty-five cents, which she had saved up from time to time, for a little colporteur case; whenever any one would talk of doing good with money, she would run and get her's and offer it, and now it is sent to you to send the dear ADVOCATE for a short time at least to some children's home, whose parents are too poor to pay for it. Little Mary loved her pastor, used to run to meet him, and was glad to go to hear him preach. She went to Sunday-school, sang out of the same book with her mother, and repeated her verse from the Bible. All the neighbors came to her burial, and it was very affecting to see how even the grown people cried, because so bright and winning a perfect image and plays with the girl had to be laid in the cold ground. When the children read this, while they feel thankful that they are saved to their parents, they must ask God to help little Mary's Mamma and Papa, whose hearts are nearly broken by her death.

C. C. ANDREWS.

Tom's Victory.

"That Ned Lane," said Tom Bixby, doubling up his fist and stamping his feet, "is a mean, spiteful, wicked boy. I hate him. I wish he was dead, I do!"

Then Tom broke down and sadly burst into tears. His mother, who had heard his angry words, came out to the garden to see what had caused them. She, too, was indignant at what she saw. There was Tom's pet doggie Fawn stretched out still and cold on the grass. A cord around his neck a string was tied from which dangled a card. On it these words were written, in a scrawling hand:

"He'll never chase my cat kens no more.—Ned Lane."

"Oh, mother," cried Tom, looking at poor, poor Fawn, "see what the cruel Ned has done! Oh, how I hate him! I'll be revenged!"

Fawn had been a favorite with all the Bixby family, and in spite of the fact that he would persist in chickens and tear the dresses of passing ladies or catch and hide away stockings or handkerchiefs when they were laid upon the grass to bleach, Mrs. Bixby had borne with him. She had hoped that his youthful pranks would be cured in time. She knew that Ned Lane had been made very angry because of the loss of two fire fowls which Fawn had shaken and torn to pieces, and she felt that Fawn had been a great annoyance to the neighbors—a great transgressor. But what to do with Ned was the question, so Tom's heart was almost broken.

"Tom," she said, "you say you hate Ned. Do you wish what I heard you say just now—to be really revenged?"

"Yes, mother; I want to see him suffer. I wish all his chickens were gone."

"Ned has done a cruel deed, and I do not wonder that you are very deeply grieved; but, my son, he that hateth his brother is a murderer."

"He's not my brother."

"In one sense he is; yet I am sure you do not mean that you would really like to see him dead and would like your dog. If you think of the meaning of your words, I am sure you wish him no such ill. I think there is a way by which you can make him very sorry for this, and yet keep your own self-respect."

The gentle tones won their way to Tom's heart. He sat down by his mother, and she passed her soft hand over his hot brow and soothed him tenderly. Then she gave him her plan for being "quits," as he called it, with Ned, and for getting the victory.

The next day, when Ned Lane met Tom Bixby on his way to school, he was rather mortified to hear nothing about Fawn. He was prepared to defend himself if attacked, but Tom passed on in silence. He tried to say, "Hallo, Ned?" but failed in the attempt. All the morning, however, when the boys were in their classes together, Tom looked and acted as usual, and at recess he engaged heartily in games with the other boys.

When Ned, feeling more and more uncomfortable, went home to dinner, a surprise awaited him. A superb pair of Brahmapootra fowls had arrived, with a string and card attached:

"For those my poor Fawn chased.
Tom Bixby."

I cannot say truly that the two from this time became fast friends, but this I know—that Ned Lane was thoroughly ashamed of his mean and unworthy action, and never afterward was guilty of the like cruelty; while Tom felt, even at Fawn's grave, that forgiveness is sweeter than revenge.—Angel of Peace.

Two little boys were met after dark by a fellow who demanded their money. Said one of them, "I have no money." This might have been a sufficient answer. But the other made assurance doubly sure by adding, innocently, "And I haven't any pocket to put money in."

Why A Egot-Black Sold His "Pit."

It surprised the shiners and newsboys around the post office the other day to see "Limpy Tim" come among them in a quiet way, and to hear him say:

"Boys, I want to sell my kit. There's two brushes, a half box of blacking, a good strap, box and the outfit goes for two dollars."

"Gum away, Tim," replied one.

"No, really, boys, but I want a quarter the worst kind just now."

"Going on a [illegible]" asked another.

"Not to-day, but I must have a quarter," he answered.

One of the boys leaped over the [illegible] and took the kit, and Tim walked straight to the small grocery [illegible] daily paper, just as the [illegible] and said:

"I give you my kit if you'll give me a paper."

With slow movements he wrote a death notice. It went into the paper almost as he wrote it, but you might not have seen it. Here's it:

"Died—Limpy Tim—of scarlet fever; aged three years. Fond pa mourns; gone up to heaven, left one brother."

"Was it your brother?" asked the customer.

Tim tried to brace up, but he could not. The big tears came up, his lips quivered, and he pointed to the notice on the counter and gasped:

"I—I had to sell my kit to do it, b—but he [illegible] his arms around my neck when he—died!"

He hurried away home, but the news went to the boys, and they gathered in a group and talked. Tim had not been home an hour before a barefooted boy left the kit on the doorstep, and in the box was a bouquet of flowers, which had been purchased in the market by pennies contributed by the crowd of ragged but big hearted urchins. Did God ever [illegible] which would not respond to [illegible] chord was touched?—Detroit Free Press.

Old Grow Old.

Years are among the shrewdest of lords and to reason with them. But a Maine Yankee in answering an ungenerously upon Time has found that there [illegible] beyond the power [illegible] gathered it to go to [illegible] at its [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] was a rare one. From the [illegible] for [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that when he was into it [illegible] [illegible] the head and he left the shed.

He took a third neighbor, and these three were evidently at a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississipoi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WAINSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 25
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Pre-Millennial.

Those who believe in the pre-millennial advent of Christ are the real Christian pessimists. The present processes of saving men by the preaching of the word, and by the work of the Holy Spirit, are comparative failures. The world, as they judge, is growing worse, and will continue to do so until the Lord himself shall come and reign on the earth in person with his saints. On the other hand, those who regard the second coming as coincident with the general resurrection and the judgment, and the end of the present world, are more hopeful of the success of the gospel. They believe that the present dispensation of the Spirit is the last, and the most efficacious possible, for the salvation of the race. As they look upon the matter the gospel is rapidly spreading—it is beginning to be preached, in all the world, not only as a witness, but also as the power of God unto salvation. The church is more active, far more efficient, more numerous, and her average of spirituality greater than ever. The world under these divine influences is growing better, and it is believed that the true millennium—a world wide revival and prevalence of the Christian religion—will be reached through the ministry of the word and of the Holy Spirit.

It is Christ's lifting up on the cross that is to draw all men unto him, rather than his coming in clouds. He is to be glorified by the Spirit rather than by the signs and wonders and material demonstrations of a personal reign in Jerusalem. Those who reject the notion of the pre-millennial advent believe in the second coming. They are as servants who wait for their Lord, like the virgins in the parable, they are expectant, but their expectation is that the coming will be to judgment, and at the end of the world. A coming that involves the resurrection and the final disposition, and restitution of all things, even though there be in it no such sensible episode as a temporary personal reign on the earth is sufficiently momentous to occupy the thoughts, and to fill the hopes of the believer. The saints in paradise and in the world are all alike looking for and hasting the coming.

Our pre-millennial friends believe the time is near. The most of them cherish the hope, probably, that it will be in their day. Some who attended the recent advent meeting in New York are said to have expressed the conviction that it would happen either before the meeting was over, and others that we were on the eve of most startling events, and that the coming was very near. No particular time was fixed, but it was at hand. It is likely that nearly all of them believed that the time was probably immediately at hand. We also believe it to be at hand, as a probability, we should say that the time is yet many years away. Four thousand years were spent in preparation for the incarnation and the Christian dispensation, and we can hardly persuade ourselves that the temple is to be of smaller proportions than the porch. "One day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day." There is a purpose of mercy in this seeming delay. "The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is long suffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance."

The account which all men are to render at the coming of Christ to judgment is a powerful motive to repentance, but since death determines the result it is scarcely needful to operate upon their fears by declaring that Christ is about to come. It is enough that he will come, and that the consequences of that coming are involved in the death-hour of every one. While we can see no practical use in the notions and speculations of these pre-millenarians, as a matter of fact, they have led to mischief. They are not only capable of perversion, but their inevitable tendency is in this direction. The celebrated Miller was a man of piety and learning and he warned his followers against their fanatical course, but he had raised a spirit that he could not control. Bishop Nelson, the Tyngs, Prof. Loomis, Mr. Moody, and others of this class, may not be hurt by the views which they entertain, but thousands of the less intelligent and more volatile will be.

This pre-millennial doctrine may not visibly affect the methods of its advocates in gospel work, but it does influence their faith in the power of the gospel, and their belief and hope of its progress and final triumph. We hear them declaring, as the end of missionary effort, that the gospel is to be preached as a witness rather than as the means of saving. A higher and better faith than this is needed in order to overcome the world, and to conquer it for Christ. A better, surer and more effective evangelism is in the faith that believes that the gospel can and will succeed.

Our Schools in Mexico.

A reader of our church papers cannot help but notice, from their numerous advertisements and other notices of schools, that our people put a very high estimate upon education. The church also attests its importance by officially recommending and establishing institutions of learning throughout her connection, and then appointing in charge of them the best men to be had. The benefits resulting from this policy are to be clearly seen on every hand. It is, then, natural and even necessary to sustain good schools, in order to the greater success in the work of the church in the United States, much more is it so in our mission fields, where both old and young are in need of intellectual, moral and religious training. The general government of the Republic of Mexico is, to the extent of its ability, encouraging the education of its people, but its schools, private and public, are largely under the control of the Romish Church, and poisoned with the bitter prejudices of that church. The pertinacity with which the adult population cling to these prejudices, instilled into their minds and hearts from early youth, proves to the Romanist—and as well the infidelist—that a very great influence over the masses is secured by those who educate the children. So the Romanists are struggling hard to retain this element of power in their church, and show their displeasure at the fact that many parents will allow their children to attend a good Protestant school, though they will not consent themselves to attend a Protestant church. They fear nothing more than our schools, not only because of the different and better moral training which they afford, but also because they are, according to their merits, gaining favor with the public, and securing the patronage of the better class of people. Their opposition is, therefore, very determined, and not unfrequently very bitter, as appears from the utterances of the Pope at Rome, and echoed by some of his enthusiastic followers in Mexico.

On the Feast of St. Joachim, the name-day of Leo XIII, several addresses of congratulation were presented him. In responding to one of these he said that he received with joy the intimation that the people of the Trans-Tiberine district had resolved to build in their precincts a church, that their children might receive such a religious education as the laws of the country lived in required, and that one viewed with favor the establishing schools in which truth and innocence may find the milk of religion. He deplored that in some countries of Christianity, perhaps not excepting Italy, such facilities were given to heterodox sects for the exercise of worship, and to open schools destined to disseminate among the people injurious publications; and that the Sovereign Pontiff was not permitted, as he desired to do, to oppose a remedy to the impiety which had invaded the city. It was the duty of the citizens, however, to render futile the efforts of the impious people by making it an inviolable law to keep themselves and their children from any contact with heresy. Why should they have any desire to attend the temples of innovators, and abandon the Catholic churches which abounded in splendor, and had received them from infancy? Were there wanting in Rome Catholic schools in which their children could receive instruction without outrage to their faith and detriment to their morals? Thanks to the care of the Popes, the charity of the faithful, and the zeal of clergy and laity, there was not a corner of the city in which schools had not been opened, or were about to be opened, in sufficient numbers to meet every educational want. They were aware that the enemies of the Catholic faith, taking advantage of the poverty which at present afflicted the people, were employing every artifice, and scattering gold in profusion, in order to fill their schools and conventicles; but he would not wrong their conscience nor their religious cause by supposing them capable of sacrificing their salvation, and that of their children, for any consideration of material interest. Bread bought at such a price killed the soul, and brought down the maledictions of the Almighty. He implored them to follow the example of their fathers, and suffer rather than yield to temptation."

This is the deliverance of the Pope, the head of the Catholic Church in Rome, the United States, Mexico, and other parts of the world; and all he wants is the power to make short work with all who oppose his views and wishes. Protestant schools would be among the first things to disappear. Abundant proof can be given that the views and spirit of the Pope are fully supported and cherished by his enthusiastic followers in the Republic of Mexico, that we are strongly opposed by these in our mission work, and that a special warfare is carried on against our schools as one of the most efficient means of spreading Protestantism and scriptural holiness throughout the land. The following is an extract from "A Priest's Address that a Good Catholic makes to the heads of families when they deposit their children not to believe the false pretensions of Protestants and Masons." The exhortation appears in poetry, with a picture of the Savior on the cross, surrounded by the above lines as a heading. Omitting the picture and the poetry, the following are some of the ideas presented, translated as nearly literal as possible:

"Heads of families! great is the care you should have for your little children. The most lamentable time of all the Catholic world has come. It is now necessary that with great diligence than ever parents teach to their children their duty to our holy religion, and make them to know what are the pretentions of the enemies of our Catholic Church, such as Protestants, Masons, heretics, and all other of the impious; for they are trying in a thousand ways to ruin the youth of the republic, deceiving the children, implanting in their tender hearts the poison of falsehood, and establishing among ignorant Catholics their false beliefs, in order to destroy the true religion of Jesus Christ.

Awake Christians! awake parents and children! awake young men and maidens! Believe not these false prophets, listen not to the words of these Protestants, speak not to them, but fly far from them with the same fear that you would fly from a venemous serpent, or from the devil himself.

Many prophecies have already been fulfilled, and Jesus Christ says, in his holy writing, that the church shall be persecuted, but not destroyed, and we are now seeing this persecution. We know that before the end of the world an extraordinary man will appear—the anti Christ—who will endeavor to conquer the world, and finally bring all to eternal death. In order to accomplish this he will send throughout the world his infernal ministers, who will try to make sure that no man or child escape them. These Protestants are nothing less than the ministers of this anti-Christ, or devil.

Catholics! do not believe in the subtlety and wickedness of the Protestants and Masons. They desire that we shall be lost, and therefore conceal the truth by printing mutilated Bibles which have no authority, and which the true church has prohibited. Do not believe the false prophets who go about preaching with their lying tongues, deceiving the world, and with souls eternally damned, making war upon virtue. As enemies of God, they bring the law of Satan, they wish to rob us of peace, and with a treacherous intent in all the world the most atrocious, they wish their teaching believed. Parents, awake! see that your beloved children read not their prohibited Bibles, nor listen to their teachings. Christian people! do not follow after these men, for they are excommunicated from the church."

This exhortation, together with a ridiculous description of one of our schools, was published and circulated in Leon, a city of 120,000 inhabitants, where a good work is being done by our Bro. Systenis Juarez, an old and a bold soldier of the cross, who is also a prominent Free Mason. It shows not only the existing opposition to the course of training followed in our schools, but also the great need of these schools as an important means in our work of enlightening the minds, improving the hearts, and saving the souls of these people.

W. M. PATTERSON.

Mexico, November 18, 1878.

Notes from Nashville.

The quarterly meeting for West End station has just been held. Dr. Hargrove, the presiding elder, preached a couple of capital sermons yesterday—one in West End church, and the other in Vanderbilt chapel. The sermon in the morning was an expository discourse on John i. The preacher said he doubted the propriety of taking "a text" every time one preached a sermon. Mr. Wesley recommended his preachers, especially young preachers, to do as Dr. Hargrove did. The fathers used to preach on the pericope or portion of Scripture used in the church service. Lutherans (at least in Europe) usually preach from the "epistle" or "gospel" for the day. Anglican ministers, in times past, frequently did the same—so others. There are advantages in this method.

But, on the whole, the common method seems to be the best. I have sometimes been inclined to think that the Holy Spirit so directed in the composition of the Bible as to adapt it to this purpose. How full is it of "texts" on every topic fit for the pulpit. There was no necessity for the learned but eccentric Dr. Sam Parr to go to "Maccabees" in the Apocrypha for a text—the only Protestant minister that we can now call to mind that did so. Robert Hall prepared a sermon on the solemn sentence: "In the midst of life we are in death." An Episcopal friend chanced to call on him before he went to the pulpit, and told him that it was not in the Bible, but in the Burial Service of the Church of England!

Dr. Hargrove's sermon on R. penitence in Vanderbilt chapel, was very clear and impressive. I think it will produce the desired and designed effect upon the large number of persons, especially the students, who listened to it.

By the way, Chancellor Garland reported last week the grade of scholarship in the university for the first two months of the session—was higher than ever before.

The new professors are men of mark. Prof. Buchanan has brought his family altogether to the campus—a considerable addition has been made to the house prepared for him. Prof. Diggett is unmarried. He has organized classes in Anglo-Saxon and Spanish, with an assistant for the latter—the latter being demanded for our Mexican and border work. The two Mexican students still at Vanderbilt are doing well—they will soon return to Mexico, where, we trust, they will (like their late associate, Bro. Villegas) do good work for the Lord.

Dr. Granberry is absent, being in attendance on the session of the Virginia Conference. He is a noble man—a capital preacher as well as instructor.

Dr. Dodd has two or three classes in Hebrew, which are doing well. He has remarkable tact in conveying instruction—I would sooner have him to teach Hebrew than any Rabbi I know.

I occasionally drop in to hear a lecture from the medical professors. They are able men. They are encouraged by the large and respectable class of students in attendance. It would have been larger but for the lying stories circulated concerning the yellow fever in Nashville. The paternity of some of these slanders has been ascertained. The truth is there never has been a case of yellow fever in Nashville except the one brought here by Dr. Erskine and others, and very few of them. From first to last, and in every conceivable way we were protected, that there would be no yellow fever here. When the Board of Health and the Common Council were settling the question of quarantine Prof. Mercy entered his earnest protest against it. He was finely sustained by Profs. Bushing, Aydelotte, Summers, and other physicians, and there was no quarantine. The result has fully vindicated the wisdom of these medical men, to whom Nashville owes a heavy debt of gratitude. The exemption of Nashville from this fearful scourge inures greatly to the benefit of its commercial, educational, and other interests.

We rejoice that the places lately suffering from the fearful epidemic are recovering their normal state of health. I see by the last report that there were 4,005 victims the past season in New Orleans. In a previous year I think the number exceeded 5,000.

The heroism and self-sacrifice displayed by physicians, ministers, nurses and others, deserve all praise. We mourn the loss of so many moral heroes, but we thank God for the preservation of so many who were so long in the jaws of death!

Dr. McFerrin is in attendance on the session of the Virginia Conference. He went by the way of Georgia, so as to accompany Bishop Pierce, who presides at the session. I am sorry to hear that the Bishop's health is not as good as it was when I saw him a month or so ago in Nashville. Has he been violating any of the laws of his physical being? Bishops, like common folks, need watching. I hope he will spare himself, and soon recover his wonted vigor.

Dr. McFerrin, as book agent, is pressing the book business, and I hope he will find favor all over the connection. The Book Committee meet monthly to counsel concerning the affairs of the Publishing House. Bro. Palmer "carries with the ball," while the agent is in the field.

Dr. Young is lending his valuable aid in Texas, Arkansas, and other places. I earnestly hope that all our friends through all the conference will rally to the rescue.

Dr. Fitzgerald is winning golden opinions as editor of the Advocate, and Dr. Cunningham works like a beaver on our Sunday-school publications. We shall be greatly disappointed if his next year's report with all the improvements he has introduced do not take hugely with our people.

Dr. Wilson, secretary of the Board of Missions, is attending Conferences in Texas and Arkansas. Bishop Pierce told me he did capital work in Kentucky. The Bishop thinks that under his discreet management, and by his judicious labors, he will greatly develop our missionary work. Will it needs development, and much have it. The treasury must be replenished. Those Conferences whose territory has not been visited by the yellow fever must supply deficiencies for those sufferers who have been so fearfully scourged. The Board of Missions, at its monthly meeting last week, took the matter into very serious consideration. The board feels the necessity of the most rigid economy during the present distress, and urges greater liberality on the part of our friends who have the privilege of aiding the cause. Our Sunday-schools are specially called upon to donate in this great work. Expend the children of the church will rally.

The Tennessee Conference of the Colored Methodist Episcopal Church in America meets Wednesday, November 20, in Cooper Chapel, Nashville. Bishop Pierce is to preside. The session was to have been held elsewhere, but the place first selected suffered much from yellow fever—hence it was thought advisable to hold the session in Nashville. For a similar reason our Memphis Conference will hold its session in Jackson, not in Paris, where it was to have been held.

Dr. Kelley's health was much improved by his cultivating tour in the North and in Georgia. He labors very assiduously—does too much for his strength. I preached for him last night, and I am glad when he is in the pulpit. By New Year's day I presume he will get into his "new McKendree"—the finest church perhaps in the South, though not the most costly.

"And here shall be an end."

Nov. 20th.

THOS. O. SUMMERS.

Our Pastor.

Our good old pastor, the Rev. Andrew Farrell, came to us under some embarrassments. First and foremost he had to succeed Dr. Pitable, whom we all loved so dearly; and, secondly, we had heard that he was a hard man; so that we were shy of him, and disposed to be cold to him from the very first. His first sermon, however, disappointed us very agreeably. There was a reach of thought, and a world of instruction, in it, to which we were not accustomed, and with it there was a wealth of love and tenderness that was as admirable as it was unexpected. People began to say that after all we were gaining by the change, and to admire the wisdom that required it, at least, every four years. How long things went on in this pleasant way, I do not remember, very definitely, but for a considerable time. But brother Timerous and myself being alone with the pastor, in his office, one day, he said to us: "I have been thinking that our church is not doing well. People come to church tolerably well, and listen attentively, but many members of the church are not living as they ought." "So it has been all along," we replied, "and we hope you will not disturb our equanimity by any liveliness, for we do not think the people will bear it, and so brought Dr. Pitable. Nevertheless we noticed a change in his preaching from the very day. It was as tender, as ever toward penitent sinners, but toward the impenitent, especially towards the impenitent sinners in the church there was a tone of severity which, as we foresaw, the world did not relish. But this was but the dark thing that indicated the coming storm. On one occasion—I shall never forget it—in the midst of the thunder of small arms and the roar of artillery, reminded us of "the crack of doom," all heaven seemed to be pouring out cataracts of fiery wrath, and the reading, affright, and the very apprehension of eternal death in the prospects of men, so that they knew not what to say or do. My lady, however, as some would say, was missing the sermon, on the ground that I ventured to say it was hard. "Too hard," said she, "for me. I do not feel it so." "Then you are not in earnest," said I. "Yes I am," said she, "in earnest for eternal life. Now, I am no drunkard, and time I take my drink when dinner and if I do get a little out of the way sometimes it is not my fault, and no business of yours."

But this is a digression, and I return to the sermon preaching we had. And so they went on, a joy for the preacher. "And here we are ourselves," Mr. Blue-flame would say, "and I see clearly that we are all going to the other place." Then Mr. Live-for-ever would say, "Away with such gloomy views. Ah," said Mr. Make-the-best-of-it, "I hope for the best

Items.

HEALTH OF NEW ORLEANS.—Last week there were two good white cases in the city, and so far this week three more. The absentees have generally returned, and yellow fever has ceased to be talked of, except as a matter of the past. We hear of no new cases, and we are of opinion that there is no danger in New Orleans to the unacclimated. The Picayune of November 30 says:

It has been frequently remarked that the general condition of health never before, for an epidemic than before it. This is certainly the case with New Orleans at present. The number of deaths from all causes for the current week is remarkably small, and the death rate lower than that of nearly every other city in the country.

The city is free from contagious or infectious diseases, and particularly from those diseases which prevail in northern cities at this season of the year, as scarlet fever and small-pox.

The clerks of the Board of Health are about completed the record of the cases and deaths which occurred during the summer.

There were reported 22,000 cases of yellow fever, and 4,000 deaths, which is the total for the epidemic.

Thanksgiving day, Thursday, November 28, was more generally observed in New Orleans than usual. Service was held at nearly all the churches. It was our privilege to worship at the Carondelet Street M. E. Church, and to hear an appropriate and edifying sermon from the pastor, Rev. John Mathews.

We deeply sympathize with our brother, Capt. B. H. Robertson, in the death of his wife, Sister Robertson died in this city on Saturday, December 21, and the funeral services were held on the following Sunday afternoon, at the Carondelet Street church. She was a devoted follower of Christ, an active and useful member of the Mission Street church, and truly a helpmeet indeed to her husband. She was a model wife and mother, for years connected with the management of a flourishing orphan asylum, and always ready to lend a helping hand in every benevolent work. She was cheerful as she was earnest, and beloved in the circle of her friends. She will be deeply regretted by many, but most of all by her venerable husband, who, at upwards of seventy years, is left to complete the journey of his pilgrimage alone. Judge W. B. Egan, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Louisiana, died in Shreveport, La., November 29. Judge Egan was a gentleman of high culture, noble heart, and an incorruptible mind.

Dr. W. H. Watkins, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Jackson, Miss., made us a brief visit last week. He has come out of the epidemic unscathed, and enjoys better health than for years past. We are not sure but that the yellow fever has a beneficial effect to those whom it does not kill.

In a recent trip to a sparsely settled region in the Grosse Tete we met with an extraordinary and exceptional case of longevity. When we reached the residence of Gilbert, Sr., of Bon Repos, we were told that Mr. Alcock Andrew, the aged, was dangerously sick, and a physician had been sent for. On arriving at the house we found the old gentleman sitting up in bed, and he received us with a cordial welcome. He was born in Ireland in the year 1776, and is consequently in the one hundred and third year of his age. He has been a resident of Louisiana for more than seventy years, and has been married three times. He has had a large family of children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren, and has buried a number of them. He has been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church for more than fifty years, and has been a class-leader for many years. He has been a faithful and consistent member of the Church, and has been a blessing to all who have known him. He has been a faithful and consistent member of the Church, and has been a blessing to all who have known him. He has been a faithful and consistent member of the Church, and has been a blessing to all who have known him.

We regret exceedingly that Rev. E. M. Kennedy, D. D., on account of continued ill health, feels compelled to resign his position as editor of the Southern Christian Advocate. We part with him with sadness, and devoutly pray that he may, at no distant day, with health restored, become more in the harness.

We truly and deeply sympathize with Bro. Hawkins, of the Alabama Conference, in the death of his little Annie Foster. The good Shepherd has taken the lamb to himself.

Rev. F. T. Rewson, Rochester, La., reports a fine camp meeting at Silvan, and about twenty-five conversions.

Periodicals.

—We have received from the publisher, F. W. Helmig, Cincinnati, a song and music entitled the Helping Hand. Words and music by Mrs. D. M. Jordan.

—The Southern Christian Advocate, November 14, announces that Bishop Wightman has returned from his Pacific tour in good health. He is now at home in Charleston, and resting from his very fatiguing labors.

—We are awake for December, and a large store of good things. We give the titles of a few of the articles: Some Pet Birds and Their Music; The Child Pilgrims of Bethlehem; Sister A. Gimpse of Some Mountain Beavers; Abou Ben Adhem; The Story of English Literature; The Boy Cricket; Lessons and Illustrations; Little Mr. Nobody; Conversations, etc.

—Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine for November, American edition, the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, 108 Fulton street, New York, has the following articles: The New Optical Illusion; A New Method of Spirit Evolution; Joseph Cowper, parts; Dangerous Seas; The Progress of France; Bismarck and Germany; In Memory of Dora Metcalfe; Queen of Spain; Lucretia Mott; Miscellany.

—Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine for January, 1879, contains 128 articles of various lengths, prose and poetry, and 127 wood cut illustrations. Dr. Deems' sermon on the Bible Verses Spiritualism appears in this number of the Magazine. It will be remembered that Judge Blackmore considered the sermon at the Napoleon will easy.

—The Eclectic Review of Literature, American edition, the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York, has the following table of contents: I. The Copyright Commission; 2. Low's History of the English Navy; 3. Gardiner's Government of Charles the First; 4. Recent Explorations in Palestine; 5. Who Wrote the Annals of Tacitus; 6. The Jesuit Martyrs Canonized; Waitzius 7. Sir Henry Taylor's Collected Works; 8. The Correspondence of Madame de Maintenon and the Affairs of France; 9. Miscellaneous Literature.

—Black's Ladies' Repository

Farm, Garden and Household.

Mammoth Raspberries.

DESCRIPTION OF VARIETIES WHEN TO PLANT.

Each year reveals something new in the fruit world. Some seasons introduce us to only a few new fruits that can be called real acquisitions, while others are peculiarly rich in the bounty that they display in furnishing choice varieties. The past year or two have been golden epochs in the lives of amateur and professional fruit growers, adding to them new fruits of rare excellence in greater abundance than has perhaps ever been the case before. Who can recall any period in their lives when so many colossal and desirable varieties of strawberries have appeared? And when we think of the many beautiful white and red and black grapes that have recently put in an appearance, and the various hardy blackberries that have been introduced, it looks as if there was a bright future of pleasure and feasting in store for the people of our land. Nor should the raspberry by any means be overlooked, as the giant and delicious specimens that some of the new varieties have revealed, stand without rivals in the raspberry family. At this time I cannot describe all of these newer kinds that are growing in my grounds, but will limit myself to such varieties as I am inclined to believe will prove especially adapted to Southern soils.

Henrietta.—This variety has probably produced the largest raspberry that has ever been grown—one specimen last summer having a measurement of one and a half inches in cross diameter, and of figure and a half inches in circumference. Other large berries measured from two and a half to three and a quarter inches around. These larger measurements may seem almost incredible to those who have been accustomed to growing the commoner varieties, but when the unusual strength and size of the plants is taken into consideration—some of the canes growing from eight to ten feet high—then it will be seen that such berries are not beyond the capabilities of the plants to produce. Nor is the large size of the fruit its only merit, as the excellent quality of the berries is well appreciated by all who have tasted of them. The foliage of the plants somewhat resembles the "Belle de Fontenay," but the greater vigor of the canes and larger size of the berries form quite a contrast to that variety.

Reliance.—This variety combines the great productiveness of the Philadelphia of which it is a seedling, with the very desirable quality of greater firmness of berry, making it quite a desirable kind for shipping to market. The berries are of a rich red color, and readily sell at good paying prices. Its fine adaptation to warm soils will probably render it of value at those with where so few red varieties can be grown successfully.

Gregg.—The many good points of this new black raspberry renders it well worthy of a description. The well known "Mammoth Cluster" has hitherto stood without rival among "black caps" for hardiness and productiveness, but now that the Gregg has appeared it can no longer occupy that post of honor. The berries of the Gregg are of good quality, and sufficiently firm to ship to quite distant markets, and will probably prove popular at the South where most of the black caps can be grown.

Turner, sometimes called "Southern Thornless," New Rochelle, Hornet, and Catskill are good red varieties that do well upon warm soils, and are well appreciated by those that grow them. Brandywine, with the capability of the fruit to stand shipment many hundreds of miles is also becoming very popular, and is being very largely planted for the supply of Northern markets. Pride of the Hudson, Early Prolific, Queen of the Market, Florence and Caroline, are new varieties of merit, some red, and others yellow; and, though I have united some of the plants to a number of my correspondents at the South, yet I cannot at present say definitely how they will succeed, until I receive further reports.

In planting the Raspberry at the South the months of November and December should be selected, as the roots then get firmly established by the frequent rains of winter, and thus are enabled to bear the hot suns of summer much better than if planted in the spring. Make the rows six feet apart, and place the plants every two or three feet along in the row. A partial shade is sometimes an advantage. Cultivate or hoe frequently, when the soil is suitable, and by next spring delicious berries, of large size, should be obtained.

R. H. HAINES.

Bay Cottage, Hudson, N. Y.

When a man dies, men inquire what he has left behind; angels inquire what he has sent before him.

Book Farming.

Farmers are generally adverse to what they are pleased to term "book farming;" and for a reason they assert that agricultural works are written mostly by those who know nothing about farming, practically, but invent their theories from what they obtain from books and passing observations. They claim that experimental knowledge is the only sure guide to success, and that treatises upon such subjects, like the razors which Hodge bought are fit for nothing else but to sell; and perhaps the experience of many with agricultural writings goes far to warrant this conclusion, for it had been better if much of such rural writings had never been published. But this does not sustain the broad assertion that a written system of agriculture is a thing impracticable, and the untenableness of such a proposition is so glaring that it becomes a matter of surprise that so many should hold it. We should deem the obliteration of this idea would be a step of signal importance toward the establishment of a system of agriculture that would better develop the resources of our soil, and insure a less variable annual yield.

Think of the folly of a man's affirming that a correct idea of a successful method of operation in the common affairs of life can be communicated otherwise than through the organ of sight, and you will at once perceive the folly of the opinion we are speaking of. It is the indisposition of the rural populace to make their vocation a subject of constant study that leads them to so readily adopt such false opinions; and it is one of the duties of journalism to continually assail such notions as being among the greatest obstacles in the way of scientific development. Once create a demand for the thoughts of the wise and the learned upon subjects pertaining to an agricultural life, and the demand will be supplied; and what one among all the businesses that engage the energies of man more needs their services than agriculture?

It is an impossible to fit a young man for successfully conducting the operations of a plantation, without experience, as for West Point to fit one for commanding an army without it; but many years of failures may be avoided with the consequent dissatisfaction, and progress may be facilitated. The principal portions of a system may be imparted, and comparatively little experience will be needed to fill up the blanks.

G. D. PICKELS.

Pointe a la Hache, La.

LAY HANDS SUDDENLY ON NO MAN.

The Richmond Christian Advocate discourses well and to the point on guarding the door of admission to our Annual Conferences. Under the above heading it says:

A wise rule prevails among our Northern brethren in regard to application for admission into Conference. A committee is appointed who sends for persons and papers, and considers each case thoroughly and deliberately. The mere mention of such a plan suggests its worth.

It is well known that deliberative bodies are slow in considering any matter committed by a committee of experts on the subject. Recommendations by them and the pleadings of advocates go for nothing till the questions to be settled are passed in review by members of the body chosen for that purpose.

There is a certain social pressure sometimes on a Quarterly Conference to recommend the son of a clergyman, a good fellow, "will work to help his father." And the latter is sometimes quite an encumbrance to every appointment in his District. And we know of a case where a paper in the application, as read to the Quarterly Conference, The Annual Conference knew to be a forgery.

It may be said the applicants only admitted on trial, but for their and its peace, when his manifest unfitness for the ministry is developed in the Conference.

The Conference must itself exercise great caution. Before calling any man to orders some one must give him a thorough examination. Spare no pains to know well the stock before you graft. When once it is set and growing it is a matter of difficulty to remove the main body.

If the Conference makes a mistake in receiving an applicant the truth can be easily cured in short time. If the wrong man is admitted it is as vinegar to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes.

The King in his Beauty.

There was a celebrated painter, once, who was making a picture of Jesus, in the midst of his twelve apostles. In arranging the picture he concluded to paint the apostles first, and not begin with their Master till he had finished them. As he went on with the picture, he tried to do the very best he could with each of the apostles. He took the greatest pains with their figures, their positions, their dress and their faces. As he went on with his work he was very well pleased with it. After finishing the apostles he began with the person of Jesus. He got on very well with this, till he came to the head and face of our blessed Lord. Then he laid down his brush and paused. He felt that the face of Jesus ought to be made to appear as much more beautiful than his disciples, as the sun is more glorious than the stars. But how could he do this? He had tried so hard to make the disciples look well, that he felt he had no power left to make their Master appear as much superior to them as he ought to appear. And so he finished the person of Jesus all but the head, and then painted him with a white mantle thrown over his head. He thought that when persons came to look at his painting, they could imagine what the face of Jesus ought to be, better than he could represent it by painting.

And I feel very much as that painter did, when I come to speak about—the person and presence of Jesus in heaven. All who love Jesus here on earth, agree in saying that from what they know of him now, he is "the chief among ten thousand, and altogether lovely." Then how will he appear when our eyes come to "see the King in his beauty," in heaven?—Richard Newton, D. D.

How Women Hide their Money.

The curious ways that women have of hiding their money are shown by the Cincinnati Commercial. "Last January," says: "Mrs. Hansen put $50 in the oven of her stove one night to keep it safe. Next morning, after breakfast, the national debt had been diminished exactly that much. A student of the curious would find it interesting to note the places in which women hide their money. One excellent and frugal dame used to tuck her little savings away under a corner of her carpet. The tiny roll of greenbacks grew fatter and fatter in the course of a year or two, when the day after it counted $250 the house took fire, burned to the ground, and again the national debt was diminished by a little roll of woman's pin-money. There was that other careful lady, too, who used sometimes to hide her diamond rings between two teacups in the kitchen cupboard, sometimes behind certain brick in the cellar, and again under the lining of an old hat. She had divers other places of safety for her jewelry also, the only trouble being that she had so many hiding-places she occasionally forgot where she had put her precious things, and about every three months would fancy she had been robbed, and the house would be turned inside out and all therein be made uncomfortable until the missing gem would be found carefully tucked away in the folds of the bottom towel of the pile in the left hand corner of the lower drawer in the clothes-press at the east end of the drawing room."

I Am.

Whoever conceived a more beautiful illustration of this sublime text than the following by Bishop Beveridge:

"I AM." He doth not say I am their light, their pillar, their strength or tower, but only I am. He sets His hand as it were to a blank, that His people may write under it what they please. That is good for them. As if he should say, are they weak? I am strength. Are they poor? I am all riches. Are they in trouble? I am comfort. Are they sick? I am health. Are they dying? I am life. Have they nothing? I am all things. I am wisdom and power. I am justice and mercy. I am grace and goodness. I am glory, beauty, holiness, eminence, supereminency, perfection, all-sufficiency, eternity! Jehovah, I am. Whatever is amiable in itself, or desirable unto them, that I am. Whatsoever is pure and holy; whatsoever is great and pleasant; whatsoever is good or needful to make men happy, that I am."

The Bottom of the Sea.

Here is an end of all romance among hidden ocean depths. Weeds specially no longer absorb petals in chambers of pearl, cramponnels, or heaped treasures and coal mines long whitening in coral caves. The whole ocean floor is now mapped out for us. The report of the expedition sent out from London in her majesty's ship Challenger has recently been published. Nearly four years were given to the examination of the current and floors of the four great oceans of the world. The Atlantic we are told, if drained would show a vast plain, with a mountain ridge in the middle running parallel with our coast. Another range crosses it from Newfoundland to Ireland—top of which lies unfathomable. The ocean is thus divided into three great basins, no longer "unfathomable depths." The tops of these mountain ranges are two miles below a sailing ship, and the basins, according to Keeley are fifteen miles, which is deep enough for drowning, if not for mystery. The mountains are whitened for thousands of miles by a slimy, creamy smell. The depths are red in color, heaped with volcanic masses. Through the black mathematics water of those abysses moved gigantic abnormal creatures, which never rise to upper currents. There is an old legend coming down to us from the first ages of the world on which these scientific deep-sea soundings throw a curious light. Plato and Solon record the tradition, ancient in their days, of a country in the western seas where flourished the first civilization of mankind, which, by volcanic action, was submerged and lost. The same story is told by the Central Americans, who still celebrate, in the feast of Izcalh, the frightful catastrophe which destroyed this land with its sentely cities. De Bourbourg and other archæologists assert that this lost land extended from Mexico beyond the West Indies. The shape of the plateau discovered by the Challenger corresponds with this theory. What if some keen Yankee should yet dredge out from its mid-Atlantic slime the lost Atlantis?—New York Graphic.

There are duties lying around us undone now—things which men call quixotic and fanciful if anybody suggests that they may be done some day; but as sure as it is desirable that the thing should be done, some day a man will come to do it, a man who say with Jesus, "For this cause was I born and for this cause came I into the world;" and that assurance will make it very easy for Him to disregard the ridicule and stolid criticism that is sure to greet him when he comes and undertakes his task.—P. Brooks.

O how portentous is prosperity! How comely, like a threatening, while it shines.—Young.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.

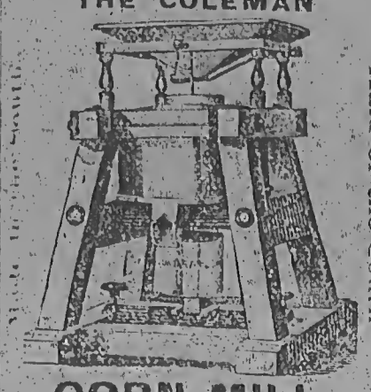
Mills, Engines and Machinery,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WE SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines, Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses and Machinery delivered at railroad depots or river landings.

Portable Engine prices greatly reduced.

THE COLEMAN



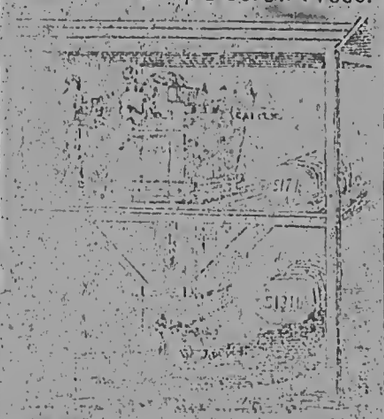
Mill of the South.

CORN MILL.

VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York State to Texas, over thirty-three different competitors during the past twenty-eight years. Awarded the only Gold Medal ever awarded to any Corn Mill in the United States. Simple, strong, durable and cheap, with solid French Burr Stones. Made by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.,
New Orleans, La.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press.



PRICE, Complete $165 00

Wrought Iron Screw 4 inches in diameter, Packing box 8 feet deep. Simple, strong, durable and guaranteed to pack a bale as high as send for circular. Manufactured by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.,
New Orleans, La.

We make also the Eureka Power Press (Simmons' patent).

STRONGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.

INCREASING IN POPULARITY.

Number of miles put up in 1875 1,500
Number of bales tied to 1875 8,000

COST OF

Iron Ties, including freight ..... 6 cts per bale.
Ties and seal, including freight ..... 3 cts per bale.

Canvassers wanted to solicit orders for a commission.

Budlow Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Manufacturers of Wire and Wire Goods.

WIRE RAILING
AND Ornamental Wire Works.

DUFUR & CO., No. 54 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Parterres, etc. Steam Fenders, Counter Guard and Coal Screens Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Counter, etc.

CONVERTIBLE FARM MILL

THE simplest, and most effective Stone Mill on the market. Any farmer can grind as fine meal as any four mill sifted to a coarse feed as he chooses. Every Mill guaranteed. Send for Circular & with Price List.

Verdict pending.

C. B. OGLESBY & Co.,
59 Canal St., Chicago.

BIG GIANT CORN MILL.

Every Man his Own Miller.

The only Mill that will grind the ear with the husk on. The only Mill that will grind Corn and Cob together. The only Mill that will grind Corn and Cob separately. The only Mill that will grind Small Grain. The only Mill that will grind Ear Corn, Small Grain and Meal. Send for Circular.

J. A. FIELD, SON & CO.,
1022 N. Second St., St. Louis.

Broadway Foundry Co.

JOHN J. HOLLIDAY,

SUPERINTENDENT.

313 Carr Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Manufacturers of Stationary and Portable

Steam Engines and Boilers

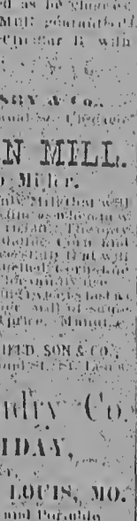
SAW AND CIRCULAR SAW MILLS,

Saw and Grist Mill Machinery, Rolling Mill and Blast Furnace Castings, Wrought Shafting and House Work. PARKER'S & JOHNSON'S WATER WHEELS. Tobacco and Lard Presses, Cottonseed Tobacco Presses, Lard Kettles Iron and Brass CASTINGS of every description also Quartz Mills and Smelting Furnaces of most improved descriptions.

HAVE PRICE SHEET, ALL THE WHEEL & PULLEY PATTERNS OF GANT, MITCHELL & CO.

J. B. DAVIES, Patent Louisville, Mechanical Man't.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.



A BEAUTIFUL LITTLE and EASY-SELLING ARTICLE

Wanted by every Farmer, Hunter, Trapper, Fisherman, Sportsman, and Every Family.

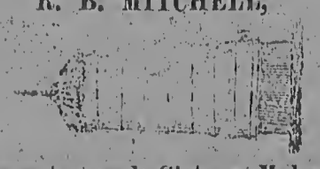
The most perfect scale ever invented. Is graduated from 2 oz. to 16 lbs; is about the size of a man's forefinger; weighs only 2 oz., and can be carried in the pocket without inconvenience. Thus being always ready to detect an over-charge and it prevents wrong. The novelty, beauty and usefulness of the article is sure to sell it. By an ingenious contrivance this little weigher is so arranged that by its sliding shell it can be so adjusted as to give the exact weight of anything weighed, without subtracting the weight of the receptacle in which the matter is weighed, an advantage possessed by no other scale. It is now ready, and sure to sell. Each scale is heavily nickel-plated, and will be sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents.

GEORGE BETTS,
875 Broadway, New York.
Sole proprietor and manufacturer.

AGENTS WANTED.

MISCELLANEOUS.

R. B. MITCHELL,



Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

183 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

Pontchartrain Cheap Store.

J. A. LACROIX,

CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.

LADIES', GENTS', MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S

BOOTS AND SHOES

OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.

Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my Stock before purchasing elsewhere.

MY MOTTO—"Quick Sales and Small Profits."

Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

FOUNDED JULY 4, 1808.

OLDEST SHOT TOWER IN AMERICA.

THOS. W. SPARKS,

Patent American Chilled Shot.

Standard Drop and Buck Shot

AND BAR LEAD MANUFACTURER,

149 WALNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA.

F. A. KRUIN, Agent,
NEW ORLEANS.

G. B. MILLER & CO., Agents,
GALVESTON.

Country Orders for Millinery AND FANCY GOODS.

Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have their orders filled promptly, stating the price and style to suit ladies their desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HARDON,
Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans.
Second door above Canal street.

PERFORATED

VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,

For use in Churches and Lodges, are coming into general use on account of their Perfect Ventilation, Coolness, and Durability.

No. 115.

Circulars describing Patent Adjustable Seats will be sent on application.

CARDNER & CO.,
Patentees and Manufacturers,
370 E. 3d St., NEW YORK.

THE STANDARD
CHROMATIC TUNING
OR PITCH-PIPE.

Gives the ... and any tone, Natural, Sharp or Flat. Adjusted to the desired pitch by means of a screw. Never gets out of order. FINE NICKEL PLATED. No Leaden Instrument Player or Singer Should be Without one.

RETAILED AT $5.00.

Sent to any address upon receipt of price.

DANIEL D. READ & CO.,
347 BROADWAY, N. Y.,
Inventors and Manufacturers.
Sold by all Music Dealers.

NO MORE RHEUMATISM OR GOUT

ACUTE OR CHRONIC

SALICYLICA

SURE CURE.

Manufactured by

European Salicylic Medicine Co.

OF PARIS AND LEIPZIG.

RELIEVES IMMEDIATELY.

CURES PERMANENTLY.

Now exclusively used by all celebrated Doctors of Europe and America, and thoroughly introduced throughout the United States, miraculous cures having been made in nearly every city and State.

Price, $1.00 a box; 6 boxes for 5.00.

Orders filled by mail, or ask your Druggist for it.

WASHBURNE & CO.,
Sole Agents,
23 Cliff street, New York.

THE MARVELOUS PEN! NO INK Required! Writes with WATER Pen of aggregation and holder, Nassau street, New York. J. T. PHILLIPS & SON, 136 for J. T. Phillips & Son, West Grove, Chester Co., Pa.

ROSES

AGENTS WANTED.

AGENTS WANTED!

ACTIVE AGENTS in every county for our fine illustrated publications. This is a rare opportunity for profitable employment. Extra inducements to both subscribers and agents. AGENTS RUN NO RISK. For 11 page circulars, giving terms and full particulars, address,

C. P. A. L. RESTEIN,
1102 Chestnut st., Philadelphia, Pa.

William Cullen Bryant's

LATEST AND GREATEST WORK.

Outselling all others combined. Richly Illustrated. Has the NEW BRYANT BIOGRAPHY and New Steel Portrait. Sold only by subscription. AGENTS WANTED—A gentleman or lady of tact and ability with or without business experience. FORDS, HOWARD & HULBERT, New York.

AGENTS WANTED FOR THE

PICTORIAL

History of the World.

It contains 672 fine historical engravings and 784 large double column pages, and is the most complete History of the World ever published. Sells at sight. Send for specimen pages and extra terms to Agents, and see why it sells faster than any other book. Address

NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., Philadelphia, Pa.

AGENTS WANTED FOR

LITERATURE, ART & SONG.

Acknowledged the highest, finest and most elaborate Book ever issued from the American press. Abounding Poetry, Historic Pictures, Anecdotes and Music. Magnificently Illustrated, with over 100 Engravings. A beautiful Steel Engraving presented gratis to every Subscriber. This work should be in every family circle. AGENTS.—This is the best work for Agents in the Holidays. Extra inducements to energetic Agents. Write at once for terms and territory. J. H. CHAMBERS & CO., St. Louis, Mo., and Atlanta, Ga.

NOW READY!

The Grand Achievements of

STANLEY Only $2.75.

By Hon. J. T. Headley, the Prince of Descriptive Writers. A full history of his explorations in Africa, and marvelous journey down the Congo. A new exciting book, bristling with wild adventure and thrilling scenes. Grandly illustrated with 11 full page engravings. Agents are selling it like wildfire. They all say it sells easily. Will sell 10 times as many as any other book. Now is your time. Don't wait. Send for circulars, extra terms, and full particulars. Beware of miserable counterfeits, cheaply got up, and filled with poor paper and poor engravings. Don't be deceived by them. Buy only the genuine. Sold only by subscription. Address, for circulars, etc.,

CAUTION

J. C. McCURDY & CO., Pubs.,
NO. D. THOMPSON & CO., Pubs.,
ST. LOUIS, MO. PHILADELPHIA, PA.

AGENTS WANTED.

$10 to $25 A DAY at home by Agents. Outfit and Chromo Cards, 25 samples, worth $5, sent postpaid for 50 cents. Illustrated Catalogue free. J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston, Mass.

AGENTS wanted to sell THE CELEBRATED PUBLICATIONS including Life and Work of Murphy and Reynolds, with History of the movement to date. Splendid terms. Full particulars free. GUARANTEE PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

HOW TO BE AGENTS Wanted. $30 to $125 a Month. YOUR OWN An Encyclopedia of Law and Forms. LAWYER For Business Men, Farmers, Property Owners, Mechanics, every one; every business saves many times cost. Selling fast. Send for circular and terms. P. W. ZIEGLER & CO., 822 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa.

MAKE $100

Acting as Our Salesman,

We are desirous of engaging a few more AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Don't hesitate on this regard to business. If not suited you can return goods. Address, with stamp, for particulars,

C. W. FOSTER & CO.,
275 AND 283 E. MADISON ST.,
Chicago, Illinois.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Holiday Music Books!

CHRISTMAS CAROLS.

Christmas Chimes

Christmas Voices

Christmas Carols

Church Offering

Noel

The Golden Chain

The School Song Book

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.
C. H. DITSON & CO.,
711 Broadway, N. Y.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.

PLASTIC JOINT

IRON ROOFING.

FIRE, WATER AND WIND PROOF.

Durable, Cheap, easily applied to old roof. Provision for expansion and contraction. In practical use sixteen years. Boxed for shipment to any part of the world. Address for Circular, CALDWELL & CO., Cincinnati, O.

WARNER BRO'S CORSETS

received the Highest Medal at the recent PARIS EXPOSITION, over all American competitors. They are the FLEXIBLE HIP CORSET (no Bones) fits with as close ease, and is guaranteed not to break down over the hips. Their HEALTH CORSET, with its improved bust, is more favorable to health than ever. Their NURSING CORSET is the delight of every mother.

For sale by all leading merchants.

WARNER BRO'S, 351 Broadway, N. Y.

Incomparably the Best and Cheapest Windmill. Protected by two patents, twenty-Eight First Premiums. Lasts ten times as long and runs a day more with same power and lighter winds, is more automatic, and pumps more water than any other windmill ever before made. Requires no attention or repairing, and running expenses. It has already withstood the hurricanes of the West, while other mills that stood near them have been destroyed. Is rapidly superseding others. Send for circulars and testimonials from the highest Authorities.

Kewanee Manuf'g Co., Patentees,
Office 24 Broadway, New York.

N. B.—Local Agents and Canvassers Agents wanted in all parts of the World.

SCIENTIFIC.

THE SUN MADE OF METAL.—In a recent article in The Nineteenth Century, by Mr. J. Norman Lockyer, the writer very strongly objects to Dr. Draper's "Discovery of oxygen in the sun." Mr. Lockyer says he has gone carefully over the whole ground and finds (1) that the photograph on which Dr. Draper bases the discovery is not one competent to settle such an important question; (2) that he does not find the coincidences between bright solar lines and oxygen lines in the part of the spectrum with which he is most familiar; and (3) that comparing Dr. Draper's photograph with the fine photograph of the spectrum obtained by Mr. Rutherford, he "fails to find any true bright line in the sun whatever coincident with any line of oxygen whatever." Mr. Lockyer sums up the evidence as to the sun's composition in these words: "So far as our unaided knowledge goes, the sun is chiefly made of metal, and on this account is strangely different from the crust of our earth, in which the metals are in a large minority."

BANK OF ENGLAND NOTE PAPER.—Since the existence of the Bank of England, the paper for its notes has been made by the Portal family, who also suggested and first introduced the Edict of Nantes, bringing with him the art of making fine white and dyeing scarlet, was, up to that time, unknown in England. Except by burglary, against which precautions are taken, it is absolutely impossible to obtain a scrap of the beautifully water-marked paper produced at that mill on the test which gull William Cobbett denounced as the foundation of England's "fictitious prosperity." Every piece of bank note paper is registered before it is removed from the frame, an account is kept by a locked dial, and every damaged note is accounted for before being ground up again into pulp. Mr. Portal's peppermill, of which it is needless to say he is very proud, is the most symmetrical of industrial institutions.

SILK, which has rotted can be rejuvenated by brushing with a paste composed of half an ounce of isinglass, half an ounce of Castile soap, one ounce whiting, and water sufficient to form a paste. The silk should first be washed with a solution of Salts of sorrel, one drachm to a pint of water. To restore steel to its original color a good method is to paint it with diluted nitric acid, to which some oil has been added. The operation must be omitted in a close vessel to prevent its burning, and should be frequently stirred. It is also said that dipping the steel for a minute in common soda ley heated in an iron pot will preserve it from rusting.

THE GENUINE
DR. C. McLANE'S
WORM SPECIFIC,
VERMIFUGE.
SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.
DR. C. McLANE'S
LIVER PILLS
WILL AND FEVER
BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.
DR. C. McLANE'S
LIVER PILLS

EDUCATIONAL.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.

"THE price and quality of board and tuition compares favorably with other colleges, while the peculiar constitution of the college and the influence of its surroundings render it in my judgment the very best and safest place for boys and young men, at a certain stage of culture, which exists in the Methodist Church South."—Rev. R. M. Grace, A. M., of Alabama.

Address J. H. BRUNNER, D. D.,
Hiwassee College, Tenn.

WANTED—A SITUATION, BY A YOUNG lady, in a school or private family. She is capable of teaching French, Spanish, Latin, Mathematics (through Trigonometry), and all the English Branches of Study; besides Vocal and Instrumental Piano Music.

Refers to Rev. John S. Mathews, Rev. Robt. J. Harp, Judge F. F. Marcel, Mr. James B. Hendrick, New Orleans, La.; Dr. J. J. Pelham, La Grange, Tenn. Address,

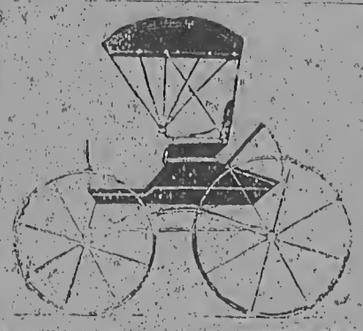
LADY TEACHER,
Care Robert J. Harp.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. C. J. DICKHAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
230 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
No. 214 CARONDELET STREET
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
New Orleans, La.

CARRIAGES, WAGONS, ETC.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOKER.
J. A. LUM & CO.,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,
114 Gravier and 13 Union Street.
☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

EDSON SON. ARTHUR L. EDSON.
EDSON & SON,
Manufacturers of
Carriages and Buggies,
LIGHT AND HEAVY SPRING WAGONS.
715 ST. LOUIS, MO.
Repairing Promptly Done and all kinds of Spring Work constantly on hand or made to order.

FIRST PREMIUM AT ST LOUIS FOR 1878
JOHN KIMPEL,
Manufacturer of
CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES,
PLAIN AND FANCY WORK.
ST. LOUIS, MO.
Repairing Promptly and all kinds of Spring Work.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,
IN
CARRIAGE, WAGON
AND
CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,
Also Manufacturers of
Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,
And Retail Dealers in Rubber.
65 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.
Between Common and Gravier sts.
NEW ORLEANS

Globe Wagon Manufactory
D. T. SHEAMON & CO.,
Manufacturers of
Wagons, Carts Drays
MADE TO ORDER.
Repairing Done Promptly and Neatly.
ST. LOUIS, MO.

GEO. PURVES,
Sash, Blind and Door
STEAM FACTORY,
AND
LUMBER YARD
Corner St. Charles and Fifth Streets,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,
55 ST. CHARLES STREET
NEW ORLEANS.
ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN
IN ALL KINDS.
Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines and every desirable article for the Navy, wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. A. H. Kasper's Breech and Muzzle Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of Ammunition and Sporting Goods. Address Postoffice Box 1502.

PIANOS.

PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the best and most satisfactory manner, at
Mr. Burchardt's Manufactory,
534 MAGAZINE STREET 534
Between Jackson and Louisiana Sts.

WHEELER & PEPPER (successors to Thrasher & Wheeler and Pepper & Hewes), 15 & 17 CANAL ST., opposite the City Hotel.
CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS
FOR MEN AND BOYS.
We call the attention of the country to the stock of our store. We keep a full line of Gents' Furnishing Goods, and in the Clothing department we manufacture to order. Our prices will be found as low as the lowest.

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 12 CANAL STREET.
CARPETINGS Wilton, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three-Ply, Ingrain, Etc.
FLOOR OIL CLOTH in all widths.
MATTINGS, Canton, White, Check, Fancy, Etc.
WINDOW SHADES, Linen and Paper.
FURNITURE and UPHOLSTERY GOODS in great variety.
REMNANTS of all kinds, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Mattings, Etc., at Reduced Prices.
A. BRUCE & CO.

GOODWYN'S PARKER'S YEAST POWDER, a positive cure for Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Headache, Biliousness, and all diseases arising from Acidity, and is warranted to be the best article of the kind in the market for raising bread. Send for circular and prices.
P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer,
No. 20 Customhouse Street, New Orleans, La.

GOLD! Any worker can make $5 a day at home. Costly outfit free. Address Taue & Co., Augusta, Maine.

BUSINESS CARDS.

G. G. GORDIN.
GORDIN & CO.,
COTTON FACTORS
AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,
NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!
M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.
Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed.... $4 00
Home-Made Shoes, screwed...$3 to $3 50
City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gents', Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

W. W. CARRE,
HORACE U. BEACH, Manager,
LUMBER YARD,
310 DELORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.
Cajuns and Dressed Lumber a specialty.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,
DEALERS IN
PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND
CANNEL COAL,
FOR FAMILY USE. Office—No. 21 Carondelet street. Landing—Dry Levee, foot of esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to the quality of orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.
CHAS. O. LANGENBECKER, M. D.,
Successor to H. Stumpf,
PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,
Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans,
Dealer in the Choicest and French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. H. HUSSMAN,
DEALER IN
PITTSBURG COAL,
Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,
NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

J. A. ROTHO,
COMMISSION MERCHANT,
147 DECATUR ST., near Old Levee, New Orleans
P. O. Lock Box 477.
Will attend to the Sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country trade solicited.

D. W. BOTHICK,
UNDERTAKER,
271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.
Embalming a Specialty. Hearses fully equipped. Carriages and Coaches for hire.

AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY,
We are selling our WATCHES at the low cash factory prices. Send for price list.
Gold Watches at $20 and upwards.
Silver Watches at $8 and upwards.
All Watches warranted.
AMERICAN WATCH COMPANY,
No. 1 Maiden Lane, New York.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,
COLORED SATINS,
EVENING SILKS VELVETS,
ETC., ETC., ETC.,
WE ARE PREPARED to show a full complete assortment of the above goods which we offer at INTERNATIONAL PRICES.
D. H. HOLMES,
133 CANAL AND 130 BOURBON STREET,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SAM. HENDERSON,
Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,
12 CARONDELET STREET, New Orleans.
Liberal cash advances made on consignments at low rates.

The Stewart Stove
WITH LATEST IMPROVEMENTS,
Is the LEADING MOVE OF THE AGE
J. H. COMPTON,
Cor. Chartres Street.

M. H. APPLEGATE,
PLUMBER,
GAS AND STEAM
Contracts Made and Bids Given
For Putting up Gas Machines and Pipe Lines in Parishes of New Orleans, La.
Agent for the Celebrated Hydraulic Ram.

WAS-BURN'S
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART
GALLERY,
120 CANAL ST. AND ENTRANCE PLACE.
☞ The best Photographic place of the kind in the City.
PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in Crayon, Pastel or Water Colors by other of Continental Artists.
Copying and Enlarging Pictures a specialty.
Remember WAS-BURN'S NEW GALLERY.

OPERA AND FIELD GLASSES.
R. & J. BECK,
Manufacturing Opticians,
924 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.
Would call especial attention to their unrivaled stock of Microscopes, Telescopes, Opera, Field and Marine Glasses, Spectacles, Eye Glasses, Barometers, Thermometers, Mathematical Instruments, and Materials of the United States Manufacture.
DIRECTLY REDUCED PRICES.
Send three 3-cent stamps for our splendidly illustrated and priced catalogue of 176 pages.
Mention this paper.

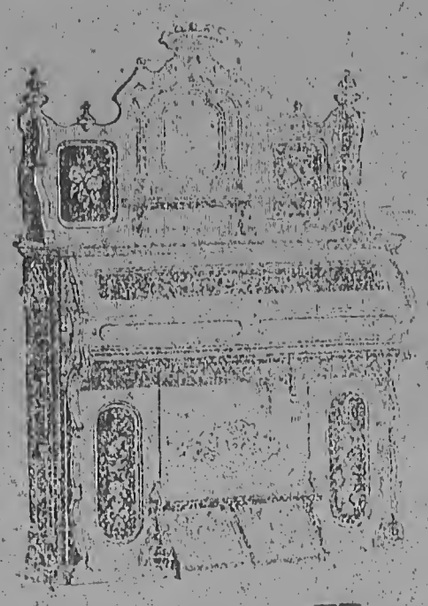
Established in St. Louis in 1858.
R. L. ROSEBROUGH SONS,
Marble Works,
No. 1118 BROADWAY,
Between Chestnut and Cass Avenues,
ST. LOUIS, MO.

HEATH, PIPPEY & GARA,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,
UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Moldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.
☞ Frames made to order—especially.
No. 60 Canal Street New Orleans

EVERY MAN THE $3 Press Prints its own CARD, CIRCULAR & BILL HEADS. Larger sizes for business, pleasure, young or old. Catalogue of Presses, Type, Etc., for 2 stamps. KELSEY & Co. PRINTER Meriden, Conn.

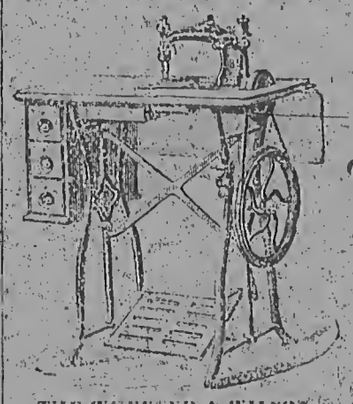
MISCELLANEOUS.

PHILIP WERLEIN.



This Cut Represents
MASON & HAMLIN'S
$190 ORGAN,
REDUCED TO $135,
on easy payments, $150 cash, and $15 to 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18, 21, 24 and 27 months. Freight from Boston to be added.
$90 Organ Reduced to $72.
$5 QUARTERLY.
Very highly Improved Piano of J. P. Hale & Co., with Carved Legs and Lyre, reduced to $225, on easy payments of $10 cash, and $10 a month thereafter.
PHILIP WERLEIN,
139 CANAL STREET,
Wholesale and Retail Dealer in
CHICKERING & SONS PIANOS,
HAINES BROS. PIANOS,
FALCONER PIANOS,
HARDMAN'S PIANOS,
ORGANS,
MASON & HAMLIN'S,
ESTEY & CO'S,
NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO'S
☞ Liberal discount for cash.
Persons at a distance may order and remit by express, or have goods sent C. O. D. subject to examination, on receiving twenty per cent. of purchase money. If not found satisfactory on examination, they may be returned at my expense.
PHILIP WERLEIN,
139 Canal Street, New Orleans.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8
Sewing Machine!
GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!
Great Reduction for Cash.

The New Machine Reduced to	$60.
" "	50.
" "	45.
" "	40.
" "	35.
" "	30.

Every Machine furnished with a full set of attachments.
THE WHEELER & WILSON
Have been in use for periods of more than Twenty Five Years, and number of 1,500,000 are the Family Favorite and Best Machines of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most popular Sewing Machine in the world.
It has a new Wheel Motion.
It has a new Automatic Tension.
It has a new Shuttle.
It has a new Bobbin Winder.
It has a new Stitch Regulator.
It has a new Take-up.
It has a new Needle Bar.
It has a new Presser Foot.
It has a new Needle.
It has a new Thread Guide.
It has a new Arrangement for Winding the Thread.
It has a new Stitch Adjustment.
It has a new Tension Adjustment.
It has a new Tension Release.
It has a new Thread Cutter.
It has a new Shuttle.
It has a new Bobbin.
It has a new Feed.
It has a new Feed Adjustment.
It has a new Stitch Indicator.
It has a new Arrangement for Winding the Bobbin while Sewing.
It has a new Arrangement for Winding the Bobbin without Running the Machine.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Spool of Thread.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Bobbin.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Needle.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Shuttle.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Feed.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Presser Foot.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Take-up.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Thread Guide.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Thread Cutter.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Tension.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Tension Release.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Stitch Regulator.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Stitch Indicator.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Feed Adjustment.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Stitch Adjustment.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Bobbin Winder.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Shuttle Bobbin.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Shuttle Thread.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Shuttle Tension.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Shuttle Feed.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Shuttle Stitch Regulator.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Shuttle Stitch Indicator.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Shuttle Feed Adjustment.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Shuttle Stitch Adjustment.
It has a new Arrangement for Holding the Shuttle

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Parties in the country should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling wholesale orders different rates must be paid.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

ARTICLES	FROM	TO
Cotton scrapers
Cotton sweeps
Chilli mills, plain, and shovels
Chilli mills, riding and walking
Shovels and spades
Axes
Shovel plows
Half do. with cutters
Double-shovel do. do.
Straddle corn do.
Corn mills, 2 sizes
R. J. West's corn mills
Turning-plows and sea planter
Cotton planter
Wagons, Carts, Etc.:
Wagon, two horse
Wagon, four horse
Wagon, one horse, thimble skein
Wagon, four horse
Cane wagon
Ox wagon
Ox carts complete
Cane cart
Tongue cart, complete
Plantation cart
Bagasse cart
Iron, ₱ lb.:
Hoops
Rods
Hoops

BUILDING MATERIAL.

Bricks, ₱ M.:
Lake	9 00	11 00
Country	—	—
English grey
Lime, ₱ bbl.:
Western
Cement
Plaster Paris
Lumber, ₱ 1,000 feet:
Flooring, dressed	15 00	25 00
Flooring, rough	15 00	18 00
Ceiling, dressed	14 00	25 00
Weatherboards, dressed	14 00
Weatherboards, rough	—	14 00
Scantling	14 00	18 —
Shingles, ₱ M	2 50	3 50
Nails, best brands	8 50	— —
Smaller sizes proportionately higher	— —	— —
Glass, ₱ box of 50 feet:
French, 8 by 10	— —	2 50
French, 10 by 12	3 25	4 00
French, 10 by 14 to 16 by 20	3 50	4 25
French, 14 by 18 feet by 24	4 25	4 75
White Lead, best, ₱ lb.
Paris Green, ₱ lb.
Pat. Dryer, ₱ lb.
Whiting, ₱ lb.
Putty, ₱ bbl.
Linseed Oil, ₱ gal.

SASH, BLINDS AND DOORS.

Window Sash, ₱ pair:
Size of Glass. Quality.	Common.	Blinds.
8x10
10x12
10x16
Sash Doors:	Single.	Double.
3 feet x 7 feet
3 feet 6 x 7 feet
3 feet 6 x 7 feet 6 inches
Panel Doors:
3½ and 1¾ inch thick
2¼ and 1¾ inch thick
3½ and 1¾ inch Gothic
4½—4 inch and 1¾ inch thick

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₱ lb.:
Western
New York, equal to cream
Coffee, ₱ lb.:
Rio, fair
Rio, good
Rio, prime
Candles, ₱ lb.:
Star, best brands	12	13
Corn Meal, ₱ bbl.:
Best K D	2 05	2 10
Cheese, ₱ lb.:
Factory
N. Y. cream and English dairy	11	12
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1 in kits
Mackerel, extra No. 1 in kits
Sardines, quarter boxes
Flour, ₱ bbl.:
Superfine
XX
XXX
Choice XXX
Choice family
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₱ lb.
Dried peaches, ₱ lb.
Raisins, ₱ quarter box
Raisins, ₱ half box
Raisins, ₱ whole box
Bananas, ₱ bunch
Crackers, ₱ lb.:
Soda
Butter
Sugar
Gingersnaps
Oils:
Castile cases, best
Castile in barrels, best
Linseed in cases
Linseed in barrels
Lard, in barrels, best
Molasses, in barrels:
Common
Fair
Prime to choice
Golden and Reboul syrups
Hogsheads, 5 and 6 cents per gallon.
Rice, Louisiana, ₱ lb.:
No. 2
Ordinary
Fair
Prime to choice
Soap, in boxes, ₱ lb.:
XXX Palm
Keller's Marseilles
Keller's olive
Starch, ₱ lb.
Salt, in sacks:
Fine
Coarse
Sugar:
Dried fair
Prime
Choice
Yellow clarified
White clarified
Crushed
Powdered
Spices, ₱ lb.:
Allspice
Pepper
Cloves
Cinnamon
Tea, ₱ lb.:
Black Japan
Green imperial
Tobacco, manufactured, ₱ lb.:
Chewing common
Chewing fair
Chewing prime
Chewing choice
Smoking

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₱ bushel:
Yellow
White
Mixed
Oats, ₱ bushel:
St. Louis
Texas
Georgia
Bran, choice, ₱ 100 lbs
Hay, ₱ 100:
Prime
Ordinary
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill
Mixed
Clay

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₱ lb.:
Breakfast
Shoulders
Sides, clear rib
Sides, clear
Hams, sugar cured
Mess Pork, ₱ bbl
Dry Salted Meat:
Shoulders
Lard, ₱ lb.:
Choice, in kegs and pails
Choice, in tierces and barrels

ESCULENTS.

Potatoes, ₱ bbl
Onions, ₱ bbl
Apples, ₱ bbl
Cabbages, ₱ 100

WOOL.

Burry
Louisiana, clear
Lake, clear

BALING STUFFS.

Bagging:
India
Jute
Ties, Arrow best, per bundle, 20 lbs and over less Twine, hemp

POULTRY AND GAME.

Poultry, ₱ dozen:
Old chickens
Young
Ducks
Geese
Turkeys
Eggs, ₱ dozen:
Western Louisiana

COMMERCIAL.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
New Orleans, Wednesday, Dec. 5, 1878.

COTTON.

The following report of the cotton market is taken from the Democrat:

Under the influence of a better spinning demand, a fair amount of business was done during the week, and prices were fully sustained. Sales reached 8,500 bales.

The [illegible] being of the following character:

	Middling	Low Middling
Saturday
Monday
Tuesday
Wednesday
Thursday
Friday

COTTON STATEMENT.

Total stock
Received this day
Received this week
Received this day last year
Total receipts this year
Total receipts same time last year
Exported this day
Exported this week
Total exports this year
Total exports same time last year
Stock this day
Stock this day last year

The exports this day were [illegible] to Liverpool [illegible] to Havre, [illegible] to Bremen, [illegible]

Net receipts since Saturday
Net receipts since 1st inst.
Net receipts same time last year
Net receipts since September 1
Net receipts same time last year
Net receipts since September 1
Net receipts same time last year

COTTON ON SHIPBOARD.

The shipments of cotton, as reported at the Exchange, is as follows:

Liverpool
Havre
Bremen
Mexico
Spain
Mediterranean
Coastwise
Total

This, taken from the [illegible] as stated at the Exchange, [illegible] presses 111,348 bales.

The receipts at all ports, compiled as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, show totals of [illegible] yesterday to noon to-day [illegible] varies against [illegible] on hand to-day 27,170 last year and [illegible] year before.

MOVEMENT AT PORTS.

The movement at ports for four days, up to twelve M. to-day, is given below:

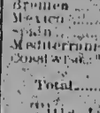
	Received	Exported	Stock
New Orleans
Galveston
Mobile
Savannah, &c.
Charleston
Wilmington
Norfolk
Baltimore
New York
Boston
Philadelphia
All other ports
Total

Receipts at ports since September 1
Receipts same time last year
Receipts same time year before

EXPORTS.

The consolidated report for four days gives exports to

	G. B.	France	Cont.	Stock
This week
Last week
This week last year



BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER,
A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

There is no one particular weak spot and the common way of applying the Plaster is not very easy, superior to all other external remedies in relieving Rheumatism and the several internal complaints. It contains new medicinal elements which, in combination with rubber, possess the most extraordinary power to relieve, strengthen and cure. Its curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For Colds, Coughs, Rheumatism, Pleurisy, Weak Back, Kidneys, Shoulders and Chest, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Pains and Aches, Female Weaknesses, Congestion of the Lungs, Spinal Complaints and Diseases of the Kidneys, Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster is unequaled. Sold by all druggists. Price, 25 cents. Send our pamphlet (mailed free) to Benson, Capcine & Johnson, 21, Platt street, New York.

A Fearful Famine.

A correspondent of the New York Evening Post, writing from Rio de Janeiro, sends to that paper an extended account of a terrible famine, accompanying which have been appalling mortality in the Provinces of Parahy, Ceara, Rio Grande do Norte, Parnahyba, Pernambuco, Alagoas, Sergipe, and part of the Province of Bahia. This territory thus visited, which is equal in extent to New England, the Middle Atlantic States, West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana combined, has been without rain since July, 1876. The brooks, springs and wells long ago dried up. Even the river beds have now become dusty channels. The cattle, of which they were vast herds, have died of thirst. The people perishing for want of food and water, have fled from their homes, many of them dying—sometimes whole families together—before reaching a place of refuge. Those who have escaped have overcrowded the cities of refuge so greatly as, in some cases, multiply the population by five, and they are now herded together in the open streets, living like swine upon scanty rations issued by the government and upon such refuse as they can gather in the gutters. Well nigh naked and utterly debased by their sufferings, they live in bestial immorality, not scrupling even to resort to cannibalism in some instances, while small-pox, yellow fever, dysentery and some other diseases are sweeping them away by thousands. As if to leave no element of wretchedness out of the account, they are the victims of the most brutal maltreatment at the hands of the police and soldiery, and worse still at the hands of vile speculators, who make traffic of these wretches' woes. The picture which the correspondent presents is scarcely matched in its grimness even by the old records of the direful plague and history is the more distressing by reason of the fact that this people, with peaceful husbandmen and planters, cultivators of the soil, whose choice have ever made desolate by a cause which could neither be foreseen nor provided against. Their woes are not those of men who have brought them on themselves by crime, but those of an industrious, agricultural people, afflicted first with drought, then with famine, then with pestilence, and finally with that loss of moral sense which brutalizes men into criminals without choice of their wills. Until now this terrible story has not been told in this country; we have known only that in parts of Brazil the rainy season has failed, but we have not hitherto dreamed that such a famine as this reflected was in store for it.—N. Y. Observer.

Change of Mississippi Conference.

Dear Bro Lindsay—At the request of several Presiding Elders, and the consent of our friends in Meridian, the place of holding the session of the Mississippi Conference is changed, I will appoint it to meet December 18.

R. PAIGE.

ABERDEEN, Miss., Nov. 18, 1878.

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

TAKE NOTICE.

We [illegible] to the [illegible] Conference to Meet, with the following [illegible] M. & M. R. R. & S. R. R.'s A. & W. P. R. R. and Western R. R. of Alabama to Montgomery and Eufaula R. R. to Eufaula [illegible] Montgomery and Eufaula R. R. from Montgomery to Mobile, with the following railroads to Selma: Mobile and Ohio R. R. from Mobile to Meridian, Vicksburg, Shreveport and Texas railroad to Marshall, Texas, and Texas and Pacific railroad from Marshall to Longview, and Texas and New Orleans railroad from Longview to Houston, Texas, [illegible] Houston to Galveston, Texas, [illegible] Galveston to New Orleans, [illegible] New Orleans to Jackson, Miss., [illegible] Jackson to Vicksburg, [illegible] Vicksburg to Delta, [illegible] Delta to Shreveport, [illegible] Shreveport to Marshall, [illegible] Marshall to Longview, [illegible] Longview to Houston, [illegible] Houston to Galveston

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1878. NO. 50.

THE PASTOR'S WELCOME.

Under the skies of a far-off land,
Shown by the light of centuries dim,
We see the form of the Master stand,
And the twelve disciples that followed Him.
We seem to hear his words sublime
Echoed down through the aisles of time:
"Go ye all lands beneath the sun,
And preach my gospel to every one."

On every wild and distant shore,
In every clime the heavens span,
Behold the world is journeyed o'er
By messengers of God to man.
No plain so far, no peak so bare,
It has not heard the good man's prayer.
No soul so lossed nit being's strand
It may not find his helping hand.

Then welcome man of God, to-day,
Welcome thy helping hand and eye,
To teach our erring feet the way,
To guide us to the better choice.
Welcome to hearts and homes of all,
To pledges of joy, to sorrow's call,
To tireless toil, to lessened care,
To children's love, to parent's prayer.

—Methodist Recorder.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The Vice President announced as the special committee in regard to the yellow fever investigation, authorized by the resolution of Mr. Harris, adopted yesterday, Messrs. Harris, Mathews, Lamar, Paddock, Conover, Garland and Eustis.

COLUMBIA, Dec. 7.—There is no truth in the report circulated that Gov. Hampton's leg was to be amputated to-day. He is getting along comfortably and rested well last night. His condition has remained unchanged during the last few days.

MERIDIAN, Miss., Dec. 7.—The fire at Macon, Miss., Thursday night, destroyed the entire business portion of the town, including the sun office, Beacon office, Odd Fellows' Hall, and old Masonic Hall. Loss $250,000; insurance $100,000.

MEMPHIS, Dec. 7.—The Citizens' Relief Committee wound up their affairs to-day, distributed the balance on hand, $725, pro rata among four orphan asylums in this city.

By order Quartermaster General Meigs, upon the advice of the Surgeon General, the 1500 tents shipped to Memphis during the yellow fever epidemic will be burned.

FOREIGN.

LAHORE, Dec. 5.—Gen. Roberts has gained a complete victory over the Ameer's forces, capturing Pelwar and Katal and all the Afghan cannon. The enemy's loss is heavy. British loss 89 killed and wounded. Capt. Kelso, of the artillery, and Capt. Anderson, of the pioneers, were killed.

BERLIN, Dec. 5.—The Emperor and Empress reached the palace in this city to-day. The route from the railway station was densely crowded with people, who gave them an enthusiastic reception. The trades societies and public bodies generally paraded past the palace. Their Majesties responded by appearing on the balconies of the palace, amid the acclamations of the multitude.

PANAMA, Dec. 6.—A private telegram, dated Lima, November 16, announces the assassination of Don Manuel Pardo, formerly President of Peru, and lastly President of the Senate, as he was entering the Senate. The event was not altogether unexpected. During his administration he was particularly severe on those who, from any cause fell under his displeasure.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 7.—The new Grand Vizier, Khireddin, has drafted a law declaring Ministerial responsibility. In reply to congratulations of the American Patriarch, he declared equal justice should be done all Ottoman subjects, and the Government posts filled without reference to religious differences. In conclusion he said: "We all pray to the same God—we in mosques, you in churches."

The rumor of a new political treaty between England and Turkey originated in the submission to the Porte, by Minister Layard, of a detailed statement of the chief points in the provisorily adopted reforms.

Rumors are current that the fall of the late Ministry was caused by the discovery of a conspiracy, and that Sover Pasha has been exiled to Sivas, and Raouf Pasha to Baguag, but they are unconfirmed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 9.—Intelligence has been received here that the family of the Ameer Afghanistan have taken refuge in Russian Turkistan.

ROME, Dec. 9.—It is reported Prince Bismarck will only grant audiences to those German ecclesiastics who specially apply for it and make submission to the May laws.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—The English solicitors, Messrs. Brewer and Jensen, say they cannot find that Mr. Russell, who objects to Edison's application for a patent for his electric light, has any patent for such an invention. They believe that Russell's opposition will prove vexatious but futile.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—A special to the Standard from Thull, says: The British killed at Pelwar are now estimated at twenty. The vast supplies which the Afghans had accumulated for the winter in the villages around Pelwar greatly relieve the British commissary.

The correspondent of the Times at Lahore states that high officials say the last letter of the Ameer of Afghanistan is as unfriendly as his former one. The friendly expressions are merely conventional. The real tone is indicated by a remonstrance in regard to the British tampering with the Afredes. The messenger who brought the letter explained that it was delayed because he reached Ali Musjid November 21, during the fighting, and returned to Cabul. He says the Ameer was incensed at his return, and ordered him to proceed.

A Grateful People.

On Thursday night, December 5, a public meeting of the citizens of New Orleans was held at the Varieties Theater, to give expression of their gratitude to those who have so liberally aided the South in the recent yellow fever epidemic. Chief Justice Manning delivered an able and eloquent address after which the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, During the summer just past, New Orleans, in common with many of her sister cities of the South, has been scourged by a plague which closed all her revenues of trade, drained her resources and utterly dried up her means of self-help; and

Whereas, In her impoverishment, multitudes of her sick and suffering citizens, from lack of food and clothing and medical care, must have been exposed to the extremity of human misery, and have perished without remedy, had it not been for the aid received from abroad; and

Whereas, It is becoming that the recipients of a charity so free and abounding should make due acknowledgment of their unalterable gratitude to the hearts that felt for, and the hands that saved them in an hour of direst calamity;

Resolved, By the people of New Orleans, in mass meeting assembled, that the annals of human suffering and human sympathy show no parallel to the active benevolence exhibited by all classes from fellow-countrymen, towards the city of New Orleans in the late affliction. Not merely were the naked clothed, the starving fed, and the sick and dying ministered to, but our darkness was cheered and our sinking spirits sustained by a charity which descended like some heavenly messenger, bringing healing on its wings to them that were ready to perish.

The first wail of distress had hardly gone up from our terror-stricken community before the agonizing cry for help was answered. Across the broad expanse of a vast continent, from North and South, and East and West, the tributary streams of beneficence rolled in one unebbing tide of overflowing generosity. Into the valley of the shadow of death in which we walked, it poured its life-giving waters, fresh from the gushing springs of human affection. Never has any people before been the recipient of so grand a charity; never can its impressive lesson of humanity be forgotten.

Resolved, That in this universal testimony of our fellow-countrymen that we are one forever more, in woe as in weal, we recognize the benignant voice of a great people which should silence with a stern rebuke the evil utterances of wicked men, who for ignoble and selfish ends, would arouse once more the clamors of sectional discord; and we declare, as our unanimous sentiment, with the afflicted sincerity of grateful hearts, that no difference of political creed can weaken, and no evils of designing politicians sever the ties which bind us, by the most sacred and tender memories, in the bonds of a national brotherhood, one and indissoluble.

Resolved, That in the heroism and self-sacrifice displayed by the physicians and nurses, who, at the cost of many gallant spirits, faced the deadly terrors of the pestilence in their mission of humanity, and in the utter self abnegation of the gallant soldier, the late Lieut. Benner, of the United States army, we acknowledge, with tears for their fate, and gratitude for their devotion, the surpassing love, of whose depth and sincerity they gave this highest proof, that they laid down their lives for us.

Resolved, That to those friends in foreign lands who so freely contributed to the relief of our people, whether of kindred or alien nationalities, our most fervent thanks are due and are hereby tendered.

Resolved, That to all societies, corporations and companies, and to committees and individuals unnamed, who, in our great distress aided us by word or act, the people of New Orleans, as with one heart, feel gratitude unspeakable.

The meeting then adjourned.

Week of Prayer, 1879.

The Executive Committee of the Evangelical Alliance of the United States makes the following suggestions for the observance of the Week of Prayer, subject to such alterations as local circumstances may render desirable.

The alliance is now so widely extended as to include in its membership Christians in all nations, and the first week in January, 1879, will be observed in all Christian countries, and at missionary stations in heathen lands.

For the Sabbath, January 5, as a subject for the pulpit: "Christian Union."

MONDAY, JANUARY 6.

Thanksgiving for the blessings of the year past, and prayer for their continuance.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 7.

Prayer for the church of Christ, its ministers, its growth in grace, and its enlargement.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 8.

Christian education; the family; the young; colleges, seminaries of learning, Sunday and other schools; Christian Associations of Young Men and of Young Women.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 9.

For nations, rulers and people; for peace and religious liberty in the earth.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 10.

The press; for a blessing on publishers, editors and authors; the cause of temperance and other social reforms.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 11.

Home and foreign missions, and the conversion of the world.

On Sabbath evening, January 12, it is suggested that public union meetings be held for prayer, praise and the presentation of the object, and work of the Evangelical Alliance.

In the city of New York such a meeting will be held in the Reformed church, corner of Fifth avenue and Twenty-Ninth street, when it is expected that the Hon. William E. Dodge, president of the alliance, will preside, and addresses will be delivered by speakers of various denominations.

The meetings for prayer will be held daily in the same church at half-past three o'clock P. M., conducted in turn by pastors of the several churches.

Letter from Mexico.

I have spent much time recently in the "interior"—as they call it here—establishing new churches and "confirming" the old. The trip to Orizava was pleasant for three reasons: 1. The ride was on the railroad to Vera Cruz, through a rich, beautiful, cultivated section of the country. 2. The city of Orizaba is itself a beautiful, healthy, pleasant place, being much below the level of the City of Mexico, and surrounded by a rich valley covered with well cultivated plantations or haciendas. 3. And, specially, we have now a mission there in successful operation, a congregation of seventy-five, and a good Sunday-school. The people are pleading for a day-school for their children, and I hope Providence will soon send us the means to establish it. Bro. Villegas, whom some of your readers know personally, is the preacher in charge.

Tolnca is in the opposite direction from Orizaba, only forty miles away, but is reached by a ride in the diligencia, of which I have given a full description in the Western Methodist. This ride is exceedingly shaky—very trying to one's nerves and muscles—though affording some beautiful scenes in the mountains and in the valley. The city is higher and perceptibly colder than the City of Mexico, which fact does not add anything to the enjoyment of my visit there. It is a live, improving place, but its people are generally very fanatical. A stay of a few days, associating with the brethren and attending the preaching services, Sunday-school and prayer meeting and day-school, satisfied me that the work was prospering very well. So my trip to Tolnca was quite pleasant after all.

Next in turn claiming attention was the city of Cuernavaca, sixty miles to the south, reached by a diligencia ~~journey over~~ the ligtest traveled land in the republic, and their dropping down to the temperate zone. The climate is pleasant and healthy, the city beautifully situated, and the people quite fanatical. We lost the house we had rented there, and part of my business was to rent another. The city was soon aware of the presence of a Protestant, as I learned on my first effort to rent the house. The landlady said she had heard the Protestants were looking for a house. To a Catholic she would rent the house for twelve dollars per month, but to a Protestant she had no house to rent. But another good house was secured, and the work resumed.

I also visited a neighboring town—San Antonio—where we have an Indian preacher, who rides his circuit on foot, and can travel sixty miles a day, which I have known him to do. He visits Indian towns, and is laying the foundation for a good work. I took coffee at his house at five in the evening, soon after which we went to the place of worship near by. It was not a regular meeting, but "called" because of my visit. Twenty persons were present, all furnished with our hymns, with which all seemed familiar, even the children—for all sang heartily and joyfully. The preacher was dressed in his white linen pants and shirt nothing more. He read his chapters from the Bible, led the singing, prayed, preached a sermon on "God is love"—doing all in a very solemn and impressive manner. The service was enjoyed very much by us all. I hope to be able to report, from time to time, the good results of this man's labors.

I have just received letters from some of our other stations, indicating some progress in the work. At Laoni, where Bro. Juarez is stationed, there is much ado made by the Catholics about his presence and labors, but he is doing well, and the noise they make may help him on.

Oaxaca is a promising place for our mission. We have there a nice, large hall for public worship, and another for a school. I furnished at first sixty seats for the hall; afterward had to add twenty more, and the preacher now tells me he requires two dozen more to accommodate the congregation. The people—as is the case in every other place we occupy—are clamorous for a school, saying that they cannot and will not send their children to the Catholic schools. For this place, also, I am hoping Providence will send the means for a good school. I am expecting it sent by the way of Texas, and believe the people in Oaxaca will not have to wait long for the school which they so much desire.

W. M. PATTERSON.

MEXICO, Nov. 15, 1878.

P. S.—I shall be pleased to hear the result of this year's missionary efforts by the charge in one of the Texas Conferences, where the interests of foreign missions were assigned to the brothers of the church, and domestic missions to the sisters. I hope they succeeded well.

W. M. P.

Texas Christian Advocate.

Rome vs. Education.

The Catholic Church often pointboastingly to the University of Oxford, which was largely endowed by Cardinal Wolsey, and other institutions, as evidence of its fostering care over education; and on this basis she stands up to hurl back the Protestant charge that she does not provide for the intellectual wants of her children. But Rome must not be allowed to shift the real question. Nobody cares to deny that she has colleges for the education of priests and nuns. The vital point is: What does she accomplish for the intellectual training and enlightenment of the masses? Let the Catholic countries where Roman Catholic influence is, or has been, absolute, answer. Before Victor Emanuel's armies opened the way for the Bible and free school in Italy eighteen millions out of the twenty-seven millions of her people could neither read nor write, and in Spain—another country exclusively under Roman Catholic domination—nearly twelve millions out of seventeen millions of population are unable either to read or write. In Prussia, on the other hand, where Protestant influences prevail, only one-half of one per cent. of all the children are without instruction. Germany, it is said, conquered France with the spelling book. In this country, where schools, owing entirely to Protestant agencies, are free, and where no denomination can hope for life without educating its children, Rome is compelled to do something. What, then, does she do? She asks for public funds with which to organize sectarian, that is, Roman Catholic schools, in which along with arithmetic she can teach the legends of the saints, and along with grammar she can show the duty of prayer to the Virgin. She wants the tax-payers to help perpetuate her superstitions by paying the old debts which destroy the efficacy of some Protectory or other institution. And what the tax-payers would not do of their own volition the members of the Legislature do for them. And how much longer is this thing to go on?—Christian at Work.

"Not If It Was My Boy."

Some years ago the late Horace Mann, the eminent educator, delivered an address at the opening of some reformatory institution for the boys, during which he remarked, "That if only one boy was saved from ruin it would pay for all the cost, and cares, and labor of establishing such an institution as that." After the exercise had closed, in private conversation, a gentleman rallied Mr. Mann on his statement, and said to him:

"Did you not color that a little, when you said that all that expense and labor would be repaid if it only saved one boy?"

"Not if it was my boy," was the solemn and convincing reply.

Ah! there is wonderful value about "My boy." Other boys may be rude and rough; other boys may be reckless and wild; other boys may seem to require more pains and labor than they will ever repay; other boys may be left to drift uncared for to the ruin which is so near at hand; but "My boy"—it were worth the toil of a lifetime and the lavish wealth of the world to save him from temporal and eternal ruin. We would go the world around to save him from peril, and would bless every hand that was stretched out to give him help or welcome. And yet every poor, wandering outcast, homeless man, is one whom some fond mother called "My boy." Every lost woman, sunken in the depth of sin, was somebody's daughter in her days of childish innocence. To-day somebody's son is a hungry outcast, pressed to the wall by crime and sin. To-day somebody's son or daughter is a weary helpless wanderer, driven by necessity into the paths of sin and death. Shall we shrink from any labor, shall we hesitate at any cost, which may be necessary to secure the salvation of "somebody's boy" or somebody's daughter?"—The Common People.

—Iridescence in glass is obtained by heating glass in a weak solution of hydrochloric acid under pressure and at a temperature of about 150°.

Can a musician execute a piece of music before he gets the hang of it?

Prescription for Fits.

For a Fit of Passion.—Walk out in the open air. You may speak your mind to the winds without hurting any one, or precluding yourself to be a simpleton. "Be not hasty in thy spirit to be angry, for anger resteth in the bosom of fools."

For a Fit of Idleness.—Count the tickings of a clock. Do this for one hour, and you will be glad to pull off your coat the next, and work like a man. "Slothfulness casteth into a deep sleep, and an idle soul shall suffer hunger."

For a Fit of Extravagance and Folly.—Go to the workhouse, or speak with the ragged and wretched inmates of a jail, and you will be convinced

"Who makes his bread of briar and thorn Must be content to be forlorn."

"Wherefore do ye spend money for that which is not bread? and your labor for that which satisfieth not?"

For a Fit of Ambition.—Go to the church-yard and read the grave-stones. They will tell you the end of man at his best estate. "For what is your life? It is even a vapor that appeareth for a little time and then vanisheth away." "Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall."

For a Fit of Repining.—Look about for the halt and the blind, and visit the bedridden, the afflicted and the deranged; and they will make you ashamed of complaining of your light afflictions. "Wherefore doth a living man complain?"

For a Fit of Folly.—Go and see how many who keep their carriages are afflicted with rheumatism, gout and dropsy; how many walk abroad on crutches, or stay at home wrapped up in flannel; and how many are subject to epilepsy and apoplexy. "A sound heart is the life of the flesh: Envy is the rottenness of the bones."

That too Much Familiarity is to be Shunned.

Lay not thy heart open to every one; but treat of thy affairs with the wise, and such as fear God.

Converse not much with the young, nor with strangers.

Flatter not the rich; neither do them appear willingly before the great.

Keep company with the humble and single-hearted, with the devout and virtuous; and confer with them of those things that may edify.

Be not familiar with any woman, but commend all good women in general to God.

Desire to be familiar with God alone, and his angels, and avoid the acquaintance of men.

We must have love toward all, but familiarity with all is not expedient.

Sometimes it falleth out that a person unknown to us is much esteemed of, from the good report given him by others; whose presence notwithstanding is not grateful to the eyes of those who see him.

We think sometimes to please others by our society, and we rather displease them with those bad qualities which they discover in us.—Thomas à Kempis.

Oxygen as a Curative Agent.

The air we breathe is made up of nitrogen and oxygen, two distinct elements, in the proportion of four parts of nitrogen to one of oxygen. In respiration the nitrogen is thrown out of the lungs, but the oxygen is absorbed into the blood, where it forms a chemical union with the carbonaceous matter which it finds there, and the result is the production of carbonic acid gas, which is exhaled with the breath.

Dr. Priestly, the discoverer of oxygen as a distinct element, and the life-giving principle of the atmosphere, called it "vital air," and it was known by this name for many years. Its chief action in the body is to purify and revitalize the blood, and the process by which this is done is as follows: One-half of the heart is always engaged in the work of pumping the blood which has been collected from all parts of the body, into the lungs. Here this blood, dark and impure from being loaded with a kind of charcoal or carbon, the worn out tissues of the body, comes so near to the air inhaled that nothing lies between the blood and the air but a most filmy membrane, so attenuated that the oxygen is instantly absorbed through it into the blood. Here it immediately forms a chemical union with the carbon which it finds in the blood, thus generating carbonic acid gas; and this gas passes as readily through the same membrane, to be exhaled with the breath, as the oxygen did in the opposite direction. The blood is thus relieved of its impurities, and is left of a bright crimson color. In this state it is returned to the other half of the heart, to be again sent on its life and health dispensing round. Again it is returned to the lungs loaded with more impurities, thus ever completing the circle of life.

Now, it can readily be seen that if from any cause we get an insufficient supply of oxygen, the blood cannot be entirely relieved of its impurities, and will be sent to the arteries in an unhealthy condition. On its return to the lungs, charged with a new supply of carbon, it does not find enough oxygen there to dissolve it entirely out, and so returns to the heart with a slight increase in the measure of its impurity, and again makes its round through the body. Unless something be done to increase the supply of oxygen to the lungs, it is clear our bodies must in time become overcharged with the carbon of our worn-out tissues, and the blood seriously poisoned. The process of deterioration may be slow, but if it goes steadily on disease of one kind or another, according to the peculiarity of diathes in the individual, must surely come.

That from many causes incident to our indoor lives and sedentary habits, and to our repressed modes of breathing, sufficient oxygen to purify the blood is not always taken, is a fact well known to physicians. This is found to be one of the most fruitful causes of depressed vitality and consequent impaired health; and unless an occasional larger supply of oxygen is obtained by persons who fall into these vicious modes of respiration freedom from some form of disease is impossible.

Ever since the discovery of oxygen, and a knowledge of its special use in the animal economy, physicians and chemists have, naturally enough, looked to it as the means by which vitality might be restored when lost by disease; and for years experiment after experiment has been made in the hope of making it available as a curative agent. But not until within the last ten or twelve years has such a combination of oxygen and nitrogen been obtained as to give the right proportion. The discovery of this particular combination of oxygen and nitrogen, after long and laborious scientific research, has resulted in developing it into a practicable, safe and powerful curative agent.

The history of this agent, now so widely known as "Compound Oxygen," is briefly this: An American physician who had suffered from an attack of pneumonia, which came near proving fatal, found his recovery so slow and imperfect as to make it necessary for him to relinquish his practice and seek recovery in a European climate. Months of diligent search for lost health ended in disappointment. Not willing to abandon the hope of restoration, he thought to make available his scientific knowledge, particularly of chemistry. Like hundreds before him, he seized upon the idea that oxygen, that natural stimulus of the lungs, promised best for research and investigation. Having passed himself of the best English and continental literature upon the subject, and profiting by the failures as well as the successes of European agents, he entered upon his researches. The growth of all these efforts was the agent he named "Compound Oxygen," and through its use a complete restoration of his own health. In less than three months, under its use, his weight, remarkable as the statement may be thought, increased from one hundred and twenty pounds to one hundred and ninety, at which it has remained for many years.

Immediately on finding this result, the doctor commenced the administration of his new remedy for pulmonary disease, and found, to his great surprise and pleasure, that where other diseases were present in his patients relief and cure followed as surely as in the special ailments for which they had come for treatment. Catarrh, dyspepsia, headache, neuralgia, rheumatism, and the various forms of chronic and nervous diseases which so baffle the physician's skill, yielded to the compound oxygen in a wonderful manner. And this because the action of the new remedy was general; removing obstructions from all parts of the system, purifying the blood, and revitalizing the nervous centers. Health comes as a natural consequence.

After a few years of assiduous practice in this new direction, and with results which were alike surprising to both the doctor and his patients, the more thorough work of a general administration of the oxygen treatment was given into the hands of Dr. G. R. Starkey, of Philadelphia, a medical practitioner of over twenty years' standing. He is now more than ten years since he became identified with this treatment, and in that time its remarkable curative and revitalizing power have become known in all parts of the country, and hundreds stand ready to give their grateful testimony in its favor. More recently Dr. G. E. Paige, a physician of high character and professional ability, has become associated with Dr. Starkey in the work of introducing this new agent of cure more widely to the public.

In cases of low vitality, and in convalescence, this treatment, it is alleged, has been found of great value. After medicine has done its work of breaking up some acute disease, and the physician leaves his patient, as he must, to nature for repair and restoration, he too often finds that nature builds again so slowly that the period of convalescence is often prolonged through weary months, while in too many cases the old vitality is never restored. In this condition it is said that compound oxygen is a wonderful restorer of vital force; and taking the theory of its action to be true, it is just here that its value should most certainly appear.

If all that is claimed for this new combination of oxygen and nitrogen be indeed true—and we have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative power from many persons of high character and intelligence, who are well known throughout the country—then it looks as if a brighter day had come for thousands of invalids who have heretofore vainly sought relief from suffering and slow decline.—Lutheran Observer.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1878

[illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible]

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1878.

BENNETT'S QUARTER PAY DAY.

[illegible] his books one day
[illegible] heard me
[illegible] called to pay
Quarter fee,
[illegible] and my mare,
[illegible] parson's dues:
[illegible] this, for half a score,
[illegible] clothes and shoes.

[illegible] come, and for youthful sport
[illegible] disbursed
[illegible] when his scanty support
[illegible] promptly paid.
[illegible] and giggled and grinned,
[illegible] reels in oil,
[illegible] forth on the village [illegible]
Leers and loll.

[illegible] sat him down,
[illegible] pocket book
[illegible] gathered about the boy
[illegible] dispatched book
[illegible] [illegible] in this,
[illegible] milk and [illegible]
[illegible] for a starving [illegible]
[illegible] her feed.

[illegible] as without [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] the [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] were [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] for a little [illegible]
[illegible] into [illegible]
[illegible] near all [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible]

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.
ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address, on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.
REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.
REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE
REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Ministerial Building.

It is of vital importance that the foundation be good. Without this no superstructure can stand. But it is a matter of very serious consideration that upon a good foundation the building may be of defective and perishable materials. So great is the danger that every man is exhorted to take heed "how he buildeth thereupon." On this one and same foundation—Jesus Christ—very different edifices may be constructed. In some cases there are gold, silver, precious stones, and in others wood, hay, stubble, and in others the structure is of mixed material. Permanence is the test of true work, and the occasion of reward. "If any man's work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward." This is the divine standard of ministerial efficiency.

The quality of the material has much to do with the question. The wood, hay, stubble, soon fall away. These light substances are soon scattered. We can get at what has been done only when the fire has tried the work and revealed the gold, silver and precious stones. The traces of a ministerial term may be so soon obliterated as to disclose the fact that the apparent success was merely a considerable personal following, or an array of figures which represented a volatile and temporary swell in the tide. The solid, enduring and working force, the really converted and well-instructive membership, the people devoted to Christ, and firmly established in the faith, indicate what has been done. The roll must be weighed as well as counted before any just conclusion as to results can be reached. There has been a lively time in receiving members, congregations have been large, and every seeming of prosperity has been present. We must wait a little and see whether the gold or the stubble predominates, and whether, with the retiring pastor, his work is not dissipated as the morning cloud or the early dew. What, for the time, passes for the building up of a church, may in reality be the breaking of it down. The material, gathered in, may be so crude, so destitute of deep religious experience, and so ignorant and ill-trained in the doctrine and polity of the church, that there is scarcely any residuum of permanent value left after the lapse of a very brief period.

The worth of accessions depends largely upon the motives presented, the methods resorted to, and the conditions exacted; and also upon the manner in which discipline is administered. Much also depends upon the character of the preaching, its presentation of the subjects of repentance, of faith, regeneration and holiness; and also much is determined by the kind and extent of the nurture given to those who come into the church. If the main effort has been to get them in, and count them, it will not be long before the most of them will have to be counted out. The gold alone will stay, the stubble will soon disappear. The man who is a true builder, a wise master builder, will seek after that which abides. Getting people into the church is a secondary matter as compared with their thorough awakening and conversion. When these experiences are felt the other step will be taken without much persuasion.

That church is built up that has the most devoted and efficient membership. We should not look altogether to numbers, but to their effectiveness. How are they in their financial duty? Are they imbued with the spirit of foreign missions? What is their grade in Christian intelligence? Have they an experience, clear and powerful, in the deep things of God? Wood, hay, stubble, may be built on Christ. They often are. The ministerial builder must take heed how he builds. These annual scrutinies into the itinerant's work are of some moment, and his reports indicate something, but time will try the matter still more, and eternity alone will tell the story as it is. "The fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is."

A Revival of Iniquity.

The epidemic is over, and now the work of sin is in full blast. Opera and theaters are open on Sunday, and the Louisiana Lottery Company has lately paraded its splendid advertising turn out with a band of music. Among other painted devices were bags plethoric with treasure, variously labeled, with sums ranging from $5,000 to $50,000, and representing the prizes shortly to be drawn. Our cotemporary, the Nashville Christian Advocate, refers in brief but fitting terms to this most debasing and corrupting institution. We have heretofore called attention to the fact that the names of two, once distinguished but now notorious, Confederate generals have been associated with this gambling contrivance. Five thousand dollars a year is a tempting price, but it is a pity that such men as Beauregard and Early should have accepted it.

Mardi Gras is also announced, and we are to have the Carnival in all its splendors, as usual. Some writers in the secular press have made objection, but they have been ruled out of order. This revelry and dissipation does look somewhat unseemly so soon after the fearful scenes of the yellow fever. So it seems to many who would ordinarily approve. Not many weeks ago, when we were in the grip of the pestilence, even the secular papers displayed a remarkable concern that the day of fasting and prayer should be observed. The danger and the misery were so appalling that people, not accustomed to pray, thought it might be well to do something in that line. During the long months of death and trouble there was a temporary halt in the march of worldly and devilish devices to corrupt and demoralize the people. Now that the danger is past, there is a return to the ways and practices of sin. We do not object to this carnival of folly, because it comes so soon on the heels of the pestilence, but because it is a folly always, a season of unrestrained extravagance and dissipation, and, in the long run, a source of impoverishment rather than of prosperity.

In spite of the sorrows that have come upon us, and the severe visitations of Divine Providence, there is to be the usual winter of gaiety and dissipation. The Sabbath is to be desecrated as usual by open ball-rooms, theaters and operas, and a people, but lately appealing to the world for relief, are to spend thousands upon thousands in a senseless pagent. The devil sick, and the devil well, is in a very different mood. The twinges of conscience and the purposes of reformation, and the terrors of the divine judgments enforced a temporary sobriety. But all that is changed. And then it will pay by bringing the multitudes here to spend their money. Never was there greater need to do something to make up the losses of the past months, and this orgasm of madness and riot is the thing. So the dance is to go on, the Mystic Crew is to appear, and we are to have processions and revelry and drinking and jousting as in other years.

The solemn lessons of our sorrow are to be thus soon forgotten, and the voice of God, speaking to us out of the fire, is to be hushed. So goes the world—here in New Orleans, and elsewhere probably. After all gospels—of trouble, of affliction, of mercies, and of the word and spirit—have been expended, there are few that will be saved. The multitudes move on as if nothing had happened, and they throng the same old paths of sin and death. Some have been made better by the school of suffering, some have learned righteousness in the fierce ordeal of pain and tribulation; but how few in comparison with those who are being swept back into the tide of iniquity!

Exalted Above Measure.

"Extremes meet." Nothing blisters more quickly than intense cold. Nothing is so nauseating as excessive sweetness. No agony is so torturing as intense delight. No evil is so great as good overdone. It is possible for a man to be a hero in the deepest humiliation; but it is impossible to make a respectable man of him when he is lifted beyond his desert or capacity in honor or power. Phaethon, though the son of Titan, was not fit to drive the steeds of the Sun. Alexander, though the conqueror of the world, was more contemptible than his meanest soldier when he tried to prove himself a god. As there is a limit to man's powers of enduring, so there is a bound to his capacity of enjoyment. David's cup ran over, and his ability to enjoy was great. God's works were too high for him, and yet his fancy was quick, his imagination vivid, his mind strong. The preacher prayed for food convenient—i. e., adapted to his condition physically, mentally and spiritually. That food was not all gross and sensual; nor all metaphysically dry—anhydrous gases from the abstraction laboratory of the speculative philosophy. Nor was it all angel's food; much less was it the mouldy bread of the Ebionites of history, who come trudging over the wastes of the ages with loaves cooked in the ovens of Herodotus, Plato or Pythagoras. It was food adapted to him in his present condition—gnei if he was sick or weak at the stomach—stronger bread if his digestion was good, and he was set to labor.

Paul recognized that "thorns in the flesh" and "messengers of Satan" were a necessity to him. These came right along with "abundant revelations." Could not God give unmixed good? Yes; but Paul could not bear it. He had been a great sinner. He had been very sick morally. His spiritual nerves needed toning, but that toning must be according to their strength. As the physician gives dilute brandy to the feeble convalescent, God gives his revelations diluted with the discovery of sources of danger we did not dream of before. There was no intention to enlarge the powers of Satan, nor any wanton infliction of spiritual pain; but the "abundant revelation" was too strong a tonic for the spiritual convalescent. The administration of the tonic was attended with the giving of a dose before and after. Note that the "lest I be exalted above measure" comes before and after the "abundant revelation." As we give a little water before and after giving many doses of healing medicine, so here the spiritual man is prepared beforehand, and afterward the sudden exhilarating effect is checked and modified.

This was especially necessary to him as a teacher and leader to others. Did preachers receive only "abundant revelations" they would soon become unfit to minister to the wants of ordinary Christians. They would get away into a spiritual experience, where the lame, and halt, and feeble, could not follow them. They would speak in an unknown tongue. Mortal sorrows would not touch their minds, and however strong their sympathies with angelic creation, their sympathies with man would be lost. Many a devout Christian prays that he may grow more divine; but he frequently weeps and bemoans the fact that he finds himself growing more human. He asks his brethren to pray for him to become more divine, and yet every prayer takes him further back into human sympathies. God leads by paths he had not known to glorious visions—he is rapt in the contemplation; but, before he is aware he is carried by the buffetings of Satan's messengers far out of sight of these bright prospects into the gloomiest shadows. Human ills and human sins, human aspirations and human despair, human beggary and human self, will develop in more painful forms than before. Where before the moral nature seemed to sleep like a placid lake under autumn sunbeams, now it heaves, tosses and seethes like a polar sea lashed into fury by Arctic gales. He knows not why—he prays like Paul, that it may be removed. But he learns by and by that it has a purpose. He is to remain human, and to have human experience, "lest he be exalted above measure." Were it not so others would say: "His advice does us no good; for his experience lies on a plane entirely above ours." It behooved Christ to be made like us for this same reason. The chief Captain of our salvation was made perfect through suffering. Tempted in all points like us, he knows how to help us when tempted. Are we neglected? So was he. Do men revile us? So they reviled him. Do we descend from the mount of transfiguration to the strife with hate, and want, and woe? So did he.

But not only does exaltation above measure unfit us for meetness to the needy, but it unfits us for the real enjoyment of our own salvation. The waters of the spring are spoiled if the surface water flows in. Christian beauty and sweetness rise from within like a well of water springing up. "Abundant revelations" run over and flood the spring now and then. Our own experience becomes turgid and turbid. Water comes in, but it brings with it the washings of the surface.

Some of our hymns breathe a hyper-Pauline aspiration in this direction. For example:

"I want to be an angel, and with the angels stand."

Paul made no such wish. The angels could not sing the song he wanted and intended to sing. They might sing of God's exalted throne, his infinite power, his matchless wisdom, his ineffable glory, his eternal justice. But Paul wanted to get with the saints—all saints—and comprehend if such an amazing thing were possible, the length, breadth, height, depth, and know the fullness of divine love. A sinner saved by grace wanted to get with other sinners saved by grace. Angel company might be grander, but not so sympathetic with the emotions that swelled his heart. He would rather stand by Mary Magdalene or the publican, who dared not look up and sing the song of the redeemed, than by the side of Gabriel or Raphael, and sing with them. Their music might be more after the style of magnificent anthems, but he would prefer "I the chief of sinners am, but Jesus died for me."

God gave him compensation in the promise: "My grace is sufficient for thee." "Abundant revelations" may excite admiration or wonder, but grace saves, and the salvation of the chief of sinners is the most wonderful of all revelations.

"Rather, then," says he, "will I glory in mine infirmities," since for these too grace works the cure.

T. A. S. A.

Our Church.

Our town contains a population of about fourteen hundred white people, in which there are four churches. "Too many churches," Dr. Clark would say, "for the people to be very pious." It must be confessed that our people are not righteous over much. Many members of all the churches have not even "the form of godliness."

There are on our church book two hundred and seventeen names. Of these it would be safe to say that there are at least ten good, faithful, spiritual, working members. Enough to form a church according to the Divine constitution, or to have saved Sodom. Can this number save our church—save our town? There is need of much light, and of more salt, as you may see from the following facts, taken from the pastor's notes. In addition to the ten faithful mentioned above, there are in our church three drunkards—old stagers—and twenty-six regular tipplers, thirteen profane swearers, and a large number of quasi swearers, such as say: "good gracious," and the like, four liquor dealers, and twenty-five dancers. Here we find the following entry in the pastor's note-book: "There are a number of men absent from home, and not at church on Sunday nights, or at prayer meeting on Wednesday nights. Where are they? What are they doing?" No answer. The number of Sabbath breakers has not been exactly ascertained, but there are many; not those who do ordinary work, or who buy or sell on that day, but those who travel, or take pleasure drives, or make pleasure visits, or loaf about the streets, or in back rooms. Twenty live too far from church to attend the services. Thirty-seven are sick people, or ladies with young children, who can seldom get to church; twenty-nine who are pretty regular at morning service do not attend at night, and twenty-three that come, like Nicodemus, at night do not attend in the day. Thirty-eight are irregular at all times. Sunday sickness, inconvenience, not feeling like it, visits from friends, etc., are the excuses rendered. There are also fifteen religious tramps—persons who run about from place to place, in search of something new. The other churches do not seem to be much troubled with these tramps. Is it because of over-catholicity that so many of our people think it as well or better to worship in other churches than in their own? Our prayer meetings are attended by not more than twenty—hardly one in ten of the membership. Class meetings are kept up by a few faithful ones, but the attendance is even less than on prayer meetings. We have a good Sunday-school, i. e., we have a good superintendent, a man active, zealous and competent, and why does not talk the school to death. The teachers are faithful, and the children are very well instructed. But on any good day you may find more of our adult male members loitering about the streets, listening to and encouraging the ribaldry of profane, babblers, than in the Sunday-school.

If these notes are correct, and I presume they are in the main, they give us a pretty clear and definite idea of the condition of our church. And it must be confessed that the facts do not tend to comfort us. As Bro. Faithful has called our attention to these facts, many of us are disposed to think that he is responsible for the depression and humiliation that we are feeling in consequence. If he had complimented us on the fact of our superiority to other churches, of which we were fully persuaded, before he began to sift us so severely, we might never have regarded the situation in so discouraging an aspect.

THE OFFICIAL BOARD IN SESSION.

The Official Board is now holding high debate as to what had best be done. That we are in the midst of a great crisis, a great turning point in the fortunes of our church, all seem to feel. But what is to be done?

Bro. Timerous is for "masterly inactivity." "The responsibility," he says, "is not with the board, but with the appointing power." He would not ask the removal of the pastor, because he has been faithful, and yet he fears the consequences of supporting him. Better let things take their course. Bro. Pappet, a cross-eyed hearer, who always keeps one eye on the preacher and the other on the congregation, says: "Bro. Faithful suits me very well, but I notice that the people get uneasy when he makes such heavy things at their sins. It may all be true and uttered in a proper spirit, but surely a preacher ought to have more policy than to say things that people do not like. To my certain knowledge the church is losing her hold upon some of the most influential people in our town." Bro. Hatelight, who you may remember was a juryman, and is on the Official Board, says: "I am in full sympathy with those who aver that they do not like such a preacher, and, whatever course this board may take, the Bishop shall be informed of my wishes, and of the wishes of the people." Bro. Charity declares that "he can see nothing amiss in Mr. Faithful, or in his preaching; that the church is being edified, and is growing in spirituality, especially in the much needed grace of humility." Bro. Courage says: "It is certain that the church is improving, as noticed by Bro. Charity. Through Bro. Faithful the power has been given us to begin to see ourselves in a true light. It is not pleasant, to be sure, to realize our situation when it is bad, but then it is wholesome. And as the issue has been squarely made—which ought to have been made long ago—he is for the pastor against the combined forces of the world and the flesh and the devil." Bro. Donothing astonished us all by saying: "While we are debating there is even now a revival in the church. A revival worth all the pseudo revivals we have ever had, for after every revival heretofore, in a few weeks, the church, with her converts, has settled back into Laodicean indifference, so as to form a whole and enlarged family of Donothings, that have been steadily going from bad to worse. Now to my certain knowledge there are at least a dozen of this family, myself among the number, penitent, and resolved to lead new and better lives. Moreover, the preaching of Bro. Faithful has been blessed to the conviction of some hitherto incorrigible sinners. Hereupon the board, not being able to agree, adjourned sine anata. Yours truly,

ALLEN CARLSON.

A DEEPLY interesting and affecting memorial service was held at the First Methodist church in Memphis, Sunday, December 1. The Western Methodist, in its account of the meeting, says:

The pastors were followed by the Rev. W. P. Barton, who gave a full and interesting account of the epidemic. Bro. Barton was cut off from his work in Mississippi by quarantine. The cry of distress made an effectual appeal to his sympathetic heart. He came, a moral hero, into the midst of suffering and death; a stranger to the citizens, he carried consolation and relief to the suffering of every name. He felt from day to day that he was sustained by the power of a loving Saviour. He could realize, in the performance of his sad duties, that the prayers of the church were not only ascending to a throne of grace from day to day, but that they were answered. When he received letters from Kosciusko, Sardis, and various other points, telling him that prayers were offered for him, he was not surprised—he had already felt that it was so. His account of the suffering in the city was a fearful picture. He thought it impossible to exaggerate the scenes—that the English language had no adjectives too strong with which to describe them. He compared the epidemic in Memphis with such visitations as are mentioned in history, and thought it surpassed any one of them.

He spoke in most beautiful te of his interviews with Sla'er, B and Rosebrough—of their Christ resignation and patience. He sp of the ever-memorable 15th of gust, when he had his last conve tion with Dr. Slater. He said t he had, in a ministry of twenty-years, encountered more danger th fell to the lot of ministers gene hence he knew how to appreci moral courage, and when Dr. Sl said to him on that day: "I am older and feebler man than in 18 don't think I can stand another s a siege; yet by God's grace I will what I can," he, the speaker, that he was in the presence o moral hero and martyr in spirit he now was in fact. Dr. Slater that it was his duty to stay, and t if heed he, and his family fully c curred in his views.

His description of the scenes suffering in Bro. Blew's ho brought tears from every eye. B determined to remain and trust
God—his trust was firm to the l
He felt it his duty to live, and strove hard to be quiet and pati
At last he said his sufferings w too great—that he could not st them. Bro. Barton remarked tha would he glorious to go from Me phis to heaven. A cloud came o
Bro. Blew's face, but when B
Barton added, If you can take with you, the cloud vanished, faith, and hope, and love lit up scene, and illuminated the pas across the river of death. He take all but little Sallie with him.

Florida Not to be Used as a Sanitarium.

The following was adopted una mously at the late session of Florida Conference:

Whereas, The State of Florida h acquired a reputation as a resort invalids, and on this account
Florida Conference is looked up as a favorable field of operations preachers who are disqualified work in other sections, and wher the list of superannuates has be increased by the repeated transfer disabled men in the past, and number of widows and orphans others who have died is far beyo our ability to support; therefore,

Resolved, That we respectfully quest the College of Bishops, wh applied to by preachers of this c for a transfer to this Conference, suggest to them that they take supernumerary or superannuated lation in their own Conference, a then seek work as supplies in t
Conference; thus they will reap the benefits of the climate, wh their support, when worn out, devolve upon the Conferences w have had the benefit of their act services, and upon which they ha a legitimate claim.

F. PASCO,
J. P. DEPASS,
C. A. FELLWOOD.

Fare to Mississippi Conference.

OFFICE OF ST. LOUIS & NEW ORLEANS R. R.
GENERAL PASSENGER DEPARTMENT.
New Orleans, Dec. 10, 18

W. E. LINFIELD, P. C. E.—Dear Sir: Yours of November 2, asking reduced rate of fare for the delega to the Mississippi Annual Conf ence, and of Methodist ministers, be held at Hazlehurst, was receiv but absence from the city prevent my giving it prompt attention.

We will issue tickets to the de gates to the Conference at Haz hurst, at all points between Oy and Vaughns, and from New Orle and return, at a rate of one and c half fares.

The tickets can be purchased any of the points designated, on December 17 and 18, and will be good return until December 21, inclusive

Yours respectfully,

F. CHANDLER,
General Passenger Agent.
Per A. S. G.

The friends of Dr. Clark, o the Wesleyan Christian Advoca will learn with gladness that he h reached Macon in good health a spirits. His mission to England w made pleasant by the kindly cour sies of our English brethren. H reports good success.

In the statistical report read at t recent Connecticut State Sunda school Convention, it was stated th of the 137,000 Protestant children the State, 51,378 between the ages four and fifteen, do not attend Su day-schools.

Periodicals.

—The Preacher and Homile Monthly for December, contains number of sermons from several the most eminent preachers of En land and America, and much oth matter of interest and value to all sters.

—The London Quarterly Revie October, 1878, American edition, Leonard Scott Publishing Compan has the following articles: 1. Joh Dryden. 2. Rise of the Modern Br ish Empire. 3. Elephant Catchin 4. Petrarch. 5. Ancient Cyprus. M. Thiers—his life and character. The Lancashire Cotton Strike. 8. the Church of England Protestan 9. The Revival of Turkey.

—American Agriculturist for D cember has its usual amount of re ing matter and valuable illustra tions.

—Southern Cultivator for Dece ber has been received.

Mexican Border Missions.

The Texas Christian Advocate takes the following report of the work of our church among the Mexicans who border on Western Texas:

"The Mexican Border Mission is a marvel. It finds but few parallels in the history of mission. In 1871, the work was organized with A. H. Stephens as Superintendent; and three Mexican assistants. Now it reports twelve in the regular work, three local preachers and a membership of about six hundred. During the past year, two hundred and ten adult and eighty-two infant baptisms were reported. The local preachers are active and effective, and all the preachers are full of faith and zeal. The work also reports twenty Sunday-schools and four hundred and eighty scholars. In addition to the Sunday-school work is their custom to meet every Sabbath morning and study the Bible. Many of the Sunday-school scholars are adults. The class-meeting is an established institution among them. It seems especially adapted to this mission work. It is held every Tuesday. There the inquirer finds the instruction he needs, and conversions in these meetings may be considered the exception, but the rule. A prayer-meeting is held Thursday in each congregation. A family altar is found in nearly every household. The usual form for morning worship in many families is to sing a hymn on rising from the bed, and then kneel in prayer. Often the children follow the example of the parents, and a song from their young voices as they leave their beds in the morning, followed by a prayer, is a familiar sound and sight in many Mexican homes. The work is not only thorough, but its vitality is manifest by the manner and rapidity of its spread. Each man when converted tells the story and spreads the fire among his relatives and friends. He usually gets armed with his Testament, and in the family circle, on the road, in the range of the rancho, he endeavors to win the hearts of his people for the Saviour. Some of the preachers are men of culture and ability, and several are said to be men of commanding eloquence in their own language."

Mr. Moody, says the Baltimore Episcopal Methodist of November 9, is still conducting afternoon and night meetings in the northwestern section of our city with increasing interest and success. Multitudes crowd to hear him, and quite a number have presented themselves in the inquiry rooms as seekers after salvation. A deep religious influence seems to be pervading our entire population, and all over the city are the wells of a gracious and general revival.

At a meeting of the pastors of the evangelical churches of the city, held on Monday morning last, it was resolved to appoint a commission of ministers representing the different Protestant denominations, with Mr. Moody as chairman, who should appeal to the Christian people throughout the United States to unite in a concert of prayer and evangelistic effort during the entire month of January. Such an united movement would, it was believed, serve to bring and bind closer together the different sections of the country, to stay, to some extent at least, the tide of iniquity and violence sweeping through the land; and to promote in an eminent degree the interests of the kingdom of Christ. We shall be able in our next number to publish the address of the committee.

INDIAN ORATORY.—Prof. Ellicott Evans tells a story concerning his grand-uncle, Joseph Ellicott, and the chief Red Jacket. The two having met in a Tonnawanda swamp, they at dawn on a fog which happened to be convenient, built being near the middle. Presently Red Jacket said, in his almost unintelligible English: "Move along, Jo." Ellicott did so, and the sachem moved up to him. In a few minutes came another request: "Move along, Jo," and again the agent complied and the chief followed. Scarcely had this been done when Red Jacket again said: "Move along, Jo." Much annoyed, but willing to humor him, and not seeing what he meant, Ellicott complied, this time reaching the end of the log. But that was not sufficient; and presently the request was repeated for the fourth time: "Move along, Jo." "Why, man," angrily replied the agent, "I can't move any further without getting off from the log into the mud." "Ugh! Just so white man. Want Indian move—move along. Can't go no further, but he say: 'Move along.'"

Attachment To Newspapers.

The strong attachment of subscribers to well conducted newspapers is fully confirmed by publishers. "Stop my paper"—words of dread to beginners in business—lose their terror after a paper has been established for a term of years. So long as a paper pursues a just, honorable and judicious course, meeting the wants of its customers in all respects, the ties of friendship between the subscribers and the paper are as hard to break by an outside third party as the link which binds old friends in business or social life. Occasionally defects and errors in a newspaper are overlooked by those who have become attached to it, through its perusal for years. They sometimes become dissatisfied with it on account of something which had slipped into its columns, and may stop taking it; but the absence of the familiar sheet at their homes and offices, for a few weeks, becomes an insupportable privation, and they hasten to take it again, and possibly apologize for having it stopped. No friendship on earth is more constant than that contracted by the reader for a journal which makes an honest and earnest effort to merit its continued support. Hence a conscientiously conducted paper becomes a favorite in the family.—Printer's Circular.

MARRIED.

BALDRIDGE—DRAUGHAN.—On the first day of December, 1878, by Rev. B. F. Alexander, at the residence of Mrs. Mary E. L. Draughan, in Bossier Pricirle, Franklin parish, La., Dr. James W. Baldridge to Miss Julia B. Draughan.

JOHNSON—MELTON.—December 5, 1878, at the residence of the bride's mother, by Rev. G. W. Brown, Mr. Sidney B. Johnson and Miss Mary E. Melton, all of Holmes county, Miss.

HARVEY—UPTON.—On Thursday evening, December 5, 1878, at the residence of the bride's parents, by the Rev. A. J. Witherspoon, Evan T. Harvey, of Arkansas, and Amy E., daughter of S. G. Upton, Esq., of New Orleans.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS FOR 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	BISHOP.	TIME.
N. Carolina	Charlotte	Pierce	Nov. 27
N. Alabama	Athens	Kavanaugh	Nov. 27
N. Georgia	Marietta	McTyeire	Nov. 27
Little Rock	Hot Springs	Doggett	Nov. 27
Texas	Chappell Hill	Keener	Dec. 4
Memphis	Paris	Paine	Dec. 4
N. Mississippi	Macon	Pierce	Dec. 11
S. Carolina	Newberry	Pierce	Dec. 11
Alabama	Marion	Kavanaugh	Dec. 11
S. Georgia	Thomasville	McTyeire	Dec. 11
East Texas	Tyler	Keener	Dec. 12
Mississippi	Hazlehurst	Paine	Dec. 18
Louisiana	New Orleans	Doggett	Jan. 8
Baltimore	Salem	Washington	Mar. 5

Publisher's Department.

STAMPING PATTERNS.—Stamped samples of 201 designs for twenty-five cents. The first number just out. A. Bernard, 101 Eighth street, New York.

AGENTS WANTED.—W. H. Chichester, 218 Fulton street, New York, wants all men out of employment to write him. See advertisement. The gentleman is perfectly reliable.

FITS OR EPILEPSY.—Parties troubled with the above should read the advertisement of Dr. H. G. Reed, 158 Pearl street, New York. The doctor is an eminent gentleman, and is confident of being able to cure the worst cases.

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES.—All kinds of carouches, buggies, light and heavy spring wagons made to order by John Kimball & Co., 210 and 212 Sprice street, St. Louis, Mo. This gentleman stands well in St. Louis as an honorable merchant. Give him a trial.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Dr. Tobias' Venetian Liniment is spoken of very highly for the cure of cholera, diarrhœa, dysentery, cramp, pain, rheumatism, headache, toothache, etc. Read his advertisement on the fifth page, under the head of Business Notices.

CONVERTIBLE FARM MILL.—Farmers and planters interested in the above are referred to the advertisement of A. B. Ordway & Co., Carroll street, Chicago, Ill. These gentlemen are shipping large quantities of these mills all over the country, and wherever used give entire satisfaction. Write for circular.

GOOD READING CHEAP.—We direct special attention to the advertisement of the Home and Farm in this paper. With the reduction in price, the many engravings, the vast amount of useful information, this is certainly one of the best and cheapest papers in the country, and should be in every family.

PECK'S SEWING MACHINE DEPOT.—It will be a source of congratulation to our readers to know that one of our old friends, M. A. Peck, is again in the sewing machine business, at 137 Canal street, next to Holmes. This establishment is one of the most prominent in the South. Call and see him, and he will sell you with any machine you may want.

COAL.—Messrs. Chandler & Ashby have on hand a large lot of coal, which they are selling at forty-five cents per barrel, while most of the dealers are charging fifty. They are good men, and we can recommend them to our friends who have not yet laid in their winter supplies. Family, steamboats and other large consumers will be supplied on liberal terms.

We would direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column of Rev. C. L. Mitchel, dealer in religious literature, at 37 Camp street. Any orders that he may receive will be carefully and conscientiously attended to. We regret that we have not the space to give an extended notice, and can only advise our friends to give him an opportunity of filling their orders.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is the best compound for the face that ladies can use. Mr. Pozzoni has an experience in his line of many years, and his reputation is such that he will send you just what he says he will. Read his advertisement in this week's paper, under the head of Business Notices. Nothing injurious to the skin, and easy of application. No lady who values this article of the toilet can afford to be without it.

AMERICAN JEWELRY COMPANY.—The first indication of real diamonds are sold by the above company. For one dollar you can get a ring, a set of studs, or a pair of ear drops, set in solid gold, which will look as well as the real diamond, and for beauty and brilliancy the actual thing does not eclipse them. It is a reliable Company, and they will return the goods promptly and as they advertise them. No. 5 Arcade Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

CARPETS.—Messrs. Elkin & Co., whose advertisement appears to-day, have been long known to us as the leading carpet and oil-cloth house in this section. They keep all kinds of carpets from the plainest to the most expensive, all of which can be represented as being as represented. Any of our friends who may need anything in the line of carpet goods, are advised to go to Elkin & Co.'s, at 100 Canal street, New Orleans.

POOLE & HUNT, Baltimore, Md., manufacturers of Water Wheels, Mill Machinery, etc., offer favorable inducements to buyers, as will be seen by their card in another column of the paper. This firm is too well known to need endorsing by us, suffice it to say that they are offering the best workmanship in their line of goods at moderate prices. Communications sent to them will be promptly and favorably attended to, and orders will be filled with care and despatch.

HO! YE COTTON MEN.—The giant of compresses, is the "Morse." Built to suit any work needed they are the all-liberatum to cotton raisers and shippers. The principal warehouses in the South have the Morse, which squeezes eleven hundred pounds of cotton into merchantable size. For power and simplicity their weaker rivals are weak indeed in comparison, and they have no equal. Mr. Steers, the agent in New Orleans, is a gentleman high in the community, and gladly gives information to any who desire to compress the "Fleecy Monarch."

PIANOS AND ORGANS.—Louis Grunewald has been for a number of years engaged in the piano business in this city, and has always borne the highest reputation for fair and upright dealing. Possessed of ample means, and having a thorough knowledge of his business, he is able to buy and sell at the lowest prices. His establishment is one of the finest in the South, and his instruments first-class. Grunewald Hall, is one of the attractions of New Orleans. An advertisement of some of the leading instruments on hand will be seen on this page.

MUSIC FOR ALL.—Mr. Daniel F. Beatty, of Washington, N. J., appears determined that all who care to have Parlor Organs can get them, for he will during this month, sell an instrument which, it is said, is equal in every way to the kind usually sold for $85, for the very much reduced price of $35. It had as well be borne in mind, by those considering the offer, that it is only for this month, and the low price is only to induce people to buy the Organ, in order that the manufacturer may show to the public the peculiar excellence which he claims it to possess.

BROADWAY FOUNDRY, St. Louis, Mo.—This gigantic institution is one of the oldest as well as largest of the kind west of the Alleghany. Founded in 1856, it has steadily increased, until to-day it ranks AI in the manufacturing line, and their facilities are not excelled. John A. Holliday, the present manager, has been with the establishment for over fifteen years, has none but experienced workmen in his employ, and guarantees every portion or piece of machinery which he sends out. Office, 513 Carr street.

METHODIST BOOK DEPOSITORY.—Mr. C. T. Lathrop's advertisement, of the the above will be found on this page. Mr. Lathrop occupies the old store of R. J. Harp, Agent, and will keep a full line of religious books published by the Nashville House, Methodist Sunday-school Union, and other well-known houses. Mr. Lathrop is thoroughly acquainted with the wants of our people in books and stationery, he having been connected with this branch of the Publishing House for about ten years. Everything to be found in a well-ordered book store is kept on hand, and satisfaction can be expected in every purchase.

QUIET BABIES AND QUIET NIGHTS.—Babies who wail at night with stomach-ache are grievous pest destroyers, but the problem how to quiet them by some wholesome medicinal agent has been solved satisfactorily, if the testimony is to be believed of those who have administered it to restless children, by the introduction of "Milk of Magnesia," an antacid and corrective of gastric disorders, agreeable to the palate, and far more effectual in practically soothing an infant than any narcotic would be. Sour Stomach, Flatulence, Constipation and Dyspepsia are among the disorders which it cures. The sanction of physicians lends additional authenticity to its claim upon public confidence.

IN THE FRONT RANK.

The Best Reputations make The Best Business.

Occupying a prominent position in the business interests of the city, is the firm of Bignall & Ostrander, whose pump, pipe and belting house is at Nos. 506 and 508 N. Second street. To Stationary it is merely necessary to direct upon the merits of this establishment, since it may be said to be one of the land marks in trade here; and while there may be comparatively few who have an idea of its magnitude from personal observation, manufacturers and mechanics are familiar with its wares, and can bear evidence of their excellence. The plumber, the gasfitter and the mechanical and hydraulic engineer are especially the patrons of this house, since it deals in the most valuable commodities in their lines, and, dealing in specialties only, it is able to offer inducements to the trade such as no other establishment of a similar character in the West can offer.

Bignall & Ostrander are not only manufacturers, but are agents for some of the largest manufacturing establishments of the East, chief among which are the Aetna Manufacturing Company's Works, at Seneca Falls, New York, the largest pump works in the world, making 300 different patterns; C. H. Deane & Co.'s Works, Springfield, Mass., and the American Steam Gauge Company. It would be an undertaking of no small magnitude to enumerate the various articles that are set forth in the new and handsomely illustrated catalogue of this firm; there are plumbers' supplies, steam and gasfitters' supplies, iron pipe, lead pipe, sheet lead, bar lead, agricultural goods, engine fittings, plantation supplies, gum shellers, road scrapers, barrows, pumps of all descriptions, etc., etc. The facilities of the house are unsurpassed, and their sales are not only extensive, but are rapidly increasing as the merits of their wares are becoming known. In addition to the wares of the firm above named, Messrs. Bignall & Ostrander are agents for the Burrell Sheller, the Eagle cotton gins, Stedman's stationary engines, shafting and pulleys; Stedman's power corn sheller; Deane's steam pumps; Smith, Vaile & Co.'s Dayton cam pumps; valves of the Peal Valve Company, of Boston; the celebrated tilled-leather and raw hide belting of the Shultz Belting Company, of St. Louis, and full lines of the wares of the New York Gutta Percha Company, including the celebrated carbolized fire hose acknowledged by firemen generally to be the best in use—belting, packing and drill tubes.

Naturally, the trade of this establishment is large, and without doubt those who have occasion to use such articles as this firm deals in will find it to their advantage to call in person, or send for a catalogue.—Globe Democrat.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE FAIR.

WIND AS A MOTOR POWER FOR PUMPING.

Independent:

NEW YORK, September 26, 1878.

The display of wind-mills at the Fair will give one an idea of what vast improvement has been made in these machines within a few years. They have been found the most economical and effective power that can be applied for elevating water, draining land, grinding, and the other exigencies of rural life, and especially where acres of land are to be provided for, earn their cost in the saving of manual labor, at the outset. Even in their rude state, as seen in Holland, they have been the means of saving a land from the sea and, converting it into a fertile and prosperous country.

These engines are now extensively employed all over the West, and several incorporated companies are engaged in their manufacture. Among which the "Halliday," the "Enterprise," and the "Eclipse," of Wisconsin, have had a large sale. The last named have sold a few of theirs in the East, through an Agent in John street, New York; and now the Kewanee Manufacturing Company, of Illinois, have established a New York office and storehouse, and have a very attractive display of their Automatic Wind Engines at the American Institute and at nearly all the agricultural fairs on the Atlantic seaboard. They are shipping a large number of these mills to Cuba, where they are rapidly replacing slave labor in raising water from the very deep wells of that island.

Where formerly a negro and mule cost fifty dollars a month to pump insufficient water for each plantation, the wind-mill gives ample supply without cost.

The Kewanee Automatic has met with so favorable reception in Cuba, where slave labor is just becoming scarce and expensive, that the eminent engineer and director of the government machine works in Havana, Don Francisco Amat, resigned his life position under the government, to take charge of the exclusive importation of these machines into that island, and large shipments of them are already being made to him from this port.

It is, indeed, a very simple and effective machine, perfectly automatic in its movements, has a large proportionate wind surface, is very light and easy-running, is of graceful form, and is well worthy the attention of all parties who require an economical power for pumping water for any purpose. The Kewanee has already taken twenty eight first premiums in the Agricultural Fairs of the Western States, and the company have their agent now in Europe, legalizing their patents in Holland, France, England, Belgium and Germany, where, especially in the first of these countries, these admirable automatons will be sure to find a large sale, in competition with the rude, unsmith native mills.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PRICE REDUCED TO $1.

We have in stock a few Quarterly Conference Journal, arranged for four years, according to requirement of the new Discipline, at the low price of $1 by mail, post paid, and have reduced the price on our eight-year Journal to $2. Address orders to LOUIS D. DAMERON, Agent, St. Louis, Mo.

LIFE OF MARVIN.

The second edition of the "Life and Labors of Bishop Marvin," by Dr. McAnally, will be out of press next week. Send on your orders; they will be promptly filled. Agents wanted. Send $1.50 for Sample Copy.

LOUIS D. DAMERON, Agent,
St. Louis, Mo.

DR. WILHOFT'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS.—Dr. Wilhoft's Anti-Bilious Pills have established itself as the real infallible Chill cure. It is universally admitted to be the only reliable and harmless Chill medicine now in use. Its efficacy is confirmed by thousands of certificates of the very best people from all parts of the country. It cures chills, diseases of every type, from the shaking agues of the lakes and valleys to the raging fevers of the torrid zone. Try it. It has never been known to fail. WILHOFT, PENLEY & Co., proprietors, New Orleans. For sale by all druggists.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, clog pores, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can apply it to infants who become chafed with a surety of immediate relief. Removes all eruptions. Price, 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists, and at depot, 607 North Sixth street, St. Louis (Lindell Hotel.)

For particulars regarding Electric Belts address PFLEUMACHER GALVANIC COMPANY, Cincinnati, Ohio. cow

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—Farmers, Planters and others can purchase no remedy equal to Dr. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, for the cure of Cholera Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramp, Colic and Sick Stomach, taken internally in water (only half a teaspoonful to half a tumbler of water), and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Toothache, sore Throat, Cuts, Burns, Swellings, Bruises, Mosquito Bites, Old Sores, Pain in Limbs, Back and Chest. The VENETIAN LINIMENT was introduced in 1847, and no one who has used it but continues to do so, many stating that it was ten dollars a bottle they would not be without it. Thousands of certificates can be seen at the depot, speaking of its wonderful curative properties. Sold by the druggists at 10 cents. Depot, 42 Murray street, New York. 8y RAISING WATER.—Great invention by one who was deaf for 20 years. Send stamp for particulars. VICKY & HARPER, Lock Box No. 80, Madison, Indiana.

You May Go to the Sea Shore

But you will not derive as much benefit in Liver Complaints as from taking Maguire's Chillhango, the best Yellow Fever preventive, Anti-Bilious Cathartic and System Renovator that can be taken.

A Man of A Thousand.

When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. B. James was experimenting with Indian Hemp, he accidentally cured his wife, could in consumption, and now gives this recipe free for two stamps to pay expenses.

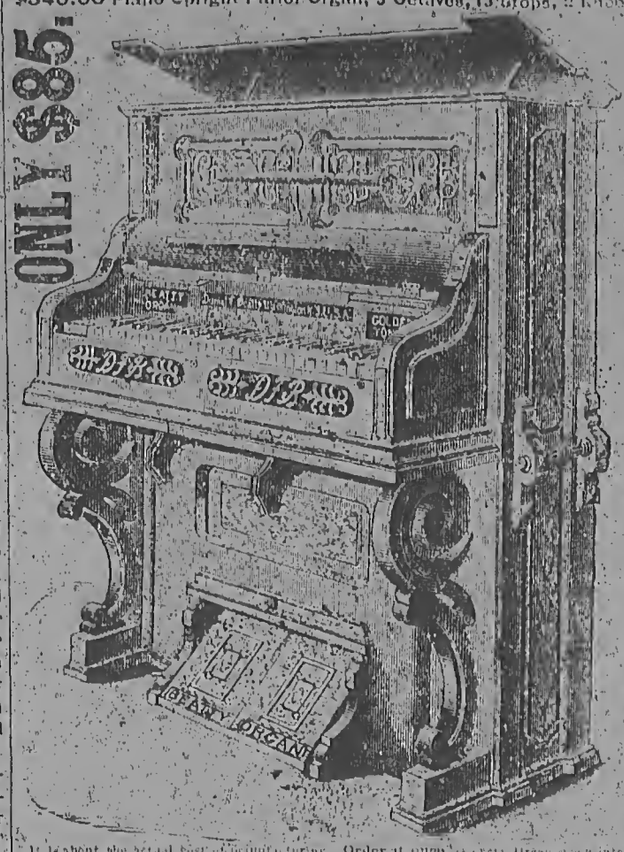
Address CHADBOURN & Co., 1032 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

BEATTY'S OFFER FOR THIS MONTH!

$340.00 Piano Upright Parlor Organ, 5 Octaves, 13 Stops, 2 Knee Swells, for $85.00

ONLY $85.



It is about the actual cost of building. Order at once, as it is a standing advertisement. Hence it is not necessary to write again. Over Seventy Thousand of Beatty's Celebrated Pianos and Organs are now in use in every part of the civilized world. The sun shines nowhere but it shines on my instruments. I manufacture, testimonials from all parts of the world. The sun shines nowhere but it shines on my instruments. I have the Testimonials from Europe. I am to-day the largest manufacturer of Pianos and Organs in the world. Over Seventy Thousand of Beatty's Celebrated Pianos and Organs are now in use in every part of the civilized world. The sun shines nowhere but it shines on my instruments. I manufacture, testimonials from all parts of the world. The sun shines nowhere but it shines on my instruments. I have the Testimonials from Europe. I am to-day the largest manufacturer of Pianos and Organs in the world. Over Seventy Thousand of Beatty's Celebrated Pianos and Organs are now in use in every part of the civilized world. The sun shines nowhere but it shines on my instruments.

This Advertisement will not appear again. Order now. Address

DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington New Jersey, U. S. A.

SHOW THIS SPLENDID OFFER TO YOUR NEIGHBORS. 41

DO YOU WANT A FIRST-CLASS

PIANO OR ORGAN?

No double gin in it, nor "shoddy," and you will be much interested in doing so.

LOUIS GRUNEWALD'S

14 to 22 Baronne Street, Grunewald Hall, and see at what low figures quality and style can be had. The celebrated STEINWAY, KNABE, PLEYEL, FISCHER, PIANOS are the most renowned in the world, and you will buy no other.

THE BEST IS ALWAYS THE CHEAPEST.

SHEET MUSIC at half price.

Everything in the music line to suit everybody.

ADDRESS

LOUIS GRUNEWALD,

Grunewald Hall, New Orleans.

THE METHODIST

BOOK DEPOSITORY

AND

Depot for S. S. Union Books

Call and see, and can supply promptly all the publications of the Nashville House, at same prices and discounts, as obtained there, thus saving long delay and expense for you. All new books received as soon as issued, and complete catalogues mailed on application.

Also, a full line of CATECHISMS, QUESTION BOOKS, LIBRARIES, etc., of the AMERICAN SUNDAY-SCHOOL UNION, MOODY & SANKEY'S GOSPEL HYMNS, and other Sunday School Note Books; and can supply CHAPEL AND PRESBYTERIAN HYMNS when ordered, at publishers' prices, as well as Question Books for all denominations.

SCHOOL BOOKS and STATIONERY on hand in great variety, and orders promptly and carefully attended to. Address

C. T. LATHROP,
Depository 112 Chapel st., New Orleans.

CARPETS

ELKIN & CO.

100 ..... CANAL STREET 100

HAVE NEW STYLES OF

AXMINSTER, VELVET,
BRUSSELS and INGRAIN.

Just received per Tartaria from Liverpool

English Oil-Cloths and Linoleums

A large variety of

RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS.

ESTABLISHED IN 1825.

LEEDS' FOUNDRY,

Cor. Delord and Fourcher Sts.

COAL.

WE are still selling the best Pittsburg COAL at 45 cents per barrel, delivered.

CHANDLER & ASHBY,
19 Carondelet street.
Yards: Cor. Philip and Tchoupitoulas Sts.

WORLD'S MODEL MAGAZINE

THE HOLIDAY

NUMBER OF

DEMOREST'S MONTHLY.

NOW READY.

A grand combination of the entertaining, the useful and the beautiful, with splendid art engravings and full pictorial index to No. 1 of Vol. 2 of Demorest's Young America. With an original premium, two splendid oil pictures, Rock of Ages and The Lyon's Ride, 15x21 inches, mounted on fine cross cut paper, all for 50c. Extra. Send postal card for full particulars.

Address

W. JENNINGS DEMOREST,
17 E. 14th Street, New York.

cow

A Wonderful, Very Elegant Volume.

OUT OF DARKNESS INTO LIGHT

By MARY A. LATHBURY. In the most beautiful and appropriate religious gift book of the year. Eight original poems of the Divine life, illustrated by the author with eight full-page drawings, also twenty exquisite vignettes. Quarto, full, heavy plate paper. Price, $3.50.

The Most Exquisite Holiday Book Issued.

THE NINETY AND NINE.

Illustrated by Robert Lewis. Now ready a new edition, containing additional music to the words, and a letter from the sister of the author. Price, $1.50.

JESUS, LOVER OF MY SOUL.

This little hymn of Devotion, dear to the hearts of thousands, has been finely illustrated by Robert Lewis, and has been published in new price to suit the people of these times. Quarto, full, heavy plate paper. Price $1.50.

D. Lothrop & Co., Boston,

Publish the above and many hundreds of other books for the Holidays and home reading, and send any book post-paid on receipt of price. Catalogues free.

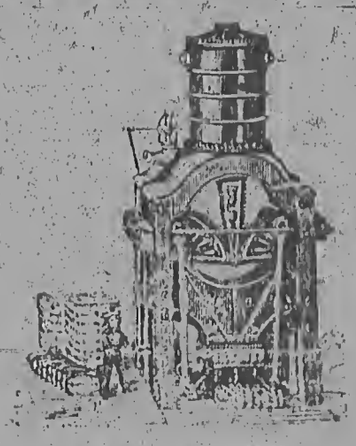
1879 PRICE REDUCED $1.50

THE NURSERY

A Monthly Magazine for Youngest Readers. Superbly Illustrated.

10c

JOHN L. SHOREY, 36 Bromfield St., Boston, Mass.



THE MORSE

COTTON COMPRESS,

The largest and best Steam COTTON PRESS in the world. Steam compress. No. 10 inches square; capacity, 500 bales per day. Less to afford insurance, repairs and interest on investment, and have compressed, weighed, covered and delivered on board the cars at the depot. EIGHTEEN of these presses have been put up in the United States within twelve months. They may be seen in the following compresses in this city: ORLEANS, PELICAN, CRESCENT, PENN'S and LOUISIANA, PLANTERS' LEVEE, Pratt and Tchoupitoulas streets. Memphis, Moline, Wilmington, N. C., Jessup and Vicksburg, Miss. Shreveport, La.

They have the endorsements of the best cotton men in the world. Send for circulars. Prices low. A number of Portable Screw Presses for sale. Address

THE MORSE COTTON PRESS MFG. CO.,
93 Water Street, Boston, Mass.

S. B. STEERS & CO.,

185 Gravier St., New Orleans.

THE # LATEST WONDER

A Perfect Time-Keeper for 50 cts.

Boys, Just think of it! A Watch for 50 cents. Is it no thing? Yes, it is a Watch and will keep time. It is not a toy, but a perfect Watch. Handsomely nickeled and Engine Turned. Price 50 cents each; 5 for $2. The Tuttle Mfg. Co., 93 Water Street, Boston, Mass.

SURE REMEDY FOR BALDNESS Free! Free! Free!

$1 size of a new original Quinine Hair Tonic made to order for each person sending name and address. Sanderson & Co., 2 Boston Place, New York.

60 Chromo cards, 10c. Name in gilt and jet, 15c. Lyman & Co., Clintonville, Ct.

60 Bright and Pretty Chromo cards, no two alike. Name in gold and jet, 15c. Clinton Bros., Clintonville, Ct.

Messrs. J. & C. Mackie:

I find your Horse Pills an excellent remedy for coughs, colds, etc. Please send me a dozen more. Yours truly, Rev. [illegible]

Farm, Garden and Household.

THE EUCALYPTUS IN ALGERIA.—It is hardly more than fifteen years since the first eucalyptus trees were introduced into Algeria, yet their growth has been extraordinary, and some remarkable examples are given in the report of the action of the eucalyptus in improving the sanitary condition of unhealthy districts and in dissipating miasmic influences which created such havoc among the colonists in the first years after the conquest. For instance: Formerly it was impossible for the workmen at the great iron mines of Mokta-el-Hadid to remain there during summer; those who attempted to do so died, and the company was obliged to take laborers to the mines every morning and to carry them back every night. From [illegible] to [illegible] they planted more than [illegible] and now the workmen are able to live all the year on the spot of their labor. The entire work-site, the railway leading to it, are bordered with thick belts of these trees, and each of the miners has his cottage and kitchen garden surrounded with them.—Pall Mall Gazette.

THE ORIGINAL OF THE CULTIVATED POTATO.—A potato plant, [illegible] growing in great abundance in northern New Mexico, is supposed to be the original of our cultivated potato. This native plant forms one of the chief articles of diet of the Navajo Indians. The squaws dig up the small tubers with whatever implements they can obtain, often using a strong, smooth piece of wood with a wedge-shaped end. The plant grows on low, rich spots, and by spring the earth is turned up in every conceivable direction in the search for the potatoes. The latter are from one-half to three quarters of an inch in diameter, and of good flavor—tasting somewhat like boiled chestnuts. The Navajo Indians consume such large quantities at a time as to cause griping pains, and as a remedy take at the same meal a quantity of earthy matter containing magnesia, which relieves the stomach. Some years ago a quantity of tubers of this species of potato were received and distributed by the Department of Agriculture. Reports from various localities stated that, in many cases, these improved under cultivation, and increased largely in size.—Scientific American.

IT is surprising how small is the number of shade trees necessary to produce a striking effect. Ten or twelve trees skillfully disposed, on the sides or brow of a hill, are often sufficient to give it an air of richness harmonizing perfectly with a highly cultivated country. A single tree by a farmer's house protects it, and gives it an air of peace and contentment. An unprotected solitary house gives a chilly, lonesome, barren impression. At this season of the year, when every intelligent farmer is making his plans for the future, let the planting of a few shade and many fruit trees in desirable spots about his premises be included in the work for the year.—American Cultivator.

THERE is one good thing about farming—a man can always raise enough to eat if he is any account. He can raise his potatoes, cabbage, onions, turnips, beets, etc. He can grow the strawberries, raspberries, grapes, apples, peaches, and other fruits, to satisfy the wants of his family. He can have poultry and eggs the year round. Milk and butter in abundance. He can have veal, mutton and beef. He can produce his own pork, and make bacon and hams to last a year. The people in the city, if they have these articles, must own the money, and save it to buy them. This is a big item in favor of the farmer.—Rural World.

STRAWBERRIES.—Growers differ as to fall or spring planting. A new strawberry plant needs a full season's growth to become strong enough to bear a full crop. If the early runners remain where they take root, they will bear a crop next spring. If they are rooted in pots, and transferred to another bed, without any disturbance of the roots, they will bear well next year. If ordinary plants be set next spring, they will grow all the season, and give a crop the year following. If set this fall, they will make some growth, give a few berries next spring, but not a full crop until the next year.—American Agriculturist.

A CEMENT for attaching brass work to bottle necks, lamps, etc., is made by boiling three parts of rosin with one part of caustic soda and five of water. The composition is then mixed with half its weight of plaster of Paris. It sets firmly, is said to be of great adhesive power, not permeable by petroleum, a low conductor of heat, and but superficially attacked by hot water.—Exchange.

ICE CREAM.—Three pints of cream and milk together, reserving a little for mixing the corn starch. Ten ounces of sugar, four even tablespoonfuls of corn starch, vanilla extract, four eggs, whites beaten stiff. Let the milk scald in a farina kettle, add the corn starch, the beaten yolks and the sugar; when the custard adheres well to the spoon add the whites of the eggs, and take it from the fire—flavor, and, when cold, freeze.

ORANGE PUDDING.—One dozen oranges. Make a thin corn-starch pudding of one quart of milk, two eggs, three teaspoonfuls of corn-starch, leaving out the whites of the eggs. When the corn-starch gets cold, pour it over the oranges, already sugared. Beat the whites of the eggs and sugar together, and put on top of the pudding. Then set in a pan of cold water, so that the oranges will not heat while the meringue is browning.

FIVE counties in California have over 19,500 acres of grape vines.

Good Conversation.

The Christian gentleman studies and practices such rules of the Bible, the best hand-book in the world on the art of conversation, as the following: "Let your speech be always with grace, seasoned with salt, that you may know how you ought to answer every man." "Let no corrupt communication proceed out of your mouth, but that which is good to the use of edifying." "Speak evil of no man." "Putting away lying, speak every man truth to his neighbor." "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver."

He despises gossip, and hates slander. He would no sooner talk about your private affairs with others than he would steal your purse, or peep through your keyhole; and he considers slander the most heinous of crimes.

His conversation is marked by its purity. He tells no story, and utters no word that he would blush to have understood by the most chaste and refined woman.

He deems it ungentlemanly, as well as wicked, to emphasize his conversation with profane oaths. He respects the feelings of others too much to speak lightly of him whom the Christian loves better than the dearest earthly friend.

He speaks his native language in its purity. He avoids slang. It matters little how well a man may be dressed, how elegant his manners, or how accomplished he may be in the classics and foreign languages, if he does not speak his mother tongue in its purity, he cannot be received as a perfect gentleman. False syntax, mixed idioms, the prostitution of sublime words to mean uses, slang phrases, betray want of culture or vulgarity in spite of all disguise. They frequently indicate a want of moral character. He who fre[illegible]s a smattering of French to the matters of his own language must care more for show than for true worth. He who confines in the using the magnificent language which has been intrusted to him as a rich legacy for posterity is not fit, it would seem, for places of high trust. The vocabulary and phrases of a man afford a fair estimate of his culture and character. Words are the balances by which we are weighed. "By thy words" says Jesus Christ, "shalt thou be justified, and by thy words shalt thou be condemned."

The conversation of the Christian gentleman is truthful. He never utters a falsehood for any purpose. He would not lie to escape from any difficulty or to secure any reward. Moreover, he avoids exaggeration and careless errors. Speaking always with authority, his declarations may ever be relied upon with safety.

He never descends to angry disputation. He is not one of those who are forever arguing. He is not an egotist who disputes on politics or religion to show that "even though vanquished, he could argue still." He has opinions, and is able at a fitting time to give his reasons; but he never descends into the arena to make a show of his controversial powers. He is free also from dogmatism, which mars the characters of so many men of talent, never attempting to force his opinions upon others, but will too gladly accept them. Neither is he a pedant who talks incessantly that he may overpower you with a sense of his musty learning. Nor has he a hobby which he is forever trying to make you ride to bind him to death. Nor does he insult your self-respect by descending to commonplace, or flattering words and compliments, or flattering nonsense, as if such food only were suited to your delicate soul.

His talk is at once entertaining and instructive. With no assumption of airs, he teaches you as though he taught you not. He interests himself in those things which interest you. He discovers your best thoughts, and gives to them a beautiful expression. He gives you the facts for which you have been in search. He tells you the news you delight to hear. He excites those emotions of your heart that please you, and then shares your enjoyment. If prejudice he strike a tender chord that reminds you of your grief, he heals the wound with his genuine sympathy. He strengthens your good resolutions with new motives that you had not discovered. Avoiding base ridicule and biting sarcasm, he cheers you with his sparkling wit.

Master of the art of conversation, he does not suffer the time to run to waste in awkward silence or vain words. He chooses the themes and talks with a purpose. He is as good a listener as he is a talker. He listens with such attentive interest that he makes the most reticent speak. In being a good listener, in knowing when to keep silent, and how to draw out from others their best thoughts, consists half or more than half the art of successful conversation.

Such a Christian gentleman is welcome wherever he goes; for, at the head of the table, or in the center of the drawing-room, he is the life of the company, and the joy of the social circle.—Sunday Afternoon.

UNSELFISHNESS.—Joseph William Turner, one of the greatest of English landscape painters, was one of the committee whose business it was to arrange about hanging the pictures sent for exhibition to the Royal Academy. The walls were already crowded when his attention was attracted by one which had been painted by an unknown artist, from some distant town, and who had no friend to advance his interest.

"A good picture," exclaimed Turner, as soon as his critical eye rested on it, "it must be hung up and exhibited."

"Impossible!" replied the other members of the committee with one voice, "the arrangement cannot be disturbed; quite impossible."

"A good picture," persisted the generous Turner, "it must be hung up." And so saying, he took down one of his own pictures, and put the unknown Mr. Bird's in its place.

Let us learn the lesson of not looking on his own things, but every one also on the things of others.

RELIGIOUS
BOOK DEPOSITORY!
Agency Advocate Publishing House Methodist, St. Louis,
MARVIN'S LIFE AND [illegible]
D. L. MITCHEL, Business Agent.
27 CAMP ST., NEW OR[illegible]

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS
FOR SALE [illegible]
J. A. PIERCE,
75 Magazine St.

LECTURES AND SERMONS
OF
Rev. W. F. MUNSEY, D.D.
J. W. BURKE & CO.

Holiday Music Books!
CHRISTMAS CAROLS.
Christmas Chimes
Christmas Carols.
Eleven Christmas Carols
Christmas Voices
Christmas Selections.
Christmas Carols, Old and Single Carols,
Church Offering. L. O. Emerson
Noel, [illegible] ORATORIO, a Christ-
The School Song Book. [illegible]
MASON'S PIANO FORTE TECHNICS.
OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.
C. H. DITSON & CO.,
843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

WASHBURN'S
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART
GALLERY,
CORNER CANAL ST. AND EXCHANGE PLACE.
☞ The handsomest place of the kind in the city.
A PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in a manner not excelled by any other establishment in this country.
Copying and enlarging Old and Faded Pictures a specialty.
Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY.

Joseph Gillott
Steel Pens.
303 404 170 351 332,
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
[illegible]
Vanduzen & Tift, 102 E. 2d St., Cincinnati.

BLYMYER M'F'G CO
BELLS
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O

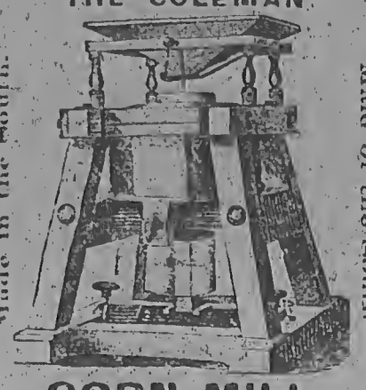
WATERS' Orchestrion chimes ORGAN, the most beautiful, stylish and perfect [illegible] ever made. Being the celebrated Concert-stop, which is a fine imitation of the Human Voice, and [illegible] Octaves of bells united in perfect harmony with the reeds, & their effect magical & electrifying. WATERS' CLARIONA, ORCHESTRAL CONCERTO, VESPER, CENTENNIAL CHIMES, CHAPEL, and COTTAGE ORGANS, in Unique French Cases are in every respect FIRST CLASS.
WATERS' PIANOS, GRAND, SQUARE, and Upright, ARE THE BEST MADE: the Tone, Touch, Workmanship, & Durability Unsurpassed. Warranted for SIX YEARS. PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for cash. Monthly Installments received. A Liberal Discount to Teachers, Ministers, Churches, Schools, &c. AGENTS WANTED. Special Inducements to the trade. Illustrated Catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments at Great Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14th STREET, UNION SQUARE, NEW YORK, Box, 3567.

CHURCH ORGANS!
As to Styles, Latest Improvements, Low Prices, Easy Terms. All sizes for Parlors, Chapels and Churches, costing from $100 to $10,000 and upwards. Circulars Free.
E. & G. HOOK & HASTINGS, Boston.

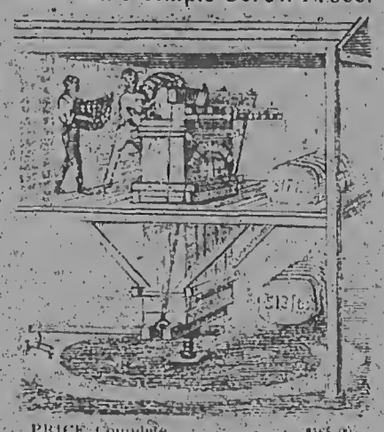
THE STANDARD
CHROMATIC TUNING
OR PITCH-PIPE,
Gives the correct pitch of any tone, Natural, Sharp or Flat, Adjusted to the desired pitch instantly. Never gets out of order. FINELY NICKEL-PLATED. No Leader, Instrumental Player or Singer should be without one.
RETAILED AT $1.50,
Sent to any address upon receipt of price.
DANIEL M. READ & CO.,
847 BROADWAY, N. Y.,
Inventors and Manufacturers.
Sold by all Music Dealers.

GOLD! Any worker can make $12 a day at home. Costly outfit free. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Maine.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. Will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CHICESTER, 218 Fulton street, New York.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.
H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.
Mills, Engines and Machinery,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
WE SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines, Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Presses and Machinery delivered at depots or river landings.
Engine prices greatly reduced.
THE COLEMAN
Made in the South. Mill of the South.


CORN MILL.
VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York State to Texas, over thirty-three different competitors during the past twenty-eight years.
Awarded the only Gold Medal ever awarded to any Corn Mill in the United States. Simple, strong, durable and cheap, with solid French Burr Stones. Made by
H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.,
New Orleans, La.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press.


PRICE, Complete $65.00
Weight 1[illegible] screw 4 inches in diameter. Packing box 8 feet square. Simple, strong, durable, and guaranteed to pack a 500 lb bale. Send for circular. Manufactured by
H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.,
New Orleans, La.
We make also the Friction Power Press. (Simmons' patents).

STRONGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.
INCREASING POPULARITY.
Number of bales tied in 1876 15,
Number of bales tied in 1877 25,
COST OF
1000 Ties, including freight ..... 55 cts. per bale
1000 Coupling, including freight ..... 3½ cts. per bale
Cash must be sent to fill all orders for a Commission.
Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo.
Manufacturers of Iron and Wire Goods.

WIRE RAILING
AND
Ornamental Wire Works.
DUFUR & CO., No. 9 N. Howard St., Baltimore, Manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Bank Railings, etc., Sieves, Fenders, Coal and Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc., Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

CONVERTIBLE FARM MILL

THE simplest, best and most durable stone mill in the world. Any farmer can run and grind as fine meal as any mill and store, or as coarse feed as he chooses. Every Mill guaranteed. Send for Circular B with Price List.
Vertical position.
C. B. OGLESBY & Co.,
58 Canal St., Chicago.

BIG GIANT CORN MILL.
Every Man His Own Miller.

The only Mill that will grind as fine as when new [illegible] with worn out. The only Mill grinding Corn and Cobs as coarsely that will grind shelled Corn fine enough for family use. Grinding two bushels as [illegible] any other Mill of same size and price. Manufactured by
J. A. FIELD, SON & CO.,
922 N. Second St., St. Louis.

Broadway Foundry Co.
JOHN J. HOLLIDAY,
SUPERINTENDENT.
313 Carr Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.
Manufacturers of Stationary and Portable
Steam Engines and Boilers
MILAY AND CIRCULAR SAW MILLS,
Saw and Grist Mill Machinery, Rolling Mill and Blast Furnace Castings, Wrought Shafting and House Work. PARKER'S & JOHNSON'S WATER WHEELS. Tobacco and Lard Press Screws, Compound Tobacco Presses, Lard Kettles. Iron and Brass CASTINGS of every description; also Quartz Mills and Smelting Furnaces of most improved descriptions.
HAVE PURCHASED ALL THE WHEEL & PULLEY PATTERNS OF GATY, MCCUNE & CO.
J. B. DAVIES, late of Lodisville, Mechanical Mach'r.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.

A BEAUTIFUL, USEFUL and EASY-SELLING ARTICLE.
Wanted by every FARMER, HUNTER, TRAPPER, FISHERMAN, SPORTSMAN, and EVERY FAMILY.
The most perfect scale ever invented. Is graduated from 2 oz. to 16 lbs; is about the size of a man's forefinger; weighs only 2 oz., and can be carried in the pocket without inconvenience. Thus being always ready to meet an ever-recurring and universal want. The novelty, beauty and usefulness of the article is sure to sell it. By an ingenious contrivance this little wonder is so arranged that by its sibiling shell it may be so adjusted as to give the exact weight of matter weighed, without subtracting the weight of the receptacle in which the matter is weighed—an advantage possessed by no other scale. It is a new idea, and sure to sell. Each scale is heavily nickel-plated, and will be sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents.
GEORGE BETTS,
575 Broadway, New York,
Sole proprietor and manufacturer.
AGENTS WANTED.

MISCELLANEOUS.
Pontchartrain Cheap Store.
J. A. LACROIX,
CORNER FRENCHMEN AND VICTORY STS.
LADIES, GENTS, MISSES AND CHILDREN'S
BOOTS AND SHOES
OF ALL DESCRIPTIONS.
Always on hand a full assortment of first-class goods, at prices which defy competition. Call and examine my stock before purchasing elsewhere.
MY MOTTO—Quick Sales and Small Profits.
Jackson railroad cars pass in front of the store.

FOUNDED JULY 4, 1808.
OLDEST SHOT TOWER IN AMERICA
THOS. W. SPARKS,
Patent American
Chilled Shot,
Standard Drop and Buck Shot,
AND BAR LEAD MANUFACTURER,
121 WALNUT STREET,
PHILADELPHIA.
F. A. BEHAN, Agent,
NEW ORLEANS.
G. B. MILLER & CO., Agents,
GALVESTON.

Country Orders for Millinery
AND FANCY GOODS.

Parties in the country who are unable to visit the city can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.
F. R. HARDON,
Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans.
Second door above Custom House.

PERFORATED
VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,
For Churches, Halls and Lodges are coming into general use on account of their Comfort, Durability, Cleanliness, and Ornament.

No. 115.
Churches intending to [illegible] or Settees will do well to correspond with
CARDNER & CO.,
Patentees and Manufacturers,
376 PEARL ST., NEW YORK.

NO MORE
RHEUMATISM
OR GOUT
ACUTE OR CHRONIC
SALICYLICA
SURE CURE.
Manufactured by European Salicylic Medicine Co.
OF PARIS AND LEIPZIG.
RELIEVES IMMEDIATELY.
CURES PERMANENTLY.
Now [illegible] by the [illegible] celebrated Doctors of Europe and America, and thoroughly introduced throughout the United States, miraculous cures having been made in nearly every city and State.
Price, $1.00 a box; 6 boxes for 5.00.
Orders filled by mail, or ask your druggist for it.
WASHBURNE & CO.
Sole Agents.
23 Cliff street, New York.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.
A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by a true process of re-vitalization,
REMARKABLE CURES have been made in Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Dyspepsia, Headache, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and the [illegible] of ailments which come from [illegible] depression,
LOSS OF VITALITY [illegible] of constitution, the [illegible] effects of climate, and especially
IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES the [illegible] reaction which afflicts convalescence, and which dooms so many to permanent invalidism.
STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. JUDGE KELLEY, T. S. ARTHUR, Hon. MONTGOMERY BLAIR, Ex-Gov. BOREMAN of West Virginia, and others who have used the New Treatment.
FREE! A Treatise [illegible] pages on COMPOUND OXYGEN, with many testimonials to most remarkable cures, sent free. Address
DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard St., Philada.

DR. S. C. KRAM,
MANUFACTURER OF THE
SURE CURE TRUSS,
N. W. cor. Fifth & Elm sts., Cincinnati, O.
THE BEST TRUSS IN THE WORLD!
Those who have suffered untold agony for years, by wearing the Metallic Spring Trusses will find in the SURE CURE TRUSS all that is claimed upon it—a sure cure for all the [illegible] attendant upon rupture. It is a BELT TRUSS, on springs, strong elastic in back; vulcanite rubber pads that never blister, never slip. Can be worn at night.
Testimonials and cures can be seen at the office.
No. 1 Plastic Trusses, the best manufactured, warranted, at $4 for single, $4 for double. Examinations free.
Trusses sent free by mail on receipt of order and money. Send stamp for circular.

AGENTS WANTED.
AGENTS WANTED FOR THE PICTORIAL
History of the Wor[illegible]
It contains 672 fine historical engravings, large double-column pages, and [illegible] complete History of the world [illegible] at sight. Send for specimen pages and terms to Agents, and see why it sells faster than any other book. Address
NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis, Mo.

AGENTS WANTED FOR LITERATURE, ART & SO[illegible]
Acknowledged the [illegible] Family Book ever issued [illegible] binding. Poetry, Histories, Biographies, Anecdotes and Music. Magnificently illustrated, with over [illegible] Engravings, Useful Steel Engraving [illegible] seller. This work [illegible] circle. AGENTS, [illegible] for the Holidays. Extra [illegible] tent Agents. Write at [illegible] tory. J. H. CHAMBERS & CO., Mo. and Atlanta, Ga.

NOW READY.
The Grand Achievements of STANLEY Only $[illegible]
By Hon. J. T. Headley, [illegible] authors. A full history [illegible] Africa, and [illegible] A new exciting book, [illegible] adventure and thrilling [illegible] is profusely illustrated [illegible] awaited. It is a [illegible] wonderful. [illegible]
CAUTION Beware [illegible] of pretenders, and [illegible] also [illegible] N. D. THOMPSON & CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

$10 to $25 A [illegible] ture and Chromo Cards [illegible] postpaid for 25 cents. [illegible] J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS.

A GENTS wanted for [illegible] THE TIMES, [illegible] including Life and Work of Reynolds, with History to date [illegible] pages. Low [illegible] GUARANTEE PUBLISHING CO.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER
[illegible] Farmers, Mechanics, Everybody, every family. Cost [illegible] Send for list. W. ZIEGLER & CO.

MAKE $10
YOU CAN
Acting as Our Salesman
We are desirous of securing AGENTS either [illegible] as they may regard to business, when you receive [illegible] carefully. Address [illegible] circulars.
G. W. FOSTER & CO.
275 AND 285 S. MAIN STREET,
Chicago, Illinois.

AGENTS WANTED FOR DR. MA[illegible]
NEW BOOK
FROM DARK TO DAW[illegible]
In this new volume Dr. [illegible] Night Scenes in the [illegible] and thrilling force the [illegible] adds fresh testimony to [illegible] sincerity of the Stories, and [illegible] this Book with its [illegible] of engravings, makes a [illegible] marks. J. C. McCURDY & CO.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET OR[illegible]
[illegible] GOLD MEDAL [illegible] AWARDS. Vocal Power, Purity of Quality, Perfection of Mechanism, Elegance of Design, Great Durability, Unequaled Excellence in all Styles and Prices. Illustrated Catalogue free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., BOSTON, N. Y. CHICAGO.

BLANCARD'S PILLS

You Want It / Better / PRICE REDUCED / Paying Information / For Wea[illegible] / Children / OVER 700 Fine ENGRAVI[illegible] / American Agricultur[illegible] / To Clubs often / ONLY $1 EACH. / 4 copies, $3.25 each. / One number, [illegible] / A MAGNIFICENT Steel [illegible] / Largo PREMIUMS for C[illegible] / Issued in [illegible] / TRY IT. IT WILL PA[illegible] / Children Want It / Orange Judd Co[illegible]

ELASTIC JOINT
IRON ROOFI[illegible]
FIRE, WATER AND WIND PR[illegible]
Durable, Cheap, easily applied. [illegible] Provides for expansion and [illegible] In practical use all [illegible] Boxed for shipment to any part of the [illegible] Address for Circular, CALDWELL & CO.,

Unquestionably the Best and Cheapest Windmill. Protected by two patents. Eight First Premiums. Lighter, less and durable. Has more wind surface, lighter wheels, is more automatic, and more water than any other windmill ever rounded. Requires no attention, no [illegible] running expenses. It has successfully withstood the tornadoes of the West, while other [illegible] the tornadoes of the West, while other [illegible] stood near them have been destroyed. It [illegible] supersedes others, there. See certificates, testimonials in our Illustrated Catalogue.
Kewanee Manuf'g Co. Patentees.
Office 35 BROADWAY, New York.
N. B.—Responsible Salesmen wanted to all parts of the World.

SCIENTIFIC.

THE MEGAPHONE.—In the "Scientific American" is the first intelligible explanation of the megaphone that we have seen. This instrument is discovered by Mr. Edison in the course of his phonographic experiments, and seems to render conversation possible at the distance of a mile or two. It is simply an exaggeration of the vocal and hearing organs. In appearance it is not unlike a huge speaking-tube, six feet in length, with a small bell tapering so as to fit comfortably in rubber tubes which are held to the ears. Between these bell-shaped barrels and parallel with them is a speaking trumpet somewhat longer than the usual size, and having a bell-mouth. With this apparatus it is possible to hear ordinary conversation at an astonishing distance, and with two of them communication may easily be kept up a mile and a half away.

—At a late meeting of the London Entomological Society, Mr. Rothery exhibited a series of large brown irregular masses of strong web, from four to seven inches in diameter, built of the common envelopes of aggregations of cocoons of a species of silk-worm allied to Anaphe panda, Boisduval, sent from Mt. Cameroons (6,000 feet elevation.) Each of these masses contained from one hundred and thirty to one hundred and fifty individual cocoons; and to some of them were attached cases containing larvæ of the allied genus of a parasite—either Diptera or Hymenoptera, probably the latter.

—A curious and interesting feature of the phonograph is that by it one can really see what sound looks like, having captured it in the phonograph, one can examine the record at leisure. Scientists are already at work upon it, and the results are likely to be exceedingly interesting. Each vowel sound is found to have a characteristic record, that for long for, example, resembling two sea-shells with their handles together. The long and short sounds of the same vowels have a similar record, differing only as theory would lead one to expect.

—MUSHROOMS.—A enterprising Parisian has, according to the Gaulois, leased a long disused, half-ruined stone cave at the foot of the Buttes in Hadoken, and is successfully cultivating mushrooms with the aid of a secret chemical process. He expects to be able to sell all he raises at sixty cents a bushel, the hotels of New York and Vienna being his principal customers.

—DYNAMITE GELATINE.—Nobel, the inventor of dynamite, is reported to have devised a still more powerful explosive, to which he gives the above name. Its composition is said to be 93 per cent of nitro-glycerine, and 7 per cent of collodion cotton. It is said that it may be made into cartridges, cakes, or balls, and may be cut with a knife or scissors.

Years Before the Public.

THE GENUINE

C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

VER PILLS,

or Liver Complaint,

ms of a Disordered Liver,

ULY UNDELIVERED

McLane's Liver Pills and McLane's Vermifuge Powders, when taken according to directions, are specifics for all the diseases. No better cathartic or other preparatory to or after taking Quinine. We would advise all afflicted with the above to make a fair trial.

Ladies, gentlemen, children, all of either sex, are cordially invited to give McLane's Liver Pills a fair trial.

CAUTION AGAINST IMITATIONS.

Genuine McLane's Liver Pills and McLane's Vermifuge Powders are never sold in bulk or by the dozen, but are always put up in sealed boxes, with the signature of C. McLane on the outside wrapper. Each box of Pills has a pink wrapper, and each box of Powders a yellow wrapper. Counterfeits are often put up to imitate the genuine, but can be detected by the absence of the signature of C. McLane on the outside wrapper. Ask your druggist for McLane's Liver Pills and McLane's Vermifuge Powders, and take no others. Prepared by C. McLane, Philadelphia, Pa., the genuine being the manufactory of the name McLane, deceased, but same procured from

SOWARE

EDUCATIONAL.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.

"THE price and quality of board and tuition compares favorably with other colleges, while the peculiar constitution of the college and the influence of its surroundings render it, in my judgment the very best and safest place for boys and young men, at a certain stage of culture, which exists in the Methodist Church South."—Rev. E. M'Grace, A. M., of Alabama.

Address J. H. BRUNNER, D. D., Hiwassee College, Tenn.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

230 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum

NEW ORLEANS.

Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 219 CARONDELET STREET,

Between Julia and St. Joseph,

New Orleans, La.

CARRIAGES, WAGONS, ETC.,

J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

162 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

EDSON H. EDSON. ARTHUR L. EDSON.

EDSON & SON,

Manufacturers of

Carriages and Buggies

LIGHT AND HEAVY SPRING WAGONS.

715 N. [illegible] ST. LOUIS, MO.

Hurlbridge Phaetons, Surreys and all kinds of Spring Wagons constantly on hand and made to order.

FIRST PREMIUM AT ST. LOUIS FOR 1878

JOHN KIMPEL,

Manufacturer of

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES,

CLARENCE WAGONS, TRUCKS,

LIGHT AND HEAVY SPRING WAGONS,

[illegible] ST. LOUIS, MO.

Manufactures Hearses, Carriages and all kinds of Spring Wagons.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS

IN

CARRIAGE, WAGON

AND

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

And Manufacturers of

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,

At as Reasonable Prices

108 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.,

Between Common and Gravier,

NEW ORLEANS

Globe Wagon Manufactory

D. T. SHEARON & CO.,

Proprietors

Wagons, Carts & Drays

MADE TO ORDER.

Southern Orders Respectfully Solicited.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

GEO. PURVES'

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD

Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,

55 ST. CHARLES STREET 55

NEW ORLEANS.

ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN

OF ALL KINDS.

Also a New Hooks, Lines and every desirable article for the Angler, Shot-guns and Pistols. Come inspect our Goods and Prices. Repairing of Guns, Brush and Mop Locks, Broken Ways on hand. All kinds of Sporting Artificial Baits. Address Postoffice Box 1207.

PIANOS.

PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the best and most satisfactory manner, at

Mr. Burchardt's Manufactory,

033 MAGAZINE STREET 033

Between Jackson and Josephine Sts. apr

WHEELER & PIERSON (successors to Bates & Wheeler and Pierson & Hews,) Nos. 13 & 15 CAMPOE opposite the City Hotel.

CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good Goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited, and a liberal deduction made to them. Wholesale department up stairs. ap

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.

CARPETINGS, Wilton Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three Ply, etc.

FLOOR OIL CLOTH, English and American.

MATTINGS, cocoa, China Matting, Check and Fancy.

WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.

FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.

BUCLAN'S Table and Enamel OIL CLOTHS.

A. BRODTMANN & CO.

GOODWYN'S EUREKA YEAST POWDER, a preparation of this city is both popular with the trade and the public at all [illegible] and is unequalled for light, sweet and wholesome bread. Send for circular and prices. P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer, No. 29 Constance Street, New Orleans, La.

Established in St. Louis in 1858.

R. L. ROSEBROUGH SONS,

Marble Works,

No. 1441 BROADWAY,

Between O'Fallon and East Avenues,

ST. LOUIS, MO.

BUSINESS CARDS.

G. B. GORDIN,

GORDIN & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS

AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!

M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.

Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed.... $4 00

Home-Made Shoes, screwed.. $3 to $3 50

City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles, made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent's, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

W. W. CARRE,

HORACE U. BEACH, Manager,

LUMBER YARD,

810 DELORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Cabins and Dressed Lumber a specialty.

COAL.....COAL.

H. & C. TYLER,

D.....CARONDELET ST.....D.

will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates.

H. & C. TYLER.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,

DEALERS IN

PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND

CANNEL COAL,

FOR FAMILY USE. Office—No. 21 Carondelet street. Landing—On Levee, foot of Esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to plantation orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.

CHAS. O. LANGENBECKER, M. D.,

Successor to H. Stumpf,

PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,

Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans.

Dealer in fine Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

H. H. HUSSMAN,

DEALER IN

PITTSBURG COAL,

Oak, Ash and Pine Wood.

NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

J. A. BOURG,

COMMISSION MERCHANT,

147 DECATUR St., near Old Levee, New Orleans. P. O. Lock Box 87.

Will attend to the sale of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Moss, Hides, Wool, Eggs, Poultry, Game of all kinds, Beeswax, Honey, and every description of Garden Produce. Country orders solicited.

T. W. BOTHICK,

UNDERTAKER,

271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Embalming and Disinterring. Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,

COLORED SATINS,

EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,

ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.

WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES.

D. H. HOLMES,

135 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SAM. HENDERSON,

Cotton Factor, Commission Merchant and Purchasing Agent,

48 CARONDELET ST., New Orleans. Does business on Orange principles and at Orange prices.

The Stewart Stove

WITH LATEST IMPROVEMENTS,

is now the

LEADING STOVE OF THE AGE.

There can be no failure in its perfect operation WITH ONE-HALF the fuel and cost of any other Stove made.

Can be had for coke, coal or wood.

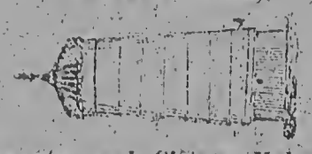
Has no fear of chimneys for baking, etc., can be at the least with little extra cost.

Pieces to repair old Stewart Stoves constantly on hand.

J. H. CAMPMAN,

133 Poydras Street.

R. B. MITCHELL,



Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

183 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

M. H. APPLEGATE,

PLUMBER,

AND DEALER IN

COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,

Bath-Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Air Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns,

148 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.

Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

SPECTACLES.

R. & J. BECK,

Manufacturing Optician.

921 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Would call special attention to their unequalled Stock of Microscopes, Telescopes, Opera, Field and Marine Glasses, Spectacles and Eye Glasses, Thermometers, Barometers, Compasses, etc., the largest and most varied in the United States, at

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

Send three stamps for our splendidly illustrated and priced catalogue of 110 pages.

Mention what Paper you saw this in.

HEATH, PIPPEY & LARA,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

CARPETS, FLOOR OIL CLOTHS,

UPHOLSTERY GOODS, Wall Paper, Window Shades, Cornices, Lace and Nottingham Curtains, Mirrors, Moldings, Chromos, Engravings, etc.

☞ Frames made to order—a specialty.

No. 99 Camp Street, New Orleans.

EVERY MAN His Own PRINTER. THE EXCELSIOR $3 Press Plain is, self-inker $5 P. Larger sizes for business, pleasure, young men. Catalogue of Presses, Type, Etc., for 2 stamps. KELSEY & Co., Meriden, Conn.

PIANOS $125 to $100 factory prices! Matthushek's scale for squares—finest uprights in America—over 12,000 in use—regularly incorporated M'f'g Co. Pianos sent on trial—48-page Catalogue free. Mendelssohn Piano Co., 21 E. 15th Street, N. Y. cow

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

$500. MADE IN 87 DAYS. 1,000 IN 1878. AGENTS WANTED. 1,000 FREE. Buckeye Novelty Co., Cincinnati, O.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples, worth $5, free. Address STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

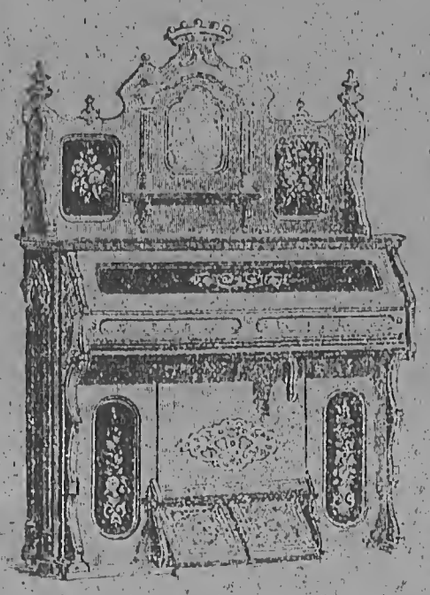
MISCELLANEOUS.

PHILIP WERLEIN.



This Cut Represents

MASON & HAMLIN'S

$190 ORGAN.

REDUCED TO $135,

on easiest payments—$150 cash, and $5 or $10 per month. Freight from Boston included.

$90 Organ Reduced to $72.

$5 QUARTERLY.

Very highly improved Pianos of J. P. Hale & Co., with stool and cover, (no extra charge) reduced to $250, on easiest payments known—$50 cash, and $10 a month until paid.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

135 CANAL STREET,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in

CHICKERING & SONS' PIANOS,

MATHUSHEK PIANOS,

HALES PIANOS,

HARDMAN'S PIANOS,

ORGANS.

MASON & HAMLIN'S,

ESTEY & CO.'S,

NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO.'S.

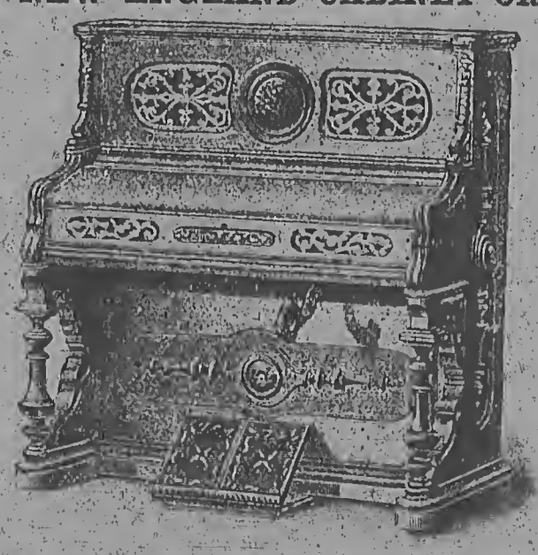
☞ Liberal discount for cash.

Parties at a distance may order with the assurance of receiving just as good instruments as though present to select for themselves. If not found satisfactory they may be returned at my expense.

PHILIP WERLEIN,

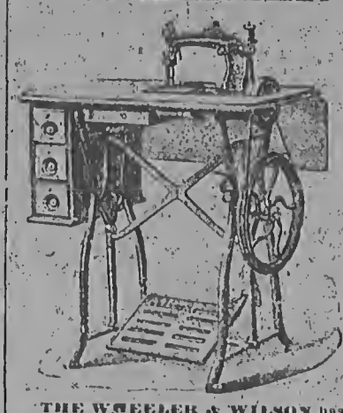
135 Canal street, New Orleans.

THE NEW ENGLAND CABINET ORGAN.



CONTAIN all modern improvements, and are furnished in a variety of Styles and Ornamentations, adapted to Church and Home use. Every instrument fully warranted. Illustrated catalogue sent free upon application to the NEW ENGLAND ORGAN CO., 1290 Washington St., Boston, Mass., PHILIP WERLEIN, Sole Agent, New Orleans, La. cow

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to	$60.
" 90 " " "	50.
" 85 " " "	45.
" 80 " " "	40.
" 75 " " "	35.
" 70 " " "	35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, and upward of 1,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self-adjusting needle.
It never cuts the thread or goods.
It is a new invention, with straight needle.
It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.
It has no noisy cog wheels.
It has no complicated cloth feed.
It allows the work to run back from the operator.

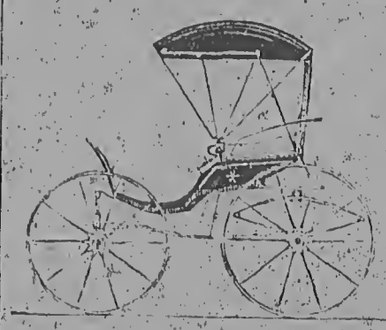
☞ Send for our New Cash Price List.

☞ CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM:

103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.



ANDERSON, HARRIS & CO.,

Wholesale Manufacturers of

Buggies, Phætons,

CARRIAGES AND VEHICLES

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION.

OFFICE AND FACTORY:

N. E. Cor. Baymiller and Liberty Sts.,

CINCINNATI.

Sixth Street (Green) Cars pass the door.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY,

FURNITURE EMPORIUM,

Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.

FEATHERS.

SPRING, HAIR AND MOSS MATTRESSES.

FINE PARLOR SUITS,

IN SILK, SATIN, COTOLINE REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.

FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.

Fine Dining-Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.

$8, $10, $15 EACH.

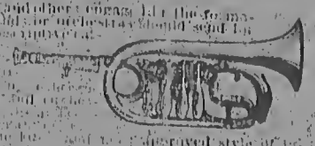
OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES ARE the only real imitation Gold Watches that are made with all the latest improvements at the above prices. They are really a beautiful Watch. Send direct to us for a Watch or Circular. Ladies from 21 to 36 dozens of the same. COLLINS GOLD METAL WATCH FACTORY, 25 Broadway, N. Y., P. O. Box 3,535.

MISCELLANEOUS.



Leaders and others using the famous [illegible] should send for [illegible] LYON & HEALY, [illegible] State St., Chicago.

Marder, Luse & Co.

TYPE FOUNDERS,

CHICAGO,

[illegible] complete Type Foundery [illegible] and all sections [illegible] Send for pamphlet [illegible]

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED PRICE LIST.

BRINLY PLOWS

BEST & CHEAPEST IN USE.

SUITED TO EVERY KIND OF SOIL OR WORK.

BRINLY, MILES & HARDY SOLE MANUFACTURERS LOUISVILLE, KY.

WANTED—Agents For THE PICTORIAL Bible Commentator.

[illegible] Illustrations [illegible] the most complete [illegible] commentary on the entire Scripture [illegible] ever published. There is nothing like [illegible] Agents are selling it at the rate of [illegible] per day. Price, $3.75. Send for circulars, terms, etc., and see [illegible] FAMILY Bible.

[illegible] Publishers of Books, at [illegible] Pa. [illegible] Bibles, with Concordance, Maps, Illustrations, etc., and the Pictorial Bible Commentator. Agents wanted for all the above books. Extra terms. Send for circulars. Address as above. Refer to BRADLEY, GARRETSON & Co., Brantford, Ont.; or Wm. GARRETSON & Co., Bucyrus, Ohio; Logansport, Ind.; Quincy, Ill.

MEDICATED RAW SILK FOOT PROTECTOR

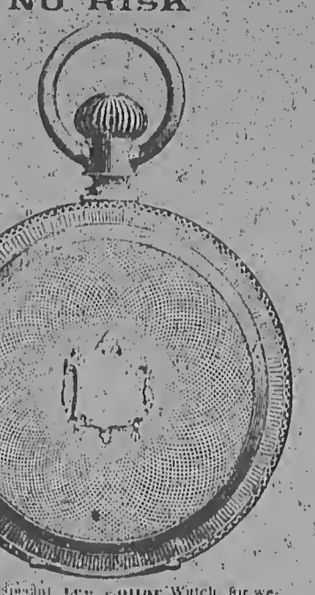
PAT'D APRIL 25, 1876. MANF'D BY STUTTLE & SONS PHILA.

[illegible] respect of wood ink [illegible] together with [illegible] first by the foot [illegible] Rheumatism, and [illegible] cold and damp feet. Make a good and [illegible] present, or to any one [illegible] goods sent by mail. In ordering [illegible] 25 cents, or less [illegible] Size of shoe worn, and [illegible] Agents wanted. Address as above.

D. W. JOHNSON,

324 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

NO RISK



To buy your Special Ten Dollar Watch, for we guarantee the case to be Solid Coin Silver, except engraved outer shield, which is Nickel. They are certainly the best Watch now for sale. Time and Quality, that has ever been offered for the price. Our Prospectus is the Key. Keep watches. Write us and the above to any address [illegible] on receipt of money and twenty-five cents extra (to register, etc., or $10.25) Fully Warranted. WM. HENDRICK & SON, 110 Fourth Ave., Louisville, Ky. Send Catalogue free on application. (Mention this paper.)

DR. S. H. P. LEE'S

LITHONTRIPTIC

CURES STONE AND GRAVEL, GALL STONES, DIABETES, GOUT, ENLARGEMENT OF THE PROSTATE GLAND, and in its [illegible] stages, SCROFULOUS DISEASE.

DISSOLVES

STONE AND GRAVEL

in the Kidneys, Liver and Bladder. Is known for the [illegible] remedy. Physicians [illegible] the most [illegible] to [illegible] Pamphlet [illegible] Druggists. H. T. HELMBOLD'S DRUG AND CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Clinton Place, New York City; sold by druggists.

LADY AGENTS WANTED FOR

MADAME GRISWOLD'S

PATENT SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSETS.

[illegible] 16th St. New York.

BRANCH OFFICE

No. 11 WINTER ST., BOSTON, MASS.

Any of the above goods sent by mail, postage prepaid, on receipt of the [illegible] Send for descriptive circular.

CAUTION.

Before purchasing, look for Shaw's Trade Mark.

REVOLVER FREE Seven Shot Revolver, Adel's Improved Model, with Box Cartridges. Adel's J. Brown & Son, [illegible] Wood St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

100,000 Men and Women [illegible] Wallets or Purses [illegible] $5 [illegible] Send [illegible] how to make $5 [illegible] REV. S. F. [illegible] Mass.

$7 A DAY to Agents to canvass for the Fireside Visitor. Terms & Outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots, and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₱ lb.
Western		17
New York, good to cream'y		25
Coffee, ₱ lb.
Rio fair	16	17
Rio good	16	16½
Rio prime	16½	17
Candles, ₱ lb.
Star, best brands	12	13
Corn Meal, ₱ bbl.
Best, N. O.	2 15	2 25
Cheese, ₱ lb.
Factory		14
N. Y. cream and English dairy	15	16
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in bbls	—	1 60
Mackerel, extra No. 1, in kits	—	1 65
Sardines, quarter boxes	13	14½
Flour, ₱ bbl.
Superfine	3 00	3 25
XX	4 00	4 00
XXX	4 25	4 75
Choice XXX	—	—
Choice family	5	5 12
Fruits:
Dried apples, ₱ lb.	—	—
Dried peaches, ₱ lb.	—	—
Raisins, ¼ quarter box	50	55
Raisins, ½ half box	—	1 40
Raisins, ₱ whole box	1 80	1 85
Bananas, ₱ bunch	1 00	2 00
Crackers, ₱ lb.
Soda	6	6
Butter	6	7
Sugar	6	9
Gingernuts	9	12½
Oil:
Coal, in cases, best	—	45
Coal, in barrels, best	—	35
Insurance, in cases	—	40
Insurance, in barrels	—	35
Lard, in barrels, best	65	70
Molasses, in barrels.
Common	20	22
Fair	23	25
Prime to choice	28	33
Golden and Roquet strups	—	—
Half bbls. 5c. and kegs 10c. more.
Rice, Louisiana, ₱ lb.
No. 2	3	3½
Ordinary	4	5
Fair	5½	6¼
Prime to choice	6½	6¾
Soap, in boxes, ₱ lb.
XXX Palm	6½	—
Keller's magnolia	4½	—
Keller's olive	5	—
Starch, ₱ lb.	3	3¾
Salt, in sacks
Fine	1 15	1 10
Coarse	80	90
Sugar.
Good fair	4½	5
Prime	5¾	6
Choice	—	—
Yellow clarified	6½	7
White clarified	7½	8
Crushed	—	—
Powdered	—	—
Spices, ₱ lb.
Allspice	15½	18
Pepper	13½	14
Cloves	45	—
Cinnamon	—	—
Tea, ₱ lb.
Black Oolong	27½	1 10
Green Imperial	80	90
Tobacco, manufactured, ₱ lb.:
Chewing, common	40	45
Chewing, fair	—	—
Chewing, prime	—	—
Chewing, choice	65	70
Smoking	—	—

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₱ bushel:
Yellow	41	45
White	—	47
Mixed	—	46
Oats, ₱ bushel:
St. Louis	—	—
Texas	—	—
Galena	—	—
Bran, choice, ₱ 100 lbs	—	1
Hay, ₱ ton:
Prime	13 00	14 00
Ordinary	—	—
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill	—	—
Mixed	60	65
Clay	95	1 00

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₱ lb.:
Breakfast	—	—
Shoulders	—	11
Sides, clear rib	—	13
Sides, clear	—	14
Hams, sugar-cured	16	17
Mess Pork, ₱ bbl	—	20
Dry Salted Meat:
Shoulders	—	10
Lard, ₱ lb.:
Choice, in kegs and pails	—	—
Choice, in tierces and barrels	14	15

ESCULENTS.

Potatoes, ₱ bbl	1 00	2 00
Onions, ₱ bbl	1 50	—
Apples, ₱ bbl	1 00	3 00
Cabbages, ₱ 100	—	8 00

WOOL.

Burry	—	18
Louisiana, clear	—	21
Texas, clear	24	28

BALING STUFFS.

Bagging:
India	—	—
Jute	11½	12
Ties, Arrow brand, per bundle, 20 ties and buckles	—	2 15
Twine, hemp	13½	14

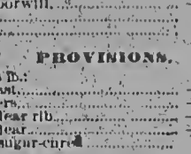
POULTRY AND EGGS.

Poultry, ₱ dozen:
Old chickens	3 25	3 50
Young	2 50	2 50
Ducks	2 50	3 00
Geese	5 00	6 00
Turkeys	9 00	10 00
Eggs, ₱ dozen	30	—
Western	30	—
Louisiana	27	30

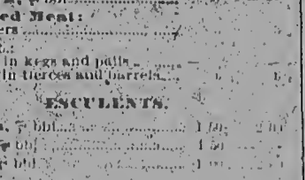
HOLIDAY CABINET.

6 New and Useful articles for 25 cts An unheard of offer. Examine the list.

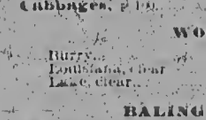
No. 1.—Pocket Memorandum Books.—Made of fine Russia leather, superior to that used in pocket-books. Has memoranda, figuring or writing of any description. Use an ordinary lead pencil. Writing can be instantly rubbed out with the fingers, leaving the page clean for new entries. Every one should have one. It is more than a book—it is a slate.



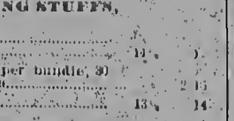
No. 2.—Youth's Box of Paints, with assorted pencils and brushes. A pleasant and instructive pastime enabling those who have no taste for it to learn the beautiful art of water color painting.



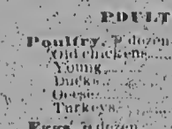
No. 3.—Mystic Oracle, or Combination Cards.—A great mystery. Will enable you to learn (without their suspecting it) the age of any "old bach" or "old maid," or other person also to discover any number or numbers thought of. Never makes a mistake. Just the thing for social parties.



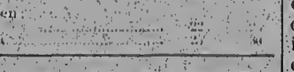
No. 4.—Eureka Pocket Book. Suitable for young ladies or the sex, but may be used by any one. Has compartments for bills, postage stamps, and currency. Neat, handy, and useful.



No. 5.—Jet Sleeve Buttons. New and elegantly colored designs. They contain no metal, cannot tarnish, and are always bright and ornamental. Adapted alike to ladies and gentlemen, young or old.



No. 6.—Fruit or Merriton.—A rousing, rattling musical instrument, sure to please every wide-awake lad. Will scare the rats, drive away rats, and set the old folks frantic. An entire band in a nutshell. Jolliest thing ever made for Christmas.



We send all SIX articles, packed in a neat box, for only 25 cts., by mail postpaid. This extraordinary offer is made to procure names for our Holiday Catalogue, as we hope to make permanent customers of all who purchase the Cabinet. Persons not desiring ALL the articles can sell those not wanted for more than the cost of the whole. Clean, unused Postage Stamps taken same as cash. Address,

Eureka Trick and Novelty Co.,
P. O. Box 4614 — 37 Ann St., New York.
This unequalled offer is for a limited time only.

COMMERCIAL.

ADVOCATE OFFICE,
NEW ORLEANS, Wednesday, Dec. 11, 1878.

COTTON.

The following report of the cotton market is taken from the Democrat:

A fair demand prevailed for the staple throughout the day, and the transactions aggregated 10,000 bales, the market ruling irregular and lower.

The following is the official closing of the Cotton Exchange:

	To-Day.	Yesterday.
Low ordinary	7	7
Ordinary	7	7
Good ordinary	7	7
Low middling	8	8
Middling	8½	8½
Good middling	9	9
Middling fair	9½	10

Sales to-day, 10,000 bales. Good demand at decline.

COTTON STATEMENT.

In store and on shipboard, Sept. 1, 187-	4[illegible]
Gross receipts since yesterday	13,413
Gross receipts previously	430,146—443,561
Total supply	453,650
Exported to-day	4,175
Exported previously	225,925
Total stock this day	223,725
Total stock this day last year	255,000

The exports to-day were 4,175 bales to Havre.

Net receipts since yesterday	11,232
Receipts from other ports	2,180
Net receipts last Tuesday	17,547
Net receipts same time last year	11,881
Net receipts since Friday	44,[illegible]
Net receipts same time last week	81,148
Net receipts same time last year	5,[illegible]00
Net receipts since September 1	3[illegible],397
Net receipts same time last year	471,699

COTTON ON SHIPBOARD.

The amount of cotton on ship board, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows:

Liverpool	22,000
Havre	24,475
Bremen	7,200
Mexico	41
Spain	1,[illegible]51
Baltic ports	3,001
Mediterranean	2,[illegible]06
North Sea	2,[illegible]56
Coastwise	1,[illegible]19
Total	67,910

This, taken from the stock at noon, as noted at the Exchange, leaves in presses 158,237 bales.

The receipts at all ports, consolidated, as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, show totals from noon yesterday to noon to-day of 28,693 bales, against 40,894 same time last week, 35,846 last year, and 28,364 the year before.

MOVEMENT AT PORTS.

The movement at ports for four days, up to twelve M. to-day, is given below:

	Received since Friday.	Same time last week.	Same time last year.
New Orleans	43,258	34,188	36,[illegible]9
Galveston	14,1[illegible]	15,631	13,175
Mobile	12,267	12,091	12,283
Savannah	13,578	9,3[illegible]	15,241
Charleston	11,[illegible]65	9,47[illegible]	12,119
Wilmington	1,811	2,12[illegible]	4,289
Norfolk	2,914	3,197	6,758
Baltimore	781	311	151
New York	2,037	4,9[illegible]1	2,457
Boston	2,528	2,871	3,[illegible]8
Philadelphia	1,021	2,562	321
Other ports
Total	112,[illegible]17	1[illegible],387	106,[illegible]59
Receipts at ports since September 1			2,[illegible]5,[illegible]79
Receipts same time last year			1,[illegible]2,[illegible]65
Receipts same time year before			2,[illegible]0[illegible]2

EXPORTS.

The consolidated report for four days gives exports to

	G. B.	France.	Cont.	Chm. Stocks.
This week	7,[illegible]2[illegible]	13,[illegible]67	2[illegible],[illegible]9	[illegible],[illegible]12
Last week	9,[illegible]8	2[illegible],[illegible]8	42,[illegible]1	[illegible],[illegible]9
This week last year	11,[illegible]81	10,[illegible]73	43,[illegible]4	[illegible]

BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER.
A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

There is no comparison between it and the common slow-acting porous plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies including liniments and the so-called electrical appliances. It contains new medicinal elements which in combination with rubber, possesses the most extraordinary pain relieving, strengthening and curative properties. Any Physician in your own locality will confirm the above statement. For Lame Back, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Stubborn and Neglected Colds and Coughs, diseased Kidneys, Whooping Cough, affections of the heart, and all pains for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 3 cents. Sent on receipt of price by Seabury & Johnson, 21 Platt street, New York.

The Poet Gray.

Distinguished as he was as an author, he was yet more highly regarded as a scholar. Scholars were his chosen companions, and among his intimate friends he was said to be delightful, though quiet and reserved in general society. In authorship the critics who chided him for not doing more yet marveled at the excellence of his work. Its subtle criticism, its humor, its research, its intense, if not very fertile imagination, its delicacy of feeling, combined to create a quality that more than compensated for lack of quantity. His letters, acknowledged to be among the most charming ever printed, had all the refined beauty of style of the most picturesque English writers. His Latin poems surpassed those of any of his contemporaries in elegance and grace. He was considered the most learned man of his day; but great regret has often been expressed that he was not a more industrious and productive author. His friends seemed to forget that such a poem as his "Elegy in a Country Churchyard," which is said to have lain unfinished for fully seven years, might well have been sufficient work for a lifetime. So elevated and poetic in thought, so pure and perfect in diction, that it is no marvel that each line seems to have an individuality and an immortality of its own, even apart from the very harmonious whole. It must have been the result of some subtle processes of mental crystallization, analogous to those in nature, where the most perfect crystalline beauty depends upon long seasons of silent and dark assimilation and arrangement. How long and how often he brooded and dreamed in Stoke Pogis church-yard, while in his brain and heart the poem grew, we shall never know. What sudden dashes of inspiration gave some stanzas shape, what strange insight into the "short and simple annals of the poor" brought others forth, what mystical union of emotion and thought finally wrought it out—all lies beyond our ken.

The poem was popular from the first, and ran through four editions at once. The original manuscript, translated into almost every known tongue, was purchased some years ago by the late Mr. Granville Penn for one hundred pounds. It is said, however, since that time, to have fallen in the possession of the British Museum.—National Repository.

Change of Mississippi Conference.

Dear Bro. Linfield—At the request of several Presiding Elders, and the consent of our friends in Meridian, the place of holding the session of the Mississippi Conference is hereby changed. It will meet in Hazlehurst, December 18.

R. PAINE.

ABERDEEN, Miss., Nov. 18, 1878.

Diptheria and its Treatment.

Diptheria is a disease which springs from the growth of a real fungus on some of the mucous surfaces of the system, more generally of the throat. It my be spread by contact of the mucous surfaces of a diseased with those of a healthy person, as in kissing, and is to a limited degree epidemic. From the local parts affected it spreads to the whole body, affecting the muscular and nervous systems, vitiating the lymph and nutriment fluids, and producing paralysis. As soon as the bacterium or fungus appears in white patches on the throat, it should no more be neglected than a bleeding gash or a broken arm, and there is almost as little need of a fatal termination of one incident as of the other. It has been found by actual experiment, both in and out of the human system, that this bacterium is killed by several drugs, the safest and most certain of which is chlorine water, diluted with the addition of from two to four times the volume of water. This wash is harmless, even when swallowed, and is pretty certain to arrest the disease. The great cyclopedia of Ziemssen on the practice of medicine gives the highest place to this method of treatment. To keep the patient well housed and warm, with additional flannel clothing if necessary, and to keep the system well nourished and the bowels open are matters of nursing often neglected; but, with care in these respects an early application of the remedies above suggested, there is no need of the disease proceeding to a fatal termination, or even to the debilitating illnees and painful cauterizations which go together in its later stages. As to the origin of diptheria, the weight of testimony is that it belongs to the class of filth disease, but further than that its source is not clear. Families which would be scandalized at the suggestion of untidiness are attacked, while others of filthy surroundings escape. This simply shows that our sense of cleanliness needs cultivation, so that we may discriminate between what is offensive to the system and what is offensive to our falsely educated tastes. The farmer's wife, to whom the closed and carefully dusted parlor or the preter-naturally scrubbed floor are the essentials of neatness, may endure the proximity of a sour swamp or of the kitchen cesspool for years without taking offense. To many a careful and laborious housekeeper, a cobweb or the children's "litter" of a few hours' play, will outrank in heinousness a defective drain for the cellar or a badly conducted privy.

TUTT'S PILLS.

FOR TEN YEARS Tutt's Pills have been the recognized Standard Family Medicine in the UNITED STATES. Scarcely a family can be found from MAINE to MEXICO that does not use them.

A Single Trial Will Establish Their Merits.

DO THEY CURE EVERYTHING?

No. They are for Diseases that arise from MALARIAL POISON and a DERANGED LIVER, such as Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Typhoid Fevers, Chills, Colic, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhœa, Nervousness, Dizziness, Palpitation of the Heart, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney Diseases, Chronic Constipation, Piles, etc.

NATURE WARNS YOU

THAT YOUR LIVER IS DISORDERED

When you have a

Dull pain in Shoulders, Coated Tongue, Costive Bowels, Weight in the Stomach after Eating, Sour Eructations, Aversion to Exertion of Body or Mind.

BE ADVISED, AND AT ONCE

TAKE TUTT'S PILLS.

The first dose produces an effect which often astonishes the sufferer, and in a short time follow an Appetite, Good Digestion,

SOLID FLESH AND HARD MUSCLE.

A sufferer says they are the

BEST PILL IN EXISTENCE.

DR. TUTT: I have used your Pills for Dyspepsia, Weak Stomach and Nervousness, I never had anything to do me so much good. In fact they are medicine. They are as good as you represent them. They are the best Pill in Existence, and I do all I can to acquaint others with their good merits. J. W. TIBBETTS, Decorah, Minn.

Sold by Druggists. Office, 35 Murray Street, New York.

THE MODEL PRESS

MODEL is the simplest, easiest running, fastest and most perfect press ever invented, and guaranteed to be

Thoroughly Reliable

Any smart boy can manage it, and do hundreds of dollars worth of work a year. It saves business men all their printing bills. Presses as low as $3. For business printing, $10 to $35. Rotary foot power, $100 to $160. Over 6,000 now in use, and a Prize Medal awarded at the Paris Exposition.

The Leading Press of the World.

A handsomely illustrated 124 page book, entitled HOW TO PRINT and copy of the PRINTER'S GUIDE, with full particulars, mailed for 10 cents. Address J. W. DAUGHADAY & CO., Inventors and Manufrs. No. 723 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WATER WHEELS.

THE UNEQUALLED JAS. LEFFEL DOUBLE TURBINE WATER WHEEL.

PORTABLE AND STATIONARY STEAM ENGINES, STEAM BOILERS.

SAW, FLOUR AND GRIST MILLS.

MACHINE MOULDED MILL GEARING.

SHAFTING, PULLEYS AND HANGERS

Of Improved Designs, A Specialty

Address, POOLE & HUNT,

Send for Circulars. BALTIMORE, MD

OSCAR A. FOLNE, COMMISSION MERCHANT, and dealer in Western Produce, Solicits consignments of Cotton, Sugar, Rice, Potatoes, etc. 93 DECATUR ST. (Box 288,) New Orleans La. 8p

STAMPING PATTERNS.—Stamped Samples of 200 Designs for 25c. The first number just out. A. BERNARD, 401 Canal St., N. Y.

BREECH-LOADERS.

WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first instalment of our fall stock of these goods (unexpectedly delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection. In Breech-Loading Shot Guns alone our assortment in store comprises upward of 20 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded lower than ever before, owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while all our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves, whether you wish to buy now or not. FOLSOM BROS.,
9 Decatur (Old Levee) St., opp. Postoffice.
Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

RESTORE YOUR SIGHT.

Do not disfigure your face by wearing spectacles when you can buy a pair of the celebrated EYE CUPS for $3. Guaranteed to restore the sight or money refunded. Address

DR. F. P. LEE & CO.,
P. O. box 3618. 21 Liberty st., New York.

BUENA SALUD.

COCA BITTERS.

THE GREAT

SOUTH AMERICAN

TONIC.

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY FOR

Dyspepsia & all Disorders of Digestion,

CHILLS AND FEVER,

Diseases of the Liver, Debility of the Nervous System and SICK HEADACHE.

This unequaled remedy is made from the celebrated Coca leaf (Erythroxylon coca), and is recommended by the highest authorities in the medical world. The use of this leaf is almost universal among the natives of Peru and Bolivia.

ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.

QUICHUA COCA CO.,

No. 72 William St., New York.

ROGERS' POWDER CITRATE OF MAGNESIA

An Agreeable Aperient and Refrigerant.

This well-known preparation is highly recommended for Dyspepsia, Headache, Sickness of the Stomach, Heartburn, and all complaints arising from Acidity, Bilious and Malarial Fevers. It cools the blood and regulates the bowels. It is a favorite medicine for children and its acidity and sweet taste makes it exciting and refreshing. Put up in convenient bottles. Prepared by

A. ROGERS' SONS, chemists, N.Y.

Superior to Mineral Waters, Seidlitz Powders, Etc.

For sale by all New Orleans druggists. 8p

The Most Refreshing Toilet Article.

CASSEBEER'S

QUININE HAIR TONIC.

(EAU DE QUININE.)

WILL preserve, cultivate, beautify, arrest the fall of and restore silken softness to the Hair, and will not soil the most delicate fabric. Price, $1.

Cassebeer's Ammonia Lozenges.

For mitigating coughs, colds, tickling in the throat, dry throat, etc., and facilitating expectoration. Price, 25 cents, sent by mail.

Both excellent preparations are for sale by all druggists, and by the proprietor, H. A. CASSEBEER, Apothecary, 57 Fourth avenue and 36 Sixth avenue, New York.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERYBODY ANSWERS: YES!

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY, is the only reliable remedy. Simply wheat in the whole grain rendered powerfully poisonous to vermin, and is really Nature's remedy for the complete and thorough extermination of rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will at once relieve you from those noxious and destructive pests. Price, only 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States at

M. P. CREAMER & CO.'S,
Manufacturing Chemists,
14 Tchoupitoulas street.

Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S, 35 Magazine street. 8p

Jenkin's ANNIHILATOR

The Great Southern Remedy for

RHEUMATISM GOUT and NEURALGIA

IS PURELY VEGETABLE, and can be taken without fear of any injurious result by the delicate as well as the robust in constitution. It purifies the Blood, stimulates the Liver and Kidneys, and eradicates every vestige of the above diseases. Price, $1. Sold by all druggists. Pamphlets, containing testimonials and valuable advice, sent free to any address.

N. JENKINS & CO., Proprietors,
New Orleans, La.

FINLAY & THOMPSON, Wholesale Druggists, General Agents, New Orleans, La.

MISCELLANEOUS.

H. W. JOHNS' PATENT. ASBESTOS MATERIALS.

LIQUID PAINTS.

THE finest and most durable paints in the world for structural purposes. Send for samples and references.

ASBESTOS ROOFING,

With white fire-proof coating for steep or flat roofs. The only reliable substitute for tin.

Boiler Coverings, Steam Packing, Sheathing, Felts, Roof Paint, Fire Paints, Coatings, Cements, etc.

All these materials are prepared ready for use, and can be easily applied by any one. We guarantee the quality of our goods to be second to none in the world. From 15 to 20 per cent. of cost to outlays can be saved by their use.

Samples, illustrated pamphlets, price lists, etc., sent free. Liberal inducements to dealers and large consumers. Send for samples and reduced price list.

From the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion.

Jackson Mississippi

Mr. C. H. Manship, of Jackson, one of the best painters in the State, and a gentleman of great intelligence and worth, says in reference to these Paints:

"I have tested them fully, and am prepared to say that the Paints, which are of all colors and shades, are not only the cheapest, but the best I have used in my experience as a painter for the last forty years, and the certificates in my possession to the superiority of the coating are unsurpassed on the subject. C. H. MANSHIP."

CALEB A. PARKER & CO.,

GENERAL AGENTS FOR ALABAMA, GEORGIA, TENNESSEE, LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND TEXAS.

NO. 10 UNION ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Patented May 28th, 1878.

The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Manf'g

Every one who owns a cow should have one of our wonderful Milkers. A child can use them. Sent free to any part of the United States on receipt of $2. Send for our Illustrated Pamphlet on the Cow containing testimonials of practical farmers and dairymen throughout the United States and sectional views of a cow's teats and bag dissected and scientifically explained, by Drs. White and Wilson of this city. Sent free to any address.

GEO. E. KING, President.

Office, 575 Broadway, New York.

The Steinau Jewelry Co.'s ONE DOLLAR ROLL GOLD CASE

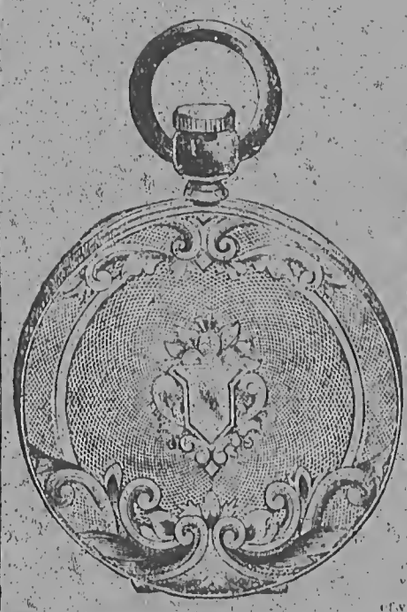
And New Illustrated Catalogue, with Instructions how to become Agents.

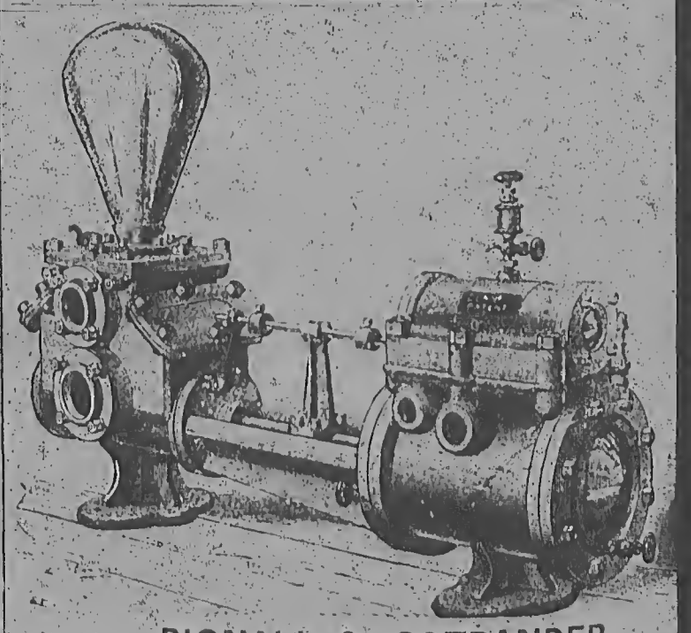
OUR ROMAN CASKET CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING ARTICLES:

On receipt of One Dollar [illegible] by mail or express, free.

STEINAU JEWELRY COMPANY, 27 Arcade, CINCINNATI, O.

NEW AMERICAN $15 WATCH





BIGNALL & OSTRANDER,

806 and 808 North Second Street, St. Louis, Mo.

DEANE'S STEAM PUMP, (BEST IN

PUMPS OF ALL KINDS, BELTING, HOSE, GAS PIPE FITTINGS AND BRASS GOODS, STATIONERY AND PORTABLE ENGINES, COTTON GINS AND PRESSES.

DISCOVERY BY which hair can be forced to grow on the smoothest heads. The papers all over the country contain notices of the remarkable virtues of Mrs. Hyatt's Hair Restorer, and there are scores of living witnesses in St. Louis who take pleasure in testifying to the efficacy of the Restorer. Mrs. Hyatt's principles is the most reasonable, because she succeeds on the well-based supposition that the hair getu never dies while life exists in the person, and that it is only necessary to stimulate the gerd to produce a satisfactory growth. Three bottles for $5; $1 to accompany the order and balance to be paid when medicine is delivered.

205 North Sixth St., up stairs, St. Louis, Mo.

JOHN BOIS,

DEALER IN

FURNITURE, PICTURES,

LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.

159..... Camp Street.....

Next to St. Patrick's church, New Orleans.

No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article. No deviation.

FITS OR EPILEPSY.

To the Editor of the Advocate:

DEAR SIR—Will you please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the cure of the above disease, and that by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing, and will give

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS,

for a case it will not cure or greatly benefit. Indeed, so strong is my faith, I will send

ONE BOTTLE FREE,

together with a valuable treatise, to any sufferers addressing me, giving their name, express and P. O. address. Please show this letter to any one you may know who is suffering with this terrible disease, and oblige,

Respectfully yours,

DR. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl Street, N. Y.

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1878. NO. 51.

SUPERANNUATED.

...more to list the tramp of a great mid-banners way...
...his free...
...morial tree?...
...yet again, where columns meet, to head the...
...gleaming line...
...ent when youth was strong and fleet, and life...
...a fiery wine...

...weekly wails the veteran here, unheeded, as...
...ard fate,...
...stirred by any craven fear, though gone his...
...proud estate...
...neath the soldier's silken rein, as light as...
...lady's hand...
...stepped among the spirited train or heard the...
...charger neigh and...

...ck you that in these grander hours when mar...
...the music's theme,...
...faces outstreamed like crimson flowers dis...
...dant every field,...
...call the drums with steady beat, and...
...trumpets pierce your blew—...
...ck you that then no rapture sweet the gallant...
...charger knew...

...men a horse mounted him—then with to sal...
...the spring...
...aster form, of courage grim, whose praise the...
...poets sung,...
...ose whispered word inspired the steed, whose...
...chant aroused his mien?...
...push and with a tempest's speed they rushed...
...the conflict then,...

...mid the lightning flash of sabers swung in...
...air,...
...sweep, the whirl, the headlong dash, the...
...thunderous gloom and glare"...
...dreams the war horse lives again amid that...
...glory past,...
...shrill and clear the bugle strain, for ever...
...and dear to last.

...dreams alone. He wakens still, infirm, alas...
...and old...
...lay is queer, so bright so brief, his head grows...
...thick and cold,...
...drooping neck awhile may bend, and harsh...
...the yoke may be,...
...death, of weary hearts the friend, ere long...
...will set him free.

Harper's Bazar.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10—Mr. Wallace, of Pennsylvania, introduced a bill to authorize the exchange of subsidiary coin for trade dollars. Referred to the committee on finance. It provides that the subsidiary coins of the United States shall be exchangable for trade dollars at the rate of one hundred cents for each of said dollars, and they shall forthwith be recoined into subsidiary coin and the gain, if any be made, may be used by the secretary of the treasury to pay the expense of coining subsidiary coin to such persons or banks as may desire the same in exchange for other funds. The coinage of trade dollars shall cease from and after the passage of this act.

The ways and means committee to-day appointed a sub-committee, Wilson, Phelps and Garfield, to investigate the secretary of the treasury and other officials to appear before the full committee on the 17th, with reference to the duties on sugar, and also to collect information relating thereto. The committee further resolved to give a hearing on the first day after the reassembling of Congress to all persons concerned in the question.

COLUMBIA, Dec. 10.—Hampton's wounded leg was amputated to-day, six inches below the knee. The physicians have contemplated this course some days, but were waiting until his condition would warrant the operation. The immediate needs of Hampton say his condition is not now dangerous. He stood the operation finely, under the influence of chloroform. His system is in condition to promise hopeful results.

The legislature to-day elected Hampton to the United States Senate.

The vote was taken separately in each house, as required by law. The senators who were present—twenty-nine in all—voted unanimously for Hampton; also the members of the house, with two exceptions (Miller and Simmons, colored, from Beaufort, who voted for Mackay.

The scene in the house was quite impressive. A letter was read from Hampton, which said he was not a candidate, but that the position was neither to be sought or declined.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—Freshets reported at various points throughout the State and much damage. At Elizabethtown many families were obliged to leave their houses, many cattle were drowned and several bridges have been destroyed. The iron bridge and over sixty feet of the embankment, just north of Port Henry, on the line of the New York and Canada railroad was washed away.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11.—Telegrams from the interior of the State this morning report no material damage by the flood. The rivers are now generally falling. At Allentown, however, the Lehigh river is still reported 15 feet higher than usual, and the whole lower portion of that city is reported under water. Residents of the submerged district have removed their effects to safe quarters.

BOSTON, Dec. 11.—A Pittsfield dispatch says: The bridge on the Boston and Albany road at Huntington was swept away by the storm. On the Housatonic Railroad there is a washout at Cornwall. At Leominster great damage was done by the giving way of the dam. A large number of washouts are reported from various places in New Hampshire and Maine, in which the Grand Trunk, and Boston and Concord, and Montreal and Maine Central railroads sustained heavy losses.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Mr. Eustis, of Louisiana, called up the bill introduced by him December 4, appropriating five million dollars for constructing, rebuilding, and repairing levees along the Mississippi river.

He argued that the government has a proprietary right over and sole control over the Mississippi river, and is responsible for keeping it in such condition that it shall not harm the property of others. He could not see why the government is not responsible in damages to the thousands of people in the Mississippi valley who have been ruined by crevasses. He regarded it the duty of the government of the United States to police that river, and keep it enclosed within its banks.

He spoke at length of the great damage from overflows, and especially that of 1874. Referred to the legal obligations of the government in the matter, and argued that the States could not adopt and execute any successful plan to perfect the levees; the work must be done by the general government.

The Potter committee did not meet to-day, Mr. Butler being absent, and there being a tacit understanding on the part of the majority that his arrival should be awaited.

Chairman Potter has not yet selected a Democratic member to accompany him as the chairman of the sub-committee to continue the investigation in New Orleans. The Republicans will be invited to make their own selection; it is probable Mr. Hiscock, of New York, will be chosen.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The bill accompanying the report of the joint committee on reorganization of the army, which was presented to the Senate to-day by Mr. Burnside, provides that the general officers shall be reduced to six, namely, two major generals and four brigadier generals for the permanent organization, instead of eleven, as at present; the reduction to take place by casualties; that the present organization shall consist of not more than twenty-five thousand enlisted men, inclusive of signal soldiers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16—The joint meeting of the Senate and House committees on yellow fever inquiry was to have been held this morning, but less than a quorum of the House committee put in an appearance.

The following sub-committees on the part of the Senate were appointed: To visit New Orleans and vicinity—Eustis, Lamar and Paddock; to visit Memphis and vicinity—Harris, Matthews and Conover.

Corresponding sub-committees will be appointed by the House committee to conduct these branches of investigation in conjunction with the Senators above named during the recess of Congress. It has also been arranged that the House and Senate committees in Washington shall hereafter meet jointly, although they will vote separately in the same manner as committees of conference.

The House of Representatives has already passed five of the general appropriation bills, namely: West Point Academy, fortifications, consular diplomatic, pension and navy. They are now to be acted upon by the Senate. The Indian appropriation bill is assigned for consideration to-morrow. No other will be reported from the committee until after the recess.

The select committee on yellow fever met in joint session this evening. After a general discussion it was decided that the respective committees act jointly, and that proper experts be appointed to attend them throughout the Southern tour. It was generally agreed that Dr. Woodworth, Superintendent of the Marine Hospital Service, and Drs. Barnes and Cochrane be placed on the list of experts; in addition, to be selected one prominent physician from Philadelphia, one from New York and one from Boston.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 18.—A meeting of clergymen of the evangelical churches of this city yesterday unanimously indorsed the proposal made by Moody and the clergy of Baltimore, that a united effort be made by all true Christians in the United States in the month of January, by a week of prayer, toward a general revival throughout the land, and express a hope that the response will be general.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, Dec. 10.—In the House of Lords last evening, Lord Cranbrook, secretary of state for India, on moving the resolution that the expense of the Afghan war may be defrayed from the revenues of India, said the estimated Indian surplus was £2,136,000, therefore there would be a substantial surplus after paying the war expenses, which were estimated at less than £1,250,000 for the present financial year.

Lord Cranbrook declared the government assumed full responsibility for Lord Lytton. There was not room for both England and Russia in Afghanistan. The ameer's letter was no answer to England's ultimatum, but a mere evasion. England must be paramount in Afghanistan, which must be a friendly janitor to the doors of India, or England must hold the key herself.

Viscount Hallfax moved the censuring the government.

Lord Lawrence, formerly governor general of India, deprecated pushing forward to the frontier under any circumstances. He thought the war should be concluded speedily. Nothing should be exacted from the Afghans, and they should be assured of aid against foreign invasion. If England did not pay all the costs of the war there would be indignation and despair in India.

Lord Derby said the government in only summoning parliament after war was declared had placed the country, which professed to be self-governing, in a peculiar position. He was of opinion that there had never been any clear wish to avoid the war, and that war was not unconnected with the projects for rectification of the frontier.

Lord Canarvon declared the war was irreconcilable with any idea of justice and the policy in the furtherance of which it had been undertaken was dangerous and delusive.

In the House of Commons Mr. Whitbread moved the resolution disapproving of the conduct of the government.

Mr. Sinnhope, under secretary for India, defended the government. He said that the present government did not desire power or annexation, but were bound to provide for security of the frontier. Messrs. Trevilyan and Chamberlain attacked the government.

Mr. Forster said if the supporters of the resolution were in power they would aim at peace with honor, and take the first opportunity of coming to honorable terms with the ameer by returning to the policy of the former Indian viceroy.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—A Pesth dispatch to the Times states that the recent conspiracy in Constantinople, according to some accounts, was a serious attempt to replace the Sultan by his brother, Reshad Pasha. The Sultan had to be dissuaded from executing Reshad and Mohammed Damad Pasha.

DARMSTADT, Dec. 16.—As early as Friday morning the physicians recognized that the condition of the Grand Duchess was hopeless, and sent secret messages to that effect to England. The symptoms of suffocation appeared at one o'clock Saturday morning, but were temporarily removed. The Grand Duke was then induced to leave the room, but his mother remained, ministering to the Princess until the last. The Grand Ducal Court and Hesse-Darmstadt generally will go into mourning for twelve weeks.

Proceedings of the Alabama Conference.

From Mobile Daily Register.

The forty-sixth session of the Alabama Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, convened in Franklin Street M. E. Church, South, Mobile, on yesterday morning, the 11th inst. At nine o'clock A. M. Bishop Kavanaugh took the chair, and opened the session with reading the Scriptures, singing and prayer, followed by the singing of another hymn and prayer by Dr. T. O. Summers. The Bishop then delivered an address, appropriate to the occasion. After the call of the roll, R. B. Crawford was elected secretary. The hours of nine A. M. and one P. M. were decided the points of time for meeting and adjourning. Upon motion, presiding elders were appointed to nominate standing committees, and allowed to retire for that purpose. The following resolution, introduced by J. Barker, elicited much discussion, and consumed most of the morning's session, viz.: "Resolved, That while we, as a Conference, open our hands and hearts in extending a hearty welcome to those ministers who may transfer to us from other Conferences, and while we will ever send our affectionate sympathies and prayers after those brethren who may leave us for new fields of labor, we do most earnestly protest in the name of the great Head of the church against the growing practice of preachers selecting their own appointments, laymen choosing their own pastors, and Bishops approving and endorsing these preconcerted arrangements, as sapping the foundation of our great itinerant system." This resolution was introduced and adopted in the Annual Conference at Meridian, December 2, 1865. The advocates of the resolution contended, among other things, that its adoption would conserve and perpetuate the principles of the itinerant system, which was the germ and soul of Methodism, in contradistinction to the latitudinarianism of the Northern branch of the church, and of many in our own midst. Many opposed it on the ground that it made a disingenuous thrust at the Bishop and transferees, and that it did not show sufficient charity and respect for the preferences and wishes of the laity. But after a warm and interesting discussion it was readopted by the Conference.

The following committees were announced, viz.:

Public Worship.—Revs. S. H. Cox, E. Wadsworth, F. R. Hill and J. O. Andrews.

Books and Periodicals.—Wm. P. Dickerson, W. S. Baker, C. R. Wilhamson, A. K. Ramsey, W. A. Rice, George Fountaine, J. S. Rensher, J. Hansberger, W. P. H. Connerly, B. M. Washburn, J. S. Williams, T. A. Johnston, S. C. Calhoun, Junius Rawls, A. J. Briggs, E. B. Wilkerson.

Sunday-Schools.—R. H. Lightfoot, D. G. Wright, W. W. Graham, Neil Gillis, Isaac Hill, A. Dowling, J. P. Sanders, J. R. Rodgers.

Education.—E. Wadsworth, Wm. Otis, L. M. Smith, W. J. Powers, E. W. Solomon, T. Y. Abernethy, J. M. Crews, Moses Padget, A. S. Andrews, E. T. Glenn, J. Bancroft, T. A. Craven, J. A. Green, W. McCreary, J. W. Glenn, E. C. Henry.

Bible Cause.—E. M. Turner, H. Wynehart E. P. Birch.

Memoirs.—J. Barker, W. M. Motley, J. E. Foust.

The Bishop introduced to the Conference, with words of welcome, pastors of the different Baptist and Presbyterian churches of the city. Also Dr. R. A. Young, of the Tennessee Conference, who, by request and appointment, will address the Conference at ten o'clock A. M., to-day; also Dr. L. Parker, editor of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and Dr. John Mathews, of the Louisiana Conference, and a former resident and beloved pastor of Mobile. The latter two gentlemen addressed the Conference in words of cheer and brotherly love. Dr. Parker stated that his paper would soon enter upon a career of zeal and fervor in the advocacy of the interests of the church.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Dr. Summers, book editor; received and referred to the Committee on Books and Periodicals.

From Dr. Wilson, secretary of missions; referred to the Board of Missions.

From Centenary Male Institute; referred to the Committee on Education.

From Rev. J. W. Hinton, editor of the proposed Quarterly Review, was referred to the following committee, viz.: J. Bancroft, M. S. Andrews, A. S. Andrews, H. D. Moore and W. A. McCarty.

Credentials of Francis H. Cherry, local elder, were returned through Dr. M. S. Andrews, and deposited in the archives of the Conference, he having been deprived of them by action of the Quarterly Conference, but with a promise on the part of the Conference that they will be returned if he shall hereafter "run with patience and fidelity the race set before him."

The report of the Publishing Committee of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE was read and referred to the Committee on Books and Periodicals.

J. H. Harris was elected assistant secretary.

After various announcements the Conference adjourned to nine o'clock A. M. to-day.

SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS, DECEMBER 12.

Conference met pursuant to adjournment at nine o'clock A. M. yesterday, the twelfth instant, in Franklin Street Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Bishop Kavanaugh presiding.

Divine worship was conducted by Rev. Linus Parker, of the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, after which the minutes were read and the roll called.

Report from the Centenary Female Institute was presented by Dr. Mitchell, and referred to the Committee on Books and Periodicals.

Rev. J. Bancroft presented a communication from J. W. Hinton, in reference to the proposed Quarterly Review. Prospectus of Review was read and referred to the Committee on Quarterly Review, and J. Bancroft requested to act as agent in procuring subscribers.

Dr. McCarthy presented the report of the Alabama Female College, John Massey, president. Matriculate, 112; boarding department, 41; music, 40; art, 10; increase forty per cent. On motion the report was referred to the Committee on Education.

The business of regular minutes was then taken up.

Question 2. Discipline. Who remain on trial? Answer: John Wesley continued on trial, with the understanding that he bring up the first year's course.

Question 3. Who are discontinued? Answer: H. C. Holloman and D. H. Carmichael, at their own request.

Question 2. (Resumed.) Jas. K. Powell, Isaac F. Bilbro and Claudius L. Chilton were continued on trial, having passed on recommendation of the committee.

Question 1. Who are received on trial? Answer: Jefferson P. Hamilton recommended by the Quarterly Conference of the Franklin Street Church.

Pursuant to special order of the day, at half past ten o'clock A. M. the interests of the Publishing House of the Southern Methodist Episcopal Church, Nashville, Tenn., were presented by Dr. R. A. Young in a forcible, eloquent and convincing speech of about an hour's length, after which about $1,500 worth of four per cent. bonds were subscribed for by those in attendance.

Next, the question on the proposed change in the ratio of representation in the General Conference was taken up.

On motion of A. S. Andrews, this Conference concurred, in the proposed change, by a vote of 87 for to none against, or, more properly speaking, by a unanimous vote.

This change in the ratio of representation was enacted with the view of reducing the number of delegates that constitute the General Conference. Under the former regime the representation stood 2 (one clerical and one lay delegate) to every 25 members. Under the new rule it will stand 2 to 36.

Under Question 20, the Conference then proceeded to the examination of character. The question is as follows: Are all the preachers blameless in their lives and official administration?

The following were passed, viz.: W. R. Norton, Thos. O. Summers, A. H. Mitchell, W. H. McDaniel, W. B. Neal, O. R. Blue, W. J. Powers, J. W. McCann, J. Barker.

The following were superannuated, viz.: A. S. Dickinson, Z. Dowling, Charles Snider, E. W. Story, J. T. Roper, H. J. Hunter, T. S. Abernethy.

Pending the examination of character, O. R. Blue gave notice of intention to submit for an Episcopal decision the question as to whether the change enacted at the General Conference at Louisville, Ky., by which lay members are entitled to vote on ministerial relations, is not violative of the constitutional provisions of the church or the spirit meaning purpose and intent of Methodist Episcopacy.

Just before adjournment, notice was given that preaching would be held each evening (night,) during the Conference, at seven o'clock P. M., at Franklin Street, St. Francis Street and St. Paul's churches.

On motion, Conference adjourned to nine o'clock A. M. to-day.

THIRD DAY'S PROCEEDINGS, DECEMBER 13.

Pursuant to adjournment, Bishop Kavanaugh called the Conference to order at nine o'clock A. M., on yesterday. Divine worship was conducted by Rev. Dr. A. H. Mitchell in opening the session.

Roll called and minutes read and approved. On motion R. S. Holcombe was elected Assistant Secretary.

The following changes were ordered in the John Board of Finance, viz.: W. H. Wild, vice T. R. Hill; Moses Padget, vice C. M. Howard; B. M. Washburn, vice W. H. Smith; W. B. Gilmer, vice Fleming Law; John H. Malone, vice L. W. Reeves; James Ralls, vice David Beauchamp; H. L. Hopper was elected alternate, vice B. A. Philibert.

Question 20. (Resumed.) Are all the preachers blameless in their life and official administration?

Their names being called, their characters were examined and the following passed, viz.: A. S. Andrews, J. W. Shores, W. H. Ellison, E. Wadsworth, E. Phillips, Geo. F. Ellis, H. Urquhart, S. H. Cox, M. S. Andrews, M. C. Turrentine, D. M. Hudson, J. Bancroft, W. B. Adams, J. M. Patton, W. M. Motley, J. W. Jordan, W. A. McCarty, L. F. Dowdell, J. W. Rushing, G. Hawkins, J. W. Glenn, Niel Gillis, John S. Moore, B. D. Gayle, J. J. Tatum, J. W. Solomon, W. H. Wild, A. Dowling, T. J. Rutledge, P. F. Mangum, B. F. Blow, J. L. Skipper, S. A. Pilley, M. E. Butt, A. D. McVoy, A. J. Briggs, R. B. Crawford, W. H. Morris, J. H. Lockhart, B. L. Selman, J. E. Foust, A. Hood, A. M. Jones, L. Patterson, E. L. Loveless, J. T. Tally, M. M. Graham, E. McTurner, F. L. B. Shaver, J. M. Scott, W. P. H. Connerly, Hugh M. Gillis, Robert Doyle, D. C. Crook, W. M. Winn, W. A. Montgomery, J. P. Bird, H. D. Moore, W. Hargrave, Morris D. J. Wright, Jerry S. Williams, Charles B. Dubose, Jas. M. Mason, Jos. H. James, Jas. O. Andrew, John A. Peterson, David C. Saply, Wm. C. Wade, Asbury C. Handly, J. S. Hopkins, John M. Brown, John S. Frazer, P. H. Lightfoot, C. R. Williamson, E. W. Solomon, J. T. Matthison, J. Lewis, Jr., F. H. Wardlaw, F. R. Hill, W. A. Rice, John A. Green, T. G. Calhoun, J. Waverly Briggs, T. Y. Abernethy, Joshua S. Peavy, A. J. Coleman.

Question 17. Who are supernumary? Answer: J. H. Lockhart.

Question 18. Who are superannuated? Answer: W. H. Ellison, W. B. Adams, J. W. Jordan, J. J. Tatum, J. T. Tally, F. L. B. Shaver.

Question 4. Who are admitted into full connection? Answer: C. P. Pilley, J. W. Menifee and E. E. Cowan came forward as their names were called—were addressed by the Bishop, answered the usual disciplinary question and on vote C. P. Pilley and J. W. Menifee were admitted into full connection, they having passed an approved examination before the proper committee.

The case of E. E. Cowan was laid over until he should go before the Examining Committee.

C. P. Pilley and J. W. Manifee were also elected to deacons orders.

Question 2. Resumed. Who remain on trial? Answer: John W. Wesley.

Ques. 3. What traveling preachers are elected deacons? Answer: J. E. Powell and J. W. Manifee having passed a creditable examination, were elected deacons.

Question 12. What traveling preachers are elected elders? Answer: W. H. Weathersby, J. O. Keener, R. S. Holcombe, C. H. Kelley, R. J. Briggs and A. J. Lamar.

F. M. Peterson was continued as deacon for one year.

John P. Sanders and Jas. S. Keucher were elected elders.

R. A. Mears was continued on fourth year; also, under Question 17, he was made supernumerary.

Rev. Mr. Richardson, pastor of the Franklin Street Presbyterian Church, was introduced by the Bishop.

W. D. Owens was elected deacon.

Question 10. What local preachers are elected deacons? Answer: Christopher Briggs, from St. Francis Street Quarterly Conference; Albert S. Starr, from Summerfield Quarterly Conference; Luther S. Rice, from Autaugaville Quarterly Conference; Dugald H. Carmichael, from Robinson Springs Quarterly Conference; Andrew J. Cousins, from Robinson Springs Quarterly Conference.

Question 14. What local preachers are elected elders? Answer: Wm. M. Roswell from Salem Circuit Quarterly Conference; W. W. Walker from Georgiana Circuit, applied for recognition of elders' orders; and on motion he was recognized as an elder from the Congregational Methodist Church.

T. J. Rutledge asked for leave of absence which was granted, and before retiring, he entertained Conference in an interesting speech of several minutes duration on the Bible Cause, of which he is the honest, earnest and zealous agent.

A memorial from the Selma District Conference, on the subject of a Weekly Religious Journal, was received and referred to the Committee on Books and Periodicals.

Credentials of Franklin Foster were returned.

Rev. Dr. Andrews moved, which motion was seconded and adopted, "That the Bishop and Cabinet make the appointment for the Committees of Examination for the four years succeeding."

After the signing of the doxology, Conference adjourned to nine o'clock A. M. to-day.

FOURTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS, DECEMBER 14.

Pursuant to adjournment, Conference met at nine o'clock A. M. on yesterday, in Franklin Street church, Bishop Kavanaugh in the chair.

Rev. Dr. A. S. Andrews conducted the worship, after which the minutes of the preceding day were read and approved.

The Bishop referred a communication from a commission of the Presbyterian body on the subject of Sabbath breaking, which was read and referred to a committee of three, of which Dr. T. O. Summers was chairman.

Question 7. Who are the deacons of one year?

Answer: G. M. Roper, J. P. Anderson, J. C. Johnson, Bascom C. Glenn, W. P. Dickinson, Orion S. Perry, H. M. Moss, John R. Peavy, F. M. Patterson, being examined by the committee, and proving to be "clear cases," were passed.

Dr. A. H. Mitchell, by leave, presented the report of Hon. D. G. Wood, treasurer of the Legal Conference, and on motion the report was placed on file.

Dr. Mitchell also brought up the matter in controversy touching the McAlister Trust Fund, between the Alabama Conference and the North Alabama Conference.

Pending the discussion of this subject, the Bishop produced a communication from the North Alabama Conference, which provides for the appointment of a commission of two from their body, to meet a commission of like number from the Alabama Conference, in arbitrating the differences, which was concurred in. Rev. Anson West was appointed, on the part of the North Alabama Conference, to represent the facts, ex parte, of this Conference on this subject.

On motion of Dr. Mitchell, Dr. A. S. Andrews and Judge P. G. Wood were appointed the arbitrators for the Alabama Conference and Chancellor J. K. Johns, appointed to represent the claims and views of the Alabama Conference in the Court of Arbitration. These four arbitrators are empowered to call in a fifth person as umpire.

That portion of the report from the North Alabama Conference, referring to the publication of a paper, jointly in the interests of the Conference, of both sections of the State, was read and referred to the Committee on Books and Periodicals.

A resolution authorizing the Legal Conference to sell the house and lot belonging to the Conference, at Abbeville, was adopted.

On motion, the officers composing the Legal Conference were re-elected.

Dr. Summers stated that there was a safe in possession of Wm. Otis belonging to the Alabama Conference.

By action of the body, the safe was turned over to the Legal Conference.

Report of the Joint Committee of the Methodist Protestant Church, and of the Alabama Conference, in regard to the Union church, Lowndes county, was accepted and filed.

Question 1. (Resumed.) Who are admitted into full connection? Answer: E. E. Cowan on motion was received into full connection, and elected to deacon's orders.

Leave of absence for T. S. Abernethy was granted, also for John H. Malone.

Dr. S. H. Cox presented a communication from Bishop Keener, transferring (at his own request) H. C. Holloman to San Augustine, Texas. On motion, the action of the Conference discontinuing him was reconsidered, and he was continued in class of the first year.

Report of the committee to whom was referred the communication of the commission on the subject of Sabbath breaking was read, and, on motion, was adopted, with the amendment to "strike out clause to insert in minutes."

Motion was made (but afterward withdrawn) that a copy be furnished the Alabama Legislature.

Bishop Kavanaugh (O. R. Blue temporarily in the chair) made some sublime and infinitable remarks on consideration of the resolution of the joint commission of Presbyterians and Methodists on the subject of Sabbath breaking. The Bishop alluded to the fact that the main sources of infidelity arose from Sabbath breaking in our large cities, and gave many instances of his own personal observation in support of his arguments, which a want of space will forbid our noticing further.

The remarks of Rev. T. F. Mangum and T. O. Summers on the same subject, were also eloquent and convincing.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1878.

TO THE MEMORY OF OUR PASTOR.

A little tribute to the memory of our dear pastor, Rev. P. H. Moss, who died of yellow fever, at Delhi, La., September 18th, 1878.

Beloved pastor can it be
That thou art gone forever?
That Death, relentless in his grasp,
Such ties as ours could sever?

Where is the little flock to-day
Thy loving footsteps tended?
Where is the voice, so full of love,
That with our prayers ascended?

Thou'rt only "gone before," not dead—
But just passed o'er the river,
To glide on to that blessed land,
Where we shall part—no—never.

A loving Father called thee home—
Thy work on earth was ended—
Thy happy spirit took its flight,
By angel bands attended.

Yes! we shall meet thee "over again"
Where no more pain or sorrow
Shall cloud our happiness supreme,
In one long, blest to-morrow.

E. J. SLACK.

Gospel Hymns.

MR. EDITOR: Having seen a communication in the ADVOCATE of August 15, 1878, by one who signs himself "Layman," which was headed; "Old Paths—Again," in which he makes some very severe remarks about what I think a very excellent little song book, I thought to trespass upon your time, patience and space, in order, if possible, to set Bro. "L." right on the subject, or at least vindicate a production which I know all who have given it a fair examination and trial, unbiased by sectarian scruples, will pronounce a work of merit, and calculated to put new life in those who sing the songs contained in it. He says, speaking of our Methodist ministers, that "they are rapidly falling into the evil habit of laying aside our grand hymn book, and taking up that abominable mixture of nonsense and trash denominated 'Gospel Hymns.'" Then he goes on to give a description of a District Conference which, he says, was a failure; and if we are allowed to suppose he meant what he said, then the poor "little cheap affair," so-called "Gospel Hymns," composed of songs of Maudlin sentimentality and incorrect construction, "was at least the cause, indirectly, of the failure." Perhaps that District Conference was a "failure" only in the mind of Bro. L.; and the fact is, from his own statement, the balance of those who were there did not think it a "failure," and evidently they must all have enjoyed themselves.

I don't agree with him either as to the merit of the songs; for to my mind nearly every song in the "cheap little affair" either contains the most soul-stirring prayer, or is calculated to direct the thoughts of those who sing or hear, to "that home of the soul" of which all Christians delight to hear, and which causes the soul to expand, and fill to overflowing with gratitude to Him who gave his only begotten Son, to make provision, so that even "the chief of sinners," by coming to him, realizing themselves "to be nothing," asking to be "laid low in the dust," and crying: "Just as I am without one plea, but that Thy blood was shed for me," shall be able to appreciate the meaning of the song commencing: "What a friend we have in Jesus," and being filled with the beatific presence of the glorious Sun of Righteousness, will be forced to cry out: "Hallelujah! 'tis done; I believe on the Son."

Then when the first season of ecstatic bliss, which is a sweet foretaste of Heaven, passes off, and troubles, trials and temptations in every shape and form begin to assail the young convert, when the "old Adam, with his seven other spirits, more wicked than himself," tries to get back into his house, out of which he has been driven by the Spirit of God, then it is he begins to wish for a return of "sweet hour of prayer," and his soul begins to sing: "I need thee every hour," and to realize what the poet meant when he sings so sweetly: "Every day and hour, let me feel Thy cleansing power."

"Layman" makes me think of a remark made by a friend of mine, a very excellent Christian gentleman, who being present a short time since, when I was leading a prayer meeting, and having a few of the five-cent copies of the "little affair" with me, I gave them to the people around to sing out of, when he, asked me why I did not use the "old-fashioned Methodist hymn book?" I asked him if these were good why not use them? Can there be any objection to using them? No, no, said he, only you know they are revival songs! and, besides, we are in a Methodist church!

I asked him if this was not a revival meeting. If not, what was it? What were we praying for? Certainly not for exercise, as some of the modern theologians would have us to believe! All right, said he, sing in "Gospel Hymns" if you like; and we did sing, and had a revival too. I handed him a Methodist hymn book, and turned to "There is a fountain filled with blood," in "Gospel Hymns," and we had a very gracious time.

"Variety is the spice of life." Our own church recognizes that maxim when she changes our preachers nearly every year, and I don't see why we cannot have a new song occasionally by way of variety.

I admit the truth of what my friend says about "old hymns," a thousand sweet and holy associations, hymns our mothers sang, etc., Christianity in earnest, etc., and I honor him for clinging with a death like grip to the songs of the Wesleys, but shall we not be permitted occasionally to put on some other than the "straight jacket" of Methodism.

Not long since I heard of a Dutch Jew who was sending his children to a Methodist Sabbath school, and some of his nation remonstrating with him on that account, he replied: That if his children lived lives in accordance with what they were taught in that Sabbath school, he was not afraid but that they would be saved at last when death called them away from earth. So I say, unhesitatingly, if I had a hundred thousand children under my control I would not be afraid of their future salvation in heaven if they lived up to the standard of theology taught and sung in the "cheap little affair" full of nonsense and trash, denominated "Gospel Hymns." I only wish I was able, I would see that every man, woman and child, white and black, in the land, should have an opportunity so they could get one, and I can assure Bro. "Layman" it would not be long before every mountain and hill, and vale, and dale, in this whole country, would hear the joyful sound of the promise of God, that "Whosoever will may come," or having been led to realize that "There is life for a look at the crucified One," they would be constrained to sing aloud: "Rejoice and be glad!"

What will become of the thousand and one (shall I not say tens of thousands) souls that have been converted under the influence of Moody's preaching and Sankey's singing? We are told that Sankey just "sings religion into his hearers, and if I mistake not these are the songs he uses."

Rest assured if we had no other song book than "Gospel Hymns," there would still be people converted, and there would go forth the command to "Ring the bells of Heaven," for "precious souls are being born again." Still there would be souls who realized that "All is Beauty, bright and vernal,

All is glory, grand, eternal,
When Jesus comes."

And now, Bro. L., do let us have "a little spice in ours," by way of variety. And having the assurance that "God will guide us with His eye," as "down Life's dark vale we wander," let us shake hands over the chasm which separates us, and try to be more catholic and charitable in our views in the future.

N. B. NORWOOD.

CENTER, East Feliciana La., Nov. 23, 1878.

From the Work.

DEAR EDITOR: We have been continuing our protracted meeting about three or four weeks, and we have not closed it yet. The termination of the year has been an outpouring of the Spirit, and the in-gathering of many souls. We have about twenty-three conversions, and there are eight penitents still seeking. Owing to the destitute condition of the people, and sickness included, we have not been very prosperous financially, but God has poured out his Spirit. Sunday, December 1, we baptized four adults and received seven new converts. Pray for us that the work of the Lord may go on. November 18 I attended the church, to meet some penitents, but there was nobody present. It rained very heavy, and on my return home the wind blew my light out. I remained in the woods all night with a hickory tree as a shelter; but when light dawned I was about a half a mile from home, but the Lord was with me.

Your brother in Christ,

EDWARD FILLIS.

INDIAN VILLAGE, Dec. 2, 1878.

Lord Ponsonby, under the instructions of Lord Palmerston, was at Brussels advocating the imposition of the Prince of Orang upon the Belgians as their new King. On M. de Weyer's declaring that the people would have nothing to do with Orangeism, Lord Ponsonby exclaimed, "The people, the people! Are you aware that within eight days I could have you hung from the first tree in the park by this very people upon whom you rely?" "Yes," was the reply, "I believe that with time and plenty of money you might; but I could have you hung in five minutes, and hung gratis. Don't let us play at this game." The two gentlemen laughed and shook hands.

WE ARE PRAYING FOR YOU.

[DEAR MR. EDITOR.—Please publish the following lines, written by a precious Christian woman to two of her friends in the South, she residing in Washington, D. C. T. SALE RATFORD.]

We are praying for you, darlings,
All, as one, interceding;
Oh! Father in heaven,
Behold us now pleading.

O' Son of the Highest,
All power to Thee given,
Our Advocate be,
In the court of high heaven.

Holy Spirit, the Comforter,
Send down the power,
To stay the destroyer,
In this fearful hour.

We are praying for you, darlings,
For the South stricken sadly,
Where pestilence stalks,
And death rides madly.

We pray, Divine "Healer,
Physician unfailing"
Send help to the land
Now mournfully wailing.

Send strength to the fainting,
Hope to the despairing,
Balm for the sick,
And peace to the dying.

K. A. R.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy on proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as "mourn their loss," etc., are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

SARAH ANN WHITE, my wife, died on the twenty fifth of April last, in the full assurance of her acceptance in the beloved Son of God. From a child she was a child of Christ; and in the last moments of her painful sufferings gave the marks of a true Christian.

The night before she died she said to me: "You do not know how I suffer," then added: "Jesus suffered for me; I'll trust him down to the gates of death. I asked her: "Is not Jesus with you? Is he not near?" She said: "No! as near as I want Him, to be. I can't Him at my arm."

She prayed to be delivered; to have patience to wait, that the Lord's will might be done. I asked her: "Will you be better off Sarah?" She said: "A thousand times ten thousand fold." She died after many months of intense sufferings from a complication of diseases, which culminated in dropsy, leaving in her dying testimony the evidence that the religion of our Christianity is a truth.

She was born in Laurence county, Miss., April 1, 1837, and died in Tangipahoa parish, La., at the time stated above.

J. BOYES,
Husband and P. C.

DEATHS IN PONCHATOULA.

In this article we note the deaths in the family of Col. T. M. Terry, of Ponchatoula, La. Sister Nancy Tucker, his mother-in-law, his wife, Miss M. E. Terry, and his oldest son and first-born, J. Orin Terry, victims of the yellow fever. Sister Nancy Tucker had been for many years a member of the Methodist Church, South. She was of that school trained under the pastorate of such men as Rev. Thomas Clinton, and of Rev. Barnabas Pipkin, and as far as my acquaintance with her since 1860, she lived a Christian life, devoting her feeble strength to the comfort of the sick, although she had been long and painfully afflicted herself. I saw her on last day for the last time, she was then sick with the fever. After stating that this was a fast day, and that we had met to implore Divine mercy for the fever stricken people, she closed her eyes, and for a few moments seemed to be engaged in prayer. She gave vent to the feelings of her heart, and said in words what she seemed to feel. "O, the suffering sick with the fever." Conversing with her a few days before of the happy death of those who had died in Christ, her face lit up and she said: "It is a great thing; it is a good thing; there was joy to think that all could be well in death." She died as if falling asleep on the —— ——, in the fifty-eight year of her age. Her maiden name was Wells.

J. BOYES, P. C.

When I came on to the Ponchatoula Circuit in the fall of 1860, I found the name of M. E. Tucker (since the wife of Col. T. M. Terry) on the Class Book at Wesley Chapel; from that time commenced my acquaintance with Sister Terry, and nothing from that time until her death prevents me from looking upon her as a child of Jesus. Before her marriage I found her in the girl's Bible-class in the Sabbath school at Wesley Chapel; her old home, and contributed in no small degree to its success. After her removal to Ponchatoula where she died, she became interested in a Sabbath school at that place, but never forgot Wesley Chapel Sabbath School. It was a subject that seemed to lie near her heart, and the last pleasant interview I had with her, the Sunday-school was the theme of conversation. The accompanying resolutions will best tell the estimation in which she was held. The account of her death will be best given in an extract from a letter of the Colonel to me, giving an account of her death:

"Being sensible that death was approaching, my darling wife, Mrs. M. E. Terry, called me to her bedside, and taking the wedding ring from her finger, said: 'Here, Colonel, take back your ring and give it to Fruza, (her eldest daughter) when she is old enough, as the parting gift of her dear mother.' She afterward became quiet for a while, and then lifting her voice to the throne of grace, she prayed, asking in eloquent words that God would be with her in her great trouble, and that He would remove every doubt from her mind. She then remained quiet for a short time, as though communing with herself, and then said in a strong clear voice: 'Now that every doubt is removed from my mind, let me pray for my poor husband.'" The Colonel further adds: "She showed in her last moments that her peace was made with God, and feared not the sting of death. She died October 22, in the thirty-sixth year of her age."

After an illness of only five days her oldest son, J. Orin Terry followed his grand-mother and mother to the spirit land. When his little bother Clifford was sick he climbed into his bed, saying: "I want the fever too," and lay down with his brother; he took the fever, and God, who is too wise to err, took him to join the good ones above. Orin was a Sunday-school scholar, and won prizes in the infant's and primary classes to which he belonged. Yesterday we buried him by the side of his dear mother. Orin was only twelve years of age.

We have thus recounted our loss, but trust that Heaven has gained them all.

J. BOYES, P. C.

BRO. BENJAMIN G. BARNES, was born in Hancock county, Georgia, moved to Alabama and settled in Montgomery county in 1850; soon after he was married to Miss S. A. Middlebrooks (about the year 1854), married the second time to Miss Eliza Ellisor, 1861, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church the same year. He lived in the church an humble quiet Christian until his death, which occured October 20, 1878.

A good citizan, an affectionate husband, a kind father and a liberal supporter of the church is gone. B. L. SELMAN, Pastor.

Southern Christian Advocate please copy.

AT THE fourth Quarterly Conference, Canton station, Mississippi Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, the following preamble and resolutions, in memory of our deceased brothers, Drs. WILLIS B. HARVEY and A. H. CAGE, members of this body, were adopted:

Whereas, It has pleased our merciful Father above to call our beloved brothers, Willis B. Harvey and A. H. Cage, from the walks of men to their reward in heaven; be it

Resolved, That in the death of these brethren the community at large has lost two good, true and useful men, and the church two valuable Christian workers and brothers beloved in the Lord; be it

Resolved, That we will ever cherish their precious memories, and mourn this loss, and do hereby tender their bereaved families our sincere sympathy, praying that God will mercifully comfort and protect them in this dark hour of bereavement.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Conference, and the same be furnished the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, with the request to publish the same.

R. D. NORSWORTHY, Pastor.

MRS. MARY M. FISACKERLY, daughter of Malcom and Mary Baker, died in Montgomery county, Miss., July 8, 1878. She was born in Robeson county, N. C., March 12, 1835. Having lost her mother when ten years of age, the care of two younger sisters and a brother devolved on her, and well did she fill the place of a mother to them. She came to Mississippi in 1848, lost her father in 1855, and soon after married Alex. C. Fisackerly, whose life was sacrificed in the trying ordeal of 1861, leaving her with four little boys. She professed religion, and joined the Methodist Church in 1854, and lived a consistent member until called to her reward. She was in many respects a remarkable woman. Early taught the principles of Christianity, and accepting the same as her rule in life, she thereby attained to a degree in patience, loving kindness, faith and charity, that is rarely seen in life. She did not speak of her future prospect in her last sickness, yet we have no doubt of her preparation for the great change, as her daily walk and conversation evidenced that she was with Christ, and had been taught of him.

In her social intercourse, though modest and unobtrusive, she exerted a happy influence over all around her. But if her excellence as a Christian woman shone forth in any one relation more than another, it was in that of mother. In all that pertains to wise and prudent government, tender care, unfaltering devotion, and watchful solicitude for the future happiness as well as the temporal welfare of her children, she had no superior. S.

CAPERS and CHAPPAL, infant sons of C. W. and T. V. Butler, were born January 25, 1878, and died, Chappal on the twelfth, and Capers on the thirteenth of July, 1878. Father, thy will be done.

R. T. PARISH.

WILLIAM RICHARD, son of J. T. and Elizabeth Humphries, departed this life near Columbia, La., July 29, 1878, in the tenth year of his age.

He sent for his pastor the day before his death, and so delighted was he to see him that he grasped his right hand in both of his, and asked him to pray for him. He was willing to go, and wished singing all the while. A short time before his death he said to his sister: "You can't go now, but you'll come after awhile;" and then to his mother: "Ma, I'm gone."

May God bless the dear children who read this, and help them to be ready for death.

J. F. WYNN.

JOHN C. HUGHES, son of Charles E. and Pamlon Hughes, and great grandson of the Rev. John Craig, of the Holston Conference, was born September 20, 1855, and was drowned April 27, 1878, near Daiville, Lauderdale county, Miss.

Thus passed away this noble young man noble in disposition, noble in acts of kindness to parents, brothers and sisters, noble also in his devotion to the cause of God, strong in his attachment to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of which he was a member. He seemed only desirous to know and do the will of God. As an evidence of this fact, he decided to leave home and go out to Texas. Providence seemed not to favor the enterprise. He then decided to remain with his parents in their misfortune another year. Next he thought of applying for employment on the railroad. He wrote to his sister to pray that God would show him whether such a course would be for the glory of God and his own spiritual welfare.

He was sincere in his profession, and consistent in his walk and conversation. He had a firm grasp on spiritual things—was firm in the faith of the gospel, the cross was the center of attraction to him, and around it his soul revolved with no irregular action. Given to no impulse, without noise or turbulence, he moved steadily on to heaven. He could not be satisfied without a family altar, and proposed to father and mother that they and himself bear an equal part in family worship. Thus he lived, but strangely passed away. It is very probable he would have preached if he had lived. A sermon or essay was found among his papers that showed the bent of his mind and heart. The sermon or essay was founded upon: "Ye are the salt of the earth, a city set upon a hill." Religion and theology were prominent in that effort. His clarion voice will be heard no more at Bethel church nor in family worship, but possibly has joined with the redeemed and sanctified in paradise.

JAS. M. GANN.

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove forever from our association here our young friend and Sunday-school worker, EMMA RHODES, by death from yellow fever, in New Orleans, August 19, 1878;

And whereas, She so cheerfully filled her place at Sunday school through all difficulties, and though she died away from friends here, she left bright hopes with other friends that she was going to a happy home above; therefore,

Resolved, That we humbly bow to the divine will in this as in all things, and say "Thy will be done;" and also

Resolved, That we tender our sympathies to her family, with a copy of these resolutions, and also furnish a copy to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, also request this school to wear the usual mourning for thirty days from date. COMMITTEE.

MRS. SALLIE ANN WARD was born March 18, 1796, and died August 21, 1878. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church in her fifteenth year, and continued a consistent member until the organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and then being a part of said organization she continued faithful in all respects until death. During her pilgrimage she halted for awhile, and became worldly-minded, but through the operation of the Spirit of God she was awakened to a consciousness of her omissions and ingratitude, and with her burdened heart she again sought the mercy seat, and found the Saviour the "fairest among ten thousand, and altogether lovely." As she approached her journey's end she grew in grace. The spiritually-minded could see that she was ripening for her eternal home. It was almost like holding converse with the saints in light to be with her and hear her talk of divine things. And when she stood on the chilly banks, and looked across the cold dark river of death, her son, Rev. John K. Ward, asked: "Mother, do you feel that all is right?" She answered: "Yes, my dear son, all is right; there is nothing in the way." He then said: "Thank God for this assurance." She replied: "Yes, thanks be to His holy name;" and then said: "I want all my children and grandchildren to live, so that when they are called to die they will be glad am, all peace and joy within; for when my sufferings are ended here I shall be at rest." At five o'clock Saturday, August 21, the weary wheels of life stood still, and our aged sister and mother in the Lord passed to her glorious inheritance in the skies. W.

LESSIE, youngest daughter of Geo. and Fannie Bridger, departed this life in Columbia, La., August 30, 1878, in the eighth year of her age.

She was the youngest of four little girls who joined the church during the last protracted meeting at this place.

She was thought by her relatives too young to take such a step as this, but so intent was she that nothing could keep her from uniting herself with God's people. She was told that Miss Lilly Faulkner would now call on her to pray in the children's prayer meeting, but said: "I'll do the best I can," and when told by her father that she would have to go as missionary to the Indians, replied: "When I am old enough, if God wants me to go, I'll go."

Lessie was taken with diphtheria, next day after her reception into the church, and after a few days of suffering she so sweetly passed away to the church on high. She seemed more than willing to die.

J. F. WYNN.

AT THE Fourth Quarterly Conference for Providence and Pecan Grove Circuit, Delhi District, Louisiana Conference, held at Pecan Grove, November 9, 1878, the following resolutions were adopted as a tribute of respect to the memory of Bro. R. B. POWELL, deceased:

Whereas, As it has pleased Almighty God in His wise Providence, to remove from our midst our much esteemed and worthy brother and acceptable Steward and Sunday-school superintendent, R. B. Powell, who departed this life September 8, 1878, at his residence in East Carroll parish, La.; and

Whereas, In the lamented death of Bro. Powell, the church has lost one of her best members, the Quarterly Conference one of its faithful Stewards, the Sunday-school a faithful superintendent, the community a worthy citizen, his family an affectionate father; therefore be it

Resolved, That we, the Quarterly Conference of Lake Providence and Pecan Grove Circuit, Louisiana Conference, place on record our testimony of regard for the memory of our much esteemed brother, and this express our grief at the loss of such a good and true man.

Resolved, That we recommend his example of Christian piety and faithfulness as worthy of imitation by all true followers of our blessed Saviour.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the surviving family in the truly afflicting circumstances in which they have been called upon to pass through; and hereby extend to them tenderest Christian condolence, and pray that our Heavenly Father may grant them His recognizing and sustaining grace.

W. J. CHAMPION was born in South Carolina, January 4, 1823; moved to Alabama in 1841; from thence to Mississippi in 1858. In the year last he attached himself to the Presbyterian Church at Pope's Creek, and was a member of the same until his death. In the same year, 1861, he was made a Mason in Huntsville Lodge, No. 71. In 1874 he moved his membership by dimit to Joe Applewhite Lodge, No. 235, in Montgomery county, Miss., and remained a member until his death, which occurred September 18, 1878, aged fifty-five years, eight months and fourteen days.

Whereas, It has pleased the Supreme Architect of the universe to remove from our midst our friend and brother, we bow with humble submission to His will, knowing that "behind a frowning Providence He hides a smiling face." Therefore be it Resolved, That in the death of Brother Champion, the church, lodge and community sustain an irreparable loss.

Resolved, That we sincerely sympathize with his bereaved widow and family in the great affliction, citing them to the God of consolation for peace, comfort and a spirit of submission to His will in all their trials.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions be spread upon the Lodge minutes; also, a copy of these be transmitted to the bereaved family, and a copy be sent to some suitable paper for publication, hereafter designated.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. R. BELL, W. M.
R. COLEY, Secretary.

MATTIE LOUISA, eldest daughter of John Minnis and Emma L. Schroeder, died in New Orleans, October —, 1878, of yellow fever, aged three years and — months. "Of such is the kingdom of heaven."

R. I. S.

Whereas, It has pleased God to take to himself our young friend and brother in the church, WILLIAM CORMAN, who died October 5, 1878;

And whereas, He had also been associated with our Sunday-school and by his gentle manners, good actions and example, perseverance and success in the prompt and unvaried attendance at Sunday-school, dutifulness and respect to parents and teachers, won for him the regard and love;

And whereas, We can only bow to the vacancy his death has left in our midst, but the remembrance of his goodness, and the hope to meet him "over there," and we have the assurance of friends who attended his last but severe illness that his mind and heart were set on things above, and that, by conversation and triumphant death-bed scene, he has now entered upon a life of everlasting happiness; therefore,

Resolved, That, though we miss our friend much here, we will submit to God's will, "Thy will be done."

Resolved, That we hold him up as an example to our Sunday school, and tender our sympathies to his bereaved family, with a copy of these resolutions, and request this Sunday school to wear the usual mourning for thirty days.

T. T. C.
L. C. ——, Secretary.

SAMUEL G. TERRELL, died at his residence in Covington County, Miss., September 30, 1878, being in the —— year of his age. He was born and [illegible] on the place where he died, where his father and mother lived and died, from whom he inherited with [illegible] without reproach.

The approach of death was neither expected, but did not, as we [illegible] think, find him unprepared, [illegible] to outward appearance [illegible] with paralysis, he lived, [illegible] but without the power of speech [illegible] hours, and then, surrounded and tenderly cared for by his wife and children, sister and sister, and other friends, [illegible] and without apparent pain, [illegible] death.

Endowed with good natural [illegible] gifted with more than ordinary energy, perseverance, whatever business [illegible] in generally prospered. A [illegible] and sympathising with [illegible] men; his integrity, his generous [illegible] ness and manly independence [illegible] claimed their respect. With [illegible] into the motives of those he had dealings with, he was seldom deceived by appearances, shams and humbugs he lived [illegible] at their actual value. A large circle of relatives and friends habitually [illegible] judgment and profited by [illegible] his family he was always [illegible] affectionate husband and father.

Quite early in life he became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Sandy and continued a steadfast [illegible] and supporter of the church in [illegible] adorning, by a consistent walk and conversation, the gospel which he professed until the day of his death. E. M. I.

AT THE Fourth Quarterly Conference, Grand Bay Mission, Mobile District, Alabama Conference, the following resolutions offered by Dr. W. M. Lovelady, were passed:

Whereas, Since the last meeting of this Conference God, whose we are, has seen fit to remove from our midst, and [illegible] labors and sorrows, REV. L. H. MORROW;

Resolved, That in the death of Bro. Morrow this Conference has lost an efficient member and the church a zealous and [illegible] preacher.

Resolved, That we learn with great satisfaction that he died in peace, [illegible] of his approaching end, [illegible] trust in God.

Resolved, That the Secretary of this Conference be requested to furnish the family of Brother Morrow, with a copy of these resolutions.

HENRY HOOPER, Sec.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1878.

THE SONG SPARROW.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

Bird of the lonesside! warbling clear
In the spending or fading year,
Well art thou named, from thy own sweet lay
Piped from paling or naked spray;
As the smile of the sun breaks through
Chill gray clouds that curtain the blue.

Even when February bleak
Smites with his frost the traveler's cheek,
While the air has no touch of spring,
Bird of promise we hear thee sing.
Long ere the first rathe blossom wakes,
Long ere the earliest leaf-bud breaks.

April passes and May steals by;
June coats in the sultry July;
Sweet are the wood-notes, loud and sweet,
Heard from the robin's and hang-bird's seat.
Thou, as the green months glide away,
Singest with them as gayly as they.

August comes, and the melon and maize
Bask and swell in his fiery blaze;
Swallows gather, and southward bound,
Wheel like a whirl-blast, round and round.
Thrush and robin their songs forget,
Thou art cheerfully warbling yet.

Later still, when the sumac spray
Reddens to crimson day by day,
When in the orchard, one by one,
Apples drop in the ripening sun,
Thou still pile them beneath the trees
Hear thy lay in the autumn breeze.

Comes November, sullen and grim,
Sps. sing with frost the rivulet's brim,
Fierce, hoarse winds from the woodland tear
Each brown leaf that is clinging there:
Still art thou singing amid the blast,
Soon is the dreariest season past!

Only when Christmas snow-storms make Smooth white levels of river and lake,
Silling the light snows all day long,
Only then do we miss thy song.
Sure to hear it again, when soon
Climbs the sun to a higher noon.

Late when the sorrowing south-wind brought Tidings of battles fiercely fought,
Tidings of hosts in war array,
Marking with graves their bloody way:
Still wert thou singing near my door
Soon is the stormiest season o'er.

Ever thus sing cheerfully on,
Bird of Hope! as in ages gone;
Song of spring time and summer shades,
Autumn's pomp when the summer fades,
Sing'st that thee from the conquering foe
Peace by enduring valor woo.

Wesley's Summary on Perfection.

In 1764 Mr. Wesley summed up the doctrine in the following propositions:

1. There is such a thing as perfection; for it is again and again mentioned in Scripture.

2. It is not so early as justification; for justified persons are to "go on to perfection."—Heb. vi, 1.

3. It is not so late as death; for Paul speaks of living men that were perfect.—Phil. iii, 15.

4. It is not absolute. Absolute perfection belongs not to men nor angels, but to God alone.

5. It does not make a man infallible; none is infallible while he remains in the body.

6. Is it sinless? It is not worth while to contend for a term. It is salvation from sin.

7. It is perfect love. First John iv, 18. This is the essence of it; its properties or inseparable fruits are rejoicing evermore, praying without ceasing, and in everything giving thanks.

8. It is improvable. It is so far from being incapable of increase that one perfected in love may grow in grace far swifter than he did before.

9. It is capable of being lost, of which we have numerous instances. But we were not thoroughly convinced of this until five or six years ago.

10. It is followed and preceded by a gradual work.

11. But is it, in itself, instantaneous or not? In examining this, let us go on step by step.

An instantaneous change has been wrought in some believers. None can deny this.

Since that change they enjoy perfect love; they "rejoice evermore, pray without ceasing, in everything give thanks." Now, this is all I mean by perfection; therefore these are witnesses of the perfection which I preach. "But in some this change was not instantaneous." They did not perceive the instant when this change was wrought. It is often difficult to perceive the instant a man dies; yet there is an instant when life ceases. And when sin ceases there must be a last moment of its existence, and a first moment of our deliverance from it.

"But if they have this love now they will lose it." They may. But they need not. And whether they do or not, they have it now; they now experience what we teach. They now are all love.

"However, sin is only suspended in them—not destroyed." Call it which you please. They are all love to-day, and take no thought for to-morrow. "But this doctrine has been much abused." So has the doctrine of justification by faith. But that is no reason for giving up this or any other Scriptural doctrine.

"But those who say they are saved from sin, say they have no need of the merits of Christ." They say just the contrary. Their language is:

"Every moment, Lord, I want
The merit of thy death."

They never before had so deep, so unspeakable conviction of the need of Christ in all his offices as they have now.

Therefore all our preachers should make a point of preaching perfection to believers, constantly, strongly and explicitly; and all believers should mind this one thing, and continually agonize after it.—Henry, in Holston Methodist.

Massacre of the Huguenots at Vassy.

The massacre of Vassy was a violation of the edict of January and although the Guises were officially prosecuted for this enormous crime, history pillories their name with the odium attaching to it. Twelve hundred of the Reformed gathered together in a barn, worshiping God in peace, under the ægis of the law. Duke Francois, urged by the aged Dowager of Guise, his mother, and accompanied by Cardinal Louis of Guise, caused the place to be surrounded by his escort, composed of gentlemen, two hundred men at arms, and sixty archers. "It is a Huguenot preaching," exclaimed some one. "Par la mort Dieu!" exclaimed the Duke, "we will Huguenot them soon in another fashion."

The first victim was a poor wine-hawker. "In whom dost thou believe?" was the question addressed to him. "I believe in Jesus Christ," and with one blow from a pike he was on the ground. Two more were killed near the door. These who showed themselves at the windows were fired at. Then the poor sufferers took up some stones, one of which hit the Duke of Guise on the face. From that moment he and his followers gave themselves up without pity to a ferocious butchery. Leonard Morel, the Pasteur, was kneeling in his pulpit praying, but they set upon him; he tried to escape, but, wounded on the head and shoulder, he said: "Lord, into Thy hands I commend my spirit, for Thou hast redeemed me." He was, however, destined to escape. They brought him to the Duke, who said to him: "Minister, come here. Are you the minister of this place? How dared you to seduce this people?" "I am not a seducer," he replied; "I preach the gospel of Jesus Christ." "Mort Dieu!" exclaimed the Duke, "the gospel preached by a seducer. You have caused the death of all these people. Let the provost prepare a gallows to hang him." The provost not being at hand, there was some delay, and Morel was saved. When the Bible of the Calvinists was shewn to Guise, and the Cardinal murmured: "There is no harm in this," the Duke, as ignorant as he was fanatic, exclaimed: "Comment sang Dieu!—the Holy Scripture! It is more than fifteen hundred years since it was written, and these books were printed but a year ago. Par la mort Dieu! the whole thing is worth nothing." There were sixty killed and two hundred wounded, and their belongings put up for auction. Such was the material result of the massacre of Vassy. The moral result was disastrous for the country. This attack upon the religious rights of the Reformers was the signal for many more, and it may be considered as the prelude to the St. Bartholomew. Should they then have opposed force by force? Theodore Beza, expressing the feeling of our fathers, writes: "Truly the Church of God must endure blows and not return them; but also you must please to remember that it is an anvil which has broken many hammers."—Le Christianisme au Dix neuvieme Siecle.

Execution of Maximilian.

Carlotta's brief delirium of joy had begun to be clouded with other sorrows before she had found cause to suspect the loyalty of their new subjects to the empire. Almost at the beginning of the signs of coming troubles, news came from beyond the sea of the death of her loved and honored father, Leopold, King of Belgium. The Emperor left alone, and beset on every hand by those whom he could not trust, while the whole country seemed to be going over to the enemy, felt, as never before, his loneliness, and the need of the support that the presence of the Empress might have afforded him. But not only was she gone from him, but after a few months the sad news came to him that she had become demented, and her speedy death was expected. Then, it is said, for the first and only time in his sad experience the power of his nerves gave way, and with streaming eyes and trembling voice he paced the floor, moaning continually: "Poor Carlotta! poor Carlotta!" It would be alike unpleasant and unedifying to follow him to the tribunal before which he was summoned; but to which summons he responded only by saying:

"If I am to be condemned, then my presence or absence will make no difference."

His condemnation ensued, as a matter of course; but that was followed by a reprieve, but soon the fatal sentence was pronounced and executed. It is said that Juarez would have been glad to spare his life, not for reasons of state, and out of regard to the voice of his chief supporters he gave his sanction to the execution.

A little before this time might have been seen, away beyond the ocean, another scarcely less tragical scene. It was the young and beautiful, but now almost demented, Empress of Mexico, prostrate before the Holy Father at Rome, interceding for the Pope's interference in behalf of her husband, betrayed and abandoned among his enemies. But the Pope was powerless in the case, and he had indeed consented to the arrangements that now threatened to terminate so fatally. Then came upon her the sudden frenzy of fear that she would be poisoned if she left the protection of the Vatican; and this was followed by gradual sinking away of the noble and refined spirit into a quiet, moping madness, from which not even the sweet familiar scenes of her loved Miramar sufficed to arouse her. She saw nothing more of the dark cloud that was gathering around her husband, nor was she aroused to consciousness by the thunder-crash that soon after sounded through the brilliant halls of the Tuileries, and the more majestic palace of Schonbrunn, announcing that the stern decree of death had been executed upon the brave and accomplished young Emperor. That sorrow was spared her; which, had she been capable of feeling it, must itself have driven her to frenzied madness.

How sadly dramatic was the scene of the execution of Maximilian, the more so because all was so entirely unstudied and sincere! He handed his marriage ring to Dr. Baseke, to be conveyed to his mother, the archduchess, for he believed that Carlotta was already dead. He carefully prepared his toilet, in preparation for his death, dressing himself in a plain, single-breasted, black frock coat, closely buttoned, black neck-tie and lower garment, and a broad brimmed Mexican hat. He, the chief actor in the sad scene, was calm, while his attendants were so completely unnerved that they were near fainting, as they witnessed the placid bearing of one so beloved and revered.

Slowly the cortege of three carriages with the escort of five mounted soldiers, and the battalion of infantry, guarding the road, moved toward the "Hill of Bells," where Maximilian had been captured, and where he was to be shot. The three victims stood side by side; Maximilian placing Gen. Miramon in the center, as the post of honor, himself taking the stand on the left, with Gen. Mejia on the right. Then followed the distribution of the twenty dollar gold pieces, containing the Emperor's effigy, which he left for his executioners. The picture grows more and more vivid, as placing his hand on his heart in a calm, clear voice, the Imperial victim uttered the fatal command:

"Fire!"

Then followed the discharge of three guns, the instant death of the two generals, the reeling of the chief victim with his life not yet extinct, when he was heard to murmur indistinct words in Spanish. Some asserting them to have been: "O man! O man!" others thinking it: "Poor Carlotta!" A second shot through his heart, a convulsive shuddering, and Maximilian, Archduke of Austria, and Emperor of Mexico, lay dead on foreign soil.

The wife, once so full of enthusiasm at her transfer from beautiful Miramer to an Imperial palace in far-off Mexico, had no intuition of the sailing from Vera Cruz, or arrival on the American coast, of the ship Novara, with its bands of music wailing forth a funeral dirge; of mast and spar, pennon and flag; of the incoming vessel, and of all others lying moored in the harbor, draped in black, and the cannons from ships and fortress firing funeral volleys. Nor did she, in her wild dreams, behold the monarch, her husband, cold and stark within his zinc coffin, clad in his military costume of blue and gold; nor was she a witness of the last doleful scene, when they laid the body of the royal victim in the sepulcher of his fathers, amid the sighs and tears of thousands who loved him, and over whose dust, now moldering in decay, a never-dying memory is preserved by nations who never saw his face and have no part in his life or people.—National Repository.

A Whale's Death Flurry.

"Hurra, boys! see she rises!" was the general shout. Up came the whale, more suddenly than we expected. A general dash was made at her by all the boats. "Stern for your lives; 'stern of all!" cried some of the more experienced harpooners. "See, she's in a flurry." First the monster flapped the water violently with its fins; then its tail was elevated aloft, lashing the ocean around it into a mass of foam. This was not its death flurry, for, gaining strength before any more harpoons or lances could be struck into it, away it went again, heading towards the ice. Its course was now clearly discerned by a small whirling eddy, which showed that it was at no great distance under the surface, while in its wake was seen a thin line of oil and blood which had exuded from its wound. Wearied, however, by its exertions and its former deep dive, it was again obliged to come to the surface to breathe. Again the eager boats dashed in, almost running on its back, and from every side it was plied with lances, while another harpoon was driven deeply into it, making it doubly secured. Our boat was the most incautious, for we were right over the tail of the whale. The chief harpooner warned us—"Back, my lads; back of all," he shouted out, his own boat pulling away. "Now she's in her death flurry." These words were not out of his mouth when I saw our harpooner leap from the boat and swim as fast as he could towards one of the others. I was thinking of following his example, knowing he had good reasons for it, for I had seen the fins of the animal flap furiously, and which had warned him, when a violent blow, which I fancied must have not only dashed the boat to pieces, but have broken every bone in our bodies, was struck on the keel of the boat. Up flew the boat in the air, some six or eight feet at least, with the remaining crew in her. Then down we came, one lying one side, one on the other, but none of us hurt even, all spluttering and striking out together, while the boat came keel uppermost, not much the worse either. Fortunately we all got clear of the furious blows the monster continued dealing with its tail. "Never saw a whale in such a flurry!" said old David, into whose boat I was taken. For upwards of two minutes the flurry continued, we all the while looking on, and no one daring to approach it; at the same time a spout of blood and mucus and oil ascended into the air from its blow holes and sprinkled us all over. "Hurra, my lads, she spouts blood!" we shouted out to each other, though we all saw and felt it plain enough. There was a last bash of that tail, now faint and scarce rising above the water, but which, a few minutes ago, would have sent every boat round it flying into splinters. Then all was quiet. The mighty mass, now inanimate, turned slowly round upon its side, and then it floated belly up and dead.

"Have you ever read Watts on the mind?" asked a lady of an old bachelor. "Oh!" exclaimed he, "if you only knew what's on my mind! and yet I dare not tell you?" "Why, do tell?" cried she. He did. The wedding came off in a month.

An old man who had been badly hurt in a railroad collision, being advised to sue the company for damages, said, "Well, no, not for damages. I've had enough of them; but I'll just sue 'em for repairs."

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

It is said that Rev. William Taylor, the missionary, will return to India in November.

The Scotch Presbyterians seem disposed to resist the establishment of the Roman Catholic hierarchy.

What a humiliating fact that the Old City Road Chapel, London, the cradle of Methodism, should be embarrassed by debt! For several years the amount has been gradually decreasing, but still a heavy incubus remains. An organized attack has been made, at last, to rid the memorable sanctuary of this haunting mischief. As the center of such wonderful, world-wide spiritual influence, it is to be hoped by every Methodist that the City Road Chapel, containing John Wesley's old pulpit, shall be no longer desecrated by a mortgage.

The friends of disestablishment in England have arranged to hold a grand North of England convention, to represent ten counties and a half, at Leeds, in January next. One of its objects will be to urge upon the liberal leaders the necessity of at once declaring in favor of disestablishment as an essential part of their programme. The subject of disestablishment is also undergoing an active discussion in Scotland, where the Duke of Argyle, without committing himself decidedly, is trying to conciliate the conflicting elements, and Lord Lorne supports the State Church.

Massacre of Protestants in Mexico. The Methodist Mission at Atzalia, near Puebla, Mexico, was attacked by a Romanist mob, who massacred in cold blood twenty-six of its members. In Puebla, also, the Catholics, inflamed by incendiary publications, assailed the Mission House, but were there dispersed by troops. President Diaz's aid was promptly invoked and as promptly received, with an expression of his deep regret at the outrages. But whether he is willing or able to punish the perpetrators the reports do not say. The whole story is of a piece with the shameful persecutions in Spain which we reported some weeks since.

A few weeks since a camp meeting was held in the Creek Nation, Indian Territory, lasting several days. The meeting was attended by many Choctaws. At the close of the meeting the Indians placed themselves in two lines facing each other, and the Choctaws in their own language sang some of their sweetest hymns. Then each passed down the opposite line, and earnestly shook the hands of the Creeks. Then the Creeks repeated the ceremony, singing in their Muscogee language, and shaking the hands of the Choctaw worshipers, wished them God-speed, and then filed off to their respective nations and homes. This would indicate that the Indians conduct a camp meeting on the right principle.

At the London Missionary Conference, the Rev. Dr. Legge, one of the best authorities, made the following statement in regard to the progress of the Church in China:

"Morrison, who went in 1807, was the missionary pioneer. Medhurst and Milne followed. In 1839 he himself had gone out. It was then not possible to preach the Gospel. In 1842, by the Treaty of Nankin, Hong Kong was handed over to England. Then the missionaries of the London Missionary Society and the American missionaries went there to see what could be done. There were then not more than six converts in all China. From the statistics read at the Shanghai Missionary Conference last year it appeared that there were now 238 missionaries at work, 73 single ladies, and 172 missionaries' wives. There were 91 stations, 511 institutions, and 312 Chinese congregations organized. There were more than 13,000 communicants. Eighteen of the churches were self-supporting, and 243 partly so. There were 73 ordained native pastors, 30 boarding schools for boys, and 38 for girls; 177 day schools, and 20 theological colleges; 11 missionary hospitals, with 3730 in-patients and 87,505 out-patients, and 24 missionary dispensaries. Last year $9000 had been contributed for all purposes. The little flock of China had, since 1842, multiplied two thousand fold. There were probably 50,000 professing Christians. There were 13,000 communicants. Many had borne witness to their sincerity by prolonged sufferings, and even death. There had been the utmost harmony among the different societies, the number of which was a good and not an evil, producing healthy rivalry. He referred to the Roman Catholics, whose converts were said to be 500,000. But it had taken three centuries to bring up the number to this. At the rate of increase of the Protestant missions for the last thirty years, there would be in thirty years more, 26,000,000 communicants and 100,000,000 adherents."

Our Young People.

THE SUNDAY BABY.

You wonderful little Sunday child
Half of your fortune scarce you know
Although you have blinked and winked and smiled
Full seven and twenty days below.

"The bairn that is born on a Sabbath day
So say the old wives over their glass—
Is lonny and healthy, and wise and gay."
What do you think of that, my lass?

Health and wisdom, and beauty and mirth
And (as I fear were not enough for a dower
Because of the holy day of your birth,
Abroad you may walk in the gloaming's hour

When weary bodies, with backward look,
Shiver and quiver and quake with fear.
Or fiend and fairy, and kelpie and spook,
Never a thought need you take, my dear.

For "Sunday's child" may go where it pleases,
Sunday's child shall be free from harm;
Right down through the mountain side it sees
The mines unopened where jewels swarm.

O fortunate baby! Sunday lass!
The veins of gold through the rocks you'll see,
And when o'er the shining sands you pass
You can tell where the hidden springs may be.

And never a fiend or an airy sprite
May thwart or hinder you all your days.
Whenever it changes, in dark or delight
The lids of your marvelous eyes you raise.

You may see, while your heart is pure and true
The angels that visit this lower sphere
Drop down the firmament, two and two,
Their errands of mercy to work down here.

This is the dower of a Sunday child.
What do you think of it, by the brown locks
Winking and blinking your eyes so mild
Down in the depths of your snowy bed.

Alice Williams in St. Nicholas.

The Canary that Talked too Much.

Annette's canary-bird's cage, with the canary in it, was brought into the library and hung upon a book beside the window.

Out popped a mouse from a hole behind the book-case.

"What are you doing here, canary?" she said. "I thought your place was the bay-window in the dining room."

"So it is—so it is!" beginning with a twitter, answered the canary; "but they said I talked too much," ending with a trill.

"Talked?" repeated the mouse, sitting up on her hind-legs and looking earnestly at him. "I thought you only sang!"

"Well, singing and talking mean about the same thing in bird-language," said the canary. "But goodness g-r-racious!" he went on, swinging rapidly to and fro in the little swing at the top of his cage, "'twas they that talked so much—my mistress and the doctor's wife and the doctor's sister—not me. I said scarcely a word, and yet I am called a chatterbox, and punished before company, too! I feel mad enough to pull out my yellow feathers, or upset my bath-tub. Now, you look like a sensible little thing, mouse, and I'll tell you all about it—what they said and what I said—and you shall judge if I deserved to be punished.

"The doctor's wife and the doctor's sister called.

"'It's a lovely day!' said they.

"'A lovely, lovely, lovely day!' sang I. 'The sun shines bright; the sky is blue; the green yes, lovely, lovely, lovely—and I'm happy, happy, happy, and glad, glad, glad!'

"They went right on talking, though I sang my very best, without paying the slightest attention to me; and when I stopped, I caught the words 'So sweet' from my mistress, and then I sang again: 'Sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet, is the clover—sweet is the rose—sweet the song of the bird—sweet the bird—sweet the clover—sweet the rose—the rose, the clover, the bird—yes, yes, yes—sweet, sweet, sweet!' And as I paused to take breath, I heard some one say, 'What a noise that bird makes! how loudly he sings!' 'How loudly he sings!' repeated I, 'how loudly he sings!' the bird, the bird, the beautiful bird—sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet.' But suddenly my song ended, for my mistress got up, unhooked my cage, saying, 'Canary, you're a chatterbox; you talk too much, and brought me in here.

"And really, mouse, as you must see, I did'nt say more than a dozen or so words. What do you think about it?"

"Well," said the mouse, stroking her whiskers and speaking slowly, "you did'nt say much, but it strikes me you talk a great deal.

"Oh!" said the canary, putting his head on one side and looking thoughtfully at her out of his right, bright, black, round eye. But just then the mouse heard an approaching footstep, and without even saying "good-bye," she hurried away to the hole behind the book-case.—Margaret Eytinge, in St. Nicholas.

Mrs. Smith's Chills.

Perhaps you have seen the caricature of a country youth on his first visit to the city, whither he has accompanied his mother to do some trading. The old lady is at the counter, and Josiah happens to be standing on a register for the first time in his life.

"Mother!" he calls out, tremulously. "Somethin's the matter with me. I feel hot streaks like kinder runnin' up my legs!"

An experience not unlike this some years ago befell a lady whom we will call Mrs. Smith. She was one of a large excursion party, bound for a picnic on a beautiful island in one of her Western lakes.

Not long after the steamer had landed them there, a friend of mine, who was one of the party, noticed Mrs. Smith sitting in the shade, a little apart from the rest, and went to speak to her.

"Why, yes," replied Mrs. Smith, in response to my friend's question, asking if she were as well as usual "I called myself well this morning, or I shouldn't have come. I felt rather tired after we landed, standing around so long, and I saw this nice rock, all carpeted for folks to sit on, so I came here and sat down. But somehow, since I sat here I've felt miserable. Cold chills keep running over me, and I don't know but I'm going to be sick."

"You ought not to have cold chills this hot day," said my friend. "Perhaps you are feverish," and being quite a practical nurse, she felt Mrs. Smith's pulse and looked at her tongue, but no symptoms of fever appeared in either place.

"But I feel so very chilly," said Mrs. Smith. "I don't know what ails me."

"Perhaps you are really going to be sick. If you were sitting on the ground, it might be from the dampness, but this rock ought to be warm and dry."

"So I thought, but I declare it's the coldest rock I ever sat on."

She spoke more truly than she knew, for just then a gentleman came along with a large pail, and touched his hat politely.

"Madam," he said to Mrs. Smith, I shall have to trouble you to rise. We want some ice for the lemonade."

When Mrs. Smith saw the huge block of ice, over which thick pieces of carpeting had been put to prevent its melting, she looked confused, and concluded she was not so miserable as she had thought, and for the rest of the day avoided sitting on nicely-carpeted rocks.—Youths' Companion.

The Thinking Pansies.

I was walking through my garden one morning, when I came suddenly upon my little Madge, standing beside the pansy-bed. She seemed in a very serious mood, and had her hands clasped behind her.

"Mamma, can pansies think?" she asked, looking anxiously up into my face.

"They can think if the roses can," I answered. "But why does my little girl ask?"

"Because, mamma," she said, talking very rapidly, "when I came down through the garden this morning all the pansies had their faces turned toward me, and they looked as if they were thinking; and I fought I heard them say: 'Pick me, little girl! Please, pick me!' And, mamma, I was so sorry for them, I tied down on the ground, that I picked some." And she held out to me both hands. They were filled with straggling masses of my large, dark, rare purple pansies.

"Oh! my naughty little girl!" I said, hastily.

She looked first at one hand and then at the other, with a distressed face, her cheeks glowing scarlet. "Mamma, I'll put them all back if you are sorry."

"But, my child, you say they asked you to pick them."

"I fought they did, mamma; but, if you want me to, I'll put them all back," she said, with quivering lip and the tears falling over her flushed cheeks.

"We can't put them back. But never mind, there are plenty of pansies," I said, wiping the tears away and kissing the hot cheeks.

"Maybe I won't scold this time. And the next time the flowers beg you to pick them, come, my dear, and ask mamma if she is willing. The flowers are rogues, I fear."

An hour afterward I saw the soothed Madge, with her doll, Annette, standing before the flowers which I had arranged in a vase. She was telling dolly all about the affair. As she concluded she shook her head at the blossoms, and I heard her say: "Pansies, you coaxed me to do it. Yes, you did; you surely did. You naughty rogues. Mamma said so. But you can't coax me to do so any more. You were bad. Now you just say your prayers and be sorry." And she walked out of the room with a grand air, saying: "Annette, my dear, I want you to remember you must never pick pansies without asking your Mamma Madge, cause it is very naughty, and you know what happens to naughty dollies."—Helen Phillips Jenkins, in "The Independent."

At St. Anne's Sunday-school, in Lowell, in answer to the question which is the greatest church festival? a little orphan of six years promptly responded: "The strawberry festival."

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 19, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS

Address on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the Patronizing Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. GODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 00
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers:

One Year	$1 00
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

Wise Unto Salvation.

It is wisdom unto salvation which the Scriptures teach us. The Old Testament Scriptures taught this wisdom as well as the New, for it is said of Timothy that he had known these Old Testament Scriptures from a child, which, St. Paul tells him, were able to make him wise unto salvation. But if the Old Testament Scriptures were able to do this, how much more the New Testament, with its greater fullness and clearness. What is it pertaining to salvation that any man needs to know that is not fully revealed by the Great Teacher and his inspired apostles? Salvation from sin is the grand theme and purpose of revelation. It is true the Scriptures touch on science, but seem to do so more incidentally than of set purpose, never attempting any exhaustive treatment of scientific questions. We doubt not when the Bible is fully understood, and, as far as nature is clearly understood, it will be found that God in His word harmonizes with what He has expressed in His works. It is not the purpose of God in His word to teach us science; indeed He never does anything for us which we can do for ourselves. For example, agriculture is a most important art on the knowledge of which the subsistence of millions depend, but God leaves us, by study and experiment to discover and apply its principles. So, too, medicine, the art of preventing and assisting nature in the cure of disease, or of alleviating pain, is a branch of knowledge of vast importance, but it is an art which men can learn by study, observation and experiment; they are, therefore, left to do so for themselves. When God worked miracles He only did that which men could not do, He required them to do all that they could. The miraculous bread which God furnished in the wilderness the people had to gather, or they would have perished. When the listening multitude became hungry and faint Christ required them to produce what they had. It was not much—only five loaves and two small fishes—but they had to bring it to Christ and after He blessed and brake He required the disciples to distribute the bread and fish, which He miraculously magnified to the extent of the needs of the occasion. When Lazarus was supernaturally raised from the dead, four days after his death, Christ commanded the people to unloose him from his grave wrappings, that he might be at liberty to move; this was something they could do, so he demanded it of them.

The Scriptures also give some luminous glimpses of ancient history, the origin of nations and languages, and passing sketches of Egypt, Assyria, Persia and Rome, but not as though of set design, but incidentally, while pursuing and narrating the history of the chosen people to whom He had committed His living oracles, and through whom the Author of salvation was to come, and be revealed to men. In the interesting and important knowledge of general ancient history God leaves us to ancient secular authors, to monuments, coins and other sources of information; and so of all branches of knowledge outside of a knowledge of salvation.

The theme of the Bible is God's relations to man, and man's relations to God. It is to teach us how to be wise unto salvation. No other teaching, no other attainments, can make us wise unto salvation. Some men have been deeply read in historic lore, some in the science of the law, some in medicine, and some in all the branches of natural science, exhausting all the ologies, but they have only demonstrated that the world by wisdom knew not God. There is no book outside of the Bible that can teach us this wisdom. As nothing can supply the place of air to the lungs, or light to the eye, so no other teaching, no other book, can fill the place of the Bible, or make us wise unto salvation. In reading and considering the contents of the Bible we should always keep in memory the purpose of Scripture, not science, not general history, but salvation. If this were kept in mind men would cease to be surprised that the Bible is not a general encyclopedia, treating of all facts and all sciences, and it would go far toward modifying the controversies between theologians and scientists.

The Scriptures tell us how we came to need salvation; of this the world, unilluminated by revelation, never had, nor could have had any clear conception. All to them on this subject was beclouded with myth and doubt, but God's word, in a few brief statements, disperses the shadows, and fully illuminates us. The history of the temptation and fall of man is briefly but clearly given. It is distinctly stated that the wages of sin is death, and as clearly affirmed that without holiness no man shall see the Lord. The Book also declares that sinful men cannot merit salvation. "By the deeds of the law shall no man be justified." That as the Ethiopian cannot change his skin, nor the leopard his spots, so we cannot change our nature, that we must be morally and spiritually born again, born from above. It is the Scriptures that tell us who is the Author of salvation. It is God. It is His arm that has brought salvation. He has loved us with compassionate love, he has laid help upon One who is mighty to save—the Prince of Peace, the mighty God, the everlasting Father, by whom all things were made, and for whom all things were made. The Scriptures tell us the whole history of God manifest in the flesh. His divine conception and birth, his passage through infancy and childhood, his public entry upon his great redemptive mission, his teaching, his miracles, his voluntary submission to the death of the cross, bearing our sins in his own body on the tree.

The Scriptures proceed to tell us that by this declaration of his righteousness that without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sin. God can be just, and yet extend a full and free pardon to every penitent and believing sinner. The Scriptures tell us it is God who works in us to will and to do, and that we must work with God, bring forth fruits meet for repentance, and believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and then we shall receive and experience salvation from the guilt, condemnation and defilement of sin. This salvation saves from "fear," for we have "peace" with God, and it saves from despair, for we "rejoice in hope of the glory of God." The Book that makes us wise tells us this salvation is an "eternal salvation" in heaven, where the pardoned and regenerated soul, and risen and glorified body, shall be saved from all the disasters of the fall from holiness, and be saved forever.

W.

Alabama Conference.

The Conference was held in the basement of the Franklin Street Church, Mobile. On Wednesday morning, December 11th, we found the Conference assembled, and the opening religious exercises nearly through. The attendance was very good for the first roll-call. Rev. R. B. Crawford was elected secretary, with J. H. Harris (J. M. Roper and R. S. Holcombe for assistants. Bishop Kavanaugh is not less rotund, and seems not less vigorous than when we first saw him in the chair of an Annual Conference, more than twenty years ago.

The first day's session was largely occupied in the discussion of a resolution which was finally passed by the Mobile Conference at Meridian in 1858, and reads as follows: "Resolved, That while we, as a Conference, open our hands and hearts in extending a fraternal welcome to those ministers who may transfer to us from other Conferences, and who we will ever send our affectionate sympathies and prayers after those brethren who may leave us for new fields of labor, we do most earnestly protest in the name of the great Head of the Church against the growing practice of preachers selecting their own appointments, laymen choosing their own pastors, and Bishops approving and indorsing these pre-concerted arrangements, as sapping the foundation of our great itinerant system." The resolution was adopted. From the discussion we inferred that no objection was made to the transfer of men for particular places by the Bishops, but that there should be no "pre-concerted arrangements" between the preachers and the charges. The Conference would guard against this as endangering the itinerant system. We did not learn that the evils alluded to had obtained in the Conference.

Thirteen young men came up for admission on trial. Before we left the Conference only one had been admitted—Jefferson P. Hamilton, son of the revered and lamented Dr. Jefferson Hamilton. He was represented as a young man of excellent gifts, and of a large experience. May the mantle of his father rest upon him! The other names were held back at the request of the Bishop, until the work in the cabinet should be further advanced. The Conference is crowded, and it was thought that there might not be places for all. What is to be done about this sort of embarrassment? and what is the cause?

The regular minute business proceeded with dispatch. The preachers read no reports of their work or collections, and when the names were called they were not required to retire, except in the cases of undergraduates. This is a quick way, but we confess that we like to hear the reports. The presiding elders all reported an increase in members and spirituality, and some of the districts have done very well financially. The presiding elder of the Eufaula district stated that the average of salaries on the district was $580, and, with the exception of three charges, all had been paid in full. We are not sure that this was better than the reports of some other districts, but it impressed us as being far ahead of what is being done in many Conferences.

Two preachers, and valuable ones, have died during the year—B. B. Ross and Charles S. Hurt. The memorial service was appointed for Monday. We knew Bro. Ross well. No purer or sweeter-spirited man ever lived. Bro. Hurt was represented by his presiding elder as one of the most effective preachers that he ever knew. The old men of the Conference hold up remarkably. Dr. Mitchell, after forty-eight years of itinerant service, is still in the harness, and his heart is in the work. Dr. W. H. Ellison was not present. He was granted a superannuated relation at the end of his fifty-second year in the ministry. A. S. Dickinson, one of the very few who were in the old Alabama Conference at its organization, was present in comfortable health, but not strong enough for effective work. He remains on the list of superannuates. The Conference is well furnished with able and educated men in the prime of their powers, and the class of younger men of promise is large. Doctor Summres, belongs to the connection, and also to the Methodism of the world, but he is a member of the Alabama Conference. He has his table on the platform, not far from the Bishop, and serves as the encyclopedia and book of reference for the Conference and its president. Every Conference should have such a man in it, but no other has.

Dr. R. A. Young addressed the Conference on the Publishing House interests on Thursday, and the subscriptions to the four per cent. bonds, taken in the Conference room, amounted to $1,300. He represented that the property was worth $300,000, that the debt is $300,000, and that unless the bonds are taken the Publishing House cannot be saved. The members of the Book Committee have invested largely in these bonds, and the total amount subscribed for to date was $85,000. He feared that the requisite amount of subscriptions would not be made up, and urged the measure as having the approval of the best business men in the church, and as the only practicable plan.

On the proposed change of the ratio of representation in the General Conference, the vote for concurrence was unanimous. The proposed New Quarterly Review was discussed on Saturday, and the enterprise received the approval of the Conference.

We were under the necessity of leaving Mobile after the close of the Saturday morning's session. It was thought that adjournment would be reached on Tuesday. During our stay we heard some excellent sermons; the congregations at St. Francis and at Franklin Street were good, and the religious interest in the churches seemed to be increasing. Dr. Wadsworth's time at the Franklin Street church is out. He has done a good and faithful work, but the change must come. We found the members somewhat exercised on the subject of the succession, but they are loyal Methodists, and ready to receive whomsoever the Bishop may send. The St. Francis Street church, under the pastorate of Bro. Hill, has flourished, and the edifice has been modified and refurnished during the past summer. The audience room is one of the most beautiful and most handsomely furnished that we know of in the Southwest. Rev. J. O. Andrew, pastor of St. Paul's church, has labored efficiently, and has met with considerable success. We regret that we were not able to visit his church.

In another place we give the Conference proceedings as published in the Daily Register of Mobile, so far as received, before going to press. Bro. Crawford, the obliging secretary, has promised to forward the appointments and documents for publication, and his assistant, Bro. J. H. Harris, will send us the statistics, all in time for our next paper.

We have had many good homes at Conferences, but none better than the one to which we were assigned at this. Dr. Wadsworth and Sister Wadsworth will accept our thanks for the hospitality we enjoyed in their house. We shall always remember the Franklin Street parsonage and its worthy occupants. God bless them! They have had considerable yellow fever in Mobile during the summer and fall, and there have been sporadic cases recently, but the danger is over. We are glad to say that our pastors remained through the entire season with their people, and shrank from the performance of no ministerial duty. Notwithstanding the recent sickness, the Conference was most bountifully entertained. There were homes for all, and to spare. Mobile hospitality is second to none.

"Busybody in Other Men's Business."

I. PETER IV., 15.

BY DOUBLE I.

I do not think the Apostle Peter was of a crabbed disposition—given to naming things odiously that he did not like, nor in spiteful moods affixing to men of his acquaintance nicknames. He appears to have been both sober in his reflections and economical of words. The one we have selected for a caption is, of itself, a composition on the limits of propriety in Christian official intercourse. The reputation a disregard of those limits entails, and the trespass punishment avenges without mitigation of sympathy.

I confess, to a high degree, of admiration for the sentiment that allows to the personal life matters of individual concern and privacy, and the temper of self-respect that becomingly repels every intrusion under whatever guise, but not a like genuine feeling of pleasure over skillfully-constructed words, which in using serve only to identify the person with his repulsive habits, or a really bad character.

That self-conceit and an over-weening confidence will betray men otherwise agreeable into meddlesomeness is unquestionably true, and not more sorrowingly felt and deprecated than by the friend whose private affairs have been perplexingly entangled through this officiousness.

In a society as closely compacted as an Annual Conference of itinerant preachers, with many general interests, and matters in common, still the space is clear and broad—and should not be passed—that divides from all these, the matters personal and private, of the membership. Against communistic vulgarism, audaciousness, and pruriency there is no adequate protection, but in the maintenance of the proprieties of personal dignity, and although the needful austerity may be restraining upon the flow of genial and generous intercourse, it were better for both public decency and private security to raise the signal, and respect it better, that officious zeal should be restricted to the limits the apostolic pastoral set, than that private feeling should be made a thoroughfare, and personal matters speculative stock, for adventurers in circuit station and Conference enterprises. While other callings may be more outlying to, and of greater capacity to develop the gifts and gains of this genius, the rare impulse breaks out occasionally even among Conference fellows. Somebody will take the Conference interest to heart to an unusual degree, and he, with the instinct of the camel, regarding the interval between sessions as an arid space, fills himself at the outset for the journey. A close relation and common acquaintance explains this line concerning him and his occupation. He is a "choice," but not a discriminating man. He does not discern reserved privacies in his indulgence of conceded liberties, and from eagerness to master the situation, in readiness for the Conference session, overlooks the line separating personal matters from the community stock. In his vast aggregations he mixes, in utter confusedness, general and private matters. Besides, he is filled with business, his own and other men's, his manners show it, and though there be a discrepancy between his fitness and his fullness, you cannot readily point it out, and suppose he is right.

You are impressed by him that the Conference is replete with developments this year, both delicate and grave, for he has its ear and confidence, and is well posted; he also fills the Conference with business—at times not homogeneous—but then it is business, and the perturbations of a troubled session may in some instances be identical with the atmospheric agitations raised by this busybody.

How he manages to dispose of so much, accomplish so little, and be so ever hopeful, is a marvel of idiosyncracy—he makes more of a little than any other person, whether of his own successes or another's faults; his method and his arithmetic make him prominent. He is always in an expectant attitude—this appointment is pressing unduly its claim, clamorous for a committal. But there is also an urgent voice from the district, it is no longer a secret that a change is demanded, and the brethren have already preferred their claims, but his anxieties have been raised to a yet higher degree. A Bishop's eye, he hears, is upon him, for what service he is unable to conjecture, but he gives the family notice to make needful preparation—what he would grow into with his present capacity for meddling were he to be made a Bishop, it almost takes the breath away to imagine and yet, for the high office, some qualities considered, a better than he can scarcely be found. One recalls the chafing on perceiving the readiness with which the small speck that disfigures a showy apple is noticed in like manner, one is irritated at the perverseness of intelligence having so little to do to present a character blameless, should hesitate to expel the little starveling meddlesomeness. We know we do not err when we study to be quiet, do our own business, and work with our own hands, for this another apostolic pastoral enjoins. We may not be so well up in gossip, nor of so decided apathy toward a tabooed brother, nor be so intelligent in opposing somebody's clandestine movements, but "where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise." Tribulations enter largely into the lot of life, and is deeply experienced by the most saintly—is, therefore, unavoidable however, we need not suffer, nor make others suffer, as busybodies in other men's matters.

College Religion.

This is a subject of paramount interest. Education, at best, has its perils. The associations of college life have sometimes corrupted and defeated, rather than advanced the prospects of young ambition. Many a young man, morally trained, has entered a college or university, dashed with laudable hopes, and after a few years returned, having squandered time and money, a bloat and vagabond. Lack of discipline, and neglect of moral watch-care, are the bane of not a few institutions of learning. This matter is arresting attention and compelling investigation. To parents and families the issues involved are too momentous to be lightly esteemed. We want to know the moral associations and religious teachings of our sons, while the intellect is being cultivated and prepared for life's great responsibilities. A book on "American Colleges—Their Students and Work," has lately been issued, while the religious press of the country is giving large space to this discussion. The Christian at Work, an able paper, published in New York, under the chief editorship of Dr. William M. Taylor, has continued recently several articles on the religious life of our theological seminaries. They were significant and suggestive. Heresies and moral irregularities were found even there, among those in course of preparation for the gospel ministry. This adds increasing force to the question: What is the religious culture of our American college life?

A chief evil is doctrinal heresy. The great universities abroad have been the thrones of theological teachers. Their students became their disciples. Theological and ecclesiastical revolutions have been born in universities. These institutions, especially in New England, are becoming centers of American thought and influence. Their teachings, at variance with our old doctrinal standards, are corrupting the faith of young men. Harvard and Yale have their isms which are surely undermining, within the radius of their influence, the pure old teachings of our fathers. Happily, we in the South have not much to fear in this direction. There is not among us so much bold speculation and restless opposition to old standards of faith. We have not the same impatience for something new, because it is new. Yet when we send our boys to college, this must be kept ever in view. Beware of institutions where speculation and metaphysical theories and isms, shading off into infidelity, will poison their simple scriptural faith.

Another evil is a lack of moral discipline. To save young men from moral ruin, away from the tender influences of home, our colleges must place a premium on high moral character. Religious culture must be a matter of chief concern and prayer. Professors should be practical Christians. In example and doctrine they should illustrate all Christian virtues. Insubordinate and immoral students should be excluded. As far as practicable, the religious atmosphere of a college or university should be kept wholesome and pure. It is said that during the early days of Harvard, "to read the originals of the Old and New Testament into the Latin tongue, and to resolve them logically, withal being of godly life and conversation," won the first degree. The institution has grown, the curriculum enlarged, and the standard of scholarship elevated, but in morals has declined. Herein may be found the great value of denominational institutions. The religious element is positive and prominent. And among all the schools and colleges for the higher education of young men within the writer's acquaintance, for spiritual development, Centenary College has the first place. Its president and faculty are men of solid piety, discreet and prayerful. Among the students there is a moral esprit de corps rarely seen. If this advantage were rightly esteemed, its patronage would be increased ten-fold. Let parents, contemplating the higher education of their sons, have an eye to their college religion.

C. B. G.

Bishop Pierce.

Indisposition, says the Christian Neighbor, December 10, will prevent Bishop Pierce presiding at the session of the South Carolina Conference to commence in Newberry this week. According to request of Bishop Pierce, Bishop Wightman is expected to preside.

The resolution of sympathy, says the Charlotte Observer, with Bishop Pierce in his affliction, passed during the closing hours of the North Carolina Conference, had more significance than many supposed. The distinguished prelate is in very bad health, and was not really in condition to preside over the body at any time during the session, though he was present at each meeting except on the last day, when his place was filled by Dr. Closs. He is now at the residence of Mr. John W. Wadsworth, and will probably remain in the city for some time, being unable to travel. For several years he has been afflicted with an affection of the throat which renders breathing very difficult, and at times painful, and this, added to general debility superinduced by a life of arduous and incessant mental labor, causes an unusual degree of solicitude among many warm friends in the Conference. Bishop Pierce is now in his 68th year, and has long been regarded as one of the leading spirits in his denomination, as well as one of the most eloquent and impressive speakers in the Southern church.

IN THE evening Bishop Foster spoke in Grace church, and Drs. Lindsay and Dashiell in Trinity church, Worcester. The missionary secretary occupied the first part of the evening. His address was grand and telling.

A few of the thoughts and facts presented were as follows: I did not expect, said the speaker, to live to see a nation born in a day; yet that seems to be about the case with Japan. I know of no other case in the history of nations where a nation has so turned around, in a manner which is more than a revolution, as has Japan. The master of a school under royal patronage came to the prince and said: "We must teach moral philosophy." "What is that?" On being informed, he said: "We will teach it." "The best text book," said the teacher, "is the Christian's New Testament." "Get it, then." "I cannot teach it." "Then get a Christian teacher." And a Methodist man, converted under Methodist missionaries, is teaching the Bible there to-day. This is only one of the facts which might be quoted. When we remember that the four hundred million pagans of China and the two hundred millions of India, and the thirty-five millions of Japan, are open to receive the grace of God, and that we can, in preaching the gospel, be as much protected as anywhere there comes to us the call to go forth to help in this great battle of God with the powers of darkness.

Texas Conference Statistics.

As furnished us, the membership reported is 7261.

We have 60 Sunday-schools, 1,000 teachers and 3517 scholars.

The claim of the preachers, inclu-

g the presiding elders, was $28-
d and the receipts $22,307 45, wing a deficiency of $6,386 15, is is better than many reports we re made up in days gone by, but e should be no deficiency. How ny comforts, and in some instannecessaries of life, are represented that $6,386 15 deficiency.
he assessment of the Conference d, furnished by the statistical retary, was $1223 30, and the re-ts $900 85. This deficiency was htly reduced by later reports, but all claims this one should be met he last dollar. The full assess-t is little enough. What joy uld be borne to the hearts of our n-out preachers, or the wives children of men who have fallen the work, if the liberality of the rch were to reach the standard of obligations.
here are 75 churches reported,
ue al $175,175.

ev. W. H. Leith, writing from rest, Miss., December 11, says:
ev. J. W. Ellison, pastor of Care circuit, Mississippi Conference attempting to jump from his y on last Saturday, broke his just above the ankle joint.
en I left him on Monday he was erking greatly, but his physicians me that he was doing well. He the hands of good physicians, a people who will give him needed attention. He will not ble to attend Conference.
e sincerely trust that Bro. Elli-will not be long hindered from work. He is a faithful minister, beloved and appreciated by his ple.

e learn that Bishop McTyeire is reside over the coming session of Louisiana Conference. Bishop gett held the White River Con-ce for Bishop McTyeire, Deber 4, and Bishop McTyeire
Bishop Doggett's place at the isiana Conference, January 8.

RET PRAYER.—Some of us are anger of falling into the devo-al mood as a mere luxury. Some are, perhaps, on the edge of ren, and yet not out of the domain ere religious sentimentality. It portant for a Christian to know
t prayer is; but most important all is that the religiously reso-should know that prayer means than adoration, thanksgiving petition. It means self-commit-to God; it means the utterance e petition: "Thy will be done."
prayer is a vain repetition, and is no prayer at all. Secret prayer forms of prayer is oftenest blest e secret transfiguration of the Shut the closet door, and you find that God will meet you in t as never before. There is a e power in being alone with for that solitude has in it a secret—namely: that there is litude.

Books and Periodicals.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TIMES AND EAR'S QUARTERLY is a help to ers and scholars in the study
e International Lessons. First ter for 1879.

is is a neat pamphlet of forty illustrated with maps, with s and lesson notes, and choice ns set to music. A valuable and l publication, at 6 cents per er. No. 910 Chestnut street, lelphia.

HROUGH THE DARK CONTINENT,
Henry Stanley, has been laid on able by A. Fyrich, Canal street, Orleans.
ese are most beautiful, indeed, nificent volumes, bound in green old, superior paper and type, profusely and usefully illustra-with engravings and maps. No s or cost has been spared to e the volumes attractive. It is less to speak of the thrilling inrest of these grand volumes of ex-ation and discovery. We pree they will have an immense
. As the best and most interest-book of travels ever written the "Dark Continent." The ious mystery of the interior of ca, and the source of two of the rivers of the earth, forever set-

The Magazine of Art, December
s adorned with several fine enings. Among its able articles
Our Living Artists; An Ameri-
Talks About Art; Heroes in tion to Art; Artists Haunts niversity Galleries at Oxford.

St. Nicholas for January, 187-, is ightful holiday number of this derful magazine. Its presence the household will insure a merry istmas to the young folks. The tispiece, "The Sisters," is a rming picture. The Voyage of Jettie is a poem by John G. ittier. Then we have: Children's at St. Paul's; Half a Dozen sekeepers; The King's Church
y Wilster Elspeet's Slip Went the Church; The Funniest Gen-on all the World, and many r fine things.

Scribner's Monthly has: Born
Gold, illustrated; Old Maryland
nors, illustrated; College Ha-
; Mermaids in Vinci, illustrated
mas Scenes; The Tile Club at k, illustrated; The Mountain es of California; The Amend-t of the Patent Law, and other cles.

SELECTION OF A PASTOR.—In all denominations with a settled ministry, the selection of a pastor has proved a most delicate and difficult task. The attempt creates parties and feuds. With certain men for him, the candidate is sure to have certain others against him. If so fortunate as to obtain a majority in favor of a call, he has, in all probability, insured a party of opposition which will work persistently until he is dismissed from his charge. From all such disagreeable frictions our system is free. In our plan of appointment, the general and average sense of the society is taken informally, and a man put in charge who is not the selection of a party in the church. He comes by an authority the church has established outside of the local leaders, with all the facilities for securing an adaptation. In nothing were the fathers so wise as in this plan of appointments which has resulted in almost universal harmony in regard to their pastors among our people. The societies which abide by this plan reap the advantage.—Zion's Herald.

READING THE SCRIPTURES.—I asked Prof. B what he deemed the prominent faults of the ministry from an elocutionary standpoint. He replied: "Preachers are poor readers. An elocutionist is paired beyond expression at the reading of the Scriptures and of the hymns by the great majority of clergymen. The sense of the inspired writer is very seldom brought out by the tones of his voice. The preacher does not seem to grasp the meaning of the chapter he reads, and does not expect his hearers to be profited by the reading. He reads as a mere formality. There are no looks more sublime, pathetic, poetic, eloquent, than the Bible. Really read, they would move an audience wonderfully, and would be regarded as the best part of the service. Christianity has succeeded in spite of bad elocution—a strong evidence, to my mind, of its supernatural origin. Bad manners and poor education in preachers could not kill it, but would hinder it. I would have a professor of reading in every theological seminary."

A SEQUAL TO A ROMANISH MIRACLE.—The Prussian correspondent of the London Times writes: "The three children of Marpingen, in Prussian Rhineland, who last summer stated they had repeatedly seen the Holy Virgin in a wood close to their village, and whose glowing asseverations, backed by the clergy attracted thousands of pilgrims to the sacred spot, have been tried by Judge Comes, at St. Wendel. Upon the children confessing that they have been telling lies, they were sentenced to be placed in an educational establishment for culprits under twelve years of age."

MARRIED.

WYATT—MASEN.—On the eighth of October, 1878, at Coke chapel, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, by Rev. Alex. Hooks, Mr. John B. Wyatt to Miss Josephine S. Masen.

EPISCOPAL APPOINTMENTS FOR 1878.

CONFERENCE.	PLACE.	BISHOP.	TIME.
N. Carolina	Charlotte	Pierce	Nov. 27
S. Alabama	Athens	Kavanaugh	Nov. 27
N. Georgia	Marietta	McTyeire	Nov. 27
Little Rock	Hot Springs	Doggett	Nov. 27
Texas	Chapel Hill	Keener	Dec. 4
Memphis	Paris	Paine	Dec. 4
N. Mississippi	Macon	Paine	Dec. 11
S. Carolina	Newberry	Pierce	Dec. 11
Alabama	Mobile	Kavanaugh	Dec. 11
Mississippi	Thompsonville	McTyeire	Dec. 11
East Texas	Tyler	Keener	Dec. 11
Mississippi	Hazlehurst	Paine	Dec. 18
Louisiana	New Orleans	Doggett	Jan. 8
Baltimore	Salem	Wightman	Mar. 5

Publisher's Department.

TO E. E. F. ROSS, ESQ., our former editor, one of advertisements, whose connection with the CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is now dissolved, we extend our good wishes, hoping that he may do as well in the future as in the past.

WE HAVE received from Rev. T. H. Watkins the subscriptions of D. T. Rhodes, J. M. Mathews, J. F. Lewis, J. P. Smith, Mrs. M. C. Snell, Mrs. S. A. Edwards, M. N. Lockhow, Rev. M. V. Marshall, and C. E. Arnold.

R. RHODES has got us three an- [illegible] South not only [illegible] kind, but for the [illegible] numbers which [illegible] street.

WALSHE'S NEW STOCK.—There is no better place to buy anything in the gentlemen's and boys' furnishing goods line than at Capt. Walshe's. This gentleman is known everywhere for his honorable dealings, and the numerous readers will find it to their interest to buy from this old established house. The Captain will take back all goods not satisfactory, and money will be refunded. Call and see him.

JEWELRY, ETC.—It is a happiness to all of our readers [illegible] of smiles and joy, who are dear to us, and no one should fail to give their loved ones presents. For the best workmanship in the way of preservation we refer to Mr. S. Ander[illegible], 148 Canal street, well known in our community. Call and see his variety styles, and compare prices.

WE CALL attention to the advertisement [illegible] Wm. Rogers [illegible] magazines [illegible] Mr. Rogers is [illegible] knows much [illegible] these pianos [illegible] to [illegible] Whatever Mr. Rogers sells [illegible] considered first class, and [illegible] all [illegible] and business dealings will be [illegible] square.

BIGNALL & OSTRANDER.—One of the largest machinery houses in the West present their advertisement in another column of our paper, to which we call our readers most earnest attention. This house has one of the finest stocks in Pumps, Gins, Stationery and Portable Engines in any city west of New York city, and, having extra facilities, they are enabled to supply the trade at the lowest prices possible. To any of our readers needing work in their line we say send your wants to them, and they will reply with full particulars. Office 5 North Second street, St. Louis, Mo.

LOQUET-LEROY.—This admirable school of learning is again open to the young ladies of the South. It is almost superfluous to speak of the many superior advantages this institution offers. Suffice it to say, it cannot be excelled by any of the schools of Europe. Madame Leroy has sold out to the Misses Moise, who will continue the management of the school as before. The professors has connected it, and no change whatever will be made. Madame Leroy will be found there as before, and we commend the institute to every parent in the land.

MR. P. WERLEIN, importer and dealer in pianos, organs and music, No. 135 Canal street, New Orleans, advertises in this issue that he has the latest improved Hale Rosewood 7¼ Octave Pianos for $17 on $10 monthly payments, until paid, or for $250 cash. These Pianos are constructed with a view to durability, and are fully guaranteed. They will last twenty-five years. A new style Estey, 6 stops Organ, last price $185, can be had for $120, on $5 monthly payments until paid, or for $100 cash. Call is a first-class house in every respect, and deserves the success it has attained. Mr. Werlein desires the patronage, and will make suitable price and terms with any of our readers who need any musical article or a Piano or Organ. He proposes to give such bargains as will induce them to recommend his house to all of their friends. He agrees, if in three months after purchase of instrument, any should be in the least dissatisfied with their purchases, he will return all the cash paid, and freight, both ways.

PIANOS AND ORGANS.—Louis Grunewald has been for a number of years engaged in the piano business in this city, and has always borne the highest reputation for fair and straightforward dealing. Possessed of ample means, and having a thorough knowledge of business, he is able to buy and sell at the lowest prices. His establishment is one of the finest in the South, and his instruments first-class. Grunewald Hall is one of the attractions of New Orleans. An advertisement of some of the leading instruments on hand will be seen on this page.

CARPETS.—Messrs. Elkin & Co., whose advertisement appears to-day, have been long known to us as the leading carpet and oil-cloth house in this section. They keep all kinds of carpets from the cheapest to the most expensive, all of which can be depended on being as represented. Any of our friends who may need anything in upholstery or carpet goods are advised to go to Elkin & Co.'s, at 100 Canal street, New Orleans.

PECK'S SEWING MACHINE DEPOT. It will be a source of congratulation to our readers to know that our old friend, M. A. Peck, is again in the sewing machine business, at 153 Canal street, next to Holmes'. This establishment is one of the most complete in the South. Call and see him, and he will sell you a machine very cheap.

STAMPING PATTERNS.—Stamped samples of 200 designs for twenty-five cents. The best number is 603. A. Beimark, 61 Canal street, New York.

CONCERT.—We are informed that to give expression to a pious sentiment, and assist a most worthy and popular organization, a grand vocal and instrumental concert will be given under the direction of one of our most popular leaders, and by the generous assistance of a number of our most talented amateur vocalists, on Thursday evening, December 26, at Grunewald Hall.

We think this will be made what it is intended to be—a testimonial of our citizens to the Young Men's Christian Association for the noble relief they have administered to the sick and destitute during the past summer.

We are informed that the association desire to enlarge their facilities for the reception and entertainment of visitors at their rooms, 67 Camp street. An offering might be given by our citizens to this body of earnest workers that will abundantly [illegible] humane work.

[illegible] one of the largest and oldest foundry and machine shops in the west is that of the Broadway Foundry Co., No. 311 Carr street, John J. Holliday, superintendent. These works manufacture stationary and portable steam engines and boilers, Malay and circular saw mills, saw and grist mills, cotton gins, cotton presses, sugar mills, cane mills, cane carriers, sugar kettles, evaporating pans, defecators, filters, vacuum pans, centrifugal machines, sugar coolers, sugar crushers, sugar elevators, sugar conveyors, sugar screens, sugar bins, sugar scales, sugar packers, sugar cane cutters, sugar cane crushers, sugar cane mills, sugar

Farm, Garden and Household.

Tea.

Take three teaspoonfuls and cover with one and a half pints of water; mash well, and two quarts of sifted flour. Put away to rise six hours, then add two tablespoonfuls of salt, three tablespoonfuls of lard; stir well, and add seven cups and a half quarts of flour. Knead ten minutes. Put away to rise again three hours. Then make into three loaves, and put in baking-pans greased slightly. Put away to rise again for a half an hour. Bake one hour. Watch carefully. If you notice the bread browning too rapidly, cover with brown paper, the same as you would do a cake.

Sometimes it is necessary to baste the loaves with milk, before being placed in the oven, as it will prevent the bread from cracking.

HOMINY BREAD.—This is easy, quick and nice. Two eggs; salt to taste; two cupfuls of boiled grits or boiled rice; one cupful of meal, one tablespoonful of butter or lard, and sweet milk enough to make a thin batter. Bake in the dish in which it is to be served; beat it with a tablespoon. The Virginian name for that soft kind of corn bread is "pudding bread."

CANKER-WORM AND CATERPILLAR.—Kill by syringing or brush soap solution upon small trees, first catching all that can be caught. Upon half grown trees, dust the leaves thick with slaked lime, early in May, to keep them off, but if fairly on hand, reach up with a hair brush on a long pole, turn it round in their nest, and pull them down and kill; after that spread lime over the trees, or syringe them with strong solution of carbolic soap.

TO BOIL RICE AS IN INDIA.—Into a saucepan of two quarts of water, when boiling, throw a tablespoonful of salt; then throw in one pint of rice, after it has been well washed in cold water; let it boil twenty minutes. Throw it out into a cullender, and drain off the water. When this has been done, put the rice back into the can or saucepan, dried by the fire, and let it stand near the fire for some minutes, or until required to be dished up; thus the grains appear separate and not mashed together.—Correspondent Germantown Telegraph.

THE FAMILY COW.—I have been asked my opinion so many times in regard to the value of the several breeds, and especially that of the Jersey, as cows for family use, that I will take the opportunity to say a word upon this point. A very good rule is this: If you wish nine-tenths of the milk for butter making, and only a small amount for cooking and the table, then the Jersey is preferable by far, but if the greater portion of the milk goes directly to supply the family consumption, then some other breed had better be selected. The milk of the Jersey throws up its cream so quickly and so completely that the milk is nearly worthless for any purpose in a few hours after being drawn, and I have known gentlemen to part with otherwise valuable animals for this very reason and no other.—Indiana Farmer.

Fish for Fruit.

In nothing has the average fruit-raiser been slower to accept the teaching, alike of science and experience, than in thinning out the fruit when the trees have set too full. It requires a courage he is not equal to, even to pick off the smallest specimens, and give the others a "fair show;" and as for decimating an overloaded bough of peaches, pears or apples, he is much more likely to tie or prop it up. The Tribune reminds fruit-growers that now is the time to thin out, and truly says that "especially in a 'bearing year,' like the present, an overcrop means actual waste. Do not forget that half the quantity on a loaded tree will be worth far more money, cost less in harvest and transport, and be more readily disposed of than a little freaking crop in which small, scrubby specimens must necessarily predominate." Employ one or two trustworthy boys, and furnish them with step-ladders, to thin your peaches or other fruit; they will soon accomplish the work, and at a surprisingly small cost. Thinning is a tedious job in large orchards, but it will pay not only for marketing, but for home consumption also.

The Lotus.

The Egyptian lotus, so celebrated the world over for its rare and beautiful blossoms, in flavor and color, have not until quite recently been known to exist at all in the United States, but are found in great perfection, in several places in this country, one of which we discovered last week, to be in Lake Winnebago, near the Insane Hospital and probably at some other points on the lake. It grows also at Selden's Cove, on the Connecticut River, not far from Long Island Sound, and its rare and beautiful blossoms are always in great demand there—from $5 to $10 having been offered for them. Every effort to transplant the plant has been unsuccessful, and it has been heretofore believed that only at one spot elsewhere—on the North Carolina coast—is it successfully grown in this country, though now that idea is exploded if we are correct in believing that it grows in Lake Winnebago. The origin of the lotus at Selden's Cove is attributed by tradition to some seeds which blew from a shipload of Egyptian rags passing up the river. The blossoms on the Lake Winnebago specimens are of a delicate pale buff color, and larger and finer in their texture than the ordinary pond lilies of this country.—Green Bay Advocate.

Trust in Providence.

I have known a timid traveler whose route lay across the higher Alps on a path that, no broader than a mule's foothold, skirted a dizzy precipice, where we saw the foaming river far below diminished to a silver thread. And it is best to shut her eyes; nor attempt to guide the course, or touch the bridle where a touch were fatal, throwing steed and rider over to bound from shelf to shelf, and be dashed to pieces in the valley below. And there are times and circumstances when to be saved from falling into sinful doubts, and even into blank despair, the believer must, if we may say so, shut his eyes, and committing his way to God, let the bridle lie on the neck of Providence, and walk not by sight, but faith. God, however things may look, has not forgotten to be gracious, nor is His mercy clean gone forever; and when we are walking in darkness, and have no light, there is nothing for it but to "trust in the Lord, and stay ourselves on God."

Had Jacob done so, he had not been so utterly distracted and crushed by the loss of Joseph; nor, as he clung to Benjamin, had he turned on his other sons, like a bear on the hunters come to bereave her of her whelps, with this doleful, angry cry: "Me have ye bereaved of my children: Joseph is not, and Simeon is not; and will ye also take Benjamin away? All these things are against me." Had he done so, he had borne himself more erect before the king of Egypt, a venerable and noble witness for God in a heathen palace, instead of wailing out this pitiful complaint: "Few and evil have been the days of my pilgrimage on earth." He lived to unsay that, and regret that he had walked so much by sight, and not by faith; living to see, as all God's people shall in another world, if not in this, that all things—the bitter and the sweet together, losses as well as gains, coffins as much as cradles—were not against, but for him. See him dying!—his faith breaking out in full and bright effulgence, like the sun at the close of a cloudy day. Propped up on pillows, with one hand on Ephraim's, and the other on Manasseh's head, he raises his eyeless orbs to heaven to breathe out this grand confession and prayer: "The God which fed me all my life long unto this day, the angels which redeemed me from all evil, bless the lads!"

With that history, and many such before them, never let God's dear children yield—no, not in life's darkest hour—to the thought that all things are against them. Even when deep answereth unto deep at the noise of His water spouts, and all God's billows and waves go over them, and their bark, with sails torn to ribbons and bulwarks gone by the board, is staggering through a sea of troubles, never let them fancy that they are the sport of winds and waves. Your Father is at the helm! The Lord reigneth, let His enemies tremble; the Lord reigneth, let His people rejoice; He will make all things work together for good to them who love Him, and are the called according to His purpose.—Dr. Guthrie.

The Power of Gentleness.

It is related that a belated stranger stopped all night at a farmer's house. He noticed that a slender, little girl, by her gentle ways, had a great influence in the house. She seemed to be a bringer of peace and good will to the rougher ones in the household. She had a power over animals, also, as the following shows:

The farmer was going to town next morning, and had agreed to take the stranger with him. The family came out to see them start. The farmer gathered up the reins, and, with a jerk, said: "Dick, go 'long!" But Dick didn't "go 'long." It availed not. Then came down the whip, with a heavy hand, but the stubborn beast only shook his head sullenly. A stout lad came out and seized the bridle, and pulled and yanked and kicked the rebellious pony; but not a step would he move. At this crisis a sweet voice said: "Willie, don't do so." The voice was quickly recognized. And now the magic hand was laid on the neck of the seemingly incorrigible animal, and a simple low word was spoken. Instantly the muscles relaxed, and the air of stubbornness vanished. "Poor Dick," said the sweet voice, and she stroked and patted softly his neck with those child-like hands. "Now, go along, you naughty fellow," in half-chiding, but in a tender voice, as she drew slightly on the bridle. The pony turned and rubbed his head against her arm for a moment, and started off on a cheerful trot, and there was no further trouble that day.

The stranger remarked to the farmer:

"What a wonderful power that hand possesses!"

The reply was:

"O, she's good. Everybody and everything loves her."

SECTARISM.—Who can look abroad upon the earth, in all its magnificent grandeur, with its blue ocean mirror and its carpet of living green, and not see the ever-living, ever-working Jehovah? Is not the simplest flower that scents the morning air a living rebuke of atheism, as it smiles at your very feet like an emanation from the fountain of eternal beauty, and tells you that here and everywhere is holy ground? Or can you look up to these heavens in the diurnal fervors of nocturnal wonders, and pass from planet to planet, from sun to sun, firmament to firmament, to the very headlands of creation, where the last sentinel star looks forth on the abyss of the infinite, and not trace in all things, from the vast to the minute:

> The unambiguous footsteps of the God
> Who gives its luster to the insect's wing,
> And wheels His throne upon the rolling world?

Yes, as Carlyle truly exclaims: "The world is alive, instinct with Godhood, beautiful and awful, even as in the beginning of days."—Dr. Guthrie.

MISCELLANEOUS.

RELIGIOUS BOOK DEPOSITORY!
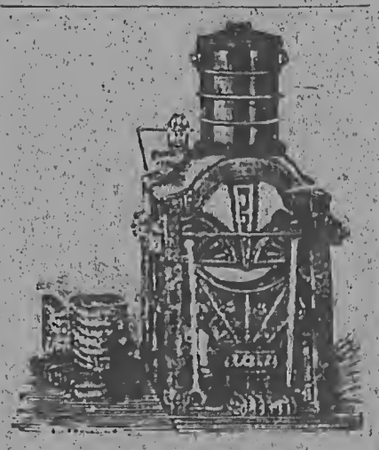
AND
Agency A vocal Publishing House
Methodist, St. Louis

MARVIN'S LIFE, AND OTHER WORKS
Methodist books in general, and Sunday-school Supplies for all Denominations.
D. L. MITCHEL, Business Agent.
37 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

WASHBURN'S
PHOTOGRAPHIC ART
GALLERY,
COR. CANAL ST. AND EXCHANGE PLACE.
☞ The handsomest place of the kind in the South.
A PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in a manner unequaled by any other establishment in this country.
Copying and enlarging of old Pictures a specialty.
Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY.



THE MORSE
COTTON COMPRESS,
The largest and most powerful COTTON PRESS in the world. Steam cylinders 30 to 36 inches diameter. It has been so perfected as to meet every requirement. Can be constructed with capacity for "DOUBLE BALE," and have compressed, without advantage of "hand puller," 70 pounds of cotton into one cubic foot, measured out of the press. FIFTEEN of these presses have been put in operation in the last fifteen months. They may be seen in the following warehouses in this city: ORLEANS, FACTORS', WOODS', PENN'S, LOUISIANA, PLANTERS', LIVER-POOL, also in Galveston, Houston, Memphis, Mobile, Wilmington, N. Carolina, Ga., Vicksburg and Shreveport, La.
They have the endorsement of the best mechanical engineers and Press men as a marvel of POWER, Simplicity, Strength, Durability and Economy.
They have capacity to load 15 bales of single bale compressing, and 5 to 8 bales of "doubled bales" to each ton of vessel's measurement.
For particulars see or address
S. B. STEERS & CO.,
185 Gravier St., New Orleans.

Jos. Gillott's
Steel Pens.
His Celebrated Numbers,
303 404 170 351 332,
and His other styles may be had of all dealers throughout the world.
Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY.
Established in 1837.
Manufacture Bells of Copper and Tin, mounted with the best Rotary Hangings, for Churches, Schools, Farms, Factories, Court Houses, Fire Alarms, Tower Clocks etc. Fully Warranted. Illustrated Catalogue sent Free.
VANDUZEN & TIFT, 102 & 104 E. 2d St., Cincinnati.

BLYMYER M'F'G CO
BELLS
Church, School, Fire Alarm, Fine Cast, low price, warranted. Catalogue with testimonials, prices, etc., sent free.
Blymyer Manufacturing Co., Cincinnati, O.
cow

Country Orders for Millinery
AND FANCY GOODS.

Parties in the country, who are unable to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by giving the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.
P. R. HARDON,
Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods,
27 and 29 Chartres st., New Orleans.
Second door above Custom-house.

JOHN BOIS,
DEALER IN
FURNITURE, PICTURES,
LOOKING-GLASSES, ETC.
153 ..... Camp Street 154
Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.
No charges for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

BREECH-LOADERS.
WE take this opportunity of informing customers and friends that the first installment of our fall stock of these goods (unexpectedly delayed a few weeks) has arrived, and is ready for inspection. In Breech-Loading Guns alone our assortment in stock comprises upward of 40 different styles and patterns, ranging through every desirable grade. These fresh importations can be profitably afforded lower than ever before, owing to present low cost of gold and sterling exchange, while all our old stock has been marked down to meet the shrinkage in value from decline in gold. Don't take our word for it, but call and see for yourselves, whether you wish to buy now or not.
FOLSOM BROS.,
9 Decatur (Old Levee) St., opp. Postoffice.
Guns, Pistols and Ammunition at wholesale and retail.

THE MARVELOUS PEN! NO INK Required! Writes with Water! Pen of any color and holder, ten cents. Agents wanted. J. T. MILLER, 116 Nassau street, New York. cow 60 Chromo Snow flake & Lace Cards with name 10c. Game Authors 10c. Lyman & Co., Clintonville, Ct.

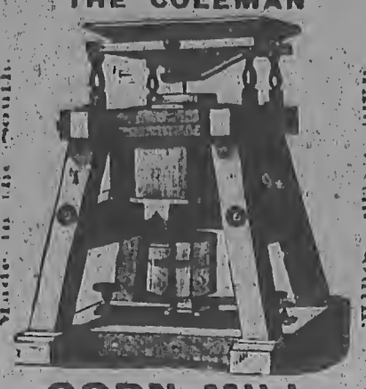
MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

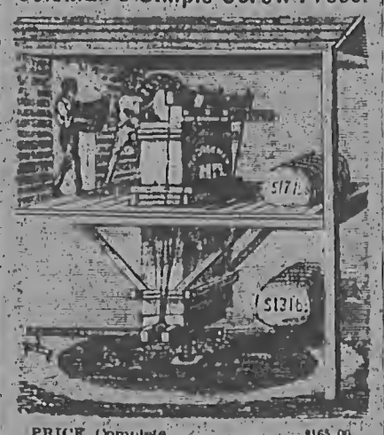
H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.
Mills, Engines and Machinery,
NEW ORLEANS, LA.
WE SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines, Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses and Machinery, delivered at railroad depots or river landings.
Portable Engine prices greatly reduced.

THE COLEMAN

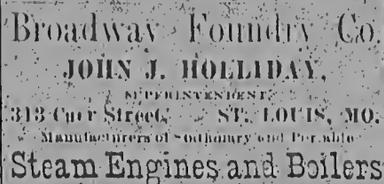


CORN MILL.
VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York State to Texas, over thirty-three different competitors, during the past twenty-eight years.
Awarded the only Gold Medal ever awarded at any Corn Mill in the United States. Simple, strong, durable and cheap, with solid French Burr Stones. Made by
H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.
New Orleans, La.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press.



PRICE, Complete $165 00
Wrought Iron Screw 4 inches in diameter. Packing box 9 feet deep; simple, strong, durable, and guaranteed to pack a 500 lb bale. Send for circular. Manufactured by
H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.
New Orleans, La.
We make also the Friction Power Press (Simmons' patent.)



STRONGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.
INCREASING POPULARITY.
Number of bales tied in 1876-77 1,300
Number of bales tied in 1877-78 15,500
COST OF
Iron Ties, including freight ..... 55 c. per bale
Centennial, including freight ..... 40 to 42 cts. per bale
Canvassers wanted to solicit orders for a commission.
Ludlow-Saylor Wire Co., St. Louis, Mo
Manufacturers of Wire and Wire Goods.

WIRE RAILING
AND
Ornamental Wire Works.
DUFUR & CO., No. 36 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc., Sieves, Fenders, Cages, Sand and Coal Screens, Woven Wire, etc. Also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

CONVERTIBLE FARM MILL

Vertical position.

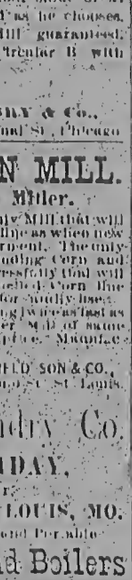
THE simplest and most durable stone mill in the world. Any farmer can run and grind as fine meal as any four foot stone or as coarse feed as he chooses. Every Mill guaranteed. Send for Circular B with Price List.
C. B. OGLESBY & Co.,
59 Canal St., Chicago.

BIG GIANT CORN MILL.
Every Man His Own Miller.

The only Mill that will grind as fine as when new and keep so. The only Mill grinding Corn and Cobs regularly that will grind Shelled Corn the same day. Grinding Wheat as fast as any other Mill of same size and price. Manufactured only by
J. A. FIELD SON & CO.,
922 N. Second St., St. Louis.

Broadway Foundry Co.
JOHN J. HOLLIDAY,
SUPERINTENDENT.
313 Carr Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.
Manufacturers of Stationary and Portable
Steam Engines and Boilers
MULAY AND CIRCULAR SAW MILLS.
Saw and Grist Mill Machinery, Rolling Mill and Blast Furnace Castings, Wrought Shafting and House Work, PARKER'S & JOHNSON'S WATER WHEELS, Tobacco and Lard Press Screws, Compound Followed Presses, Lard Kettles, Trough and Brass CASTINGS of every description, also Quartz Mills and Smelting Furnaces of most improved descriptions.
HAVE PATTERNS OF ALL THE WHEEL & ELLEY PATTERNS OF OAKY, MUSSER & CO.
J. B. DAVIES, late of Louisville, Mechanical Man'r.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.



A BEAUTIFUL NEATLY and EASY-SELLING ARTICLE
Wanted by every FARMER, HUNTER, TRAPPER, FISHERMAN, SPORTSMAN, and EVERY FAMILY.
The most perfect scale ever invented. Graduated from 2 oz. to 15 lbs.; is about the size of a man's forefinger; weighs only 2 oz., and can be carried in the pocket without inconvenience. Thus being always ready to use, on every recurring and universal want. The novelty, beauty and usefulness of the article is sure to sell it. By an ingenious contrivance this little wonder is so arranged that by its sliding shell it may be so adjusted as to give the exact weight of matter weighed, without subtracting the weight of the receptacle in which the matter is weighed—an advantage possessed by no other scale. Each scale is neatly nickle-plated, and will be sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents.
GEORGE HETTS,
675 Broadway, New York,
Sole proprietor and manufacturer.
AGENTS WANTED.

MISCELLANEOUS.

FOUNDED JULY 4, 1808
OLDEST SHOT TOWER IN AMERICA.
THOS. W. SPARKS,
Patent American
Chilled Shot,
Standard Drop and Buck Shot
AND BAR LEAD MANUFACTURER,
121 WALNUT STREET,
PHILADELPHIA.
F. A. BEHAN, Agent,
NEW ORLEANS.
G. B. MILLER & CO., Agents,
GALVESTON.

PERFORATED
VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,
For use in Churches, Halls and Lodges, are coming into general use, on account of their Comfort, Durability, Cleanliness, and Ornament.

No. 110.
Churches intending to buy Chairs or Settees will do well to correspond with GARDNER & CO.,
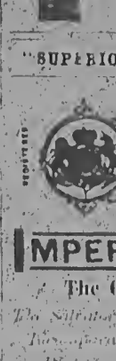
Patentees and Manufacturers,
376 PEARL ST., NEW YORK.



THE STANDARD
CHROMATIC TUNING
OR PITCH-PIPE.
Gives the correct pitch of any tone, Natural, Sharp or Flat. Adjusted to the desired pitch instantly. Never gets out of order. FINELY NICKEL-PLATED. No Leader, Instrumental Player or Singer should be without one.
RETAILED AT $1.50.
Sent to any address upon receipt of price.
DANIEL H. READ & CO.,
547 BROADWAY, N. Y.
Inventors and Manufacturers.
Sold by all Music Dealers.

"SUPERIOR NUTRITION THE LIFE."

IMPERIAL GRANUM
The Great Medicinal Food.
The Superiority [illegible] Adapted to the Age [illegible]
Physicians [illegible]
Superior Nutrition [illegible]
Invalids [illegible]
Impossible [illegible]
Diseases of the Stomach and Intestines.
THIS justly celebrated DIETETIC PREPARATION is, in composition by nearly the QUARTERS derived from the choicest WINTER FIRST CEREALS, solidified extract, the result of an eminent Chemist. It has not only been highly recommended, but certified to by a large number of Chemists and Physicians, representing a very high degree of medical science, as being Safest, Most Acceptable and Reliable Food for the Growth and Full Development of Children and for Mothers Nursing, especially Delicate Females.
Unlike those preparations made from animal or chemicals, which are inferior to stimulate the brain and irritate the digestive organs, it embraces in its elementary composition—
[illegible]
And while it will be found to become [illegible] of any thing in Food, it possesses many CREAMY and DELICATE QUALITIES which RENDER IT INVALUABLE in all INTESTINAL Diseases, especially Dysentery, Chronic Diarrhœa and Cholera Infantum.
[illegible]
SOLD AND WHOLESALE Druggists RETAIL BY Pharmacists THROUGHOUT THE PRINCIPAL CITIES in the UNITED STATES.
JOHN CARLE & SONS, NEW YORK.
cow

COMPOUND OXYGEN.
A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by a true principle of re-vitalization.
REMARKABLE CURES have been made in Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and the various forms of ailments which come from a depraved condition.
LOSS OF VITALITY, feebleness of constitution, the corroding effects of climate, and especially IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES, to the slow recuperation which attends convalescence, and which dooms so many to premature invalidism.
STRONGLY ENDORSED by the Hon. LEVI P. MORTON, Hon. CHESTER A. ARTHUR, Hon. WILLIAM M. EVARTS, Gov. BOREMAN of West Virginia, and others who have used the New Treatment.
FREE! A Treatise (200 pages) on Compound Oxygen, with many testimonials to most remarkable cures, sent free. Address
DRS. STARKEY & PALEN, 1112 Girard St., Phila.

D. S. C. KRAN,
MANUFACTURER OF THE
SURE CURE TRUSS,
N. W. cor. Fifth & Elm sts., Cincinnati, O.
THE BEST TRUSS IN THE WORLD!
Those who have suffered untold agony for years, by wearing the Metallic Spring Trusses will find in the Sure Cure Truss all that the name implies—a sure cure for all the ills attendant upon rupture. It is a Belt Truss, no springs, strong elastic in back, valuable under pads that never blister, never slip. Can be worn at night.
Testimonials of cures can be seen at the office. No. 1 Elastic Trusses, the best manufactured, warranted, at $1 for single, $2 for double. Examinations free.
Trusses sent free by mail on receipt of order and money. Send stamp for circular.

GOLD! Any worker can make $12 a day at his own home. Capital not required. We will start you. $12 a day and upwards made at once. Address TRUE & CO., Augusta, Maine.

$57.60 AGENTS' PROFIT per week. We will prove it or forfeit $500. New articles just patented. Samples sent free to all. Address W. H. CHIDESTER, 918 Fulton street, New York.

AGENTS WANTED.
AGENTS WANTED FOR THE PICTORIAL
History of the Wor
It contains 672 fine historical engravings and large double column pages, and is the most complete History of the world ever published. At sight. Send for specimen pages and terms to Agents, and see why it sells faster than any other book. Address
NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO., St. Lou

AGENTS WANTED FOR LITERATURE, ART & SO
Acknowledged the Richest Literary and Household Book ever issued from the American press. Embracing Poetry, Histories, Biographies, Anecdotes and Music. Magnificently illustrated, with over 100 Engravings. A beautiful Steel Engraving presented gratis to each subscriber. This work should be in every family circle. AGENTS.—This is the book to take for the Holidays. Extra inducements to active Agents. Write at once for terms and territory. J. H. CHAMBERS & CO., St. Louis, Mo., and Atlanta, Ga.

NOW READY!
The Grand Achievements of
STANLEY Only $3
By Hon. J. T. Headley, the Prince of descriptive authors. A full history of his explorations in Africa, and marvelous journey across the Dark Continent. A new exciting book, brimming with adventure and thrilling scenes of danger. Is profusely illustrated. The public eagerly await it. It is selling wonderfully.
CAUTION Beware of miserable counterfeits offered by irresponsible parties, and send for our extraordinary terms and also terms.
N. D. THOMPSON & Co., Pubs., ST. LOUIS, MO.

$10 to $25 A DAY HERE by Agents selling Chromos, Crayon ture and Chromo Cards. 125 samples, worth postpaid for 85 cents. Illustrated Catalogue J. H. BUFFORD'S SONS, Boston.

AGENTS wanted to sell THE CURSE OF RUM, Including Life and Work of Murphy, Reynolds, with History of the movement. Over 500 pages. Fully illustrated. Price $2.50. GUARANTEE PUBLISHING CO., St. Louis.

HOW TO BE YOUR OWN LAWYER AGENTS Wanted. $250 to $125 A Month. An Encyclopedia of Law and Practice, for Business Men, Mechanics, Farmers, Property Owners, Tax Payers, everybody, every business. Saves many times cost. Selling fast. Send for circular and see. W. ZIEGLER & CO., 62 Chestnut St., St. Louis.

MAKE $10
Acting as Our Salesman.
YOU CAN
We are desirous of securing responsible AGENTS, either on salary or commission, as they may elect. Those who fail to write to us in regard to business (if not employed) will do well when you receive our circulars to read them carefully. Address, with stamp for particulars,
G. W. FOSTER & CO.,
275 AND 285 E. MADISON STREET,
Chicago, Illinois.

MISCELLANEOUS.
1879—PRICE REDUCED—$1.
THE NURSERY
A Monthly Magazine for Young Readers. Superbly Illustrated. Only 50c. for a specimen copy, and [illegible] Subscribe now, and get [illegible]
JOHN L. SHOREY, 36 Bromfield Boston, Mass.

ROSES
For J. T. Phillips & Son, West Grove, [illegible]
cow

MASON & HAMLIN CABINET ORG
Illustrated [illegible] HIGHEST HONORS
ALL WORLD'S EXPOSITIONS DURING YEARS, viz: at PARIS [illegible] VIENNA, 1873; PHILADELPHIA, 1876; Only MEDALS at PARIS, 1878; and GRAND GOLD MEDAL 1878. Only American organs awarded highest honors at any World's Exhibitions. ALL STYLES, for CASH, INSTALLMENTS, RENTING or EXCHANGE. New styles and prices, just issued, free. MASON & HAMLIN ORGAN CO., BOSTON; NEW YORK; CHICAGO.

WATERS' Orchestrion chimes ORG
[illegible] the most beautiful [illegible] to style [illegible] to the [illegible] It has [illegible] Concertaton [illegible] effects [illegible] Human Voice [illegible] and a [illegible] Octaves [illegible] need to perfect [illegible] many with [illegible] & effect [illegible] and Clerical [illegible] WATERS' PIANOS, ORGANS, ORCHESTRIONS, CHIMES, CHAPEL and CONCERT ORGANS, in Unique French Cases, are to respect FIRST CLASS
WATERS' PIANOS,
ARE THE BEST MADE
Workmanship & Durability Unsurpassed
Warranted for SIX YEARS.
PRICES EXTREMELY LOW for CASH.
Monthly Installments if desired.
Discount to the Trade.
AGENTS WANTED. Special arrangements to the trade. Illustrated catalogues Mailed. Second-hand Instruments at Bargains. HORACE WATERS & SONS, Manufacturers and Dealers, 40 EAST 14th STREET, SQUARE, NEW YORK, Box 3567.

ELASTIC JOINT IRON ROOFI
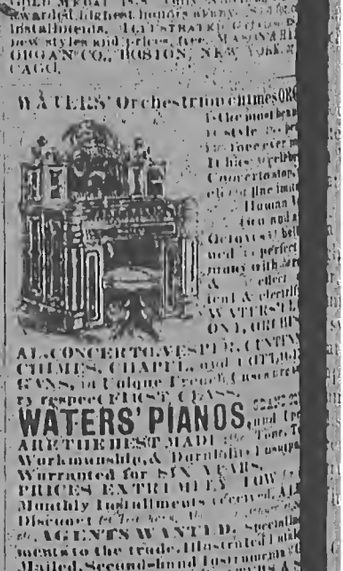
FIRE, WATER AND WIND T
Durable, Cheap, easily applied by any one. Practically tested for years. In general use throughout the country. Send for Circular. Address for Circular, CALDWELL & CO.,



Is the only perfectly self-regulating Wind Mill. Protected by two patents. Eight first Premiums. Simple, strong and durable. Has more wind surface, is lighter winds, is more automatic, and more water than any other wind mill ever made. Requires no attention, no oiling or running expenses. It has successfully withstood the storms of the West while other mills about it have been destroyed. Is now superseding others there. See certificates, testimonials in our illustrated Catalogue. Send for it. Kewanee Manf'g Co., Kewanee, Ill.
N. B.—Responsible State and County Agents wanted in all parts of the World.

SURE REMEDY FOR BALD
Prescription Free to any person who will agree to use it according to directions, and report to us if it is actually produced. When a new growth of Hair, Whiskers or Mustache is produced, we will pay $1,000 in Gold. Sanderson & Co., 3 Clinton Place, New York.

SCIENTIFIC.

—It is pleasant to note the discovery of the new sequoia forests in California, and to feel that these survivals of pre-glacial days are not becoming extinct. The great forest, seventy miles in length, discovered by Mr. Muir, containing trees in every stage of growth, from young and vigorous saplings upward, implies a long continued future for this noble race of conifers.

—A writer in the Entomologist's Monthly Magazine suggests that, as the microscope reveals to the eye of man all the most insignificant of nature's works, why may not the microphone disclose to our hearing the most inaudible sound. Through Prof. Hughes' discovery we may hope, he says, to have great light thrown upon the somewhat obscure subject of stridulation in insects. We can not see why the microphone may not be applied to detecting the high-pitched sounds produced by the grasshoppers and crickets, and the now inaudible stridulating noises made by moths and other insects. It could, possibly, be applied to studying and detecting the noises produced by fishes and marine invertebrate animals. It could also be applied, perhaps, to detecting the gnawing of museum pests in collections of stuffed animals and birds and entomological collections. Particularly valuable would its use be in detecting the presence of white ants in the tropics in the inside of articles of house furniture, which this insect ruins before the work is usually detected.

—ASPHALT PAVEMENTS.—It is probable that the failure of asphalt pavements in this country is largely due to causes which are preventable. In France they are used with perfect success, and the "Scientific American" devotes a timely article, with illustrations, to the process as practiced in Paris. The article may be found in the number for August 3, but has no space to quote it in full, and without the illustrations, but the following is a significant paragraph: "In the preparation of a good concrete foundation for asphalt pavement, as practiced in Paris—and the latter cannot be as well learned elsewhere—four things are necessary: 1. Materials of good quality. 2. Used in proper quantity. 3. Mixed energetically; and 4. Allowed proper time to consolidate. Not one of these can be dispensed with; the second and fourth may not be infinitesible, as the difference in the quality of articles procurable in different countries or cities may require special treatment in the working of it."

—NITRE WATER.—Place a quantity of the water in a clean, glass stoppered bottle; add a few grains of white sugar, and expose to the light in a warm room. If the water becomes turbid, after exposure for a week, reject it. If it remains clear it is safe.

THE GENUINE

DR. C. McLANE'S

Celebrated American

WORM SPECIFIC

OR

VERMIFUGE.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

Countenance is pale and leaden-hued, with occasional flushes, or a circumscribed spot on one or both cheeks; the eyes become dull, the pupil dilates; an azure semi-circle runs along the lower eye-lid; the nose is irritated, swells, and sometimes bleeds; there is a swelling of the upper lip; occasional grinding of the teeth, with humming or throbbing in the ears; an unusual secretion of slimy or furred tongue; breath offensive, particularly in the morning; appetite variable, sometimes voracious, sometimes nauseating, sensation of the stomach as if others, entirely gone; fleeting pains in the stomach; occasional nausea and vomiting; violent pains about the abdomen; bowels irregular, at times costive; stools slimy; frequently tinged with blood; belly swollen and hard; urine turbid; breathing occasionally difficult, and attended by hiccough; cough sometimes dry and convulsive; uneasy and disturbed sleep, with grinding of the teeth; temper variable, but generally irritable, &c.

Whenever the above symptoms are found to exist,

DR. C. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE will certainly effect a cure.

DO NOT CONTAIN MERCURY

but is an innocent preparation, calculated to do the slightest injury to the most tender infant.

Genuine DR. McLANE'S VERMIFUGE bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS., Pittsburgh, on the wrapper.

DR. C. McLANE'S

LIVER PILLS

are recommended as a remedy for all diseases of the liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Sick Headache, or diseases of the stomach, they stand without a rival.

CHILLS AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to taking Quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

Genuine are never sugar coated.

Each box has a red wax seal on the lid with impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS. Wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

In buying the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, differently but same pronunciation.

ownrm

EDUCATIONAL.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.

"THIS price and quality of board and tuition compares favorably with other colleges, while the peculiar constitution of the college and the influence of its surroundings render it, in my judgment the very best and safest place for boys and young men, at a certain stage of culture, which exists in the Methodist Church South."—Rev. F. M. Grace, A. M., of Alabama.

Address J. H. BRUNNER, D. D., Hiwassee College, Tenn.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. C. J. BICKHAM,

RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,

230 Jackson St., bet. Chestnut and Coliseum.

NEW ORLEANS.

Office Hours—Eight A. M. and three to four P. M.

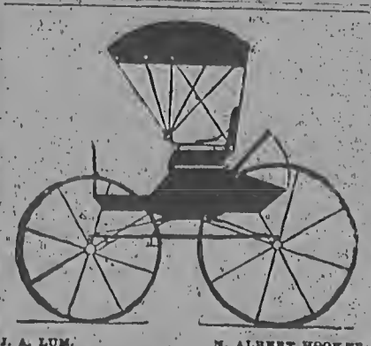
DR. J. J. LYONS,

NO. 218 CARONDELET STREET

Between Julia and St. Joseph,

New Orleans, La.

CARRIAGES, WAGONS, ETC.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOOKER.

J. A. LUM & CO.,

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN

CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC.,

163 Gravier and 18 Union Street.

A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

RUFUS R. EDSON. ARTHUR L. EDSON.

EDSON & SON,

Manufacturers of

Carriages and Buggies

LIGHT AND HEAVY SPRING WAGONS.

715 North Eighth Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Barouches, Phaetons, Buggies and all kinds of Spring Wagons constantly on hand and made to order.

FIRST PREMIUM AT ST. LOUIS FOR 1878.

JOHN KIMPEL,

Manufacturer of

CARRIAGES AND BUGGIES,

PLATFORM WAGONS, TRUCKS,

LIGHT AND HEAVY SPRING WAGONS.

208, 210, 212 & 214 Spruce St. ST. LOUIS, MO.

Barouches, Buggies and all kinds of Spring Wagons.

J. THOMSON & BROS.,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS

IN

CARRIAGE, WAGON

AND

CART-MAKERS' MATERIAL,

And Manufacturers of

Light Carriages and Spring Wagons,

All at Reasonable Prices.

68 AND 70 SOUTH RAMPART ST.,

Between Common and Gravier,

NEW ORLEANS.

Globe Wagon Manufactory

D. T. SHEAHON & CO.,

PROPRIETORS.

Wagons, Carts & Drays

MADE TO ORDER.

Southern Orders Respectfully Solicited.

Cor. Cotting and Carr Sts. ST. LOUIS, MO.

GEO. PURVES'

Sash, Blind and Door

STEAM FACTORY,

AND

LUMBER YARD

Corner St. Charles and Clio Streets,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT,

55 ..... ST. CHARLES STREET 55

NEW ORLEANS.

ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN

OF ALL KINDS.

Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every desirable article for the Angler, wholesale and retail. Guns imported to order. J. H. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle-Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of improved artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1599.

PIANOS.

PIANOS TUNED AND REPAIRED in the best and finest satisfactory manner, at

Mr. Burchardi's Manufactory,

632 ..... MAGAZINE STREET 632

Between Jackson and Josephine Sts. 5p

WHEELER & PIERSON, (successors to Darcy & Wheeler and Pierson & Hews) NOS. 13 & 15 CAMP ST., opposite the City Hotel.

CLOTHING & FURNISHING GOODS

FOR MEN AND BOYS.

We invite visitors from the country to look at our stock. We keep good Goods, sell at one price, and mark it in plain figures. Clergymen's trade solicited and a liberal deduction made to them. Whole sale department up stairs. 5p

CARPET WAREHOUSE, 17 CHARTRES STREET.

CARPETINGS—Wilton, Axminster, Velvet, Brussels, Tapestry, Three-Ply, etc.

FLOOR OIL CLOTH—English and American.

MATTINGS—300 rolls White, Check and Fancy.

WINDOW SHADES, Table and Piano Covers.

FURNITURE and CURTAIN GOODS in great variety.

BURLAPS Table and Enamel OIL CLOTHS.

A. BROUSSEAU.

GOODWYN'S EUREKA YEAST POWDER, a production of this city, is both popular with the trade and the delight of all experienced housekeepers, and no wonder, for it is an article of the very highest order of merit. Send for circular and prices.

P. M. GOODWYN, Manufacturer, No. 29 Constance Street, New Orleans, La.

Established in St. Louis in 1858.

R. L. ROSEBROUGH SONS,

Marble Works,

No. 1712 BROADWAY,

Between Cass Avenue and O'Fallon St.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

BUSINESS CARDS.

CARPETS.

ELKIN & CO.

100 ..... CANAL STREET 100

HAVE NEW STYLES OF

AXMINSTER, VELVET,

BRUSSELS and INGRAIN.

Just received per Tautania from Liverpool

English Oil-Cloths and Linoleums.

A large variety of

RUGS, MATS AND MATTINGS.

ESTABLISHED IN 1835.

LEEDS' FOUNDRY,

Cor. Delord and Foucher Sts.

G. G. GORDIN.

GORDIN & CO.,

COTTON FACTORS

AND COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

NO. 71 CARONDELET STREET,

NEW ORLEANS.

ATTENTION! ATTENTION!

M. ANDRIEU, 159 Poydras St.,

Home-Made Shoes, hand-sewed..... $4 00

Home-Made Shoes, screwed....$3 to $3 50

City-made Boots and Shoes of all kinds and styles; made of the very best material and workmanship, and at less prices than any other store in this city. Keeps all kinds for Gent.'s, Boys', Ladies' and Children's wear. Employs from 75 to 100 workmen constantly.

W. W. CARRE,

HORACE U. BEACH, Manager,

LUMBER YARD,

340 DELORD ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Cabins and Dressed Lumber a specialty.

COAL ..... COAL.

H. & C. TYLER,

9 ..... CARONDELET ST. 9

will sell Pittsburg, Anthracite and Cannel COAL, in quantities to suit customers, at the lowest market rates. H. & C. TYLER.

A. LAMBERT & CO.,

DEALERS IN

PITTSBURG, ANTHRACITE AND

CANNEL COAL,

FOR FAMILY USE. Office—No. 24 Carondelet street. Landing—On Levee, foot of Esplanade, opposite U. S. Mint, New Orleans. Particular attention paid to plantation orders.

FIRST STREET PHARMACY.

CHAS. O. LANGENBECKER, M. D.,

Successor to H. Stumpf,

PHARMACEUTIST AND CHEMIST,

Cor. First and Chippewa Sts., New Orleans,

Dealer in fine Chemicals, French, German and American Drugs, Perfumery, etc. Prescriptions filled with care at all hours, day and night.

COAL.

WE are still selling the best Pittsburg COAL at 15 cents per barrel, delivered.

CHANDLER & ASHBY,

42 Carondelet street.

Yard—Cor. Philip and Tchoupitoulas sts.

H. H. HUSSMAN,

DEALER IN

PITTSBURG COAL,

Oak, Ash and Pine Wood,

NO. 102 CALLIOPE ST., between Magazine and Constance, New Orleans.

T. W. BOTHICK,

UNDERTAKER,

271 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Embalming and Disinterring Bodies carefully shipped. Carriages and Cabs for hire.

BLACK CASHMERE SILKS,

COLORED SATINS,

EVENING SILKS, VELVETS,

ETC., ETC., ETC., ETC.

WE ARE PREPARED to show a most complete assortment of the above goods, which will be offered at EXCEPTIONAL PRICES

D. H. HOLMES,

158 CANAL AND 15 BOURBON STREET.

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

The Stewart Stove

WITH LATEST IMPROVEMENTS,

is now the

LEADING STOVE OF THE AGE

There can be no failure in its perfect operation. Will outlast and consume less fuel than any other Stove made.

Can be had for coke, coal or wood.

Hot Water attachments for bathing, etc., can be attached with but little extra cost.

Driven to repair old Stewart Stoves constantly on hand.

J. H. CAMPMAN,

133 Poydras Street.

R. B. MITCHELL,

Carpenter and Cistern-Maker,

183 MAGAZINE ST., near Julia, New Orleans.

Orders from the city and country promptly attended to.

M. H. APPLEGATE,

PLUMBER,

AND DEALER IN

COOKING RANGES AND BOILERS,

Bath Tubs, Water Closets, Washstands, Kitchen Sinks, Lift and Force Pumps, Ale Pumps, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe, and Brass and Plated Cocks of all Patterns,

116 Poydras St., New Orleans, La.

Repairing neatly done. Country orders attended to.

THERMOMETERS.

R. & J. BECK,

Manufacturing Opticians,

921 Chestnut St., Philadelphia.

Would call special attention to their one-plated stock of Microscopes, Telescopes, Opera, Field and Marine Glasses, Spectacles and Eye Glasses, Thermometers, Barometers, Compasses, etc., the largest and most varied in the United States, at

GREATLY REDUCED PRICES.

Send three stamps for our splendidly illustrated and priced catalogue of 140 pages.

Mention what Paper you saw this in.

EVERY MAN His Own PRINTER.

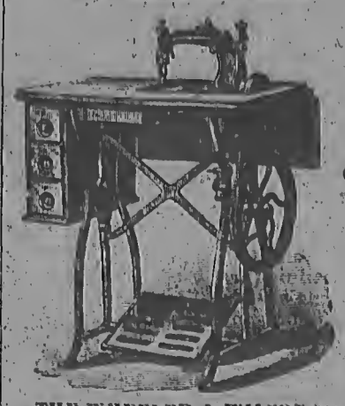
THE $3 Press Prints labels, cards, etc. (Self-inker $5.) Larger sizes for business, pleasure, young or old. Catalogue of Presses, Type, &c., for 3 stamps. KELSEY & Co., Meriden, Conn.

$66 a week in your own town. Terms and $5 outfit free. Address H. HALLETT & Co., Portland, Maine.

$500. MADE IN 37 DAYS. CATALOGUE FREE. Buckeye Novelty Co., Cincinnati, O.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WHEELER AND WILSON



NEW NO. 8

Sewing Machine!

GOOD NEWS! GOOD NEWS!

Great Reduction for Cash.

The $100 Machine Reduced to ..... $60.

" 90 " " " ..... 50.

" 45 " " " ..... 45.

" 80 " " " ..... 40.

" 75 " " " ..... 35.

" 70 " " " ..... 35.

Every Machine furnished with all the attachments.

THE WHEELER & WILSON has now been before the people for more than Twenty-Five Years, an upward of 1,500,000 of the Family Favorite are now in use in the families and workshops of the world. Our New No. 8 Machine is, without doubt, the best and most simple Sewing Machine in the world.

It has a self setting needle. It has no noisy cog wheels.

It never cuts the thread or goods. It has no complicated shuttle to thread.

It is a lock machine, with straight needle. It allows the work to run back from the operator.

It will not break the thread if the needle is allowed to run off the goods when sewing.

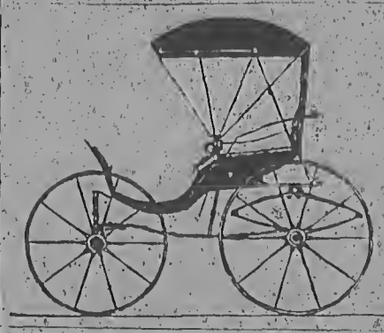
Send for our New Cash Price List.

CASH AGENTS wanted in every county and parish.

WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO.

OFFICE AND SALESROOM:

103 CANAL ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.



ANDERSON, HARRIS & CO.,

Wholesale Manufacturers of

Buggies, Phætons,

CARRIAGES AND VEHICLES

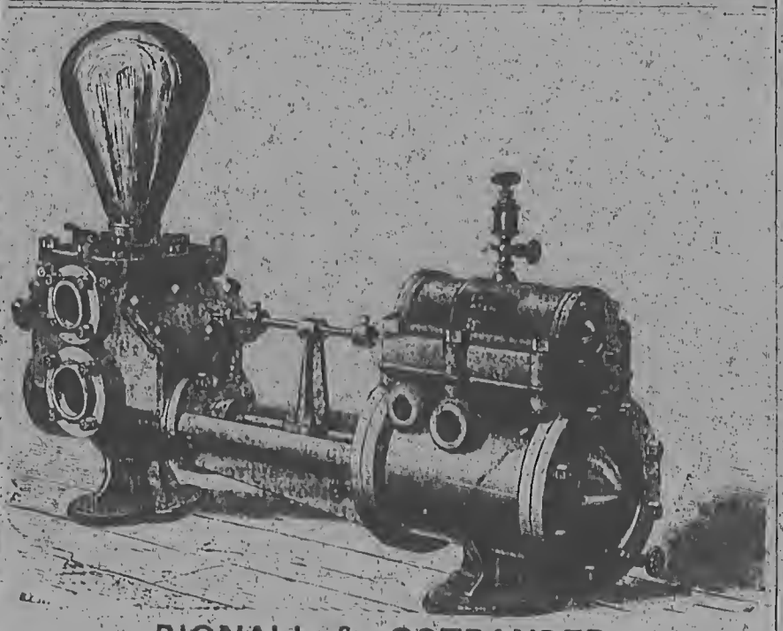
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

OFFICE AND FACTORY:

N. E. Cor. Baymiller and Liberty Sts.,

CINCINNATTI.

Sixth Street (Green) Cars pass the door.



BIGNALL & OSTRANDER,

806 and 808 North Second Street, St. Louis, Mo.

DEANE'S STEAM PUMP, (BEST IN USE,)

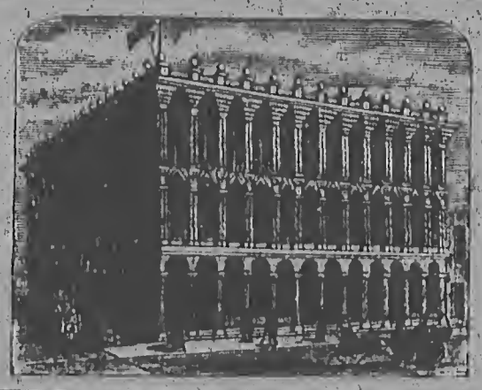
PUMPS OF ALL KINDS, BELTING, HOSE, GAS PIPE FITTINGS AND BRASS GOODS, STATIONARY AND PORTABLE ENGINES, COTTON GINS AND PRESSES.

R. M. & B. J. MONTGOMERY,

FURNITURE EMPORIUM,

Corner Camp and Poydras Sts., New Orleans.

FEATHERS. SPRING, HAIR AND MOSS MATTRESSES.



FINE PARLOR SUITS,

IN SILK, SATIN, COTOLINE REPS AND HAIR CLOTH.

FINE BED-ROOM SUITS IN WALNUT, MAHOGANY AND ROSEWOOD, WITH FRENCH PLATE IN ARMOIRS and Dressing Cases.

Fine Dining Room, Hall and Library Suits, Fancy Cabinets, Stands, Desks, Tables and Chairs. A large assortment of FRENCH PLATE MIRRORS. A full line of Office Furniture. A large stock of Medium and Common Furniture, suitable for the country trade. Goods delivered free of charge.

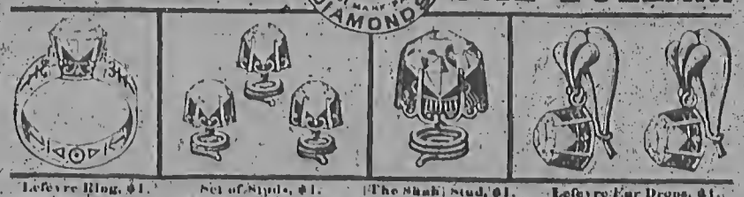
$8, $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES ARE the only real imitation Gold Watches that are made with all the latest improvements at the above prices. They are really a beautiful Watch. Send direct to us for a Watch or Circular. Chains from $1 to $8. Jewelry of the same. COLLINS GOLD METAL WATCH FACTORY 315 Broadway N. Y., P.O. Box 3,95.

DIAMONDS

IN SOLID GOLD MOUNTINGS.

ONE DOLLAR. ONE DOLLAR.



Lefevre Ring, $1. Set of Studs, $1. The Shell Stud, $1. Lefevre Ear Drops, $1.

THE ONLY PERFECT FAC-SIMILE OF THE REAL DIAMOND IN THE WORLD

Pronounced by the Academy of France that M. Lefevre has really obtained accidentally the Diamond. The basis of these gems are pure crystals found in the Sierra Nevadas, from where they are exported to the Lefevre Laboratory in Paris, France, where they are submitted to a chemical and voltaic process imparting to them all the BRILLIANCY, HARDNESS and refractive qualities of the natural diamond, and making them indestructible for Wear, Brilliancy, and Beauty, as the crystals retain themselves. The Ring, Studs and Ear Drops, as displayed in this admirable cement, are of solid gold mountings, containing the Wonderful Lefevre Diamond, warranted by certificate U. S. Mint assay.

BY WHICH THEIR SURFACES ARE COVERED WITH A COATING OF PURE DIAMONDS,

ON RECEIPT OF ONE DOLLAR we will send free, by Registered Mail, prompt address in America, either article as above represented. Our "Book on Diamonds," with illustrations of artistic Diamond Jewelry, mailed free.

I have seen many imitations of diamonds, but never on that equal the Lefevre Brilliant.—M. C. HOY, Stamford, Conn.

I have a corsage of a pair of the Wonderful Lefevre Ear Drops, for one dollar; to say that I am pleased with them is to [illegible]—they are simply elegant.—ANDREW MORRIS, Hackettsville, N. Y.

The Wonderful Lefevre Diamond Ring, for one dollar, came to hand this morning; it is really elegant, giving entire satisfaction, and exciting wonder and admiration from all who see it.—W. H. REKELY, Martinsburg, W. Va.

The Lefevre Diamonds, mounted in solid gold, are truly marvelous.—B. F. AVERY & SONS, Home & Farm, Louisville, Ky.

The most successful experiments of M. Lefevre silences all doubts of the artificial reproduction of the true diamond.—M. [illegible] FRENAY, the great French Scientist.

The Lefevre Diamond most effectually disturbs the slumbers of the possessors of costly gems.—Journal of Science.

We guarantee the Wonderful Lefevre Diamonds for One Dollar to be mounted in Solid Gold, and will cheerfully refund the money if found unsatisfactory. Address all orders to the AMERICAN JEWELRY COMPANY, 5 Arcade, Cincinnati, O.

The American Jewelry Company is a prompt and reliable house.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Leaders and others engaged in the formation of bands or orchestras should send for our new illustrated circular, containing descriptions, designs, etc., of the most approved instruments, and much valuable information concerning Band and Orchestral requisites, and containing elegant engravings of the latest and most approved style of instruments now in use. Mailed free. Address LYON & HEALY, State and Monroe Sts., Chicago.

Marder, Luse & Co.

TYPE FOUNDERS,

CHICAGO,

Type [illegible]

SEND FOR ILLUSTRATED PRICE LIST

BRINLY PLOWS

BEST & CHEAPEST IN USE.

BRINLY, MILES & HARDY,

SOLE MANUFACTURERS

LOUISVILLE, KY.

SUITED TO EVERY KIND OF SOIL OR WORK.

MEDICATED RAW SILK FOOT PROTECTOR

PAT'D APRIL 25 1876

MANF'D. BY S. TUTTLE & SONS PHILA.

Composed of wool and silk, put together with the [illegible] next to the foot, a sure remedy for Rheumatism, and much to relieve cold and damp feet. Many cases of the attendant nervousness, [illegible] have been relieved by using these goods. Sent by mail, any address on receipt of twenty-five cents and the [illegible] one dollar. State size of shoe worn, and [illegible] for gent, lady or child. Canvassers and Agents wanted with these goods.

D. W. BOONSON,

343 North Second street, Philadelphia, Pa.

BLANCARD'S PILLS

OF [illegible] APPROVED BY THE ACADEMY OF MEDICINE OF PARIS as a safe and reliable remedy in the cure of [illegible] Constitutional Weakness, Paralysis of the [illegible] stimulating and invigorating properties, [illegible] unless signed Blancard, 30, Rue Bonaparte, Paris.

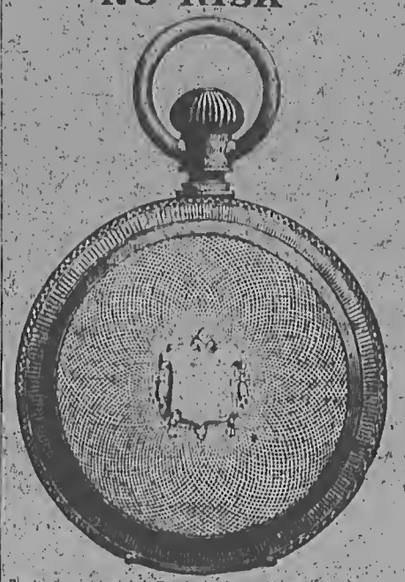
Sold by Druggists everywhere.

BOOKS ESTABLISHED 20 YEARS

[illegible] special [illegible] Books and [illegible] Miscellaneous Books furnished promptly [illegible] lowest prices.

J. W. McINTYRE, [illegible] St. Louis, Mo.

NO RISK



To buy our Special Ten Dollar Watch, for we guarantee them to be Solid Coin Silver, open face (patent [illegible] movement inside), which is nickle. They are certainly the best Watches, considering Time and Quality, that has ever been offered for the price. Each represents the exact size. Key winder. We send one of the above to any address C. O. D. for [illegible] of money and twenty-five cents extra for registration (at our risk). Fully warranted. WM. KENDRICK & SON, 419 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky.

Send Catalogue free on application. (Mention this paper.)

DR. S. H. P. LEE'S

LITHONTRIPTIC

CURES STONE AND GRAVEL, GALL STONES, DIABETES, GOUT, ENLARGEMENT OF THE PROSTATE GLAND, and in its incipient stages, BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

A CURE WHICH DISSOLVES

STONE AND GRAVEL

In the Kidneys, Liver or Bladder. It is now for the first time given to the public as a cure for the most distressing kidney complaints. Send for pamphlet to depot of the LITHONTRIPTIC COMPANY, No. 9 Clinton Place, New York city. Sold by druggists.

LADY AGENTS WANTED FOR

MADAME GRISWOLD'S

PATENT SKIRT-SUPPORTING CORSETS,

21 E. 16th St., New York.

BRANCH OFFICE

No. 41 WINTER ST., BOSTON, MASS.

Any of the above goods sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the list price. Send for descriptive circular.

CAUTION

Before purchasing, see that Name and Trade Mark.

100,000

Wanted, at 50 cts. for [illegible] Information, and how to make $5 a day. R. [illegible] Milton, Pa.

$7 A DAY to Agents canvassing for the Fireside Visitor. Terms and outfit free. Address P. O. VICKERY, Augusta, Me.

$5 to $20 per day at home. Samples, worth $5, free. Address STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine.

60 Chromo, Mot, Picture cards, no 2 alike, Name in case [illegible] Clinton Bros., Centerbrook, Ct.

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED EVERY WEEK.

☞ Correspondents will please [illegible] our quotations represent [illegible] and are subject to such changes as may occur between the time of writing and publication. Prices are for cash, unless otherwise stated. Weights are those by which sales are made. Quotations are for such quantities as are usually sold in the trade. Prices paid by dealers are generally from 1 to 2 cents per pound less than those at which they sell.

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₱ lb.
Western
New York

Coffee, ₱ lb.
Rio fair
Rio good
Rio prime

Candles, ₱ lb.
Star, [illegible]

Corn Meal, ₱ bbl.
Best, kiln dried

Cheese, ₱ lb.
Factory
N.Y. cream, [illegible]

Fish:
Mackerel, extra No 1, [illegible]
Mackerel, extra No 2, [illegible]
Sardines, quarter box

Flour, ₱ bbl.
Superfine
X
XXX
Choice XXX
Choice family

Fruits:
Dried apples, ₱ lb
Dried peaches, ₱ lb
Raisins, London layer
Raisins, Valencia
Raisins, new crop
Currants, ₱ lb
Prunes
Bananas, ₱ bunch

Crackers, ₱ lb
Soda
Butter
Sugar
Gingersnaps

Oils:
Coal, in case, [illegible]
Coal, in barrels, best
Sperm oil, [illegible]
Linseed, [illegible]
Lard, [illegible]

Molasses, in barrels
Common
Fair
Prime to choice
Golden and [illegible]
Half bbls, 5 to 10 gals more

Rice, Louisiana, ₱ lb.
No 2
Ordinary
Fair
Prime to choice

Soap, in boxes, ₱ lb
XXX Palm
Keiser's [illegible]
Keller's [illegible]

Starch, ₱ lb

Salt, in sacks
Fine
Coarse

Sugar,
Good fair
Prime
Choice
Yellow clarified
White clarified
Crushed
Powdered

Spices, ₱ lb
Allspice
Pepper
Cloves
Cinnamon

Tea, ₱ lb
Black Oolong
Green imperial

Tobacco, manufactured, ₱ lb
Chewing, common
Chewing, fair
Chewing, prime
Chewing, choice
Smoking

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₱ bushel
Yellow
White
Mixed

Oats, ₱ bushel
St. Louis
Texas
Galena

Bran, choice, ₱ 100 lbs

Hay, ₱ 100
Prime
Ordinary

Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill
Mixed
Clay

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₱ lb.
Breakfast
Shoulders
Sides, clear rib
Sides, clear
Hams, sugar-cured

Mess Pork, ₱ bbl

Dry Salted Meat:
Shoulders

Lard, ₱ lb.
Choice, in [illegible]
Choice, in [illegible]

ESCULENTS.

Potatoes, ₱ bbl
Onions, ₱ bbl
Apples, ₱ bbl
Cabbages, ₱ 100

WOOL.

Burry
Low unwashed
Low [illegible]

BAGGING &c.

Bagging:
Indian
Jute

Ties, Arrow [illegible]
Kentucky
Twine, [illegible]

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Poultry, ₱ doz
Old chickens
Young
Ducks
Geese
Turkeys

Eggs, ₱ dozen
Western Tennessee

COMMERCIAL.

ADVOCATE OFFICE, }
New Orleans, Wednesday, Dec. 4, 1878. }

COTTON.

The following report of the cotton market is taken from the Democrat:

COTTON.—The buoyancy in the cotton market has been lost, and prices have settled back upon the old figures, the business to-day showing a decline of ⅛ on all grades up to middling. There was no animation in the market. Other markets were depressed, and buyers refused to step up except at concessions, which holders were not always willing to grant, and so the day closed with sales amounting to only 5,000 bales, at a conceded decline of ⅛ on all grades except good middling and middling fair.

The following is the official closing of the Cotton Exchange:

	To-Day.	Yesterday.
Low ordinary
Ordinary
Good ordinary
Low middling
Middling
Good middling
Middling fair

Sales to-day [illegible] bales, Market [illegible].

COTTON STATEMENT.

[illegible] on shipboard Sept. 1, 1878	[illegible]
Gross receipts since yesterday	9,758
[illegible] previously	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible] supply	331,418
Exported to-day	5,771
Exported previously	260,685
[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible] to-day	264,456
[illegible] this day last year	244,597

COTTON ON SHIPBOARD.

The amount of cotton on ships loaded, as per account of the Cotton Exchange, is as follows:

[illegible]	[illegible]
Havre	22,758
[illegible]	3,771
Mexico	1,211
Spain	1,100
Other ports	2,000
Mediterranean	1,000
North Sea	1,000
Coastwise	1,000
[illegible]	[illegible]

This, taken from the stock at noon, as quoted at the Exchange, leaves in [illegible] 258,208 bales.

The receipts at all ports, consolidated as per telegrams to the Cotton Exchange, show totals from noon yesterday to noon to-day of 33,308 bales, against 28,693 same time last week, 24,514 last year and 30,792 the year before.

MOVEMENT AT PORTS.

The movement at ports for four days, up to twelve M. to-day, is given below:

	Receipts to-day.	Receipts same time last week.	Same time last year.
New Orleans	41,503	43,258	36,561
Galveston	14,685	14,191	18,830
Mobile	10,065	12,187	15,959
Savannah	12,271	11,873	16,382
Charleston	9,818	11,156	10,748
Wilmington	3,179	1,304	4,987
Norfolk	9,104	9,104	11,331
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Boston	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
New York	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Philadelphia	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Other ports	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	112,729	[illegible]	[illegible]
Receipts since September 1	[illegible]	[illegible]	2,274,887
Receipts same time last year	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Receipts same time year before	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

EXPORTS.

The consolidated report for four days gives exports to

	G. B.	France.	Cont.	Stock.
[illegible]	501	15,427	10,021	[illegible]
[illegible]	44	19,307	2,360	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Same time last year	24	26,017	11,[illegible]	[illegible]

Receipts since September 1 [illegible]
Receipts same time last year [illegible]
Receipts same time year before [illegible]

Quality Insufficient.

[illegible], and certainly it is [illegible] that they never have been raised from vice to virtue, from sinfulness to holiness, from moral sickness to moral health, by morality alone. No matter how pure it may be, no preaching of morality has ever sunk deep into society, or shown itself able to have any wide control over the minds of men. It has never shown how to elevate society internally and from the center. You cannot make a man virtuous simply by teaching him virtue. You cannot be certain that a child will practice the Ten Commandments, simply because he has learned them by heart. The teaching is, of course, well; is not only important, but indispensable. How can men be led to do their duty unless they are first led to know it? How can they believe in Him of whom they have not heard? But, notwithstanding this, all the knowledge which men obtain of the divine commands, and their duty, never have been sufficient to lead them to a true obedience. No theory of human nature is deep and thorough which does not recognize the actual foundation for this fact; and no observation of human conduct is wide or penetrating which has not certain its frequent exhibitions. President J [illegible] Seelye.

A woman, hearing a great deal about "preserving autumn leaves," concluded to put up a few jars of them. She told a neighbor yesterday that she didn't think they would exactly do to preserve, and she might just as well have thrown her sugar away.

BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER.
A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

[illegible] is worn it and the [illegible] new acting powers possessed. It is [illegible] power to all other external [illegible] counter-irritants and the so-called [illegible] it contains new medicinal [illegible] which in combination with [illegible] possesses the most extraordinary [illegible] Strengthening and curative [illegible] A Physician in your own locality [illegible] to the above statement. For Lame Back, Rheumatism, Female Weakness, Seminal and Nephritic Colds and all the diseased kidneys, Neuralgic and Hysteric affections of the heart, and all the [illegible] for which porous plasters are used, it is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster and take no other. Sold by all Druggists. Price 50 cents. Sent on receipt of price by Benson & Johnson, 2 Platt street, New York.

Power of Eloquence.

Sargent S. Prentiss, of Mississippi, was one of the most brilliant of orators, as an advocate before a jury, or as a political speaker addressing a multitude from the stump. His was a mind in which there was a rare combination of faculties. Judgment, imagination, memory, the power of expression, and the faculty of intense application, each did work to form a perfect oration.

On a certain occasion Prentiss visited Boston and addressed its citizens in Faneuil Hall. A gentleman who heard him, then a venerable judge, told this anecdote, which illustrates the orator's power. Unable to procure a seat, he stood jammed by the crowd. As Mr. Prentiss began to speak, the gentleman took out his watch to time him. As he was replacing it in his fob, something in the orator's manner and words arrested his attention. He found it impossible to take away his eyes or ears. He forgot the presence of the crowd, his own fatigue, the passage of the time, everything but the speaker. Mr. Prentiss, as he drew near the close of his address, seemed fatigued. So intense was the sympathy of the venerable man with him, that he found himself breathing rapidly and painfully.

At last the orator, exclaiming "My powers fail!" sank exhausted into a chair.

Not till then did the aged listener discover that his hand was still holding his watch at the opening of its pocket. He looked at it. He had stood in that crowd listening for three hours and fifteen minutes. Near him stood an aged minister who, tremulous with excitement, exclaimed:

"Will any one ever doubt again that God inspires man?"

Hygiene.

SLEEPLESSNESS.—Sit down in an easy position, relaxing the muscles of the body, and let the head drop forward upon the breast, as low down as it will fall without forcing it. Sit quietly in this way for a few minutes, freeing all the power of the body, and a restful, drowsy feeling will ensue, which will, if not disturbed, lead to refreshing sleep.

If the sleepless fit comes on in the night, one can simply sit up in the position described. Stiffness of any part of the body must be avoided, and it is well to bend the body forward after lying down, rather than to keep it straight or thrown back upon the pillow.

The writer suffered several years from sleeplessness, caused by severe pain and nervousness, and was taught the above by a physician of great experience and ability, and found through it complete relief. Many persons similarly afflicted, within the writer's knowledge, have tried it, and always with good results.—Kansas City Journal.

FOUR IMPOSSIBLE THINGS.—1. To escape troubles by running away from duty. Jonah once made the experiment, but it did not succeed. Therefore manfully meet and overcome the difficulties and trials to which the test, assigned you by God's providence, exposes you.

2. To become a Christian of [illegible] maturity without undergoing severe trials. What fire is to gold, such is affliction to the believer. It burns up the dross, and makes the gold shine forth with unalloyed luster.

3. To form an independent character, except when thrown upon one's own resources. The oak in the middle of the forest, if surrounded on every side by trees that shelter and shade it, runs up tall and comparatively feeble; cut away its protectors, and the first blast will overturn it. But the same tree, growing in the open field, where it is continually beaten upon by the tempest, becomes its own protector. So the man who is compelled to rely on his own resources forms an independence of character to which he could not otherwise have attained.

4. To be a growing man by looking to your position in society for influence, instead of bringing it to bear to your position. Therefore prefer rather to climb up the hill with difficulty than to be steamed up by a power outside yourself.

CHANGE OF DENOMINATION.—Rev. R. B. Meredith, formerly pastor of St. Paul's and the Central M. E. churches in Newark, and until recently one of the leading clergymen of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has just been installed pastor of the Phipp's Congregational church, at Boston. Mr. Meredith gave a short description of his religious experience, speaking of his change to Congregationalism, he said:

"I stand here not because I have lost my love for the Methodist Church, and I never will. I would lay down my life for her if necessary. I am not here because I have lately found any cause of disagreement with Methodist doctrines. I do not believe in all their articles of faith, and I do not believe that any man could draw up a set that I would believe in. I am not here because I believe Congregationalism is divine as a system of church government. I believe that it is as divine as any other form. I am here because I have thoughtfully and carefully considered the question, and believe that the itinerancy for men whose work is in cities involves a loss of power out of a man's life that I, whose work is to be in cities, am not willing to submit to any longer. On that sole ground I present myself here to-day, having accepted the call of this church. I want a place to settle down, and preach the gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ."

MISCELLANEOUS.

TUTT'S PILLS!

A NOTED DIVINE SAYS
THEY ARE WORTH THEIR WEIGHT IN GOLD
READ WHAT HE SAYS:

DR. TUTT—Dear Sir:—For ten years I have been a martyr to Dyspepsia, Constipation and Piles. Last Spring your Pills were recommended to me. I used them, but with little faith. I am now a well man, have good appetite, digestion perfect, regular stools, piles gone, and I have gained forty pounds solid flesh. They are worth their weight in gold.
Rev. R. L. SIMPSON, Louisville, Ky.

A TORPID LIVER

is the fruitful source of many diseases, such as Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Dysentery, Bilious Fever, Ague and Fever, Jaundice, Piles, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, Colic, etc.

Tutt's Pills exercise powerful influence on the Liver, and will certainly relieve that important organ from disease and restore its normal function.

The rapidity with which persons take on flesh while under the influence of these Pills is truly astonishing. Their adaptability to nourish the body, hence their efficacy in curing nervous debility, dyspepsia, wasting of the muscles, enlargement of the liver, chronic constipation, and imparting health and strength to the system.

CONSTIPATION.

Only with regularity of the bowels can proper health be enjoyed. When the constipation is of recent date, a single dose of TUTT'S PILLS will suffice, but if it has become habitual, one Pill should be taken every night, gradually lessening the dose until a regular daily movement is obtained, which will soon follow.

Sold Everywhere, 25 Cents.
OFFICE, 35 MURRAY ST., NEW YORK.

THE MODEL PRESS

MODEL

Thoroughly Reliable

The Leading Press of the World.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERY ONE SAYS YES.

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY, is the only reliable remedy. Simply spread in the vicinity, gain rendered powerfully poisonous to vermin, and is fatally. Nature's remedy for the complete and thorough extermination of rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will at once relieve your farm from those terribly destructive pests. Price, only 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States at

M. P. CHAMBERLIN,
Manufacturing Chemist,
[illegible] Chicago, Ill.

Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S, 45 Magazine street.

FITS OR EPILEPSY.

To the Editor of the Advocate:

DEAR SIR:—Will you please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the cure of the above disease; and that by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing, and will give

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

for a case it will not cure or greatly benefit. Indeed, so strong is my faith, I will [illegible]

ONE BOTTLE FREE,

together with a valuable treatise, to any sufferer addressing me at their express and P. O. address. Please show this letter to any one you may know who is suffering with this terrible disease, and oblige,

Respectfully yours,
DR. H. C. ROOT, 183 Pearl Street, N. Y.

H. W. JOHNS' PATENT.
ASBESTOS
MATERIALS.

LIQUID PAINTS.

The finest and most durable paints in the world for structural purposes. Send for samples and price circulars.

ASBESTOS ROOFING.

With a new [illegible] of covering for steep or flat roofs. The only reliable substitute for tin.

Boiler Coverings, Steam Packing, Sheathing, Felts, Roof Paint, Fire-Proof Paints, Coatings, Cements, etc.

All these materials are prepared ready for use, and can be easily applied by any one. We guarantee the quality of our goods to be second to none in the world. Freight 15 to 25 per cent. of ordinary outlays can be saved by their use.

Pamphlets, illustrated pamphlets, price lists, etc., sent free. Liberal arrangements to dealers and large consumers. Send for samples and reduced price list.

From the Jackson (Miss.) [illegible]

Jackson, Mississippi.

Mr. C. B. Mansur, of Jackson, one of the best painters in the State, and a gentleman of great intelligence and worth, says with reference to these Paints:

"I have tested them fully, and am prepared to say that Our Paints, which are of all colors and shades, are not only the cheapest, but the best I have used in my experience as a painter for the last fifty years, and the certificate in my possession to the superiority of the [illegible] any material used on the subject.

C. B. MANSUR."

CALEB A. PARKER & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS FOR ALABAMA, GEORGIA, TENNESSEE, LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND TEXAS,
NO. 10 UNION ST., NEW ORLEANS, LA.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Patented May 28th, 1878.

The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Man'f'g Co.

Every one who owns a cow should have one of our wonderful Milkers. A child can use them. Sent free to any part of the United States on receipt of $2. Send for our Illustrated Pamphlet on the Cow, containing the testimonials of practical farmers and dairymen throughout the United States, and sectional views of a cow's teats and [illegible] dissected and scientifically explained, by Drs. White and Wilson of this city. Sent free to any address.

GEO. E. KING, President.

Office, 575 Broadway, New York.

SOLID GOLD RINGS.

Our New Illustrated Catalogue, showing sizes and prices of a large variety of solid Plain Gold Rings; also, Amethyst, Garnet, Cameo, Onyx, and Imitation Diamond Gold Set Rings, with full directions for ordering, will be sent free, by mail, to any address. We warrant every ring to be as represented. We give particular attention to the manufacture of Engagement and Wedding Rings. Rings can be sent safely by mail.

C. P. BARNES & BRO., Goldsmiths, 224 Main St., bet. 6th and 7th, Louisville, Ky.

EVERY RING WARRANTED.

FAITH,

Hope and Charity [illegible] a beautiful illuminated [illegible] and [illegible] every 3 months [illegible] Leisure Hours [illegible] [illegible] currency. This Motto [illegible] [illegible] Covers; the words are [illegible] [illegible] Largest [illegible] Ladies of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Christian Advocate.

PUBLISHED BY ROBT. J. HARP, FOR THE ALABAMA, MISSISSIPPI AND LOUISIANA CONFERENCES, METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH SOUTH.

VOL. 24. NEW ORLEANS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1878. NO. 52.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL.

BY REV. T. O. DOUGAN.

There's a song in the air!
There's a star in the sky!
There's a mother's deep prayer
And a baby's low cry!
And the star rains its fire while the beautiful sing,
For the manger of Bethlehem cradles a King.

There's a throb of joy
O'er the wonderful birth,
For the Virgin's sweet boy
Is the Lord of the earth.
Ah! that star rains its fire and the beautiful sing,
For the manger of Bethlehem cradles a King.

In the light of that star
Lie the ages impearled;
And that song from afar
Has swept over the world.
Every hearth is aflame, and the beautiful sing,
For the manger of Bethlehem cradles a King.

We can see in the light,
As it falls from the song
Of the angels down through the night,
The lowly shepherds throng.
Not the wise men alone the star-beacon bring,
To the manger of Bethlehem cradles a King.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

DOMESTIC.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 17.—President nominated Elisha M[illegible] to be collector of customs at [illegible]ston.

It before adjournment of the [illegible]e to-day, Senator Eustis rose to [illegible]iamentary inquiry to request [illegible]ar immediate report be made by [illegible]hairman of the committee on [illegible]evision of the laws, upon the [illegible]o repeal the test oath of jurors [illegible]nited States courts, stating that [illegible]w would be applied in the trial [illegible]ons arrested in Louisiana for [illegible]offences during the last elec[illegible]e urged the immediate passage [illegible]law, and spoke at some length [illegible]e subject.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—A meeting [illegible]e joint Congressional sub-com[illegible]on yellow fever investigation [illegible]eld to-night, and several mainm[illegible]edical experts from various [illegible]s of the country to accompany [illegible]ommission on their investigat[illegible]tour, were presented. Among [illegible]e recommended were Drs Bemiss [illegible]mills, of New Orleans; Green, [illegible]ston; Cochran of Mobile, and [illegible]le of Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 19.—Profs [illegible]ton and Thompson exhibited [illegible]e the Franklin Institute an[illegible]tion of electric light, which [illegible]claim solves the problem of [illegible]ghting by electricity. The [illegible]is produced by heat and science [illegible]ton points, and not by burning [illegible]r electric lights hitherto ex[illegible]ed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The secretary of state has a telegram from [illegible]dney Everett, secretary of the [illegible]d States legation at Berlin, announcing the death of Minister [illegible]rd Taylor at four o'clock this [illegible]noon.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The President transmitted to the Senate a [illegible]ge in reply to the resolution [illegible]g information in regard to consular intercourse between the [illegible]ed States and South America, referring to the importance of [illegible]gn commerce, he says that our [illegible]rts during twenty years previous [illegible]were so small and imports so [illegible]as to necessitate the constant [illegible]ment of gold, and so precluded [illegible]ossibility of the resumption of [illegible]e payments.

[illegible]s, however, owing to vigorous efforts to extend our foreign [illegible]erce, these conditions were [illegible]ersed, and the outward drain of [illegible]ersed. The agencies by which [illegible]change was effected most, he [illegible]e maintained and strengthened [illegible]der to make the future secure [illegible]y of the products of the United [illegible]s are now held in such favor [illegible]d, that with equal commercial [illegible]ities we need not fear competi[illegible]

[illegible]view of our return to a basis of [illegible]values, it is of the greatest im[illegible]ance that our export trade shall [illegible]suffer for want of the means of [illegible]unication with other countries. [illegible]closes with the statement, that [illegible]measures in furtherance of these [illegible]mount interests will have his [illegible]ful approval. Accompanying [illegible]message is a report from the secretary of state, attributing the commercial predominance of Great Britain in South America to regular [illegible]n postal communications, and [illegible]ng promotion by all just and appropriate means on the part of the [illegible]ernment of this first and principal agency for the desired expansion [illegible]ur foreign commerce.

[illegible]The government of the foreign [illegible]es with which this commerce is [illegible]e opened," he says, "are ready [illegible]are with us the expense of this [illegible]n communication, and the participation or non-participation of the United States is the turning point in [illegible]pliance or rejection of the reciprocal offered us."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Ex-Governor Foote, who has just been confirmed as superintendent of the mint [illegible]New Orleans, presented his bond [illegible]the treasury to-day. He desires [illegible]leave Washington for his new [illegible]tion to-morrow.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 20.—It is announced that two Russian cruisers, [illegible]Asia and Europe, recently contracted at Cramp's shipyard, sail to-[illegible]row for Cronstadt, Russia, under [illegible]mand of American Masters, until [illegible]be turned over to Russian [illegible]ers as soon as they get out of [illegible]erican waters. The Africa, another Russian vessel, will leave in [illegible]t a week.

QUEBEC, Dec. 22.—Three feet of snow fell here last night.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 21.—The favorable condition of Governor Hampton continues. His attending physicians speak most hopefully as to his recovery. The appearances of his wound continues to improve while his appetite and digestion strengthen daily.

The legislature adjourns sine die to-morrow morning at daylight, after a four weeks session—shortest since the war.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A letter was received at the treasury to-day from the assistant treasurer of New York saying the resumption of specie payments will be effected January 1, without causing any embarrassment whatever in business circles.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 23.—The heaviest snow storm since 1871 visited this section last night, and is still raging. The snow is three feet on a level, and badly drifted. Trains in all directions generally delayed.

FOREIGN.

LONDON, Dec. 15.—A dispatch to the Daily News reports that the Zakkur Khels, in Khyber valley, escaped to the mountains before the arrival of the British. Their towers and dwellings will be destroyed.

The Times dispatch from Quetta says: The governor of Candahar has determined on resistance. Gens. Stewart and Biddulph have examined the positions of the regiments on the Candahar road of the Khojuk Pass.

The ameer's master of horse, England's greatest enemy, is ill.

ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 18.—The Chinese are continually murdering and pillaging the inhabitants on the Russian frontier.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 18.—The porte learns that the Servians and Montenegrins have concentrated on their respective frontiers. The Turkish commanders have been ordered to watch their movements.

MADRID, Dec. 21.—The minister of Finance to-day read a statement in the Congress that as the Cabinet possessed the confidence of the crown and the chambers, there was no reason for a ministerial crisis.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The correspondent of the Telegraph at Vienna denies that the Roumelian commission has returned to Constantinople.

The Daily Telegraph's Constantinople dispatch says Rouer will be expelled from Turkey, with the consent of the American legation.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—The Times' correspondent at Constantinople says he hears on good Russian authority that as soon as outer is somewhat secured in Eastern Roumelia, the Russians will retire. The definitive treaty is in a fair way of settlement.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Jellalabad says: It is reported that the ameer, Shere Ali, and his family are journeying towards Balkh with their retiring Russian mission. Complete anarchy prevails in the country between Jellalabad and towards Balkh and Cabul. The ameer's flight will probably end the fighting.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—The Post's Berlin dispatch says it is understood that the late Mr. Taylor's generosity has rather interfered with the prospects of his family.

Mississippi Conference.

The Conference met at Hazlehurst, December 18. Bishop Paine was not able to be present. Dr. W. H. Watkins was elected President. Bishop Keener arrived on Friday morning. Conference adjourned Monday night. It was a pleasant session. We reached the ADVOCATE office too late to get in proceedings this week. The following are the

APPOINTMENTS:

VICKSBURG DISTRICT.—W. L. C. Hamlett, P. E. Vicksburg, Chas. B. Galloway; Warren circuit, F. M. Williams; Clover Hill, to be supplied by H. L. Harris; Chotard, H. M. Dubose; Rolling Fork, T. B. Bradford; Mount Olivet, W. W. Hurst; Sun Flower mission, to be supplied by R. S. Gale; Rocky Springs, C. W. Campbell; Cayuga, C. A. Powell; Port Gibson, H. R. Singleton; Fayette, D. P. Bradford; Kingston, J. W. McLearin; Natchez, R. S. Woodward; Fort Gibson College Academy, J. A. B. Jones.

WOODVILLE DISTRICT.—Jas. A. Godfrey, P. E. Woodville, J. P. Drake; Wilkinson circuit, Thos. W. Brown; Jackson and Pipkins Chapel, C. G. Andrews; Isaac D. Wall; Wilmans and Concord, B. F. Jones; Clinton, J. R. Hollomon; East Feliciana, D. B. Robertson; Bayou Sara, C. C. Cecil; East Baton Rouge, R. T. Davis; Livingston mission, to be supplied by J. C. Williams; St. Helena, J. S. Parker; Magnolia, J. W. Sandell; Amite circuit, H. E. Lewis; Buffalo, W. W. Simmons; Centenary College, C. G. Andrews, President, D. M. Rush, and J. D. Wall, Professors.

BROOKHAVEN DISTRICT.—H. M. Linfield, P. E. Brookhaven and Wesson, W. B. Lewis; Beauregard, P. Howard; Hazlehurst, T. S. Weir; Georgetown, A. M. Barrington; Crystal Springs, J. L. Forsyth; Spring Ridge, J. Lush; Bayou Pierre, N. B. Young; Brandywine, B. T. Pierson; Scotland, H. B. Caldwell; Meadville, W. W. Hopper, E. A. Flowers, supernumerary; Summit, J. H. Shelton; Bogue Chitto mission, J. Nicholson; Whitworth Female College, H. E. Johnson, President.

BRANDON DISTRICT.—W. B. Leith, P. E. Brandon, B. Carraline; Fannin, J. D. Hays; Forest, J. J. Smylie; Newton, C. McDonald; Union, J. H. Holland; Jno. A. Vance, supernumerary; Walnut Grove, one to be supplied, J. W. Ellison, supernumerary; Carthage, to be supplied by T. W. Adams; Leaf River, J. H. Evans; Trenton, R. A. Sibley; Rankin, P. A. Johnston; Prairie missions, to be supplied by A. D. Miller.

MERIDIAN DISTRICT.—R. J. Jones, P. E. Meridian, E. H. Mounger; Enterprise, J. T. Heard; Enterprise circuit, George Bancroft; Shubuta, J. M. Weems; Paulding, J. M. Gann; Waynesboro, W. B. Hines; Wayne circuit, D. G. W. Ellis; Marion, J. M. Gilmore; Philadelphia, J. C. Bregan; DeKalb, A. B. Nicholson; Spring Hill, D. A. Little; Shady Grove mission, T. Y. Armstrong; Chickasaha mission, to be supplied by S. Goff; East Mississippi Female College, J. W. Adkisson, President.

SEA SHORE DISTRICT.—J. A. Ellis, P. E. Moss Point, C. F. Thompson; Pearlington, C. W. Calhoun; Sea Shore circuit, Inman W. Cooper; East Pascagoula, R. F. Flowers; West Pascagoula, J. S. Calhoun; Covington, Isaac L. Peeples, George Vickers, supernumerary; Napiersville, D. S. Rayder, J. B. K. Smith, supernumerary; China Grove, D. A. Tilden; Wattington, T. F. Gillespie; Wolf River mission, David Merchant; Mt. Carmel, G. W. Brown; Westville, to be supplied by M. C. Callaway; Enon, Lyman Corley; Ellisville mission, to be supplied by T. J. Miller; Ebenezer mission, E. F. Mallins; Sunday-School Agent, R. B. Downer.

JACKSON DISTRICT.—F. M. Featherstun, P. E. Jackson, W. H. Watkins; Jackson circuit, E. Kendall; Madison, D. C. Langford; Sharon circuit, H. H. Montgomery, and one to be supplied by T. J. Alexander; Camden, W. D. Dominick; Yazoo City, W. E. Ballard; Yazoo circuit, L. R. Featherston; Doner, R. R. Bradley; Silver Creek, W. P. Andrews; Tranquil, A. Day; Brownsville, W. C. Black; Canton station, R. D. Norsworthy; Raymond, B. Jones; Missionary to China, J. W. Lambuth; Special Agent of Publishing House, R. Abbey.

Transferred—Thomas Price to Texas Conference, appointed to Navasota and Millican.

Superannuated—A. B. Stewart, J. G. Jones, W. Spillman, J. B. Higginbotham, L. Pearce, H. Copelagh, W. Finn, E. R. Strickland, D. W. Dilahay, P. H. Napier, James N. Williams.

Appointments of the Texas Conference.

BISHOP J. C. KEENER, D. D., PRESIDING.

GALVESTON DISTRICT.—B. D. Ilsley, P. E. St. John's (Galveston), A. E. Godwyn; St. James (Galveston), G. W. Briggs; Cedar Bayon circuit, S. H. Brown; Clear Creek mission, P. E. Nicholson; Sharon church (Houston), R. T. Nabors; Houston circuit, George H. Pmar; Eagle Lake, C. M. Caldwell; San Felipe, J. H. Chambliss; Richmond, O. T. Hotchkiss; Columbia, E. B. Rodgers; Velasco, S. H. Williams; Matagorda, W. A. Bowen; Editor Texas Christian Advocate, J. G. John.

AUSTIN DISTRICT.—E. S. Smith, P. E. Austin, W. Shapard; Sweet circuit, Carl Chanquist; Austin circuit, W. G. Nelms; Live Oak mission, J. L. Morsey; Cedar Creek, Thos. F. Dimmitt; Bastrop, Weems Wootten; Winchester, D. Morgan; West Point mission, O. Fisher; Elgin circuit, J. W. Whipple, M. S. Hotchkiss, John M. Whipple, sup.; LaGrange, F. L. Allen; Fatonia, R. W. Kennon, C. J. Lane, sup.; Weimar, P. C. Spencer, Wesley Smith, sup.; Columbus station, F. A. McStead; Columbus circuit, A. L. P. Green; Regent of the Southwestern University, E. A. Mood.

CHAPPELL HILL DISTRICT.—T. H. Rogers, P. E. Chappell Hill station, R. Alexander; Travis circuit, R. F. Beasley, Jacob Matthews, sup.; Brenham station, F. T. Mitchell; Hempstead, G. V. Ridley; Bryan station, H. V. Philpott; Bryan circuit, Joseph C. Meeks, Seaborn J. Graves, sup.; Wellborn mission, James A. Duncan; Independence and Burton, Benj. G. Blackwell; Caldwell circuit, J. D. Lemmons; Milton H. Porter, sup.; Elbee circuit, Dan. M. Young; Giddings circuit, P. B. Batfold; Lexington mission, to be supplied, by M. J. Sealy; Cedar Creek mission, to be supplied by A. C. Dalaplaine; President Chappell Hill Female College, E. D. Pitts; Agent Andrew Female College and Mitchell College, F. T. Mitchell.

HUNTSVILLE DISTRICT.—S. C. Lithgow, P. E. Huntsville station, J. E. Meredith; Dodge mission, to be supplied; Willis and Montgomery, J. M. Pugh; Cold Springs, I. Z. T. Morris; Prairie Plains, C. L. Farrington; Madisonville circuit, G. S. Saville; Zion circuit, C. H. Brooks; Anderson circuit, P. P. Rose; Navasota and Millican, Thomas Price; Courtney and Plantersville, James M. Wesson; Spring Creek, J. W. Kelley.

Superannuated—James G. Johnson, Huntsville; W. C. Lewis, Brenham; T. W. Blake, Plantersville; A. Hinkle, Houston; J. H. Davidson, Galveston; J. M. Turner, Houston; N. A. Cravens, Galveston.

Transferred—P. C. Archer, to the North Texas Conference; H. H. Brooks, to the Northwest Texas Conference; W. M. Shockley, to the Florida Conference.

Located at his own request, P. C. Archer.

Proceedings of the Alabama Conference.

From Mobile Daily Register

Fourth Page Proceedings Continued From Last Week.

By permission, Dr. Linus Parker addressed the Conference before taking his departure for home in the afternoon. Making something of a resume of some of the points made in the Bishop's address, he said that the steam press, locomotive and telegraph, and all the appliances of modern improvement had been an engine of great mischief and a curse, as well as a blessing to humanity. He alluded to the old tradition that the Devil invented the art of printing; that our secular newspapers contained much that was baneful and pernicious in their columns in the shape of reading matter and advertisements (just here we could not repress a wish to ask the Rev. Doctor if the Advocate could not also plead guilty to the "soft impeachment"). Alluding to Sabbath breaking, he contended that the dissemination of religious literature in every family was the only preventive and antidote. Dr. Parker made an apt and fitting illustration of the manner in which people professing holiness should treat much of the current literature of the day, by instancing cases of persons who were known to have held the Advocate at the end of tongs during the yellow fever epidemic, for fear that it might contain the spores of germs of the fever. He said that in the midst of that "stupendous cluster of religious literature" issued from the Publishing House at Nashville, that not one-half of the Methodist population of that vicinity patronized it. Many persons belong to the church, attend worship regularly, as well as camp meeting, but do not take and read their religious papers and literature. He proposed to counteract the evil influences of secular literature by the dissemination of wholesome religious matter. The Doctor viewed with a jealous eye the proposition to establish another denominational paper in Alabama. He stated that in an editorial association with the Advocate for nine years, he was more convinced of the folly and futility of establishing a multiplicity of denominational papers; that the effect was to weaken them. He stated that more than one-third of the patronage of the Advocate comes from Alabama, and if a paper is established in this State it will greatly cripple and embarrass his. The Doctor stated in conclusion that he would hereafter publish a full sheet, and aid in every possible way the interests of the Alabama Conference.

As an incentive to the denominational pride in taking their religious papers, Rev. O. R. Bine stated that in the bounds of his district, a Hard Shell Baptist paper was published and taken in every family of that section, without exception.

Dr. McCarty called attention to the fact that the names of those who had not made reports to the Board of Finance would be read out at the close of the meeting.

Dr. Bancroft, Chairman of the Committee on Quarterly Review reported a resolution which was in substance as follows:

"Resolved, That we will give such support to said Quarterly Review as we may be able to do."

On motion of Rev. Mr. Dowling, the resolution was amended to read that "we will give said Quarterly Review our support and encouragement," and adopted.

On motion of M. S. Andrews, the report of the Committee on Memoirs was made the special order for the hour of eleven o'clock, A. M., Monday, (to-morrow.)

Report of the Big Creek Mission was called for—Dr. McCarty called the names of those not making report to Board of Finance (Bishop's collection) as follows: Yellow River mission, Perdido mission, Selma district, Ocmulgee mission, McKinley circuit, Brush Creek circuit, Squinlatchee mission, Mariana district, Geneva circuit, Oak Springs circuit, Cerro Gordo mission.

After singing a doxology the Conference adjourned until nine o'clock A. M., to-morrow, (Monday.)

FIFTH DAY'S PROCEEDINGS, DECEMBER 16.

Conference met according to adjournment on Saturday afternoon, at nine o'clock A. M. on yesterday, in Franklin Street Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Divine worship was conducted by Rev. G. Hawkins. As heretofore, the minutes were read and approved.

Bishop Kavanaugh submitted answers to the following questions, giving the names of persons ordained on yesterday.

Ques. 9. What traveling preachers are ordained deacons? Answer: J. W. Menifee, Jas. K. Powell, E. E. Cowan.

Question 11. What local preachers are ordained deacons? Answer: Christopher Briggs, Luther S. Rice, Dugald H. Carmichael, Andrew J. Cousins, Jesse B. Chapman, Wm. H. Jennings, Thomas C. Woodward.

Question 13. What traveling preachers are ordained elders? Answer: W. H. Weathersby, J. O. Keener, R. S. Holcombe, R. J. Briggs, John P. Sanders, J. S. Rencher, Andrew J. Lamar, Wm. D. Owens.

Communication on Bible Cause was read by T. M. Turner, and moved. Among other things it states that the American Bible Society has employed in Alabama six colporteurs, and paid them salaries aggregating $1,951; 7,783 families have been visited, and 2,510 families have been found destitute of the word of God, 1,457 families and 1,502 individuals have been supplied with the Scriptures by donation. The society has expended in Alabama in money and books during the year about $3,000 and has received donations the sum of $1,500, exhibiting the shameful and astounding fact, that the donations received amount to less than $1 from each Christian church, and less than one cent from each member. The report requested the Bishop to reappoint Rencher and Jones to the work.

Dr. Summers stated that he will engage to furnish Bibles at twenty-five cents and Testaments at five cents.

Dr. Mitchell stated that he had a number of photographs of Bishop Marvin at fifty cents, for the benefit of his widow.

Frank Peterson was appointed to receive money for educational purposes.

The Bishop introduced Rev. Dr. Branner, president of Hiwassee College, Holston Conference, Tenn., who made a few remarks, first paying a complimentary eulogy to his contemporary, Rev. Mr. Prince. He stated that he had been fourteen years in the itinerant work and engaged sixteen years in the teaching of boys; that Hiwassee College belonged to the Holston Conference, and was erected in 1849 by local preachers. Its design was and is to afford opportunities of education to young men of moderate means. The college has had twenty-nine graduates, and eleven of these are ministers. It is located seven miles from the railroad, and there are to be seen no "ragged edges" of town around the college. The college building and farmers are all that is to be seen there. He appealed to the Conference to influence parents to send their boys to the "hill country of Judea" to be educated. Many irreligious young men have matriculated in this college, but none are known to leave without the witness of the Spirit that they are the children of God. He instanced one young man who came there with the seeds of infidelity sown in his heart, but left as hale a converted man.

E. B. Wilkinson, from the Committee on Books and Periodicals, submitted report.

W. P. H. Connerly submitted a minority report relating to the NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE and the establishment of a new paper.

On motion of Dr. Wadsworth, the majority report was divided, and that part of it relating to the Publishing House and that part of it relating to the Publishing House and Nashville Advocate, was adopted.

Rev. W. N. McCarty moved that the minority report be substituted for the majority report, or that portion of it which relates to the publication of a new paper. The majority report provided for the appointment of a committee consisting of Hon. David Clopton, S. H. Dent, O. R. Blue and H. D. Moore, to confer with the North Alabama Conference on the subject of establishing a paper.

The minority report is adverse to the establishment of a paper.

Various speeches were made pro and con.

Rev. J. W. Rush stated that the minority report took precedence by Parliamentary usage in the order of its consideration.

W. W. Powers made a strong speech in favor of the new paper, stating that when the Book Concern at Nashville failed, the Conference had the best editor in the world to take charge of it—alluding to Dr. T. O. Summers. (The doctor took the compliment unblushingly.)

Dr. M. S. Andrews favored waiting until the Publishing House at Nashville failed before thinking of transferring Dr. Summers. He was unalterably favorable to Dr. Parker's NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE. It was mailed at New Orleans on Thursday evening and received at the post-office in Auburn, Ala., on Friday morning following. He was willing to pass a resolution to the effect that the Alabama Conference encourage the North Alabama Conference to unite with it in the support of the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE. His conviction was that we should concentrate in fewer organs, and hoped the Alabama Conference would give Dr. Parker ten thousand subscribers. As far as the advantages of local correspondence was concerned, anonymous scribblers don't generally write anything worth reading. Dr. Parker would get correspondents from London, Paris, Canton and other foreign cities and countries if it were thought that it would make his paper more interesting. The Alabama and North Alabama Conference, numbering about 80,000 members, with Mississippi added, would not give a new paper 1,000 subscribers, and it would be a weakly, sickly concern.

Rev. Mr. Bolling stated in reply that if Dr. Andrews had been making a speech to the General Conference he could say amen. We want a Conference paper. There are three ways in which a paper can be made a success. A capital of $75,000 would enable it to win its own way to success. Another plan of insuring success was to put subscriptions to $1 per annum. The General Conference of Atlanta wanted four papers with sub-scription price $1; and instead of adopting the plan suggested the Nashville Advocate raised its subscription to $2.50.

Another plan of success was local patronage. Are Alabama people going to make as good as the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE? Or people the world take it willingly at $2 per annum and not think it high. He spoke of the success of different county papers in support of his contention. It was local patronage and advertisements that supported these. The only feasible plan was to come to the substratum of the question of our interest and prosperity and sustain our paper. The idea of a few Methodists in Alabama not being able to publish a paper of their own was preposterous and ridiculous. Two thousand subscribers would place it on a substantial basis. He expressed a strong desire to see the Southern University at Greensborough succeed, but even Methodists who cannot sustain a newspaper will never make a success of this college.

A. K. Ramsey said he arose to take a practical and commonsense view of the situation. He looked upon the Nashville Advocate as auxiliary to the Publishing House at Nashville. The establishment of a new paper in Alabama will detract from the Nashville and NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATES of course it would. Few men subscribe for more than one paper. Why not unite in increasing the circulation and prosperity of the papers we now have instead of bringing into life this "sickly infant?" Look at the numerous failures of other denominational papers. No paper with 2,000 subscribers can live and prosper.

Rev. J. W. Rush said that many members of the North Alabama Conference were out when that resolution was passed. The NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE was as good as any paper he ever saw. He considered Dr. Parker a model editor. With all due deference to the ability of Dr. Summers, he could not excel Dr. Parker as editor of our Conference organ. The columns of Dr. Parker's paper were open to any member of the Alabama Conference, and the Conference were much given to scribbling. It would be found a harder matter to direct the editorial conduct of a paper in our midst than one at a distance. Editors had trials and tribulations, worry and vexations in discriminating between communications, in selection of matter, etc.

He did not want to see so much local matter inserted in a paper—it was a bad way of educating children, and of cultivating religious principles. He don't want his children to get ideas of Methodist literature from reading so many local obituaries, communications, advertisements, etc.—don't want the a, b, c's of literature any longer—can get the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE as soon as any paper in Montgomery, Selma, or any other town in the State. A new paper has no hope of success any way unless, like many county papers, it has the outside printed in New York, Boston or Philadelphia, and makes a living out of legal advertisements she didn't like "patent nostrums" any way. It takes money to run a newspaper, and a "heap" of it. He was very timid any way in matters touching the financial schemes of Methodists. We have built more colleges than any other denomination, but as to numbers and endowment others is not a good one in the State. This paper scheme, like other projects, may start off boldly but grow not "beautifully," but distressingly "less by degrees." Central Union is inimical to Methodism, but tragedy fear that this tendency is secretly, silently and subtly insinuating itself into Methodism. The proper plan is to build up here and there strong papers, and protect and defend disciplines of the church protect and preserve its equilibrium.

The majority in favor of the paper resolution in the North Alabama Conference was about two to one when the vote was taken.

Motion was made that the report lay on the table until the report of the Committee on Memoirs, which was made the special order for eleven o'clock, prevailed.

The Bishop exhorted the Conference to silence, gravity and respect while the memoirs were being read.

Eulogies upon the life and character of B. B. Ross, deceased, were pronounced by Drs. A. S. Andrews, M. S. Andrews, R. B. Crawford, Wadsworth and others.

This deceased minister is represented as a remarkably sweet spirited man. These addresses were pathetic and impressive, but want of space will prevent an extended notice of them. Dr. Wadsworth stated that he graduated with distinction under him, and delivered the valedictory address at LaGrange College in 1847. He represented him as a remarkably studious, exemplary and dutiful boy at school; alluded to many interesting incidents in his life, and his ministrations at Sea-Shore Camp Meeting.

Wm. Otis stated that he had left a hallowed impression in his household, and he felt that he was a better man for having been visited by B. B. Ross, and that the Lord had blessed him through the presence of B. B. Ross, as He did Pharaoh for Joseph's sake.

The epistle of Charles Sumner Hart was also read, and beautiful and touching remarks made by Drs. M. S. Andrews, R. B. Crawford, W. H. Washburn, Rev. Mr. Dowling, S. A. Pelley and T. F. Mangum. We regret that we cannot give extended Continued on Fifth Page.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1878.

THE THREE KINGS.

Three Kings came riding from far away,
Melchior and Gaspar and Balthasar;
Three Wise Men out of the East were they,
And they had travelled by night and day,
And followed the star that rose in the night,
For these were Wise Men and knew aright
The sign that should herald the coming of light.

The star was set in the heavens high,
Twelve times the sun had risen and set,
Then, over the roofs of Bethlehem town,
Its rays in a single point came down,
And rested on Joseph's lowly door,
Where Mary sat with the babe she bore
Upon her knees, on the earthen floor.

The star was not seen by the sinful host
Of Herod the King, in his palace proud,
But the Three Kings came from afar to see
The Child who was born King of Galilee,
And they brought him offerings rich and rare,
Three chests of gold with golden keys,
Three jars of myrrh and frankincense,
Three caskets that held a store of treasure
Of pearls and opals and amethysts,
Of chrysolite and cinnamon sticks,
Of onyx and sapphire and beryl stone,
Of jasper and sardius and chrysoprase,
Of sardonyx and topaz and chalcedony,
Three golden cups set with emeralds green,
Three vases of crimson silk with rows
Of milk-white pearls and ruby blood drops,
Three turbans of cloth-of-gold from Ind,
And the Three Kings rode into the West,
Through the dark night and the storm and mist,
And the Star led on to the Babe at rest.

And when they came to the sacred place
Where Mary sat with the Child on her knee,
They paused in the door with deep amaze,
Then fell on their faces before the Babe,
And worshipped him, and laid at his feet
Their offerings rich from the spicy East,
And Mary, she wondered, but gave no sign
That she knew the Babe was a King divine;
Nor did the Babe seem to know nor care
For the shining gifts that were gathered there.

And when the Three Kings rose from their knees,
They looked in the face of the Babe again,
But he smiled as he lay on his mother's breast,
For he thought of his home in Nazareth,
And the sports he would have with the other boys
When he played at the games of Galilee,
And how he would help his father at work
In the carpenter shop at the side of the hill,
And never a thought had he of the crown
Which waited his coming in Glory Town,
Nor of how he should reign as King of the Jews.

Then the Three Kings rode out from the city gate,
With a clatter of hoofs in proud array;
But they went not back to Herod the Great,
For they knew his malice and feared his hate,
And returned to their homes by another way.

H. W. Longfellow in St. Nicholas.

Centenary College.

The college commenced its present session at the established time—first Monday in October. For a few weeks the school was quite small, the patronage being chiefly local, on account of impediments connected with the late epidemic. Since the abatement of yellow fever, and consequent abolition of quarantine, there have been successive accessions to our number from points more or less distant. Within the last ten days several have come in, and most of them are new students. Others are expected between this and Christmas. The greater part, however, of those who contemplate coming this session, will probably defer till the Christmas holidays are over. From letters of inquiry and information otherwise obtained, we have good reason to expect that our number, by the close of the first term, will approximate, if not equal, that of last session.

Our school is already sufficiently large to be very interesting. The young men in attendance seem to appreciate the advantages they enjoy, and are taking hold with an earnestness and assiduity highly creditable to themselves and gratifying to the faculty. Would that we had five times the number of such students as are now with us! It would both cheer our hearts and strengthen our energies. Even with our comparative paucity we are not discouraged. As a faculty, we meet once a week, and part of the time during each meeting is spent in earnest prayer. We endeavor, meekly and patiently, to submit all the interests of the college, educational, moral and financial, to the care of Him whose disposing providence is over all men and all things.

But why should we not ardently and earnestly pray for the restoration of prosperity to this Institution, in the particulars of public favor, denominational efforts in its behalf, and, in consequence, a patronage sufficiently liberal to put it on a self-sustaining basis? In its character as a literary institution it stands without a peer in the hearts of this vast southwestern country. It carries with it the prestige of long and popular standing, and points to a galaxy of alumni—its own sons—unequaled in number and unsurpassed in talent and professional rank by those of any other college in the United States. It is exempt from proximity to any of our church schools of similar grade. It is, moreover, equipped at present with the requisite number of teachers competent to fill the places they occupy, and also with an apparatus, chemical, philosophical, sufficiently complete to give experimental instruction on all subjects which demand such elucidation. We claim that Centenary College, in its present organization, offers advantages for literary, scientific and commercial education, equal to those of any other school in the Southwest.

The moral and religious impress necessarily received by students at this college is, by no means, to be overlooked, or lightly esteemed by those who have sons to educate, and who are casting round to make choice of a safe place for them. The selection of a school in this respect is a matter of great movement, and one that involves grave responsibility. Students are frequently sent away, almost from beneath the shadow of our home institutions, to schools in other States, that they may receive the supposed superior advantages of great distance and protracted absence from home, and a more vigorous and healthful climate; and this is often done without regard to moral and religious surroundings. These two, with some others, are frequently adduced as sufficient motives for sending boys off to be educated. With reference to the first alleged advantage, absence and distance from home, we are sorry to say that it too often happens that there is a sad verification of what has been remarked by some one: "The further a boy gets from home the nearer he is to ruin." As to the second advantage, the result of a different climate, it is more ideal than real; and, besides, it is preposterous to affirm that a boy born in Louisiana or Mississippi, and brought up there to incipient manhood, with vigorous body and active mind, cannot, in consequence of the enervating influence of his native clime, be so readily and so thoroughly educated there as elsewhere.

Our church in Jackson, La., is large and influential, and it embodies holy men and women, whose prayerful sympathies are ever enlisted in the interest of the students. The weekly prayer meeting, class meeting, Sunday-school, and ministry of the word, are the strong and efficient guardians of the moral and religious life of the students.

We cannot close this article without making an appeal to the friends of this college. Could not much more be done than has been done, or is doing now, to establish this Institution more firmly? Let our trustees do more, by speaking more for Centenary, and commending it to the favor of young men who need education, and to parents who have sons that ought to be in college. Oh, that the Methodist Church of the Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences were, as one grand unity, fully committed to this school, and determined to make it successful and prosperous! Were this only true, what a mighty revolution it would undergo within the next five years! It would mount up with wings; it would walk and not faint, and run and not be weary.

MEMBER OF FACULTY.

JACKSON, LA., Dec. 7, 1878.

About the Millennium.

MR. EDITOR: Will you allow a few additional observations to your timely and excellent remarks on Pre-Millennium, in your paper of December 5? A millennium—some millennium—is so frequently mentioned in connection with Christianity that many seem to look upon it as a doctrine of religion. We must believe in a millennium of some sort, and various questions arise as to pre or post millennium, etc.

The late so-called "Prophetic Conference," held in New York the last week in October last, among other vagaries and superstitions, resolved that the prophetic Scriptures respecting "the coming of Christ will be literally fulfilled in his visible, bodily return to this earth in like manner as he went up into heaven," etc. This is based on the asserted historic fact that his first coming was a literal fulfillment of prophesy.

It may be remembered by some that this whole subject was pretty thoroughly elaborated in Dilucidity some years ago. The views therein expressed received a plenary endorsement from both the secular and religious press, without a dissenting view, so far as I have seen, except from Millevite and New Jerusalem papers. These arguments of Dilucidity, pretty radically expressed, I confess, seem likely to stand as the judgment of both science and religion. They utterly deny any sort of literal millennium pre or post, or any literal second coming. I suggest these arguments to any one whose faith or curiosity may be troubled with any millennium of any sort, literal or figurative, other than a continued spread and deepening of Christianity, until it shall cover the earth as the water covers the sea.

I prefer the Christian religion to any millennial religion. I believe the agencies now on foot, emanating from the cross, the humiliation, the death, and the resurrection, are the best, I am afraid of new accidents. Moreover, I do not want them, be they what they may. The professor of Christianity, under present agencies, has a full guarantee of all the wealth and advantages of every kind of all the influence of divine possession. What more could he have?

They tell us there must be a literal second coming, because there was a literal first coming. But I deny the literal first coming as well as the second. Neither nature nor revelation knows of any literal first coming. There was literally never any coming or going or any absence of Christ. He never came here, nor never went away. He was no more here in the days of Pontius Pilate than in those of Moses or now. He appeared incarnate, but did not come or go. Come and go are highly figurative expressions, when applied to Christ. Literal indeed!

Moreover, He was never so feeble, so far as concerns contact with men or protection of the church, and of right, as in the days of His appearance. Second adventists expect Him to return here again, having gone away and left us, in order that His power may be made known, and be felt among His enemies; but if His kingdom was not of or pertained to the affairs of this world, if this was the kind of power He wielded—muscular, civil, regal, scepter-power—He possessed it but feebly, for men regarded it but slightly. It was put into the market and sold for thirty dollars! And might it not be again. A petty, ignorant, subaltern king was His conquerer, and might be again. I do not like this thousand-year religion in any of its aspects. His second trial might be more brilliant. He might overrule the other civil rulers. Hays, Victoria, William, and the other rulers, might surrender. It is all to be literal and bodily you know, but what of it? How does Christianity come that way?

We had better work the existing agencies. They have not failed, nor are they likely to. Christianity has not ceased to improve since the days of Abel. It is improving now; existing agencies are sufficient. Thousand-year jumps and changes, and new beginnings, are unreliable, unnatural, unreasonable and unscriptural. They tend to draw off the mind from the methods of salvation set forth under the gospel, and are illusive and injurious. We want a triumph of Christianity, but no millennium.

R. AUBEY.

District Conference.

MR. EDITOR: I am impressed with the necessity, in some way, of securing more permanency to our District Conferences from the lay element.

There is a laudable disposition on the part of the laity to be sent as a delegate to this Conference; the consequence is that often not more than one or two delegates were members of the Conference before, and they are almost wholly unqualified to participate in the business. This, in our district, is a growing evil. Now, I suggest that the district stewards be made ex-officio members of the District Conference, like the local preachers. As a rule, they are selected by the Quarterly Conference for their zeal and public spirit in church matters. They could always have a meeting of their board at that time, and they would become more efficient as officers of the church. As a general rule, they hold their position during good behavior, and in this way a valuable set of men would be secured to transact the business of the church in the District Conferences.

LAYMAN.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE, Dec. 19, 1878.

Tyndall on the Spread of Disease.

Prof. Tyndall occupied the chair a few weeks ago in London, at a lecture of Dr. Corfield's, on "Infectious Disease." After the lecture he remarked that it had been plainly proved that the contagion of disease consists of definite particles, sometimes floating in gas, or in the air, or in the liquid which we drink; and that like organic seeds in the soil, they multiply themselves indefinitely in suitable media, the great probability being that these disease-producing particles are living things. A close study of the subject extending now over two years, enabled him to agree entirely with the lecturer as to the parallelism between the phenomena of these disease poisons; and the phenomena of ordinary putrefaction. The case of flies communicating diseases from one person to another is exactly paralleled by phenomena in putrefaction. Thus he had chopped up a beefsteak, steeped it in water, raised the temperature a little above the temperature of the blood, poured off the water, filtered it, and got a perfectly clear liquid; but that liquid placed in a bottle, and exposed to the air, began to get more and more turbid, and that turbid liquid, under the microscope, was soon found to be swarming with living organisms. By heating this perfectly clear beef tea it would be sterilized, everything being killed which was capable of producing those little organisms which produced the turbidity; and by keeping it perfectly stopped from the air, and from coming in contact with any floating particles, it might be preserved for years. He had now some sterilized beef tea of this sort, which had been preserved for eighteen months in a state of perfect transparency; but if a fly dipped its foot into an adjacent vessel containing some of the turbid fluid, and then into the transparent liquid, that contact would be sufficient to infect the sterilized fluid—just as a surgeon dipped the point of a lancet into vaccine lymph to vaccinate—and in forty-eight hours the clear liquid would swarm with these living organisms. In this, as in the case of contagious disease, there is a period of incubation.

In proof that the contagion of these communicable diseases is not gaseous or liquid, but solid particles, he described an experiment he had made only a few weeks since. Eighteen months since he had a place prepared from which all floating particles of dust were removed, and in it he placed a number of vessels containing animal and vegetable refuse, and also two or three vessels containing perfectly clear beef tea and mutton broth, as transparent as water, in which the infective particles had been killed by heat. Although all these vessels had stood during that time side by side, there had been no communication of contagion from one to the other; the beef tea and mutton broth remaining as transparent as when put in, though the other vessels emitted the most noisome stench; but if a bubble was caused in one of the putrefying masses by blowing into it, and that rose to the surface and burst, and the spray of the bubble was allowed to fall on the transparent beef tea or mutton broth, in forty-eight hours they became as bad as their neighbors. It is not, therefore, sewer gas that is the cause of the mischief, but the particles which are driven up and scattered by the sewer gas.

Referring to another point on which the lecturer had insisted—that there was no power of spontaneous generation of the germs or contagion of disease—Prof. Tyndall said that, though at present great names were opposed to that view, he would venture to predict that ten years hence this would not be the case. With regard to the generation of disease poisons in decomposing animal matter, he said that for the last twenty-one years he had been in the habit of visiting the upper Alpine valleys where, among the Swiss chalets, there is the most abominable decomposition going on from day to day, and exceedingly bad smells; but there these contagious diseases are entirely unknown. If, however, a person suffering from typhoid fever were transported there, it would spread like wild fire from this infected focus, and the disease would pass through the entire population. It might be assumed, therefore, that each of these special diseases requires its special germ or seed for its production, just as we require a grape seed to produce a vine. These diseases "breed true," for we never find the virus of small-pox producing typhoid, or vice versa.

The subject is one of the most important which can engage the attention of the scientific physician; but in applying to daily practice the question of infectious diseases the physician must not stand alone—he ought to be aided by the sympathy of an enlightened public. If anything is to come in the way of really great sanitary improvement, it will be from the people themselves. Hence it is of primary importance that they should be properly instructed.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

Bismarck on Religion.

In the very interesting extracts from Dr. Bogli's copious diary of Prince Bismarck's utterances, forwarded by the Berlin correspondent of the London Times, occurs the following, touching on the Prince's religious belief:

"I cannot conceive how a man can live without a belief in a revelation in a God who orders all things for the best, in a Supreme Judge from whom there is no appeal, and in a future life. If I were not a Christian I should not remain at my post for a single hour. If I did not rely on the Almighty I should not put my trust in princes. I have enough to live on, and am sufficiently genteel not to disquiet myself about the Chancellor affair. Why should I go on working indefatigably, incurring trouble and annoyance, unless convinced that God has ordained me to fulfill these duties? If I were not persuaded that this German nation of ours, in the divinely appointed order of things, is destined to be something great and good, I should throw up the diplomatic profession this very moment. Orders and titles I must have no attraction. The firmness I have shown in combating all manner of absurdities for ten years past is solely derived from faith. Take away my faith and you destroy my patriotism. But for my strict and literal belief in the truths of Christianity, but for my acceptance of the miraculous groundwork of religion, you would not have lived to see the sort of Chancellor I am. Find me a successor as firm a believer as myself, and I will resign at once. But I live in a generation of pagans. I have no desire to make proselytes, but am constrained to confess my faith. If there is among us any self-denial and devotion to King and country, it is a remnant of religious belief unconsciously mingling to our people from the days of their sires. For my own part I prefer a rural life to any other. Rob me of the faith that unites me to God, and I return to Varzin, to devote myself industriously to the production of rye and oats.

OBITUARIES.

Correspondents, please write names and dates very distinctly. We follow copy in proper names.

Obituary notices should be forwarded promptly and immediately. Give only points of general interest, such as will help the living. Details of funeral services, and such phrases as 'mourn their loss' etc. are not edifying. Verses, either original or select, not admissible in this department. Give the locality distinctly and in full. In the case of infants only a simple announcement of the death, with names and dates, will be published.

☞ All obituaries received are published as soon as convenient. If, after a reasonable time, any such communication fail to appear, let a duplicate be sent instead of a complaint.

NANNIE LEASORA, daughter of Merrell and Saleta A. Yinonk, was born February 4, 1862, and died October 15, 1878. Her days were few and filled with affliction, nearly all of the latter summers of her life were a suffering. For six weeks previous to her death the suffering was great; yet she bore it with the patience and fortitude of a grown person.

Nannie was a child of more than ordinary mind. Her ways and manners always impressed one more of her age than she could. She talked freely of dying, and said she would gain peace from all her sufferings. Her mother had professed in her bright and joyful days for almost three years.

JNO. A. MILLER.

MRS. AMALINE C. WATKINS, daughter of Nathaniel and Lydia Kinnison, was born in Franklin county, Mississippi, February 17, 1822, and was united in marriage to A. H. Watkins, of Jefferson county, Miss., April 5, 1841. She was the mother of ten children, seven of whom survive her. These are all grown and members of the Methodist Church. She and her husband united with the church in 1855 at Cane Ridge, in Jefferson county, Miss. For more than five years Mrs. Watkins had been a child of affliction; during this period her sufferings at times were great, but she endured them with Christian patience, in hope of a blissful immortality.

Her illness was of short duration, and her death took her friends by surprise. After thirty hours of great suffering she breathed her last, October 16, 1878. In this last illness she praised God for His goodness, expressed unwavering faith in her Saviour, and a full hope of Heaven; prayed for her husband, children and friends, and said: "All is peace." Her last words that could be understood were: "Meet me in Heaven." May God's blessing be upon the bereaved family.

W. B. LEWIS.

DIED, in Yazoo City, Mississippi, October 10, 1878, Mrs. Charlotte P., wife of George W. Parker, Esq. She was the daughter of Col. W. W. and H. E. Neely, of Warren county, Miss. She was born in Warren county, Miss., September 21, 1838, and was married to Bro. George W. Parker August 5, 1858. Sister Parker was a lady of more than ordinary intelligence and cultivation, possessing great sweetness of disposition, refinement and gentleness of manner. She was uniformly cheerful, always meeting her friends with a smile of welcome, and with expressions of interest.

She had a large circle of friends who were warmly attached to her. In youth she was beautiful and attractive. As wife and mother, as a member of the social circle, she graced and dignified society in which she moved. For a number of years she was a member of the Presbyterian Church, but about three years before her death she changed her church relations and united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The writer never learned for reasons for the change, but at that time, however, her parents were Methodists, and we may say she was raised in the Methodist church, which she adorned. The writer was her pastor for two months previous to her death, and though during all that time she was very ill, and many of the time suffering greatly, she bore her suffering with fortitude, patience and prayer. She was entitled to her bed as a Methodist certificate.

It was our privilege to visit and pray with her often during that time, and we have never known a more triumphant death. Her mind was perfectly composed and clear. She conversed with her friends on the subject nearest to them, and to her own, she seemed impressed with the necessity of holiness as a preparation for heaven, and at the same time so overwhelmed with a sense of her own sinfulness in the sight of God, that she was prone to relinquish the hope, and feel gloomy forebodings for the future. But almost despaired of salvation. She felt that there was a depth of religious experience she had not sounded, a purity of heart she did not obtain, and on this she struggled.

The victory was gained. She was enabled to triumph. There was given to her a faith so strong, an assurance so sweet and a peace so serene, that it was a surprise even to herself. About a week before she died she told me she could not pray as she had done before, but she had lost the spirit of fear that had so tormented her. Then again, as we were gathered around her in the last hours of her life, she referred to this experience, and reminded me of what she had told me; and so had not obtained that rapturous experience which she had pictured to herself as desirable, but had committed it all to the Lord, and instead had a calm, trustful, waiting experience which was entirely satisfactory, and as God knew best what to give her, she left it all with Him.

She was interrogated by her weeping husband, whether she was afraid to die; she said: "No, no! I have a Friend at the beautiful gate watching and waiting for me."

She then said to her husband that if ever a woman had a good husband, she had been blessed with one, and that it was hard to part with him and her little daughter, but God knew best; and then, to sister Brother Parker, she said: "It won't be long we will be separated; we'll meet again in heaven." She then said to all in the room, I make a special request of you all that you watch over Sallie's daughter as though she was yours, encourage her in all that is right and warn her against all that is wrong. In this connection she made an appeal to her physician, who was sitting near, "I want you to care for her, as you have been so kind to me." She requested him to examine her pulse, he did so and said, "It is getting weaker." She said: "Thank the Lord." When in answer to the question as to whether she should live, at night, it was then four o'clock, P. M., she was assured she could not, she said she was glad of it. She was then quiet for a few moments and asked me to sing the "Beautiful River," and while the song was being sung she joined in with all her strength, and seemed full of rapture at the words, "Under the throne of God." When the song was finished and I was looking for another one to sing, I became aware that a change was passing her labored breathing had ceased, and as the song and in looking at her I beheld a scene I shall never forget. Her head had fallen back on the arm of her husband, her countenance had assumed a look of holy surprise, as though something was being revealed to her that was astonishing, and though her eyes which were directed to the window had caught some heavenly vision, and then her features lost their pained expression, and settled into a look of heavenly recognition, which was noticed by more than one in the room, and her daughter remarked: "She has seen Papa."

H. H. P.

DIED, at the Parsonage in Bayou Pierre, Miss., November 21, 1878, of fever, T. C. and M. E. Bradley, aged 3 years and two months.

Jesus loved and took her,
You will find her in the

MRS. MARY A. BRAUD, wife of F. D. Braud, and daughter of Wm. Lee, deceased, departed this life on the 21st of November, 1878, at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Letitia Irwin, in East Feliciana, La., in the [illegible] year of her age.

She professed religion at the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, when she lived a consistent member of it until death, about seven years. She died on the ninth of October, 1874, leaving a beloved companion, two children and a numerous circle of friends to mourn her loss. She is [illegible] eternal gain. She died [illegible] of a living faith, praising God and [illegible] forever, singing the sweet song of Moses and the Lamb.

Victorious over her last enemy, she took her flight to heaven. She had for the six last years of her pilgrimage been afflicted with severe affection of the heart, which she bore with Christian fortitude, never murmuring or complaining, never a murmur escaped her lips. She was not afraid to die, for she knew the will of God concerning her was to suffer it. She knew that Jesus would guide her safely through death's dark valley, and had no doubts or fears.

Peace, joy and comfort [illegible] passing through the dark valley of death.

She is only one [illegible] lives and friends after her [illegible] told her husband and all her [illegible] good-by, that she had gone [illegible] they must meet her there.

"This fair gentle spirit has gone to her own native heaven, to mingle with the washed millions who worship before the throne of God.

MRS. FRANCES WATKINS was the daughter of John and Mary [illegible] born in Wilkinson county, Miss., [illegible] and died in Attala county, Miss., [illegible] November 17, 1878, aged [illegible] years and [illegible] months. She professed religion at the age of [illegible] years, and joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, under the ministry of [illegible], of blessed memory. [illegible] she never regretted.

Married December 2, [illegible], to Rev. [illegible] of Adams county, Miss., [illegible] death to discharge the duties of a wife and mother as the best of her ability. Nine children were born to them, [illegible] died in infancy. One was taken [illegible] years old. Eight [illegible] husband with [illegible] children to bless.

Sister Hastings [illegible] close study and [illegible] with Christ and his graces, [illegible] illustrate the [illegible] of life. A painful illness of several years, [illegible] lingering pulmonary complaint, [illegible] the peaceful resting [illegible] to the soul that on Jesus [illegible] repose." For some years prior [illegible] she had a home in the [illegible] country. For more than a year [illegible] confined to her house and bed, [illegible] learned her fortitude, quietly waiting [illegible] full salvation. Her pastor [illegible] a visit to her chamber of affliction [illegible] from the better land.

NEMROD STEWART was born in Mecklenburg district, South Carolina, April 15, 1792; joined the Methodist Church in his native district, lived and died a faithful member of the same. He removed to the State of Mississippi, Lowndes county, in the year 1820, and became more than forty years a member of the same church in Butler county, where he lived until the seventeenth of November, when the blessed Master whom he had so long served in the gospel and sorrow saw fit by letting his sufferings to close, and fix his home where there are no more [illegible] unknown. The house was [illegible] truthfully claimed the prospective home, where he never failed to receive a warm and hearty reception.

His heart was ever responsive to calls made in behalf of God's cause and the poor. I doubt if a single individual of his acquaintance could be found whose heart would not grow sad on hearing that Father Nemrod was no more.

His wife had many years ago preceded him to the better land. His children, two [illegible] number are left to enjoy the legacy of [illegible] Christian manhood.

The Christian Advocate.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1878.

THE CHRISTMAS CHIMES.

O all the bells, in your dusky tower,
Ring out to greet this gladsome hour;
Ring out, and tell the wondering earth
The story of its Saviour's birth!
And let your lofty chorus rise
In echoes to the star-light skies—
Glory to God in highest heaven,
Peace and good will to man be given.

O bells of yore, your merry chimes
Bring back to me far distant times!
And cheery forms I lost of yore,
Are summoned back to earth once more.
And once again the cherished throng
Join their bright voices with your song—
Glory to God in highest heaven,
Peace and good will to men be given.

Your grand and God-like legend tell
To every mart and leaflet dell;
Of truth and hope and beauty rare
Want and woe and mine despair.
Of every hatched roof and palace wall
The builder of your mighty hall—
Glory to God in highest heaven,
Peace and good will to men be given.

Where greed of gold and lust of power
Where pride of birth and thirst of honor
Where all the evils of this earth
Corrupting peasant, peer and king,
Where hate where love might be
And know your hallowed strain
Glory to God in highest heaven,
Peace and good will to man be given.

Where ancient creeds are rent by storm,
Where simple faith is lost in form,
Where jealousy and party strife
Cankers the noblest aims of life,
Where hate where love might be
And know your hallowed strain
Glory to God in highest heaven,
Peace and good will to man be given.

O bells, O your merry chimes
Bring back to me far distant times!
And cheery forms I lost of yore,
Are summoned back to earth once more.
And once again the cherished throng
Join their bright voices with your song—
Glory to God in highest heaven,
Peace and good will to men be given.

A Plea for the Pratt.

BY PROF. JOHN A. HAYES.

When a country pedagogue announced that his curriculum included "the three Rs—Readin, Ritin and Rithmetic," he gave as clear a view as though he had said so that each other of the fundamentals we shall contemplated by his subscribers, when year after year our many colleges turn out their educated young people, who, the most of them are well up in their Rs as well as in various other more ornamental branches, it is soon forced upon an observer's belief that there is a screw loose somewhere. Such things as spelling, pronunciation, grammar and their adjuncts are notoriously. The deficiency in these branches is the more forcible because it is emphasized every day by the conditions relations of life, in conversation or letter writing. These branches of education form the implements with which the whole world communicates with its neighbor, and any shortcoming is patent. And deficiency in many of the more higher departments of collegiate knowledge may be kept from the public, and while a man may be a poor reader, a poor thinker, and a stranger to the realms of science and of philosophy, he may still acquit himself creditably in daily life without either and than his dictionary, grammar and pen practice. But one is impressed strongly with the incongruity, when young men and ladies of average intelligence express opinions about Virgil or Demosthenes, Chaucer or Shakespeare, Beethoven or Schubert, in sentences that ungrammatical could parse, and write theses on the comparative merits of Kant or Hegel or Fichte in a language that the merit of being at least phonetic spelled with an heroic abnegation of all points.

Not long since we looked on at the organization of a Young Men's Christian Association in a large city. The lecture-room of one of the churches was filled with men, and young, representing the intelligence of the town. A constitution was being drafted by the secretary at the dictation of the assembly. When he was about to write the expression "singing, prayer and reading of the Scriptures," the appointed chairman one of the leading citizens of the place—to which of the word "prayer" should be followed by a comma, although not, it could not say why. The matter was discussed by many, some for, some against the coming. But no reason could be given by any one for the faith that was in him, until an unassuming school-teacher remarked that the comma after "singing," marked an ellipsis of the word "and," and therefore would be superfluous after "prayer."

In other directions, the practical is overlaid by the theoretical in our ordinary education. The book of synonyms is as much a stranger to our colloquies as the spelling or the grammar, and our young misses, fresh from their graduating essays, in which the whole duty of woman is laid down with charming substitution of dreams for experience, will supply the deficiency with a few lustrous, and make "mine" and "world" do duty for all adjectives. Verily we recall a clergyman of no mean standing who described a short biographical sketch as a monograph." A year or two since we were allowed to inspect the examination papers of a higher class in a high school, and were gratified with the scientific accuracy shown in the discussion of mathematical problems and Latin stems. These young people could scan Horace, or dissect a verb into a half dozen discrete primitives, or give the eleventh proposition of the fourth book from Legendre, ipso facto. Yet, when the papers on General History were reached, it was found that the fact in the whole course of ancient history that had made the deepest impression, and was given most in essay by nine-tenth of the class was, that in Sybaris there was an edict against the crowing of cocks! Any idea of proportion was entirely foreign to those minds. Geography is as much a terra incognito as history. We remember some years ago attending a sophomore recitation in general history, and noting that, in a class of nearly twenty young men, hardly one had even a vague idea where Damascus lay on the map of Europe. Such a state of affairs would not be found in this year of grace, 1878, but the illustration is only one of many.

Turning the leaves of the Princeton Review, we noted an article by a distinguished divine and profound thinker. Almost at the outset our eye was caught by the following sentence, beginning a new paragraph and new train of ideas: "In fact, according to the mediæval system, this problem, in the terms of its statement, can have no existence, since they regard justification as a real subjective change of moral character, and since they hold that full remission of the penalty of sin and complete acceptance into divine favor are the result of subsequent penitential expiations and meritorious acts of obedience." Query: Who are they? There is no possible antecedent.

There is no more abused member of the English language than the pronoun.

The Interior of March 7 furnishes us an illustration. Mr. Thackeray was requested to write in a young lady's album. He found in the book the following:

[illegible]

Thackeray wrote underneath:

[illegible]

So far so good, but Mr. Thackeray might have inquired who they were and what it was.

We cannot better illustrate the prevailing manner of throwing clauses together with more force than rhetoric, than by giving a short extract from the Boston Post:

WITNESS AS USUAL.—A child was run over by a wagon three years old, and cross-eyed, with pantalets on, and never spoke afterward.

"As the twig is bent the tree is inclined." If we do not give the young folks a solid grounding in the basis of all decent education at the time when the mind is being fitted out as well as formed, we must expect to see them step up when they become D. D.'s and leaders of society. If along with the admirable drill of the more recent system of education, we can get in more of the material which gives pay to the drill, and so give metal in the blade as well as temper in the edge, we shall make our education more symmetrical, and the ornamental and practical will be found to be identical.—Interior.

Asia Minor.

It is not at all necessary to go to the old and familiar fields of Roman and Grecian civilization for illustrations of the powerlessness of art, to conserve and to develop a national life. Rome and Athens went to sleep with all the marvels of their art around them, and the eye of Turkey, prepared for vision by the survey of other fields than those of art, greets those marvels with the dreamy indifference they have had through long centuries. We have only to turn to the living China and Japan to see how little art can do toward civilization, and how insignificant an element it is in civilizations. Japan, in many matters of art, can teach the world, and the same may be said of China. We will take the familiar matter of decorating porcelain. There is no decoration of porcelain in Europe that can compare for a moment with the best of that executed in China and Japan. English decoration is crude and coarse, and French is feeble and of even tonal, compared with that. Even porcelain has been shunned into poverty and commonplaceness by the cheap and altogether original conflagrations of color that illustrate the best Oriental art. The Japanese, especially, seem to have learned everything there is to be known about color, so far as it relates to the familiar varieties of decoration, and the English attempts to imitate their work are equally sad and laughable. We mean simply to assert that, in every department of art to which they have specially turned their attention, they have surpassed the civilized world.

And what does all this prove? What but that art may be born of a people very imperfectly civilized? What but that it is a very thin and unfruitful diet for any person or any people to live upon? China and Japan are trying to learn everything else of us. They know little or nothing of science; they had no machinery; their literature was childish; they were bound up in their own self-conceit and their own exclusive policy, and the word progress was an unknown word in both those vast realms, until daylight shone in upon them from Europe and America. Now they are sending their boys to us to learn what they find will be vastly for their advantage to know.

We trust that our people in the new interest that has been awakened in all matters relating to art, will be very moderate in their expectations of results. Art is an excellent servant, and a very poor master. When a man is supremely absorbed in it—when he has no thought for anything else—he is degraded by it. It is simply not the supreme thing, and cannot be treated as such without damage. It is most likely that, as China and Japan go more knowledge and a better hold of the practically productive arts, and of new social and political ideas, the arts that now distinguish them will decay. The new interest in art here is all right, and very much to be encouraged; only it does not come anywhere near being the principal thing, and cannot be treated as such, for any length of time, by any man or woman, without incurring mental and spiritual poverty.—Scribner.

The Sawyer-Man Electric Lamp.

The Scientific American of this week contains an illustrated description in detail of the "Sawyer-Man Electric Lamp," which appears to remove some, if not all, of the obstacles to the use of electricity in place of gas for general purposes of illumination. The lamp itself is about the size and shape of an Argand burner with its shade, but the shade of the Sawyer-Man light is a bell glass. The source of light is a small pencil of carbon, which is placed under this shade and near the top, the carbon point being made incandescent by the electrical current passing through it and conducted there by a rather intricate arrangement of wires, which, however, are fixed, and do not require to be again changed or adjusted in any way. A "switch" has been devised to control the amount of current passing through the carbon, and at the same time to maintain a uniform resistance in the sub-circuit. This, it is claimed, allows the division of the current one of the most essential features of the invention. The bell glass or shade in which the pencil of carbon is contained is filled with pure nitrogen and hermetically-sealed, so that the carbon pencil is not consumed nor chemically attacked, but remains a permanent fixture, to be lighted whenever the current of electricity is turned on. The intensity of the light is regulated by the switch, the carbon being made a dull red, a bright red, or a glowing white light, at will. The inventions of Messrs. Sawyer and Man also include a meter for recording the number of lights and time of their burning—not the amount of electricity furnished—and systems of main and branch circuits, with shunts devised to secure uniform resistance. One of the objections to the electric light on the score of cost has been the great loss which results from a division of the current, but Mr. Sawyer states that the illuminating power of a carbon increases with vastly greater rapidity than the temperature, so that when the light is well on a very slight increase in the current increases the light enormously. The question of the economy of the light furnished by this lamp can be demonstrated only by a protracted test on a large scale. Compared with the cost of gas in New York, it is estimated that the electric light would cost only one-fortieth as much, which leaves a large margin for errors of calculation.—Patent Ledger.

Beyond the Seas.

The recent fall of the Turkish ministry means troublous times to Turkey in the endeavor to recover from the disasters of the war. There is still a great deal of sparring between her and Greece as to the boundaries laid down at the Berlin Congress for the new frontier. Turkey dies hard, and persistently holds on to every foot of ground that she can possibly retain. It seems that the diplomatic sages of the Congress, in rectifying the Grecian frontier made a map whose lines have no natural boundaries, so that the new relations will be a cause of continual friction between the two nations. Turkey, therefore, wishes to negotiate with Greece, while the latter insists on the frontier of the Congress, before it. Better, for Grecian interests. The most interesting political event that has occurred in Turkey for some time is the resignation of Midhat Pacha, the famous liberal statesman, who was deposed from the Viziership just before the war, because of his effort to prevent it by the introduction of reforms in harmony with English advice. His recall now intimates a readiness on the part of Turkey to accept his plans, and he goes first to Syria, as Governor of that province, with a view to test them there first.

A Penny Daily Paper in Paris.

The project of such a paper, for some months talked of, has taken more definite shape in the issue of a prospectus signed by M. M. Edmond About and Rouvier, editors of La Critique Philosophique, Leon Plaits, editor of L'Ecole Libre, and M. Revoltland, who is to be editor of the new paper. One hundred and thirty thousand francs are now prepared as capital, but the issue will not begin till at least two hundred thousand are obtained. The paper will be still at one sou. It will be republican in politics, but not the organ of either of the parties which have been so sharply contending for twenty years or more within the Protestant Church. The paper will not be used especially to promote the direct work of evangelization; but, being originated and managed by persons of eminence, who have from patriotic considerations gladly come out from the Church of Rome, it will be used mainly to spread abroad among the people a knowledge of Protestant facts and ideas. We certainly wish the enterprise the highest success. If properly managed, it can only be productive of good. We may perhaps fear that some evil will result from it, both because its originators, being apparently quite unsettled in their doctrinal views, may contribute their influence only to an extreme liberalism, and because the movement will seem to identify Protestantism too closely with the political excitements of the day.—Zion's Herald.

ELECTRIC CANDLES.—M. Jablochkoff's invention is being tested on a large scale in the streets of Paris, and if it answers expectations it will, no doubt, be introduced for the public benefit. An attempt to introduce it in New York would probably be followed by injunctions and endless litigation, resulting in ruinous delays, which might very possibly cripple the resources of all concerned.

Faith is the root of all blessings; believe, and you shall be saved; believe, and you must needs be saved; believe, and you cannot choose but be comforted.—Jeremy Taylor.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

Dr. Caldwell, the present Bishop of Madras, in whose diocese so many thousand heathen have put off heathenism to accept Christianity, is famous as a Dravidian scholar. He labored as a missionary in South India forty years before he was made a Bishop. When he entered India, it was in company with four or five others. He was considered as a sickly man, who would not be able to endure the climate more than a year; while all the others were men of sound health. Yet he is still living and all the others are dead.

The Methodist Mission in Mexico reports 20 male and female missionaries; and in all 97 agents. There are 273 members and 391 probationers and the average attendance on public worship is 1,212. In the day-schools there are 321 scholars and in the Sabbath-schools 560 scholars. There are 5 churches and 16 preaching halls, and the mission press issues over 301,000 pages annually. The value of the property in possession of the mission is $78,590.

—Rev. Solomon Cosby sailed from New York in the United States mail steamer Wyoming, for Liverpool. He goes out as missionary of the Convention of the colored Baptists of Virginia, to Africa. He will remain for a while at Lagos, West Coast of Africa. Previous to his departure from Richmond, very interesting farewell services were held at the Richmond Institute, of which school Mr. Cosby was a recent graduate.

The China Mission of the Church of Scotland has been established at Hiuing, a town several hundred miles up the river from Hankow. At the head of the mission is the Rev. George Cockburn, who is assisted by two married colporteurs. Little will be done until the members of the mission learn the language.

The Bible Society of Geneva, Switzerland, has undertaken to send a copy of the New Testament to each school-teacher in France. It will require about 80,000 copies. The Society has already sent about 27,000 copies, and needs funds to complete the work. Each copy costs about sixty cents. The Society has received many letters of thanks, among them one from a Roman Catholic nun.

The United Presbyterian Church of Scotland reports 173,551 communicants, an increase of about 3,000 since 1875. The aggregate attendance on public worship is 187,013. There are in the Sunday-schools about 80,000 scholars. The total income of the Church for the year was $1,895,395. The average salary of the ministers is $1,340.

The united meetings of the Missionary and Publication Boards of the American Wesleyan Connection have been held at Syracuse where the body has a new Publishing House. It was reported that two missionaries were urgently demanded in North Carolina, and the claims of other needy fields were presented.

When the Society for Promoting Christianity among the Jews was formed in London, 1809, it was estimated that there were only thirty-five Christian Hebrews in England. Since then more than 20,000 have embraced the faith and been baptized.

One of Mr. Spurgeon's sermons has been translated into Servian, and copies have been sent to each of the 1,800 priests and teachers of the Greek Church in that country. There is not a single Protestant preacher in Servia.

The king of Siam has directed the opening of a school at Bangkok for the education of Siamese youths in their own and the English languages. The Rev. S. G. McFarland, for many years a Presbyterian missionary there, has been entrusted with the work.

The total receipts of the English religious societies is $8,336,260, an increase of upward of $250,000. Of the whole amount $1,592,805 was contributed to foreign missions.

The Rev. A. H. Mackonochie continues his ministration in St. Albans, London, notwithstanding Lord Penzance's judgment suspending him for three years from the ministry.

A delegation from the Society of Friends were before the House Appropriation Committee on January 21, advocating the appropriation of $50,000 for the civilization of the Indians.

Mongiardino, an agent of the British and Foreign Bible Society in Buenos Ayres, has been sentenced to death for the crime of being a Bible-seller.

There is in Germany a total of 1,681 Sunday-schools, with 8,149 teachers and 158,615 scholars.

Our Young People.

THE TROUBLESOME TRASH.

BY M. E. DE BURE.

Dear little, queer little humble bed trash
Sleeping and waking and smelling the hay
And coffee for breakfast, and wanting to know
If danger is under the pretty white snow
And how many grasshoppers all in a row
Can make enough syrup for dear little Ida
To eat up her own little wheat pancakes.
You dear little, queer little trundle-bed trash.

Strange, pellucidical trundle-bed trash
Hearing the thunders and lightnings flash
Of lightning, as they cut the black heaven
"I think let the angels have got fearful now,"
And likely enough there is some stout
A minister he'd turn out
Last summer when preaching all the while
That strange, pellucidical trundle-bed trash.

Wise little specs years, trundle-bed trash
Finding the peas. What a terrible crash
Hark! There are mice in the very top shelf
"The mice is in the pantry a fighting for me"
And safe in the parlor, a kingly old sire
From burning precipitately to empty the pail
Into the fire and destroy, at every dread noise
On the little specs years, trundle-bed trash.

Bad little, sad little trouble-bed trash
Killing a fly on the low window sash
And stopping a Sovereign Autocrat
Reposing the dead, with the tiniest shroud
And dainty coffin ever made
Of wedding and wearing's board begun
Such dark work with solomon's
Thou sad, pensive, bothersome trundle-bed trash.

White little Queen Ethel Morris
They clasped hands and reverent bend
Archbishop or angels, I think it was he
From celestial [illegible]
Just please to send Aunt Clara down
With Oranges, biggest that ever did grow
My dear [illegible]

Buff and Blue.

One bright summer morning as I came in sight of the school-house, I noticed a crowd about the door and heard loud laughing and cheers. From rude boys came cries of "Circus dancers!" "Just in pinafores!" etc.

Hurrying on, I was so running among them, I asked, "What is it, children?"

A chorus of voices answered me, but I understood nothing. In the center of the circle were two little girls.

These little strangers seem frightened to death," said I.

One quick-witted boy replied, "They are frightened to death. And then the children began to tell how they had asked many questions, but the little girls had not once moved their lips, and some of the boys had named them "Deaf and Dumb."

I wish you could have seen them just as they stood there, light in hand, their dark, chubby faces peeping out from large white sunbonnet starched very stiff. They were dressed, first alike, each in a bright print dress and long blue apron, both with long sleeves and high in the neck. Only was a little taller than the other, but aside from that, they were as much alike as "two peas in a pod."

"Good morning, little girls," said I.

They each fastened their dark brown eyes on me, but scarcely winked them, and spoke not a word.

"What is your name?" I said, looking at the older of the two.

They had evidently been prepared for this question, for they both said in the same breath "Marie Dorion," "Minnie Dorion."

"These are two little French children," I explained, leading them into the school-room, where I took off their bonnets and gave them seats, telling the children we must be kind to the little strangers.

I found it very hard to quiet some of them, however. They had made up their minds to "poke fun" at the queer-looking little folks. I heard one of the boys say, "Let's call them Blue and Yaller!"

I started quickly and said, "No, boys, I'll tell you what is prettier. You may call them 'Buff and Blue.'"

So the scholars, finding I did not wish to spoil all their fun, took kindly to the little French girls and ever after designated them "Buff and Blue."

When I called the primer class I had Marie and Minnie, and, showing them the letters, tried to make them say them after me, but they only looked at me in silent wonder. When I dismissed the class and turned to my desk, several of the children laughed aloud, and looking around, I laughed myself to see those two demure little ones standing just where I had placed them. Forgetting that they could not understand one word I spoke, I told them to go to their seats; but they did not move until I led them to their chairs.

It went in this way for about two weeks. I don't think they would ever have left the spot I placed them in unless I had led them to another. They worried me a funny confession for a teacher to make by sitting so still, and I often carried bright picture-books for them to look at.

Many of the scholars brought me beautiful flowers each morning, and I noticed that Buff and Blue watched them eagerly. The first time I gave some to them, with smiles of delight they [illegible] their faces for a time. The next morning I found them waiting with [illegible] with them [illegible] and again with [illegible] I found [illegible] they always [illegible] of return, it brightened [illegible] light I [illegible] need.

The [illegible] of Buff [illegible] of [illegible] "Buff [illegible] me, with some little [illegible] She looked very [illegible] and the [illegible] to turn. I [illegible] what [illegible] quickly pointed [illegible] and with a [illegible] shoulder and a funny [illegible] held out the other hand, [illegible] rose and she quickly gave me two kisses, showing [illegible] she had not the rose in [illegible] flowers and had [illegible] for each.

The next [illegible] the little ones were missing. No one knew about them. We [illegible] we [illegible] ing nothing [illegible] that [illegible] them.

Taking with [illegible] handfuls of blossoms, I [illegible] over the stream to the old mill, where I learned they lived. The door stood open, and sitting on the step was a pleasant looking woman who seemed at once to know me, for pointing to the flowers, she said in broken English, "You teacher." She beckoned me to follow her, and in the adjoining room found poor "Buff" on her bed, a thin and woman standing near whom I knew to be the father and mother. The woman I had first spoken to then [illegible] who I was, when the mother caught me in the hallway called, "Marie, Marie!"

Buff opened her eyes and smiled as she saw the flowers. She was very sick, but raised her head to give me a kiss.

Leaving her [illegible] I told the other [illegible] and said, "Marie is dead," and, sobbing, led me to the room made very dark, where to my surprise and grief I saw Blue lay dead. Quietly I placed her portion of the roses beside her and returned to "Buff," but she was past all speaking with pain.

The woman then told me it was scarlet fever, and Marie had died that morning, and early the next day I received word that Marie had died during the night.

I think we never ceased to miss little Buff and Blue. The children [illegible] quieter, gentler, all summer. Their seats remained vacant. The two little empty desks were a long time [illegible] with [illegible] and many enquiring I noticed a bunch of flowers had been laid on each of them.

No word was ever spoken of the little [illegible] the children never mentioned their [illegible] by name, but I believe that to-day no one of those [illegible] Buff and Blue [illegible].

A lad in [illegible] going rather [illegible] for his age, works in a [illegible] as errand boy for [illegible] who do business there. One day the gentlemen were [illegible] a little about being [illegible] to him.

"[illegible] will never do, much [illegible]."

The little [illegible] at them and said, "Well, sah, I shall [illegible] and I can't help [illegible] what you [illegible] mother [illegible] and they [illegible] I ought to, you [illegible]."

But the [illegible] as [illegible] to know, and all [illegible] to tell what could be [illegible] them were able to do.

"I can't keep from swearing," said the little fellow.

There were some blushes on four manly faces, at it there seemed to be very little anxiety for further information on that point.

The [illegible] shepherd, declared that dogs know what is said on subjects in which they are interested. He had a dog named Hector, who always seemed to understand remarks made about himself. One day Hugg said to his mother, "I'm going to-morrow, to Bowerhope for a fortnight, but I will not take Hector with me, for he is constantly quarrelling with the rest of the dogs." Hector, being in the room, was missing next morning, and when his master reached Bowerhope there was Hector sitting on a knoll, waiting his arrival. He had swum across a flooded river to gain the shepherd.

"Mother," said a little [illegible] when he came home, "I have seen such a small preacher. He stumped and made such a noise, and then he got mad, he shook his fists at the folks, and there wasn't anybody dared go up and fight him."

The Christian Advocate.

Organ of the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences of the M. E. Church South.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 26, 1878.

REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D., Editor.

ROBT. J. HARP, PUBLISHER.

OFFICE—112 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

Address on all matters of business, Rev. R. J. HARP, 112 Camp street, New Orleans.

Address all communications designed for publication to Rev. LINUS PARKER, 112 Camp street New Orleans.

AGENTS—All the members of the PATRONIZE Conferences.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEES

ALABAMA CONFERENCE.

REV. S. H. COX.
REV. EDWARD WADSWORTH, D. D.
REV. FELIX R. HILL.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

REV. W. H. WATKINS, D. D.
REV. JAMES A. DODFREY.
REV. J. G. JONES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

REV. CHRISTIAN KEENER.
REV. JOHN MATHEWS.
REV. LINUS PARKER, D. D.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate will be furnished to subscribers at the following rates, including postage:

One Year	$2 60
Six Months	1 15
Three Months	75

To all Ministers of the Gospel and widows of deceased traveling preachers

One Year	$1 60
Six Months	50
Three Months	25

The Day of Rest.

HANGED FROM THE SEVENTH TO FIRST DAY OF THE WEEK.

This is an old question, and has often been discussed, but ever and anon it seems to rouse the attention and disturb the repose of some mind. It may be that some observations on the subject may be useful. The first Sabbath was instituted to commemorate the completion of the work of creation. "And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made. And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it; because that in it he had rested from all his work which God had created and made." In the 5th chapter and 15th verse of Deuteronomy the Lord said to the people: "And remember that thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt, and that the Lord thy God brought thee out thence, through a mighty hand, and by a stretched out arm; therefore the Lord thy God commanded thee to keep the Sabbath day." Here we are taught the day was to be kept in commemoration of the deliverance from Egyptian bondage. The third institution of the day of rest was in commemoration of the resurrection of Christ "on the first day of the week," and hence it is called by inspired authority the "Lord's Day."

In the Decalogue the commandment reads: "Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work; the seventh is the Sabbath, in it thou shalt not do any work"—that is, six days for labor and one day for rest. Now that this was the original seventh day no one knows, or can know. The Jews were centuries in Egypt; perhaps, at least, one century in bondage. The Egyptians had no seventh day rest. If the Jews ever knew of such a rest, and there is no evidence that they did, there is no probability that the Egyptians would have permitted their slaves to observe it.

The first distinct mention of the Sabbath after its first institution is in the sixteenth chapter and twenty-third verse of Exodus: "This is that which the Lord hath said: To-morrow is the rest of the holy Sabbath unto the Lord." On that day no manna fell, and no seething or baking were permitted. It is impossible to find out whether this Sabbath instituted to commemorate a new and different event from the first, for which the Sabbath was designed to commemorate, was in the chronological order of the first Sabbath or not. As it was not until the Israelites crossed the Red Sea, which was the eastern boundary of Egypt, that they came out from bondage and had rest, some suppose the Sabbath, instituted the second time, to commemorate this deliverance, was instituted at that time—the day when Moses and the children of Israel sang this song unto the Lord, "for he hath triumphed gloriously." This institution in commemoration of deliverance from Egypt was before the formal giving of the law on Mount Sinai, for there, in reference to a previous institution of this commemorative day, it is said: "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy."

If it cannot be proved, and certainly it cannot, that the second instituted day was the seventh day in uninterrupted chronological order that was first instituted, then the argument for the inviolability and unchangeableness of the "day," when there is a new institution of the day of rest, and to commemorate an altogether different and new event, has no force, and falls to the ground.

Our Lord rose on the "first day of the week." Eight days after, which was the "first day of the week," he appeared to them again. The day of Pentecost, on which the Holy Ghost was poured out, was on the first day of the week. When Paul was making his last visit to Jerusalem, as he passed from Macedonia, he called at Troas, and spent a week there. "On the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread."—that is, as we understand, to celebrate the supper of the Lord—"Paul preached unto them." It was clearly their regularly appointed day of worship. St. John tells us some time after this, perhaps thirty years or more, when he was an exile on the Isle of Patmos, that he "was in the Spirit on the Lord's day." He tells the churches that they may know the exact time when he had these wonderful visions. The observance of the first day of the week as a day of rest and devotion, in commemoration of our Lord's resurrection, by this time had become so common and well known that it was called, in contradistinction from the Jewish Sabbath, "the Lord's day."

Our Lord promised the Holy Spirit to his disciples that after his visible departure the Spirit would "teach them all things," and guide them into all truth. Christ promised his disciples supernatural illumination, and the disciples constantly claimed, in their sermons, decisions and epistles, that they had the guidance of this inspired light. This being allowed, it must be admitted that whatever the apostles did in their official capacity was done as the "Ambassadors" of Christ, and was, therefore, of divine authority. That they recognized and observed the first day of the week, the day on which our Lord rose from the dead, as a day of religious devotion, there can be no doubt. On this day Paul commanded the churches in Corinth and Galatia to raise their collections for charitable uses, just as we do now.

There is no express recorded command to make this change of day from the last to the first day of the week, but there was, no doubt, a good reason for this omission. Archbishop Whateley remarks, in his work on the constitution of the early church, that so far as we can understand it "the Holy Spirit showed as much wisdom in what he left, unsaid, as in what he did say." Much was left to the wisdom which longer time and larger experience would surely teach. It must be remembered that in nearly all the early apostolic churches a number greater or less of the Jews formed the nucleus of the church. The Spirit of all grace was exceedingly tender of the educational and conscientious scruples of these people, as we see in the example of Paul circumcising Timothy to satisfy these scruples, although he believed and taught that "neither circumcision nor uncircumcision availeth anything, but a new creature." So there was no abrupt and violent change of the day of rest and worship from the last to the first day of the week. The Gentiles had no educational or conscientious scruples on the subject, and as their numbers gradually preponderated the weight of their influence carried the question. Besides, it does not appear after the apostolic eye that any considerable number of Jews ever became believers in Christ as the promised and true Messiah, and there was, therefore, no opposition to the change from the last to the first day of the week. All tradition and early church history teaches that the change was soon and generally made.

The sum of what we have said is that there have been three institutions of the day of rest and devotion, and to commemorate three different events—the creation, the deliverance from Egypt, and the resurrection of our Lord. That as there is and can be no proof that at the second institution of the day of rest and devotion it was the same day that was originally observed, the argument for the unchangeableness of the day fails, and that, as the apostles, acting under the inspiration of the Holy Ghost, did observe the "first of the week" as the day of rest and public religious service, we conclude that we have sufficient warrant for the usage of the church for these 1800 years past. Finally we may remark, in conclusion, that the universal observance of the "first day" of the week by the whole body of the church is a grand proof of the certainty of the resurrection of Christ—a stronger proof than the celebration of the Fourth of July is of the Declaration of Independence on the fourth of July, 1776. The first of the week, as commemorative of the resurrection of Christ, has been celebrated longer, more frequently, and more generally than the Fourth of July.

W.

Who Should Attend the Sunday-school.

The growth of the Sunday school idea, and its development as an efficient agency of salvation, is as gratifying as remarkable. Its history has been a continued victory. It has quickened the zeal and reinvigorated the energies, and revolution zed the methods of the church. The Sunday-school has inaugurated a new era in Bible study. Great talents and holy zeal have been consecrated to this noble work. By the stimulus of its fruitfulness the religious literature of the world has been increased and popularized beyond all parallel. Yet much is to be done before perfection is attained. The greatest difficulty is to secure the attendance and interest of older pupils and older Christians. At about fifteen our boys, especially, graduate in the Sunday-school, and but few parents and elderly church members are ever present. No doubt this sad fact is largely due to the nursery idea of the Sunday-school we have so long entertained. It is erroneous and misleading. It is not simply a celestial institution for young children. The true definition of its enlarged mission was given by some speaker at the Atlanta International Convention: "The church studying the Scriptures." Every member of the church should be a member of the Sunday-school. Many mothers and housewives, "careful about many things," will find it impossible to attend regularly. Yet the number of these might be increased an hundred-fold with a little revival of conscience. The men have no excuse. Dr. Haygood, in his practical and most instructive book, "Our Children," suggests one. He says: "We can think of but one reason, and that would not be good could it exist. If we could find a man who has learned so much of God's word that there is no more in it to learn, we might excuse him so far as his need of instruction is concerned. But such a wonder, such a solitary phenomenon, would be under peculiar obligation to attend regularly and promptly to show what can be done by diligent and continued study! Now, why should a child go to Sunday-school? To learn God's word, that he may grow thereby in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. For the very same reasons a grown man, however wise, however good, unless he can become so wise and so better, should attend the Sunday-school."

Ignorance of the Scriptures is lamentable and almost universal. Those well-informed in other things—men of business capacity and success in professional life—are sadly deficient in a mere rudimentary knowledge of the Word of God. Old Christians have ceased to "grow in grace," because they fail to diligently "search the Scriptures." On this subject, so vital to the progress of the church, there must be reform, revolution. The membership of the Sunday-school in every denomination should exceed the enrolled members of the church. If there be a deficit in the comparison there must be great lack of spiritual enterprise. It also occupies the first place among Christian nations in fostering and patronizing this cause. There every church member belongs to the Sunday-school. Its numerical strength exceeds the church in proportion as the ineligible children outnumber the enrolled communicants. Parents and children, patriarchs and little ones, are members of the same school and students of the same blessed Book. A comparison of statistics develops the humiliating fact that, with the exception of the Baptists, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is far behind all other evangelical denominations in Sunday-school work. Our total of teachers and scholars is scarcely more than half the number of ministers and lay members. Kindly the following figures:

Denomination.	Ministers and Members.	Teachers and scholars.
Presbyterian, North	862,156	753,000
Presbyterian, South	113,955	56,654
Protestant Episcopal	2,1.0	27,879
Baptist, North & South	1,916 61	849,920
Meth. Church of Canada	32 [illegible]	130,883
Meth. Prot. Church	11[illegible]9	105,150
Meth. Epis. Church	1,651,[illegible]	1,756,557
M. E. Church, South	721,917	290,[illegible]58

These have been carefully compiled from the statistics of 1877. They reveal at once our failure and our duty. The figures ought to be reversed. To secure this, and with it a higher type of intelligent piety, and grander achievements as a Christian denomination, our fathers and mothers should become, with their children, scholars in the Sunday-school.

C. B. G.

Believing and Doubting.

The father of the child who had a dumb spirit is described in Mark's Gospel as crying out with tears: "Lord, I believe; help thou mine unbelief." The whole of this vivid narration makes a picture over which this expression throws a crown of light. We see in it to better advantage the outward scene, and we see besides the invisible world out of whose troubled realm of love and desire the agonized soul of the father professes faith and confesses unbelief. Men are honest, it is said, at the last hour. We may add that men are always honest in their deep spiritual distress; and no other man is so perfectly honest as he who is conscious of a measure of faith, and at the same time deeply persuaded that faith is his only hope. This man's tears and cries spring out of the consciousness, now acute and stinging, that his faith meets an inward resistance, and fights in self-despair with unbelief.

The father in the gospel has told our story for us. The fact that his prayer of confession received no rebuke, but was met by the prompt action of delivering love, should make us less afraid to be frank in confession that we also doubt and are most acutely conscious of it when we are surest that we believe. It has been said that the devil is not concerned to secure our ruin until we are concerned about our salvation. The grim shape of doubt is not outlined in its full proportions until faith's fair form reflects a light for its shadow to fall across. Believing is often the means of revealing our doubting to ourselves. One may live peacefully long years, and awaken to the pain of doubt just precisely when faith is the only door of escape. In loss, bereavement, dying pains, a man may first really learn how big is his unbelief, and now helpless his faith must be in that grapple with doubt unless a divine deliverance from his unbelief shall make it possible for him to seize and hold celestial power by this re-enforcement of his believing.

In truth, there is just here one of the necessary battles between sense and soul, between the flesh and the spirit. That there is none, or should be none, in this exercise of faith, is as much as defying the irrepressible conflict between the flesh and the spirit. Nor can we overlook the fact that we are creatures of the visible world, for nine-tenths of our time immersed in its waves. This life of sense flows through us and swims around us; and forever it insists upon dominating our mental movements. We see one bush that burned with the divine glory, and millions of bushes on which no celestial fire kindles, and, straightened in the argument with sense, we may cry out: "Lord, help thou mine unbelief. How strange it has seemed, and yet how true it is that the best Christian should, in straight places in life, be to the father of the child that had a dumb spirit! Bishop Thompson, in his last illness, kept saying, over and over: "Pray for me that my faith fail not." The hour of supreme effort for everlasting trust found him wrestling with the angel of despair. The experience is so common that the exceptions, at critical moments, would probably be found to be the glorious sunshine of perfect faith.

And yet nothing is more certain than this phase of unbelief is revealed by a real, true and blessed faith in the soul. "Lord, I believe!" is the large and inspiring fact. We should scarcely have known the glory of faith had not shown it to us. And the faith, as well as its dear object, is perfectly safe to him who most utterly feels to be perfectly ignorant. "Lord, I believe," holds the fort when the believer prays: "Help thou mine unbelief." For faith has two solid rests. We are speaking of critical moments such as those in the gospel narrative before us. At such times our test for faith is a moral preference of good, a spiritual appetite for salvation, which (no matter how caused) is an invariable accompaniment of faith. When a man begins to believe he has chosen righteousness, truth and duty; he does not believe into righteousness. The nobler part of us which consents unto the law that it is good, is the womb of faith. But on the "law of the mind," waging war against "a law in the members," faith springs by a spiritual genesis which we may not understand, but cannot doubt. And this choice of the obedient and righteous life makes a solid rest for faith. This world answers within us, where God sets thrones of judgment, guides into clear light when the choice of its love and law takes definite form and gathers our strength about it.

The other solid rest of faith is perpetually strong in the crucified sessions. It is the self despair and the abandonment of all other trust except in God. The dying man has no where else to go—that we always confess. But the repenting sinner may be, may should be, equally conscious of the necessity of seeking heavenly rescue. All seasons of trial drive us to Ward God. The power to believe at such an hour is found all the more facile to him who has chosen obedience for the circumstance that the shocks have all gone and left him alone with the great physician. "Thou only hast the words of eternal life!" How intense a light those words flash across the troubled soul that cries: "Lord, I believe," and yet must also cry with tears: "Help thou mine unbelief!" Our fathers perhaps unwisely ridiculed a saying of the old Calvinists that one must be willing to be damned before he could be saved. What they meant was a great truth; salvation is very near to the man who is so deeply convicted of sin that he realizes not that he deserves to be damned and is in imminent danger of damnation.

The moral preparation makes the task of faith to seem hard to the self-condemned soul; but it is really an easy task now for this deep conviction has concentrated all the strength of the soul into the cry, "Lord, I believe."—Methodist.

What but youth can echo back the soul of youth?—Hatwer.

A HAPPY CHRISTMAS TO ALL.

The ADVOCATE greets its readers and friends everywhere with its heartiest wishes for their welfare and prosperity. May they abound in the blessings of a benign Providence, and may they rejoice in the mercies of the new and everlasting covenant. To the children especially we say: Happy Christmas! The Saviour came to bring happiness to them, and we trust that all of our young friends may have a pleasant time. We go to press the day after Christmas and in the midst of the holidays. Whilst gladness and joy pervade our homes may there be no intemperance or unseemly indulgence. Let our rejoicing be that of Christians who know the meaning of a Savior's birth, and who realize their obligations to Him who died for them.

Changes in the Appointments of the Alabama Conference.

MOBILE DIST.—E. Wadsworth, P. E., in the place of R. B. Crawford.

EUFAULA DISTRICT.—R. B. Crawford, P. E., in place of S. H. Cox.

GREENSBORO DIST.—S. H. Cox, P. E., in the place of J. Bancroft.

EUFAULA STATION.—J. Bancroft in place of E. Wadsworth.

These changes are made after careful consideration, for reasons that will doubtless be appreciated by the brethren affected by them.

The change of J. Bancroft from the Greensboro district to the Eufaula station is made without his knowledge, but for his relief.

The appointments of R. B. Crawford and S. H. Cox are made entirely without their solicitation, but, with loyalty to the church, they submit to the change.

H. H. KAVANAUGH.

The Editor has been necessarily absent from the office for the most of the past two weeks. We are under obligations to Dr. J. B. Walker for articles, proof-reading, and other work.

The members of the Louisiana Conference on their arrival are requested to call at 112 Camp street, where they will be informed of the houses assigned them.

Glory, Peace, Good Will.

Who denies the glory, the peace, the good will, growing fruit of the Saviour's advent? Who is it that shuts his eyes on the spreading kingdom of Christ, and dares assert that the world is waxing worse and worse, that the gospel and the Spirit's influence are failing to accomplish their purpose, and that the earth is ripening for destruction? Who, we say?

Here and there comes that love-lit who came as an infant to Bethlehem, and that waif for another advent in the terror of rending heavens, which shall perforce tear away all the blinded unbelief of the nations. But the coming betrayal of Christendom points back to a holier and brighter advent than that of lightnings and trumpets and fiery skies. A sweeter, more persuasive voice comes from the shrouded glory, the repressed majesty, that the shepherds saw which the King of heaven put off the garments of ineffable delight, and was born the Holy Child of the spotless maid. If the nations will not hear the story of the advent, crowned with the glorious shame of the cross, neither will they hear though the heavens dissolve, and the thrones are set, and the graves open, and the dead rise, and the voice of doom thunders from the skies.

The Holy Child is born in Bethlehem. We hear the voice of peace. Angels are flowing it from the skies. Men are seeking good will to men. The church, growing as never before, and spreading its arms about all the earth, is lifting its founder song of glory to God in the highest. The wise men of the East have seen his star, and are on their way with gold and spices. Let us hasten, that we may participate therein with our worship, and our carol of the angels' song:

"All glory to God most high!
And to the earth be peace,
Good will henceforth from heaven to men,
Begin and never cease."—Independent.

If we remember rightly, at the consecration of Bishop Nicholson, of the Reformed Episcopal Church, Bishop Simpson, of the Methodist Church, was invited to take part. If at the next consecration of a Methodist Bishop a like fraternal invitation were given, and a Reformed Episcopal, and say also a Moravian Bishop, should unite in the imposition of hands, there would arise some interesting questions in ecclesiastical law. Would not that Methodist Bishop be in the "apostolic succession?" And would not every succeeding Bishop on whom he laid hands, and also every Methodist preacher who was ordained by him, or by those succeeding Bishops, be also in the succession? And if he lived to be the senior Bishop of the church would not the whole body of the Methodist clergy be as clearly in the magic succession as the Anglican clergy? And if a Methodist preacher went over to the Episcopalians, would they not be obliged to recognize his "orders" as valid?—Independent.

The Nazarite of old was commanded to separate himself from wine and strong drink; so now the follower of the meek and lowly Jesus finds not his joy or consolation in the things that occupy and animate the men of this world.—Precious Truth.

THINK OF THIS.—The one g... practical truth that ought to be d... en over and over again into his c... mind by every young man is, ... he should not care a button for ... likes and dislikes, but should ... what ought to be done, in spite ... any disagreeableness. The lesso... self-denial is far beyond any o... in importance. It must be repe... a thousand times over before l... really learnt by heart, but oh, h... worthy the pains! Happy is ... who has learnt not to seek for wh... pleasant, not to shrink from wha... painful, but to go on doing ev... thing that he knows to be good, ... kind, and right, in utter disregar... self. How a man might enno... and invigorate his life if he wo... work this principle into the w... grain of his mind, and strenuo... act upon it, invariably striving ... after what would be pleasant ... but what would be best. In fac... is the very essence of all that is g... and great in human life; and ... only so, but is the true road to h... piness. This doubtless is what ... Saviour means when He says ... he that hath left home and brot... for His sake shall receive an hu... reil-fold even in this life.—Cha... Buxton.

Luther says well—If you wo... believe, you must crucify that p... tion. Why? God would not ... us full of wherefores. And if ... would believe, you must go bind ... into God's command. As a ... subscribes to a blank, where ... Lord calls him out of his own co... try.—Bridge.

Books and P...

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE JOURNAL.—This is a Book issued by St. Louis Advocate Publishing Co., L. D. Dameron, agent. It is designed for the use of Quarterly Conferences, and will greatly facilitate and abbreviate the labors of the secretary. It has all the questions ... printed, and nothing to do but write the answers. It has ample ... space for written reports. It ... through sixteen quarters, or four years. Cost, $1. It is, in our opinion, a good and convenient thing.

—The next number of Frank Leslie's Sunday Magazine, edited by Rev. Dr. Deems, will contain a portrait of the late Bishop Early, with chapter of incidents in the life of the venerable Bishop graphically related by the Rev. Dr. John E. Edwards of Virginia.

—The Wide Awake for January is on our table. It is a brilliant number, variously and beautifully illustrated. It will gladden the eyes of many a household.

THE FARM JOURNAL.—A monthly magazine for the fireside, edited by W. H. Chambers, Union Springs, Ala. It contains a list of ... fifty articles on all sorts of agricultural questions. It contains ... forty pages. $1.00 per annum.

THE SOUTHERN CULTIVATOR, a monthly magazine of forty pages, $1 per year. It contains ... fifty short articles. Atlanta, Ga.

SUNDAY SCHOOL FLAG, for December. M. C. Harris, Editor, St. Louis.

THE SANITARIAN, New York. A valuable journal devoted to health, $3 per annum, in advance. Illustrated.

PEOPLE'S PERIL, by Rev. ... by Stephen H. Tyng, D. D. New York.

—Appleton for January is on our table, as usual, replete with interesting articles. Contents: ... a Painter; The Eighteenth Century; Chrysanthemum, Gathered from the Greek Anthology; An Art Ball; The Elephant; Catching; The Decline of Wines; Peacock; A ... May Not Marry His Grandmother; Editor's Table; Books of the Day.

—The North American Review for January, 1879, has been received. It contains nine articles. 1. The Fisheries Award. 2. Unpublished Episodes of the "Little Period." 3. Three Epochs in Our Polity. 4. The Preservation of Forests. 5. The "Solid South." 6. The Pronunciation of Latin Language. 7. Resistance to Shadow of Finance. 8. The Trial of the Florence. 9. Recent Fiction.

—LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE for January, 1879, has a rich table of contents, consisting of fifteen articles, viz.: Yorkshire By-Ways; Around Island; The Poet's Protest; Woman's Husbands; Wild Boars and Boar Hunting; Flitters, Tatters and the Counselor; Young Girls Experiences During Two Sieges in Paris; The Cyndran Oracle; Through Winding Ways; A Western Town; The Story of a Proverb; A Fairy Tale for the People; Christus; Notes of a Trip to Newfoundland; Madame Putiphar; Monthly Gossip; Literature of the Day.

—Littell's Living Age, December 21, has the following table of contents: 1. Epping Forest. 2. With the Precincts. 3. Among the Birmese. 4. Richne and His Works. A New Method of Social Evolution. The Undefinable in Art; Poem. Aberglaute; Olden Times and Present; Stanzas.

(Continued from First Page.)

public of these in memoriam remarks. Like the lamented Ross, C. S. Hunt lived and died a faithful soldier of the cross, and his character was in many particulars similar to his.

The Bishop's remarks on the subject of these memoirs were timely and impressive. He said that in all of his Episcopal tour he had not had one like this—that it seemed that God was taking his choicest spirits. Such was the case in the Holston Conference, also in the Florida Conference. These deceased saints, though dead, yet live and speak to us. O! what arousing voices from the dead! The death of such men was a benediction to the living. Be faithful and you shall wear the crown. May God help us so to live that we may die as these our brethren have died!

On motion, the memoirs were adopted by a rising vote.

REPORTS OF BOOKS AND PERIODICALS (RESUMED).

Rev. H. D. Moore made a forcible speech in favor of establishing the new paper, which we regret we cannot insert in extenso.

In replying to opposing speeches, he stated among other things that he was reminded of the lines of the poet:

"All evil words of tongue or pen,
All slurs and falsehoods men may utter,
Are like the nightly beasts of prey
That scent their food in the midnight air."

The question is: Are we to have an organ? We have no means of reaching our people. The NEW ORLEANS, Nashville and Wesleyan Advocates are as foreign friends, and our own immediate interests are not represented. Dr. Parker is courteous; does not put communications in a bran basket; is a good editor; edits them well; has secured him many subscribers, but it does not answer our purpose as an organ because our people do not take it. Dr. Pepper's ADVOCATE is champion for promoting literary institutions. We have an institution at Greensboro, inferior to Auburn, although it may not confer as many degrees. People ask what kind of a school is Greensboro, Summerville and Tuscaloosa. He gets one dozen minutes to one thousand people. Dr. Parker's ADVOCATE has been good paper to promoting the interests of Centenary College, but does the Southern University but little good. Lord Bacon is exactly what we want. Our people don't know what is going on in their own midst; don't know when revivals are reported on but few of their own deaths; subscribe to the church this year, to my district, but our people get no benefit of it from the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE, because they do not take it.

The interests of the Alabama Conference are not conserved by the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE as they would be by a home organ. If we had an organ I would not be humiliated as I was at the General Conference at Atlanta this year by being asked "Who is that man who and who is he?" when the Editor's name was announced. Let our people who take the ADVOCATE know more of Hinson and Hastings' institutions than of affairs belonging to our own local interests. The Wesleyan Christian Advocate has served well the interests of the College at Oxford, under Dr. Haygood. Both institutions have been started by a party to the effect: Establish a paper and buy an edition. $1,500 to the Alabama Conference would guarantee good preachers. People in my district among the cotton fields would not take the NEW ORLEANS ADVOCATE. I have to go to our people who take the ADVOCATE to Farm, Garden and Household.

Soup and How to Make It.

The value of soup as food cannot be overestimated. In times of scarcity and distress, when the question has arisen of how to feed the largest number of persons upon the least quantity of food, the soup kettle has always been found. There are two reasons for this first, by addition of water to the ingredients used we secure the aid of this important agent in distributing nutrition equally throughout the blood, to await final absorption and second, we gain that sense of repletion to the satisfaction of hunger—the fact being acknowledged that the sensation we call hunger is often allayed by the presence of even innutritious substances in the stomach.

Good soup is literally the juice of any ingredient from which it is made, the extract of the meat, grains or vegetables composing it. The most economical soups, eaten with bread, will satisfy the hunger of the laziest worker. The absolute nutritive value of soup depends, of course, upon its ingredients: and these can easily be chosen in reference to the maintenance of health. For instance, the potliquor in which meat has been boiled needs only the addition of a few dumplings or cereals, and seasoning to form a perfect nutriment. That produced from skin and bones can be made equally palatable and nutritious by boiling with it a few vegetables, and sweet herbs, and some rice, barley or oatmeal. Even the gelatinous residue produced by long-continued boiling, without the presence of any foreign matter, is a useful emollient application to the inflamed mucous surfaces in some diseases, while it affords at the same time the degree of distention necessary to prevent flatulency.

The time required to make the most palatable and nutritious soup is short. Lean meat should be chopped fine, placed in cold water, in the proportion of a pint to each pound, slowly heated, and thoroughly skimmed. Five minutes boiling will extract from the meat every particle of its nutriment and flavor. The liquor can then be strained off, seasoned, and eaten with bread, biscuit and vegetables. Peas or beans boiled and added to the soup make it the most perfect food for sustaining health and strength. It is the pure juice of the meat and contains all its savory and life-giving principles.

If the family is large, it is well to keep a clean saucepan or pot on the back of the stove to receive all the clean scraps of meat, bones, and remains of poultry and game, which are found in every kitchen; but vegetables should not be put into it, as they are apt to sour. The proper proportions of soup are one pound of meat and bone, to one and a half quarts of cold water; the meat and bones to be well chopped and broken up, and put over the fire in cold water, being brought slowly to boil, and carefully skimmed as often as scum rises; and being maintained at a steady boiling point from two to six hours, as time permits; one hour before the stock is done, add to it one carrot and one turnip pared, one onion stuck with three cloves, and a bouquet of sweet herbs.

When soup is to be boiled six hours allow two quarts of water to every pound of meat, and see that the pot boils slowly and regularly, and is well skimmed. To keep soup from one meal to another, or over night, pour it into an earthen pot or bowl, because it will turn sour if being allowed to remain in the metal pot.—Juliet Corson.

MR. HARRIS' METHOD.—At the Fruit-Growers' meeting, Mr. A. J. Harris gave his and his neighbors' method of budding, which was alluded to by our special correspondent a few weeks since. The method he called side-grafting or spring-budding, which is done as follows: Commence budding about 1st of June, and continue until about 1st of November. The reason why he postpones budding until after 1st of June is, that the new wood made that spring is the best budding wood, and is much more likely to live than the wood made in year before. Take nice, thrifty twigs that have grown since spring, and have hardened up and are not at all pithy. At the lower end of the twigs, with a sharp, thin-bladed knife, make a smooth slope, from one and a half to two inches long, made a cut or opening in the bark of the stump or tree that you wish to bud, and insert your bud, a little slanting, about half an inch deeper than the slope of the bud. In budding small trees select very small twigs, so they are hardened up. It does not require any tying, waxing, etc., in a tree over two years old. In very young trees that have very thin bark, you may have to tie something around the bud in order that the bark may be made to retain the bud. About three weeks after you bud your trees, if the buds are living, take off all the sour sprouts, if a stump, and, by that means, force your bud to growing, and keep off all sour sprouts afterwards. If you have budded a seedling or tree that has never been topped, after three weeks cut off the top and keep off sour sprouts as above. Buds put in after 1st of October should not be forced to grow until next spring. If your buds get wood-bound, you had better put in a new one.—Florida Agriculturist.

HINTS.—Work not Burried.—Do not work too much nor too fast. Work slowly and until all the salt is thoroughly and evenly absorbed. Otherwise the butter will not be of uniform color. Working it too fast will destroy the grain, and the butter becomes salvy and lard-like in its texture. Let it stand or put it away in the tray for twenty-four hours. Then work it enough to remove all the buttermilk or surplus brine, so that the butter may become dry or like a piece of cheese. Mold into rolls, and set these away for twenty-four hours or until they become hard and firm. The cloth should now be put on so as to cover one end, while the other is left open for the stamp. The cloth should be cut in pieces of exact size and dipped in brine, and the butter rolled when the cloth is dripping wet. Butter should never come in contact with the bare hand. When in the lump it can be easily handled with a ladle and a flat paddle.—Journal of Chemistry.

HOW TO KEEP SWEET POTATOES.—Dr. William H. Trigg, of this city, is one of the few practical men of this section of the country. He has discovered a method by which sweet potatoes can be kept the year round, and be just as good as when taken from the ground. The method is very simple, and as follows:

When the potatoes are taken from the ground transfer them to a box and place them between layers of wheat chaff, and keep them in a warm, dry room. We were shown the other day a sweet potato kept by the doctor in this way since last year, and, to all appearances, it was just as fresh as when originally taken from the ground. The discovery is certainly a valuable one to our farmers and gardeners. Try it.—Booneville Eagle.

APPLE-TREE BORERS.—Now is the time to be looking after the common apple-tree borer Saperda bivittata, while they are at work in the bark of our fruit trees, and before they enter the interior of the trees, where it is so much more difficult to reach them. Their presence under the bark may be known by the reddish chippings which they throw out near the ground. If taken early in the season, they may be easily found and destroyed by cutting through the bark with a pocket-knife. If they have entered the wood, insert a slender twig or wire in the hole and crush them.—New England Farmer.

TO PRESERVE GREEN VEGETABLES.—Green vegetables must be kept on damp stones, covered over with a damp cloth. Beet-root, parsnips, carrots, and potatoes, are best kept in dry sand during the Winter. Never wash them until they are wanted for use. Onions should be tied up in bunches and hung up. Bury parsley in a jar during the Winter; or dry it, by hanging it up in a warm room.

CURING SKINS.—A method of curing skins without removing the hair is given by a correspondent in the Practical Farmer's Journal: "Take soft water about ten gallons, one-half bushel wheat bran, seven pounds of salt, two and half pounds of sulphuric acid. Dissolve all together and put the skins in the solution and allow them to remain twelve hours; take them out and clean them well, and again immerse twelve more hours, or longer if necessary. The skins may then be taken out, well washed and dried. They can be cut as desired."

IT costs no more to produce a pound of wool than a pound of cotton, and the wool sells for three times the price of cotton. The 100,000 dogs in Georgia consume and destroy an amount of food either already fit for human use or suitable for feeding to productive animals, which estimated in bacon, would supply 50,000 laboring men.—Ga. Ag'l Report.

PIES AND OYSTERS.—Boil beans until ready for baking, season plentifully with butter, pepper, salt, and little bits of pork, if liked; put a layer of the beans into quite a deep baking dish, then a layer of raw oysters, and so on until the dish is nearly full; pour over a tea-cupful of the oyster liquor and bake one hour.

LEMON ICE.—To one pint of lemon juice add one quart of sugar, and one pint of water; when partly frozen, add the whites of four eggs beaten to a still froth.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTED.

All of our preachers to aid in the sale of the Life and Labors of Bishop Marvin,

Edited by Rev. T. M. Finney, D. D., with contributions from our Bishops and other ministers of the various conferences.

This work is published with the consent of the late Bishop's family, they to receive royalty on all copies sold. Address, for circulars and terms, the Publishers, J. H. CRAMER & CO., St. Louis, Mo.

RELICIOUS BOOK DEPOSITORY!

AND

Agency A vacate Publishing House (Methodist), St. Louis.

MARVIN'S LIFE, AND OTHER WORKS Methodist books in general, as a Sunday school Supplies for a Denomination.

D. L. MITCHEL, Business Agent, 87 CAMP ST., NEW ORLEANS.

ANDERSON'S NEW Photographic Parlors.

Having been rebuilt

No. 145 CANAL STREET.

And arranged every department of the business on the ground floor, and all in the highest style in a manner enabling me to give my patrons a light to every sitting of the day, and a rapid and only first class work in every respect.

CHILDREN'S PICTURES A CERTAINTY.

As the light and shade are manipulated.

Copying in all Sizes and Styles, at the lowest possible prices for good work.

Call and see the Parlors, No. 145 Canal street.

S. ANDERSON.

WASHBURN'S PHOTOGRAPHIC ART GALLERY,

FOR CARD, CABINET AND EXCHANGE PICTURES.

☞ The handsomest place of the kind in the South.

A PERFECT LIKENESS TAKEN and finished in a manner unequaled by any other establishment in the country.

Copying and enlarging of old Pictures a specialty.

Remember WASHBURN'S NEW GALLERY.

WORLD'S MODEL MAGAZINE THE HOLIDAY NUMBER OF DEMOREST'S MONTHLY, NOW READY.

A grand combination of the choicest talent in the world of the beautiful. With the finest steel and all other pictures ever issued. Price 25c. post free. Yearly $3, with an original premium, very valuable to subscribers. Rock of Ages and The Lyon's Bride, each 24 inches, mounted on fine tinted paper, sent free of extra charge, or postage to those who subscribe for mid-winter numbers. Address

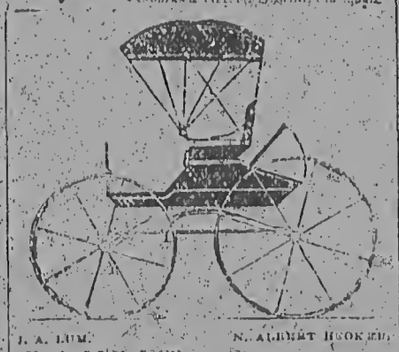
W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 17 E. 14th Street, New York.

Country Orders for Millinery AND FANCY GOODS.

Parties in the country, who are similar to visit the city, can have orders filled promptly by stating the price and style of goods they desire, and the form and complexion of the wearer.

F. R. HARDON, Dealer in Millinery and Fancy Goods, 27 and 29 Chartres St., New Orleans. Second door above Custom House.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY. Established in 1837.



J. A. LUM. N. ALBERT HOOKER. J. A. LUM & CO., MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN CARRIAGES, HARNESS, ETC., 102 Gravier and 13 Union Street.

☞ A SPECIALTY MADE OF CHILDREN'S CARRIAGES.

JOHN BOIS, DEALER IN FURNITURE, PICTURES, LOOKING GLASSES, ETC., 152 Camp Street 154 Next to St. Patrick's Church, New Orleans.

No charge for packing and shipping. Orders promptly attended to. Special attention guaranteed. One price only on each and every article, and no deviation.

WIRE RAILING AND Ornamental Wire Works.

DUFUR & CO., No. 20 N. Howard St., Baltimore, manufacture WIRE RAILING for Cemeteries, Balconies, etc.; also Iron Bedsteads, Chairs, etc.

CONVERTIBLE FARM MILL

THE simplest and most durable stone mill in the world. Any farmer can run and grind as fine meal as any four bbl. stone or iron mill, and as coarse feed as he chooses. Every Mill guaranteed. Send for Circular if with Price List.

Vertical position.

C. H. OGLESBY & CO., 59 Canal St., Chicago.

MACHINERY, TIES, ETC.

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO.

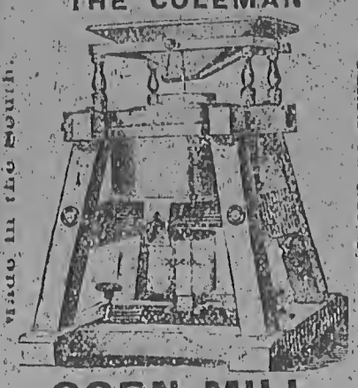
Mills, Engines and Machinery,

NEW ORLEANS, LA.

WE SOLICIT ORDERS for Portable or Stationary Steam Engines, Corn Mills, Saw Mills, Gins, Presses and Machinery delivered at railroad depots or river landings.

Portable Engine prices greatly reduced.

THE COLEMAN



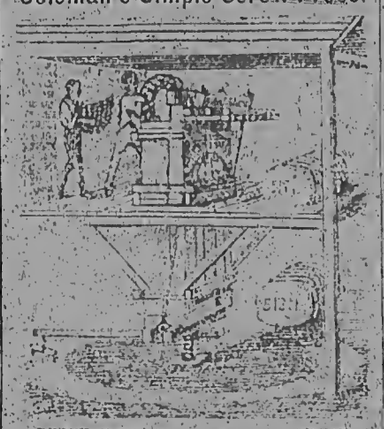
Made in the South. Made of the South.

CORN MILL.

VICTORIOUS at every Fair from New York State to Texas, over thirty-three different competitors, during the past twenty-eight years, awarded the only Gold Medal ever awarded to any Corn Mill in the United States. Simple, strong, durable and cheap, with solid French Burr Stones. Made by

H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., New Orleans, La.

Coleman's Simple Screw Press.



PRICE, Complete $150

Worked from Screw 4 Inches in Diameter. Packing very good deep. Simple, strong, durable and guaranteed to do as we say. Its, bags, send for circular. Address H. DUDLEY COLEMAN & BRO., New Orleans, La.

We make a Custom Power Press (Sam

STRONGEST AND CHEAPEST TIE IN THE MARKET.

INCREASING IN POPULARITY.

Number ... to 187 ... $50

Number ... to 187 ... $50

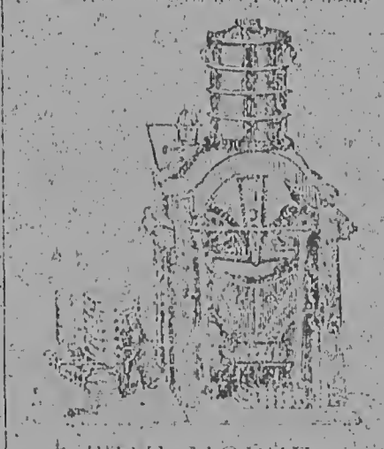
COST OF

Iron Ties ... per bale. ... per bale.

Cotton and ... to bale

Can be used ... Ladies' Saving ... Cotton

Ladies' Safety Tie Co. ... Miss.



THE MORSE COTTON COMPRESS,

The largest and most powerful COTTON PRESS in the world. Steam, water, horse or hand power. It has been so perfected as to meet every requirement. That it is constructed with capacity for packing 60 BALES and more per day of 10 hours, without overloading engine, 500 pounds of cotton to the bale, and that it will put the press of 1 LITTEN of their press or hay under pressure of the bale, 1000 pounds, they may be sent at the following wholesale prices: NEW ORLEANS, FACTORS', WOOD, PENN & LOUISIANA, PLANTERS', LIVERPOOL, also in Galveston, Houston, Memphis, Mobile, Wilmington, N. C., Rome, Ga., Vicksburg and Shreveport.

They have the endorsement of the best merchants, cotton factors and planters as to character of PRESS, simplicity, strength, durability and economy.

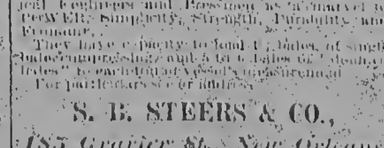
They have a capacity to load 1 bales of single Bales compressing and 1 to 2 bales of cloth, cut bales to each and every press.

For particulars, etc., address

S. B. STEERS & CO., 185 Gravier St., New Orleans.

BIG GIANT CORN MILL.

Every Man His Own Miller.



The only Mill that will grind fine as wheat meal, uniform and cool. The only Mill grinding Cob and Corn together. Grinds Corn and Cobs fine enough for table use. Grinding 10 to 15 bushels per hour. The only Mill of same capacity that requires 3 Horse Power. Manufactured by

J. A. FIELD, SON & CO., 922 N. Second St., St. Louis.

THE STANDARD CHROMATIC TUNING OR PITCH-PIPE

Gives the absolute pitch of any tone, Natural, Sharp or Flat, Adjusted to the desired pitch instantly. Never gets out of order. FINELY NICKEL PLATED. No Leader, Instrumental Player or Singer should be without one.

RETAILED AT $5.00. Sent by mail or express upon receipt of price.

DANIEL F. READ & CO., 647 Broadway, N. Y. Importers and Manufacturers. Sold by all Music Dealers.

SPORTSMEN'S DEPOT, 55 ST. CHARLES STREET 55 NEW ORLEANS.

ARTICLES FOR FISHERMEN OF ALL KINDS.

Rods, Nets, Hooks, Lines, and every description articles for the Angler, Wholesale and retail. Goods imported to order. J. R. Cooper's Breech and Muzzle-Loading Guns always on hand. All kinds of Impervious artificial baits. Address Postoffice Box 1599.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Music Books for Presents!!

Gems of English Song. New enlarged edition. Price of each large edition $4.00.

Sunshine of Song. Four books, $4.00.

Cluster of Gems. Boards, $2.50.

Clarke's Reed Organ Melodies.

These treasuries of song are fine collections of choice music, each containing 240 to 320 large pages of the best songs or pieces. They are filled with rather difficult Piano Music, and Clarke's with the best arranged sheet music extant.

Elegant Books of Musical Literature.

Full of valuable, interesting, and the Lives of Mendelssohn, Schumann and Mozart, 400 each; and other great Masters. RITTER'S HISTORY OF MUSIC, 2 vols. each $2.00 and Upton's Musical Biographies, 4 vols. each $1.00. Also, many attractive collections of Christmas Carols, the splendid Sunlight of Song, illustrated. The Mother Goose, illustrated, that will throw the little ones into ecstacies—and many others.

Stainer's Dictionary of Musical Terms.

(50c.) is a magnificent illustrated Musical Encyclopedia of great and permanent value.

Any Book mailed post-free for Retail Price.

OLIVER DITSON & CO., Boston.

C. H. DITSON & CO., 843 BROADWAY, N. Y.

1879—PRICE REDUCED—$1.50

THE NURSERY

A Monthly Magazine for Youngest Readers. Superbly Illustrated.

10c. JOHN L. SHOREY, 36 Bromfield St. Boston, Mass.

FARMERS and PLANTERS, Read This!

OUR HOME JOURNAL AND RURAL SOUTHLAND

Is a paper ... of the South. ... It has a ... farmer ... Planting, ... Stock Raising, ... Small Culture, ... Fruit Growing, ... Truck Raising in the South, ... Poultry Raising in the South, Rice Culture, Interest in the South, ... Everything ... Telegraphic News, ... Southern ... Market Reports, ... A Department ... Young Folks, ... Family Circle, Woman's Work, Humor, ... There is ... no reader ... Store ... Farmer ... Planter ... Household ... Each and every Reader ... Home ... OUR HOME JOURNAL AND RURAL SOUTHLAND ... Seventieth Annual ... Subscription price ... reduced to TWO DOLLARS ...

JAMES H. HUMMEL, Publisher, New Orleans.

PERFORATED VENEER SEATS AND CHAIRS,

For Public Churches, Halls and Lodges, are coming into general use on account of their comfort, durability, cleanliness, and ornament.

No. 115.

Churches supplied by Dry Goods or Seating Houses with the work neatly and promptly executed.

CARDNER & CO., Patentees and Manufacturers, 378 PEARL ST., NEW YORK.

NOTICE

To Sugar Planters AND OTHER

THE Kenner Steam Pumping Machinery is adapted to effect more work with less power, is simpler and more durable in its parts, requires less attendance, and is more economical in fuel than any other machinery now before the public as a steam pump. Also, steam engines, boilers, saw mills, and other machinery. All sold at manufacturers' prices, freight rates and cash only. Send for circulars, at No. 20 Union Street, New Orleans, to

WM. ROGERS, Successor to Pilsbury & Co., Manufacturers of General Machinery, Steam and Hydraulic.

COMPOUND OXYGEN.

A NEW TREATMENT for the cure of chronic diseases by the use of rarefied oxygen.

REMARKABLE CURES in cases of Asthma, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Catarrh, Headache, Consumption, and the various chronic ailments which afflict the human race.

LOSS OF VITALITY in the aged, exposure to cold, the exercising powers of the mind and especially IN SOUTHERN LATITUDES, by the use of which all the above diseases are speedily and permanently cured.

STRONGLY ENDORSED by Hon. BENJAMIN F. BUTLER, Hon. JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE, Hon. JOHN KELLY, Hon. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS, Hon. BENJAMIN H. HILL, Hon. GEORGE H. PENDLETON, Hon. JOHN MCCULLOUGH, Hon. JOHN COCHRANE, Hon. JOHN COVODE, Hon. JOHN COVODE, Hon. JOHN COVOD

SCIENTIFIC.

a recent lecture Mr. Francis the ground that a wild like plant on Kerguelen's had pollen which could not merely cross-fertilized by insects."
a time when the could blown to gen-
which learned not to dro-cnoid, remained;
the disappearance of
, the plant learned that is, becam-
The pollen learned the insect would not
Mr. Darwin uses the no doubt," and "that we and so forth, that taken place. We reason for this certainty, this stands it: "This cabbage only succeeds in the enormous nothing which is not fer-by insects." Admitting that theory is a plausible one, first does not, by any proof it so as to warrant the way in which he puts it;
new illustration of the ne-
Darwin's caution, as so by Prof. Gray recentions.

EIGHTNING CONDUC-
—In consequence of an extremely and cheap means to protect being struck by light-recently been announced agricultural paper. This the use of bundles of straw to sticks of broom-handles, for the roofs of houses in position. The first trials simple apparatus were made —Hamlet Pyrenees,—by intelligent agriculturists, and were so satisfactory that several eighteen communes
Eastern district provided all houses with these bundles of where have been protected from high cultivated fields to the Nothing, however, can handiness in exposed will hesitate to trust such until it is more thor-
and extensively tried,
the rights of lightning-conductors decided.

ER IN VIRGINIA.—Mr. C. R. of the Paris Commission-appointed by the Governor of reports that a supposed valu-ore turns out to be argen-to the amount of $150 to the

Years Before the Public.

THE GENUINE

. C. McLANE'S

CELEBRATED

VER PILLS,

FOR THE CURE OF

ria, or Liver Complaint,

ects of a Diseased Liver

AGUE AND FEVER.

McLANE'S LIVER PILLS
Fever and Ague, when taken
Quinine, are productive of the happy results. No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to them a FAIR TRIAL.
all bilious derangements, and as
ple preparative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

genuine unless every sugar coated
has the red wax seal on the lid,
on it. Also on Dr. McLANE'S LIVER
McLANE'S Liver Pills do
the complaint or disease of the skin, the parts are although to all appearance would be beneficial to scarcely sufficient ap-to try it. In fact, he does any remedy. Several of the cases attended to, but to be cured where new and then by examination of the body, disease, this shows the LIVER to extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

McLANE'S LIVER PILLS
Fever and Ague, when taken
Quinine, are productive of the happy results. No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to
them a FAIR TRIAL.
all bilious derangements, and as
ple preparative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

genuine unless every sugar coated
has the red wax seal on the lid,
on it. Also on Dr. McLANE'S LIVER
McLANE'S Liver Pills do
the wrapper.

Upon having the genuine Dr.
LIVER PILLS, prepared by Freeman
Smith, Pa., the market being flooded with worthless imitations of the name McLane, and by that same pronunciation.

Sold by all Druggists throughout the United States and Canada.

EDUCATIONAL.

HIWASSEE COLLEGE.

"The price and quality of board and tuition compares favorably with other colleges, while the peculiar constitution of the college and the influence of its surroundings render it, in my judgment the very best and safest place for boys and young men, at a certain stage of culture, which exists in the Methodist Church South."—Rev. E. H. Grace, A. M., of Deborah.

Address J. H. BRENNER, D. D.,
Hiwassee College, Tenn.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

DR. G. J. HICKIAM,
RESIDENCE AND OFFICE,
820 Jackson St., Bet. Chestnut and Coliseum,
NEW ORLEANS.
Office Hours—Eight, A. M., and three to four P. M.

DR. J. J. LYONS,
NO. 319 CARONDELET STREET
Between Julia and St. Joseph,
New Orleans, La.

CARRIAGES, WAGONS, ETC.

Woodville Female Seminary.

A NON-SECTARIAN ACADEMY, UNDER
Mr. [illegible] Woodville, Miss.
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
We invite the attention of parents and guardians to the superior
[illegible]
Mr. [illegible] Woodville, New Orleans; Lyon & Shinn, Natchez; Hon. Thos. Peyton, Jackson, Miss.; Hon. Thos. Pleasants, Baton Rouge, La.; Hon. [illegible] Woodville

PRICES CURRENT

IN

THE NEW ORLEANS MARKETS.

REVISED AND CORRECTED WEEKLY.

☞ Correspondents should bear in mind that our quotations represent prices for round lots and that in filling small orders higher rates must be paid.

GROCERIES.

Butter, ₱ lb.
Western
New York
Coffee, ₱ lb.
Rio
Laguayra
Java
Candles, ₱ lb.
Star, best brands	14
Corn Meal, ₱ bbl.
Best N. O.
Cheese, ₱ lb.
Factory
N. Y. cream and English dairy
Fish:
Mackerel, extra No. 1 in kits
Mackerel, extra No. 1 in bbls
Mackerel, shad, quarter barrels
Flour, ₱ bbl.
Extra fine
A A
A A A
Choice XXX
Choice family
Feed, ₱ 100 lbs.
Good sound corn, usually the juice of the meat from which it is made, the extract of the meat, grains or vegetables composing it. The most concentrated soups, eaten with bread, will satisfy the hunger of the hardest worker. The absolute nutritious value of soup depends, of course, upon its ingredients; and these can easily be chosen in reference to the maintenance of health. For instance, the pot liquor in which meat has been boiled needs only the addition of a few dumplings or cereals and some to form a nou-
Soap, in bxs. ₱ lb.
XXX Palm
Keiser's magnolia
Kidder's olive
Starch, ₱ lb.
Salt, in sacks
Fine
Coarse
Sugar,
Good fair
Prime
Choice
Yellow clarified
White clarified
Crushed
Powdered
Spices, ₱ lb.
Allspice
Pepper
Cloves
Cinnamon
Tea, ₱ lb.
Black, Oolong
Green, Imperial
Tobacco, manufactured, ₱ lb.
Chewing, common
Chewing, fair
Chewing, prime
Chewing, choice
Smoking

GRAIN AND FEED.

Corn, ₱ bushel:
Yellow
White
Mixed
Oats, ₱ bushel:
St. Louis
Texas
Gamma
Bran, choice, ₱ 100 lbs
Hay, ₱ ton:
Prime
Ordinary
Cow Peas:
Whippoorwill
Mixed
Clay

PROVISIONS.

Bacon, ₱ lb.
Breakfast
Shoulders
Sides, clear rib
Sides, clear
Hams, sugar-cured
Mess Pork, ₱ bbl
Dry Salted Meats:
Shoulders
Lard, ₱ lb.
Choice, in kegs and pails
Choice, in barrels

ESCULENTS.

Potatoes, ₱ bbl.	1 85
Onions, ₱ bbl	1 50
Apples, ₱ bbl	1 00
Cabbages, ₱ 100

WOOL.

Burry
Louisiana, clear
Lake, clear

BALING STUFFS.

Bagging:
India
Jute
Ties, Arrow best, per bundle of 250 and upwards
Twine, hemp

POULTRY AND EGGS.

Poultry, ₱ dozen:
Old chickens
Young
Ducks
Geese
Turkeys
Eggs, ₱ dozen:
Western Louisiana

There cannot be a secret Christian. Grace is like ointment laid on the hand; it betrayeth itself. Even a truly feel the sweetness of the rites of Christ, you will be constrained to confess Christ before men. McCheyne.

FOUNDED JULY 4, 1808

OLDEST SHOT TOWER IN AMERICA

THOS. W. SPARKS,

Patent American Chilled Shot

Standard Drop and Buck Shot

AND BAR LEAD MANUFACTURER,

121 WALNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA.

F. A. BEHAN, Agent,

NEW ORLEANS

G. B. MILLER & CO., Agents,

GALVESTON.

Broadway Foundry Co.

JOHN J. HOLLIDAY,

SUPERINTENDENT,

313 Carr Street, ST. LOUIS, MO.

Manufacturers of Stationary and Portable

Steam Engines and Boilers

MULAY AND CIRCULAR SAW MILLS,

Saw and Grist Mill Machinery, Shafting, Mill and Blast Furnace Castings, Wrought Iron Work and House Work, PARKER'S & JOHNSON'S WATER WHEELS, Tobacco and Cane Press Screws, Compound Tobacco Presses, and Castings of Iron and Brass CASTINGS of every description also Quartz Mills and Stamping Machinery of most improved descriptions.

HAVE PURCHASED ALL THE WHEEL & PELLEY PATTERNS OF GEO. MUSSER & CO.

E. DAVIS, late Chief Engineer Mississippi Marine & River Service, Consulting Engineer and Naval Architect, Office, 1 Exchange Place, New Orleans.

"Escape for Thy Life."

Thirty years ago there stood in one of the squares of the town of Valenciennes a fine old Gothic tower. Its history I do not know; but at that time it was commonly called le tour du beffroi, because the alarm bell was hung within it; and as it was remarkably lofty, the watchman could see from its upper windows over a great extent of country, and ring the tocsin when fire or other cause of alarm occurred either in the town or in the neighborhood.

It was said that the tower itself gave certain signs of decay, and it was apprehended that one day it would fall, so I feared rather to inhabit, and, if I came down, it was feared that it would fall, not toward the open square, but on a row of houses which lay to the left.

For some days passers-by had seen small particles of stone or mortar detaching themselves from the tower. The town authorities were all in general apprehension. Working it had to be set to destroy the grain, and the outer becomes salvy and kali-like in its texture. Let it stand or put it away in the tray for twenty-four hours. Then work it enough to remove all the buttermilk or surplus brine, so that the butter may become dry or like a piece of cheese. Moldavia rolls, and set them away for twenty-four hours or until they become hard and firm. The cloth should now be put on so as to cover one end, while the other is left open for the stamp. The cloth should be cut in pieces of exact size and dipped in brine, and the butter rolled when the cloth is [illegible]. Butter should never [illegible] the [illegible] bringing [illegible] forcibly away, with whatever of hot goods he could grasp in his arms. Shouts of applause greeted him on his return from his perilous and courageous expedition.

Every moment the final catastrophe was expected, when suddenly, while all eyes were fixed on the tower, the old woman made a rush into her house. "I must have another chair," she exclaimed, and disappeared inside the house. At the same moment the tower, with an awful crash, fell, and crushed almost to powder the row of houses and all they contained.

The old woman was never seen again.

"Foolish creature!" I hear my reader say. "Is not the life more than meat, and the body more than raiment?"

True; she was both foolish and wicked to sacrifice her existence for baubles on which she set so much store. But, let me ask, is not that person yet more foolish who flings away his immortal soul for the passing treasures of this life? Is it not far more wicked to sacrifice one's everlasting interests for the pleasures or honors of this world? "For what," said He who gave His life for us, "shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

The dog is capable of understanding human words. On some dogs, these words produce an apparently painful effect, causing them to mournfully and timidly to be from the spot with every sign of suffering and distress. Others have been taught to stand and listen to music with seeming delight, and even to go every Sunday to church with the obvious purpose of enjoying the solemn strains of the organ. Mrs. S. C. Hall, the authoress, had a Italian greyhound, which screamed in apparent agony when a discordant combination of notes was produced from the piano.

BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER.

A WONDERFUL REMEDY.

There is no comparison between it and the common strengthening plaster. It is in every way superior to all other external remedies or liniments and the scientific discovery of the age. It contains new medicinal elements, which, in combination with other processes, give it an extraordinary power in relieving and curing every pain or ache. Any person can now be their own physician. Will cure Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Lumbago, Sprains, Stiff Joints, Pains in the Side, Back or Chest, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness, Hysteria, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Colds and Coughs, Pleurisy, Whooping Cough, affections of the heart, and all ills for which a porous plaster is used. It is simply the best known remedy. Ask for Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster, take no other. Sold by druggists. Price, 25 cents. Sent on receipt of price, postage free. Capcine Co., 4 Platt street, New York.

Joseph Gillott's

Steel Pens.

303 404 170 351 332,

Joseph Gillott & Sons, New York.

The Novelty Pocket Scale.

A BEAUTIFUL, USEFUL and EASY-SELLING ARTICLE

Wanted by every FARMER, HUNTER, TRAPPER, FISHERMAN, SPORTSMAN and EVERY FAMILY.

The most perfect scale ever invented. Is graduated from 2 oz. to 15 lbs. It is about the size of a man's forefinger, weighs only 2 oz., and can be carried in the pocket without inconvenience. Puts being always ready to weigh, never getting out of order. Every person buying one will be pleased with it. Every ingenious contrivance adds to its wonderful ease, arranged that by its self-adjusting shell it may be so adjusted as to give the exact weight of anything weighed, without subtracting the weight of the receptacle in which the matter is weighed, an advantage possessed by no other scale. It is now ready, and sure to sell. Each one is neatly nickle plated, and will be sent post paid on receipt of $1 each.

LEFORGE HETTN,

53 Hinsdale, New York,

Sole proprietor and manufacturer.

AGENTS WANTED.

RESULTS OF THE PARIS EXHIBITION.—The total admissions to the Paris Exhibition were 16,032,725, against a total for the Centennial of 9,910,966. The Exhibition at Paris, however, was open more than a month longer than that one at Philadelphia, while the actual receipts at the latter place were about 50 per cent larger than at the former. This year at Paris, as compared with 1867, shows nearly double the number of admissions, and an increase of 75 per cent. in receipts. In spite of this increase the Exhibition held during the Empire involved an expenditure of comparatively less money. In 1867 45,000,000 francs were appropriated and a deficit is reported of 15,000,000 francs more.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

POZZONI'S MEDICATED COMPLEXION POWDER is acknowledged by thousands of ladies, who use it daily, to be the only preparation that does not roughen the skin, clog, blister, or leave black spots in the pores. Mothers can use it to infants who become chafed with immediate relief. Removes all erup- tions. 50 cents and $1 per box. Sold by druggists. Depot, 607 North Sixth street, St. Louis.

Photographic Parlors,

Having removed to

No. 145 CANAL STREET,

and arranged every department of the business to the ground floor, and all in the most elegant manner, enabling me to give my personal attention in every branch of the business. Warranted first class work in every respect.

CHILDREN'S PICTURES A CERTAINTY,

As the light and chemicals are instantaneous.

Copying in all Sizes and Styles at lowest possible prices for good work.

S. ANDERSON.

WASHBURN'S PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY,

No. 1 CANAL ST., Corner Bienville.

Where deserving work is executed at reasonable prices. Special attention to copying and enlarging. Pictures taken in all weathers.

FOR particulars regarding Electric Belts address Pulvermacher Galvanic Company, Cincinnati, Ohio.

A Great Remedy for Liver Derangements.

Amongst the number of eminent citizens who have endorsed Mac Hir's Curdurango, will be found the names of Hon. John B. Hood, C. L. Robt. L. Adams, Esq., Jas. F. Casey, Col. Jack Wharton, Gen. Rashrod R. Johnston, L. N. Maynard, Esq., Jas. H. Flummer, Esq., Gen. Thos. A. Harris, Rev. A. J. Tarte and many others. The Curdurango, for complaint of the Liver, Blood, Kidneys and Stomach has no equal; it opens and regulates the bowels and prevents and cures billious attacks. It contains no alcohol, and is the only vegetable substitute for Calomel.

WALSHE'S NEW STOCK,

ALL BOUGHT AND RECEIVED SINCE THE ENDING OF THE YELLOW FEVER EPIDEMIC.

WINTER UNDERSHIRTS, 50 and 75 cents to $4.00 each.

WINTER DRAWERS, All makes at same prices.

ENGLISH COTTON HALF HOSE, $3, $3.50 and $4 per dozen.

ENGLISH MERINO HALF HOSE, At same prices.

WHITE DRESS SHIRTS, $1, $1.25 to $3 each.

STYLISH COLORED SHIRTS, At same prices.

The above range of prices is for

WELL MADE AND FRESH GOODS,

ALL NICE AND ATTRACTIVE.

Full lines of CARWRIGHT & WARNER'S goods to which we call special attention. Also a full stock of WRIGHTER & WRIGHTER'S in stock.

The latest styles and newest shapes in

FASHIONABLE NECKWEAR,

Just Opened.

Every line properly a part of a first class stock of

Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods,

Can always be found, and at MODERATE PRICES.

Add to your comfort by calling on

B. T. WALSHE,

110 CANAL STREET.

P. S.—ON MONDAY NEXT, November 25, the BOYS' and CHILDRENS' CLOTHING DEPARTMENT will be reopened with a NEW and CHOICE STOCK OF CLOTHING.

$8 $10, $15 EACH.

OUR NEW GOLD METAL WATCHES ARE the only real imitation Gold Watches that are made with all the latest improvements, at the above prices. They are really a beautiful Watch. Send us $7 to us for a Watch, or Circular. Chains from $1 to $6. Jewelry of the same. COLLINS GOLD METAL WATCH FACTORY, 335 Broadway N.Y., P.O. Box 2536.

FITS OR EPILEPSY.

To the Editor of the Advocate:

Dear Sir:—Will you please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the cure of the above disease; and that by its use in my practice I have cured thousands of the worst kind and of long standing, and will give

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

for a case it will not cure, or greatly benefit. Indeed, so strong is my faith, I will send

ONE BOTTLE FREE,

together with a valuable treatise, to any sufferers addressing me, giving their name, express and P. O. address. Please show this letter to any one you may know who is suffering with this terrible disease, and oblige,

Respectfully yours,

DR. H. C. ROOT, 183 Pearl Street, N. Y.

MILK OF MAGNESIA

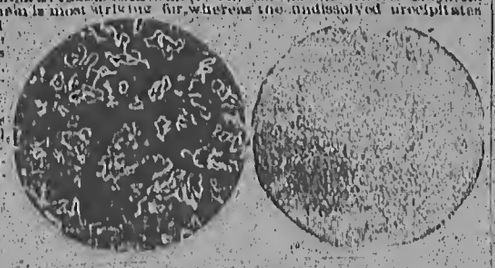
IS THE best preparation known for all disturbed conditions of the stomach. It immediately and certainly cures DYSPEPSIA, INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN, SOUR STOMACH and HEADACHES caused by acidity of the stomach. The pleasant taste and milk-like smoothness of this preparation renders it very valuable for infants, requiring no persuasion to induce them to take it. It positively prevents food souring on the stomach, and will act as a laxative when used as directed. It is also peculiarly adapted to females. The smoothness of this preparation and its perfect solubility are made fully apparent in the following illustrations. They represent a fractional part of a single drop magnified 250 diameters. The first the calcined Magnesia as taken with water. The second the Milk of Magnesia now offered. The difference between them is most striking for, whereas the undissolved precipitates and particles in the drop of calcined Magnesia are exhibited with terrible distinctness, the Milk of Magnesia has all the appearance of a cloudy vapor, entirely free from the objectionable precipitates; in fact, perfectly dissolved.

Be sure to get MILK OF MAGNESIA. Ask your druggist for it, and take none other. It is entirely different from all other preparations of Magnesia. Physicians and others not already acquainted with this preparation can obtain explanatory circular by addressing

C. H. PHILLIPS,

Manf'g Chemist,

P. O. Box 417, NEW YORK.



Patented May 28th 1878.

The Patent Self-Acting Cow Milker Man'f'g Co.

Every one who owns a cow should have one of our wonderful Milkers. A child can use them. Sent free to any part of the United States on receipt of $2. Send for our illustrated Pamphlet on the cow, containing the testimonials of practical farmers and dairymen throughout the United States, and sectional views of a cow's teats and bag dissected and scientifically explained, by Drs. White and Wilson of this city, sent free to any address.

GEO. E. BIRD, President.

Office, 878 Broadway, New York.

Horrors of War.

Five hundred and ninety-four thousand Russian soldiers passed through Roumania into Turkey. Of these 58,000 were sent back, by railway, wounded, and 62,150 sick; 31,600, who were disabled by sickness, were returned to their homes by sea, to Odessa; 29,000 are still in hospitals; 31,000 laid their bones in Roumania, and 90,000 perished in Bulgaria—showing that, of the whole number that went into the field, 121,000 were laid low in death, and 152,050 were taken to their homes wounded or sick, and more or less probably disabled and made miserable for life.

The above statistics do not give the number of Turkish soldiers who were killed, wounded or sickened in the campaign, or of the inhabitants of Roumania and Bulgaria, men, women and children who were destroyed.

Love is circumspect, humble and upright; not yielding to softness, or in levity, nor attending to vain things; it is sober, chaste, steady, quiet, and guarded in all senses.—Thomas A. Kempis.

MISCELLANEOUS

TUTT'S PILLS!

A NOTED DIVINE SAYS

THEY ARE WORTH THEIR

WEIGHT IN GOLD

READ WHAT HE SAYS:

DR. TUTT:—Dear Sir: For ten years I have been a martyr to Dyspepsia, Constipation and Piles. Last Spring your Pills were recommended to me; I used them but with little faith. I am now a well man, have good appetite, digestion perfect, regular stools, piles gone, and I have gained forty pounds solid flesh. They are worth their weight in gold.

REV. R. L. SIMPSON, Louisville, Ky.

A TORPID LIVER

is the fruitful source of many diseases, such as Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Dysentery, Bilious Fever, Ague and Fever, Jaundice, Piles, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaints, Colic, etc.

Tutt's Pills exert a powerful influence on the Liver, and with certainty will relieve this important organ from disease, and restore it to normal functions.

The rapidity with which persons take on flesh, while under the influence of these Pills, is a fact indicative of their adaptability to nourish the body, hence their efficacy in curing nervous debility, dyspepsia, wasting of the muscles, sluggishness of the liver, chronic constipation, and imparting health and strength to the system.

CONSTIPATION.

Only with regularity of the bowels can good health be enjoyed. When the constipation is of recent date, a single dose of TUTT'S PILLS will suffice, but when it has become habitual, one Pill should be taken every night, and gradually increasing the frequency of the dose until a regular daily movement is obtained, which will follow.

Sold Everywhere, 25 Cents.

OFFICE, 35 MURRAY ST., NEW YORK.

THE MODEL PRESS

MODEL Thoroughly Reliable

The Leading Press of the World.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Are You Troubled With Rats and Mice?

EVERYBODY ANSWERS: YES.

Mitchell's Poisoned Wheat

A NEW DISCOVERY. Is the only reliable remedy. Simply wheat in the whole grain rendered powerfully poisonous to vermin, and is really Nature's remedy for the completest and thorough extermination of rats, mice and other vermin.

One trial will prove its efficacy. It will at once relieve you from those invisible and destructive pests. Price, only 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Principal depot for the United States at

M. T. CREAMER & CO.,

Manufacturing Chemists,

294 Pearl street, New York.

Also at Messrs. FINLAY & THOMPSON'S, 35 Magazine street. 8p

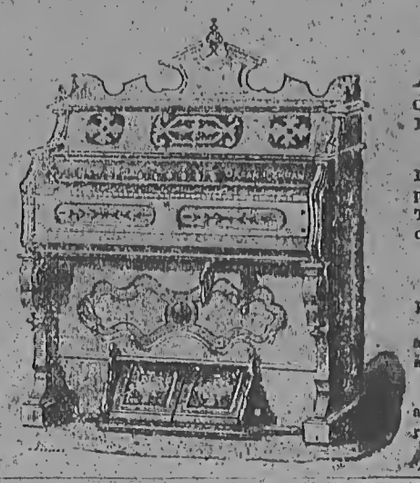
MISCELLANEOUS

PHILIP WERLEIN,

IMPORTER AND DEALER IN

Pianos and Organs, Music, Etc.,

No. 135 CANAL STREET, NEW ORLEANS.



A MOST RELIABLE MUSICAL HOUSE.

AFTER three months' trial will take back any purchase. Cash paid for any Piano or Organ purchased of me not perfectly satisfactory. Full guarantee and twenty-five years' experience.

HALE'S LATEST IMPROVED PIANOS.

Lowest price, $175 cash; $2 per month; $2.50 per month, until paid. ALL CASH $[illegible]. These Pianos are large size, Rosewood, seven octaves, one quarter Octave.

ESTEY'S ORGANS.

Seven Stops, $[illegible] cash; for $120 in [illegible] payments until paid, or $ 90 CASH.

I do not think you can get lower prices than any other first class house. I refer to my [illegible] age and will make any as will suit your convenience, and can refer to those who have recommended my house to my friends.

SUITABLE PRICE AND TERMS

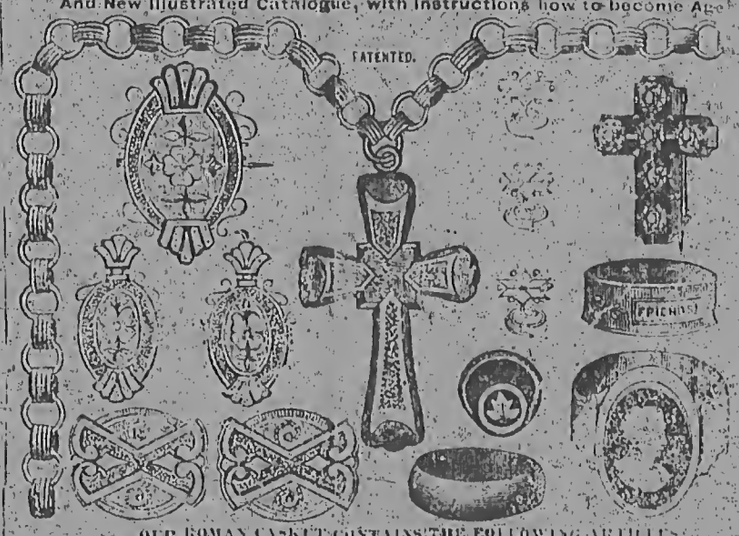
P. WERLEIN.

The Steinau Jewelry Co.'s ONE DOLLAR ROLLED GOLD PEN AND PENCIL

And New Illustrated Catalogue, with Instructions how to become Agents.



OUR ROMAN CASKET CONTAINS THE FOLLOWING ARTICLES:

[illegible]

We warrant to be Gold Pens, and send the best of references. Any Pen or Pencil can be changed in one minute from Gold Pen to Gold Pencil, or Gold Pencil to Gold Pen. Any Pen can be changed from fine to coarse point, or coarse to fine point, by the wearer. Any Pen can be changed from Gold Pen to Gold Pencil, or Gold Pencil to Gold Pen. Any Pen can be changed from fine to coarse point, or coarse to fine point, by the wearer. Any Pen can be changed from Gold Pen to Gold Pencil, or Gold Pencil to Gold Pen.